TO THE

Serious, Judicious, and Impartial READER.

THE enſuing Treatiſes are ſufficiently recommended to all (that love the Truth as it is in Jeſus) by the Name of the Author of them. They need not any mans Teſtimony or Recommendation to uſher them into the World. Part of what thou art here preſented with, is perhaps no more than what thou haſt ſeen in leſſer Volumes, for ſeveral of the Treatiſes were printed by the Author in his Life-time, and the acceptance of them is known to almoſt all that converſe with Theological Compoſures. The reſt were prepared by the Author for the Preſs before his Death; and are as he left them, without any mans Cultivation, they needing none for the Matter of them. The Author indeed had a peculiar Phraſe to himſelf in expreſſing the Conceptions of his Mind; his Words were his own, as well as his Matter. The Matter and Contexture of that which is New (never before printed) in this Volume, will eaſily induce any who knew the Author, to believe that it was his own; and we may ſay as much his own, as any mans Works that ever came into Publick, he not having thoſe Helps, that Others have been, or are, bleſs'd withall: Like the Spider, all came from his own Bowels; what the Spirit of God gave in to him, by Prayer and Study, that he freely gave out, and communicated to others, cloathed in a familiar Style.

For Humane Learning, it's true, he had none; but let it not be therefore ſaid, that what was done by him, is not worth our Time or Pains to read: For as Converſion-work, or the New Birth, is not of Blood, nor of the Will of the Fleſh, nor of the Will of Man, but of God; ſo the Author's Knowledge, and inſight into Goſpel Myſteries, was given to him by God himſelf; we don't ſay, by immediate Inſpiration, but by Prayer and Study, without any other external Helps. His buſineſs was to converſe much with the Word of God, and to pray over it; his Labours therein were indefatigable, and God bleſs'd him in ſo doing, with a more than ordinary degree of Knowledge.

It's evident, that many in his Life-time did deſpiſe him, and all done by him, for the meanneſs of his Education, and Calling that he was inſtructed in, and did in the Morning of his dayes follow, as if no good thing could come out of Nazareth; and it's probable ſome may ſtill be ready to have mean and contemptible Thoughts of his Works, for that reaſon; as alſo becauſe he had not that acquired Learning, that others have. For the firſt reaſon, there is no manner of ground for it; to ſuch as make the laſt their plea, we would ſay, That as Learning hath been too much trampled on, by them in whom Ignorance hath prevailed, (Ignoti nulla cupido,) ſo it hath been, and is too much Idolized by thoſe that have been Proficients in it; as though none might, or ought to engage in the Work of the Miniſtry, or publiſhing Treatiſes of this Nature, but Perſons under their Circumſtances: Not conſidering, that at the ſame time, the Eternal Spirit doth bleſs the Studies of thoſe that have Learning, with great Knowledge in Goſpel Myſteries, (comparatively great, yet abſolutely, the Beſt of men know but in part,) and alſo makes their Labours in the Miniſtry of the Goſpel ſucceſsfull, where Grace doth rule and reign in the Heart, and Prayer, together with a fiducial reliance on the Teachings and help of the Spirit, do accompany what they undertake; I ſay, not conſidering that the ſame Spirit may, and evidently doth inſtruct the Unlearned (more humano) alſo, if gracious and painfull, in the deep things of the Goſpel, and give them great knowledge therein, and truly qualifie, and fit them both for Preaching, and Writing, and bleſs them in ſo doing.

Learning in its place is of excelleut uſe (if ſanctified,) yet certainly, as thoſe men are juſtly chargeable with Folly, and ſome degree of madneſs, that will reject wholſome Food, if not brought in a ſilver Diſh; ſo thoſe are beſides the Rule, that will deſpiſe all thoſe Works in which there is not the ſavour of Logical Exactneſs, or Academical Preparations; though much of the Anointing of the Spirit, may be ſeen to have been on the Heads of the Authors, which doth clearly appear to have been on the Head of this Author, by the Spirituality, Soundneſs, and Clearneſs of his Writings.

The Epistle to the Reader.

Let us not confine the Spirit to our Measures; where is it said in all the Book of God (which is our Rule in these things,) or from what portion of Scripture can any genuine Consequence be drawn, to prove that none, though gracious, and of good understanding in the Gospel, and called by a People, must engage in the Work of the Ministry; unless they are Grammarians, and have gone through a Course of Philosophy, and have their Systems of Divinity at their fingers ends; and have been Examined in these things, and are found to have some expertness in them? if no proof can be brought for it, the Author was eminently qualified for his Work. Don't therefore throwe away that which is Orthodox, and usefull, because not modified after your manner.

We know Children are taken with painted Babies, but Men and Christians, (to them that are or would be such, not to Carpers, is this Work commended,) ought to act as such, being guided by Judgment, not Fancy. What would become of those Thousands of precious Souls where men of Learning are not, nor will reside to preach the Gospel, were it not for such as the Author? Do I say such? It would be a Mercy indeed, if all that preach were as able as he was.

Will you say, that such are not Christians, who own their Conversion to be under Illiterate men, as they are call'd? God forbid! It's God's will and pleasure to own them in that Work, therefore don't reply against God. Read 1 Cor. 1. 27, 28, 29. Mistake us not, we are not decrying Learning, (neither was it the Authors Judgment, or practice so to doe, though himself destitute of it,) but we would not have any place it, where God hath not; and make that essential to a Gospel Minister, which is only a help. The Graces (we conceive) and the gifts of the Spirit, together with the Call of a People, accompanyed with an Inclination to the Work, are the Essentials of a Minister of the New Testament; not Learning, though a good and great Help, if rightly used. As on the one hand, some are so strait-laced, that they will allow none to be Ministers, but Scholars; so others are so large, that they'll admit any to the Work, though hardly endued with a good Family Gift: This the Author was against, and we have seen both of these Extreams to our Trouble. Therefore let us perswade thee, to shun both of them, and resolve to approve of those that God qualifies for, and calls forth to, and blesses in the Work of Preaching, whether Learned or not; and of the latter sort was the Author: The Effect doth demonstrate it; for Ultra posse non datur esse. Read the first to the Corinth. ch. 2. v. 14. The case being thus, peruse and pray over what is before thee, that the Blessing of God may attend thy Reading, to thy Souls advantage.

We shall not here delay thee with an Account of the Authors Pedigree, Education, Conversion, or Call to the Ministry, it being done for thee by his own hand, in his Treatise of Grace abounding to the Chief of Sinners: But give us leave to say, his Natural Parts and Abilities were not mean, his Fancy and Invention were very pregnant, and fertile; the use he made of them was good, converting them to spiritual Objects: His Wit was sharp and quick, his Memory tenacious; it being customary with him to commit his Sermons to Writing after he had Preached them: His Understanding was large and comprehensive, his Judgment sound and deep in the Fundamentals of the Gospel, as his Writings evidence. Also his Experience of Satans Temptations, in the power and policy of them, and of Christs presence in and by his Word and Spirit to succour and comfort him, was more than ordinary; the Grace of God was magnified in him and by him, and a rich Anoynting of the Spirit was upon him; and yet this great Saint was always in his own eyes the chiefest of Sinners, and the least of Saints; esteeming any, where he did believe the Truth of Grace, better than himself. There was indeed in him all the parts of an accomplisht Man, and for his Piety and Sincerity towards God, it was apparent to all that convers'd with him: He was not only well furnished with the Helps and Endowments of Nature, beyond ordinary, but Eminent in the Graces and Gifts of the Spirit, and Fruits of Holiness. He was from first to last of, (and established in, and ready to maintain,) that God-like Principle of having Communion with Saints as such, without any respect to difference in Opinion in things disputable among the Godly, a true Lover of all that Love Our Lord Jesus Christ, and did often bewail the different and distinguishing Appellations that are among the Godly, saying, he did believe a Time would come when they should be all Buried. His Carriage was condescending, affable and meek to all; yet bold and couragious for Christ's and the Gospel's sake. He was much struck at in the late times of Persecution, and his Sufferings were great, he enduring, first and last, above Twelve Years Imprisonment; under all which he behaved himself like Christ's Soldier, being far from any sinful compliance to save himself, but did chearfully bear the Cross of Christ: And when, by reason of Imprisonment, he was restrained from Preaching, he then spent his time (much of it) in composing that which might be useful and beneficial to the Church of God, when in Person he could not be so.

Carriage

His Countenance was grave and sedate, and did so to the life discover the inward frame of his Heart, that it was convincing to the Beholders; and did strike something of awe into them that had nothing of the Fear of God: And though his Enemies and Persecutors, in his life-time, did what they could to vilifie and reproach him; yet being gone, he that before had the Testimony of their Consciences, hath now their actual Commendation and Applause. His Conversation was as becomes the Gospel, Eph. 5. 6. Col. 2. 6. He was Eminent as a Christian, and as a Minister of Christ; making that which God had called him to, his Business with delight. He was laborious in his work of Preaching, at home and abroad; and diligent in his Preparation for it, not doing the Word of the Lord negligently. He was faithful in dispensing the Word, and discharging his Duty to God and Man. Where he saw cause of Reproof, he did not spare for outward Circumstances, whether in the Pulpit or no; and as ready to administer comfort and succour to the Tempted: A Son of Consolation to the Broken-hearted, and Afflicted; yet a Son of Thunder, to secure and dead Sinners.

He knew the worth of an Interest in Christ, by his own Experience of the Goodness of God; shewing him on the one hand his Natural Pollution, Guilt and Enmity, and that wrath that was due to him thereby; and the vertue of the Blood of Christ on the other, to free from all. And from that Experimental Knowledge, did flow hearty Desires, and fervent Prayers, that the work of God might be effectually wrought on Sinners, especially those among whom he laboured in the Word and Doctrine; and matter of grief was it to him, when he did not see Conversion-work on foot. Indeed, in the beginning of his Ministry, God did own him in that Work, beyond what is ordinary: And in his latter years, few, if any, were more successful in their Work, we mean, with respect to Conversion. God was with him from first to last: And it may be said of him, as of David, 2 Sam. 7. 8, 9. Some are now gone to Glory with him; others are yet in the Body, who own him as the External Instrument in God's Hand, of their Conversion.

His so long continuance in the Work of the Ministry, was a great Blessing to the Church of Christ, in and about Bedford in particular, over which the Holy Ghost made him Overseer; his Ministry being blest to the Edification, Comfort and Establishment of the Saints, as well as the Conversion of Sinners. And he was also very useful, as he was an Elder, or Pastor: First by his Example, he being full of Zeal and Affection, at all times, (according to Knowledge,) more especially at his Administration of the Lord's Supper, it was observable that Tears came from his Eyes in abundance, from the sense of the Sufferings of Christ, that are in that Ordinance shadowed forth: And then, as a Pastor, he was useful also, by the Accuracy of his Knowledge in Church-discipline, and readiness to put that in practice in the Church (as occasion offered) which he saw was agreeable to the Word of God, whether Admonition, or Excommunication, or making up Differences, or filling up Vacancies, or paring off Excrescencies. And as he was useful to that Church, so to the whole Countrey round, and to other Churches where he did frequently spend his Labours.

His Death was, and is much lamented, for that Reason; as also because it was somewhat sudden, and he from home at that time. His Remembrance is sweet and refreshing to many, and so will continue: For the righteous shall be had in everlasting remembrance. God's Blessing his Labours in Preaching, to those Ends for which it was ordain'd, was one great motive to prevail with him to Print them: And to our knowledge, those Books that he himself put forth, were blest to the good of many Souls; the Acceptance which his former Works have met with in the World, and the Advantage that many have received by them, doth assure us, that his Remains will be welcome also to those that would either grow in Grace themselves, or have others won over to Jesus Christ.

His Preaching, for the Matter of it, was much what he before had the savour of on his own Spirit, (he walking close with God,) and therefore came from him with no small degree of liveliness and vigour. His design was, in Preaching, and Publishing (what he Preach'd,) to recommend the Truth and Grace of God to all, that either heard him, or should read his Works, and ours is the same: Therefore read and receive what thou readest in the Truth and Love of it, it being consonant thereto.

We grant, that with respect to some Circumstantials, or things of lesser moment, the Author's Sentiments were different from ours; if thou findest them, and thy Judgment be otherwise, take the liberty of thy Conscience, as we do, and is the duty of all to give; yet in the great Truths of the Gospel that he handles, we judge him to be very sound, and can therefore recommend the Work

Some things he treats of, are Doctrinal and Controverted: There you'll find his Soundness, and a great degree of Clearness; deep things brought into a familiar Phrase. The rest of his Writings, (and they the greatest part,) are Practical, and therefore to be esteemed as useful by all sound-hearted Christians.

The reason why there are so many Treatises put into one Volume, (some Printed before, others not,) is, that they may be preserved to future Ages, fearing that their continuing single, or the rest being Printed so, may hazard their being lost, and so our Posterity deprived of that Benefit which we now hope they may receive from them.

If any say, they can't spare so much Money as this Volume will cost, there are the lesser Volumes for them, which they may buy, some and some, as they can. In this Volume are not contained all the Works of the worthy Author; they would swell to too great a Bulk: Neither were all the Copies to be procur'd, because the Propriety of several Pieces already Printed, is lodg'd in particular Persons hands, who were not willing to resign up their Right at reasonable Rates; but the rest will be in another Volume as soon as the Copies can be obtained, that thou mayst have all those Works by thee, which the Author with great Labour, and the Spirit's Assistance compiled, and with many Prayers recommended to God for a Blessing to those into whose hands they should come.

To conclude: If thou hast tasted that the Lord is Gracious, read, and pray that thou mayest be Edified, and built up in thy most holy Faith, and be made meet for Glory. But if thou art yet in thy Natural Estate, which is a State of unspeakable Danger, as well as Sin, remember that thou shalt not always have such Mercies put into thy hands, for thy Soul's good; and that the heaviest blow of Divine Justice is still ready to avenge thy Abuse of Mercy: Therefore, don't read to fill thy Head with Notions; but labour after a deep Impression on thy Heart of what thou readest; and set thy self about the obtaining the One Thing necessary, that thou mayest have cause to bless God for casting this Book into thy hands, as others have had, for what hath been already Printed. We shall forbare saying any more to Saints or Sinners, because the Author hath been so full in what he hath spoken to both, rightly dividing the Word of Truth.

That therefore the same Blessing of God, and Breathing of the Spirit, may accompany thy Reading, as did the Author's Preaching, and others Reading, is, and shall be the unfeigned and fervent Request of us,

Who are thy Souls Friends,

EBEN. CHANDLER,
JOHN WILSON.

AN EXPOSITION ON THE Ten First CHAPTERS OF GENESIS, And Part of the Eleventh.

CHAP. I.

1. Of GOD.

Joh. 4. 24. Job 11. 7. Deut. 33. 23. Heb. 4 12, 13. Prov 15 11. Rom. 1. 17. Gen. 17. 1. Isa. 6. 2. Exod. 33. 20.

I. GOD is a Spirit, eternal, infinite, incomprehensible, perfect, and unspeakably Glorious in his Being, Attributes, and Works: The Eternal God. Do not I fill Heaven and Earth, saith the Lord? Neither is there any Creature that is not manifest in his sight.

II. In his Attributes of Wisdom, Power, Justice, Holiness, Mercy, &c. he is also inconceivably perfect and infinite, not to be comprehended by things in Earth, or things in Heaven; known in the Perfection of his Being only to himself. The Seraphims cannot behold him, but through a Veil; no man can see him in his Perfection and live.

III. His Attributes, though apart laid down in the Word of God, that we, being weak, might the better conceive of his eternal Power and Godhead; yet in him they are without Division; one Glorious and eternal Being. Again, though sometimes this, as of Wisdom, or that, as of Justice and Mercy, is most manifest in his Works, and Wonders before men; yet every such work is begun and compleated by the joynt concurrence of all his Attributes. No act of Justice is without his Will, Power and Wisdom; no act of Mercy is against his Justice, Holiness and Purity.

IV. Besides, no man must conceive of God, as if he consisted of these Attributes, as our Body doth of its Members, one standing here, another there, for the compleating personal Subsistance: For though by the Word we may distinguish, yet may we not divide them, or presume to appoint them their places in the Godhead: Wisdom is in his Justice, Holiness is in his Power, Justice is in his Mercy, Holiness is in his Love, Power is in his Goodness. Numb. 14. 17, 18.

V. Wherefore, he is in all his Attributes almighty, all-wise, holy and powerfull. Glory is in his Wisdom, glory in his Holiness, glory is in his Mercy, Justice and Strength; and God is Love. 1 Joh. 4. 16.

Of the Persons or Subsistances in the God-head. 2.

THE Godhead is but One, yet in the Godhead there are Three. There are three that bear record in Heaven. These three are called the Father, the Son, the Holy Spirit; each of which is really; naturally and eternally God: yet there is but one God. But again, because the Father is of himself, the Son by the Father, and the Spirit from them both, therefore to each, the Scripture, not only applyeth, and that truly, the whole Nature of the Deity, but again distinguisheth the Father from the Son, and the Spirit from them both; calling the Father he, by himself; the Son he, by himself; the Spirit he, by himself. Yea, the Three of themselves, in their manifesting to the Church what she should believe concerning this matter, hath thus expressed the thing, Let US make man in our Image, after our likeness. Again, The Man is become like one of US. Again, Let US go down and there confound their Language: And again, Whom shall I send, and who will go for US? To these general Expressions might be added, That Adam heard the Voice of the 1 Joh. 5. 7, 8, 9. Gen. 1. 26. Gen. 3. 22. Gen. 11. 6, 7. Isa. 6. 8.

1 Joh. 1. 9.

Gen. 3. 8. Lord God walking in the midst of the Garden: Which Voice John will have, to be one of the Three, calling that which Moses here saith is the Voice, the Word of God: In the beginning, saith he, was the Word; the Voice which Adam heard walking in the midst of the Garden. This Word, saith John, was
Joh. 1. 1, 2. with God, this Word was God; the same was in the beginning with God. Marvellous Language! once asserting the Unity of Essence, but twice insinuating a distinction of Substances therein. The Word was with God, the Word was God, the same was in the beginning with God. Then follows, All things were made by
Joh. 5. 7. him, the Word, the Second of the Three.

Now the Godly in former Ages have called these three, thus in the Godhead, Persons or Subsistances; the which, though I condemn not, yet chuse rather to abide by Scripture Phrase, knowing, though the other may be good and sound, yet the Adversary must needs more shamelesly spurn and reject, when he doth it against the evident Text.

3. To proceed then,

1. There are three.

2. These three are distinct.

First, By this word three, is intimated the Father, the Word, and the holy Ghost, and they are said to be three,

1. Because those Appellations that are given them in Scripture, demonstrate them so to be, to wit, Father, Son and Holy Ghost.

2. Because their Acts one towards another discover them so to be.

Secondly, These three are distinct.

1. So distinct as to be more than one, only. There are three.

2. So distinct as to subsist without depending. The Father is true God, the Son is true God, the Spirit is true God. Yet the Father is one, the Son is one, the Spirit is one: The Father is one of himself, the Son is one by the Father, the Spirit is one from them both. Yet the Father is not above the Son, nor the Spirit inferior to either: The Father is God, the Son is God, the Spirit is God.

Among the Three then there is not superiority.

1. Not as to Time; the Father is from Everlasting, so is the Son, so is the Spirit.

2. Not as to Nature, the Son being of the substance of the Father, and the Spirit of the substance of them both.

3. The Fulness of the Godhead is in the Father, is in the Son, and is in the Holy Ghost.

The Godhead then, though it can admit of a Trinity, yet it admitteth not of Inferiority in that Trinity: If otherwise, then less or more must be there, and so either Plurality of Gods, or something that is not God: so then, Father, Son and Spirit are in the Godhead, yet but one God; each of these is God over all, yet no Trinity of Gods, but one God in the Trinity.

Explication. The Godhead then is common to the Three, but the three themselves abide distinct in that Godhead: Distinct I say, as Father, and Son, and holy Spirit.

This is manifest further by these several Positions. 4.

First, Father and Son are Relatives, and must needs therefore have their relation as such: A Father begetteth, a Son is begotten.

Proof.

Who hath ascended up into Heaven, or descended? who hath gathered the wind in his fist? who Prov. 30. 4.
hath bound the Waters in a Garment? what is his Name, and what is his Sons Name, if thou canst tell?

God so loved the World, that he gave his Joh. 3. 16.
only begotten Son, &c.

The Father sent the Son to be the Saviour of 1 Joh. 4. 14.
the World.

Secondly, The Father then cannot be that Son he begat, nor the Son that Father that begat him, but must be distinct as such.

Proof.

I am one that beareth witness of my self, and Joh. 8. 17, 18.
the Father that sent me beareth witness of me.

I came forth from the Father, and am come John 16. 28.
into the World; again, I leave the World, and go to the Father.

The Father judgeth no man, but hath commit- Joh. 5. 22, 23.
ted all Judgment unto the Son, that all men should honour the Son, even as they honour the Father.

Thirdly, The Father must have Worship as a Father, and the Son as a Son.

Proof.

They that worship the Father must worship him Joh. 4. 23, 24.
in Spirit and in Truth, for the Father seeketh such to worship him.

And of the Son he saith, And when he bring- Heb. 1. 6.
eth his first begotten into the World, he saith, And let all the Angels of God worship him.

Fourthly, The Father and Son have really those distinct, but heavenly, relative Properties, that discover them, as such, to be two as well as one.

Proof.

The Father loveth the Son, and sheweth him Joh. 5. 20.
all things.

Therefore doth my Father love me, because I lay down my life, that I may take it again. The Father sent the Son; the Father commanded the Son; the Son prayed to the Father, and did always the things that pleased him.

The Absurdities that flow from the denyal of this are divers, some of which hereunder follow. 5.

1 Absurdity.

It maketh void all those Scriptures that do affirm the Doctrine; some of which you have before.

2 Absurdity.

If in the Godhead there be but One, not Three, then the Father, Son, or the Spirit, must needs be that One, if any one only: So then the other two are nothing. Again, If the Reality of a Being be neither in the Father, Son, nor Spirit, as such, but in the Eternal Deity, without consideration of Father, Son, and Spirit, as Three; then neither of the three are any thing but Notions in us, or Manifestations of the Godhead, or nominal Distinctions, so related by the Word; but if so, then when the Father sent the Son, and the Father and Son the Spirit, one Notion sent another, one Manifestation sent another. This being granted, this unavoidably follows, there was no Father to beget a Son, no Son to be sent to save us, no Holy Ghost to be sent to comfort us, and to guide us into all the truth of the Father and Son, &c. The most amounts but to this, a Notion sent a Notion, a Distinction sent a Distinction, or one Manifestation sent another. Of this Error these are the Consequences, we are only to believe in Notions and Distinctions, when we believe in the Father and the Son; and so shall have no other Heaven and Glory than Notions and nominal Distinctions can furnish us withall.

or

3 Absurdity.

If Father, and Son, &c. be no otherwise Three, than as Notions, Names, or Nominal Distinctions; then to worship these distinctly, or together, as such, is to commit most gross and horrible Idolatry: For albeit we are commanded to fear that great and dreadful Name, The Lord our God; yet to worship a Father, a Son, an Holy Spirit in the Godhead, as Three, as really Three as One, is by this Doctrine to imagin falsly of God, and so to break the Second Commandment: but to worship God under the consideration of Father, and Son, and Holy Ghost, and to believe them as really Three as One when I worship, being the summ and substance of the Doctrine of the Scriptures of God, there is really substantially Three in the Eternal Godhead.

But to help thee a little in thy study on this deep.

1. Thou must take heed when thou readest, there is in the Godhead, Father, and Son, &c. That thou do not imagin about them according to thine own carnal and foolish fancy; for no Man can apprehend this Doctrine but in the Light of the Word and Spirit of God.

Mat. 11. 27. No man knoweth the Son but the Father; neither knoweth any man the Father, save the Son; and he to whom the Son will reveal him. If therefore thou be destitute of the Spirit of God, thou canst not apprehend the Truth of this Mystery as it is in it self, but will either by thy darkness be driven to a denial thereof; or if thou own it, thou wilt (that thy acknowledgment notwithstanding) falsly imagin about it.

2. If thou feel thy Thoughts begin to wrestle about this Truth, and to struggle concerning this one against another; take heed of admitting of such a Question, How can this thing be? For here is no room for Reason to make it out, here is only room to believe it is a Truth. You find not one of the Prophets propounding an Argument to prove it; but asserting it, they let it lye, for Faith to take it up and embrace it.

2 Cor. 13. 14. The Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the Love of God, and the Communion of the Holy Ghost be with you all. Amen.

Of the Creation of the World. 6.

THE Apostle saith, That to us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him; and one Lord Jesus Christ, by whom are all things, and we by him. 1 Cor. 8. 6. God that made the World. All things were made by him, and without him was not any thing made that was made. Acts 17. 24. Joh. 1. 3. This World therefore had a Beginning, and was Created by the God of Heaven: Which Work, because it is wonderful, and discovereth much of the Greatness, of the Wisdom and Power of the Eternal Godhead, it behoveth such poor Mortals as we to behold these Works of the Mighty God, that thereby we may see how Great he is, and be made to cry out, What is Man! Psal. 8. 3, 4.

Now in the Creation of the World we may consider several things; as, What was the Order of God in this Work? And, Whether there was a Secret or Mystery in this Work containing the Truth of some higher thing? For the First of these:

Of the Order of God in Making the World.

I. ALTHOUGH God be indeed Omnipotent, and not only can, but doth do whatsoever he will; and tho' to do his Works he needeth not length of time; yet it pleased him best, in the Creation of the World (though he could, had it pleased him, have done all by one onely word) to proceed by degrees from one thing to another, to the compleating of six days work in the making thereof.

And forasmuch as this Work went on by degrees, now this thing, and then another, it may not be amiss, if in our Discourse on this wonderful Work, we begin where God began; and if we can, go wondring after him who hath thus wrought.

1. The first thing that God made, was Time; I say, it was Time: All the Plain in which he would build this beautiful World; he made nothing before, but in the Beginning: In the beginning God created the Heavens and the Earth: In the beginning of Time. For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them is. Therefore the First Day must first have a beginning to be. Whatsoever was before Time, was Eternal; but nothing but God himself is Eternal, therefore no Creature was before Time. Time therefore, which was indeed the beginning, was the first of the Creatures of God. Gen. 1. 1. Exod. 20. 11.

2. I think, the second of Creatures that the Lord created, were the holy Angels of God, they being called the Morning Stars, as created and shining in the Morning of the World; and therefore they are said to be by, when the Corner-stone of the Universe was laid; that is, when he laid the Foundation of the World: Then the Morning-stars sang together, and all the Sons of God shouted for joy. Job 38. 4, 5, 6, 7.

The Higheſt Heavens.

3. I think, the third thing that the Lord created, was theſe large and copious Heavens; for they are mentioned with reſpect to their being before the Earth, or any viſible Creature. In the beginning God created the heavens, &c. Neither do I think that the Heavens were made of that confuſed Chaos that afterwards we read of: It is ſaid, he ſtretched out the heaven as a curtain, and with his hand he hath ſpanned the heavens; intimating, that they were not taken out of that formleſs heap, but were immediately formed by his power. Beſides, the Holy Ghoſt, treating of the creating of Heaven and Earth, he only ſaith, The Earth was void, and without form; but no ſuch thing of the Heavens.

Gen. 1. 1.

7. 4. The Fourth thing that God created, it was (in mine Opinion) that Chaos, or Firſt Matter, with which he in the ſix days framed this Earth, with its Appurtenances; for the viſible things that are here below, ſeem to me to be otherwiſe put into Being and Order, than Time, the Angels, and the Heavens, they being created in their own ſimple Eſſence by themſelves: But the things that are viſibly here below, whatever their Eſſence and Nature be, they were formed of that firſt deformed Chaos. In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth, and the earth was without form, and void. He ſaith not ſo of the Heavens; they, as I ſaid, were at firſt ſtretched forth as a Curtain; indeed they were afterwards garniſhed with the beauty which we now behold; but otherwiſe they had, at their firſt inſtant of being, that form which now they have. This ſeems clear by the Antitheſis which the Holy Ghoſt put between them, God created the Heavens and the Earth, but the Earth was without form, and void: The Earth was without form, &c. without order; things were together on a confuſed heap; the Waters were not divided from the Earth, neither did thoſe things appear which are now upon the face of the Earth, as Man, and Beaſt, Fiſh, Fowls, Trees and Herbs; all theſe did afterwards ſhew themſelves, as the Word of God gave them Being, by commanding their appearance, in what form, order, place and time he in himſelf had before determined; but all, I ſay, took their matter and ſubſtance of that firſt Chaos, which he in the firſt Day of the World had commanded to appear, and had given being to: And therefore 'tis ſaid, God ſaid, Let the Earth bring forth Graſs, Herbs, Trees, &c. and that the Waters brought forth the Fiſh, and Fowl, yea, even to the mighty Whales: Alſo the Earth brought forth Cattel, and creeping things: And that God made Man of the Duſt of the Ground: All theſe things therefore were made of, or cauſed by his Word diſtinctly to appear, and be after its kind, of that firſt Matter which he had before created by his Word. Obſerve therefore, That the Matter of all Earthly things was made at the ſame inſtant, but their forming, &c. was according to the day in which God gave them their Being, in their own order and kind. And hence it is ſaid, that after that firſt Matter was created, and found without form, and void, That the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters; that is, to work, and cauſe thoſe things to appear in their own Eſſence and Form, which, as to Matter and Subſtance, was before created: Wherefore it follows, And God ſaid, Let there be light; and God divided the light from the darkneſs, &c. Now he ſet to putting in frame that which before lay in diſorder and confuſion: And this was a great part of the ſix days work; I ſay, a great part, but not all; for (as I ſaid) before that, Time, the Angels, and the Heavens were made; yea, after the beginning of the Morning of the Firſt Day. I am of the belief, that other things alſo, that were formed after, were not made of that firſt Chaos, as the Sun, the Moon, the Stars, the Light, the Souls of Men, and poſſibly the Air, &c. The Sun, and Moon, and Stars are ſaid to be made the Fourth Day, yet not of the Body of Heaven it ſelf, much leſs, in my Opinion, of any Earthly Matter: God made them, and ſet them in the Firmament of Heaven: So the Light that was made before, it ſeems to be a thing created after the Heavens and the Earth were created: Created, I ſay, as a thing that wanted a Being before, any otherwiſe than in the Decree of God: And God ſaid, Let there be Light; Let it have a Being: And ſo, though the Body of Man was made of the Subſtance of Earth, yet as to his Soul, it is ſaid, God breathed into his noſtrils the Breath of Life, and Man became a living Soul.

Chap. 3. 19.

Whether there was a Secret or Myſtery in this Work, containing the Truth of ſome Higher Thing.

¶ Though God, in very deed, by his Eternal Power, created Heaven and Earth of things that do not appear, we that are Chriſtians believe; yet in this his wonderful Work, neither his Will or Underſtanding did here terminate, or make a ſtop; but being infinite in Wiſdom, he made them, that both as to Matter and Manner they might preſent unto us, as in a Myſtery, ſome higher and more excellent thing; in this Wiſdom he made them all. And hence it is that other things are alſo called a Creation: As,

1. The Eſſential Converſion of a Sinner, 2 Cor. 9. 7.

2. The Recovery of the Church from a degenerate ſtate, Rev. 21. 5.

And therefore, as Moſes begins with the Creation of the World, ſo John begins with the Goſpel of Salvation, Gen. 1. 1. Joh. 1. 1. There is alſo beſides many excellent things in the manner and order of the Creation of the World, held forth to thoſe that have Underſtanding: Some of which I may touch upon by way of Obſervation. But to begin with the Firſt:

1. The Firſt appearance of this Earthy part of the World, is recorded to be but a formleſs and void Heap or Chaos; and ſuch is Man before a New Creation: formleſs, I mean, as to the Order of the Teſtament of Chriſt, and void of the Holy Order thereof: And hence Jeremiah, when he would ſet forth the Condition

tion of a wicked People, he doth it under this Metaphor: I beheld (saith he) the Earth, and it was without form, and void. Indeed, the World would make this a Type of Christ; to wit, a Man of no form or comliness: But 'tis only true of themselves; they are without a New-Testament Impression upon them; they are void of the Sovereign Grace of God. So then the Power of God gave the World a Being, but by his Word he set it in Form and Beauty; even as by his Power he gives a being to Man, but by his Word he giveth him New-Testament Framing and Glory. This is still followed by that which follows:

Jer. 4. 23. Isa. 53. 2. Ephes. 2. 10, 11, 12.

9. And darkness was upon the face of the deep, ver. 2.

The Deep here, might be a Type of the Heart of Man before Conversion; and so Solomon seems to intimate. Now as the darkness of this World did cover the face of this first Chaos; so spiritual Darkness the Heart of the Sons of Men: and hence they are said to be darkned, to be in darkness, yea, to be very darkness it self.

The First Days Work. And the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters.

A blessed Emblem of the Word of God in the matter of Regeneration; for as the first Chaos remained without form, and void, until the Spirit of God moved to work upon it, and by working, to put this World into frame and order; so Man, as he comes into the World, abides a confused Lump, an unclean thing; a Creature without New-Testament Order, until by the Spirit of the Lord he is transformed into the Image of Jesus Christ.

Gal. 1. 15.

And the Spirit of God moved upon the Face.

Solomon compares the Heart to a Man's Face; because as in the Face may be discerned whether there is Anger or otherwise; so by the Inclinations of the Heart is discovered the truth of the Condition of the Man, as to his state either for Heaven or Hell. And besides, as the Spirit of God moved upon the Face of the Waters; so in the work of our Conversion, the Spirit of God beginneth with the Heart of the Sons of Men; because the Heart is the main Fort: Now if the main Fort be not taken, the Adversary is still capable of making continual Resistance. Therefore God first conquers the Heart; therefore the Spirit of God moveth upon the face of our Heart, when he cometh to convert us from Satan to God.

Acts 2. 37.

10. And God said, Let there be Light.

This is the first thing with which God began the order of the Creation; to wit, Light, Let there be Light: From which many profitable Notes may be gathered, as to the Order of God in the Salvation of the Soul. As,

1. When the Holy Ghost worketh upon us, and in us, in order to a New Creation; he first toucheth our Understanding, that great piece of the Heart, with his Spiritual Illumination: His first word, in order to our Conversion, is, Let there be Light: Light, to see their State by Nature; Light, to see the Fruits and Effects of Sin; Light, to see the truth and worth of the Merits of Jesus Christ; Light, to see the truth and faithfulness of God, in keeping Promise and Covenant with them that embrace Salvation upon the blessed terms of the Gospel of Peace. Now that this word, Let there be Light, was a semblance of the first work of the Holy Ghost upon the Heart, compare it with that of Paul to the Corinthians: For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, that is, at the beginning of the World, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the Face of Jesus Christ.

Mat. 4. 13, 14, 15. Heb. 10. 32. 2 Cor. 4. 6.

2. And God said, Let there be Light. As here, the Light of this World; so in Conversion, the Light of the New-Testament of Christ, it comes by the Word of God. No Word, no Light: therefore the Apostle saith, He hath brought life and immortality to light through the Gospel. And therefore Paul saith again, That Salvation is manifest through preaching, through the expounding or opening of the Word of Faith.

1 Tim. 1. 10.

3. And God said, Let there be Light; and there was Light: He spake the word, and it was done; all that darkness that before did cover the face of the Deep, could not now hinder the being of Light. So neither can all the blindness and ignorance that is in the Heart of Man, hinder the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ. When it pleaseth God to reveal, it is revealed; when he openeth, none can shut: He said, Let there be Light, and there was Light.

Rev. 3. 7.

And God saw that the Light was good. Truly the light is good (saith Solomon) and a pleasant thing it is for the Eye to behold the Sun. It was good, because it was God's Creature; and so in the work of Grace that is wrought in our Hearts, that Light of the New-Covenant, it is good, because it is God's work, the work of his good pleasure; that good work which he hath not only begun, but promised to fulfill until the Day of Jesus Christ.

2 Thess. 1. 11. Phil. 1. 6.

God saw that the Light was good. The Darkness that before did cover the face of the Waters, was not a Creature of God, but a Privation, or that which was caused by reason that Light was not as yet in the World: so Sin, that Darkness that might be felt, is not the Workmanship of God in the Soul, but that which is the Work of the Devil; and that taketh occasion to be, by reason that the true Light, as yet, doth not shine in the Soul.

And God divided the Light from the Darkness. As Paul saith, What communion hath light with darkness? they cannot agree to dwell together. We see the Night still flyes before the Day, and dareth not come upon us again, but as the Light diminisheth and conveyeth it self away. So it is in the New Creation; before the light of the glorious Gospel of Christ appears, there is Night, all Night in the Soul; but when that indeed doth shine in the Soul, then for Night there is Day in the Soul: Ye were darkness (saith Paul) but now ye are light in the Lord: And, The darkness is past (saith John) and the true light now shineth.

11. 2 Cor. 6. 14. Ephes. 5. 8. 1 Joh. 2. 8.

And

And God divided the Light from the Darkneſs. God took part with the Light, and preſerved it from the Darkneſs. By theſe words, it
Gal. 5. 17. ſeems that Darkneſs and Light began the quarrel, before that bloody bout of Cain and Abel. The Light and the Darkneſs ſtruggled together, and nothing could divide or part them but God. Darkneſs is at implacable enmity with Light in the Creation of the World; and ſo it is in that rare work of Regeneration, the Fleſh luſteth againſt the Spirit, and the Spirit againſt the Fleſh; as Peter ſaith, Fleſhly luſts, they war againſt the ſoul. This every Chriſtian feels, and alſo that which I mentioned before, namely, That before he be capable of oppoſing Antichriſt, with Abel, in the World, he findeth a ſtruggling in his own Soul between the light and the darkneſs that is there.

And God called the Light Day, and the Darkneſs he called Night.

God doth not only diſtinguiſh by ſeperating, but alſo by certain Characters; that things which are diſtinguiſhed and ſeperate, may to us be the better known; he did ſo here in the Work of Creating the World, and he doth ſo alſo in the great concern of Man's Eternal Happineſs. The place of Felicity is called Heaven: The place of Torment is called Hell: that which leads to Hell is called Sin, Tranſgreſſion, Iniquity and Wickedneſs; that which leads to Heaven, Righteouſneſs, Holineſs, Goodneſs and Uprightneſs: Even as in theſe Types God called the Light Day, of which the Godly are the Children; but the Dark-
1 Theſſ. 5. 5. neſs he called Night, of which all ungodly Men are the Inhabiters and Children alſo. Thus after the Spirit of God had moved upon the face of the Waters; after God had commanded the Light to ſhine, and had divided between the Light and the Darkneſs, and had characterized them by their proper Names, he concludes the Firſt Days Work, And the evening and the morning was the firſt day. In which Concluſion there is wrapped up a bleſſed Goſpel-Myſtery; for God, by concluding the Firſt Day here, doth ſhew us how we ought to determin that one is made indeed a Chriſtian: Even then when the Spirit of God hath moved upon the face of the Heart, when he hath commanded that Light ſhould be there, when he divideth between, or ſetteth the Light at variance with the Darkneſs; and when the Soul doth receive the Characters of of both, to obſerve them, and carry it to each according to the Mouth of God.

12. Verſe 6. The Second Days Work.

¶ And God ſaid, Let there be a Firmament.

This Firmament he calleth Heaven, ver. 8. Now this Firmament, or Heaven, was to make a Separation, or to divide between the Waters and the Waters; to ſeparate, I ſay, the Waters from the Waters; the Waters which were under the Firmament, from the Waters which were above the Firmament. Now by Waters is ſignified in the Scriptures many things, as Afflictions, worldly People, and particularly the Saints; but in this place is figured forth, all the People in the World, but ſo as conſiſting of two parts, the Children of God, and the Children of the wicked One: They under the Heaven, figure out the World, or Ungodly; they above the Firmament, the Elect and Choſen of God. And hence in Scripture the one is called Heaven, and the other is called Earth, to ſignifie the ſeparation and difference that there is between the one and the other.

Ver. 7. Pſal. 69. 1,2,3. Rev. 19. 6.

And God made the Firmament, and divided the Waters from the Waters.

Indeed the World think that this Separation comes, or is made, through the captiouſneſs of the Preacher: But in truth it is the Handy-work of God; And God made the Firmament, and God divided, &c. I (ſaith he) will put enmity between thee and the woman, btween thy ſeed and her ſeed: The good Seed are the Children of the Kingdom of God, but the bad are the Children of the wicked One.
Gen. 3. 15. Mat. 13. 38.

And God made the Firmament, and divided the Waters that were under the Firmament, from the Waters that were above the Firmament: and it was ſo.

Whatſoever the Lord doth, it abideth for ever. And again, what he hath made crooked, who can make ſtrait? He ſaid it in the Beginning, and behold how it hath continued! yea, thô there hath been endeavours on Satans part, to mingle his Children with the Seed of Men; yet it hath not been poſſible they ſhould ever cleave one to another, even as Iron is not mixed with Clay. Yea, let me add further, What Laws have been made, what Blood hath been ſhed, what Cruelty hath been uſed, and what Flatteries and Lies invented, and all to make theſe two Waters and People one? And yet all hath fail'd, and fallen ſhort of producing the deſired Effect; for the Lord hath made a Firmament, even Heaven it ſelf hath divided between them.
Eccleſ. 3. 14. Chap. 1. 15. Dan. 2. 43.

And God called the Firmament Heaven, and the Evening and the Morning were the Second Day.

After the Waters were divided from the Waters, God called the cauſe of dividing, Heaven; and ſo concluded the Second Days Work. And indeed it was a very great Work, as in the Antitype we feel it to this very day. Dividing Work is difficult Work, and he that can, according to God, compleatly end and finiſh it, he need do no more that day of his life.

13. Verſe 9. The Third Days Work.

¶ And God ſaid, Let the waters under the heaven be gathered together into one place, and let the dry-land appear: and it was ſo.

Although in the Second Days work, the Waters above the Firmament, and thoſe that be under, are the two Peoples, or Great Families of the World; yet becauſe God would ſhew us by things on Earth, the flouriſhing ſtate of thoſe that are his, therefore he here doth expreſs his mind by another kind of Repreſentation of things: And God ſaid, Let the waters under the firmament be gathered together in one place: and let the dry-land appear. The Waters here ſignifying the World; but the Fruitful Earth, the thrifty Church of God. That the Fruitful Earth is a figure of the Thriving Church of God in this World, is evident from many Scriptures, (and there was nothing but but Thriftineſs till the Curſe came.) And hence it is ſaid of the Church, That ſhe ſhould break the clods of the ground; that ſhe ſhould ſow righteouſneſs, and reap it; that ſhe ſhould not ſow among thorns; that if this be done, the heart is circumciſed, and ſpiritual Fruit ſhall flow forth, and grow abundantly: And hence again it is that the Officers, and Eminent Ones in the Church, are called Vines, Trees, and other fruitful Plants. And hence it is ſaid again, When the Lord reigneth, let the Earth (that is, the Church) rejoyce. That Earth which bringeth forth Fruit meet for him by whom it is dreſſed, receiveth bleſſing from God. In all which places, and many more that might be named, the Earth is made a Figure of the Church of God; and ſo I count it here in this place.

Prov. 8. 31. Hoſ. 10. 12. Jer. 4. 3,4. Joel 2. 21, 22. Pſal. 97. 1. Heb. 6. 7.

And God ſaid, Let the waters under the heaven be gathered into one place.

Let them be together: It is not thus of all Waters, but of the Sea, which is ſtill here a Type of the World. Let them be ſo together, that the Earth may appear, that the Church may be rid of their rage and tumult, and then ſhe will be fruitful, as it follows in this Firſt of the Book of Geneſis. The Church is then in a flouriſhing ſtate, when the World is fartheſt off from her, and when the roaring of their waves are far away. Now therefore let all the wicked Men be far from thence: The Lord gather theſe Waters, which in another place are called the doleful Creatures, and Birds of Prey; Let theſe, O Lord, be gathered together to their own places, and be ſettled in the Land of Shinar upon their own baſs: Then the wilderneſs and the ſolitary places ſhall be glad for them; that is, for that they are departed thence, the Deſart ſhall rejoyce and bloſſom as a Roſe.

14. Verſe 10.

And God called the dry-land, Earth; and the gathering together of the waters, he called Seas; and God ſaw that it was good.

God ſaw, that to ſeparate the Waters from the Earth, was good: And ſo it is, for then have the Churches reſt. Then doth this Earth bring forth her Fruit, as in the 11*th*. & 12*th*. Verſes may here be ſeen.

The Fourth Days Work.

¶ And God ſaid, Let there be lights in the firmament of heaven.

The wiſdom of God, is there to make uſe of Figures and Shadows, even where moſt fit things, the things under Conſideration, may be moſt fitly demonſtrated. The dividing the Waters from the Waters, moſt fitly doth ſhew the Work of God, in Chuſing and Refuſing; by dividing the Waters from the Earth, doth ſhew how Fruitful God's Earth, the Church, is, when Perſecutors are made to be far from thence. Wherefore he ſpeaketh not of Garniſhing of his Church, until he comes to this Fourth Days Work: By his Spirit he hath garniſhed the heavens, that moſt fitly ſhewing the Glory of the Church.

Let there be lights; to wit, the Sun, the Moon, and the Stars.

The Sun is in this place a Type of Chriſt, the Sun of Righteouſneſs: The Moon is a Type of the Church, in her uncertain Condition in this World: The Stars are Types of the ſeveral Saints and Officers in this Church. And hence it is that the Sun is ſaid not only to rule, but it, with the Moon and Stars, to be ſet for Signs, and for Seaſons; and for Days, and for Years, &c. But if we take the Heaven for the Church, then how is ſhe beautified, when the Son of God is placed in the midſt of her! And how plainly is her Condition made out, even by the Changing, Encreaſing, and Diminiſhing of the Moon! And how excellent is that Congregation of Men, that for Light and Glory are figured by the Stars!

Rev. 1. 20.

Mat. 28. 20. Rev. 1. 12, 13.

From this Days Work much might be obſerved. 15.

1. That foraſmuch as the Sun was not made before the Fourth Day, it is evident there was Light in the World before the Sun was created; for in the Firſt Day God ſaid, Let there be Light, and there was Light. This may alſo teach us thus much, That before Chriſt came in Perſon, there was ſpiritual Light in the Saints of God. And again, That as the Sun was not made before the Fourth Day of the Creation, ſo Chriſt ſhould not be born before the Fourth Myſtical Day of the World; for it is evident, that Chriſt, the True Light of the World, was not born till about Four thouſand Years after the World was made.

2. As to the Moon, there are Four things attending her, which fitly may hold forth the ſtate of the Church. 1. In that ſhe Changeth from an Old to a New, we may conceive, that God by making her ſo, did it to ſhew he would one day make a Change of his Church, from a Jewiſh to a Gentile Congregation. 2. In that ſhe Encreaſeth, ſhe ſheweth the Flouriſhing ſtate of the Church. 3. In her Diminiſhing, the Diminiſhing ſtate of the Church. 4. The Moon is alſo ſometimes made to look as Red as Blood, to ſhew how Dreadful and Bloody the Suffering of the Church is at ſome certain times.

3. By the Stars, we underſtand Two things. 1. How innumerable the Saints, thoſe ſpiritual Stars ſhall be. 2. How they ſhall differ each from other in glory.

Heb. 11. 12. 1 Cor. 15. 41.

And God ſaid, Let there be lights in the firmament of heaven, to divide the day from the night.

For though before the Light was divided from the Darkneſs, yet the Day and Night was not ſo kept within their bounds, as now by theſe Lights they were: Probably ſignifying, that nothing ſhould be ſo clearly diſtinguiſh'd and made appear, as by the Sun-light of the Goſpel of Chriſt; for by that it is that the ſhadows flee away. The Light of the Sun gathers the Day to its Hours, both longer and ſhorter, and forceth alſo the Night to keep within his bounds.

And God made two great lights; the greater light to rule the day, and the leſſer light to rule the night.

Signifying, That Chriſt ſhould be the Light and Governour of his Church, which are the Children of the Day; but the Church, a Light to the Children of the Night, that by them they might learn the Mysteries of the Kingdom. Saith Christ to his own, Ye are the light of the world: And again, Let your light so shine, that men may see, &c. for though they that only walk in the Night, cannot see to walk by the Sun, yet by the Moon they may. Thus the Heaven is a Type of the Church, the Moon a Type of her uncertain state in this World; the Stars are Types of her immoveable Converts; and their Glory, of the differing degrees of theirs, both here, and in the other World. Much more might be said, but I pass this.

to

16. Of the Fifth Days Work.

Zech. 13. 8. Isa. 60. 5.

The Sea, as I said, is a Figure of the World; wherefore the Creatures that are in it, of the Men of the World. This Sea bringeth forth small and great Beasts, even as the World doth yield both small and great Persecutors, who like the Fishes of Prey, eat up and devour what they can of those Fish that are of another condition. Now also out of the World, that Mystical Sea, as Fishers do out of the Natural, both Christ and his Servants catch mystical Fish, even Fish as of the Great Sea.

Job 41. 33, 34. In the Sea God created great Whales, he made them to play therein.

Which Whales in the Sea, are Types of the Devils in the World: Therefore as the Devil is called, the Prince of this World; so the Whale is called, King over all the Children of Pride.

The Sixth Days Work. ¶ And God said, Let the earth bring forth the living creature after his kind.

Of the beginning of this Sixth Days Work, that may be said which is said of the Fishes, and the rest of the Sea; for as there is variety of Fish in the one, so of Beasts and Cattel in the other, who also make a prey of their fellows as the Fishes do; a most apt Representation of the Nature and Actions of bloody and deceitful Men: Hence Persecutors are called Bulls, Bears, Lions, Wolves, Tygers, Dragons, Dogs, Foxes, Leopards, and the like.

17. And God said, Let us make Man.

I observe, that in the Creation of the World, God goeth gradually on, from things less, to things more abundantly glorious; I mean, as to the Creation of this Earth, and the things that thereto appertain. First he bringeth forth a confused Chaos, then he commands Matter to appear distinct, then the Earth bringeth forth Trees, and Herbs, and Grass; after that, Beasts; and the Sea, Fowls; and last of all, Let us make Man. Now passing by the Doctrine of the Trinity, because spoken to before, I come to make some Observation upon this wonderful piece of the Workmanship of God.

Let us make Man. Man, in whom is also included the Woman, was made the last of the Creatures. From whence we may gather,

First, God's respect to this excellent Creature, in that he first provideth for him, before he giveth him his Being: He bringeth him not to an empty House, but to one well furnished with all kind of Necessaries, having beautified the Heaven and the Earth with glory, and all sorts of Nourishment, for his pleasure and sustenance.

Let us make Man in our Image, after our likeness.

An Image, or the likeness of any thing, is not the thing of which it is a Figure: so here, Adam is an Image, or made in the likeness of God. Now as Adam is the Image of God, it must either respect him, as he consisteth of the Soul, as a part; or as he consists of a Body and Soul together: If as he is made a reasonable Soul, then he is an excellent Image of the Eternal Godhead, the Attributes of the one being shadowed out by the Qualities and Passions of the other; for as there is in the Godhead, Power, Knowledge, Love, and Righteousness; so a Likeness of these is in the Soul of Man, especially of Man before he had sinned: And as there is Passions of Pity, Compassion, Affections, and Bowels in Man; so there are these in a far more infinite way in God.

Again, If this Image respect the whole Man, then Adam was a Figure of God, as Incarnate; or of God, as he was to be made afterwards Man. And hence it is, that as Adam Rom. 5. 14. is called the Image of God; so also is Christ himself called and reckoned as the answering Antitype of such an Image.

18. But again, Though Adam be here called the Image or Similitude of God, yet but so as that he was the Shadow of a more excellent Image. Adam was a Type of Christ, who only is the express Image of his Father's Per- Heb. 1. 2. son, and the Likeness of his excellent Glory; for those things that were in Adam, were but of an Humane, but of a Created Substance; but those that were in Christ, of the same Divine and Eternal Excellency with the Father.

Is Christ then the Image of the Father, simply, as consider'd of the same Divine and Eternal Excellency with him? Certainly, No: for an Image is doubtless inferiour to that of which it is a Figure. Understand then, that Christ is the Image of the Father's Glory, as born of the Virgin Mary, yet so, as being very God also: Not that his Godhead in it self was a Shadow or Image, but by the Acts and Doing of that Man, every Act being infinitely perfect by virtue of his Godhead, the Fathers Perfections were made manifest to Flesh. An Image is to be looked upon, and by being looked upon, another thing is seen; so by the Person and Doings of the Lord Jesus, they that indeed could see him as he was, was discovered the Perfection and Glory of the Father. —Philip, He that hath seen me, hath seen Joh. 14. 9. the Father, and how sayest thou then, Shew us the Father? Neither the Father nor the Son can by us at all be seen, as they are simply and intirely in their own Essence. Therefore the Person of the Father must be seen by us, through the Son, as consisting of God and Man; the Godhead, by working effectually in the Manhood, shewing clearly therethrough the infinite Perfection and Glory of the Father: The word was made flesh, and (then) we beheld Joh. 1. 14.

his glory, the glory of the only begotten of his Father, (He being in his personal Excellencies, infinitely and perfectly, what is recorded of his Father,) full of Grace and truth. So again, He is the Image of the Invisible God. The Godhead is indeed Invisible; How then is Christ the Image of it? Not by being Invisible also; for so is he as much hid as the Father; but being Col. 1. 15. cloathed with flesh, that the Works of the Son might by us be seen, he thereby presenteth to us, as in a Figure, the eternal Excellency of the Father. And hence as he is called an Image, he Verse 18. is also called the First-born of every Creature; his Rev. 1. 5. being a Creature, respecting his Manhood; and 1 Cor. 15. his Birth, his Rising again from the Dead. 20. Therefore a little after, he is called, the First-born from the dead: And in another place, the First-begotten of the Dead: And the First-fruits of them that sleep. So then, though Adam was the Image of God, yet God's Image but as a meer Creature: But Christ though a Creature, as touching his Manhood; yet being also God, as the Father, he shewed forth expresly, in Capital Characters, by all his Works and Doings in the World, the Beauty and Glory of 1 Cor. 4. 6. the Father: The light of the knowledge of the glory of God, is given in the face of Jesus Christ. Where by Face, we must understand that which is visible, that being open when all else is covered, and that by which most principally we are discovered to others, and known. Now as to the case in hand, this Face must signifie to us the personal Vertues and Doings of Christ, by which the Glory of the Father is exposed; the Glory of his Justice, by Christ's Exactness of Life; the Glory of his Love, by Christ's Compassion to Sinners, &c.

19. Ver. 26. And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness; and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattel, and over all the earth, and every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth.

As Adam was a Type of Christ, as the Image and Glory of God; so by these words he further sheweth, that he was a Type of his Sove- Heb. 2. 8, 9. reign Power; for 1 Pet. 4. 11. to him be dominion and power everlasting, to whom be praise and dominion for ever. Jude 25. Now by the Fish of the Sea, the Beasts of the Earth, the Fowls of the Air, and every creeping thing, we may understand all Creatures, Visible and Invisible, whether they be Men, Angels, or Devils, in Heaven, Earth, or under the Earth: also Eph. 1. 20, 21, 22, 23. all Thrones, Authorities and Powers, whether in Heaven, in Earth, or Hell: Christ is made Head over all; He hath also a Name above every Name, not only in this world, but in that which is to come.

20. Ver. 28. And God blessed them; and God said unto them, (that is, to the Man and his Wife) Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it, &c.

This in the Type doth shew in the Antytipe how fruitful Christ and his Church shall be; and and how he at last shall, all over the Earth, have a Seed to replenish and subdue it by the power of the Immortal Seed of the Word of God: how his Name shall be reverenced from one end of the Earth to the other: how the Kingdoms of the Earth shall all at last become the Kingdoms of our Lord, and of his Christ.

And subdue it. God did put that majesty and dread upon Adam at his Creation, that all the Beasts of the Field submitted themselves unto him. As God also said to Noah, The fear of you, Gen. 9. 2. and the dread of you, shall be upon every beast of the earth, and upon every fowl of the air; upon all that moveth upon the earth, and upon all the fishes in the sea; into your hands are they delivered.

¶ And God said, Behold I have given you every Ver. 29. herb bearing seed, which is upon the face of all the earth; and every tree, in which is the fruit of a tree yielding seed, to you it shall be for meat.

These Herbs and Trees are Types of the wholsom Word of the Gospel, on which both Christ, his Church, and unconverted Sinners, ought to feed and be refreshed; and without which there is no subsisting either of one or the other: He causeth the grass to grow for the cattel, Psal. 104. and herb for the service of man, that he may bring 14, 15. forth food upon the earth; and wine, that maketh glad the heart of man; and oyl, to make his face to shine; and bread, which strengtheneth mans heart.

¶ And God saw every thing that he had made, and behold it was very good.

All things have their natural goodness by Creation. Things are not good, because they have a Being only, but because God gave them such a Being: Neither did God make them, because he saw they would attract a goodness to themselves; but he made them in such kind, as to bring forth that goodness he before determined they should.

And the evening and the morning were the sixth day.

CHAP. II.

21. Ver 3. AND God blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it; because that in it he had rested from all his work which God created and made.

The Seventh Day did signifie two things:

First, Christ Jesus, who is as well the Rest of the Justice of God, as a Rest for sinful Man.

Secondly, It was also a Type of that glorious Rest that Saints shall have when the Six Days of this World are fully ended.

For the First, The Apostle makes the Sabbath a Shadow of Jesus Christ, a Shadow of things Col. 2. to come, but the Body, or Substance, is Christ: And hence it is that he is so often said to be a Rest to the Gentiles, a glorious Rest, and that he Mat. 11. promiseth Rest to such as cast their Burthen upon him.

The Second also the Apostle asserteth in that Heb 4 4, 5, Fourth Chapter to the Hebrews, There remaineth 6, 7, 8, 9, therefore a Rest, or the keeping of a Sabbath, 10, 11, &c. to the people of God: Which Sabbath, as I conceive, will be the Seventh thousand of Years, which are to follow immediately after the World hath stood Six thousand first: For as God was Six Days in the Works of Creation, and rested the Seventh; so in Six thousand Years he will perfect his Works and Providences that concern this World: As also he will finish the toil and travel of his Saints, with the Burthen of the Beasts, and the Curse of the Ground; and bring all into rest for a thousand years. A Day with the Lord, is as a Thousand Years: wherefore this blessed and desirable time is also called a Day, a Great Day, that great and notable Day of the Lord, which shall end in the Eternal Judgment of the World. God hath held forth this by several Levit. 25. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, &c. other Shadows, as the Sabbath of Weeks, the Sabbath of Years, and the Great Jubilee, which is to be the Year after Forty Nine Years are expired. Of all which, more in their place, if God permit.

Ver. 4. ¶ These are the generations of the heavens, and of the earth, when they were created; in the day that the Lord God created the earth and the heavens.

22. Moses seems by these words, In the day, to insist principally upon them in their first and primitive state, before there was Sin or Curse in the World; for in the day that they were created, there was a far more glorious lustre and beauty than now can be seen; the Heaven, for Sin, is, as it were, turned into Brass; and the Rain into Powder and Dust, in comparison of what it was as it came from the Fingers of God: The Earth hath also from that time a Curse upon it; yea, the whole Creation, by Sin, is even made subject to vanity, is in travail, and groans under the burthen that Sin hath brought upon it.

Rom. 8. 19, 20, 21, 22, 23.

Ver. 5. And every plant of the field before it was in the earth, and every herb of the field before it grew.

Thus it was in the First Creation; they therefore became neither Herbs nor Trees, by the Course of Nature, but by the Creation of God. And even so it is in the New Creation, Men spring not up by Nature to be Saints: No, not in the Church of God, but first they are created in Christ Jesus, and made meet to be Partakers of the Benefit, and then planted in the Church of God; planted, I say, as Plants before prepared. Indeed Hypocrites, and formal Professors, may spring up in the Church, by virtue of her Forms, and outward Services, as Thorns and Thistles spring up in the Earth, by virtue of her moisture and heartiness. But these are but the fruits of the Curse, and are determined to be burn'd at last in the Fire:

Heb. 6. 8. Mat. 15. 13. Every plant (saith Christ) which my heavenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted up.

For the Lord God had not caused it to rain upon the Earth: This is the reason that they came not up by Nature first, but were first Created, then Planted, then made to Grow. So the reason why Men by Nature grow not in the Church, is, because the Lord doth not cause it to rain upon them, they still abiding and doing according to the course of this World; but he plants them in his House by the mighty power of his Word and Spirit, by which they are created Saints, and then they afterwards grow in Grace, and in the Knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

And there was not a man to till the ground. It seems by this there was a kind of Necessity why God should make Man, yea, a multitude of Men; for otherwise he had made what before he made in vain; that is, his End in making so glorious a Creature as this World, which was to shew forth his Glory by, had been void, and without Effect; for although it was glorious, as it came out of the Hand of God; yet it was not of power so to preserve it self, but would, without Men to look after and dress it, be turned into a Wilderness.

Thus it is with the World of Men, if there was not the second Adam to plow them and sow them, they could none of them become Saints; No, not the Elect themselves; because the Means are determined, as well as the End.

By this we may likewise see what a woful Condition that People is in, that have no Ministers of the Word of the Gospel: My people perish, for lack of knowledge: And again, Where there is no vision, the people perish. Pray therefore to the Lord of the Harvest, that he would send out his Plowers to plow, and his Labourers into his Harvest.

23. Ver. 6. ¶ But there went up a mist from the earth, and watered the whole face of the ground.

Although as yet there was no Plowman nor Rain, yet a Mist arose from the Earth; so where there is not the Word of the Gospel, there is yet sufficiency of Light, to teach Men how to govern themselves in Civil and Natural Society. But this is only a Mist, Men cannot Gospelly grow by this; therefore, as in the next Verse, of necessity Man must be formed.

But again, I have sometimes thought by this Mist, might be held forth that Nourishment Men had by the Doctrine of Faith, before the Gospel was divulged by Moses, the Prophets, or Christ, &c. for before these, that Nourishment the Church received, was but slender and short, even as short as the nourishing of the Mist is to sober and moderate Showers of Rain; to which both the Law and the Gospel is compared.

Again, I have also sometimes thought, that by this Mist might be typified those excellent Proverbs and Holy Sayings of the Men of Old, before there was a written Word; for it cannot be but the Godly did contain in Proverbs, and certain Sayings, the Doctrine of Salvation hereafter, and of good living here; of which we have a touch in Genesis, but more at large by that blessed Book of Job; which Book, in mine Opinion, is a holy Collection of those Proverbs and Sayings of the Ancients, occasioned by the Temptation of that good Man. But whatever this Mist did signifie (in other Mens Judgment) certain it is, it was for present necessity, till a Man should be made to Till the Ground, and the Fruits thereof watered with the Bottles of Heaven: Which, so far as I see yet, most aptly presents us with some of all these.

Gen. 22. 14.

24. Ver. 7. ¶ And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground, &c.

In the Creation of Man, God began with his out-side; but in the Work of Regeneration, he first begins within, at the Heart. He made him; that is, his Body, of the Dust of the Ground; but he abides a lifeless Lump, till the Lord puts forth a second Act. And he breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and man became a living soul. Now he lives, now he acts: so it is in the Kingdom of Christ, no Man can be a living Soul in that Kingdom by his first Creation, he must have life breathed into him, Life and Spirit from Jesus Christ.

Joh. 20. 22.

Now therefore is Adam a Type, yet but an Earthly one, of things more High and Heavenly; and as we have born the image of the earthly, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly.

1 Cor. 15. 49.

Ver. 8 ¶ And the Lord God planted a garden Eastward in Eden, and there he put the man whom he had formed.

And the Lord God planted a garden. Thus the Holy Ghost speaks clearer and clearer; for now he presents the Church to us under the similitude of a Garden, which is taken out of the wide and open Field, and inclosed; A Garden Song.4.12. inclosed is my Sister, my Spouse; a Garden inclosed, a Spring shut up, a Fountain sealed; and Rev.1.12, 13. there he put the Man whom he had formed. An excellent Type of the Presence of Christ with his Church.

25. Ver 9. ¶ And out of the ground made the Lord God to grow every tree that is pleasant to the sight, &c. These Trees, and their pleasureableness, do shew us the beauty of the truly Godly, whom the Lord hath beautified with Salvation. And hence it is said the glory of Lebanon, of Sharon, and of Carmel, is given to the Church: that is, She is more beautified with Gifts and Graces than can by Types and Shadows be expressed. The Tree of Life also in the midst of the Garden, and the Tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil.

This Tree of Life, was another Type of Christ, as the Bread, and healing Medicine of the Rev. 2. 7. Church, that stands in the midst of the Paradise Chap.22.2. of God.

The Tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil, was a Type of the Law, or Covenant of Works, as the sequel of the Story clearly manifesteth; for had not Adam eaten thereof, he had enjoyed for ever his first Blessedness. As Deut.6.25 Moses saith, It shall be our righteousness, if we observe to do all these commandments before the Lord our God, as he hath commanded us. But both Gal.2. 16. Adam and we have touched, that is, broken the Boughs and Fruit of this Tree, and therefore now for ever, by the Law, no Man can stand Just before God.

Ver. 10. ¶ And a river went out of Eden, to water the garden; and from thence it was parted, and became into four heads.

This River, while it abided in Eden, in the Garden, it was the River of God; that is, serviceable to the Trees and Fruit of the Garden, and was herein a Type of those watering Ministers that water the Plants of the Lord. But observe, when it had passed the Garden, had gotten without the bound of the Garden, from thence it was parted, and became into four Heads; from thence it was transformed, or turned into another manner of thing: it now became into four Heads; A Type of the four great Monarchs of the World, of which Babylon, though the first in order of Being, yet the last in a Gospel or Mysterious sence. The fourth is the River Euphrates, that which was the Face of the Kingdom of Babel of old. Hence note, That how eminent and serviceable soever Men are while they abide in the Garden of Eden, the Church; yet when they come out from thence, they evilly seek the great things of the World: one is for compassing the whole Land of Havilah, where is Gold; another is for compassing this, a third that, and a fourth another thing, according as you see these four heads did. Observe again, That while Men abide in the Church of God, there is not by them a seeking after the Monarchies of this World; but when they depart from thence, then they seek and strive to be Heads; as that cursed Monster the Pope, forsaking the Garden of God, became in a manner the Prince of all the Earth: Of whom Tyrus, mentioned by Ezekiel, was a very lively Type, Thou hast been in Eden, the Garden Ezek. 28. of God; every Precious-stone, that is, Doctrine, 13,14,15, was thy covering; as the Sardius, Topaz, Dia- 16,17,18. mond, &c. till iniquity was found in thee; till thou leftest thy Station, and place appointed of God, and then thou wast cast as prophane out of the Mountain of God, yea, though a covering Cherub. See it again in Cain, who while he continued in the Church, he was a busie Sacrificer, Gen 4. 17. as busie as Abel his Brother; but when he left off to fear the Lord, and had bloodily Butcher'd his holy Brother, then he seeks to be a Head, or Monarch; then he goeth and buildeth a City, to preserve his Name and Posterity for ever.

26. Ver. 15. And the Lord God took the man, and put him into the garden of Eden, to dress it, and to keep it.

In this also Adam was a Figure of our Lord Jesus Christ, as Pastor and chief Bishop of his Church. I the Lord, saith Christ, do keep it; Isa.27.3;2. I will water it night and day.

And the Lord God took the man. No Man taketh this honour upon him, but he that is called of God, as was Aaron. Blessed is he also that can say as the Prophet Amos; And the Lord Amos 7. took me (said he) as I followed the flock; and the 14, 15. Lord said unto me, Go prophesie unto my people Israel.

To dress it, and to keep it. He that is not dressed, is not kept: That is a sad Judgment, That which dieth, let it die; That which is diseased, let it not be dressed, let it die of that disease. By Dressing therefore I understand, Pruning, Manuring, and the like, which the Dresser of Luk. 13. the Vineyard was commanded to do, without Prov. 24. which all is over run with Briers and Nettles, 30,31,32, and is fit for nothing but cursing, and to be 33,34. Heb.9.7,8. burn'd.

Ver. 16. ¶ And the Lord God commanded the man, saying, Of every tree of the garden thou mayest freely eat.

It is God's Word that giveth us power to eat, to drink, and do other our works, and without the Word we may do nothing. The Command gave Adam leave: Every creature of God 1 Tim. 4. is good, and nothing to be refused, if it be received 4, 5. with thanksgiving; for it is sanctified by the word of God (by the Command of the Word, and by receiving of it according to the limits thereof,) and prayer.

27. Ver. 17. ¶ But of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it. I said before, What God's Word prohibits, we must take care to shun.

This Tree of Knowledge, as I said before, was a Type of the Covenant of Works, the which had not Adam touched, (for by touching it he Gen. 3. 3. broke that Covenant,) he then had lived ever, but touching it he dies.

Adam going into the Garden under these Conditions and Penalties, was therein a Type Gal.4.4,5. of the Humiliation of Christ; who at his coming into the World, was made under the Law, under its Command and Penalty, even as other Men, but without sin.

For in the day thou eateſt thereof thou ſhalt ſurely die.

For in the day. Adam lived to God no longer than while he kept himſelf from Eating Forbidden Fruit; in that very day he died; firſt a ſpiritual Death in his Soul; his Body alſo was then made capable of Mortality, and all Diſeaſes, which two great impediments in time brought him down to Duſt again.

Ver. 18. And the Lord God ſaid, It is not good that man ſhould be alone; I will make him an help meet for him.

By theſe words, Adam's ſtate, even in Innocency, ſeems to crave for help; wherefore it is manifeſt that ſtate is ſhort of that we attain by the Reſurrection from the Dead; yea, for as much as his need required earthly help, 'tis apparent his Condition was not heavenly: The 1 Cor. 15. 45, 46, 47. firſt man is of the earth, earthy; the ſecond man is the Lord from heaven. Adam in his firſt eſtate was not Spiritual: That was not firſt which is ſpiritual, but that which is natural, and afterwards that which is ſpiritual. Wherefore thoſe that think it enough to attain to the ſtate of Adam in Innocency, think it ſufficient to be meer Naturaliſts; think themſelves well, without being made Spiritual: yea, let me add, they think it ſafe ſtanding by a Covenant of Works; they think themſelves happy, though not concerned in a Covenant of Grace; they think they know enough, though ignorant of a Mediator, and count they have no need of the Interceſſion of Chriſt.

Adam's Perfections.

Adam ſtood by a Covenant of Works; Adam's Kingdom was an Earthly Paradiſe; Adam's Excellency was, that he had no need of a Saviour; and Adam's Knowledge was ignorant of Jeſus Chriſt: Adam in his greateſt Glory, wanted Earthly Comforts; Adam in his Innocency, was a meer Natural Man.

28. Ver. 19. ¶ And out of the ground the Lord God formed every beaſt of the field, and every fowl of the air.

This proveth further what I ſaid at firſt, That in the firſt Chaos was contained all that was made upon the Earth.

And brought them to Adam, to ſee what he would call them; and whatſoever Adam called every living creature, that was the name thereof.

In this Adam was a lively Type of the Lord Chriſt's ſovereign and glorious power over all Joh. 17. 2. Fleſh: Thou haſt given him power over all fleſh, that he ſhould give eternal life to as many as thou haſt given him.

And he brought them to Adam, to ſee what he would call them.

So Chriſt nameth the World; who he will he calleth Saints; and who he will he calleth the World, Ungodly, Serpents, Vipers, and the like. I pray for them, I pray not for the world.

Ver. 20. And whatſoever Adam called every living creature, that was the name thereof. Even as Chriſt paſſes Sentence, ſo ſhall their Judgment be.

¶ And Adam gave names to all cattel, and to the fowl of the air, and to every beaſt of the field. So Chriſt judgeth of Angels, Devils, and Men.

Ephef. 1. 22, 23. But for Adam, there was not found an help meet for him. All the glory of this World, had not Adam had a Wife, could not have compleated this Man's bleſſedneſs; he would yet have been wanting: ſo all the Glory of Heaven, conſider Chriſt as Mediator, could not, without his Church, have made him up compleat. The Church, I ſay, which is his Body, the fulneſs of him that fills all in all.

29. Ver. 21, & 22. ¶ And the Lord God cauſed a deep ſleep to fall upon Adam, and he ſlept; and he took one of his ribs, and cloſed up the fleſh inſtead thereof. And the rib which the Lord God had taken from man, made he a woman, and brought her unto the man.

In theſe words we find an Help provided for Adam; alſo, whence it came. The Help was a Wife; ſhe came out of his Side; ſhe was taken thence while Adam ſlept. A bleſſed Figure of a further Myſtery. Adam's Wife was a Type of the Church of Chriſt; for that ſhe was taken out of his Side, it ſignifies we are Fleſh of Chriſt's Fleſh, and Bone of Chriſt's Bone. Epheſ. 5. 30. And in that ſhe was taken thence while Adam ſlept, it ſignifies, the Church is Chriſt's, by virtue of his Death and Blood: Feed the Church Acts. 20. 28. of God, which he purchaſed with his own blood.

And he brought her to the man. That is, And God brought her to the Man. By which he clearly intimates, That as the Church is the Workmanſhip of God, and the Purchaſe of the Blood of Chriſt; ſo yet ſhe cannot come to Chriſt, unleſs brought to him of God: No man can come Joh. 6. 44. to me (ſaith Chriſt) except the Father which hath ſent me, draw him.

Ver. 23. ¶ And Adam ſaid, This is bone of my bone, and fleſh of my fleſh; ſhe ſhall be called Woman, becauſe ſhe was taken out of Man.

In that Adam doth thus acknowledge his Wife to be Bone and Fleſh of his Subſtance, it ſhews us, That Chriſt will acknowledge thoſe that are his: He is not aſhamed to call them bre- Heb. 2. 12. thren, ſaying, I will declare thy name unto my brethren, in the midſt of the Church will I ſing praiſe unto thee.

And obſerve it, He ſaid, She is Bone of my Mat. 10. 33. Bone, &c. before that God that brought her to him; intimating, that Chriſt both owns us now at his Father's Right-hand, and will not be Luk. 12. 8. aſhamed of us, even in the Day of Judgment.

30. Ver. 24. ¶ Therefore ſhall a man leave his father and his mother, and ſhall cleave unto his wife, and they ſhall be one fleſh.

This ought to be truly performed in our Married eſtate in this World. But here endeth not the Myſtery.

Therefore ſhall a man leave his father. Thus did Chriſt when he came into the World to ſave Sinners: He came forth from the Father; I came Joh. 16. 28. forth from the Father, and am come into the world.

Therefore ſhall a man leave his father and his mother. The Jewiſh Church may, in a myſtical ſence, be called the Mother of Chriſt; for ſhe was indeed God's Wife, and of her came his Son Jeſus Chriſt: yet this Mother he left and forſook, to be joyned to his Gentile Spouſe, which is now his only Wife.

Ver. 25. ¶ And they were both naked, the man and his wife, and were not aſhamed.

No Sin, no Shame: Let Men ſtand where God hath ſet them, and there is no cauſe of ſhame, though they be expoſed in outward appearance to never ſo much contempt.

And

And they were both naked. Apparel is the Fruits of Sin; wherefore let such as pride themselves therein, remember, that they cover one Shame with another. But let them that are truly godly have their Apparel modest and sober, and with shamefac'dness put them on, remembring always the first cause of our covering our Nakedness, was the Sin and Shame of our First Parents.

CHAP. III.

3 1. Ver. 1. NOw the serpent was more subtile than any beast in the field which the Lord God had made; and he said unto the woman, Yea, hath God said, ye shall not eat of every tree of the garden?

In these words we have an entrance of the first great Spiritual Conflict that was fought between the Devil and Flesh; and it is worth the observing, how the Enemy attempted, engaged, and overcame the World.

2Cor.11.3. 1. He tempts by Means; he appeareth not in his own shape and hue, but assumeth the Body of one of the Creatures, the Body of the Serpent, and so begins the Combat. And from hence it is that in after ages he is spoken of under the Name of that Creature, the Dra-
Rev 20. 2. gon, that old Serpent called the Devil, and Satan; because, as the Holy Ghost would have us beware of the Devil, so of the Means and Engines which he useth; for where one is overcome by his own fearful Appearance, ten thousand are overcome by the Means and Engines that he useth.

2. The Serpent was more subtile. The Devil, in his attempts after our Destruction, maketh use of the most suitable means. The Serpent was more subtile, therefore the cunning of the Devil was least of all discerned; Had he made use of some of the most foolish of the Creatures, Adam had luckily started back; for he knew the Nature of all the Creatures, and gave them Names accordingly; wherefore the Serpent, Adam knew, was subtile, therefore Satan useth him, thereby to catch this goodly Creature: Hereby the Devil least appeared; and least appearing, the Temptation sooneſt took the Tinder.

Now the Serpent was more subtil. More subtile. Hence the Devil is called, the Serpent with Heads, [with great Cunning;] the Crooked Serpent, [with knotty Objections;] the Piercing Serpent, [for he often wounds;] and his Ways are called, Devices, Temptations, Delusions, Wiles, Power, and the Gates of Hell; because of their mighty prevalency. This is he that undertook our First Parents.

But how did he undertake them?

1. He labours to make them question the simplicity of the Word of God, bearing Adam's Wife in hand, That there must needs be some meaning that palliates the Text; Hath God said ye shall not eat of the Tree? Which Interrogatory suggested them with a strong doubt, that this Word would not appear a Truth, if you compare it with the 4*th*. Verse.

Hence learn, That so long as we retain the Simplicity of the Word, we have Satan at the end of the Staff; for unless we give way to a doubt about that, about the Truth and Simplicity of it, he gets no ground upon us. And hence the Apostle says, He feared lest by some means, as the Serpent beguiled Eve through his subtilty, so our minds should be corrupted from the simplicity that is in Christ; that is, lest our Minds should be drawn off from the Simplicity of the Word of the Gospel by some devilish and delusive Arguments: For mark, Satan doth not first of all deny, but makes a doubt upon the word, whether it is to be taken in this or another sence; and so first corrupting the Mind with a doubt about the simplicy of the true sence, he after brings them to a denial thereof; Hath God said, Ye shall not eat of every tree that is in the garden?

3 2. Ver. 2. And the woman said unto the serpent, We may eat of the fruit of the trees of the garden?

And the woman said. Indeed, the Question was put to her, but the Command was not so immediately delivered to her: The Lord God Chap.2.16. commandeed the Man. This therefore I reckon a great Fault in the Woman, an Usurpation, to undertake so mighty an Adversary, when she was not the principal that was concerned therein; nay, when her Husband, who was more able than she, was at hand, to whom also the Law was given as Chief. But for this Act, I think it is, that they are now commanded silence, and 1 Cor. 14. also commanded to learn of their Husbands: A 34, 35. Command that is necessary enough for that simple and weak Sex: Though they see it was by them that Sin came into the World, yet how hardly are some of them to this day disswaded from attempting unwarrantably to 1 Tim. 2. meddle with potent Enemies, about the great 11,12,13, and weighty Matters that concern Eternity. 14, 15.

Hence note, That often they who are least able, will first adventure to put in their Head to defend that, from whence they return with shame.

And the woman said unto the serpent, We may eat of the fruit of the trees that are in the garden.

This was her Prologue to her Defence, but that also for which she had no warrant. In time of Temptation, it is our wisdom and duty to keep close to the Word, that prohibits and forbids the Sin; and not to reason with Satan, of how far our outward and worldly Priviledges go, especially of those Priviledges that border upon the Temptation, as she here did: We may eat of all but one. By this she goeth to the out-side of her liberty, and sets her self upon the brink of the danger. Christ might have told the Tempter, when he assaulted him, That he could have made Stones Bread; and Mat. 4. that he could have descended from the Pinnacle Luke 4. of the Temple, as afterwards he did; but that would have admitted of other Questions: Wherefore he chuseth to lay aside such needless and unwarrantable reasonings, and resisteth him with a direct word of God, most pertinent to quash the Tempter, and also to preserve himself in the way. To go to the out-side of Priviledges, especially when tempted of the Devil, is often, if not always very dangerous and hazardous.

By these words therefore, in mine Opinion, she spoke at this time too much in favour of the Flesh; and made way for what after came upon her, We may eat of all but one.

But

33. Ver. 3. But of the fruit of the tree which is in the midſt of the garden, God hath ſaid, Ye ſhall not eat of it, neither ſhall ye touch it, leſt ye die.

Now, too late, ſhe urgeth that which ſhould have been her only Stay and Weapon; to wit, the expreſs Word of God; That ſhe ſhould, if ſhe would have diſputed with the Tempter, have urged at the firſt that only, and have thought of nothing elſe. Thus did the Lord himſelf: But ſhe looking firſt into thoſe worthy Priviledges which God had given her, and dilating delightfully of them before the Devil, ſhe loſt the dread of the Command from off her Heart, and retained now but the Notion of it: Which Satan perceiving, and taking heart therefrom to make his beſt advantage, he now adds to his former forged Doubt, a plain and flat Denial, Ye ſhall not ſurely die.

Ver. 4. And the ſerpent ſaid unto the woman, Ye ſhall not ſurely die.

When People dally with the Devil, and ſit too near their outward Advantages; when they are tempted to break the Command of God, it is uſual for them, even by ſetting their Hearts upon things that in themſelves are honeſt and lawful, to fall into Temptation: To ſee a piece of Ground, to prove a yoke of Oxen, to marry a Wife, are doubleſs lawful things; but upon the borders of theſe Priviledges lay the Temptation of the Devil; therefore by the love of theſe, which yet were lawful in themſelves, the Devil hardened the Heart, and ſo at laſt made way for, and pefectly produc'd in them, flatly to deny (as then) to embrace the words of God's Salvation. The like befell our firſt Mother; wherefore though at laſt ſhe freely objected the Word; yet becauſe before ſhe had ſo much reaſoned to the pleaſing of the Fleſh, ſhe loſt the dread and ſavour of the Command, and having nought but Notion left, ſhe found not wherewith to rebuke ſo plain a Lye of the Devil, but hearkened to his further reaſoning.

Mat. 22. Luke 14. 16, 17, 18, 19, 20.

34. Ye ſhall not ſurely die. Not ſurely; in the word there is ſome ſlight meaning, of which you need not be ſo afraid. And beſides,

Ver. 5. God doth know, that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes ſhall be opened, and ye ſhall be as gods, knowing good and evil.

In theſe words two Priviledges are aſſerted: one, That their Eyes ſhould be opened; the other, That they ſhould be as Gods, knowing good and evil. The firſt is very deſireable, and was not at all abridged by them; the ſecond, as to their knowing good and evil, was abſolutely forbidden; becauſe they could not attain to the knowledge of that which was Evil, but by tranſgreſſing, or by Eating of that forbidden Tree.

1 Sam. 15. 20, 21, 22. Hence obſerve, That it is uſual with the Devil, in his tempting of poor Creatures, to put a good and bad together, that by ſhew of the good, the Tempted might be drawn to do that which in truth is evil. Thus he ſerved Saul; he ſpared the beſt of the Herd and Flock, under pretence of Sacrificing to God, and ſo tranſgreſſed the plain Command. But this the Rom. 3. 8. Apoſtle ſaw was dangerous, and therefore cenſureth ſuch, as in a ſtate of Condemnation. Thus he ſerved Adam; he put the deſireableneſs of Sight, and a plain Trangreſſion of God's Law together, that by the lovelineſs of the one, they might the eaſier be brought to do the other. O poor Eve! Do we wonder at thy Folly! Doubtleſs we had done as bad with half the Argument of thy Temptation.

Ye ſhall be as Gods. In theſe words he attempts to beget in them a deſire to be Greater than God had made them: He knew this was a likely way, for by this means he fell himſelf; for being puffed up with pride, they left their own ſtate, or habitation, and ſo became Devils, and were tumbled down to Hell, where they are reſerved in chains, under darkneſs, unto the judgment of the great day. 1 Tim. 3. 6. Jude 6.

Ye ſhall be as Gods. When Souls have begun to hearken to the Tempter, that hearkning hath made way for, and given way to ſo much darkneſs of Mind, and hardneſs of Heart, that now they can liſten to any thing: as to hear God charged with Folly, Ye ſhall not ſurely die; as to hear him made the Author of Ignorance, and that he delights to have it ſo, by ſeeking by a Command to prohibit them from knowing what they could; for God doth know, that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes ſhall be opened; and therefore he forbids to touch it.

Ye ſhall be as Gods. Here is alſo a pretence of Holineſs, which he knew they were prone unto; Ye ſhall be as Gods, as Knowing and Perfect as God. Oh! Thouſands are, even to this day, by ſuch Temptations overcome! Thus he wraps his Temptations up in ſuch kind of Words and ſuggeſtions as will carry it either way. But mark his Holineſs, or the way that he preſcribes for Holineſs; it is, if not point blank againſt, yet without and beſides the Word, not by doing what God commands, and abhorring what he forbids, but by following the deluſion of the Devil, and their own roving Fancies; as Eve here does.

35. Ver. 6. And when the woman ſaw that the tree was good for food, and that it was pleaſant to the eyes, and a tree to be deſired to make one wiſe, ſhe took of the fruit thereof, &c.

This Verſe preſents us with the uſe that Eve made of the Reaſonings of the Serpent; and that was, To take them into Conſideration; not by the Word of God, but as her Fleſh and Blood did ſenſe them: A way very dangerous and devouring to the Soul, from which Paul fled, as from the Devil himſelf: [Immediately I conferred not with fleſh and blood.] Wherefore, pauſing upon them, they entangled her as with a threefold Cord. 1. The Luſts of the Fleſh; ſhe ſaw it was good for Food. 2. The Luſts of the Eye; ſhe ſaw it was pleaſant to the Eye. 3. The Pride of Life; a Tree to be deſired, to make one wiſe. Being taken, I ſay, with theſe three Snares of the Adverſary, which are not of the Father, but of the World, and the Devil the Prince thereof, forthwith ſhe falls before him: And when the woman ſaw this, ſhe took of the fruit thereof, and did eat. Gal. 1. 16. 1 Joh. 2. 16.

And when the woman ſaw. This Seeing, as I ſaid, is to be underſtood of her conſidering what Satan preſented to her, and of her ſenſeing or taſting of his Doctrine; not by the Word, which ought to be the Touch-ſtone of all, but by and according to her own natural Reaſon without without it. Now this makes her forget that very Command that but now she had urged against the Tempter: This makes her also to consent to that very Reason, as an inducement to transgress; which, because it was the Nature of the Tree, was by God suggested as a reason why they should forbear; it was the Tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil, therefore they should not touch it; it was the Tree, that would by touching it, make them know good and evil; therefore she toucheth, and also eateth thereof. See therefore what specious Pretences the Devil, and those that are under the power of Temptation, will have to transgress the Command of God. That which God makes a Reason of the Prohibition, even that the Devil will make a Reason of their Trangression.

God commands to Self-denial, but the World makes that a reason of their standing off from the very Grace of God in the Gospel. God also commands, That we be Sober, Chaste, Humble, Just, and the like; but the Devil, and carnal Hearts, make these very things the Argument that keeps Sinners from the Word of Salvation. Or rather take it thus; God forbids Wickedness, because it is delightful to the Flesh, and draws the Heart from God, but therefore carnal Men love Wickedness and Sin: Therefore they go on in sin, and therefore they say unto God, Depart from us, for we desire not the knowledge of thy ways.

Job 21. 14. Chap. 22. 15, 16, 17.

She did eat, and gave also unto her husband with her, and he did eat.

36. The great Design of the Devil, as he supposed, was now accomplished; for he had both in the snare, both the Man and his Wife, and in them, the whole World that should be after. And indeed, the chief design of Satan was at the Head at first, only he made the weakest the conveyance for his mischief. Hence note again, That Satan by tempting one, may chiefly intend the Destruction of another. By Tempting the Wife, he may aim at the Destruction of the Husband; by Tempting the Father, he may design the Destruction of the Children; and by Tempting the King, he may design the Ruine of the Subjects. Even as in the case of David; Satan stood up against Israel, and provoked David to number the people. He had a mind to destroy Seventy thousand, therefore he tempted David to Sin.

1 Chron. 21. 1.

She gave also to her Husband, and he did eat. Sin seldom or never terminates in one Person; but the pernicious Example of one, doth animate and imbolden another; or thus, the beholding of evil in another, doth often allure a Stander-by. Adam was the looker on, he was not in the Action as from the Serpent: Adam was not deceived, that is, by having to do with the Devil, but the woman; the woman being deceived, was in the transgression. This should exhort all Men, that they take heed of so much as beholding evil done by others, lest also they should be allured. When Israel went into Canaan, God did command them not so much as to ask, how those Nations served their Gods? lest by so doing, Satan should get an advantage of their Minds, to encline them to do the like: Evil Acts, as well as Evil Words, will eat as doth a Canker. This then is the reason of that evil-favour'dness that you see attending some Mens Lives and Professions; they have been corrupted, as Adam was, either by evil Words, or bad Examples, even till the very face of their Lives and Professions are disfigured as with the Pox or Canker.

1 Tim. 2. 14.

Deut. 12. 30.

2 Tim. 2. 17.

Thus have we led you through that woful Tragedy that was Acted between the Woman and the Serpent; and have also shewed, how it happened that the Serpent went away as Victor.

1. The Woman admitted of a Doubt, about the Truth of the word that forbad her to eat; for Unbelief was the first Sin that entred the World. 37.

2. She preferred the Priviledges of the Flesh, before the Argument to Self-denial; by which means her Heart became hardned, and grew senseless of the dread and terror of the words of God.

3. She took Satan's Arguments into Consideration, and sensed or tasted them; not by the Word of God, but her own natural, or rather sore-deluded Fancy.

4. She had a mind to gratifie the Lusts of the Flesh, the Lusts of the Eyes, and the Pride of Life.

Now to speak of the evil Consequences that followed this sinful Act: That is not in the wisdom of mortal Man to do; partly, because we know but in part even the Evil and destructive Nature of Sin; and partly, because much of the Evil that will follow this Action, is yet to be committed by Persons unborn. Yet enough might be said to astonish the Heavens, and to make them horribly afraid.

Jer. 2.

1. By this Act of these two, the whole World became guilty of Condemnation, and Eternal Judgment.

Rom. 5.

2. By this came all the Blindness, Atheism, Ignorance of God, Enmity and Malice against him, Pride, Covetousness, Adultery, Idolatry, and Implacableness, &c. that is found in all the World: By this, I say, came all the Wars, Blood, Treachery, Tyranny, Persecution, with all manner of Rapine and Outrage that is found among the Sons of Men.

3. Besides, all the Plagues, Judgments and Evils that befall us in this World, with those Everlasting Burnings that will swallow up millions for ever and ever; all and every whit of these came into the World, as the Portion of Mankind, for that First Transgression of our First Parents.

38. Ver. 7.

And the eyes of them both were opened, and they knew that they were naked; and they sewed fig-leaves together, and made themselves aprons.

That their Eyes might be opened, was one branch of the Temptation, and one of the Reasons that prevailed with the Woman to forsake the Word of God: But she little thought of Seeing after this manner, or such things as now she was made to behold. She expected some sweet and pleasant Sight, that might tickle and delight her deluded Fancy; but behold, Sin, and the Wrath of God appears, to the shaking of their Hearts! And thus, even to this very day, doth the Devil delude the World: His Temptations are gilded with some sweet and and fine Pretences; either they ſhall be Wiſer, Richer, more in Favour, live Merrier, fare Better, or ſomething; and that they ſhall See it, if they will but obey the Devil: Which the Fools eaſily are, by theſe and ſuch like things, allured to do: But behold, when their Eyes are opened indeed, inſtead of ſeeing what the Devil falſely told them, they ſee themſeles involved in Sin, made guilty of the breach of God's Command, and ſubject to the Wrath of God.

And they knew that they were naked. Not only naked of outward Cloathing, but even deſtitute of Righteouſneſs; they had loſt their Innocency, their Uprightneſs, and ſinleſs Vail, and had made themſelves polluted Creatures, both in their Hearts, and in their Fleſh; this is nakedneſs indeed; ſuch a kind of nakedneſs as Aaron made Iſrael naked with, when he ſet up his Idol-Calf for them to worſhip: For Aaron had made them naked, unto their ſhame. Naked before the Juſtice of the Law. Exod. 32. 25.

And they knew that they were naked. And they knew it: Why, did they not know it before? The Text ſays, They were naked, and were not aſhamed. O! they ſtood not naked before God! they ſtood not without Righteouſneſs, or Uprightneſs before him, and therefore were not aſhamed, but now they knew they were naked as to that.

39. And they ſewed fig-leaves together, and made themſelves aprons. A fit Reſemblance of what is the Inclination of awakened Men, who are yet but natural! they neither think of Chriſt, or of the Mercy of God in him for Pardon, but preſently they betake themſelves to their own Fig-Leaves, to their own Inventions, or to the Righteouſneſs of the Law, and look for healing from means which God did never provide for cure. When Ephraim ſaw his ſickneſs, and Judah ſaw his wound, then went Ephraim to the Aſſyrian, not to God, and ſent to King Jareb, not to Chriſt, yet could they not heal him, nor cure him of his wound. Hoſ. 5. 13.

And made themſelves Aprons. Not Coats, as God did afterwards. A carnal Man thinks himſelf ſufficiently cloathed with Righteouſneſs, if the Nakedneſs which he ſees, can be but covered from his own ſight: As if God alſo did ſee that and only that which they have a ſight of by the Light of Nature; and as if becauſe Fig-Leaves would hide their Nakedneſs from their ſight, that therefore they would hide it from the ſight of God. But alas! no Man, without the help of another, can bring all his Nakedneſs to the ſight of his own Eye; much is undiſcovered to him, that may yet lye open and bare to a Stander-by: So it is with the Men that ſtand without Chriſt before God, at beſt they ſee but ſome of their Nakedneſs, to wit, their moſt groſs and worſer Faults, and therefore they ſeek to cover them; which when they have hid from their own ſight, they think them hid alſo from the ſight of God. Thus did Adam, he ſaw his own moſt ſhameful Parts, and therefore them he covered: They made themſelves Aprons, or things to gird about em, not to cover them all over withall. No Man by all his own Doings, can hide all his own Nakedneſs from the ſight of the Juſtice of God, and yet, but in vain, as buſie as Adam to do it.

And they ſewed fig-leaves together, and made themſelves aprons. Fig-Leaves! A poor Apron, but it was the beſt they could get. But was that a ſufficient Shelter againſt either Thorn or Thiſtle? Or was it poſſible but that after a while theſe Fig-Leaves ſhould have become rotten, and turned to Dung? So will it be with all Mans own Righteouſneſs which is of the Law; Paul ſaw it ſo, and therefore counted it but loſs and dung, that he might win Chriſt, and be found in him. Phil. 3. 7, 8.

40. And they heard the voice of the Lord God walking in the garden in the cool of the day, and Adam and his wife hid themſelves from the preſence of the Lord God, among the trees of the garden. Ver. 8.

And they heard the voice of the Lord God. This Voice muſt not be underſtood according, as if it was the effect of a Word; as when we ſpeak, the Sound remains with a noiſe for ſome time after; but by Voice here, we are to underſtand the Lord Chriſt himſelf; wherefore this Voice is ſaid to walk, not to ſound only: They heard the voice of the Lord God walking. This Voice John calls the Word, the Word that was with the Father before he made the World, and that at this very time was heard to walk in the Garden of Adam: Therefore John alſo ſaith, this Voice was in the beginning; that is, in the Garden with Adam, at the beginning of his Converſion, as well as of the beginning of the World. Joh. 1. 1.

And they heard the voice of the Lord God walking in the garden in the cool of the day. The Goſpel of it is, in the Seaſon of Grace; for by the cool of the day, he here means, in the Patience, Gentleneſs, Goodneſs and Mercy of the Goſpel; and it is oppoſed to the Heat, Fire, and Severity of the Law.

41. And Adam and his wife hid themſelves. Hence obſerve, That a Man's own Righteouſneſs will not fortifie his Conſcience from Fear and Terrour, when God begins to come near to him to Judgment. Why did Adam hide himſelf, but becauſe, as he ſaid, he was naked? But how could he be naked, when before he had made himſelf an Apron? O! the approach of God conſumed and burnt off his Apron! Though his Apron would keep him from the ſight of a Bird, yet it would not from the Eye of the Incorruptible God.

Let therefore all ſelf-righteous Men beware, for however they at preſent pleaſe themſelves with the worthineſs of their glorious Fig-Leaves; yet when God ſhall come to deal with them for Sin, aſſuredly they will find themſelves Naked.

And they hid themſelves. A Man in a Natural ſtate, cannot abide the Preſence of God; yea, though a righteous Man. Adam, though adorned with his Fig-Leaves, flies.

Obſerve again, That a ſelf-righteous Man, a Man of the Law, takes Grace and Mercy for his greateſt Enemy. This is apparent from the carriage of the Phariſees to Jeſus Chriſt, who becauſe they were wedded to the works of their own righteouſneſs, therefore they Hated, Perſecuted, Condemned and Crucified

the Saviour of the World: As here in the Text, though the Voice of the Lord God walked in the Garden in the COOL of the Day, in the time of Grace and Love, yet how Adam with his Fig-Leaves flies before him!

And Adam and his wife hid themselves from the presence of the Lord God. These latter words are spoken, not to perswade us that Men can hide themselves from God, but that Adam, and those that are his by Nature, will seek to do it, because they do not know him aright. These words therefore further shew us what a bitter thing Sin is to the Soul; it is only for hiding work, sometimes under its Fig-Leaves, sometimes among the Trees of the Garden. O what a shaking, starting, timerous evil Conscience, is a sinful and guilty Conscience! especially when 'tis but a little awakened, it could run its head into every hole, first by one fancy, then by another; for the power and goodness of a Man's own Righteousness, cannot withstand or answer the demands of the Justice of God, and his Holy Law.

And Adam and his wife hid themselves from the presence of the Lord God among the trees of the garden. If you take the Trees in a mystical sence, as * sometimes they may be taken; then take them here to signifie, or to be a Type of the Saints of God, and then the Gospel of it is, That carnal Men, when they are indeed awakened, and rouzed out of their foolish Fig-Leave-Righteousness; then they would be glad of some shelter with them that are saved and justified freely by Grace, as they in the Gospel of Matthew; Give us of your Oyl, for our Lamps are gone out. And again, The Man without the Wedding-garment had crouded himself among the Wedding Guests: Had hid themselves among the Trees of the Garden.

*Ezek 31. 8, &c.

Mat. 22. 11.

42. Ver. 9.

And the Lord God called unto Adam, saying unto him, Where art thou?

Adam having eaten of the Forbidden-Tree, doth now fleet his Station, is gone to another than where God left him: Wherefore, if God will find Adam, he must now look him where he had hid himself. And indeed so he does with Adam, Where art thou?

And the Lord God called, &c. Here begins the Conversion of Adam, from his sinful State, to God again. But mark, it begins not at Adam's calling upon God, but at God calling upon him: And the Lord God called unto Adam. Wherefore, by these words, we are to understand the beginning of Adam's Conversion. And indeed, Grace hath gone the same way with the Elect, from that time to this day. Thus he dealt with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob; he called them from their Native Countrey, the Countrey of their Kindred. And hence it is that, especially in the New-Testament, the Saints are said to be the Called; Called of God, and Called of Jesus Christ. And hence again it is that Calling is by Paul made the first Demonstration of Election, and that Saints are admonished to prove their Election by their Calling; for as Adam was in a lost, miserable and perishing Condition, until God called him out of those holes into which Sin had driven him; so we do lie where Sin and the Devil hath laid us, until by the Word of God we are called to the fellowship of his Son Jesus Christ. 43.

By these words therefore we have the beginning of the discovery of Effectual Calling or Conversion; And the Lord God called. In which Call observe Three things.

1. God called so that Adam heard him: And so it is in the Conversion of the New-Testament Saints, as Paul says, If ye have heard him, and have been taught by him, as the truth is in Jesus: That therefore is one discovery of Effectual Calling, the Sinner is made to hear him, even to hear him distinctly, singling out the very Person, calling, Adam, Where art thou? Saul, Saul, Why persecutest thou me? I have called thee by thy name, thou art mine. As he also said to Moses, I know thee by Name, and thou hast also found grace in my sight. Ephes. 4. 20, 21. Exod. 33. 12.

2. God called so, as to fasten Sin upon his Conscience, and as to force a Confession from him of his naked and shameful state.

3. God called so, as to make him tremble under, and be afraid of the Judgment of God.

And the Lord God called unto Adam, and said unto him, Where art thou? Indeed, Where art thou must of necessity be forceably urged to every Man on whose Soul God doth work effectual Conversion; for untill the Person is awakened, as to the State and Condition he is in, he will not desire, nay, will not endure to be turned to God; but when in truth they are made to see what Condition Sin hath brought them to, namely, that it hath laid them under the Power of Sin, the Tyranny of the Devil, the Strength of Death, and the Curse of God, by his holy Law; then is Mercy sweet.

Where art thou? God knew where he was, but foolish Adam thought otherwise; he thought to hide himself from the presence of the Lord, but the Lord found him out. Indeed, deluded Sinners think that they can hide themselves and sins from God: How doth God know, say they, Can he see through the thick Cloud? But such shall know he sees them; they shall know it, either to their Correction, or to their Condemnation. Though they dig into hell, saith God, thence shall mine hand take them; though they climb up to heaven, thence will I bring them down; and though they hide themselves in the top of Carmel, I will search and take them out thence, &c. Can any hide themselves in secret places that I should not see them, saith the Lord? Do not I fill heaven and earth, saith the Lord? Amos 9. Jer. 23. 24.

And he said, I heard thy voice in the garden, and I was afraid, because I was naked, and I hid my self. 44. Ver. 10.

This then was the cause of his flying, he heard the Voice of God: A wicked and evil Conscience saith, every thing is to it as the Messenger of Death and Destruction; for, as was said before, the Voice of the Lord walked in the garden in the Cool of the day, in the time of Grace and Mercy: But it mattereth not whether he came with Grace or Vengeance; Guilt was in Adam's Heart, therefore he could not endure the Presence of God: He that doth evil, hateth the light. And again; The wicked Joh. 3. 20.

Prov. 28. 1. flieth when no man purſueth. Cain thought all that met him, would ſeek his Blood and Life.

I heard thy Voice. Something by the Word of God was ſpoken, that ſhook the Heart of this poor Creature; ſomething of Juſtice and Holineſs, even before they fell into this Communication: For obſerve it, Adam went forthwith from the Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil a Convinced Man, firſt to his Fig-Leaves, but they would not do; therefore he ſeeks to be hid among the Trees. And obſerve again, That the inſufficiency of Fig-Leaves were diſcovered by this Voice of the Lord God, that at this time walked in the Garden: I heard thy voice in the garden, and I was afraid, becauſe I was naked, and I hid my ſelf. So then, there was a firſt and ſecond Voice which Adam heard; the firſt he ran away from, I heard thy voice, and hid my ſelf. The ſecond was this, wherein they commune each with other. The firſt therefore was the Word of Juſtice, Severity, and of the Vengeance of God; like that in the Exod. 19. 19th. of Exodus, from the pronouncing of which, a Trembling, and almoſt Death, did ſeize Six hundred thouſand Perſons.

I heard thy Voice in the Garden. It is a word from without that doth it. While Adam liſtned to his own Heart, he thought Fig-Leaves a ſufficient Remedy, but the Voice that walked in the Garden ſhook him out of all ſuch Fancies: I heard thy voice in the garden, and I was afraid, becauſe I was naked, and I hid my ſelf.

45. Ver. 11. And he ſaid, Who told thee that thou waſt naked? Haſt thou eaten of the tree whereof I commanded thee that thou ſhouldeſt not eat?

Who told thee? This, as I ſaid before, ſuppoſeth a third Perſon, a Preacher, and that was the Son of God; the Voice of the Lord God that walked in the Garden.

Haſt thou eaten of the Tree? That is, If thou haſt been ſhewed thy Nakedneſs, thou haſt indeed ſinned; for the Voice of the Lord God will not charge Guilt, but where and when a Law hath been tranſgreſſed. God therefore, by theſe words, driveth Adam to the Point, either to Confeſs or Deny the Truth of the Caſe. If he Confeſs, then he concludes himſelf under Judgment; if he Deny, then he addeth to his Sin: Therefore he neither denieth nor confeſſeth, but ſo as he may leſſen and extenuate his Sin.

46. Ver. 12. And the man ſaid, The woman whom thou gaveſt to be with me, ſhe gave me of the tree, and I did eat.

He had endeavoured with Fig-Leaves to hide his Trangreſſions before, but that being found too ſcanty and ſhort, he now trieth what he can do with Arguments. Indeed he acknowledgeth that he did eat of the Tree of which he was forbidden; but mark where he layeth the Reaſon: Not in any Infection which was centred in him by reaſon of his liſtning to the Diſcourſe which was between the Woman and the Serpent; but, becauſe God had given him a Woman to be with him: The woman which thou gaveſt to be with me, ſhe gave me of the tree. The Woman was given for an Help, not an Hindrance; but Satan often maketh that to become our Snare, which God hath given us as a Bleſſing. Adam therefore here mixeth Truth with Falſhood. 'Tis true, he was beguiled by the Woman; but ſhe was not intended of God, as he would inſinuate, to the end ſhe might be a Trap unto him. Here therefore Adam ſought to leſſen and palliate his Offence, as Man by Nature is prone to do; for if God will needs charge them with the Guilt of Sin for the breach of the Law, they will lay the fault upon any thing, even upon God's Ordinance, as Adam here doth, rather than they will honeſtly fall under the Guilt, and ſo the Judgment of the Law for Guilt. It is a rare thing, and it argueth great Knowledge of God, and alſo Hope in his Mercy, when Men ſhall heartily acknowledge their Iniquities, as is evident in the Caſe of David: Waſh me throughly from mine iniquities, and cleanſe Pſal. 51. me from my ſins; for I acknowledge my trangreſ- 2, 3. ſions, and my ſin is ever before me. But this Knowledge is not at firſt in young Converts; therefore when God begins to awaken, they begin, as ſleepy Men, to creep further under their carnal Covering; which yet is too ſhort Iſa. 28. 20. to hide them, and too narrow to cover their ſhame.

The Woman which thou gaveſt to be with me, ſhe gave me of the Tree. Although, as I ſaid, this Sinner ſeeks to hide, or at leaſt to leſſen his Sin, by laying the Cauſe upon the Woman, the Gift of God; yet it argueth that his Heart was now filled with ſhame and confuſion of face, for that he had broken God's Command; for indeed it is the nature of Guilt, however Men may in appearance ruffle under it, and ſet the beſt Leg before, for their Vindication; yet inwardly to make them bluſh and fail before their Accuſer. Indeed their inward Shame is the cauſe of their Excuſe; even as Aaron, when he had made the Golden Calf, could not for ſhame of heart confeſs in plainneſs of ſpeech the truth of the Fact to his Brother Moſes, but faulteringly: They gave me their Gold, ſaith Exod. 32. he, and I caſt it into the fire, and there came out 22, 23, 24. this Calf? And there came out this Calf; a pitiful fumbling Speech: The Holy Ghoſt ſaith, Aaron had made them naked; had made them naked to their ſhame; for he, as alſo Adam, ſhould, being Chief and Lord in their Place, have ſtoutly reſiſted the Folly and Sin which was to them propounded; and not as Perſons of a womaniſh Spirit, have liſtned to wicked Propoſals.

47. Ver. 13. And the Lord God ſaid unto the woman, What is this that thou haſt done? &c.

Foraſmuch as Adam did acknowledge his Sin, though with much weakneſs and infirmity, God accepts thereof; and now applieth himſelf to the Woman, whom Satan had uſed as his Engine to undoe the World.

Hence obſerve, That when God ſets to ſearch out Sin, he will follow it from the Seduced to the Seducer, even till he comes to the riſe and firſt Author thereof, as in the following words may more clearly appear: Not that he excuſeth or acquitteth the Seduced, becauſe the Seducer was the firſt cauſe, as ſome do vainly imagine; but to lay all under Guilt who are concerned therein: The Woman was concerned cerned as a Principal, therefore he taketh her to Examination.

And the Lord God said unto the woman, What is this that thou hast done? What is this? God seems to speak as if he were astonished at the inundation of Evil which the Woman by her sin had over-flowed the World withal: What is this that thou hast done! Thou hast undone thy self, thou hast undone thy Husband, thou hast undone all the World; yea, thou hast brought a Curse upon the whole Creation, with an overplus of Evils, Plagues and Distresses.

What is this that thou hast done! Thou hast defiled thy Body and Soul, thou hast disabled the whole World from serving God; yea, moreover, thou hast let in the Devil at the door of thy Heart, and hast also made him the Prince of the World. What is this that thou hast done! Ah! little, little do Sinners know what they have done, when they have transgressed the Law of the Lord. I say, they little know what Death, what Plagues, what Curse, yea, what Hell they, by so doing, have prepared for themselves.

What is this that thou hast done! God therefore, by these words, would fasten upon the Woman's Heart a deep sense of the evil of her doings. And indeed, for the Soul to be brought into a deep sense of its sin, to cry out before God, Ah! What have I done! it is with them the first step towards Conversion: Acknowledge thy sin (saith God) that thou hast transgressed against me. And again, If we confess our sin, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness. The want of this is the cause of that obdurate and lasting hardness that continueth to possess so many thousands of Sinners, they cry not out before God, What have I done? but foolishly they rush into, and continue in sin, till their iniquity be found to be hateful, yea, their Persons, because of their sin.

Jer. 3. 12, 13.
1 Joh. 1. 9.

48. What is this that thou hast done? By this Interrogatory the Lord also implieth an Admonition to the Woman, to plead for herself, as he also did to her Husband. He also makes way for the working of his bowels towards her, which (as will be shewn anon) he finally denies to the Serpent, the Devil. I say, he made way for the Woman to plead for, or bemoan her self; an evident Token that he was unwilling to cast her away for her sin: I have surely heard Ephraim bemoaning himself; I will surely have mercy upon him, saith the Lord. Again, by these words, he made way for the working or yearning of his own bowels over her; for when we begin to cry out of our Miscarriages, and to bewail and bemoan our Condition because of Sin, forthwith the bowels of God begin to sound, and to move towards his distressed Creature, as by the place before alledged appears. I have surely heard Ephraim bemoaning himself; — therefore my bowels are troubled for him: I will surely have mercy upon him, saith the Lord. See also the the 11*th*. and 14*th*. Chapters of Hosea.

Jer. 31. 18, 19, 20.

And the Woman said, The Serpent beguiled me, and I did eat. A poor Excuse, but an heart-affecting one; for many times want of Wit and Cunning to defend our selves, doth affect and turn the Heart of a Stander-by to pity us. And thus, as I think, it was with the Woman; she had to do with one that was too cunning for her, with one that snapt her by his Subtilty or Wiles; which also the Woman most simply confesses, even to the provoking of God to take vengeance for her.

And the Lord God said unto the serpent, Because thou hast done this, thou art cursed above all cattel, and above every beast of the field. 49. Ver. 14.

The Serpent was the Author of the Evil; therefore the Thunder rouls till it comes over him, the hot burning Thunder-bolt falls upon him.

The Lord, you see, doth not with the Serpent, as with the Man and his Wife; to wit, minister Occasion to Commune with him, but directly pronounceth him Cursed above all, above every Beast of the Field. This sheweth us, that as concerning the Angels that fell, with them God is at eternal Enmity, reserving them in everlasting Chains under darkness. Cursed art thou: By these words, I say, they are prevented of a Plea for ever, and also excluded a share in the Fruits of the Messias which should afterwards be born into the World.

Because thou hast done this, cursed art thou. Because thou hast done this. Not as though he was blessed before; for had he not before been wicked, he had not attempted so wicked a Design. The meaning then is, That either by this Deed the Devil did aggravate his Misery, and make himself the faster to hang in the everlasting Chains under darkness; or else by this he is manifested to us to be indeed a cursed Creature.

Further, Because thou hast done this, may also signifie how great Complacency and Content God took in Adam and his Wife while they continued without Transgression: But how much against his Mind and Workmanship this wicked Work was. 1. Against his Mind; for Sin so sets it self against the Nature of God, that, if possible, it would annihilate and turn him into nothing, it being in its nature point blank against him. 2. It is against his Workmanship; for had not the power of the Messias stept in, all had again been brought to Confusion, and worse than nothing: As Christ himself expresses it: The Earth, with the Inhabitants thereof, are dissolved; I bear up the pillars of it: And again, He upholdeth all things by the word of his power.

Psal 75. 3. Heb. 1. 2, 3.

Besides, this being done, Man, notwithstanding the Grace of God, and the Merits of Jesus Christ, doth yet live a miserable life in this World; for albeit that Christ hath most certainly secured the Elect and Chosen of God from perishing by what Satan hath done; yet the very Elect themselves are, by reason of the First Transgression, so infested and annoyed with inward filth, and so assaulted still by the Devil, and his Vassals the proper Children of Hell, that they groan unutterably under their burthen; yea, all Creatures, the whole Creation groaneth, travaileth, and is in pain together until now; and that most principally upon the very account of this first Sin of Adam; it must needs be therefore, this being so high an affront to the Divine Majesty, and so directly destructive to the Work of his Hands; and the aim of the Devil most principally also at the most excellent of his Creation, (for Man was created in God's own Image,) that he should hereat be so highly offended, had they not sinned at all before, to Bind them over for this very Fact to the Pains of the eternal Judgment of God.

51. Ver. 15. And I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between thy seed and her seed; it shall bruise thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel.

The Woman may, in this place, be taken either really or figuratively; if really and naturally, then the Threatning is also true, as to the very Natures of the Creatures here under consideration, to wit, the Serpent and the Woman, and so all that come of Humane Race; for we find that so great an antipathy is between all such deadly Beasts, as Serpents, and Humane Creatures, that they abiding in their own natures, it is not possible they should ever be reconciled: I will put enmity: I will put it. This Enmity then was not infused in Creation, but afterwards, and that as a punishment for the abuse of the Subtilty of the Serpent; for before the Fall, and before the Serpent was assumed by the fallen Angels, they were, being God's Creatures, good, as the rest in their Kind; neither was there any jarring or violence put between them; but after the Serpent was become the Devil's Vizor, then was an Enmity begot between them.

I will put enmity between thee and the serpent. If by Woman, we here understand the Church, (but then we must understand the Devil, not the natural Serpent simply,) then also the Threatning is most true; for between the Church of God, and the Devil, from the beginning of the World, hath been maintained most mighty Wars and Conflicts, to which there is not a like in all the Blood shed on the Earth. Yea, here there cannot be a Reconciliation, (the Enmity is still maintained by God:) The reason is, because their natural Dispositions and Inclinations, together with their Ends and Purposes, are most repugnant each to other, even full as much as Good and Evil, Righteousness and Sin, God's Glory and an endeavour after his utter Extirpation.

52. Indeed, Satan hath tried many ways to be at Amity with the Church; not because he loves her Holiness, but because he hates her Welfare, (wherefore such Amity must only be dissembled,) and that he might bring about his Enterprize, he sometimes hath allured with the dainty Delicates of this World, the Lusts of the Flesh, of the Eyes, and the Pride of Life: This being fruitless, he hath attempted to entangle and bewitch her with his glorious appearance, as an Angel of Light; and to that 2 Cor. 11. 12,13,14. end hath made his Ministers as the Ministers of Righteousness, Preaching up Righteousness, and Contending for a divine and holy Worship; but this failing also, he hath taken in hand at length to fright her into friendship with him, by stirring up the hellish rage of Tyrants to threaten and molest her; by finding out strange Inventions to torment and afflict her Children; by making many bloody Examples of her own Bowels, before her Eyes, if by that means he might at last obtain his purpose: But behold! all hath been in vain, there can be no Reconciliation. And why, but because God himself maintains the Enmity?

And this is the reason why the Endeavours of all the Princes and Potentates of the Earth, that have through ignorance or malice managed his Design against the Church, have fallen to the ground, and been of none effect.

God hath maintained the Enmity: Doubtless the mighty Wonder, that their Laws cannot be Obeyed; I mean, their Laws and Statutes, which by the Suggestion of the Prince of this World they have made against the Church: But if they understood but this one Sentence, they might a little perceive the Reason. God hath put Enmity between the Devil and the Woman; between that old Serpent, called the Devil and Satan, and the Holy, and Beloved, and Espoused Wife of Christ.

I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between thy seed and her seed. 53. The Seeds here, are the Children of both, but that of the Woman, especially Christ: God sent forth his Son, made of a Woman. Gal. 3. 16. Chap. 4. 4. Whether you take it literally or figuratively; for in a Mystery, the Church is the Mother of Jesus Christ, though Naturally, or according to his Flesh, he was born of the Virgin Mary, and proceeded from her Womb: but take it either way, the Enmity hath been maintained, and most mightily did shew it self against the whole Kingdom of the Devil, and Death, and Hell, by the Undertaking, Engaging and War which the Son of God did maintain against them, from his Conception, to his Death and Exaltation to the Right-hand of the Father, as is propheſied of and promised in the Text, It shall bruise thy head.

He shall bruise thy Head. By Head, we are to understand the whole Power, Subtilty, and Destroying Nature of the Devil; for as in the Head of the Serpent lyeth his Power, Subtilty, and Poysonous Nature; so in Sin, Death, Hell, and the Wisdom of the Flesh, lieth the very Strength of the Devil himself. Take away Sin then, and Death is not hurtful: The sting of death is sin: And take away the condemning Power of the Law, and Sin doth cease to be charged, or to have any more hurt in it, so as to destroy the Soul: The strength of Sin is the Law: Wherefore, the 1 Cor. 15. 55,56,57. Seed, Jesus Christ, in his bruising the Head of the Serpent, must take away Sin, abolish Death, and conquer the Power of the Grave. But how must this be done? Why, he must remove the Curse, which makes Sin intollerable, and Death destructive. But how must he take away the Curse? Why, by taking upon him Joh. 1. 14. Flesh, as we; by being made under the Law, Gal. 4. 4,5. as we; by being made to be Sin for us, and by 2 Cor. 5. 21. being made a Curse for us: He standing there- Gal. 3. 10, fore in our rooms, under the Law and the 11,12,13. Justice of God, did both bear and overcome the Curse, and so did bruise the Power of the Devil.

He shall bruise thy Head. To bruise is more 54. than to break; he shall quash thy Head to Death; so he also quashed the Heel of Christ; which which would, had not his Eternal Power and Godhead sustained, have caused that he had perished for ever.

And thou shalt bruise his Heel. By these words, a Necessity was laid upon Jesus Christ to assume our Flesh, to Engage the Devil therein; and also because of the Curse that was due to us for Sin, that he might indeed deliver us therefrom; even for a while to fall before this Curse, and to die that Death that the Curse inflicteth: Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us. Thus therefore did Satan, that is, by the Fruits and Effects of Sin, bruise, or kill, the Flesh of Christ: but he being God, as the Father, it was not possible he should be overcome, therefore his Head remaineth untouch'd. A Man's Life lieth not in his Heel, but in his Head and Heart; but the Godhead being the Head and Heart of the Manhood, it was not possible Satan should meddle with that; he only could bruise his Heel; which yet, by the Power of the Godhead of this Eternal Son of the Father, was raised up again from the Dead: He was delivered for our Offences, and was raised again for our Justification.

55. In these words therefore the Lord God gave Adam a Promise, That notwithstanding Satan had so far brought his Design to pass, as to cause them by falling from the Command, to lay themselves open to the Justice and Wrath of God; yet his Enterprize, by Grace, should be made of none effect. As if the Lord had said, "Adam, thou seest how the Devil hath "overcome thee; how he, by thy consenting "to his Temptation, hath made thee a Subject "of Death and Hell: but though he hath by "this means made thee a Spectacle of Misery, "even an Heir of Death and Damnation; "yet I am God, and thy Sins have been against "me: Now because I have Grace and Mercy, "I will therefore design thy Recovery. But "how shall I bring it to pass? Why, I will "give my Son out of my Bosom, who shall "in your room, and in your Nature encounter this Adversary, and overcome him. But "how? Why, by fulfilling my Law, and by "answering the Penalties thereof: He shall "bring in a Righteousness which shall be ever-"lasting, by which I will justifie you from Sin, "and the Curse of God due thereto: But "this Work will make him smart, he must "be made a Man of Sorrows, for upon him will Isa. 53. "I lay your Iniquities; Satan shall bruise his "Heel.

56. Ver. 16. Unto the woman, he said, I will greatly multiply thy sorrow, and thy conception; in sorrow shalt thou bring forth children; and thy desire shall be unto thy husband, and he shall rule over thee.

I will greatly multiply thy sorrow, &c. This is true, whether you respect the Woman according to the letter of the Text, or as she was a Figure of the Church; for in both sences their Sorrows for Sin are great, and multiplied upon them: The whole heap of the Female Sex know the first, the Church only knows the second.

In sorrow shalt thou bring forth Children. The more Fruitful, the more Afflicted is the Church in this World; because the Rage of Hell, and the Enmity of the World, are by her Righteousness set on fire so much the more.

But again: Forasmuch as the Promise is made before this Judgment of God for Sin is threatned, we must count these Afflictions not as coming from the Hand of God in a way of Vengeance, for want of Satisfaction for the Breach of the Law; but to shew and keep us in mind of his Holiness, that henceforth we should not, as at first through Ignorance, so now from Notions of Grace and Mercy presume to continue in Sin.

I might add, That by these words it is manifest, that a Promise of Mercy and Forgiveness of Sin, and great Afflictions and Rebukes for the same, may and shall attend the same Soul: I will greatly multiply thy sorrows, comes after the Promise of Grace.

And thy desire shall be to thy Husband, and he shall rule over thee. 57. Doubtless the Woman was, in her first Creation, made in Subordination to her Husband, and ought to have been under Obedience to him: Wherefore, still that had remained a Duty, had they never transgressed the Commandment of God; but observe, the Duty is here again not only enjoyned, and imposed, but that as the fruit of the Woman's sin; wherefore, that Duty that before she might do as her natural Right by Creation, she must now do as the fruits of her Disobedience to God. Women therefore, when-ever they would perk it and Lord it over their Husbands, ought to remember, that both by Creation and Transgression they are made to be in Subjection to their own Husbands. This Conclusion makes Paul himself: Let (saith he) the woman learn in silence, with all subjection; but I suffer not a woman to teach, nor to usurp authority over the man, but to be in silence; for Adam was first formed, then Eve; and Adam was not deceived, but the woman being deceived, was in the transgression. 1 Tim. 2: 11,12,13, 14.

58. Ver. 17. And unto Adam, he said, Because thou hast hearkened unto the voice of thy wife, and hast eaten of the tree of which I commanded thee, saying, Thou shalt not eat of it: Cursed is the ground for thy sake, in sorrow shalt thou eat of it all thy days.

God having laid his Censure upon the Woman, he now proceedeth and cometh to her Husband, and also layeth his Judgment on him: The Judgment is, Cursed be the ground for thy sake, and in sorrow thou shalt eat thereof. The Causes of this Judgment are, First, For that he hearkened to his Wife: And also, For that he had Eaten of the Tree.

1. Because thou hast hearkened to thy Wife. Why? Because therein he left his Station and Headship, the Condition which God had appointed him, and gave way to his Wife to assume it, contrary to the Order of Creation, of her Relation, and of her Sex; for God had made Adam Lord and Chief, who ought to have taught his Wife, and not to have become her Scholar.

Hence note, That the Man that suffereth his Wife to take his Place, hath already transgressed the Order of God.

Because

Because thou hast hearkned to the voice, &c. Wicked Women, such as Eve was now, if hearkned unto, are the Snares of Death to their Husbands; for because they are weaker built, and because the Devil doth easier fasten with them than with Men, therefore they are more prone to Vanity, and all mis-orders in the matters of God than they; and so, if hearkned unto, more dangerous upon many accounts:

Nehem. 13. 26. Did not Solomon, King of Israel, sin by these things? yet among many Nations was there no King like him, who was beloved of his God; nevertheless, even him did outlandish, wicked women, cause to sin.

1 King. 21. 25. But there was none like unto Ahab, which did sell himself to work wickedness in the sight of the Lord, whom Jezebel his wife stirred up.

59. Hence Note further, That if it be thus dangerous for a Man to hearken to a wicked Wife, how dangerous is it for any to hearken to wicked Whores, who will seldom yield up themselves to the Lusts of beastly Men, but on condition they will answer their ungodly Purposes! What mischief by these things hath come upon Souls, Countreys and Kingdoms, will here be too tedious to relate.

Because thou hast hearkened to the voice of thy Wife, and hast eaten of the Tree. That is, From the Hand of thy Wife; for it was she that gave him to eat: Therefore, &c. Although the Scripture doth lay a great blot upon Women, and cautioneth Man to beware of these fantastical and unstable Spirits, yet it limiteth Man in his Censure: She is only then to be rejected and rebuked, when she doth things unworthy her Place and Calling. Such a thing

Gen. 21. 12. may happen, as that the Woman, not the Man, may be in the right (I mean, when both are Godly,) but ordinarily it is otherwise: Therefore the Conclusion is, Let God's Word Judge between the Man and his Wife, as it ought to have done between Adam and his, and neither of both will do amiss; but Luke 1. 6. contrariwise, they will walk in all the Commandments of God without fault.

60. Therefore cursed be the ground for thy sake. Behold what Arguments are thrust into every Corner, thereby to make Man remember his Sin; for all the Toil of Man, all the Barrenness of the Ground, and all the Fruitlesness after all;

Levit. 26. 19, 20. What is it but the Fruits of Sin? Let not us then find fault with the Weed, with the Hotness, Coldness, or Barrenness of the Soil; but by seeing these things, remember our Sin, Cursed be the Ground for thy sake; for this God makes our Heaven as Iron, and our Deut. 28. 20, 21, 22, 23, 24. Earth as Brass: The Lord shall make the rain of thy land powder and dust; from heaven shall it come down upon thee, untill thou be destroyed.

In sorrow shalt thou eat of it all the days of thy life. He then is much deceived, who thinks to fill his Body with the Delicates of this World, and not therewith to drink the cruel

Job 20. 15, 16, 17. Venom of Asps: Yea, He shall suck the poyson of Asps, the Viper's tongue shall slay him. The reason is, because he that shall give up himself to the Lusts and Pleasures of this Life, he contracts Guilt, because he hath sinned; which Guilt will curdle all his Pleasures, and make the sweetest of them deadly as Poyson.

In sorrow shalt thou eat. Even thou that hast received the Promise of Forgiveness: How then can they do it with pleasure, who eat, and forget the Lord? Prov. 3. 9.

Again; Let not the Sorrows, Crosses and Afflictions that attend the Godly in the things of this Life, weaken their Faith in the Promise of Grace, and Forgiveness of Sins; for such things may befall the dearest Christian.

61. Ver. 18. Thorns also and thistles shall it bring forth unto thee, and thou shalt eat the herb of the field.

This shews us (as I also hinted before) That the Thorns and Thistles of the Ground, are but as the Excrements thereof; and the Fruits of Sin, and the Curse for Sin. This World, as it dropt from the Fingers of God, was far more Glorious than it is now: Now it is loaden with a burthen of Corruption, Thorns, Thistles, and other Annoyances, which Adam knew none of in the Days of his Innocency. None therefore ever saw this World, as it was in its First Creation, but only Adam and his Wife; neither shall any ever see it, until the Manifestation of the Children of God; that is, until the Redemption or Resurrection of the Saints: But then it shall be delivered from the bondage of corruption, into the glorious liberty of the children of God. Rom. 8. 21, 22, 23.

And thou shalt eat the herb of the field. These words are for his comfort, under all the sorrow Sin should bring upon him, Thou shalt eat the herb: The Herb was a Type of the Gospel-Comforts which the destroying Angels were forbidden to smite: Of these Medicinal and Healing Herbs therefore Adam and his Seed are admitted to eat, that their Soul may be repleniished in the midst of their sorrow. Rev. 7. 3.

62. Ver. 19. In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground; for out of it wast thou taken: for dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return.

In the sweat of thy face. This is true, whether literally or allegorically understood: For as touching the things that pertain to this Life, as they become not ours without toil and labour; so the Spiritual Comforts of the Kingdom of Heaven are not obtained without travel and sweat: Labour (saith Christ) for the bread and meat which endureth to everlasting life.

In the sweat of thy face. Those that make conscience of walking in the Commandments of God, they shall be bless'd with the Bread of Life, when others shall be hunger-bit. That may also be mystically applied, On all hills that Isa. 7. 25. shall be digged with the mattock, there shall not come thither the fear of briers and thorns; but it shall be for the sending forth of Oxen, and for the treading of lesser cattel. The meaning is, Where People are diligent according to the Word of God, especially in Spiritual and Heavenly things, they shall be fat and flourishing, though Sorrow be mixed therewith: When men shall say, Job 22. 29. There is casting down: Then thou shalt say, There is lifting up; and he shall save the humble person.

Till thou return to the ground. A Christian should not leave off sweating labour so long as he is above the Ground; even until he returneth thither, he ought to be diligent in the

Way

Way and Worship of God. Jacob, when sick, would worship God, though so weak, as Heb 11.21. not able to do it, without leaning upon the top of his Staff: A blessed Example for the Diligent, and Reproof for those that are Sloathful.

63. For out of it wast thou taken. That is, out of the Ground. Behold how the Lord doth mix his Doctrine! Now he tells him of his Sin, then he promiseth to give him a Saviour; then again he shews him the Fruits of his Sin, and immediately after the Comforts of the Promise; yet again, he would have him remember that he is but a mortal Creature, not to live here for ever; neither made of Silver nor Gold, but even of a Clod of Dust: For Dust thou art. Observe therefore, that in the midst of all our Enjoyments, God would have us consider our Frame, that we may know how frail we are.

For out of it wast thou taken. It is hard for us to believe it, though we daily see it is the way even of all the Earth, to return thither again: For dust thou art, and to dust thou shalt return.

Whether this was spoken to Adam, as a Judgment, or a Mercy, or both, is not hard to determine, (this first premised, that Adam had received the Promise;) for as it was the Fruit of Sin, so a Judgment and a Token of Isa.57.1,2. God's Displeasure; for the wages of sin is death: But as it is made by the Wisdom of God, a Prevention of further Wickedness, and a Conveyance through Faith in Christ, to a more perfect Enjoyment of God in the Heavens; so Eccles. 4. 2. it is a Mercy and Blessing of God; for thus to die is gain. Wherefore thus we may praise the
2 Cor. 5. 6, 7, 8. dead, that are already dead, more than the living which are yet alive. This made Paul desire to depart; for he knew that through Death was the way to have more perfect sight of, and more closer and higher Communion with the Father, and the Son, and the Spirit in the Heavens:
Phil. 1. 21, 22, 23. Jer. 24. 5. Rom. 8. 28. I have a desire to depart, and be with Christ, which is far better. Thus therefore those things that in their own nature are the proper fruits and wages of sin, may yet through the Wisdom of God be turned about for our good; but let not this embolden to sin, but rather minister occasion to us to magnifie the Wisdom of God.

64. Ver. 20. And Adam called his wives name Eve, because she was the mother of all living.

By this Act Adam returneth to his first Station and Authority in which God had placed him, from which he fell when he became a Scholar to his Wife; for to name the Creatures, was in Adam a note of Sovereignty and Power: This he attained to, as an Effect of his receiving the Promise; for before the Promise is received, Man cannot serve God in his Station; because as he wanteth the Power of Will, so also a good Understanding; but when he hath received the Promise, he hath also received the Holy Ghost, which giveth to 1 Cor. 2. 15. the Godly to know and doe his Duty in his Station: The spiritual man discerneth, and so judgeth all things; but he is not discerned nor judged of any.

And he called his Wives Name Eve, or Hevah: Because she gave life to, or was the first Mother of all Mankind. This then admits of two Positions. First, That the World was Created when Adam was Created. And, Secondly, That there was none of the Sons of Men in the World before Adam, as some have not only vainly, but irreligiously and blasphemously suggested. Eve is the mother of all living: Not a Man therefore that is the Son of Man, but had his Being since the Woman was made.

65. Ver. 21. Unto Adam also, and to his wife, did the Lord God make coats of skins, and cloathed them.

By this Action the Lord God did preach to Adam, and to his Wife, the meaning of that Promise that you read of in Ver. 15. namely, That by the means of Jesus Christ, God himself would provide a sufficient Cloathing for those that accept of his Grace by the Gospel: The Coats here, being a Type of that blessed and durable Righteousness.

The Lord God made the Coats. Not Adam now, because now he is received into a Covenant of Grace with God: Indeed before he entred into this Covenant, he made his own Cloathing, such as it was, but that could not
Isa. 54. 17. cover his Nakedness; but now the Lord will make them: And unto Adam also, and to his wife, did the Lord God make coats: Their righteousness is of me, saith the Lord: Of me; that is, of my providing, of my performing. And
Jer. 23. 6. this is the name whereby he shall be called, The Lord our Righteousness.

He made them Coats, and cloathed them. As the Righteousness by which a Sinner stands Just in the sight of God from the Curse, is a Righteousness of God's providing; so also it is of his putting on. No Man can put on the Righteousness of Christ, otherwise than by God's Imputation: if God reckon it ours, then it is ours indeed; but if he refuseth to shew that Mercy, who can impute that Righteousness to Men? Blessed are they to whom the Lord imputeth righteousness: Cursed then must
Rom. 4. they needs be to whom God hath not imputed the Righteousness of his Son. The Lord cloathed them, according to that of Paul, Christ is made unto us of God wisdom and righteous-
1 Cor. 1. 30. ness, &c. And of that God who hath made him thus to us, even of him are we in Christ Jesus.

Did the Lord God make Coats of Skins. The Coats were made of the Skins of Beasts, of the Skins of the Slain, which were slain either for Food only, or for Sacrifice also: This being so, the Effects of that Promise mentioned before were by this Action the more clearly expounded unto Adam; to wit, That Christ, in the fulness of time, should be born of a Woman cloathed with flesh; and as so considered, should be made a Curse, and so die that cursed Death which by Sin we had brought upon our selves; the Effects and Fruits of which should Dan. 9. 24, 25. to us be durable Cloathing; that is, Everlasting Righteousness.

66. Ver. 22, & 23. And the Lord God said, Behold, the man is become like one of us, to know good and evil! and now therefore lest he put forth his hand and take also of the Tree of Life, and eat, and live for ever; therefore the Lord God sent him forth from the garden of Eden, to till the ground from whence he was taken.

Behold,

Behold, the man is become like one of us! Theſe words reſpect the Temptation of the Devil; the Argument that prevailed with Adam; and the Fruits of their Conſenting: And therefore I underſtand them as ſpoken Ironically, or in Deriſion to Adam. As if God had ſaid, "Now "Adam, you ſee what a God you are become: "The Serpent told you, You ſhould be as Gods, "as one that was infinite in Wiſdom: But "behold, your Godhead is horrible Wicked-"neſs, even Pollution of Body and Soul by "Sin: A thing you little thought of, when "you pleaſed your ſelf with the Thought "of that High attainment; and now if you "be not prevented, you will proceed from "Evil to Evil; for notwithſtanding I have "made promiſe of ſending a Saviour, you "will, through the Pollution of your Mind, "forget and ſet at nought my Promiſe; and "ſeek Life and Salvation by that Tree of Life "which was never intended for the Juſtifica-"tion of Sinners; therefore I will turn you "out of the Garden, to Till the Ground whence "thou waſt taken.

1. Hence obſerve, That it often falls out, after the promiſed Bleſſing is come, that God yet maketh us to poſſeſs our former Sins; not that the Guilt thereof might be charged to Condemnation, but that remembring of them, we might bluſh before God, and be the more effectually driven to a continual embracing of the Mercy promiſed.

2. Obſerve again, That as God would have us to remember our former Sins, ſo he would not that we ſhould feed upon ought but the very Mercy promiſed. We muſt not reſt in Shadowiſh Sacraments, as the typical Tree of Life, but muſt remember 'tis our Duty to live by Faith in the promiſed Seed.

3. Obſerve alſo, That even our Outward and Temporal Employments, if they be lawful and honeſt, are ſo ordered of God, as that we may gather ſome heavenly Myſtery from them: To Till the Ground from whence he was taken: Myſteriouſly intimating Two things to Adam. 1. That ſeeing he was of the Earth, he ſtood in as much need to be ordered and dreſſed by God, in order to his future Happineſs; as the Ground, in order to its Thrift and Fruitfulneſs. 2. Again, Seeing he was taken from the Ground, he is neither God, nor Angel, but a poor Earthen Veſſel, ſuch as God can eaſily knock in pieces, and cauſe to return to the Ground again. Theſe things therefore Adam was to learn from his Calling, that he might neither think too highly of himſelf, nor forget to live by Faith, and depending on the Lord God, to be bleſſed of him.

67. Ver. 24. So he drove out the man, and he placed at the Eaſt of the Garden of Eden, Cherubims, and a flaming Sword, which turned every way, to keep the way of the Tree of Life.

So he drove out the man. Adam was loth to forſake this Garden of Eden, becauſe there was the Tree of Life. The Promiſe will hardly ſatisfie, where Faith is weak and low: Had this Man with great Faith received and retained the Goſpel preached before, he would not have ſo hankered after a Shadow; but the Conſcience being awakened, and Faith low and weak there, becauſe Faith wants the Flower or Bloom of Aſſurance, the Ceremonial or Moral Law doth with eaſe ingender Bondage.

And he placed at the Eaſt of the Garden of Eden, Cherubims, and a flaming Sword. This ſhews the truth of what I ſaid before; to wit, That Adam was loth to forſake the Garden, loth to forſake his doing of ſomething; but God ſets a ſhaking Sword againſt him, a Sword to keep that way, or to prevent that Adam ſhould have Life by Eating of the Tree of Life.

Object. This Tree of Life, though lawful for Adam to feed on before he had tranſgreſſed, yet now is wholly forbidden him; intimating, that that which would have nouriſhed him before he brake the Law, will now avail him nothing as to Life before the Juſtice of God: the Tree of Life might have maintained his Life before he ſinned; but having done that, he hath no ways now but to live by Faith in the Promiſe; which that he might effectually do, God takes from him the Uſe of all other things, he driveth him out of the Garden, and ſets to keep him from the Tree of Life, Cherubims, and a Flaming Sword.

And he placed at the Eaſt of the Garden Cherubims, and a flaming Sword. Theſe Cherubims are one ſort of the Angels of God, at this time made Miniſters of Juſtice, ſhaking the Flaming Sword of God's Severity againſt Adam for his Sin, threatning to cut him off thereby, if he ever return by the way that he went.

We read alſo, that the Law was delivered to Iſrael from Sinai, by the Hand and Diſpoſition of Angels; the Goſpel only, by the Son himſelf. Acts 7. Heb. 11. 1.

To keep the way. Hence the Apoſtle implicitly concludes it a way, that is, to Death and Damnation; by oppoſing another againſt it, even the new and living one; a new, not this the old; a living one, not this the dead one; for, for that the Cherubims are here placed with a flaming, ſhaking Sword, to keep the Tree of Life, it is evident that Death is threatned to him that ſhall at any time attempt to come at, or that ſeeks for Life that way. Heb. 10.

A flaming Sword, turning every way to keep, &c. 68. This ſtill ſhews us, that Man, though he hath already received the Promiſe, is yet exceeding prone to ſeek Life by another way than Free-Grace by Jeſus Chriſt; to wit, either by the Law he hath broken, or by the Law and Chriſt together; and ſo though not directly, yet as it were by the works of the Law. But all is to no purpoſe, they are every way prevented: For, forſake the ſimplicity of the Promiſe in the Goſpel, and thou ſhalt meet with the ſtroke of the Juſtice of God; for that Flaming Sword of his Vengeance, it turneth every way, and therefore will in every way lay Wrath upon thee, if thou ſeek Life by ought but Chriſt. Rom. 9. 33.

CHAP.

CHAP. IV.

69. Ver 1. AND Adam knew Eve his wife, and she conceived and bare Cain, and said, I have gotten a man from the Lord.

Now we are come to the Generation of Mankind. Adam knew his Wife: A modest Expression; and it should teach us, in all such Matters where things are discoursed of, that are either the Fruits of Sin, or the proper Effects of Man's natural Infirmities, there to endeavour the Use of such Expressions, as neither to provoke to Lust, nor infect us with evil and uncivil Communication. Adam knew his Wife; Jacob, Samson, David, and others, are said to go in unto them. So as to our Natural Infirmities of the Stool, the Scripture Expression is, When thou goest abroad to ease thy self, thou shalt turn again and cover that which cometh from thee: Modest and bashful Expressions, and such as become the Godly, being those that are furthest off of occasioning Evil, and nearest to an intimation, that such Infirmities bespeak us infirm and imperfect Creatures.

And she conceived and bare Cain. The first Sprout of a disobedient Couple, a Man in Shape, but a Devil in Conditions. This is he that is 1 Joh. 3. 12. called elsewhere, The Child of that wicked one.

And she said, I have gotten a man from the Lord. If Eve by these words did only ascribe the Blessing of Children to be the Gift of God, then she spake like a godly Woman; but if she supposed that this Man Cain was indeed the Seed promised, then it shews that she in this was also deceived, and was therein a Figure of all such as make false and strange Delusions, Signs of the Mercy of God towards them: The Man she thought she had got from the Lord as a Mercy, and to be a Saviour, he proved a Man of the Devil, a Curse, and to be a Destroyer.

70. Ver. 2. And she again bare his Brother Abel: And Abel was a Keeper of Sheep, but Cain was a Tiller of the Ground.

Observe here, That the good Child is not
1 Cor. 1. 27, 28. the First-born, but Abel. God often doth as Jacob did, even cross hands, in bestowing Blessings, giving that which is best to him that is least esteemed: for Cain was the Man in Eve's esteem; she thought when she had him, she had got an Inheritance; but as for Abel, he was little worth; by his Name they shewed how little they set by him. It is so with the Sincere to this day; they bear not the Name of Glory with the World: Cain with them is the profitable Son; Abel is of no credit with them, neither see they form or comelinesse in him; he is the melancholy, or lowring Child, whose Countenance spoileth the Mirth of the
Eph. 7. 4. World: The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning, but the heart of fools is in the house of mirth.

And Abel was a Keeper of Sheep, but Cain was a Tiller of the Ground. By this it seems yet further, that Cain was the Man in favour, even him that should, by his Father's Intentions, have been Heir, and have enjoyed the Inheritance: He was nurtured up in his Father's Employment, but Abel was set in the lower Rank.

It was also thus with Isaac and Jacob, Ishmael and Esau, being the eldest, and those that by Intention were to be Heirs.

Now in the Inheritance lay, of old, a great Blessing: so that Esau in losing his Father's Heb. 12. 16, 17. Inheritance, lost also the Blessing of Grace, and moreover the Kingdom of Heaven. Wherefore Cain had by this the better of Abel, even as the Jews by their Priviledges had the better of the Gentiles. But mark it, the Blessing of Rom. 3. 1, 2. Grace is not led by outward Order, but by electing Love: Where the Person then is under the Blessing of Election, be he the First or the Second Son, the Highest or Lowest in the Family, or whether he be more or less loved of his Friends, 'tis he that with Abel hath the Everlasting Blessing.

71. Ver. 3. And it came to pass in process of time, that Cain brought of the fruit of the ground an Offering unto the Lord.

Mark here, That the Devil can suffer his Children, in outward Forms of Worship, to be godly and righteous Men: Cain, a Limb of the Devil, and yet the first in Order that presents himself and his Service to God.

Cain brought of the Fruit of the Ground, as of Wheat, Oyl, Honey, or the like; which things were also clean and good. Hence it is intimated, that his Offering was excellent; and I conceive, not at all, as to the matter it self, inferiour to that of Abel's; for in that it is said that Abel's was more excellent, it is not with respect to the Excellency of the Matter or Things with which they sacrificed, but with respect to Abel's Faith, which gave Glory and Acceptableness to his Offering with God: By faith he Heb. 11. 3. offered to God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain.

Ver. 4. And Abel, he also brought of the firstlings of his flock, and of the fat thereof, &c.

72. Abel, last in Appearance, but in truth the first in Grace; as it also is at this day: Who do so flutter it out as our ruffling Formal Worshippers? Alas! the Good, the Sincere and Humble, they seem to be least and last; but the Conclusion of the Tragedy will make manifest that the first is last, and the last first; for the many are but called, the few are chosen.

And the Lord had respect unto Abel, and to his Offering. Herein are the true foot-steps of Grace discovered; to wit, the Person must be the first in favour with God, the Person first, the Performance afterwards.

And the Lord had respect to Abel. But how can God respect a Man, before he respect his Offering? A man's gift (saith Solomon) makes way for him: It should seem therefore that there lyes no such stress in the order of Words, but that it might as well be read, The Lord had respect to Abel, because he respected his Offering.

Answ. Not so: For though it be true among Men, that the Gift makes way for the Acceptance of the Person, yet in the order of Grace it is after another manner; for if the Person be not first accepted, the Offering must be abominable; for it is not a good Work that makes a good Man, but a good Man makes a good Work. The Fruit doth not make a good Tree, Mat. 7. 16, 17, 18, 19. but a good Tree bringeth forth good Fruit. Make (ſaith Chriſt) the Tree good, and his Fruit good; or the Tree evil, and his Fruit evil: Do Men gather Grapes of Thorns, or Figs of Thiſtles? Had Abel been a Thorn, he had not brought forth Grapes; had he been a Thiſtle, he had not brought forth Figs: So then, Abel's Perſon muſt be firſt accepted, and after that his Works.

Object. But God accepteth no Man while he remains a Sinner, but all Men are Sinners before they do good Works, how then could the Perſon of Abel be accepted firſt?

Anſw. Abel was Juſt before he did offer Sacrifice: Juſt, I ſay, in the ſight of God. This God witneſſed by teſtifying of his Gift: By faith Abel offered unto God a more excellent ſacrifice than Cain, by which he obtained witneſs that he was righteous: That is, God, by accepting of the Gift of Abel, did teſtifie that Abel was a Righteous Man; for we know God heareth not Sinners: The Prayers of the wicked are an abomination unto God: But Abel was accepted, therefore he was righteous firſt.

Hence obſerve, That a Man muſt be Righteous before he can do any good Work.

Queſt. Righteous! With what Righteouſneſs?

Anſw. With the Righteouſneſs of Faith: And therefore it is ſaid, that Abel had Faith
Heb. 11. 3. before he offered Sacrifice: By Faith he offered: where Faith is made to precede or go before the Work which by Faith he offered unto God.

Queſt. But are not Good Works the Righteouſneſs of Faith?

Anſw. They are the Fruits of Faith: As here in the Caſe of Abel; his Faith produced an Offering; but before he gave his Offering, his Faith had made him Righteous; for Faith reſpects a Promiſe of Grace, not a Work of mine: Now the Promiſe of Grace being this, That the Seed of the Woman, which is Chriſt, ſhould deſtroy the power of the Devil; by this Abel ſaw that it was Chriſt that ſhould aboliſh Sin and Death by himſelf, and bring in everlaſting righteouſneſs for Sinners. Thus Believing, he had accepted of Chriſt for Righteouſneſs, which becauſe he had done, God in truth proclaims him Righteous, by accepting of his Perſon and Performances when offered.

Abel then preſented his Perſon and Offering, as ſhrouding both by Faith under the Righteouſneſs of Chriſt, which lay wrapped up in the Promiſe; but Cain ſtands upon his own Legs, and ſo preſents his Offering. Abel therefore is accepted, both his Perſon and his Offering, while Cain remains accurſed.

74. Ver. 5. But unto Cain, and to his Offering, the Lord had not reſpect: and Cain was very wroth, and his countenance fell.

Mark: As firſt Abel's Perſon is accepted, and then his Offering; ſo firſt Cain's Perſon is rejected, and afterwards his Offering: For God ſeeth not Sin in his own Inſtitutions, unleſs they be defiled by them that worſhip him; and that they needs muſt, when Perſons by themſelves offer Sacrifice to God, becauſe then they want the Righteouſneſs of Faith.

This then made the difference betwixt Abel and his Brother; Abel had Faith, but Cain had none. Abel's Faith covered him with Jeſus Chriſt, therefore he ſtood righteous in his Perſon before God: This being ſo, his Offering was accepted, becauſe it was the Offering of one that was righteous.

But unto Cain, and to his Offering, the Lord had not reſpect. Hence note, That a Chriſtleſs Man is a wicked Man, let him be never ſo full of Actions that be righteous; for righteous Actions make not a righteous Man, the Man himſelf muſt firſt be righteous.

Wherefore, though Cain was the Eldeſt, and firſt in the Worſhip; yet Abel was the Wiſeſt, and the moſt acceptable therein.

And Cain was wroth, and his countenance fell. From theſe words it may be gathered, that Cain had ſome evident Token from the Obſervation of God's Carriage towards both himſelf and Brother; that his Brother was ſmiled upon, but he rejected: He was wroth; wroth with God, and wroth with his Brother. And indeed, before the World hate us, they muſt needs hate Jeſus Chriſt: It hated me (ſaith he) before it hated you. He was wroth: And why? Wroth becauſe his Sacrifice was not accepted of God: And yet the fault was not in the Lord, but Cain: He came not before the Lord, as already made righteous with the righteouſneſs of Chriſt, which indeed had been doing well, but as a curſed wicked Wretch, he thought that by his own good Works he muſt be Juſt before the Lord.

The difference therefore that was between theſe Worſhippers, it lay not in that they worſhipped divers Gods, but in that they worſhipped the ſame God after a diverſe manner: The one in Faith, the other without; the one as righteous, the other as wicked.

And even thus it is between Us and our Adverſaries: We worſhip not divers Gods, but the ſame God in a diverſe manner: We according to Faith; and They according to their own Inventions. 75.

And Cain was wroth. This further ſhews us the Force of the Law, and the End of thoſe that would be Juſt by the ſame; namely, That in concluſion they will quarrel with God; for when the Soul in its beſt Performances, and Acts of Righteouſneſs, ſhall yet be rejected and caſt off by God, it will fret and wrangle, and in its ſpirit let fly againſt God: for thus it judgeth, That God is auſtere and exacting; it hath done what it could to pleaſe him, and he is not pleaſed therewith. This again offendeth God, and makes his Juſtice Curſe and Condemn the Soul: Condemn it, I ſay, for imagining that the Righteouſneſs of a poor, ſinful, wretched Creature, ſhould be ſufficient to appeaſe Eternal Juſtice for Sin. Thus the Law worketh Rom. 4. 15
Wrath, becauſe it always bindeth our Tranſgreſſion to us, and ſtill reckoneth us Sinners, and Accurſed, when we have done our utmoſt to anſwer and fulfill it.

And his countenance fell. However, an Hypocrite, while God forbeareth to ſmite him, may may triumph and joy in his Goodneſs; yet when God ſhall pronounce his Judgment according as he appoves of his Act, he needs muſt lowre and fall in his Countenance; for his Perſon and Gift are rejected, and he ſtill counted a Sinner.

76. Ver 6. And the Lord God ſaid unto Cain, Why art thou wroth? and why is thy countenance fallen?

These words are applied to Cain, for a further Conviction of his State to be miſerable. Why art thou wroth? Is it becauſe I have not accepted thy Offering? This is without ground, thy Perſon is yet an Abomination to me: Muſt I be made by thy Gift, which is polluted for, and by thy Perſon, to juſtifie thee as Righteous? Thou haſt not yet done well. Wherefore, Cain had no cauſe to be wroth; for God rejected only that which was ſinful, as was both his Perſon and Gift for the ſake thereof: Neither had he grounds to lift up his Looks on high, when he came to offer his Sacrifice; becauſe he came not as a Man in a Juſtified State. But there is a generation that are pure in their own eyes, and yet are not waſhed from their iniquities. There is a generation, O how lofty are their eyes! and their eye-lids are lifted up. Such an one, or the Father of theſe, was Cain; he counted himſelf clean, and yet was not waſhed; he lifted up his Looks on high, before he was changed from his iniquity.

Prov. 30. 12, 13.

77. Ver. 7. If thou do well, ſhalt thou not be accepted? and if thou doſt not well, ſin lieth at the door: And unto thee ſhall be his deſire, and thou ſhalt rule over him.

If thou do well! Why, is not Worſhipping of God, well-doing? It may, and may not, even as the Perſon that worſhips is found: If he be found Righteous at his coming to worſhip, and if he worſhip according to Rule, then he does well, then he is accepted of God; but if he be not found Righteous before, be you ſure he cannot do well, let the Matter with which he worſhippeth be wrong or right. Can a man bring a clean thing out of an unclean? Let Cain be clean, and his Offering will be clean, becauſe brought to God in a Veſſel that is clean; but if Cain be unclean, all the Holy things he toucheth, or layeth up in his Skirt, it is made unclean by the uncleanneſs of his Perſon: And ſo is this Nation before me, ſaith God, and ſo is every work of their hands, and that which they offer there is unclean.

Iſa. 2. 11.

Hag. 2. 11, 12, 13, 14.

Men therefore ought to diſtinguiſh between doing and well-doing, even in the Worſhip of God. All that Worſhip, do not do well, though the Matter of Worſhip be good in it ſelf. Cain's Offering you find not blamed, as if it had been of a Superſtitious Complexion; but he came not aright to Worſhip. Why? he came not as one made Righteous before. Wherefore, as I have already touched, the difference that lay between the Gifts of Abel and Cain, was not in the Gifts themſelves, but the Qualifications of the Perſons. Abel's Faith, and Cain's Works, made God approve and reject the Offering: By Faith Abel offered to God a more excellent Sacrifice than Cain: For, as I ſaid, Faith in Chriſt, as promiſed to come, made him Righteous, becauſe thereby he obtained the Righteouſneſs of God; for ſo was Chriſt in himſelf, and ſo to be to him that by Faith received and accepted of him: This, I ſay, Abel did; wherefore now he is Righteous or Juſt before God. This being ſo, his Offering is found to be an Offering of Abel the Juſt, and is here ſaid to obtain witneſs, even of God, that he was righteous, becauſe he accepted his Gift.

Wherefore, he that does well, muſt firſt be good: He that doth righteouſneſs, muſt firſt be righteous: He is righteous firſt; he is righteous even as Chriſt is righteous, becauſe himſelf is the Righteouſneſs of ſuch a Perſon. And ſo on the contrary; the reaſon why ſome Mens good Deeds are accurſed of God, it is becauſe in truth, and according to the Law, the Lord finds Sin in them; which Sins he cannot pardon, becauſe he finds them not in Chriſt. Thus they being evil for want of the Righteouſneſs of the Son of God, they worſhip God as Sinners, according to that of the Apoſtle, Becauſe they are not good, therefore they do not good, no, not one of them.

78. 1 Joh. 3. 7.

Rom. 3. 10, 11, 12.

The way therefore to do well, it is firſt to receive the Mercy of God in Chriſt; which Act of thine will be more pleaſing to the Divine Majeſty, than all whole Burnt-Offerings and Sacrifices: I will have Mercy (ſaith God) I will have Mercy, and not Sacrifice. This Cain did not underſtand, therefore he goes to God in his Sins, and without Faith in the Mercy of God through Chriſt, he offereth his Sacrifice. Wherefore becauſe his Sacrifice could not take away his Sin, therefore it ſtill abode upon him.

Mat. 9. 13. Chap. 12. 7.

But if thou do not well, ſin lieth at the door. This reaſoning therefore was much to Cain's Condition; he would be wroth, becauſe God did not accept his Offering, and yet he did not well: Now if he had done well, God, by receiving of his Brother's Sacrifice, ſhews, he would have accepted him; for this is evident, they were both alike by Nature; their Offerings alſo were in themſelves one as holy as the other: How then comes it to paſs that both were not accepted, they both Offered to God? Why, Abel only Sacrificed well, becauſe he firſt by Faith in Chriſt was righteous: This becauſe Cain wanted, ſin abideth at his door.

And to thee ſhall be his deſire, and thou ſhalt rule over him. That is, If ſin abideth at thy door ſtill, to thee ſhall he his deſire; he ſhall Love, Pity, Pray for thee, and endeavour thy Converſion; but thou ſhalt be Lord over him, and ſhalt put thy yoke upon his neck. This was Jacob's Portion alſo; for after Eſau had got head, he broke Jacob's Yoke from off his Neck, and reigned by Nineteen or Twenty Dukes and Princes, before there was any King in Iſrael.

79. Gen. 27. 40.

It is the Lot of Cain's Brood, to be Lords and Rulers firſt, while Abel and his Generation have their Necks under Perſecution; yet while they Lord it, and thus tyrannically Afflict and Perſecute, our very deſire is towards them, wiſhing their Salvation: while they Curſe, we Bleſs; and while they Perſecute, we Pray.

80. Ver. 8. And Cain talked with Abel his Brother: And it came to paſs, when they were in the field, that Cain roſe up againſt Abel his Brother, and ſlew him.

When Cain saw that by God's Judgment Abel was the better Worshipper, and that himself must by no means be admitted for well-doing, his Heart began to be more obdurate and hard, and to grow into that height of desperateness, as to endeavour the extirpating of all True Religion out of the World; which it seems he did, by killing his Brother, mightily accomplish, until the days of Enos; for then began men again to call upon the Name of the Lord. Ver. 26.

Hence see the spite of the Children of Hell against God: They have slain thy Prophets, and digged down thine Altars: If they may have their Wills, God must be content with their Religion, or none; other they will not endure should have shew within their reach, but with Cain, will rather kill their Brother; or with the Pharisees, kill their Lord; and with the evil Kings of old, will rather kill their Sons and Subjects. That the Truth, I say, may fall to the ground, and their own Inventions stand for acceptable Sacrifices, they will not only envy, but endeavour to invalidate all the True Worship and Worshippers of God in the World; the which if they cannot without Blood accomplish, they will slay and kill till their Cruelty hath destroyed many Ten thousands, even as Cain, who slew his Brother Abel. 1 Kings 19. 10.

And Cain talked with his Brother. He had not a Law whereby to Arraign him, but Malice enough, and a Tongue to set all on Fire, of which no doubt, by the goodly Replies of his Brother, was easily blown up into Choler and Madness, the end of which was the Blood of his Brother.

81. And Cain talked with Abel, &c. To wit, about the Goodness and Truth of his Religion. For that the New-Testament seems to import, he slew him because his Works were righteous; which Abel no donbt had justified before his Brother, even then when he most set himself to oppose him. Besides, this the connection of the Relation importeth, he talked with him, he slew him; he talked with him and slew him, purely upon a Religious Account, because his Works were righteous. 1 Joh. 3. 12.

Hence Note, That when wicked Men have the Head in the World, Professors had need be resolved to hazard the worst, before they do enter Debate with ungodly Men about the things that pertain to the Kingdom of God: For behold here, Words did not end in Words, but from Words came Blows, and from Blows Blood. The Counsel therefore is, That you sit down first, and count up the Cost, before ye talk with Cain of Religion: They make a Man an Offender for a Word, and lay a snare for him that reproveth in the Gate, and turn aside the Just for a thing of nought. Luke 14. 27,28,29, 30,31,32, 33. Isa. 29. 20, 21.

And Cain talked with Abel his Brother. With Abel his only Brother, who also was a third part of the World. But Tyrants matter nothing, neither nearness of Kin, nor how much they destroy: The Brother shall betray the Brother to death, &c.

And it came to pass when they were in the field, that Cain rose up against Abel his Brother, and slew him. When they were in the Field, from home, out of the sight, and far from the help of his Father: Subtil Persecutors love not to bite, till they can make their Teeth to meet; for which they observe their time and place. Joseph was also hated of his Brethren, but they durst not meddle till they found him in the Field. Here it is also that the holy Virgin falleth: He found her in the field, — and there was none to save her. Gen. 37. Deut. 22. 27.

Hence observe again, That be the Danger never so imminent, and the Advantage of the Adversary never so great, the sincere Professor of the Truth stands his ground against Wind and Weather. Bloody Cain daunteth not Holy Abel; no, though now he have his Advantage of him. 82. Dan. 3. 16, 17, 18.

He rose up against Abel his Brother, and slew him. And wherefore slew he him? Because his own works were evil, &c. It is therefore hence to be observed, That it is a Sign of an Evil way, be it covered with the Name of the Worship of God, when it cannot stand without the shedding of Innocent Blood. Wherefore slew he him? Because his own works where evil. Had his Works been good, they had been accepted of God: He had also had the Joy thereof in his Conscience, as doubtless Abel had; which Joy and Peace would have produced Love and Pity to his Brother, as it was with his Brother towards him; but his works being evil, they minister to him no Heavenly Joy, neither do they beget in him Love to his Brother; but contrariwise, his Heart fills his Eye with Evil also; which again provoketh (while it beholdeth the godly Carriage of Abel) the Heart to more desperate Resolutions, even to set upon him with all his might, and to cut him off from the Earth. Thus the Goodness of God's People provoketh to Envy the wicked Heart of the Hypocrite. As it was betwixt Saul and David; for after Saul had seen that God had rejected him for his Wickedness, the more he hated the Goodness of David: And Saul saw and knew that the Lord was with David, —— and Saul was yet the more afraid of David, and Saul became David's Enemy continually. 1 Joh. 1. 1. 1 Sam. 18. 8,9,10,11, 12,13,14, 15; 28,29.

And the Lord said unto Cain, Where is Abel thy Brother? And he said, I know not: Am I my Brother's keeper? 83.

Cain thought it had been no more but to kill his Brother, and his Intentions and Desires must needs be accomplished, and that himself should then be the only Man: Come let us kill him, and the Inheritance shall be ours. But stay, Abel was beloved of his God, who had also justified his Offering, and accepted it as a Service more excellent than his Brother's: So then, because the Quarrel arose between them upon this very account, therefore Abel's God doth reckon himself as engaged (seeing he is not) to take up his Servant's Cause himself.

And the Lord God said unto Cain, Where is Abel thy Brother? A Question not grounded on Uncertainty, but propoted as a beginning of further reasoning; and also to make way to this wicked Wretch, to discover the desperate wickedness of his bloody Heart the more: For Questions that stand at first afar off, do draw out more of the heart of another; and also do minister more Occasion for Matter, than if they had been placed more near to the Matter. Luke 24. 13,—27. Acts 1. 11.

Where

Where is Abel? God missed the acceptable Sacrifices of Abel; Abel was dead, and his Sacrifices ceased, which had wont to be savoury in the Nostrils of God; Cain could not supply them; his Sacrifices were deficient, they were not of Faith. Hence note, that if Tyrants should have their will, even to the destroying of all the Remnant of God, their Sacrifices and Worship would be yet before God as abominable as they were before.

And the Lord said unto Cain, Where is Abel? O dreadful Question! the beginning of Cains Hell, for now God entreth into Judgment with him. Wherefore, however this wretch endeavoured at first to stifle and choak his Conscience, yet this was to him the Arrow of Death: Abel cried, but his Brother would not hear him while alive, and now being dead Psal. 9. 12. God hears the Crie of his Blood. When he maketh Inquisition for Blood, he remembreth
Ps. 116. 15. them: he forgetteth not the Crie of the humble. Blood that is shed for the sake of God's Word, shall not be forgotten or disregarded
Ps. 72. 14. of God: Precious in his sight is the death of his Saints, and precious shall their Blood be in his sight.

84. Where is Abel thy Brother? This word, thy Brother, must not be left out, because it doth greatly aggravate his Wickedness: He slew his Brother; which horrid act the very Law and bond of Nature forbiddeth. But when a man is given up of God, it is neither this nor another Relation that will bind his hands, or make him keep within the bounds of any Law. Judas will seek his Masters, and Absalom his Fathers Blood. Where is Abel thy Brother?

And he said, I know not. He knew full well what he had done, and that by his hands his Brothers blood was fallen to the Ground, but now being called into question for the same, he endeavoureth to plead Ignorance before God: I know not. When men have once begun to sin, they know not where they shall end; he slew his Brother, and endeavours to cover his Fact with a Lie. David also little thought his act of Adultery would have led 2 Sam. 11. him to have spilt the Blood of Uriah, and afterwards to have covered all with dissembling Lips and a lying Tongue.

I know not: Am I my Brothers Keeper?

This is the way of all ungodly men, they will not abide that Guilt should be fastned. Sin they love, and the Lusts and Delights thereof, but to count for it they cannot abide; they will put it off with Excuses, or Denyals: Even like Saul, who though he had spared the Cattel and Agag contrary to the Command of God, yet
1 Sam. 15. 13, 20. would needs bear Samuel down, that he had kept, yea performed the Commandment of the Lord. But they are denyals to no boot, and Excuses that will not profit, that are made to hide the sin of the Soul from the sight and Judgment of God. Lies and Falshood will here do nothing.

85. Ver. 10. And he said, What hast thou done? the Voice of thy Brothers blood crieth unto me from the Ground.

Poor Cain, thy feeble shifts help thee nothing, thy Excuses are drowned by the Cries of the Blood which thou hast shed.

What hast thou done? the blood of thy Brother cries. Beware Persecutors, you think that when you have slain the Godly, you are then rid of them; but you are far wide, their Blood which you have shed, cries in the ears of God against you. O the Cries of Blood are strong cries, they are cries that reach to Heaven; yea they are cries that have a continual voice, and that never cease to make a noise, untill they have procured Vengeance from the hands Job 16. 18 of the Lord of Sabbath: And therefore this is the Word of the Lord against all those that are for the Practice of Cain: As I live, saith the Lord Eze. 35. 6.
God, I will prepare thee to Blood, and blood shall pursue thee: Sith thou hast not hated blood, (that is, hated to shed it,) blood shall pursue thee.

The Voice of thy Brothers Blood cries unto me. 86. The Apostle makes this Voice of the Blood of Abel, a Type of the Voice of the Justice of the Law, and so extends it further than meerly to the act of Murder; intimating that he sheds Blood, that breaks any the Commands of God, (and indeed so he doth, he layeth wait for his Pro. 1. 18. own Blood, and privily lurketh for his own life.) Wherefore the Apostle compareth the Blood of Abel and the Blood of Christ together; but so as by the Rule of Contraries, making betwixt them a contrary Voice, even as there is between a broken Command and a Promise of Grace, the one calling for Vengeance and Damnation, the other calling for Forgiveness and Salvation; the Blood of Sprinkling it speaks bet- Heb. 12. 24.
ter things than the Blood of Abel; that is, it calls to God to forgive the Sinner; but Abel's Blood, of the breach of the Law, that cries Damn them, damn them. Christ also set his own Blood in opposition to the Blood of all that was shed before him; concluding that the proper Voyce of all Blood of the Godly, is to call for Vengeance on the Persecutors, even from the Blood of Abel to the Blood of Zecharias, that was slain between the Altar and the Temple. And let me here take leave to propound my private thoughts: Namely, that the Zecharias that here is mentioned, might not 2 Chro. 24.
be he that we find in the Book of Chronicles; 20, 21.
but one of that Name that lived in the days of Christ, possibly John Baptists Father, or some other holy man. My reasons for this Conjecture, are, 1. Because the Murderers are Convict by Christ himself: Zecharias, whom ye slew between the Altar and the Temple. 2. Because Christ makes a stop at the Blood of Zecharias, not at the Blood of John the Baptist: wherefore, if the Person here mentioned were not murdered after, but before John the Baptist, then Christ seems to excuse them for killing his Servant John; for the Judgment stops Bear with this Conjecture.
at the including of the Guilt of the Blood of Zecharias. 3. I think such a thing, because the Voice of all holy Blood that hath been shed before the Law by the Adversary, excepting only the Blood of Jesus, must needs be included here; the proper Voice of his only being to plead for Mercy to the Murderers. However, the Voice of Blood is a very killing Voice, and will one day speak with such Thunder and terror in the Consciences of all the brood of Cain, that their pain and burthen will be for ever unsupportable.

And

Ver 11. And now thou art curſed from the Earth, which hath opened her mouth to receive thy Brothers blood from thy hand.

Here begins the Sentence of God againſt this bloody man; a Sentence fearful and terrible, for it containeth a removing of him from all the Priviledges of Grace and Mercy, and a binding of him over to the Puniſhment and pains of the Damned.

And now thou art curſed from the Earth. Luke 2. 13, 14. Peace on Earth, is one Branch of that bleſſed Tidings that was brought into the World at the Coming of the Meſſias. Again, before Prov. 8. 31. Chriſt was come in the fleſh, it is ſaid He rejoyced in the habitable part of his Earth: Wherefore, by the Earth in this place, I underſtand the ſtate that the Men are in, to whom, by the Mind of God, the Goſpel and Grace of God is to be tendred. Now, whether it reſpect the State of Man by Nature, or the State of thoſe that are Saints, from both theſe Priviledges Cain is ſeparate, as are all whom the Lord hath utterly rejected. Not but that yet they may live long in the World, but God hath cut them off from the Earth, and all the Goſpel Priviledges therein, and ſet them in the Condition of Devils; ſo that as to Grace and Mercy they are ſeparate therefrom, and ſtand as men, though alive, bound over to Eternal Judgment. And as to their Lives, it matters not how long they live, there is Heb. 10. 26, 27, 28. no Sacrifice for their ſins, but a certain fearful looking for of Judgment and fiery Indignation which ſhall devour the Adverſaries. So that I ſay, as the Devils be bound in Hell, ſo ſuch lye bound in Earth; bound I ſay in the Chains of Darkneſs, and their own obſtinate Heart, over to the day of wrath, and revelation of the righteous Judgment of God. Cain therefore by theſe words is denyed the Bleſſing of future Means of Grace, and ſtands bound over to anſwer for his Brothers Blood, which the Ground had received from his cruel hand.

88. Ver. 12. When thou tilleſt the Ground, it ſhall not henceforth yield to thee her ſtrength; a Fugitive and a Vagabond ſhalt thou be in the Earth.

This is a branch, or the Fruits of this wilful Murder. Indeed, ſins carry in them not only a Curſe with reſpect to Eternity, but are alſo the Cauſe of all the Miſeries of this Life. God Pſ. 107. 34. turneth a fruitful land into barrenneſs, for the wickedneſs of them that dwell therein.

When thou tilleſt the Ground. Sin committed doth not always Exclude the Sinner from an enjoyment of Gods mercies, but yet if unrepented of, bringeth a Cuuſe upon them. Mal. 2. 2. I will curſe, ſaith God, your Bleſſings, yea I have curſed them already, becauſe ye laid it not to heart. This alſo is the reaſon that the Table of ſome is Rom. 11. 8, 9. made their ſnare, their Trap, a Stumbling-block and a Recompence unto them; Men ought not therefore to judge of the Goodneſs of their State, by their Enjoyment of Gods Creatures, but rather ſhould tremble while they enjoy them, leſt for ſin they ſhould become accurſed to them, as were the Enjoyments of this wicked Man.

89. A Fugitive and a Vagabond ſhalt thou be in the Earth. The meaning is, thou ſhalt not have Reſt in the World, but ſhalt be continually poſſeſſed with a guilty Conſcience, which ſhall make thy Condition reſtleſs and void of Comfort. For the man that indeed is linked in the Chains of Guilt and Damnation, as Cain here was; he cannot reſt, but (as we ſay) Fudge up and down from place to place, becauſe his Burthen is inſupportable. As David ſaid, Let their Pſ. 69. 23. eyes be darkned that they may not ſee, and make their loins continually to ſhake. A continual ſhaking and reſtleſneſs doth therefore poſſeſs ſuch perſons as are given up of God, and ſwallowed up of Guilt.

A Fugitive and Vagabond ſhalt thou be in the Earth. Some men certainly know, even while they are in this World, their State to be moſt miſerable, and damnable, as Cain, Saul and Judas did; which knowledge, as I have hinted, puts them beſides the very courſe of other carnal men; who while they behold them at quiet under their Enjoyments, theſe cannot but wonder, fear, and be amazed with the deep Cogitations which will abide upon them, of their certain Miſery and everlaſting Perdition.

Ver. 13. 90. And Cain ſaid unto the Lord, My puniſhment is greater than I can bear: Or as the Margent hath it, My ſin is greater than that it may be forgiven. And both readings are true: For however ſome men pleaſe themſelves in leſſening ſin, and the Puniſhment thereof, yet a burdened Conſcience judgeth otherwiſe. And if Cain failed in either, it was in that he counted his Sin (if he did ſo) beyond the reach of Gods Mercy. But again, when Men perſecute the Worſhip and People of God, as Cain did his bleſſed and religious Brother, even of ſpite, and becauſe he envied the goodneſs of his Brothers work; I queſtion whether it be lawful for a Miniſter to urge to ſuch the Promiſe of Grace and Forgiveneſs; and alſo wherher it be the Mind of God ſuch perſons ſhould hope therein. He that ſins the Sin unto death, is not to 1 Joh. 5. 16. be prayed for, but contrariwiſe he is to be taken from Gods Altar that he may dye. This Exod. 21. 14. was Cains caſe, and now he knew it; therefore as one Excluded of God from his Mercy and all the Means thereof, he breaks out with roaring under the intolerable burden of the Judgment of God upon him, concluding his Puniſhment at preſent greater than he could bear, and that yet his Sin ſhould remain unpardonable for ever: As ſaith our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, He hath neither forgiveneſs here, nor in Mat. 12. 32. the World to come.

Ver. 14. Behold, thou haſt driven me out this day from the face of the Earth, and from thy Face ſhall I be hid: And I ſhall be a Fugitive and a Vagabond in the Earth, and it ſhall come to paſs that every one that findeth me, ſhall ſlay me.

91. By theſe words is confirmed what was ſaid before, to wit, to be Curſed from the Earth, was to be ſeparate from the Priviledges of the Goſpel. For Cain was not now to die, neither was he driven into any Den or Cave; yet driven out from the face of the Earth, that is, as I have ſaid, he was excluded from a ſhare in thoſe ſpecial Mercies that by the Goſpel were ſtill offered by Grace to the others that inhabited the World: The Mercies, I ſay, that are offered by the Goſpel, as namely, The Mercy of Eternal Life: For as to the Bleſſings of this World, he had yet a notable ſhare thereof. Beſides, he groaneth under this Judgment, as an unſupportable Curſe: Thou haſt driven me out this day from the face of the earth. And indeed, if we take it according as I have laid it down, it is a Curſe that would break the whole World to pieces; for he that is denied a ſhare in the Grace that is now offered, muſt needs be denied a Portion in God's Kingdom: And this Cain ſaw; wherefore he adds in the proceſs of his Complaint, And from thy Face ſhall I be hid: "I ſhall never come into "thy Kingdom, I ſhall never ſee thy Face in "Heaven." This is therefore the higheſt of all Complaints; namely, for a Man from a certain Conviction that his Condition muſt without fail be Damnable, to condole and bemoan his forlorn Condition.

92. THOU haſt driven me out. O! when God ſhall bind one over for his Sin, to Eternal Judgment, who then can releaſe him? This was Cain's ſtate, God had bound him over: The Blood of his Brother was to reſt upon him, and not to be purged with Sacrifice for ever.

Thou haſt driven me out THIS DAY. He knew by the Sentence that fell from Heaven upon him, even from that very day, that he was made a Companion of, and an Aſſociate with Devils. This Day, or for this Days Work, I am made an Inhabitant of the Pit with the Devil and his Angels. Hence note, That God doth ſometimes ſmite the Reprobate ſo apparently, that himſelf from that day may make a certain Judgment of the Certainty of his Numb.24. 17. Damnation. Thus did Balaam: I ſhall ſee him, but not now; I ſhall behold him, but not nigh. Where by now, he reſpects the Time of Grace; and by nigh, the Time or Day of Judgment: As who ſhould ſay, "I, for my Sorceries, and "wicked Divinations, am excluded a Portion "in the Day of Grace, and therefore ſhall not "ſee the Saviour now: I am alſo rejected, as "to a Portion in the bleſſed World to come; "and therefore when he Judgeth, I ſhall not "ſee him nigh: Nigh, as a Friend, as a Sa"viour to my Soul." I doubt this is the Condition of many now alive, who for their Perfidiouſneſs and Treachery to Chriſt, and his Church, have already received, even in themRom.1.27. ſelves, that recompence of their error which is meet.

Gen. 21. 11, 12. Chap. 27. Chap. 28. Gal. 4. 30. Heb. 12. 16, 17. Pſal 46,7. Pſal.16.11 Iſhmael alſo, in the day he laughed at Iſaac, and Eſau in the day he ſold his Birth-right, might have gathered; the one from God's concurring with the Judgment of Sarah; the other, from his Father's adhering to his Brother; his adhering, I ſay, in a Prophetick Spirit; that from thenceforth they both were excluded Grace and Glory, as the Apoſtle by the Holy Ghoſt afterwards doth.

And from thy FACE ſhall I be hid. By Face here, we are to underſtand God's Favour, and bleſſed Preſence, which is enjoyed by the Saints both here, and in the World to come: Both which this wicked Man, for the Murdering of his Brother, and his Envy to the Truth, now knew himſelf excluded from.

93. From thy Face ſhall I be HID. The Pit of Hell, to which the Damned go, beſides the Torment that they meet with there, is ſuch a Region of Darkneſs, and at ſuch a diſtance from the Heavens, and the glorious comfortable Preſence of God, that thoſe that ſhall be found the proper Subjects of it, ſhall for ever be eſtranged from one glimpſe of him: Beſides, Sin ſhall bind all their Faces in ſecret, and ſo confound them with Horror, Shame, and Guilt, that they ſhall not be able from thenceforth for ever, ſo much as once to think of God with comfort.

From thy FACE. As it were all the Glory of Heaven, it lieth in beholding the Face of God: A thing the Ungodly little think of; yet the Men that have received in themſelves already the Sentence of Eternal Damnation, they know it after a wonderful rate; and the Thoughts of the loſs of his Face and Preſence, doth, do what they can, as much torment them, as the Thoughts of all the Miſery they are like to meet withall beſides.

And a Fugitive and a Vagabond ſhall I be on the earth. Even from the preſent frame of his Spirit, Now, having received the Sentence, he knew, the Judgment paſt being unrevokable, how it would be with him all his life long; that he ſhould ſpend his Days in Trouble and Guilt, rowling under the Juſtice of God, being always a Terrour and Burthen to himſelf, to the day he was to be cut off from the Earth, that he might go to the place appointed for him.

And it ſhall come to paſs, that every one that findeth me, ſhall ſlay me. Guilt is a ſtrange thing, it makes a Man think that every one that ſees him, hath knowledge of his Iniquity: It alſo bringeth ſuch a faintneſs into the Heart, that the ſound of a ſhaken Leaf doth chaſe ſuch Lev.26.36 Perſons: And above all things, the Cries of Jer. 2. 34. Blood are moſt fearful in the Conſcience; the Cries of the Blood of the poor Innocents, which *Chap.*19.4. the Seed of Cain hath ſhed on the face of the Earth. Thus far of Cain's Complaint.

And the Lord ſaid unto him, Therefore whoſoever ſlayeth Cain, vengeance ſhall be taken on him ſeven fold: and the Lord ſet a mark upon Cain, leſt any finding him, ſhould kill him. Ver. 15.

By theſe words, the Judgment is confirmed, 94. which Cain, in the Verſe before, ſo mournfully pronounced againſt his own Soul. As if the Lord had ſaid; "Cain, thy Judgment is as "thou haſt ſaid, I have driven thee out this day "from a ſhare in my ſpecial Favour; and "when thy Life is ended, thou ſhalt be "hid from my Face, and bleſſed Preſence for "ever; and ſeeing it is thus, therefore I will "not ſuffer that thou die before thy time: "Alas, thy Glaſs will be quickly run! Beſides, "thy Days, while thou art here, will ſuffi"ciently be filled with Vexation and Diſtreſs; "for thou ſhalt always carry in thy Con"ſcience the Cries of Innocent Blood, and the "Fear of the Wrath of God: I have ſaid it, "and will perform it; I am not a Man, that "I ſhould repent: So that thus ſhall thy Judg"ment be: Therefore he that killeth Cain, I "will take vengeance on him.

Hence Note, That none need to add to the Sorrows of the Perſecutors: They above all Men

Men are prepared unto Wrath: Let them alone (ſaith Chriſt) they will quickly fall into the Ditch. Beſides, God hath taken the Revengement of the Blood of his Servants into his own hand, and will execute his Wrath himſelf. Therefore he ſaith to his Saints (as to this,) Dearly beloved, avenge not your ſelves, but rather give place unto wrath; for vengeance belongeth to me, and I will recompence, ſaith the Lord. And the reaſon is, becauſe the quarrel is in ſpecial between the Perſecutor and God himſelf: For we are not hated becauſe we are Men, nor becauſe we are Men of evil and debauched Lives; but becauſe we are Religious; becauſe we ſtand to maintain the Truth of God. Therefore no Man muſt here intercept, but muſt leave the Enemy in the hand of that God he hath ſlighted and condemned. This made Moſes that he meddled not with Corah and his Company, but left them to that new thing which the Lord himſelf would do unto them, becauſe they had condemned the Ordinance of God. This made David alſo that he meddled not with Saul, but left him to the Vengeance of God, though he had opportunity to have deſtroyed him. Let us learn therefore to be quiet and patient under the hand of wicked and blood-thirſty Men: Let us fall before them like holy Abel; it is and will be grief enough to them, that when we are dead, our Blood will cry from the ground againſt them.

Rom. 12. 19.
Numb. 16. 25,26,27, 28,29,30, 31,32,33.
1 Sam. 24. Chap. 26. 10,11,12.

95. Therefore he that killeth Cain, vengeance ſhall be taken, &c. He now that ſhall, after this Admonition, plead for Religious Blood with the Sword, Vengeance ſhall be taken on him, becauſe he giveth not place to the Wrath of God, but intercepts with his own, which worketh not the righteouſneſs of God. Say therefore with David, when you are vexed with the Perſecutor, Mine hand ſhall not be upon him; but as the Lord liveth, the Lord ſhall ſmite him; or, his day ſhall come to die; or, he ſhall deſcend in battel, and periſh.

Jam. 1. 19, 20.

Vengeance ſhall be taken on him ſeven fold. It would not be hard to ſhew how little they have prevailed, who have taken upon them to take Vengeance for the Blood of Saints, on them that have been the Spillers of it. But my buſineſs here is brevity, therefore I ſhall not launch into that deep, only ſhall ſay to ſuch as ſhall attempt it hereafter, Put up thy Sword into his place; for they that take the Sword, ſhall periſh by the Sword! and here is the Patience and Faith of the Saints. Let Cain and God alone, and do you mind Faith and Patience; ſuffer with Abel, until your Righteous Blood be ſpilt: Even the Work of Perſecutors, is, for the preſent, Puniſhment enough; the Fruits thereof being the provoking God to Jealouſie, a denying of them the knowledge of the Way of Life, and a binding of them over to the Pains and Puniſhment of Hell.

Mat. 26. 51, 52.
Rev. 13. 10.

96. And the Lord ſet a Mark upon Cain. What the Opinion of others is about this Mark, I know not; to me it ſeems like thoſe in Timothy, who had their Conſcience ſeared with an hot Iron: Which words are an Alluſion to the way of the Magiſtrate in their dealing with Rogues and Felons; who that they may be known to all, are either in the Hand, Shoulder, or Cheek, branded with an hot Iron. So Cain was marked of God for a Reprobate, for one that had murdered a Righteous Man, even of envy to the goodneſs of his Work: But the Mark (as it was on thoſe in Timothy) was not on any outward or viſible part of his Body, but (as there the Apoſtle expreſſeth it) even upon his very Conſcience; his Conſcience then had received the Fire-mark of the Wrath and Diſpleaſure of God, which (as a Burning-Iron doth to the Fleſh) had left ſuch deep Impreſſion therein, that it abode as a Scar or Brand upon him, in token that God would for ever after hold him for a Fugitive Rogue or Vagabond.

1 Tim. 4.

And the Lord ſet a mark upon Cain, leſt any finding him, ſhould kill him. For though the Mark was branded with Burning upon his Conſcience, and ſo inward and inviſible; yet the Effects of this hot Iron might be viſible, and ſeen of all: The Effects, I ſay, which were, or might be, his Reſtleſneſs in every place, his Dejectedneſs, the ſudden and fearful Pangs and Agonies of his Mind, which might break out into dolorous and amazing Complaints; beſides, his timerous Carriage before all he met, leſt they ſhould kill him; gave all to underſtand, that God had with a vengeance branded him. And indeed this was ſuch a Mark as was amazing to all that beheld him, and did ten times more make them afraid of ſpilling Blood, than if any viſible Mark had been ſet upon him; for by his trouble and diſtreſs of Mind, they ſaw what was the Guilt of Blood: and by his continual fear and trembling under the Judgment of God, what it was to be in fear of, nay, to have the Firſt Fruits of Everlaſting Damnation. Thus therefore God reſerved Cain to the Judgment which he had appointed for him.

97. And Cain went out from the preſence of the Lord, and dwelt in the Land of Nod, on the Eaſt of Eden. Ver. 16.

The right Carriage of a Reprobate, and the infallible Fruits of final Deſparation: For a Man that hath received in his Mind the ſtroke of the Judgment of God, and that is denied all Means of Saving and Sanctifying Grace, (as the great Tranſgreſſors are,) the Preſence of God is to ſuch moſt dreadful; whether we underſtand the Knowledge of him as he is in himſelf, or as he diſcovereth himſelf in his Church; for the thought of his Being, and Eternal Majeſty, keeps the wound open, and makes Terrour and Guilt revive. To ſuch it would be the beſt of News, to hear that the Godhead doth ceaſe to be, or that themſelves were high above him: But that they are in the Hand of the Living God, this is the dreadful and fearful Thought.

And Cain went out from the preſence of the Lord. Theſe words may be taken many ways.

1. That he ſeparated himſel from the Church (the place of God's preſence) which then conſiſted of his Father and Mother, and of thoſe other Children they had. And this appears by the Text, He went out from the preſence of the Lord, and dwelt in the Land of Nod.

2 Cor. 6. 16.

2. A Man goes out from the preſence of God, when he withdraws his Thoughts from holy

Job 21. 14, 15, 16.

Meditations,

Meditations, and employeth the ſtrength of his Mind about the things of this Life: And thus he alſo did; he went into the Land of Nod, and there fell to building a City, and to recreate himſelf with the Pleaſures of the Fleſh what he might.

3. A Man goes out from the preſence of God, when he throweth up the Worſhip and Way of God; and this he did in departing from the Church. 2 Chron. 19. 1,2,3.

Heb. 3. 12, 13. Job 15. 12, 13. 4. Beſides, his going out from the preſence of the Lord, implieth, that he hardned his heart againſt him, that he ſet his Spirit againſt him; that he ſaid to God, Depart from me; that he grew an implacable Enemy to him, and to every appearance of Good in the World.

98. And Cain went out from the preſence of the Lord. Theſe words may alſo reſpect his being thruſt out from God, as one Anathematized, Accurſed, or Cut off, in effect the ſame with Excommunication: But be it ſo, the Act was extraordinary, being adminiſtred by God himſelf; even as he ſerved Corah and his Company, though in kind there was a difference; the one, even Cain, being yet permitted to live for a while in the World; the other being ſent down quick into Hell; but both, for their Villany againſt the Worſhip and People of God, ſtand Bound over to Anſwer it at the Eternal Judgment.

99. Ver. 17. And Cain knew his Wife, and ſhe conceived and bare Enoch; and he built a City, and called the Name of the City after the Name of his Son Enoch.

Cain's Wife was his Siſter, or near Kinſwoman; for ſhe ſprang of the ſame Loyns with himſelf; becauſe his Mother was the Mother of all living. Gen. 3. 20.

This Wife bare him a Son; for whoſe ſake, as it ſeems, he built the City. Hence note, That Men who are ſhut out of Heaven, will yet uſe ſome means to be Honourable on Earth. Cain being accurſed of God, yet builds him a City; the Renown of which Act, that it might not be forgotten, he calleth it after the Name of his Son. Much like this was that Carnal Act of blaſted Abſalom; becauſe he had no Child, he would erect a Pillar, which muſt forſooth be called Abſalom's Place, not after the Name of Abſalom, to keep his Name in remembrance upon Earth. 2 Sam. 18. 18.

And he built a City, &c. Note, That it is the Deſign of Satan, and the deceitful Heart of Man, to labour to quiet a Guilty Conſcience, not by Faith in the Blood of Chriſt, but by over much Buſineſs in the things of this World.

100. And called the Name of the City after the Name of his Son Enoch. Although Cain had a mind to keep up his Name with Fame in the World, yet he would not venture to dedicate the City to his own Name; that would have been too groſs; and perhaps others would have called it, The City of the Murtherer; but he calleth it after the Name of his Son, his Son Enoch; whom he pretended was a Man both taught, and dedicate, as it ſeems his Name imports. Hence Note again, That Men who themſelves are accurſed of God, will yet put as fair gloſſes on their Actions, as their hypocritical Hearts can invent. Who muſt this City be dedicated to, but to him whom Cain had dedicated and taught. I will not ſay that in truth he gave him to God, for that his rebrobate Heart would not ſuffer; but being given up of God, yet retaining, with Saul, Conſiderations of Honour: Therefore, as is the Cuſtome of ungodly Hypocrites, he would put the beſt ſhow on his ungodly Actions.

Thus Saul, when he had received the Sentence of the Lord againſt him; yet, Turn again with me (ſaith he to Samuel) yet honur me now before the people, and before Iſrael: So the Money wherewith the High-Prieſts and Scribes had bought the Life, and obtained the Death of Chriſt; with that they make ſome ſhew of Godlineſs, in buying with it a piece of Ground to bury Strangers in. 1 Sam. 15. 30. Mat. 27. 3, 4, 5, 6, 7.

101. Ver. 18. And unto Enoch was born Irad, and Irad begat Mehujael, and Mehujael begat Methuſael, and Methuſael begat Lamech.

Theſe are the Off-ſpring of Cain; the Engliſh of whoſe Names, if the Nature and Diſtance of the Perſons were according, they might well be called, with abhorrence, the Brood of wicked Cain, even the Generation whom the Lord had curſed, notwithſtanding Enoch was their Father. Enoch begat Irad, a wild Aſs; Irad begat Mehujael, one preſumptuous above meaſure, his Name ſignifies, One teaching God. But who hath directed the Spirit of the Lord, or ſhall any teach God knowledge? The Son of this Man was Methuſael, asking Death, the true Fruit of all ſuch preſumptuous Ones, (his Confidence ſhall be rooted out of his Tabernacle, and it ſhall bring him to the King of Terrors,) his Son was Lamech, one poor, or ſmitten: The firſt, that, as we read, did break the Order of God in the Matter of Marriage. Job 21. 22. Iſa. 40. 13. Job 18. compare Verſe 4, with Verſe 14.

Ver. 19. And Lamech took unto him two Wives, the Name of the one was Adah, and the Name of the other Zillah.

102. This Man was the firſt that brake the firſt Inſtitution of God concerning Marriage. He took unto him two Wives. The New-Teſtament ſays, Let every man have his own wife. And ſo ſaid the Law in its firſt Inſtitution: Therefore plurality of Wives firſt came into practice by the Seed of curſed Cain, and for a time was ſuffered in the World through the hardneſs of Man's Heart.

Ver. 20, & 21. And Adah bear Jabel, he was the Father of ſuch as dwell in Tents, and of ſuch as have Cattel.

103. And his Brother's Name was Jubal; he was the Father of all ſuch as handle the Harp and Organ.

Jabel ſignifies bringing, or budding; Jubal, bringing, or fading. So then in theſe two Sons might be ſhewed unto us the World, as it is in its utmoſt Glory: That is, it brings Buds, it brings Fading: To day in the Field, to morrow in the Oven: All fleſh is graſs, and all the goodlineſs thereof, as the flower of the field. The graſs withereth, the flower fadeth, becauſe the Spirit of the Lord bloweth upon it, ſurely the people is graſs. Iſa. 40. 6, 7, 8.

And obſerve in theſe, the laſt was the Muſical One. Indeed, the Spirit of the World, after things have budded, is ſo far off from remembring that they again muſt fade; that then it begins its Requiem; then it ſaith to it ſelf, Eat, drink, and be merry; then it is for handling the Harp and Organ. Luk. 12. 16, 17, 18, 19, 20.

Ver. 22. 104. And Zillah she also bare Tubal-Cain, an Instructer of every Artificer in Brass and Iron: and the Sister of Tubal-Cain was Naamah.

Tubal-Cain, a worldly Possession; and Naamah, one that by her Name should be beautiful. Lamech his Fruit then was, a budding, fading, worldly Possession, with a little deceitful, vain Beauty; for Favour is deceitful, and Beauty is vain, but a Woman that feareth the Lord, she shall be praised. Prov. 31. 30.

Ver. 23. 105. And Lamech said unto his Wives, Adah and Zillah, Hear my voice, ye Wives of Lamech, hearken unto my speech; for I have slain a man to my wounding, and a young man to my hurt.

He that sticks not to exceed in one Point, will not fear to transgress in another: He had hardned his Heart, by breaking the modest and orderly Bounds of Marriage, and so fitted himself to shed Blood, or do any other wickedness.

Hearken to me, ye Wives. Lustful Men break their minds to their fleshly Companions (sometimes) sooner than to wiser Counsellors: Even as Ahab, in the business of the Vineyard of Naboth, breaks his mind to that ungodly Jezabel his Wife.

I have slain a man to my wounding. Who, or what Man this murthered Person was, therein the Word is silent: Yet this Lamech being the Son of a bloody Murtherer, 'tis possible he was some godly Man, one of Adam's other Children, or of his Grand-Children, the Son of Seth: for these Sons of Cain, and namely this in special (as it seems) took not heed to the Mark wherewith God branded Cain; but like Belshazzer, he hardned his heart, though he knew it, and would turn Murtherer also. Dan. 5. 18. —22.

I have slain a man to my wounding. The Guilt of Blood who can bear? or who can help himself thereby? It is a wounding thing, it is a hurtful thing; he that sheds Man's Blood wrongfully, cannot establish himself thereby. The Jews thought to have preserved themselves and Countrey by killing Jesus Christ; but this so provoked the Justice of God, that for this things sake he sent the Gentiles upon them to burn up their City; who when they were come, if Stories be true, slew of them Eleven hundred thousand; and those of them that were taken alive, were sold to who would buy them, Thirty a Penny. Ye shed blood (says God) and shall you possess the Land? ye stand upon your sword, ye work abomination, and ye defil'd every one his neighbour's wife, and shall ye possess the Land? Mat. 22. 6, 7. Ezek. 33. 25, 26.

Ver. 24. 106. If Cain shall be avenged seven fold, truly Lamech seventy and seven fold.

Though wicked Men may be willingly ignorant of that part of the Judgments of God, that are to pre-monish them, that they do not that wicked thing for which the Judgment was executed; yet if there be any thing like Favour mixed with the Judgment, of that they will take notice, to encourage themselves to Evil: Even as this ungodly Person, he would not be stopped from Blood by the Judgment of God upon Cain; but rather, as it seems, because the Judgment was not speedily executed, his heart was fully set in him to do evil. Much like that of the Jews, who because Jehoiakim had slain Uriah the Prophet, and yet God spared the Land; therefore make that an argument to prevail with Zidekiah to kill Jeremiah also. Eccl. 8. 11. Jer. 26. 20, 21, 22, 23.

If Cain shall be avenged seven fold, truly Lamech seventy and seven fold. Give wicked Men leave to judge of themselves, and they will pass a Sentence favourable enough. Though Lamech had not pity when he spilt Blood; yea, though the Judgment of God upon Cain could not hold his murderous Hands: yet now he is Guilty, let him but make a Law in the Case, and wo be to him that killeth Lamech: Vengeance shall be taken of him seventy fold and seven. Joab could with pitiless hands spill the Blood of more righteous Men than himself, not regarding what became of their Souls: But when his Blood was by vengeance required for the same, then he would take Sanctuary at the Horns of the Altar. But Judgment is not wholly left to Men, the Lord is Judge himself; before whom both Cain, and Lamech, and all their Successors shall be Arraigned, and receive just Doom, and that never to be reversed. 1 Kings 2. 28.

Ver. 25. 107. And Adam knew his Wife again, and she bare a Son, and called his Name Seth; for God said she hath appointed me another Seed instead of Abel whom Cain slew.

Now we have done, for a while, with Cain, and are come again to the Church of God. Cain had slain Abel, and by that means, for a while, had greatly suppressed the flourishing of Religion; in which time his own Brood began to be mighty upon Earth; so encreasing, as if Religion was put to an end for ever. But behold their Disappointment! Adam knew his Wife again, (for Adam's Family was then the True Church of God;) or take Adam for a Type of Christ, and his Wife for a Type of the Church, and then this Observation followeth; namely, That so long as Christ and the Church hath to do with one another, it is in vain for Cain to think of suppressing Religion.

Adam knew his Wife again. If Eve had now been Barren, or Adam had Died without further Issue, then Cain might have carried the day; but behold another Seed! a Seed to stand in Abel's place: Therefore she called his Name Seth; that is, set or put, as namely, in the room of Abel, to stand up for, and to defend the Truth against all the Army and Power of Cain: As Paul also saith of himself, I am set, or put, for the defence of the Gospel. This Man therefore, so far as can be gathered, was the first that put check to the Outrage of Cain and his Company. But mark some Observations about him. Phil. 1. 17.

108. 1. He was set in the stead or place of Abel; not an Inch behind him, but even at the place where his Blood was spilt: So that he that will revive lost Religion, must avow it as God's Abels have done before him: Every Talker cannot do this. The Blood that was shed before his Face, must not put check to his godly Stomach; yea, he must say to Religion, as Ruth said once to her Mother, Where thou diest, I will die, and there will I be buried. This is the way to revive and to maintain the Ways of God, in despite of bloody Cain. Ruth 1. 16, 17.

2. This Seth, that was set to put check to Cain, did not do it of his own Brain, but the Hand of God was principal in the Work:

God

God (said she) hath appointed me another Seed, to be set in the place of Abel. And indeed it is otherwise in vain, when Religion is once suppressed, to think it should ever revive again. Alas! where is the Man, if he want God's Spirit, that will care for the flourishing state of Religion? and that in truth will make the Lord his
Jer. 30. 17. delight: This is Zion, whom no man seeketh for,
1 Kings 12. 16. or seeketh after. All Men here say, See to thine own House, David. But when Seth comes, then the ground is made good again; then a living Saint is found to stand and maintain that Truth which but now his Brother bled for. When Acts 12. 1, 2, 3. James was killed, Peter stands up, &c. And therefore Seth is said to be another Seed, a Man of another Spirit: One who was principled with a Spirit beyond and above the Spirit of the World. Another Seed, One that was spirited for God's Word, and God's Worship, and that would maintain his Brother's Cause.

3. Observe, That when Seth maintains his Brother's Lot, you hear no more of the Brood of Cain. And indeed, the way to weary out God's Enemies, it is to maintain, and make good
Jam. 4. 7. the Front against them: Resist the Devil, and he will flie. Now if the Captain, their King Apollion, be made to yield, how can his Fol-
Rev. 12. 9. lowers stand their ground? The Dragon, the Devil, Satan, he was cast out into the earth, and his Angels were cast out with him. But
Ver. 7, 8, 12. how? It was by fighting: Michael and his Angels fought with the Dragon, and overcame him by the Blood of the Lamb, by the Word of their Testimony, and by not loving of their lives unto the death.

4. Let this, in the last place, serve for Persecutors, That when you have cast down many Ten thousands, and also the Truth to the Ground; there is yet a Seth, another Seed behind, that God hath appointed to stand in the stead of his Brethren, by whom you will certainly be put to flight, and made to cease from oppressing the Truth.

Ver. 26. And unto Seth, to him also there was born a Son, and he called his Name Enos: Then began men to call upon the Name of the Lord.

109. The Holy Ghost, in recording the Birth of Enos, goeth out of his ordinary style, in that he doubleth the mentioning of his Father, with respect to the Birth of this Son. And indeed it is worth the observing; for it staggereth the Faith of some, to think that the Man that makes good the Ground of a murthered Brother, should not leave Issue behind him: But to Seth, to him was born a Son. Our faithfulness to the Truth, shall be no hinderance to the flourishing state of our Off-spring, take them either for the fleshly or spiritual Seed of God's Servants, but Sons, (especially in the latter sence, if we truly stand by the Word of God) shall surely be born unto us.

And unto Seth, to him also was born a Son, and he called his Name Enos. Enos, a Man; not a Devil, like Cain, but a Man; or, a Man that was miserable in this World, for the sake and Cause of God; for it seems, as was his Father, so was he, even both given up to maintain God's Truth; which cannot be done but with great hazard, so long as Cain or his Off-spring remain. His Father therefore, by his very Name, did offer him up to bare all Hardships for the Name and Cause of God: Behold I send you forth (saith Christ) as Lambs in the midst of Wolves. In effect, he called their Name Enos, Men to be acquainted with Grief and Miseries: But mark, Then began men to call upon the Name of the Lord.

Then, when Seth maintained Abel's ground, 110.
and when Enos endured all Miseries for the same: For indeed this makes Spectators believe that Religion is more than a fictitious Notion: The Hardships, Miseries, and Blood of the Saints, will make Men, otherwise heedless, consider and ponder their Cause aright.

Then began. For, as I also before have hinted, the Out-rage of bloody Cain did put, for a time, a stop to the flourishing state of God's Worship; which in all probability was not so little as half a hundred Years, even till Seth, and the Son of Seth, stood up to maintain the same: But then, then men began (more Men than Seth and Enos) to call upon the Name of the Lord.

Note again, That all True Religion beginneth with Fervent Prayer: Or thus, That when Men begin to be Servants to God, they begin it with calling upon him. Thus did Saul, Be- Acts 9. hold he prayeth: And, Lord have mercy upon me, is the first of the Groans of a sanctified Heart.

The Margin hath it, They began to call themselves by the Name of the Lord: As God saith in another place, My Name is called on them. The Disciples were called Christians, (nay, the Saints are called the Annointed Ones, and the Church 1 Cor. 12. is called Christ.) But note, That fervent Prayer 12.
ends in Faith and Confidence in God. They called themselves by the Name; they counted themselves not from a vain and groundless Opinion, but through the Faith they had in the Mercy of God, The Saints and holy People of God.

They began to publish themselves, in Contradistinction to the Off-spring of Cain, the holy People of God. Wherefore, a Separation from the Wicked began betimes; the one going by the Name of the Sons of God; the other, by the Sons and Chap. 6.
Daughters of Men: Then began men to call upon 1, 2.
the Name of the Lord.

CHAP. V.

111. Ver 1. THis is the Book of the Generation of Adam: in the day that God created Man, in the likeness of God made he him.

The Holy Ghost having thus largely treated of Cain and his Off-spring, and of the Head made against him by Seth and Enos, and of the good success that followed, he now comes to treat of the Church in particular, and of the flourishing state of the same.

This is the Book. The Holy Ghost cuts off the Genealogy of Cain, accounting him none of the Race of the Church, although before he was within the pale thereof. John observing this, calls him, a Child of that wicked one, as our Lord also accounted Judas. Wherefore, he here begins his Book again, that this wicked

Gen. 5. 28. Race might be quite excluded: Let them be blotted out of the book of the living, and not written with the righteous.

In the day that God created Man, in the likeneſs of God made he him. Although by this new Beginning the Holy Ghoſt excludeth Cain, yet he fetcheth the Genealogy of the Church from the Day that Man was created; intimating that God, in the very Act of Creation, had a ſpecial Intention to plant him a Church in the World; and therefore, even before Sin was in the World, the Image of God was upon Man, as a Token of his ſpecial Reſpect, and of the great Delight that he intended to take in that Creatnre above all that he had made.

Prov. 8. 30, 31.

112. Ver. 2. Male and Female created he them, and bleſſed them, and called their Name Adam, in the day when they were created.

When Adam was created, the Lord created two in one: So when Chriſt, the Head of the Church, was choſen, the Church was alſo choſe in him.

Eph. 1. 4. And bleſſed them. With the Bleſſing of Generation: A Type of the Bleſſing of Regeneration that was to be by Chriſt in the Church, according to that which is written, So ſhall thy Seed be.

And called their Name Adam, in the day that they were created. So that in the Man the Woman is included: Neither is the man without the woman, nor the woman without the man in the Lord: For the Holy Ghoſt, in the Work of the New Creation, of which this Creation was a Type, counteth not by Male and Female, but ye are all one in Chriſt Jeſus. Wherefore, Women are not to be excluded out of the Means of Salvation; nay, they have, if they Believe, a ſpecial Right to all the Promiſes of Grace that God hath made to his Saints in all Ages: Yea, ſhe ſhall be ſaved, though ſhe bare Children, if ſhe continue in the Faith, and Charity, and Holineſs with Sobriety.

1 Cor. 11. 11. Gal. 3. 28. 1 Tim. 2. 15.

113. Ver. 3. And Adam lived an hundred and thirty years, and he begat a Son in his own likeneſs, after his image, and called his name Seth.

1 Chro. 1. 1. Here alſo by the Book of Chronicles, the Holy Ghoſt carrieth away the Genealogy, becauſe Abel had no Children, ſaying Adam, Seth, &c.

An hundred and thirty years. Behold the rage of Hell! for until Seth ſtood in Abel's place, Religion was greatly hindred, and that was after the World had ſtood an Hundred and thirty Years. Indeed, Abel, while he had his Breath, did hold it up in the World; but Cain, who was of that wicked one, ſmote him and Religion both to the ground.

And begat a Son in his own likeneſs. Who can bring a clean thing out of an unclean? Not one. If the Father be polluted with the inward filth of Sin, the Son muſt needs be like him: I was ſhapen in iniquity (ſaid David) and in ſin did my mother conceive me. Seth then was no better than we by Nature, but came into the World in the Blood of his Mother's filth: What is Man, that he ſhould be clean! or he that is born of a Woman, that he ſhould be righteous!

Job 14. 4. Pſal. 5. 5. Job 15. 14.

This therefore ſhould teach us not to count of our Election, and of our Effectual Calling but by the Word of God. Seth by Nature was a ſinful Man, and yet the choſen Servant of God; the firſt that took up God's Quarrel after the Death of bleſſed Abel.

This ſhould alſo help us to hold up the Bucklers againſt the Kingdom of the Devil and Hell. Seth was ſubject to like Infirmities with us, and yet he got ground of the Children of Iniquity. I know a ſenſe of our own Infirmities is apt to weaken our hand in ſo mighty an Undertaking, but it ſhould not: Although we be like old Adam by Nature, yet God is able to make us ſtand.

114. Ver. 4. And the days of Adam, after he begat Seth, were eight hundred years, and he begat Sons and Daughters.

Adam therefore, as a Type of Chriſt, reigned in the Church almoſt a Thouſand Years. The World therefore beginning thus, doth ſhew us how it will end; namely, by the Reign of the ſecond Adam, as it began with the Reign of the firſt.

These long-liv'd Men therefore ſhew us the Glory that the Church ſhall have in the latter Day, even in the Seventh thouſand Years of the World, that Sabbath when Chriſt ſhall ſet up his Kingdom on Earth, according to that which is written, They lived and reigned with Chriſt a thouſand years. They:— Who? The Church of God, according alſo as it was with Adam. Therefore they are ſaid by John to be Holy, as well as Bleſſed: Bleſſed and Holy are they that have part in the firſt reſurrection, on ſuch the ſecond death hath no power; but they ſhall be Prieſts of God, and of Chriſt, and ſhall reign with him a thouſand years. In all which time the wicked in the World ſhall forbear to Perſecute, as did alſo the Brood of wicked Cain in the days of Adam, Seth, &c. Hence therefore we find in the firſt place the Dragon chained for theſe thouſand years.

Rev. 20. 1, 2, 3, 4.

115. Ver. 5. And all the days that Adam lived were nine hundred and thirty years, and he died.

Adam therefore lived to ſee the Tranſlation of Enoch: In whoſe Tranſlation a Conqueſt was got over all the Enemies of his Soul and Body: So Chriſt ſhall Reign in and among his Saints till all his Enemies be deſtroyed. The laſt Enemy that ſhall be deſtroyed is Death; which ſhall be ſwallowed up when the Members of that glorious Head have put on Incorruption, and their Mortal ſhall have put on Immortality. Adam's Reigning therefore until Enoch's Tranſlation, looks like a Prophecy of the Perfection of Chriſt's Kingdom: For he ſhall reign till he hath delivered up the Kingdom to God, even the Father: As Adam, till his Enoch was tranſlated and took up to God.

116. Ver. 6. And Seth lived an hundred and five years, and begat Enos.

Seth therefore ſtood by the Truth of God a long time, without much help or encouragement from Man; which was a great Tryal to his Spirit, and Proof of the Truth of his Faith, and tended much to the Perfection of his Patience. Somewhat like this was that of Paul, who had no Man ſtood with him when he ſtood before Nero.

Seth was ſet in the ſtead of Abel, to keep the Gap againſt the Children of Hell; which, by the Grace of God, he faithfully did, even till Enos was ſent to his Aid and Aſſiſtance.

Seth

Seth therefore was the Forlorn Hope of the Church in those days: So set of God to put check to the Enemy, until the Church was increased, and more able to defend her self from the Outrage.

This therefore should teach the Saints of 1 Sam. 10. 8 Chap. 13. 8,9,10,11, 12,13,14 God, especially those that are sent before, against the Off-spring of Cain, to stand their ground, and not to shrink like Saul, till God shall send others to take part with them.

Thus David stood, as it were, by himself, against the wicked that was in his day; which
Ps. 94. 16. made him cry, Who will rise up for me against the evil Doers, or who will stand up for me against the workers of iniquity.

117. And Seth lived after he begat Enos eight hundred
Ver. 7. and seven years, and he begat Sons Daughters.

Hence also we may gather great Encouragement who are set in the Front of the Army of the Lamb, against the Army and Regiment of Cain. Seth, saith the Spirit, was set in the stead of Abel, there as Forlorn, to defend Religion; Must he not now be swallowed up? Will the Blood-Hounds let him escape? Behold, therefore his Life must be accounted a Wonder! as 2 Cor. 6. 9. was also that of Paul, to stand Eight hundred Years against such a murderous Crew, and yet to have his Breath in his Nostrils! Our times are in thy hands, and thou, Lord, holdest our Soul in Life.

Ver. 8. And all the days of Seth were nine hundred and twelve years, and he died.

His Life was therefore Eighten years shorter than that of Adam: he lived Fifty five years after Enoch, and died Six hundred and fourteen years before the Flood.

118. And Enos lived ninety years, and begat Cainan.
Ver. 9. Cainan signifieth a Buyer, or Owner. Let it be with respect to Religion, and then the sence may be, that he had this Priviledge in Religion by the hazard of his Father and Grand-father's Life; they bought it for him, and made him
Gal. 2. the Owner of it: As Paul saith, He gave not place to the false Apostles, that the truth of the Gospel might continue with the Galatians. As Judg. 9. 17. Jonathan also said to Shechem, My Father fought for you, and adventured his life far, and delivered you out of the hand of Midian.; namely, that they might still be Owners of the Inheritance that the Lord had given them. This shews us then, that the fruit of a constant standing to the Word of God, is, That the Generations yet unborn shall be made the Possessors and Owners of it.

Ver. 10. And Enos lived after he begat Cainan eight hundred and fifteen years, and begat Sons and Daughters.

119. He lived then to see his Son enjoy the fruits of his own Constancy to the Truth, so long a time as Eight hundred years, &c. as we hope God's People now may do. 'Tis true, they now do own the Truth with hazard, and do hold it up by enduring much misery, according to the rage of wicked Men; but, I say, 'tis hoped others will reap the Fruits of our Travels, and that some of us shall live to see it, as Enos lived to see his Cainan possess Religion eight hundred years.

Ver. 11. And all the days of Enos were nine hundred and five years, and he died.

He lived then One hundred fifty three Years after Enoch, and died Five hundred and sixteen years before the Flood.

Ver. 12. And Cainan lived seventy years, and begat Mahalaleel.

120. Mahalaleel signifieth Praising God. Wherefore he was born in Settled Times, wherein Religion met with little or no Molestation: It began to be as Hereditary in the days of blessed Cainan; wherefore it was requisite that the very next that should possess the Truth, should
Rev. 11. 15. spend their days in Praising God. And thus it will be at the down-fall of Antichrist: After Chap. 19. 1,2,3,4,5,6 this (saith John) I heard a great voice of much people in Heaven, saying, Allelujah! Salvation, and glory, and honour, and power unto the Lord our God.—— And a voice came out of the Temple, saying, Praise our God, all ye his Servants; and ye that fear him, both small and great.

Isa. 14. 7,8. The whole Earth (saith the Prophet) is at rest and quiet, they break forth into singing; Yea, the Fir-tree rejoyceth at thee, (O thou Brood of the blood-thirsty Cain,) and the Cedars of Lebanon, saying, Since thou wast laid down, no Feller is come up against us.

Ver. 13. And Cainan lived after he begat Mahalaleel eight hundred and forty years, and begat Sons and Daughters.

121. God gave him a long Possession and Enjoyment of the Fruits of his Father's Labours: They sowed (as Christ said) and he was entred into their labours: They sowed in Tears, and He reaped in Joy. Mahalaleel, or Praise our God, was the Language of those Times.

Ver. 14. And all the days of Cainan were nine hundred and ten years, and he died.

He lived then Two hundred and forty eight years after Enoch, and died Four hundred twenty one years before the Flood.

Ver. 15. And Mahalaleel lived sixty and five years, and begat Jared.

Acts 9. 29, 30, 31. Jared signifies Ruling, and sheweth us what is the holy Fruits of Peace and Thanksgiving in the Church; to wit, Government according
122. to the Testament of Christ. It is hard to have all things according to Rule, in the day of the Churches Affliction; because of the Weakness and Fearfulness of some; and because possibly those who have most skill in that matter, may for a time be laid up in Chains: but now when the Church hath rest and quietness, then as she praiseth God, so she conceiveth and bringeth forth Governors, and good Government and
1 Chron. 28. 3, 6. Rule among her Members. David, a Man of Blood, could not build that House to the Lord, which peaceable Solomon, that Man of Rest, afterwards did. When Armies are Engaged, and hot in Battel, 'tis harder to keep them in Rank and File, than when they have rest, and time for Discipline. Jared therefore is the Fruits of Thanksgiving, as Thanksgiving is the Fruits of Peace and Possession.

Ver. 16. And Mahalaleel lived after he begat Jared eight hundred and thirty years, and begat Sons and Daughters.

He lived not only to give Thanks unto God, but to shew to all that he gave Thanks in truth, by submitting his Neck the rest of the hundred of years that he lived, to the holy Law and Word of God.

123. A good Rule to Prove People by; for all that pretend to give Thanks for Liberty, put not their Neck under the Yoke, but rather
Gal. 5. 13. uſe their Liberty as an occaſion for the fleſh, than by Love to ſerve and advantage one another
1 Pet. 2. 16. in the things of the Kingdom of Chriſt; but as the Bramble ſaid to the reſt of the Trees, ſo ſaith Chriſt to ſuch feigned Thankſgivers, If in Judg. 9. 15. truth ye anoint me King over you, then come and put your truſt under my ſhadow; ſubmit to my Law, and be governed by my Teſtament: Let your Thankſgiving bring forth Jared, and walk with God in the Days of Jared.

Ver. 17. And all the days of Mahalaleel were eight hundred ninety and five years, and he died.

124. He lived then Three hundred and three years after Enoch, and died Three hundred ſixty ſix years before the Flood.

Ver. 18. And Jared lived an hundred ſixty and two years, and begat Enoch.

Enoch, is, taught, or dedicate: The true effect of Rule or Government, be it good or bad: in Cain's Poſterity it was bad; for an evil Tree cannot bring forth good Fruit: But Enoch here, we are to underſtand, one taught in, and dedicated unto God. This Enoch therefore was a Son that would hear the Rules, and ſubmit Prov. 25. 12. to the Government of his Father Jared. As an Ear-ring of Gold, and an Ornament of fine Gold; ſo is a wiſe Reprover upon an obedient Ear.

Ver. 19. And Jared lived after he begat Enoch eight hundred years, and begat Sons and Daughters.

125. He lived therefore to ſee the Fruit of his good Rule and Government in the Church, even to ſee his teachable and dedicated Son caught up to God, and to his Throne. A good Encouragement to all Rulers in the Houſe of God, and alſo to all godly Parents to Teach and Rule in the fear of God; for that is the way to part with Church-Members, and Children with comfort; yea, that is the way, if we ſhall outlive them, to ſend them to Heaven, and to God before us.

Ver. 20. And all the days of Jared were nine hundred ſixty and two years, and he died.

126. He lived then Three hundred thirty five years after Enoch, and died Two hundred thirty four before the Flood.

Ver. 21. And Enoch lived ſixty and five years, and begat Methuſelah.

Methuſelah ſignifieth, ſpoyling his Death: This therefore is the true Fruits of one that is truly taught in, and dedicate to the Service of God, as Enoch was; by this means he ſpoileth his Death: Wherefore he adds, And Enoch walked with God. Walking with God, ſpoileth Death, or overcomes it, or it ſhall be prevented, he ſhall not be hurt therewith: As Chriſt
Joh. 8. 52. ſaith, If a man keep my ſayings, he ſhall never ſee death.

Ver. 22. And Enoch walked with God, after he begat Methuſelah, three hundred years, and begat Sons and Daughters.

127. Theſe words [after he begat Methuſelah] may have reſpect either to his beginning to walk with God, or to the number of the Years that he lived after the Birth of Methuſelah, or both.

If it reſpect the firſt, then it ſheweth that the only encouragement that a Sinner hath to walk with God, it is to ſee Methuſelah, or his Death ſpoiled: For when a Man ſeeth Death, 1 Cor. 15. 55, 56, 57, and all Evils, conquered and overcome, then 58. his Soul is encouraged in Holineſs. No encouragement to walking with God like this: Enoch walked with God after he begat Methuſelah: As Paul ſaith, Now being made free from ſin, Rom. 6. (which indeed is the Sting of Death,) you have 22, 23. your fruit unto holineſs, and the end everlaſting life.

If it reſpect the ſecond, then it ſhews us the invincible Nature of true Faith, (for by Faith Enoch walked with God:) I ſay, it ſheweth us the invincible Nature of true Faith, in that it would hold up a Man in cloſe Communion with God for the ſpace of Three hundred Years.

He walked with God three hundred years. How will the Converſation of Enoch riſe up in Judgment with this Generation, that walk not with God at all! Or if they do, do it ſo by fits, as if walking with God was but a work by the By.

He walked with God, and begat Sons and Daughters: And kept Houſe, and lived with his Wife, according to knowledge. This ſhews then, that it is Sin, not our lawful and honeſt Employment, that hindreth one's walking with God.

And all the days of Enoch were three hundred ſixty and five years. —— And Enoch walked with God, and he was not; for God took him. 128. Ver. 23, & 24.

The New-Teſtament ſaith, By Faith Enoch was tranſlated, that he ſhould not ſee death; and was not found, becauſe God had tranſlated him: for before his tranſlation he had this teſtimony, that he pleaſed God. Heb. 11. 5.

And all the days of Enoch were three hundred ſixty and five years. Enoch therefore lived here but a while; he was too good to live long in this World, the World was not worthy of him; neither would he be ſpared ſo long out of Heaven, for God took him. The end of walking with God, or the Path-way thereof, it leads Men to Heaven, to the enjoyment of the Glory of God. Thus alſo it was with bleſſed Elijah, he 2 Kings 2. followed God from place to place, till at length 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, he was caught up into Heaven. 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12.

A word or two more of Enoch. Jude obſerves, That he was the ſeventh from Adam: Cloſely intimating (as I conceive) that by him God prefigured the Reſurrection and End of the World: And intimated, That in the Seventh Great Day of the World this Reſurrection ſhould be, each Generation from Adam being a Type of a Thouſand Years: So that Enoch, the ſeventh from Adam, was a Type of the Seventh Thouſand, in which the Lord will Reign with his Church a Thouſand Years.

There are Two things in Enoch that incline me to this Opinion. Firſt, he crieth out, Behold the Lord comes! and then is tranſlated, Jude 14. that he ſhould not ſee Death: The right Poſture 15. and End of thoſe that ſhall live at the Day of God Almighty; and that ſhall, like Enoch, be found walking with God, when the Lord ſhall come from Heaven.

And Methuſelah lived an hundred eighty and ſeven years, and he begat Lamech. 129. Ver. 25.

Lamech ſignifieth poor, or ſmitten; wherefore I doubt, that the Apoſtaſie that you read of in the next Chapter, began either in the days of, or by,

by, this man: He being, as it seems, more dry and void of Grace than those that went before him; poor or smitten.

Hence note, That Faith and Godliness, though often it goeth from the Father to the Son, as from Seth to Enos, and from him to Cainan, yet it is not tied here, but runs according to Electing Love, as also do the Fruits thereof.

Vet. 26, & 27. And Methuselah lived after he begat Lamech seven hundred eighty and two years, and begat Sons and Daughters. And all the days of Methuselah were nine hundred sixty and nine years, and he dyed.

Methuselah, the spoyling of Death, is the longest Liver in the World; yet he dyed in the year that the Flood was upon the Earth; not by the Flood, but by the course of Nature, as also did Lamech his Son, for the wicked Reprobate only was swept away, by that according to the Apostle Peter.

Ver. 28, & 29. And Lamech lived an hundred eighty and two years, and begat a Son, and he called his Name Noah, saying, This same shall comfort us concerning our Work and toyl of our hands, because of the ground which the Lord hath cursed.

And called his name Noah. Noah signifieth Rest; his Name was therefore according to his Work, for he was a Preacher of Righteousness, which giveth Rest to all that embraceth it: Besides, it was he that prepared the Ark, the Place of Rest to the Church of God.

This same shall comfort us concerning our Work, and toyl of our hands, because of the Ground, because of the ground which the Lord hath cursed.

These words seem to carry in them, Repentance for the Apostacy that before was mentioned; This same shall comfort us, by restoring the Church to her former Rest, and by delivering us from the Toyl of our hands; for sin once admitted of in the Church, is not without much toyl Extirpated, and driven forth of the same: Yea sometimes it getteth such footing and root, that it cannot again be purged and destroyed, but by breaking the very Being of Levit. 14. 43, 44, 45. the Church where it is. Thus it was as to the case in hand, and is signified also by pulling down the House in which the Leprosie was; yea Rev. 2. 1, 2, 3. Ephesus it self was almost thus far infected, had not a Threatning prevented.

Because of the Ground which the Lord hath cursed. The Lord did curse it for the Sin of Adam: he also renewed the Curse to Cain, because he was guilty of the blood of his Brother. I incline also to think, that the Curse here mentioned, is the first, reiterated for the grievous Apostasie of this Congregation; according to that which is written, Levit. 26. 18, 19, 20, 21. If ye yet walk contrary unto me, I will punish you seven times more: I will bring seven times more plagues upon you, according to your sins.

Ver. 30. And Lamech lived after he begat Noah, five hundred ninety and five years, and begat Sons and Daughters.

Wherefore Lamech heard the preaching of Noah, who was the only Minister of God in those dayes, to recover the Church to Repentance from their Apostasie, which also Heb. 11. 7. he did in some good measure effect, while he condemned the World for their Unbelief.

Ver. 31. And all the dayes of Lamech were seven hundred seventy and seven years, and he died. He died five years before the Flood. Methuselah therefore was the longest Liver of those Godly that fell on the other side the Flood, for he died not before the very Year the Flood came, not by the Water, but before. The righteous is taken away from the evil to come; though, as the Prophet saith, no man of the wicked laid it to heart.

And Noah was five hundred years old: and Noah begat Shem, Ham and Japhet. Ver. 32.

CHAP. VI.

AND it came to pass, when men began to multiply upon the Earth, and Daughters were born unto them. 132. Ver 1.

Moses now leaveth the Genealogy for a while, and searcheth into the State and Condition of the Church, now after so long a time as its standing upwards of, or above a Thousand years: Where he presently findeth two things. 1. The Church declin'd. 2. And God provoked. Wherefore he maketh Inquiry into the Nature of the Churches sin; which he relateth in this following Chapter.

And it came to pass, when men began to multiply. The men here I understand to be the Children of Cain, the Church and Synagogue of Satan, because they are mentioned by way of Antithesis to the Church and Sons of God.

And Daughters were born unto them. A snare that was often used in the hand of the Devil, to intangle withall the Church of God; yea, and doth so usually speed, that it hath often been counted by him as infallible; so that this is the Doctrine of his Prophet Balaam, and it pre- Numb. 25. 1, 2. vailed, when all the Engines of Hell beside were Rev. 2. 14. prevented. The people began to commit whoredom with the Daughters of Moab. It may be this Child of Hell, in this his advice to Balak looked back to the Daughters of Cain, and calling to remembrance how of Old they intangled the Church, advertised him to put the same into practice again.

And the sons of God saw the Daughters of Men, that they were fair, and they took them Wives of all which they chose. 133. Ver. 2.

This was the way then of the Sons of Cain, to let their fair Daughters be shewed to the Prov. 22. Sons of God. For it seems all other their wiles 14. and devices were not able to bring the Church Eccl. 7. 26. and the World together, and to make them live as in one Communion: These to the Church was such, whose heart was Snares and Nets, and whose hands were bands to intangle and hold them from observing the Laws and Judgments of God.

And they took them Wives. First their Eye saw them, and then their Heart lusted after them. Thus the Devil deceived the Woman, and by this means perished Cursed Achan. Josh. 7. And Achan answered Joshua, Indeed I have sinned 20, 21. against the Lord, and thus and thus have I done: When I saw among the Spoyls a goodly Babilonish Garment, &c. then I coveted them.

Note therefore, that it is not good to behold with the Eye that which God hath forbid

Job 31. 1. bid us to touch with our hand. I made a Covenant with mine Eyes, ſaith Job: And again, if at unawares a thing was caſt before him, the beholding of which was of an intangling Nature, he forthwith would hold back his heart as with a Bridle, leſt the deſign of Hell ſhould be effected upon him. Virſ. 7.

Cruſh ſin then in the Conception, leſt it bring forth Death in thy Soul. 134.

Ver. 3. And the Lord ſaid, My Spirit ſhall not always ſtrive with man, for that he alſo is fleſh; yet his days ſhall be an hundred and twenty years.

By theſe words is aggravated the Sin of the Church, that ſhe would attempt to cloſe with, and hold a ſinfull Communion, againſt the Diſſwaſions of the Spirit of God.

My Spirit ſhall not alwayes ſtrive. To wit, my Spirit in Noah, for he was the only Preacher of Righteouſneſs to the Church in thoſe backſliding times.

By this then, I find, that the Doctrine of Noah, was, To declare againſt a ſinful Communion, or to command the Church, in the Name of God, that ſhe ſtill maintain a ſeparation from the curſed Children of Cain: As Jer. 15. 19. he ſaid to the Prophet Jeremiah, If thou ſeparate the precious from the vile, thou ſhalt be as my mouth.

Noah therefore had an hard task, when he preached this Doctrine among them: For this above all is hard to be born, for by this he condemned the World.

135. The firſt great quarrel therefore that God had with his Church, it was for their holding unwarrantable Communion with others. The Numb. 23. 9. Church ſhould always dwell alone, and not be reckoned among the Nations. The Church 1 Pet. 2. 9. is a choſen Generation, a royal Prieſthood, an holy Nation, a peculiar People: Therefore the work of the Church of God, is not to fall in with any ſinful Fellowſhip, or receive into their Communion the ungodly World, but to ſhew forth the praiſes and vertues of him who hath called them out from among ſuch Communicants into his marvellous Light.

My Spirit ſhall not alwayes ſtrive. Hence note, that the People that ſhall continue to grieve the Spirit of God, and to reſiſt the Doctrine of Noah, they are appointed for heavy Rev. 18. 4. Judgments. Come out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her ſins, and that ye receive not of her plagues. This becauſe thoſe (finally Impenitent) in Noahs time refuſed to doe, therefore the wrath of God overtook them, and ſwept them off the Face of the Earth.

Yet his days ſhall be an hundred and twenty years. Noah therefore began his preaching about the Four hundred and fourſcore year of his Life, which continning the ſpace of Sixſcore more, it reached to the day that the Flood came.

In which time doubtleſs his Faith was ſufficiently tryed, both by the hard Cenſures of the Hypocrites of the Church, and the open profane of the World, againſt whom he daily Gen. 3. 15. pronounced the Judgments of God for maintaining ther forbidden Communion.

Yet his days ſhall be an hundred and twenty years. God alſo would yet have Patience with theſe People, if peradventure they would repent, that his hand might not be upon them.

There were Giants in the Earth in thoſe days; and alſo after that, when the Sons of God came in unto the Daughters of men, and they bare Children unto them; the ſame became mighty men, which were of old, men of renown. 136. Ver. 4.

There were Giants in the Earth in thoſe days. Theſe words ſeem to be ſpoken, to ſhew us the hazards that Noah ran, while he preached the Truth of God: He incurred the Diſpleaſure of the Giants, which doubtleſs made all men tremble, and kept the whole World in aw: But Noah muſt ingage the Giants, he muſt not fear the Face of a Giant. This way God took alſo with Moſes, and with his people of Iſrael, they muſt go to poſſeſs the Land of the Giants, a people high and tall as the Cedars, a people of whom went that Pro- Deut. 9. 1, 2. verb, Who can ſtand before the Children of Anak? Chap. 3. 8, 9, 10, 11. They muſt not be afraid of Og the King of Baſhan, though his Head be as high as the ridge of an Houſe, and his Bedſtead a Bedſtead of Iron.

This ſhould teach us then not to fear the Faces of men; no, not the Faces of the mighty, not to fear them, I ſay, in the Matters of God, though they ſhould run upon us like a Giant.

Theſe Giants I ſuppoſe were the Children of Cain, becauſe mentioned as another ſort 137. than thoſe that were the Fruit of their forbidden and ungodly Communion: For he adds, And alſo after that, or beſides them, when the Sons of God came in unto the Daughters of Men, and they bare Children unto them; the ſame, or they alſo, became mighty men, which were of old, men of renown.

Then Noah found Giants every where: Giants in the World, and Giants in this confuſed Communion. And thus it is at this day; we do not only meet with Giants abroad, among the moſt ungodly and uncircumciſed in heart, but even among thoſe that ſeem to be of the Religious, among them we alſo meet with Giants; men mighty to oppoſe the Truth, and very profound to make ſlaughter: But mark the Iſa. 8. advice of the Lord, Fear not their fear, neither 13, 14. be afraid, but ſanctifie the Lord of Hoſts himſelf, (who is ſtronger than all the Giants that are upon the face of the Earth) and let him be your fear, and let him be your dread.

And when the Sons of God came in unto the Daughters of men, and they bare Children unto them, the ſame became mighty men; much like to the Giants: The Fruit therefore of ungodly Communion is monſtrous, and of a very ſtrange Complexion. They are like unto them that worſhipped the Lord, and ſerved their own gods 2 King. 17. alſo; or like to thoſe of the Church, of whom 24, 41. Nehemiah ſpeaks, that had mixed themſelves with the Children of Aſhdod, Ammon and Moab, Neh. 13. whoſe Children were a monſtrous Brood, that 23, 24. ſpake half the Language of Aſhdod, and could not ſpeak the Jews Language.

By both theſe ſorts of Giants was faithfull 138. Noah deſpiſed, and his Work for God condemned. In David's time alſo Goliah defied Iſ- 1 Sam. 17. rael, and ſo did his Brethren alſo: Giants, the 10. Sons of the Giant; but David and his ſervants 1 Chr. 20. muſt engage them, and fight them, though they 4, 5, 6, 7, 8. were Giants.

Mighty

Mighty men which were of old. Perſecution therefore, or the appearance of the Giants againſt the Servants of God, is no new buſineſs; not a thing of yeſterday, but of old, even when Noah did miniſter for God in the World: There were Giants in the Earth in thoſe days, to oppoſe him.

Men of Renown. Not for Faith and Holineſs, but for ſome other high Atchievements, may be, mighty to fight, and to ſhed Man's Blood; or to find out Arts, and the Nature of Things; both which did render them Famous, and Men to be noted in their Place. Such kind of Men
Numb. 16. 1, 2. might be Corah, Dathan, and their Company alſo; yet they oppoſed Moſes and Aaron, yea, God, his Way and Worſhip, and periſhed after an unheard of manner; as alſo did the Oppoſers of righteous Noah, in the day of the Flood.

139. Ver. 5. And God ſaw that the wickedneſs of man was great upon the earth, and that every imagination of the thought of his heart was only evil continually. The Margin ſaith, not only the Imaginations, but alſo the Purpoſes and Deſires.

Theſe words are to be underſtood, as ſtill reſpecting the Apoſtaſie that we read of in the Firſt and Second Verſes, and are (in my thoughts) to be taken as the Effect of their Degeneracy: For though it be true, that the beſt of Men, in their moſt holy and godly Behaviour, have wicked and ſinful Hearts; yet ſo long as they walk ſincerely according to the Rules preſcribed of God, there is no ſuch Character upon them; eſpecially as it ſtands related to the words that immediately follow; to wit, that it repented the Lord that he made them.

Theſe evil and wicked Purpoſes then were in ſpecial the fruit of their Apoſtaſie; for indeed, when Men are once fallen from God, they then, as the Judgment of God upon them, are given up to all unrighteouſneſs. Again, Apoſta-
Zech. 11 8. tizing Perſons are counted Abhorrers of God. Yet Perſons in this Condition will ſeek their own Juſtification, turning things up-ſide-down,
Jer. 2. 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37. traverſing their ways like the Dromedaries; bearing us ſtill in hand, that they ſtand not guilty of Sin, but that what they do is allowable, or winked at of God. Beſides, they ſay their Hearts are ſtill upright with God, and that they have not forſaken the ſimplicity of his way, of a wicked and ungodly Deſign, with an hundred more the like Pretences; all which are condemned of God, and held by him as abominable and vile.

140. Prov. 31. And God ſaw, &c. They covered their ſhame from Men, like the Adulterous Woman in the Proverbs, and would ſpeak with Oily Mouths, thereby to couzen the World; but God knew their Hearts, and had revealed their Sin to his Servant Noah; he therefore in the Spirit of God, as one alone, cried out againſt their wickedneſs.

Hence learn to judge of Apoſtates, not by their Words, nor Pretences, nor ungodly Coverings, whereby they may ſeek to hide themſelves from the ſtroke of a Convincing Argument, but judge them by the words of God; for however they think of themſelves, or would be accounted of others, God ſees their Wickedneſs is great.

And that every imagination of the thought of his heart, was only evil continually. If they think they have not ſinned; if they think they promote Religion; if they think to find out a Medium to make peace between the Seed of the Woman, and the wicked Seed of Cain; all is alike ungodly, they have forſaken the right way, they have diſſembled the known Truth, they have rejected the Word of the Lord; And what wiſdom or goodneſs is in them?

And it repented the Lord that he had made man on the earth, and it grieved him at the heart. Ver. 6.

141. Repentance is in us, a Change of the Mind; but in God, a Change of his Diſpenſations; for otherwiſe he repenteth not, neither can he; becauſe it ſtandeth not with the Perfection of his Nature: in him is no variableneſs, nor ſhadow of turning. Jam. 1. 17.

Wherefore, it is Man, not God, that turns: When Men therefore reject the Mercy and Ways of God, they caſt themſelves under his Wrath and Diſpleaſure; which, becauſe it is executed according to the Nature of his Juſtice, and the Severity of his Law, they miſs of the Mercy promiſed before: Which that we may Numb. 23. 19. know, thoſe ſhall one day feel that ſhall continue in final Impenitency. Therefore, God ſpeaking to their Capacity, he tells them, he hath repented of doing them good: It repented 1 Sam. 15. the Lord that he had made Saul King: And yet 35. this Repentance was only a change of the Diſpenſation, which Saul by his wickedneſs had put himſelf under; otherwiſe the Strength, the Eternity of Iſrael, will not lie, nor repent. Verſe 29.

The ſumm is therefore, That Men had now by their wickedneſs put themſelves under the Juſtice and Law of God; which Juſtice, by reaſon of its Perfection, could not endure they ſhould abide on the Earth any longer; and therefore now, as a juſt Reward of their Deed, they muſt be ſwept from the face thereof.

And it grieved him at the heart. This is ſpoken to ſhew, that he did not feign, but was ſimple and ſincere in his Promiſe of Remiſſion and Forgiveneſs of Sins, had they kept cloſe to his Word, according as he had commanded. Wherefore God's Heart went not with them in their back-ſliding, but left them, and was offended with them.

142. Ver. 7. And the Lord ſaid, I will deſtroy man whom I have created, from off the earth, both man and beaſt, (or from Man to Beaſt,) and the creeping things, and the fowls of the air; for it repenteth me that I have made them.

This may be either underſtood as a Threatning, or a Determination: If as a Threatning, then it admitted of time for Repentance; but if it was ſpoken as a Determination, then they had ſtood out the Day of Grace, and had laid themſelves under unavoidable Judgment. If it reſpected the firſt, then it was in order to the Miniſtry of Noah, or in order to the effecting the Ends of its ſending; which were either to ſoften or harden, to bring to repentance, or to leave them utterly and altogether inexcuſable. But if it reſpected the ſecond, as it might, then it was pronounced as an effect of God's Diſpleaſure, for their abuſe of his Patience, his Miniſter, and Word: As it alſo was with Iſrael of old; they mocked the Meſ-

2 Chron. 36. 16. ſengers of God, and deſpiſed his Words, and miſuſed his Prophets, until the wrath of the Lord aroſe againſt his People, till there was no remedy.

143. And the Lord ſaid, I will deſtroy man whom I have created. This word Created, is added, on purpoſe to ſhew that the World is under the power of his Hand; for who can deſtroy, but he that can create? or who can ſave alive, when the Maker of the World is ſet againſt them:

Jam. 4. 12. There is one Law-giver, who is able to ſave, and to deſtroy. And again, Fear him who can deſtroy both body and ſoul in hell. In both which places Power to Deſtroy is inſinuated from his Power and Godhead: As he ſaith in another place, All Souls are mine; the Soul that ſins, it ſhall die.

Both man and beaſt, and the creeping thing, and the fowl, &c. Thus it was at firſt the Sin of a Man brought a Curſe and Judgment upon other the Creatures whom God had made: As

Rom. 8. Paul ſays, The whole Creation groans.

But again, This Threatning upon the Beaſts, the Fowls, and Creeping things, might ariſe from Joſh. 6. 20. 2 Chron. 35. 21. a double Conſideration: Firſt, To ſhew, That when God intends the Deſtruction of Man, he will alſo deſtroy the Means of his Preſervation. Or, Secondly, To ſhew, That when he is determined to execute his Judgments, he will cut off all that ſtands in his way: he could not deſtroy the Earth without a Flood, and preſerve the Beaſt, &c. alive; therefore he deſtroys them alſo.

For it repenteth me that I have made them. This ſeems to fall under the Firſt Conſideration, to wit, That God repented that he made the Beaſts, and Fowls; becauſe now they were uſed to ſuſtain his implacable Enemies.

Ver. 8.

144. But Noah found Grace in the Eyes of the Lord. This word Grace, muſt in ſpecial be obſerved; for Grace is it which delivereth from all deſerved Judgments and Deſtruction.

Noah, by Nature was no better than other Men: Therefore the reaſon why he periſhed not with others, it was becauſe he found Grace

Eph. 2. 8. in the Eyes of the Lord. Ye are ſaved by Grace. And thus was Noah, as is evident, becauſe he

Heb. 11. 7. was ſaved by Faith; for Faith reſpecteth not

Rom. 4. 16. Works, but Grace: Ye are ſaved by Grace through Faith. As Paul ſays again, Therefore it is of Faith that it might be by Grace, &c. We muſt therefore, in our Deliverance from all the Judgments of God, ſing Grace, Grace, unto it.

Ver. 9.

145. Theſe are the generations of Noah: Noah was a juſt man, and perfect in his generations; and Noah walked with God.

The Holy Ghoſt here makes a ſhort Digreſſion from his progreſs, in his relation of the Wickedneſs of the World: And yet not impertinently; for ſeeing Noah was the Man that eſcaped the Judgment, his Eſcape muſt be for ſome reaſon; which was, becauſe God was gracious to him, and becauſe God had juſtified him. Beſides, Noah being now made Righteous, faithfully walketh with God.

He was juſt and perfect in his Generations. But why is it ſaid, Generations? It might be, becauſe he was faithful to God and Man, having the Armour of Righteouſneſs on the right-hand, and on the left. It is ſaid in Iſaiah, That Chriſt made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich Iſa. 53. 9. in his death: To import, That they only have benefit by him to Eternal Life, that Die by his Example, as well as Live by his Blood; for Phil. 3. 8, 9, 10. in his Death was both Merit and Example; and they are like to miſs in the Firſt, that are not concerned in the Second.

Perfect in his Generations. In his Carriage, Doctrines and Life, before both God and Man: And thus ought every Preacher to be; he ought to do in the ſight of God, what he commands to Men; by this means he ſaveth both himſelf, 1 Tim. 4. 16. and them that hear him.

Beſides, Noah was a Man, as well as a Saint, and in either ſence had a Generation: To both of which Grace made him faithful; and he that ſhall not ſerve his Generation as a Man, will hardly ſerve his Generation as a Chriſtian. But Noah was perfect in both, he was perfect in his Generations.

And Noah walked with God. This ſhews he was ſincere in his Work; for an Hypocrite may, as to outward ſhew, do as the Saint of God; but he doth it with reſpect to Men, not God, and therefore he is an Hypocrite. To walk with God then, is not only to do the Duty Commanded, but to do it as God Requireth it; that is, to do it with Faith, and Son-like Fear, as in God's ſight, with ſingleneſs of heart.

And Noah begat three Sons, Shem, Ham, and Japhet. 146.

Ver. 10. Theſe are the Off-ſpring of Noah, and by theſe was the Earth repleniſhed after the Flood, as will be further ſeen hereafter.

Ver. 11. And the earth alſo was corrupt before God, and the earth was filled with violence. 147.

He is now returned to the Matter in hand before; to wit, the Cauſes of the Flood.

And the Earth alſo was corrupt. By Earth, he may here mean, thoſe that are without the Church: And if ſo, then by Corrupt here, we muſt underſtand, Wicked after a moſt high manner; for albeit the World and Generation of Cain be always Sinners before God, yet the Lord cutteth not off the World in general, nor a Nation in particular, but becauſe of the Commiſſion of eminent Outrage and Wickedneſs. Thus it was with thoſe of Sodom, a little before the Lord with Fire devoured them. The men of Sodom (ſaith the Text) were wicked, and Gen. 13. 13. Sinners before the Lord exceedingly.

Again: As by Corrupt, we may underſtand, Corrupt by way of Eminency; ſo again, they were Corrupt Incurably. This is evident, becauſe they were not brought off from Sin by the Miniſtry of Noah, the only appointed Means of their Converſion.

Hence Note, That when Men are Sinners exceedingly, and when the Means of Grace appointed of God for their Recovery, proves 2 Chr. 36. ineffectual, then they are near ſome ſignal Judgment. Thus back-ſliding Jeruſalem, be- Ezek. 24. cauſe ſhe was wicked with an high hand, and 13. 14. could not be cured by the Miniſtry of the Prophets, therefore her Sons muſt go forth of her Jer. 15. into Captivity, and the City burned to the ground 1, 2, 3. with fire.

And the earth was filled with violence. Firſt, 148. They had violated the Law of God, in making and maintaining ungodly and wicked Communion;

nion; according to that of the Prophet, Her Priests have violated my Law, and have profaned my holy things. But how? They have put no difference between the holy and profane, neither have they shewed difference between the unclean and the clean. Ezek. 22.

They also perverted Judgment between a Man and his Neighbour: Adhering to their own Party, in Disaffection to the Religious. This is supposed, because of the exceeding latitude of the Expression, The Earth was filled with Violence; that is, all manner of Violence, Outrage and Cruelty was committed by this sort of People. This takes in that Saying of Solomon, the Oppression of the Poor, especially God's Poor, is included, in a violent perverting of Judgment and Justice. Eccl. 5. 8.

They also shewed Violence to the Lives of Good Men, as may be gathered by the Act of Lamech, one of the Sons of Cain. In a word, The Earth was filled with Violence; Violence of every kind; Lust and Wickedness was outrageous, there was a world of Ungodliness among these ungodly Men.

149. And God looked upon the Earth, and behold it was corrupt; for all flesh had corrupted his way upon the earth. Ver. 12.

By these words therefore is confirmed the sence of the former Verse, The earth was corrupt; for God saw it was so: The Earth was full of Violence, for they had corrupted God's way.

And God looked upon the Earth. This shews us, That the Lord doth not with haste, or in a rash inconsiderate way, pour his Judgments upon the World; but that with Judgment and Knowledge, the Wickedness first being certain, and of Merit deserving the same. This is seen in his way of dealing with Sodom: And the Lord said, Because the cry of Sodom and Gomorrah is great, and because their sin is very grievous, I will go down now and see whether they have done altogether according to the cry of it, which is come unto me; and if not, I will know. Gen. 18. 20, 21.

And behold, it was corrupt; for all flesh had corrupted his way upon the earth. It proved, as that of Sodom did, according to the Cry thereof; for all flesh had corupted his way: God's way, by violating his Law, and perverting of Judgment, as was hinted before. All flesh had corrupted it, therefore the evil needed not to be long in searching out: As God saith by the Prophet Jeremiah, I have not found it by diligent search, but upon all these. Here upon the whole Earth, none exempted but righteous Noah. Jer. 2. 34.

150. And God said unto Noah, The end of all flesh is come before me; for the earth is filled with violence through them, and behold I will destroy them with the earth. Ver. 13.

And God said unto Noah. Or told Noah his Purpose: The same way he went with Abraham: Shall I hide from Abraham the thing that I do? Surely the Lord will do nothing, but he revealeth his Secrets unto his Servants the Prophets. Gen. 18. 17. Amos 3. 7.

The end of all flesh is come. The Time or Expiration of the World is at hand. God speaks before he smites. Thus he did also by the Prophet Ezekiel, saying, An end is come, the end is come: And again, The end is come, the end is come; it watcheth for thee; behold, it is come. Ezek. 7. 2, 3, 6.

The end of all flesh is come before me. Sin and Wickedness doth not put an end to the Ungodly before their own Face, yet it brings their End before the Face of God. It is said of these very People, they knew not of their Destruction, until the day the Flood came, and took them all away. Indeed, the Nature of Sin is to blind the Mind, that the Person concerned may neither see Mercy nor Judgment; but God sees their End: The end of all flesh is come before me. Mat. 24. 37, 38, 39.

The end of all flesh. By these words, the Souls are left to, and reserved for another Judgment: Wherefore, though here we find the Flesh consumed; yet Peter saith, their Spirits are still in Prison, even the Souls that Christ once preached to in the days, and by the Ministry of Noah: Even the Souls which sometimes were disobedient when once the long-suffering of God waited in the days of Noah, while the Ark was preparing, &c. 1 Pet. 3. 18, 19, 20.

Make thee an Ark of Gopher Wood: Rooms shalt thou make in the Ark, and shalt pitch it within and without with Pitch. Ver. 14.

This is the Fruits of the Grace of God: He said before, That Noah found Grace in the Eyes of the Lord: Which Grace appoints to him the Means of his Preservation.

Make THEE an Ark. He saith not, Make one, or, Make one for me: But, Make one; Make one for Thee: Make [Thee] an Ark of Gopher Wood.

Noah therefore, from this word Thee, did gather, That God did intend to preserve him from the Judgment which he had appointed in this his Work: Therein lay his own Profit and Comfort; not a Thought which he had, not a Blow that he struck, about the Preparing the Ark, but he preached, as to others their Ruine, to himself, his Safeguard and Deliverance: He prepared an Ark, to the saving of his House. Heb. 11. 7.

This therefore must needs administer much Peace and Content to his Mind, while he preached to others their Overthrow: As the Prophet saith, The work of righteousness shall be peace; and the effects of righteousness, quietness, and assurance for ever. And, My people shall dwell in a peaceable habitation. Thus did Noah when he dwelt in the Ark, and in sure dwellings, and in quiet resting-places. Isa. 32. 17, 18.

Make thee an Ark. The Ark was a Figure of several things. 1. Of Christ, in whom the Church is preserved from the Wrath of God. 2. It was a Figure of the Works of the Faith of the Godly: By Faith he prepared an Ark; by which the Followers of Christ are preserved from the rage and tyranny of the World, (for the Rage of the Water was a Type of that, as I shall shew you hereafter.) So then Noah, by preparing an Ark, or by being bid so to do of God, was thereby admonished, First, To live by the Faith of Christ, of whom the Ark was a Type: and hence it is said, that in preparing the Ark, he became heir of the righteousness which is by faith; because he understood the Mind of God therein, and throughout his Figure acted Faith upon Christ. But, Secondly, 152.

His Faith was not to be Idle, and therefore he was bid to Work: This begat in him an obediential Fear of doing ought which God had forbidden: By faith Noah being warned of God, of things not seen as yet, moved with fear, prepared an Ark, to the saving of his house: by the which he condemned the world, and became heir of the righteousness which is by faith.

Rooms (Nests) shalt thou make in the Ark. To wit, for himself, and the Beasts, and Birds of the Field, &c. Implying; that in the Lord Jesus there is room for Jews and Gentiles: Yea, forasmuch as these Rooms were prepared for Beasts of every sort, and for Fowls of every Wing: It informs us, that for all sorts, ranks and qualities of Men, there is Preservation in Jesus Christ: Compell them to come in; drive them (in a Gospel sence) as Noah did the Beasts of old into the Ark, that my house may be full, and yet there is room. Luke 14. 21, 22.

And thou shalt pitch it within and without with Pitch. This was to secure all from the Flood, or to kep them that were in the Ark from perishing in the Waters.

153. Ver. 15. And this is the fashion which thou shalt make it of; the length of the Ark shall be three hundred cubits, the breadth thereof fifty cubits, and the heighth of it thirty cubits.

A Vessel fit to swim upon the Waters.

And this is the fashion, &c. God's Ordinances must be according to God's Order and Appointment, not according to our Fancies, This is the Fashion, to wit, according to what is after expressed.

By these words therefore Noah was limited and bound up, as to a Direction from which he must not vary; according to that of the Angel to the Prophet, Son of man (saith he) behold with thine eyes, and hear with thine ears, and set thine heart upon all that I shew thee; for to the intent that I might shew them unto thee, art thou brought hither. Ezek. 40. 4. As the Lord said also to his Servant Moses, In all things that I have said unto you, be circumspect. Exod. 23. 13. And so again, about making the Tabernacle in the Wilderness, which the Apostle also takes special notice of, saying, See (saith he) that thou make all things according to the Pattern shewed to thee in the Mount.

Hence Note, That God's Command must be the Rule whereby we order all our Actions, especially when we pretend to Worship that is divine and religious. If our Works, Orders, and Observances, have not this Inscription upon them, This is the Fashion, or, This is according to the Pattern, such Works and Orders will profit us nothing: Neither have we any Promise when all is done, it wanting the Order of God, that we should escape those Judgments which those shall assuredly escape, that have their Eye in their Work to the Pattern revealed in the Word.

154. Ver. 16. A Window shalt thou make to the Ark, and in a cubit shalt thou finish it above; and the Door of of the Ark shalt thou set in the side thereof: with lower, second, and third stories shalt thou make it.

I told you before, That the Ark was a Type of Christ, and also of the Works of the Faith of the Godly. And now he seems to bring in more, and to make it a Type of the Church of Christ; as indeed the Prophet also does, when he calls the Church, One afflicted, and tossed with tempests; and compareth her Troublers to the Waters of Noah, saying, This is as the Waters of Noah. Isa. 54. 11.

Now as the Ark was a Type of the Church, so according to the Description of this Verse she hath Three most excellent things attending her. 1. Light. 2. A Door. 3. Stories of a lower and higher rank.

1. She hath a Window for Light, and that when she was to be tossed upon the Waters. Hence Note, That the Church of Christ wanteth not Light, no, not in the worst of Times. This Light is the Word and Spirit of God which Christ hath given to them that obey him. John 17.

2. She hath a Door. This Door was a Type of Christ; so was also the Door of the Tabernacle. And hence it is that you read, That Moses, when he went to talk with God, would stand to talk in the Door of the Tabernacle; also that the Cloudy Pillar stood at the Door. I (saith Christ) am the Door: Again, I am the Door of the Sheep. By this Door then, entred all that went into the Ark, as by Christ all must enter that enter aright into the Church. Exod. 33. 8, 9. John 10.

3. She had Stories in her, of first, second, and third degree: To shew that also in the Church of Christ there are some higher than some, both as to Persons and States: 1. Apostles: 2. Evangelists: 3. Pastors and Teachers. And again, there are in the Church degrees of States, as also there is in Heaven.

155. Ver. 17. And behold, I, even I do bring a flood of waters upon the earth, to destroy all flesh wherein is the breath of life from under heaven; and every thing that is in the earth shall die.

This is the reason of the former Commandment, of Making an Ark: But some time was yet to intervene; the Flood was here-after to over-flow the World: Wherefore, from this it is that those words are inserted, of things not seen as yet: And that the Ark was a Work, or the Fruit of Noah's Faith: By Faith Noah, being warned of God of things not seen as yet, &c.

And behold, I, even I, &c. These words excuse Noah of Treason or Rebellion, forasmuch as his Preparation for himself, and his Warnning and Threatning the whole World with Death and Judgment for their Transgression, was solely grounded upon the Word of God: God bid him prepare, God said he would punish the World for their Iniquity.

Hence Note, That a Man is not to be counted an Offender, how contrary soever he lieth, either in Doctrine or Practice, to Men, &c. If both have the Command of God, and are surely grounded upon the words of his Mouth. This made Jeremiah, though he preached, That the City Jerusalem should be burnt with Fire, the King and People should go into Captivity; yet stand upon his own Vindication before his Enemies, and plead his Innocency against them that persecuted him. Daniel also, though he did openly break the King's Decree, and refused to stoop to his Idolatrous and Deviliſh Demand; yet purged himself of both Treason and Sedition, and justifies his Act as innocent and harmless, even in the sight of God. Jer. 26. 14, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15.

Dan. 6. 22. God. My God (saith he) hath sent his Angel, and hath shut the Lions mouths, so that they have not hurt me; forasmuch as before him innocency was found in me; and also before thee, O King, I have done no hurt. Further, Paul also, although by his Doctrine he did cry-down the Ceremonies of the Jews, and the Idolatry of the Heathen Emperor, yet he quits himself of blame from either side: Neither against the Law of the Jews, Acts 25. 8. saith he, neither against the Temple, nor yet against Cæsar, have I offended any thing at all. The reason is, because the words of God, how severely soever they threaten Sinners, and how sharply soever (the Preacher keeping within the Bowels of the Word) this Doctrine be urged on the World, if it destroy, it destroyeth but Sin and impenitent Sinners, even as the Waters of Noah must do. 156.

This then affords us another Note worth remarking, to wit, That what God hath said in his Word, how offensive soever it be to ungodly Men, That we that are Christians ought to observe; whether it direct us to declare against others Enormities, or to provide for our selves against the Judgment to come.

And behold, I, even I, do bring a Flood, &c. Hence Note again, Let us preach and practise well, and let God alone to execute his Judgments. It is said of Samuel, That not one of 1 Sam. 3. 19, 20. his words did fall to the ground. He Preached, and God, according to his Blessing or Cursing, did either Spare and Forgive, or Execute his Judgments.

And behold, I, even I. Note again, That when Sinners have with the utmost contempt slighted and despised the Judgment threatned, yet forasmuch as the Execution thereof is in the Hand of an Omnipotent Majesty, it must fall with violence upon the Head of the Wicked, I, even I, therefore, were words of a strong Encouragement to Noah, and the Godly with him; but Black, and like Claps of Thunder to the Pestilent Unbelieving World: As the Prophet says, He is strong that executes his word: And again, Not one of his Judgments fail.

157. And behold, I, even I do bring a flood. The Flood was a Type of Three things.

1. A Type of the Enemies of the Church, Isa. 54.

2. A Type of the Water-Baptism under the New-Testament, 1 Pet. 3. 20, 21.

3. A Type of the Last and General Overthrow of the World by Fire and Brimstone, 2 Pet. 3. 6, 7.

But here, as it simply respecteth the Cause, which (as is afore related) was the Sin that before you read of; so it precisely was a Type of the last of these, and to that end put an end to the World that then was. The World that then was being overflowed with Water, perished, to signifie, That the Heavens and the Earth which are now, are reserved unto Fire, against the Day of Judgment, and Perdition of ungodly Men.

I bring a flood of water upon the earth, to destroy all flesh wherein is the breath of life from under heaven, and every thing that is in the earth shall die. By these latter words, as the Cause, so the Extension of this Curse is expressed; and that under a Threefold Denotation.

1. Every thing that is in the Earth.
2. All Flesh wherein is the breath of life.
3. Every thing that is under Heaven.

So then, this Deluge was Universal, and extended it self not only to those Parts of the World where Noah and that Generation lived, which we find repeated before, but even over the face of all the Earth; and it took hold of the life of every living thing that was either on all the Earth, or in the Air, excepting only those in the ARK, as will the general Judgment do: And Noah Gen. 7. 23. only remained alive, and they that were with him in the Ark.

But with thee will I establish my Covenant, and thou shalt come into the Ark, thou, and thy Sons, and thy Wife, and thy Sons Wives with thee. 158. Ver. 18.

But with thee, &c. This concerns what was said before concerning the Universality of the Flood: As he also said above, But Noah found grace in the eyes of the Lord. This Peter also notes, He saved Noah, the eighth person, a Preacher 2 Pet. 2. 5: of Righteousness, bringing in the Flood upon the WORLD of the ungodly.

With thee will I establish my Covenant. My Covenant of Mercy, or my Promise to save thee when I drown the whole World for their Iniquity: And therefore he adds, And thou shalt come into the Ark.

I will establish. Making and Establishing of Promises are not always the same: He made his Promise to Abraham, he seconded it with an Psal. 105. 8, 9, 10. Oath unto Isaac, and he confirmed, or established, it to Jacob; for by him he multiplied the Seed of Abraham as the Stars of Heaven for multitude.

With thee will I establish. Or, unto thee will I perform my Promise, Thou shalt come into the Ark.

Hence Note again, That we ought to look upon signal and great Deliverances from sore and imminent Dangers, to be Confirmations of the Promise or Covenant of God. Or thus, When God finds means of Deliverance, and instateth our Souls in a special share of that Means, this we should take as a Sign, That with us God hath confirmed, or established, his Covenant. 159. Luke 1. 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78.

Thou, and thy Sons, and thy Wife, and thy Sons Wives with thee. Because in that Family did now reside the whole of the Visibility of the Church upon the Earth; all the rest were lost, as Peter also intimates, when he calleth Noah the Eighth Person, or One, and the Chief of the Eight that made up the Visible Church, or, that maintained the Purity of the Worship of God upon the face of the whole Earth: As he explains it a little after: For thee have I found righteous before me in this generation.

And of every living thing of all flesh, two of every sort shalt thou bring into the Ark, to keep them alive with thee, they shall be male and female. 160. Ver. 19.

By these words, Noah should seem to be (in this Action) a Figure or Semblance of Christ; who before the Lord shall rain Fire and Luke 13. 29. Brimstone from Heaven, shall gather into his Ark, Chap. 14. 21, 22. the Church, of all Kindreds, and Tongues, and People, and Nations, even as Noah was to gather of all, of every thing, of all flesh, of every sort, with him into the Ark.

Two of every sort. This Two, in special respecteth

* Chap. 7. 2. ſpecteth the * Unclean, which were a Type of the Gentiles, and ſo further confirms the Point.

Acts 10. 11,12,17, 28. They ſhall be Male and Female. He would not make a full end, he would in Judgment remember Mercy.

161. Ver. 20. Of Fowls after their kind, and of Cattel after their kind, and of every creeping thing of the earth after his kind: two of every ſort ſhall come unto thee to keep them alive.

Of Fowls after their kind, of Cattel after their kind. This, ſtill reſpecting the Antitype, may ſhew us alſo, how that God, for Proof of the Prophecy of the ſpreading of the Goſpel, doth not only tell us, that the Gentiles were gathered into his Ark, but as here the Beaſts and Birds according to their kind, are ſpecified; ſo the Gentiles are alſo denominated according to their ſeveral Countreys, Galatians, Corinthians, Epheſians, Coloſſians, Theſſalonians, Bereans, &c. theſe after their Countrey and Nation were gathered unto Jeſus to be preſerved from the Flood of Wrath that at laſt ſhall fall from God who dwells in Heaven, to the burning up of the Sinner and Ungodly.

Two of every ſort ſhall come into thee to keep them alive. If the Emphaſis lieth in [Come,] as I am apt to think, and as the Eighth Verſe of the next Chapter fairly allows me to judge; then we muſt obſerve ſtill, That Noah was not only firſt in the Ark, as our Lord and Chriſt is the Firſt from the Dead; But that the Cattel, the Fowls, and the Creeping things, did come to him into the Ark, by a ſpecial inſtinct from Heaven of the Fruits of a Divine Election. Noah therefore, as a Man, did not make choice which of every kind; but he went firſt into the Ark, and then of Clean Beaſts by ſevens, and of Unclean Beaſts by two's, went in unto Noah into the Ark, as the Lord commanded Noah.

162. Pſal. 65. 2. Gen. 49. 10. Joh 6. 37. 44. And thus it is in the Antitype: Unto thee ſhall all fleſh come, ſaith the Prophet: And again, To him ſhall the gathering of the people be. But how? Why, by an inſtinct from Heaven, the Fruit of a Divine Election: All that the Father hath given me, ſhall come to me; but no man can come to me (ſaith Chriſt) unleſs the Father which hath ſent me draw him.

The Beaſts therefore which came into the Ark, were neither choſen by Men, neither came they in by any Inſtinct of Nature which was common to them all, but as being by a Divine Hand ſingled out and guided thither, ſo they entred in; the reſt were left to the fury of the Flood. Like to this alſo is the Antitype, Sinners come not to Jeſus by any Work or Choice of Fleſh and Blood, nor yet by any Inſtinct of Nature that is common to all the World; but they come, as being by a Divine Hand ſingled out from others; and as guided of the Father, ſo they come to Chriſt into the Ark: The reſt are left to the fury of the Wrath of God, which, in the Day of Judgment, ſhall ſwallow them up for ever.

They ſhall come unto thee to keep them alive. Indeed, they lived not for their own ſakes, they being not better than them that periſhed; but they ſhall come unto thee to ſave them: For, for the ſake of Noah they were preſerved, when many Millions were drowned in the Waters. Bring this alſo to the Antitype, and you find them look like one another: for the reaſon why ſome are ſaved from the Wrath to come, it is not for that they are better in themſelves, for both Jews and Gentiles are all under ſin: But it is Chriſt that ſaveth by his Righteouſneſs, as Noah ſaved the Beaſts and Fowls, &c. Let us therefore, as the Beaſts did, go to Jeſus Chriſt, that he may keep us alive from periſhing in the Day of Judgment.

163. Ver. 21. And take thou unto thee of all food that is eaten, and gather it to thee, and it ſhall be for food for thee, and for them.

This therefore was for the Preſervation of the Life of thoſe that were in the Ark; by which Action there is, as in the former, incloſed a Goſpel-Myſtery.

Take thou unto thee of all Food. This Food was not to be at the will and diſpoſe of unruly Beaſts, but Noah was, as the Lord of all that was in the Ark, to take it into his own cuſtody: And therefore he doubleth the Command, Take it unto thee; Gather it unto thee; to wit, to diſpoſe of after thy Diſcretion and Faithfulneſs. In this therefore he was a Type of Chriſt, whom God hath ſet as Lord and King in the Church, and to feed his Flock as a Shepherd; for the Bread of God is in the Hand of Chriſt, for him to communicate unto his Spouſes, Saints, and Children; as Joſeph did to Egypt, according to the Power committed to him, and Truſt repoſed in him. And hence it is ſaid, as concerning the Bread that endureth to Everlaſting Life, the Son of Man ſhall give it you; for him hath God the Father ſealed, or appointed thereunto: And therefore, that he giveth, we receive, and no more of the Bread of God: That thou gaveſt them, they gather; thou openeſt thy hand, they are filled with good. Joh. 6, 27. Pſ. 104. 28.

164. Take unto thee all Food. That is, to be eaten by Man and Beaſt; the Fowl alſo, and the Creeping thing. This ſtill followed, and brought in to the Goſpel, it ſhews us, that, even then, when the Church is driven up into a Hole, and toſſed upon the Waves of the Rage and Fury of the World, as the Ark was upon the Face of the Waters, that even then her Noah hath all Food for her, or Food of all ſorts for her ſupport and refreſhment: Bread ſhall be given them, their Waters ſhall be ſure. Iſa. 33. 16.

Take unto thee. How bleſſedly was this anſwered, when the Lion of the Tribe of Judah took the Book out of the Hand of him that ſate upon the Throne; for in the Book is contained the words of Everlaſting Life; and the words of God are the Food of his Church, which this Noah hath received to nouriſh them withall: Man liveth not by Bread only, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of the Lord, doth Man live. Rev. 5. 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9. Mat. 4. 4 Deut. 8. 3

And it ſhall be for Food for thee, and for them. That is, each according to their kind. The ſame is true alſo under our preſent Conſideration: Chriſt is the Shepherd, we are the Sheep, yet he feedeth with us in the Ark: I will come in and ſup with him, and he with me. Again, here Chriſt tranſcends this Action of Noah; for he was to have his Food of his own, but Chriſt feedeth on the ſame with us, even on the Words of God: Yet herein again we differ; He feedeth as a Lord, We as Servants; He as a Saviour, Rev. 3. 20.

We

We as the Saved; but in general (respecting the Words of God) we feed all but of one Dish, but at one Table; the Bread therefore that he hath provided, gathered and taken to him, it was Food for him, as well as for us.

165. Ver. 22. Thus did Noah; according to all that God commanded him, so did he.

These words therefore present us with a Description of the Sincerity and Simplicity of the Faith of Noah; who received the Word at the Mouth of God; not to hear only, but to do and live in the same.

Thus did Noah. As it is also said of his Servant Moses, As the Lord commanded Moses, so did he: As the Lord Commanded Moses, so did he: Yea, to shew us how pleasant a thing the Holy Ghost accounteth this holy Obedience of Faith, he is not weary with repeating, and repeating again, not less than Eight times in One Chapter, the punctuality of Moses's conformity with the Word of God, in this manner, Thus did Moses; according to All that the Lord Commanded Moses, so did he.

Exod. 40. 16, 19, 21, 23, 25, 27, 29, 32. This did Noah. This Note therefore is, as it were, a Character or Mark by which the Lord's People are known from the World: They have special regard to the Word. Deut. 33. 3. All his Saints are in thy hand; they sat down at thy feet; every one shall receive of thy words. Joh. 17. 8. As Christ said, I have given them thy words, and they have received them: Yea, and they have kept this Word.

Thus did Noah. Let this then be the discriminating Character of the Saints from the Men of this World. It was so in the days of Noah, when all the World went a whoring from their God, and said, We desire not the Job 22. 16, knowledge of his ways: Then Noah kept the Words of God: Thus did Noah; according to all that God commanded him, so did he.

CHAP. VII.

166. Ver. 1. AND the Lord said unto Noah, Come thou and all thy house into the Ark; for thee have I found righteous before me in this Generation.

The Ark being now prepared, and the Day of God's Patience come to an end, he now is resolv'd to execute his Threatning upon the World of ungodly Men; but withall, in the first place, to secure his Saints, and them that have feared his Name. In this therefore we have a semblance of the Last Judgment, and how God will dispose of his Friends and Enemies.

Come thou into the Ark. God, I say, will take care of, and safely provide for us that have feared him, when he most eminently entreth into Judgment with the World: As he Isa. 26. 20. also saith by Isaiah the Prophet, Come my people, enter thou into thy chamber, and shut thy door about thee: Hide thy self, as it were for a little moment, until the indignation be over-past. He shall send forth his Angels with a great sound of a Trumpet, and they shall gather together his Elect from the four Winds, from one end of Heaven to another.

Come thou and all thy house. Not an Hoof must be left behind; God will not lose the very Dust of his People: Of all that thou hast given me have I lost nothing, but will raise it up at the last day. God therefore was careful not only of Noah, but of all that were in his House; because they were all of his Visible Church, they must therefore be preserved from the rage and fury of the Deluge: Gather my Saints together unto me, Psal. 50. 3, 4, 5. (saith he) even those that have made a Covenant with me by Sacrifice.

For thee have I found righteous before me. 167. This is not to be understood as the Meritorious Cause, but as the Characteristical Note that distinguisheth them that are Gods, from others that are Subjects of his Wrath and Displeasure: Wherefore, those that at this time perish'd, bear the Badge of Ungodliness, as that which made them obnoxious to this overflowing Judgment: As also we have it in the Book of Job, Hast thou (said Eliphaz) marked Job 22. 15, 16. the old way which wicked men have trodden, which were cut down out of time, whose foundation was overflown with a flood.

Righteousness therefore, is the distinguishing Character whereby the good are known from the bad. Thus it was in Ezekiel's time: Set a Ezek. 9. 4. mark (saith God) upon the foreheads of the men that sigh, and that cry for the abominations that are done in the midst of the City. Which Mark was to distinguish them from those that were Profane, and that for their wickedness were to be destroyed by the Ministers of God's Justice.

For thee have I found righteous before me. These words [Before me] are inserted on purpose to shew us, that Noah was no feigned Worshipper, but one who did all things in the sight of God. Indeed, there are Two things which are of absolute necessity for the obtaining of this Approbation of God. 1. All things must be done as to Manner according to the Word. 2. All things must be done as to the Matter of them also according to the Word. Both which were found in Noah's Performances; and therefore he is said to be perfect in his Generations, and that he walked with Luke 1. 6. God. Thus it was also with Zacharias and Elizabeth, they were both righteous before God; that is, sincere and unfeigned in their Obedience.

Righteous before me in This Generation. By this we see, Righteousness, or the Truth of God's Worship in the World, was now come to a low ebb; the Devil, and the Children of Cain, had bewitched the Church of God, and brought the Professors thereof so off from the Truth of his Way, that had they got Noah also, the Church had been quite extinct, and gone: Wherefore, it now was time for God to work, and to cherish what was left, even by sending a Besom of Destruction upon all the Face of the Earth, to sweep away all the Workers of Iniquity.

168. Ver. 2, 3. Of every clean beast thou shalt take to thee by sevens, the male and his female; and of beasts that are not clean, by two, the male and his female.— Of fowls also of the air, by sevens, the male and his female, to keep seed alive upon the face of the earth.

Something

Something hath been ſaid to this already; only this I will add further, That by this Commandment of God, both Noah, and all that were with him, were pre-admoniſhed to look to their Hearts; that they continued unfeigned before him: For if God would ſave Unclean Beaſts, and Fowls, from the preſent and terrible Deſtruction; why alſo might not ſome of them, though they partook of this Temporal Deliverance, be ſtill reputed as Unclean in his ſight? As indeed it came to paſs; for a curſed Cam was there: Wherefore, read not lightly the Commands of God, there may be both Doctrine and Exhortation; both Item, as well as an Obligation to a Duty contained therein. Circumciſion was a Duty incumbent as to the letter of the Commandment; but there was alſo Doctrine in it, as to a more High and Spiritual Teaching than the letter ſimply imported.

Note then from hence, That when you read that Unclean Beaſts, and Unclean Birds may be in the Ark of Noah: That Unclean Men, and Unclean Women may be in the Church of God: One of you is a Devil, was an Admonition to all the reſt: Let this alſo of the Beaſts unclean be an Admonition to you.

169. Ver. 4. For yet ſeven days, and I will cauſe it to rain upon the earth forty days, and forty nights; and every living ſubſtance that I have made, will I deſtroy, (or, blot out) from off the face of the earth.

Now the Judgment is at the door; it is time to make haſte, and pack in to the Ark. God doth not love to have his People have much vacancy from Employment while they are in this World. Idle times are dangerous; David found it ſo in the buſineſs of Uriah's Wife: Wherefore, Noah having finiſhed the Ark, he hath another Work to do, even to get himſelf, with his Family and Houſhold, fitly ſettled in the Veſſel that was to ſave him from the Deluge, and that at his peril in ſeven days time.

170. For yet ſeven days, and I will bring a flood. Note again, That it hath been the way of God, even when he doth execute the ſevereſt Judgments, to tell it in the Ears of ſome of his Saints, ſome time before he doth execute the ſame: Yea, it ſeems to me, that it will be ſo even in the Great Day of God Almighty; for I read, that before the Bridegroom came, Mat. 25. 6. there was a Cry made, Behold, the Bridegroom comes! Which Cry doth not ſeem to me, to be the ordinary Cry of the Miniſters of the Goſpel, but a Cry that was effected by ſome ſudden and marvellous awakening, the product of ſome new and extraordinary Revelation. That alſo ſeems to look like ſome fore-word Chap. 24. 29, 30. to the Church, Then ſhall appear the Sign of the Son of Man in Heaven: Some ſtrange and unuſual Revelation of that notable Day to be near, which in other Ages was not made known to the World; upon which Sign he preſently appears. Now whether this Sign will be the Appearing of the Angels firſt; or whether the Opening of the Heavens, or the Voice of the Arch-Angel, and the Trump of God, or what, I ſhall not here preſume to determine; but a Fore-word there is like to be, yet ſo immediately followed with the Perſonal Preſence of Chriſt, that they who had not Grace before, ſhall not have time nor means to get it then: And while they went to buy, the Bridegroom Chap. 25. came; and they that were ready went in with him, and the door was ſhut.

And I will cauſe it to rain forty days, and forty nights. This length of time doth fore-pronounce the Compleating of the Judgment: As who ſhould ſay, I will cauſe it to rain until I have blotted out all the Creatures, both of Men, Beaſts, and Fowls: And ſo the after words import; And every living ſubſtance that I have made, will I deſtroy from off the face of the Earth.

And Noah did according to all that the Lord Ver. 5. commanded him. 171.

This Note, as already I have ſaid, doth denote him to be a righteous Man; One that might with Honour to his God, eſcape the Judgment now to be executed: Wherefore, the reiterating of this Character is much for the Vindicating of God's Juſtice, and for the Juſtification of his Overthrowing the World of ungodly Sinners.

But again: Theſe words ſeem to reſpect in ſpecial, what Noah did in the laſt ſeven days, in order to the Commandment laid before him in the three firſt Verſes of this Chapter; and ſo they ſignifie his Faithfulneſs to the Word, and his Obſervance of the Law of his God, even to the day that the Rain began to fall upon the Earth: And therefore they preach unto us, not only that he began well, but that he continued in godly and unfeigned perſeverance; which when perfected, is the moſt effectual Proof, that what before he did, he did with Uprightneſs of Heart, and therefore now muſt eſcape the Judgment: As it is ſaid in the Goſpel of Matthew, He that ſhall endure Mat. 24. to the end, the Same ſhall be ſaved.

And Noah was ſix hundred years old when the Ver. 6. flood of waters was upon the earth. 172.

Four hundred and fourſcore of which the World had leaſure to ſtudy the Prophecy Chap. 5. that God gave of him by the Mouth of his 29. his Father Lamech; the other hundred and twenty he ſpent in a more open teſtifying, both by Word, and his Preparing the Ark, that God would one day overtake them with Judgment; yet to the Day that the Flood came, the World was ignorant thereof: (Aſtoniſhing is the Fruits of Sin:) So it came to paſs, that in the Six hundredth Year of Noah's Life, which Mat. 24. 38, 39. was the One thouſand ſix hundred fifty ſixth Year of the Worlds Age, the Flood of Waters were upon the Earth, to the utter Deſtruction of all that was found upon the face thereof, Noah only being left alive, and they that were with him in the Ark.

And Noah went in, and his Sons, and his Wife, Ver. 7. and his Sons Wives with him, into the Ark, becauſe 173. of the Waters of the Flood.

They had hardly done their Work in the World, by that it began to Rain, by that the firſt Drops of the Judgment appeared. They went into the Ark, ſays the Text, becauſe of the Waters of the Flood. This ſhould teach Chriſtians Diligence, leſt they be called for by God's Diſpenſations, either of Death or Judgment, before they have ſerved compleatly their Generations, by the will of God. Noah had done it, but it ſeems he had but done it; his Work was ended juſt as the Judgment came: Be ye therefore ready alſo; for at ſuch an hour as you think not, the Son of Man cometh.

or

Ver. 8, & 9. 174. Of clean Beaſts, and of Beaſts that are not clean, and of Fowls, and of every thing that creepeth upon the Earth, there went in two and two unto Noah into the Ark, the male and his female, as God had commanded Noah.

By theſe words it ſeems (as I alſo touched before) that the Beaſts, and Fowls, both clean and unclean, did come in to Noah, into the Ark; not by Noah's Choice, nor by any Inſtinct that was common to all, but by an Inſtinct from above, which ſo had determined the Life and Death of theſe Creatures, even to a very Sparrow; for not one of them doth fall to the ground without the Providence of our Heavenly Father; they went in unto Noah. And let no Man deride, for that I ſaid, By an Inſtinct from above; for God hath not only wrought Wonders in Men, but even in the Beaſts, and Fowls of the Air; to the making of them act both above and againſt their own Nature. Numb. 22. 28,29,30. 1 Sam. 6. 10,11,12, 13,14. 2 Kings 17. 33,4,5,6. How did Balaam's Aſs ſpeak! and the Cows that drew the Ark, have it right to the place which God had appointed, not regarding their ſucking Calves! Yea, How did thoſe ravenous Creatures, the Ravens, bring the Prophet Bread and fleſh twice a day, but by immediate Inſtinct from Heaven? Even by the ſame did theſe go in to Noah, into the Ark.

Ver. 10. 175. And it came to paſs, after ſeven days, that the waters of the flood were upon the earth.

Juſt as the Lord had denounced before: Look therefore, what God hath ſaid, ſhall aſſuredly come to paſs, whether it be believed, or counted an idle Tale. The Confirmation therefore of what God hath ſpoken, dependeth not upon the Credence of Man, becauſe it came not by the Will of Man: He hath ſaid it, and ſhall he not make it good? It will therefore aſſuredly come to paſs, whatever God hath ſpoken, be it to ſave his Noahs, or be it to drown his Enemies; and the reaſon is, becauſe to do otherwiſe, is inconſiſtent with his Nature; he is Faithful, Holy, and True, and cannot deny himſelf, that is, the word which he hath ſpoken.

Ver. 11. 176. In the ſix hundredth year of Noah's life, in the ſecond month, the ſeventeenth day of the month, the ſame day were all the fountains of the great deep broken up, and the windows (or, Flood-gates) of heaven were opened.

As to the Month, and the Day of the Month, I have but little to ſay; though doubtleſs, had not there been ſomething worthy of knowing therein, it would not ſo punctually have been left upon Record; for I dare not ſay this Scribe wrote this in vain, or that it was needleſs thus to punctilio it; a Myſtery is in it, but my darkneſs ſees it not; I muſt ſpeak according to the Proportion of Faith.

The ſame day were all the fountains of the great deep broken up. By theſe words, it ſeems that it did not only rain from Heaven, but alſo the Springs and Fountains were opened; which together with the great Rain of his Strength, did over-flow the World the ſooner.

This great Deep, in mine Opinion, was alſo a Type of the Bottomleſs Pit, that Mouth and Gulf of Hell, which at the Day of Judgment ſhall gape upon the World of ungodly Men, to ſwallow them up from the Face of the Earth, and to carry them away from the Face and Preſence of God.

And the Windows (or, Flood-gates) of Heaven were opened. That is, That the Water might deſcend without meaſure or order, even in its own natural force, with Violence upon the Head of the Wicked. It came as Water out of his Buckets upon them, Judgment without Mercy. Num. 24. 7

177. This opening of the Flood-gates of Heaven, was a Type of the way that ſhall be made for the Juſtice of God upon ungodly Men, when Chriſt hath laid aſide his Mediatorſhip; for he indeed is the Sluce that ſtoppeth this Juſtice of God from its dealing according to its infinite Power and Severity with Men: He ſtands, like Moſes, and, as it were, holdeth the Hands of God. Oh! but when he ſhall be taken away! When he ſhall have finiſhed his Mediatory Work: Then will the Flood-gates of Heaven be opened, and then will the Juſtice and Holineſs of God deal with Men without ſtint or diminution, even till it hath filled the Veſſels of Wrath with Vengeance till they run over: It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God.

Ver. 12. And the rain was upon the earth forty days, and forty nights.

That is, It rained ſo long without ſtop or ſtint, Ver. 4.

Ver. 13. 178. On the ſelf ſame day entred Noah, and Shem, and Ham, and Japhet, the Sons of Noah; and Noah's Wife, and the three Wives of his Sons, with them into the Ark.

This therefore more fully approveth of what I ſaid before; to wit, That they had hardly done their Work in the World, by that it began to rain; but ſo ſoon as they had done, the Flood was upon the Earth. Much like this is that of Lot; it was not to rain Fire and Brimſtone upon Sodom, till he was got to Zoar: But when Lot was entred, but juſt entred, THEN the Lord rained upon Sodom, and upon Gomorah, Brimſtone and Fire from the Lord out of Heaven. Gen. 19. 21,22,23, 24.

Hence note, That the reaſon why God doth forbear to deſtroy the World for the Wickedneſs of them that dwell therein, it is for the ſake of the Elect; becauſe his Work upon them is not fully perfected: The Lord is not ſlack concerning his Promiſe; no, nor as concerning his Threatning neither, — but is long-ſuffering to us-ward, who are the Elect; not willing that any of us ſhould periſh: But when Chriſt, Head and Members, are compleat in all things, let the World look for Patience and Forbearance no longer; for in that ſelf ſame day the Trump of God will ſound, and the Lord deſcend with a ſhout from Heaven, to execute his Anger with Fury, and his Rebukes with Flames of Fire. 2 Pet. 3. 9. 1 Pet. 1. 5. Behold, he is now ready to Judge the Quick and the dead! ready to be revealed in the laſt time! The Judge alſo ſtands at the door; it is Chap. 4. 5.

Jam. 5. 9. but opening therefore, and his hand is upon you, which moſt aſſuredly he will do when his Body is full and compleat.

179. Obſerve again, that Providence ſometimes ſo ordereth it, that as touching the Command of the Lord, neceſſity is as it were the great Wheel that brings men into the performances of them, as here the Flood drove them into the Ark; as he ſaid above, they went in becauſe of the waters of the Flood: So concerning the Ordinance of unleavened Bread, the firſt Inſtitution of that Law, was as it were accompanied with an unavoidable neceſſity, it was unleavened, ſaith the Text, becauſe they were thruſt out of Egypt, and could not tarry, neither had they prepared for themſelves any victuals.

Exod. 12. 39.

It will be thus alſo at the Day of Judgment: Iſrael will be ſufficiently weary of this World, they will even as it were unexpreſſibly groan to be taken up from hence; wherefore the Lord will come, as making uſe of the wearineſs and groaning of his People, and will take them up into his Chambers of Reſt, and will wipe away all tears from their eyes, as here Noah and his Sons, &c. did enter into the Ark.

Ver. 14. 180. They and every Beaſt after his kind, and all Cattel after their kind, and every creeping thing that creepeth upon the Earth, after his kind, and every Fowl after his kind, every Bird of every ſort or wing.

Without doubt this careful repetition is not without a cauſe, and hath alſo in the bowels of it ſome comfortable Doctrine for the Church of God; every Beaſt, all Cattel, every creeping thing that creepeth; every Fowl and Bird of every wing.

Firſt, This ſheweth, that God hath reſpect to the fulfilling of his Word in the midſt of all his Zeal and Anger againſt Sin. He doth not as we, being angry, run headlong upon the Offendors, but if there be but three in a Kingdom, or one in four Cities, he will have reſpect to them.

Ezek. 14. 19, 20.

Secondly, It ſheweth, that how inconſiderable ſoever the perſons are, that are within the compaſs, and care of the love and Mercy of God, that inconſiderableneſs ſhall not be a let to their Safety and Preſervation; yea though they are but as theſe creeping things, that creep upon the Earth, or as the ſaying is, but as a Flea, a dead Dog, or a Graſhopper, or one of the leaſt of the grains of Wheat, not one of them, nay, not a hair of the head of them ſhall fall to the ground and periſh.

Ver. 15, 16. 181. And they went in unto Noah into the Ark, two and two of all Fleſh, wherein is the breath of life, and they that went in, went in male and female of all Fleſh, as God had commanded him, and the Lord ſhut him in.

The Holy Ghoſt in this relation is wonderful punctual and exact: every Beaſt, all Cattel, every creeping thing, every Fowl, and every Bird, after their kind went in; and ſaith he again, they that went in, went in two and two; as if there had been an intelligence among theſe irrational Creatures, that the Flood was ſhortly to be upon the Earth. Indeed, many among the Senſitives have ſtrange Inſtincts, as Apendixes to their Nature, by which they do, and leave to do, to the aſtoniſhment of them that have reaſon: But that any inſtinct in Nature ſhould put them upon afore providing for ſhelter from the Flood, by going into the Ark, (a place to ſecure them, rather than to ſave them, had not the occaſion and Command of God been otherwiſe) it cannot be once with reaſon imagined. Wherefore, as their going into the Ark, ſo their going in two by two, and that too Male and Female, plainly declares that their motion was ordered and governed by Heaven, themſelves being utterly ignorant thereof.

And they that went in, went in male and female of all Fleſh, (both Man and Beaſt) and the Lord ſhut him in, that is Noah; and thoſe that were with him.

182. Theſe latter words are of great importance, and do ſhew us the diſtinguiſhing Grace of God, for by his thus ſhutting the Door of the Ark, he not only confirmed his Mercy to Noah, but alſo diſcovered the bonds and limits thereof. As who ſhould ſay, Now Noah you have your full tale, juſt thus many I will ſave from the Flood: and with that he ſhut the door, leaving all other, both Man and Beaſt, &c. to the fury of the waters. God therefore by this act hath ſhewed how it will go in the Day of Judgment with Men. Thoſe that (like thoſe Beaſts, and Birds, and creeping things) ſhall come to Chriſt, into his Ark, before it rain Fire and Brimſtone from Heaven, thoſe will God ſhut up in the Ark, and they ſhall live in that day; but thoſe that ſhall then be found in the World ſtrangers to Jeſus Chriſt, thoſe will God ſhut out: They Mat. 25. that were ready went in with him to the Marriage, and the door was ſhut.

And obſerve, it is not ſaid, that Noah ſhut the door, but the Lord ſhut him in: If God ſhuts in or out, who can alter it? I ſhut, and no Rev. 3. man openeth. Doubtleſs before the Flood had carried off the Ark, others beſides would with gladneſs have had there a lodging room, tho' no better than the Dog-kennel; but now it was too late, the Lord had ſhut the door. Beſides, had there been now in the Heart of Noah Bowels or Compaſſion to thoſe without the Ark, or had he had deſire to have received them to him, all had been worth nothing, the Lord had ſhut him in. This ſignifying, that at the Day of Judgment, neither the bowels of Jeſus Chriſt, neither the miſery that Damned Men ſhall be in, will any thing at all avail with God to ſave one Sinner more, the Door is ſhut.

183. Where you read therefore both in Matthew and Luke of the ſhutting of the door, underſtand that by ſuch Expreſſions Chriſt alludeth Luke 13. 26, 27, 28. to the door in Noahs Ark, which door was open while Noah and his Attendants were entred into the Ark, but they being got in, the Lord ſhut the door: Then they that ſtood without and knocked, did weep, and knock, and ask too late. As Chriſt ſaith, When once the Maſter of the Houſe is riſen up, and hath ſhut too the door, and ye begin to ſtand without, and knock at the Door, ſaying, Lord, Lord, open to us, and he ſhall anſwer and ſay unto them, I know you not whence you are; then ſhall ye begin to ſay,

We

We have eaten and drunk in thy presence, and thou hast taught in our streets: (as Noah did of old.) But he shall say, I tell you I know you not whence you are, depart from me all ye workers of Iniquity. There shall be weeping, and gnashing of Teeth, when ye shall see Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, and all the Prophets in the Kingdom of God, and your selves thrust out.

Ver. 17. 184. And the flood was forty days upon the Earth, and the waters increased and bare up the Ark, and it was lift up above the Earth.

While the Ark rested, and abode in his place, no doubt but the Ears of Noah were filled with doleful cries from the wretched and miserable people, whom God had shut without the Ark, one while crying, and another while knocking, according to what but now was related; which for ought I know might be many of the forty days, but when the waters much increased, and left the Ark above the Earth, this miserable Company were soon shaken off.

It will be thus also in the day of Judgment; at the beginning of that day the Ears of the Godly will sufficiently be filled with the cries and tears of the Damned and miserable World; but when the Ark shall be taken up, that is, when the Godly shall ascend into the Clouds, and so go hence with Jesus, they will soon lose this Company, and be out of the hearing of their lamentable dolours.

And the waters increased. God's Judgments have no Ears to receive the Cries, nor Heart to pity the Miseries of the Damned. They cry, It rains; they increase their Cries, and Zech. 7. 13. the Lord does increase his Judgment: And it came to pass, that as I cryed and they would not hear; so they cryed, and I would not hear, saith the Lord.

185. Again, As the waters were a Type of the Wrath of God that in the Day of Judgment shall fall upon ungodly Men: So they were also a Type of those Afflictions and Persecutions that attend the Church; for that very Water that did drown the Ungodly, that did also toss and tumble the Ark about; wherefore by the increase of the Waters, we may also understand, how mighty and numerous sometimes the Afflictions, and Afflictors of the Godly be: As David said, Lord, how are they Psal. 3. 1. increased that trouble me! many are they that rise up against me.

And the waters increased, and bare up the Ark. The higher the Rage and Tyranny of this World groweth against the Church of God, the higher is the Ark lifted up towards Heaven, the most proud wave lifts it highest: The Church is also by Persecution more purged and purified from earthly and carnal delights; therefore it is added, the waters bare up the Ark, and it was lifted up above the Earth.

Ver. 18. 186. And the waters prevailed, and were increased greatly upon the Earth, and the Ark went upon the face of the Waters.

These words are still to be considered under the former double consideration, to wit, both, as they present us with Gods Wrath at the last Judgment, and as they present us with a sign of the Rage and Malice of ungodly men.

And the Waters prevailed; that is, over all ungodly Sinners; though they were mighty, and stout, and cared for none, yet the waters prevailed against them, as the Fire and Brimstone will do over all the World at the Day and Coming of our Lord Jesus Christ: Wherefore, well may it be said to all impenitent Sinners, Can thy hands be strong, or can thy Ezek. 22. heart endure, in the day that I shall deal with thee, 14. saith the Lord God? Oh they cannot, the Waters of the Wrath of God will prevail against, and increase upon them, until they have utterly swallowed them up.

And the Waters prevailed. Take it now as a type of the Nature of persecution, and then it sheweth, that as the Waters here did swallow up all but the Ark, so when Persecution is mighty in the World, it prevaileth to swallow up all but the Church: for none else can aright withstand or oppose their wickedness. It is said, when the Beast had power to Rev. 13. work, the whole World wondred after the Beast; 3, 8. and all men who were not sealed, and that had not the mark of God in their Foreheads, fell in with the worship of the Beast; as it is said, And all that dwell upon the Earth shall worship him, whose Names are not written in the Book of Life of the Lamb, &c. So then it might well be said, the waters prevailed and increased.

And the Ark went upon the face of the waters. It 187. is said, that in the beginning the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the Waters, and here that the Ark went upon the face of them. Indeed the Spirit of God moveth, and the Church, as God, walketh in strange and unthought of Stations. It is said, that God hath a way in the Whirlwind, and in Nahum. 1. the Storm: So he hath upon the very face of 3. the persecution of the Day, but none but the Church can follow him here, it is the Ark that can follow him upon the face of the waters. Deep things are seen by them that are upon the waters: They that go down to the Sea Psal. 107. in Ships, that do business in great waters, they see 23, 24. the works of the Lord, and his wonders in the deep. Indeed it oft falls out that the Church seeth more of God in Affliction, than when she is at rest and ease; when she is tumbled to and fro in the waters; then she sees the works of God, and his wonders in the deep.

And this makes Persecution so pleasant a thing, this makes the Ark go upon the face Heb. 11. of the waters, she seeth more in this her State, 24, 25. than in all the Treasures of Egypt.

And the waters prevailed exceedingly upon the Ver. 19. Earth, and all the high Hills that were under the 188. whole Heaven were covered.

This second repetition of the prevailing of the Waters, doth also call for a second Consideration.

1. It shews us, that all hope that any ungodly man might have at the beginning of the Flood to escape the rage thereof, was now swallowed up in Death. Indeed it is natural to the Creatures, when Floods and Inundations are upon the Earth, to repair to the high places, as they only that are left for preservation of Life; where Life may be also continued if the waters do not overflow them:

but when it comes to pass as here we read, that all the Hills under the Heavens are covered; then Life takes its Farewell, and is gone from the World, as was the effect of the waters of Noah.

The Hills therefore were Types of the hope of the Hypocrite, upon which they clamber till their Heads do touch the Clouds, thinking thereby to escape the Judgment of God; but thô they hide themselves in the top of Carmel, I will search and take them thence, saith God; the Flood of his Wrath will come thither, even over the tops of all the Hills: So that safety is only in the Ark with Noah, in the Church with Christ, all other places must be drowned with the Flood.

Amos 9,2, 3.

2. We may also understand by this Verse, how God in a time of Persecution will cut off the carnal Confidence of his people. We are apt to place our hope, some where else than in God, when persecution ariseth because of the Word: We hope that such a Man, or that such outward Means may prevent our being swept away with this Flood: But because this confidence is not after God, but tendeth to weaken our stedfast dependance on him; therefore this Flood shall cover all our Hills, not one shall be found for us under the whole Heaven. When the King of Babylon came up against Jerusalem to War, then Israel, instead of trusting in God, put their confidence in the King of Egypt, but he also was swallowed up by this Flood, that Israel might be ashamed of such confidence; and this at last they confessed. As for us, said they, our eyes as yet failed for our vain help: in our watching, we have watched for a Nation that could not save us.

Jer. 2. 36, 37. Lam. 4. 17.

It was requisite therefore that the Hills should be covered, that Noah might not have confidence in them; but surely this dispensation of God was an Heart-shaking Providence to Noah, and they that were with him; for here indeed was his Faith tryed, there was no Hill left in all the World; now were his carnal helpers gone, there was none shut up or left: Now therefore, if they could rejoyce, it must be only in the power of God. As David said, should I lift up mine eyes to the Hills, whence should my help come? So the Margint: My help cometh from the Lord that made Heaven and Earth.

Psal. 120. 1, 2.

189. Ver. 20. Fifteen Cubits upwards did the waters prevail, and the Mountains were covered. The height of Goliah was but six Cubits and a span, neither was Ogs Bed-stead any more than nine: wherefore this Flood prevailed far above the highest of those mighty Ones; even fifteen cubits above the highest Mountains.

1 Sam. 17. 4. Deut. 3. 11.

Ver. 21, 22, 23. 190. And all Flesh dyed that moved upon the Earth, both of Fowl, and of Cattel, and of Beasts, and of every creeping thing that creepeth upon the Earth, and every man: All in whose Nostrils was the breath of life, of all that was in the dry land, dyed. And every living substance was destroyed, which was upon the face of the ground, both Man, and Cattel, and the creeping things, and the Fowls of the Heaven, and they were destroyed from off the Earth, and Noah only remained alive, and they that were with him in the Ark.

In these words you have the Effects of the Flood, which was punctually according to the Judgment threatned: But observe, I pray you, how the Holy Ghost, by repeating doth amplifie the matter. All Flesh, all in whose Nostrils was the breath of life; all that was in the dry land, every living substance, every man; and they were destroyed from off the Earth: By which manner of Language doubtless there is insinuated a Threatning to them who should afterward live ungodly. And indeed the Holy Ghost affirmeth, that these Judgments, with that of Sodom, are but Examples set forth before our Eyes, to shew us that such Sins, such Punishment: Making them an example, saith Peter, unto those that after should live ungodly: Nay Jude saith, they are set forth in their overthrow, for that very purpose. Wherefore this careful repeating of this Judgment of God, doth carry a Threatning in it, assuredly foreshewing the doom and downfall of those that shall continue to tread their steps.

2 Pet. 2. 6. Jude 7.

Yea, mind how Peter hath it: For if God spared not the old world, &c. Secretly intimating, that those that then lived, being the first of his Workmanship, and far surpassing in Magnificence, if he would have spared, he would have spared them; but seeing he so dreadfully swept them away, let no Man be so bold to presume that wickedness shall now deliver him that is given to it.

2 Pet. 2. 5.

And Noah only remained alive, and they that were with him in the Ark. Noah was that man of God that had set himself against a World of ungodly men. The Man that had hazzarded Life and Limb for the Word of God committed to him; he only remained alive, &c. Hence note, That he was the Man that outlived the World, that would for God venture Life against all the World. Wherefore the saying in the Gospel is true, He that will lose his life for my sake, shall save it unto Life Eternal. Thus did Noah, and passed the end, and went over the bounds, that God had appointed for every living thing: Behold! he was a man in both Worlds, yea the World then to come was given him for a possession.

Ver. 24. Rev. 9. 10. 192. And the waters prevailed upon the Earth an hundred and fifty days. About the same time the Scorpions mentioned of John, had power to hurt the Earth: Wherefore, the thus prevailing of the water, might be a Type of our persecution now in the New Testament days: All which time doubtless Noah was sufficiently tried, while the waves of the water had no pity for him.

CHAP. VIII.

193. Ver. 1. AND God remembred Noah, and every living thing, and all the Cattel that was with him in the Ark, and God made a wind to pass over the Earth, and the waters assuaged.

Moses having thus related the Judgment of the Waters, as they respected the drowning of the World, and so typed forth the last Judgment: He now returneth to speak of them more largely, as they were a Type of the Per-Perſecution and Afflictions of the Church, and ſo ſheweth how God delivered Noah from the mercileſs violence of the waves thereof.

And God remembred Noah. This word remembred is uſual in Scripture, both when God is about to deliver his people out of Affliction, and to grant them the petition which they ask of him. It is ſaid, God remembred Abraham; and ſent Lot out of Sodom; that He remembred Rachel, and hearkned to her; that He alſo remembred his Covenant with Abraham, when he went to bring Iſrael out of their Bondage.

Gen. 19. 29. Ch. 30. 22. Exo. 2. 24.

Hence note, that Noah was now both in an afflicted, and a praying Condition; afflicted with the dread of the waters, and prayed for their aſſwaging. It is a queſtion accompanied with aſtoniſhment, How the Ark being of no bigger an Hull or bulk ſhould contain ſo many Creatures, with ſuſtenance for them? And verily, I think, that Noah himſelf was put to it, to believe and wait for ſo long a time. But God remembred him, and alſo the Beaſts, and every living thing, that was with him, and began to put an end to theſe mighty Afflictions, by cauſing the waters to aſſwage.

194. And God made a wind to paſs over the Earth. The Waters being here a Type of Perſecutors and Perſecution: This wind was a Type of the breath of the Lords mouth, by which He is ſaid to ſlay the wicked. He ſhall ſmite the Earth with the Rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips ſhall he deſtroy the wicked. It was a Wind alſo that blew away the Locuſts of Egypt, which Locuſts were a Type of our graceleſs Clergy, that have covered the ground of our Land. Again, the Kingdom of Babel was to be deſtroyed by a deſtroying wind, which the Lord would ſend againſt her, which Paul expounds to be by the breath of the Lords mouth, and by the brightneſs of his coming. This Wind therefore, as I ſaid, was a Type of the breathing of the Spirit of the Lord, by which means theſe tumultuous waves ſhall be laid lower, and Gods Ark in a while made to reſt upon the top of his Mountain; for by the breath of the Lord the Earth is lightened, and by this lightning coals are kindled; yea, he ſent out his arrows, and ſcatter'd them, he ſhot out his Lightning and diſcomforted them; then the channels of waters were ſeen, and the foundations of the world were diſcovered; at thy rebuke, O Lord, at the blaſt of the breath of thy noſtrils; And God made a wind to paſs over the Earth, and the waters were aſſwaged; that is, in New Teſtament Language, the Afflictors and Afflictions of the Church did ceaſe, and decay, and come to nought.

Exo. 10. 19. Jer. 51. 1, 2. 2 Sam. 22. 9. Pſal. 18. 14, 15, 16.

And the waters aſſwaged: To wit, by the blowing of this wind, wherefore, as this wind did aſſault the waters, ſo it did refreſh the Spirit of this Servant of God, becauſe by it the affliction was driven away. Thus then by the wind of the Lord were theſe dry bones refreſhed, and made to ſtand upon their feet.

Ezek. 37. 9.

And God made a wind paſs over. And God made it; when God blows, the Enemies of his Truth ſhall paſs away like waters that fail.

195. Ver. 2.

And the fountains alſo of the deep, and the windows of Heaven were ſtopped, and the rain from Heaven was reſtrained.

By theſe words we ſee, that when the Church of God is afflicted, both Heaven and Hell have their hand therein, but ſo as from a differing conſideration, and to a divers end. From Heaven it comes, that we may remember we have ſinned, and that we may be made white, and tried; but from Hell, from the great deep, that we might ſin the more, and that we might deſpair, and be damned.

Dan. 11. 35 Job 1. 11. Chap. 2. 5.

And the Fountains of the great deep. When God begins to ſlack and abate the Afflictions of his Church, he rebukes, as it were firſt, the Powers of Hell; for ſhould he take off his own Hand, while they have leave to do what they liſt, the Church for this would be worſe, not better: But firſt he rebuketh them; The Lord rebuke thee, O Satan, that's the firſt; and then he cloaths them with change of raiment: the fountains of the great deep were ſtopped, and then the bottles of Heaven.

Zech. 3. 1. 2, 3, 4, 5. 6, 7. Gen. 15, 13.

And the rain from Heaven was reſtrained, or held back, or made to ceaſe. Afflictions are governed by God, both as to time, number, nature and meaſure. In meaſure when it ſhooteth forth thou wilt debate with it, he ſtayeth his rough wind in the day of his eaſt-wind. Our Times therefore, and our Condition in thoſe times, are in the Hand of God; yea, and ſo are our Souls and Bodies, to be kept and preſerved from the evil, while the Rod of God is upon us.

Jer. 15. 1, 2, 3.

196. Ver. 3. And the waters returned from off the Earth continually, and after the end of an hundred and fifty days the waters were abated.

The Verſe before doth treat of the Original, the Fountains of the deep, and the windows of Heaven, that they were ſhut, or ſtopped; which being done, the Effect beginneth to ceaſe. Hence note, that eaſe and releaſe from Perſecution and Affliction cometh not by chance, or by the good moods, or gentle diſpoſitions of men, but the Lord doth hold them back from ſin, the Lord reſtraineth them. It is ſaid the Lord ſtirred up the adverſaries of Solomon. Again, when the Syrians fought againſt Jehoſhaphat, the Lord helped him, and God moved them to depart from him. The Lord ſent the Flood, and the Lord took it away.

1 Kings 11. 14, 23. 2 Chron. 18 31.

And the waters returned from off the Earth continually. When God ceaſeth to be angry, the Hearts and Diſpoſitions of the Adverſaries ſhall be palliated, and made more flexible. It is ſaid, when the Afflictions of Iſrael were ended in Egypt, the hearts of the people were turned to pity them; yea, he cauſed them to be pitied of them that carried them captive.

When you ſee therefore, that the Hearts of Kings and Governours begin to be moderated toward the Church of God, then acknowledge that this is the Hand of God. I, ſaith he, will cauſe the Enemy to intreat thee well in the time of evil, and in the time of affliction: For by waters here are typed out the great and mighty of the World, by the flowing of them, their rage; and by their ebbing and returning their ſtillneſs and moderation.

Jer. 15. 11.

And the waters returned: That is, to the Sea. He gathereth the waters of the Sea together as an an heap, he layeth up the deep in store-houses.

By gathering up, the Persecutors may be understood, his gathering them to their Graves, as he did Herod, who stood in the way of Christ; and as he did those in Ezekiel, who hindred the Promotion of Truth, and the Exaltation of the Gospel.

Mat. 2. 19, 20. Ezek. 31. 14.

197. And after the end of an hundred and fifty days the waters were abated. These words then imply, that for so long time, Noah, and the Church with him, were to exercise Patience. They also shew us, That when the Waters are up, they do not suddenly fall: They were up four hundred Years, from Abraham to Moses; they were up threescore and ten Years in the Days of the Captivity of Babylon; they were up ten mystical Days in the Persecution that was in the Days of Antipas; and are to be up forty and two Months, in the Reign, and under the Tyranny of Antichrist: but they will abate; the House of Saul will grow weaker; yea, they shall be gathered to their Sea, and shall be laid in the Pit; yea, they shall not be on the Earth, when God shall set Glory in the Land of the Living.

Gen. 15. 13. Jer. 25. 12. Zech. 1. 12. Rev. 2. 10. Chap. 13. 5. Ezek. 25. 19, 20, 21.

198. Ver. 4. And the Ark rested in the seventh month, on the seventh day of the month, upon the Mountains of Ararat.

These Instances therefore, were a Type of Christ, the Munition of Rocks, who is elsewhere called, the Mountain of the Lord's House: the Rock upon which he will build his Church, and the Gates of Hell shall not prevail against it: For after the Ark had felt the Ground, or had got settlement upon the tops of these Mountains; however, the Waters that came from the great Deep, did notwithstanding, for some time, shake, and make it stir, yet off from these Mountains they could not get it with all their rage and fury: It rested there; these Gates of Hell could not prevail. But mark, it did rest on these Mountains almost a Quarter of a Year before any Ground appeared to Noah. A right Figure of Saving-Faith; for that maketh not outward Observation a Ground and Foundation for Faith, but Christ the Rock, who as to sense and feeling is at first quite out of sight. Hence the Hope of the Godly is compared to the Anchor of a Ship, which resteth on, or taketh hold of the Rock that is now invisible under the Water, at the bottom of the Sea.

Isa. 33. 16. Mich. 4. 1. Mat. 16. 18. Heb. 6. 18, 19.

This then should learn us to stay on the Lord Jesus, and there to rest when the Waters have drowned all the World, and when all the Mountains and Hills for help are as if they were cast into the midst of the Sea.

That is an excellent Saying of the Prophet, God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. Therefore will not we fear, though the earth be removed, (as now it seemed,) and though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea. Though the waters thereof roar, and be troubled; though the mountains shake with the swelling thereof. Selah.

Psal. 46. 1, 2, 3.

199. Ver. 5. And the waters decreased continually until the tenth month: in the tenth month, on the first day of the month, were the tops of the mountains seen.

In the 2*d*. Verse we read, that after an hundred and fifty days flood, the Waters returned; that is, began to return, from off the earth: Which beginning of their return, was, because that God had mercifully remembred the Prayer and Affliction of Noah. Again, in this Verse, we read, that from the Day that the Ark did rest upon the Mountains of Ararat, the Waters decreased continually. Now the resting of the Ark on the Mountain, was a Figure of our trusting on Christ. Hence it follows, that the tumults and raging of the mystical Waters, are made to decrease by the Power of Faith: This is your Victory, even your Faith. As it is also said of Moses, By Faith he walked through the Red-Sea; but above all take that as most pertinent. Through Faith they subdued Kingdoms, stopped the mouths of Lions, and turned to flight the Armies of the Aliens. Here you see Faith made the Waters decrease; it took away the heat and rage of the Adversary.

Heb. 11. 33, 34.

And the waters decreased continually until the tenth month, (another period of time,) and in the first day of the tenth month were the tops of the mountains seen. These Mountains were, before the Flood, a Type of the Hope of the Hypocrites, and therefore then were swallowed up, fifteen Cubits under the Waters: But now, methinks, they should be a Figure to the Church of some visible ground of Deliverance from the Flood; for almost three Months the Ark did rest on the invisible Mountains of Ararat. But now are the tops of the Mountains seen: A further Sign that the Waters were abated; and a Ground, that at length they would be quite dried up. Let these Mountains then be Types of the High and Mighty, which God is used to stir up to deliver his Church from the heat and Rage of Tyranny and Persecution, (as they are often termed and called in Scripture, the Mountains of Israel, for this very end.) So then, from our thus considering the Mountains, Two things we are taught thereby.

200. 1. That when the Great Ones of this World begin to discover themselves to the Church, by way of Encouragement, it is a Sign that the Waters are now decreasing. Or thus: When God lets us see the tops of the Mountains, then we may certainly conclude, that the rage of the Waters abate.

Doubtless, when God made Promise of raising up Josias to Israel, in Canaan; and of raising up for them Cyrus, in Babylon; the thus appearing of the tops of these Mountains, was Comfort to the Church in her Day of Affliction.

1 Kings 13. 1, 2, 3. Isa. 45. Ezra 1. 2, 3.

2. This should teach us, while we are in Affliction, to look this way and that, if it may be that the tops of the Mountains may be seen by us: For though it be too much below a Christian to place his Confidence in Men; yet when God shall raise up a Josias, or a Cyrus, we may take Encouragement at this Working of God. Therefore is that in the Psalms read both ways, Shall I look to the Mountains? I will lift up mine eyes to the hills from whence cometh my help; yet so, as that he would also conclude his Help did come from the Lord: So then, we must take heed that we look not to the Mountains. Again, It is our wisdom to look to the Mountains: Look not to them but when God discovers them, look unto them if God discovereth them; yet then but so as Means of God's appointing. But again, God doth not let us see the Hills for our help, before we have first of all seen them drowned: Look not to them therefore while the Water is at the rising; but if they begin to cease their raging, if they begin to fall, and with that the tops of the Mountains be seen, you may look upon them with Comfort, they are Tokens of God's Deliverance.

201. Ver. 6. And it came to pass, at the end of forty days, that Noah opened the Window of the Ark which he had made.

These forty days seem to commence from the discovery of the tops of the Mountains: Wherefore he did not presently go out of the Ark, but staid there above fourteen days; still signifying unto us, that we must not be therefore delivered so soon as the tops of the Mountains are seen, but may yet be assaulted with the Waters of the Flood, Days, and Weeks, and Months, &c.

Exod. 5. 15,16,17, 18,19,20, 21,22,23. When Moses was sent to deliver Israel, they came not presently out of Egypt; neither seemed their Burthens ever the lighter to Sense or Feeling, tho' Faith indeed did see the End. Again, When he had brought them forth of Egypt, they came not in a Day, or a Month, to Canaan; Acts 7. 36. but, saith the Holy Ghost, He brought them out, (or, forth of Affliction) after he had shewed Signs and Wonders in the Land of Egypt, and in the Red-Sea, and in the Wilderness, forty years.

Let us therefore take heed of a feavorish Spirit, while we behold the tops of the Mountains; possibly, for all they are visible Tokens to us of Deliverance, themselves may be yet much under Water. We see what work Moses, Gideon, Jeptha and Samson had to deliver Israel, even after more than their tops were seen. Be content to stay yet forty Days; David stay'd, after he was anointed, till Years and Times went over him, before he could deliver Israel from the Tyranny of its Opposers.

202. At the end of forty days Noah opened the Window of the Ark. This Opening of the Window also, was a Type, that now he was preparing to take Possession of the World. It also might be a Type of the Opening the Law and Testimony, that Light might by that come into the Church; for we find not that this Window had any other use, but to be a Conveyance of Light into the Ark, and as a Passage for the Raven and the Dove, as may be further shewed after. Now much like this, is that of John: Rev. 11. 19. Chap. 15. 5, 6. The Temple of God was opened in Heaven, and there was seen in his Temple the Ark of his Testament. And again, I looked, and behold, the Temple of the Tabernacle of the Testimony in Heaven was opened: And then, as the Raven and the Dove came out of the Window of the Ark; so the Angels, that is, the Lords Executioners, came out of the Temple that was opened in Heaven.

Hence Note, That though Men may be born with, if they lye in their holes in the heighth of the Tempest; but to do it when the Tops of the Mountains are seen, if they then shall forbear to open their Window, they are worthy of blame indeed. When the Lepers saw the Assyrians were fled, and that liberty from Heaven was granted to Samaria; then they feared to conceal the thing any further; they feared, I say, that if they went not to the City to declare it, some Judgment of God would befall them. 2 King. 7. 9.

203. Ver. 7, & 8. And he sent forth a Raven, which went forth to and fro until the waters were dried up from off the earth.——And he sent forth a Dove from him, to see if the waters were abated from off the face of the earth,

Behold, the Raven and Dove are now sent out at the Window of the Ark, as the Angels are said to come out of the Temple, when it was opened in Heaven: This Raven therefore, and the Dove, were Figures and Types of those Angels. Rev. 15. 5, 6.

But to speak to them both apart: The Raven went forth, but returned not again to the Ark: This is intimated by them words, She went to and fro, until the waters were abated, and dried up. This is further evident by that Antithesis that the Word doth put between the Practice of the Raven and the Dove: The Raven went forth, and went to and fro till the Waters were dried up: But mark it, But the Dove found no rest for the sole of her foot, and she returned to him into the Ark. Verse 9. The Raven then did find rest elsewhere, the Raven then returned not to him into the Ark.

But what did the Raven then do? Why, certainly she made a Banquet of the Carkasses of the Giants that were drowned by the Flood; it fed upon the Flesh of the Men that had sinned against the Lord.

The Raven therefore was a Type of those Messengers that God sends out of his Temple against Antichrist; that is, for eating the Flesh of Kings, and the Flesh of Captains, and the Flesh of Mighty Men, and the Flesh of Horses: He was, I say, a Type of those Professors that God saith he hath a great Sacrifice to sacrifice unto, a sort of Professors in his Church; as the Raven was one that had his being in the Ark: These are they which Ezekiel mentions, that were to eat Flesh, and drink Blood; to eat the Fat till they be filled, and to drink Blood till they be drunken. These also are the Guests that Zepheniah mentions, and saith, God hath bidden to the same Feast also. Ezek. 39. 17, 18, 19, 20. Zeph. 1. 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12.

204. Rev. 16. 16. And let no Man be offended that I say these Birds are in the Church: For one Effect of the Sixth Vial, was that Battel of the Great Day of God Almighty. Further, The Angel that proclaims this Feast, calls to those that are God's Guests, by the Name of, the Fowls that flie in the midst of Heaven: That they should come and gather together to the Supper of the Great God: That they may eat the flesh of Kings, and the flesh of Captains, and the flesh of Mighty Men, &c. Besides, this Supper is the effect of the going forth of the King of Kings against the Antichristian Whore, whose going forth was at the opening of Heaven, as the going forth of the Raven was at the opening of the Window of the Ark. Rev. 19. 17. Verses 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17.

Note therefore, That God, in the overthrow of the Kingdom of Antichrist, and at the asswaging of the rage of her tumultous Waves, will send forth his Birds amongst her fat Ones, to partake of the Banquet that he hath appointed; who when they shall be tolerated by that Angel that standeth in the Sun, will come down to their Feast with such greediness, that neither King nor Captain shall keep them from their Prey: They will eat Flesh and Fat, till they be full, and drink the Blood, till they be drunk.

Beware of Noah's Raven.

Also he sent forth a Dove from him, to see if the waters were abated. This Dove was a Type of another sort of Professors in the Church, that are of a more gentle Nature; for all the Saints are not for such work as the Raven; they are not all for feeding upon the Carkasses, the Kingdoms and Estates of the Antichristian Party, but are for spending their Time, and for bending their Spirits to a more spiritual and retired Work; even as the Dove is said to be harmless, and to mourn for communion with her Companion, and that is content she hath her Nest in the sides of the Rock, Christ. Wherefore, he adds, Mat. 10. 16. Isa. 38. 14. Jer. 48. 28.

205. Ver. 9. But the Dove found no rest for the sole of her foot, and she returned to him into the Ark, for the Waters were on the face of the whole earth, &c.

The Dove could not live as the Raven; the Raven being content, so long as she found the Carkasses; but the Dove found no rest till she returned again to Noah.

The Raven therefore, though he was in the Ark, was not a Type of the most spiritual Christian; nay rather, I think, of the worldly Professor, who gets into the Church in the time of her Affliction, as Ziba did into the Army of David, in the day of his trouble; not for love to the Grace of David, but that, if time should serve, he might be made the Lord of his Master's Inheritance: But David was content to let him go with him, and that too as under such a Consideration: As Christ also lets these Ravens to herd with his innocent Doves; because he hath Flesh to give them, which the Doves care not for eating.

2 Sam. 16. 1, 2, 3, 4.

But the Dove found no rest. It seems the Raven did, as it is also with some Professors, who when they by their Profession have advanced themselves to some worldly Honour, they have ease and rest, though, like the Raven, they have it by going out of the Church.

But the Dove found no rest. Though all the Enemies of God lay tumbling in the Sea, this could not satisfie a gracious Soul: divide her from the Ark, and she finds no rest, she is not at ease till she be with Noah.

And she returned to him into the Ark; and he put forth his hand and took her, and pulled her into the Ark.

Noah here was a Type of Christ, who took the Dove unto him: And it shews us, That Christ hath a Bosom open for the Cries and Complaints of his People; for the Dove returned a-weary with the Tydings of this, That the Waters still raged: A fit Figure of those of the Saints that are groaning and weary under the Oppression and Cruelty of the Enemy.

Hence Note, That though thou hast no other Tydings to Christ, but Sighs, and Groans, and Weariness, because of the rage of the Waters; yet he will not despise thee; yea, he invites thee, as weary, to come.

Mat. 11. 30.

And he stayed yet other seven days; and again he sent forth the Dove out of the Ark. 206. Ver. 10.

This staying, shews us, That he exercised Patience, waiting Gods leisure till the Flood should be taken away. This Grace therefore had yet seven days Work to do, before he obtained any further testimony that the Waters were decreasing. O this staying Work is hard Work! Alas! sometimes Patience is accompanied with so much heat and feavourishness, that every hour seems seven until the end of the Tryal, and the Blessing promised be possessed by the waiting Soul. It may be Noah might not be altogether herein a Stranger: I am sure the Psalmist was not, in that he often under Affliction, cries, But how long, O Lord! for ever! Make haste! O Lord, how long!

Psal. 6. 3. & 13. 1. & 74. 1. & 79. 5. & 89. 46. & 90. 13. & 94. 3.

And again he sent forth the Dove. The first time he sent her, she brought no good News, but came panting and weary home; yet he sends her a second time.

This should teach us, not to make Conclusions too suddenly about God's Dispensations, saying, It must be now or never; for it may be the seven days are not out. The Men of David said, This is the day that the Lord will give thee the Kingdom of Israel: But David perceived otherwise, and therefore adds yet to his Temperance, Patience: Not sullenly saying like that wicked King, Why should I wait on the Lord any longer? but comforts himself with the Truth of the Promise, saying, His time shall come to die, &c. He that believeth, maketh not haste, but waiteth patiently, for the perfecting God's Work in God's time. That is excellent in the Song: I charge you (saith the Church) that ye stir not up, nor awake my Love untill he please. Noah was much for this, wherefore he stayed yet other seven days.

1 Sam. 24. 1, 2, 3. Chap. 26. 8, 9, 10. 2 Kings 6. 32. Song 8. 4.

And again he sent forth the Dove. Elias did much like this, when his Servant, at the first sending, brought him no Tydings of Rain, he gave him his Errand again, saying, Go again; Go seven times: As Noah here did with the Dove, and again he sent her. Seeming Delays are no hinderance to Faith; they ought to try it, and put it into Exercise: As here it was with this good Man about the Waters of the Flood; he fainted not, but believed to see the goodness of the Lord. That in the Prophet is notable as to this, The Vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the end it shall speak, and not lye: though it tarry, wait for it; because it will surely come, it will not tarry.

1 Kings 18. 43, 44, 45. Habak. 2. 3.

And the Dove came in to him in the evening; and lo! in her mouth was an Olive-leaf plucked off: so Noah knew that the waters were abated from off the earth. Ver. 11. 207.

And the Dove came in to him in the evening. Wherefore, his Patience was tried this day also. All the day he heard nothing of his Dove: Surely she could not keep the wing all the day: Is she drowned tro? Is she lost? O, no! she comes at last, though she stayed long. Samuel also stayed long before he came to Saul; but Saul could not wait as Noah did, therefore he had not the benefit of the Mercy promised.

The Dove came in to him in the Evening, and lo, in her mouth was an Olive-leaf, &c. Now he is is recompenſed for the exerciſe of Patience: as alſo was Abraham, when God gave him Iſaac; for after he had patiently endured, he obtained the Promiſe.

And lo an Olive-leaf. A Sign that God was going through with his Work of Diminiſhing the Waters: A Sign, I ſay, and a good Experience of the continued Love of God to his Servant; according to that of Paul, Patience worketh Experience; that is, it at laſt obtaineth the Bleſſing promiſed, and ſo ſettleth the Soul in a freſh Experience of the Love and Faithfulneſs of God.

And lo! This word [Lo,] it is, as it were an Appeal to all Readers to judge, whether God to Noah was faithful or no: So then, this was not written for his ſake only, but for us alſo that believe in God, that we might now exerciſe Patience, as Noah; and obtain the Tokens of God's Goodneſs, as he; for Lo the Dove, at laſt, though 'twas Night firſt, came to Noah into the Ark, and lo in her mouth was an Olive-leaf pluck'd off; ſo Noah knew that the waters were abated.

208. An Olive-leaf pluck'd off. Theſe words [an Olive-leaf pluck'd off,] do intimate, that Noah was now inquiſitive and ſearching how the Dove obtained the Leaf; that is, whether ſhe found it as dead, and upon the Waters; or whether ſhe pluck'd it off ſome Tree. But he found by the greenneſs and freſhneſs of the ſlip, that ſhe pluck'd it off from the Olive: Wherefore, he had good ground now to be comforted; for if this Leaf was plucked off from a Tree, then the Waters could not be deep; eſpecially, becauſe, as Story tells us, the Olive uſed alſo to ſtand in the Bottoms, or Valleys.

This ſhould teach us, That not over highly we conclude Meſſages or Tokens, be Signs of God's Mercy: There are lying Viſions, and they are cauſes of baniſhment; they we ſhould beware of, or elſe we are not only at preſent deceived, but our Faith is in danger of the Rocks; for not a few have caſt up all, becauſe the Truth of ſome ſeeming Viſion hath failed. Mark how David handleth the Meſſenger that brought him Tydings of the Death of Saul; ſays he, 2 Sam. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7. How doſt thou know that Saul is dead? What Proof canſt thou make of the Truth of this Story? So ſhould we ſay of all thoſe Viſions or Meſſengers that come to perſwade us, that either inward or outward Deliverance is for us at the Door: Prove theſe Stories; look if they be not dead and lifeleſs Fancies; ſee if you can find that they were pluck'd off from the Tree that is green.

Ver. 12. 209. And he ſtayed yet other ſeven days, and ſent forth the Dove; which returned not again unto him any more.

We read before of forty days Patience, and after that of ſeven days Patience, and that after the Waters began to return from off the Earth, and here again of ſeven days more. Whence Note, That the beſt of God's People, in the Times of Tryals, find their Patience too ſhort-winded to hold out the whole length of a Tryal, unleſs the time be, as it were, cut in pieces. The Prophet, when he was to lay Ezek. 3, 4, 5, 6. Siege againſt Jeruſalem, he muſt reſt the one ſide, by turning him upon the other. It was with holy Job exceeding hard, when he might not have time to ſwallow his Spittle, when he might not a little ſit down and reſt him: And if you obſerve him, he doth not deſire an abſolute Deliverance as yet, but only time to take wind and breathe a while; and then, if God will, to engage in the Combat again: How long (ſaith he) wilt thou not depart from me. Job 7. 19. Depart: What, quite? O! No, ſaith he, I beg not that abſolutely, but only ſo long as till a Man might ſwallow down his Spittle. This the Church in Ezra's time took as an exceeding Favour: And now (ſay they) for a little ſpace, Grace hath been ſhewed from the Lord our God, to leave us a remnant to eſcape, and to give us a nail in his holy place, that our God may lighten our eyes, and give us a little reviving in our bondage. Ezra 9. 8.

And he ſtayed yet other ſeven days. Note 210. again, That it is not God's way with his People to ſhew them all their Troubles at once; but firſt he ſhews them a part; firſt forty days, after that ſeven other days, and yet again ſeven days more; that, they coming upon them by piecemeal, they may the better be able to travel through them. While Iſrael was in Affliction in Egypt, they knew not the Tryals that would meet them at the Red-Sea. Again, When they had gone through that, they little thought that yet for forty years they muſt be tempted and proved in the Wilderneſs.

And thus it was with this bleſſed Noah; he thought that by the firſt ſeven days his Tryals might be ended: But behold, there is yet ſeven days more behind: And he ſtayed yet other ſeven days.

Further: There may alſo be by theſe words thus much inſinuated, That theſe Periods of Time might be alſo of Noah's prefixing: And if ſo, then Note, That the People of God in theſe days are not the firſt that have been under miſtake, as to the timing of their Afflictions. Noah counted it would end many days before it ended indeed, even ſeven days, and ſeven days, and ſeven days to that; for he ſent forth his Dove about the beginning of the firſt Month, in which Month alſo were his two ſeven Days Tryals. Again, after that he had ſtaid two ſeven Days more, to wit, to the end of that firſt Month. Again, he ſtaid almoſt four ſevens more; for he came not out of the Ark till the Twenty ſeventh Day of the Second Month. A Caution.

Hence therefore let Chriſtians beware that they ſet not times for God, leſt all Men ſee their folly: It is not for you to know the times and the ſeaſons, which the Father hath put in his own power: Yea, I ſay again, take heed leſt that for thy ſetting of God a ſeven days time, he ſet not thee ſo many as ſeven times ſeven. Acts 1. 7.

And he ſent forth the Dove, which returned not again to him any more. 211. This is the third time that the Dove was ſent to ſee how the Waters were abated on the face of the Earth. The firſt time ſhe, by her reſtleſneſs, beſpake the Waters to be high and mighty: The ſecond time, by her Olive Leaf, ſhe notifieth that the Waters were low and ebbing: But this third time, ſhe ſeems to be weary of her ſervice, ſhe returned not again to him any more; yet in her her ſo abſenting her ſelf, ſhe gives Confirmation to Noah, that the Waters were even in a manner quite gone; If he will take this for a proof let him, if not, let him hang in ſuſpence with himſelf. Hence note, that God will not be always teſtifying, by renewing of his tokens, to that about which we have had ſufficient Conviction before; for in ſo doing, he ſhould gratifie and humour our Unbelief. Noah had received already two ſufficient Teſtimonies, that the Waters were decreaſing: Firſt by his ſeeing the tops of the Mountains, and then by the Olive-leaf; but notwithſtanding theſe two Teſtimonies, his Unbelief in part remains; but God will not humour ſuch a groundleſs miſtruſt, by giving him any further token, than the very abſenting of the Dove. Much like this was that of Samſons Father; the Angel once had told his Wife, that ſhe ſhould have a Son that ſhould deliver Iſrael; well, Manoah heard of this, he alſo deſired that he might ſee that man that had told his Wife this happy news. Now God thus far condeſcends, as to ſend the Angel a ſecond time; but then, this being now a ſufficient antidote againſt their Unbelief, the Angel after the next departing, was not ſeen again of them at all: But ſaith the Word, Judg. 13. 3, 9, 21. The Angel of the Lord did no more appear to Manoah, and to his Wife: So that now they muſt live by Faith, or not at all.

212. Gods dealing with his people with reſpect to their Spiritual Condition, is much like this. The Holy Ghoſt doth not uſe to confirm us by new Revelations of Grace and Juſtification, ſo often as by our fond doubts or miſtruſt we call for, and deſire the ſame: But having confirmed in us the Teſtimony of Chriſt, it may be twice or thrice, (for the teſtimony of two men are true) he then expects we ſhould live by Faith: and obſerve it, if we have after ſuch Teſtimony joyful Communion with God, it is either by retreating to former Experience, or by arguing according to Faith; that becauſe God hath done thus before, he therefore hath given me intereſt in ſuch and ſuch Promiſes and Mercies beſides.

I ſpeak now of the firſt Seals of the Love of God to the Soul, after we have been ſufficiently toſſed upon the waves of Unbelief, as 1 Kings 11 9. Noah was by the waters of the Flood; ſuch Seals are few, the Lord gave them to Solomon Acts 22.6. --18. twice, and alſo twice to his Servant Paul—'Tis enough that they have ſeen the tops of the mountains, and have had brought to them the Olive-leaf. Let them now believe this Confirmation of mercy is ſufficient, and if they will not believe now, they ſhall not be eſtabliſhed.

Ver. 13. 213. And it came to paſs, in the ſix hundred and one year, in the firſt month, the firſt day of the month, the waters were dryed up from off the Earth, and Noah removed the covering of the Ark, and looked, and behold the face of the ground was dry.

And it came to paſs: That is, by the working of God, that the waters were dryed up. This came to paſs in Gods time, to wit, in the ſix hundred and one year, in the firſt month, the firſt day of the month; not in the times of Noahs prefixing. Gods time is the time, the beſt time, becauſe it is the time appointed by him for the proof and tryal of our Graces, and that in which ſo much, and ſo much of the Rage of the Enemy, and of the power of Gods Mercy, may the better be diſcovered unto us; I the Lord do haſten it in his time, not before, though we were the Signet upon his hand.

Noah the only Man with God in that Generation, could not be reſtor'd before the time; no more could Iſrael from the thraldom of Egypt: yea, the Son of God himſelf muſt here Exo. 11.4 give place and be content: And when Satan had Luke 4.13 ended all the temptation, when he had ended all, then he departed from him for a ſeaſon.

And Noah removed the covering of the Ark, and looked. The failing again of his expected Comforter, cauſed him to be up and doing; probable he had not as yet uncovered the Ark, that is, to look round about him, had the Dove by returning pleaſed his Humour, but ſhe failing him, he ſtirs up himſelf. Thus it ſhould alſo be with the Chriſtian now: Doth the Dove forbear to come to thee with a leaf in her Bill as before, let not this make thee ſullen, and miſtruſtful, but uncover the Ark, and look, and by looking thou ſhalt ſee a further Teſtimony of what thou receivedſt by the firſt manifeſtations: He looked, and behold the Earth was dry. Paul tells us, that by 2 Cor. 3.18 looking we have a Teſtimony like, or as that, which at firſt was given us by the Spirit of the Lord. And behold the face of the Earth was dry.

And in the ſecond month, on the ſeven and twentieth day of the month was the Earth dryed. 214. Ver. 14.

This proſpect was like the Rain that we read of in another place, that confirmed God's Inheritance when it was weary: It was a comfortable ſight to Noah, to ſee that the face of the Earth was dry; and now he could wait upon God with leſs tryal and ſtrain to his patience the remaining days, which were fifty and four, to wit, from the firſt of the firſt, to the twenty-ſeventh of the ſecond month, than he could one of the ſevens that he met with before. Indeed the path is narroweſt juſt Ezek. 41 at entrance, as alſo our Nature is then the 4.11. moſt untoward; but after we are in, the walk ſeems to be wider and eaſie; the Fleſh is alſo then more mortified and conformable. The walk is but a cubit wide at the door, but inward ten times as broad.

And in the ſecond month, on the ſeven and twentieth day of the month, was the Earth dryed. 215. So that from the firſt day it began to rain, (which was the ſeventeenth day of the ſecond month in the Year before, unto this day, was Noah in the Ark,) it was juſt a year and ten days: That was the time then that God had appointed to try his Servant Noah, by the Waters of the Flood; in which time he was ſo effectually Crucified to the things of this World, that he was as if he was never more to enjoy the ſame: Wherefore Peter making mention of this eſtate of his, he tells us, it was even like unto our Baptiſm; wherein we profeſs our ſelves dead to the World, and 1 Pet. 3.20 21. alive to God by Jeſus Chriſt.

In the firſt Verſe of this Chapter, we read that God remembred Noah; but till now we read not, that the face of the Earth was dryed.

Hence

Hence note, that our being under the Rage of the Enemy, doth not argue that we are therefore forgotten of God, he remembreth us in our low estate, even when tossed to and fro by the waters of a flood of Temptations.

Ver. 15, 16. And God spake unto Noah, saying, Go forth of the Ark, thou and thy Wife, and thy Sons, and thy Sons Wives with thee.

216. Now we are come to the end of the Tryal, and so to the time of Noahs Deliverance, and behold as he went in, so he came out: He went into the Ark at the Commandment of the Lord: And the Lord said unto Noah, Come thou Gen. 7. 1. and all thy house into the Ark: And here again, And God spake unto Noah, saying, Go forth of the Ark. Hence note, that notwithstanding the Earth was dry about fifty four days before, yet Noah waited for the Word of God for his Commission to bring him forth of the Ark. Providence seemed to smile before, in that the Earth was dry, to which had but Noah added Reason, he must have concluded, the time is come for me to go forth of the Ark. But Noah knew, that as well the Providences of God, as the Waters of the Flood might be to try his dependance on the Word of the Lord; wherefore, though he saw this, yet because he had no answer of God, he will not take the opportunity.

It is dangerous, or at least very difficult, to make the most smiling Providence of God 1 Sam. 24. 7, 18, 19, 20. our Rule to act by: Had David done it, he had killed Saul before the time, but David respected the Word of God. Elisha also would 2 Kings 6. 19, 20, 21, 22, 23. not suffer the King to make that improvement of the Providence of God, which reason should be put in Execution, when he rebuked the Kings desires that he had to have killed the Syrians, and commanded that bread should be set before them, that they might eat, and go home again to their master. Hear the Word of the Lord, ye that tremble at his Word. At the Commandment of the Lord the Children of Israel journeyed, and at the Commandment of the Lord they Numb. 9. 18, 23. pitched —— At the Commandment of the Lord they rested in their Tents, and at the Commandment of the Lord they journeyed; they kept the charge of the Lord, at the Commandment of the Lord, by the hand of Moses.

217. Go forth of the Ark, thou and thy Wife, and thy Sons, and thy Sons Wives with thee. When God delivereth, he delivereth compleatly: Thus Israel also went out of Egypt, they, Exod. 10. 24, 25, 26. their wives, their Children, with their Flocks and Herds, not an hoof was left behind. When Davids time was come to possess the Kingdom, he brought along with him those six hundred men that had been his Companions in his suffering State, every man with his Houshold: But I say, he went up to possess it, not simply by the voice of Providence, tho' Saul was dead, 2 Sam. 2. 1, 2, 3. but David enquired of the Lord, saying, Shall I go up to any of the Cities of Judah: Nay, a general answer, even from God, would not satisfie this Holy Man. The Lord said, Go, but David replyed, Whither shall I go? and he said, Unto Hebron. Oh! it is safe to regard the Word of the Lord; this makes us all come safe to Land. When men wrest themselves from under the Hand of God, taking such opportunities for their deliverance, which are laid before them only for tryal of Obedience to the Word; they may, 'tis probable, have a seeming success; the end will be as with Zedekiah King of Judah, Affliction with addition. The Jews that were left in the Land of Israel, from the Hand of the King of Babilon, would flee to the Land of Egypt, that they might have quietness there, but they went without the Word of God, and therefore their rest brought them to their ruine. Jer. 41. ch. 42. ch. 43.

Noah therefore chose the safest way, even to stay in the Ark, till Gods Word came: As it is also said of Joseph, The Word of the Lord Ps. 105. 19. tried him; till the Word of the Lord came to deliver him, and then he had deliverance indeed, as Noah also and David had, safe deliverance for himself and Relations.

218. Bring forth with thee every living thing that is with thee of all Flesh, both of Fowl, and of Cattel, and of every creeping thing that creepeth upon the Earth, that they may breed abundantly in the Earth, and be fruitful and multiply upon the Earth. Ver. 19.

Noah was not only to have in this deliverance, respect to himself and Family, but to the good of all the World: Mens Spirits are too narrow for the Mind of God, when their chief end, or their only design in their enjoying this or the other Mercy, is for the sake of their own selves only. It cannot be according to God, that such desires should be encouraged: None of us liveth unto himself, why then should we desire life only for our selves.

The Church cries thus, God be merciful to us, and bless us, and cause his face to shine upon us. Why? Psal. 67. 1, 2. That thy way may be known upon Earth, and thy saving health among all Nations.

So David, Restore unto me the joy of thy Salvation, and uphold me with thy free Spirit: Then will I Psal. 51. 12, 13. teach transgressors thy way, and Sinners shall be converted unto thee. So then, we must not desire to come out of Tryals and Afflictions alone, or by our selves, but that in our Deliverance the Salvation of many may be concerned. It is said, when Israel went up out of Egypt, there went up with them a mixed multitude, to wit, of Exod. 12. 37. 38. Egyptians, and other Nations: This going out of Captivity was right, they carried out with them the Fowls, the Beasts, and the creeping things; to wit, the Heathens of other Lands, and so added increase to the Church of God. In Esthers time also, when the Jews came from Esth. 8. 17. under the snare of Haman, they brought with them to God many of the people of the Provinces. Many of the people of the Land became Jews.

219. These words therefore, Bring forth with thee every living thing, &c. are not lightly to be passed over; for they shew us, that we ought in our deliverance to have special respect to the deliverance of others: And if our deliverance be with the word and liking of God, it must needs have this Effect. When I shall bring Ezek. 16. 53. again their captivity, the captivity of Sodom, and her Daughters, and the captivity of Gomorrah, and her Daughters, then will I bring again the captivity of thy Captives, in the midst of them.

And indeed there is reason for this, for in every Affliction and Persecution, the Devils design is to impair Christs Kingdom: Wherefore no marvel, that God designeth in our deliverance, the impairing and lessening the Kingdom of Sin and Satan. Wherefore, O thou Church of God in England, which art now upon the waves of Affliction, and Temptation, when thou comest out of the Furnace, if thou come out at the bidding of God, there shall come out with thee the Fowl, the Beast, and abundance of creeping things. O Judah, he Hos. 6. 11. hath set an harvest for thee, when I return the captivity of my people.

220. That they may breed abundantly in the Earth, and be fruitful and multiply upon the Earth.

This was Gods End in preserving the Creatures from the Flood, that again the Earth might be replenished therewith. The same End he hath in his suffering of the Persecu- Amos 7. 4, 5. tors, and all manner of Adversity to take away but a part, some; Some of them they shall kill and crucifie, leaving a remnant alive in the World, namely, that they might breed abundantly in the Earth, and be fruitful, and multiply upon the Earth. As he saith by the Pro- Isa. 27. 6, 7. 8, 9. phet Isaiah, He shall cause them that come of Jacob to take root, Israel shall blossom and bud, and fill the face of the World with fruit; and this after their deliverance from Persecution: Ac- Ch. 37. 31, 32. cording as he saith again, The remnant that is escaped of the house of Judah, shall again take root downward, and bear fruit upward: For out of Judah shall go forth a remnant, that is yet to repleniſh the Earth with Converts. As Luke observes, that when the Churches in Judea, Acts 9. 31 Galilee, and Samaria had rest, they walking in the fear of the Lord, and in the comforts of the Holy Ghost, were multiplied.

Ver. 18. 221. And Noah went forth, and his Sons, and his Wife, and his Sons Wives with him; Obedience is better than Sacrifice. Noah is at the beck of God, what he bid him do, that does he; and indeed this is in Truth to worship God, yea, this is to know and Worship God. It is said of Abraham, when he went at Gods Com- Gen. 22. 5. mand to offer up Isaac, that he counted it going to Worship the Lord. And God saith of Jer. 22. 15, 16. Hezekiah, that he did Justice and Judgment, judging the cause of the poor and needy; and then adds, Is not this to know me, saith the Lord? I bring these to shew, that Obedience to the Word of God, is the true character of Gods People in all Ages; and this very Text, as also such other before, is on purpose recorded by the Holy Ghost, to shew you, that Noah was obedient in all things; yea, I may add, these Commands were to discover the proof of him, whether he would be obedient in all 2 Cor. 2. 9. things; and this was also his way with New Testament Churches. The sincerity of Love, and of the uprightness of the Heart, is greatly discovered by the Commandments of God. Joh. 14. 21 He that hath my Commandments, and keepeth them, saith Christ, he it is that loveth me, &c.

Ver. 19. 222. Every Beast, every creeping thing, and every fowl, and whatsoever creepeth upon the Earth after their kind, went forth out of the Ark.

These words are yet a further Expression of the sincerity of Noahs Obedience, for that he at the Command of God, did carefully search and seek out every little creeping thing that God had brought to him into the Ark. Obedience in little things do oft-times prove us most; for we through the pride of our Hearts are apt to look over little things, because tho' commanded, they are but little. O but Noah was of another Spirit, he carefully looked after little things, even after every thing, whatsoever creepeth upon the Earth; and Jer. 23. Exod. 12, 13. Ezek. 3. 34, 37. Mat. 23. Luk. 14. not only so, but sought diligently that they might go out in order, to wit, Male and Female, according to their kind. Sometimes God would have men exact to a word, sometimes exact to a Tack, or Pin, or Loop, sometimes to a Step: Be careful then in little things, but yet leave not the other undone.

Indeed the Command of God is great; if He therefore commands us to worship him, tho' but with a Bird, we must not count such Ordinances insignificant, or below a humane Creature.

And Noah builded an Altar unto the Lord, and took of every clean Beast, and of every clean fowl, and offered burnt-offerings on the Altar. Ver. 20 223.

This is the first work that we read Noah did, when he came forth of the Ark, and it shews us, that at this time he had a deep sence of the distinguishing mercy of God. And indeed he had sufficient cause to wonder, for the whole World was drowned, save only himself, and they that were with him in the Ark.

But I say, this was the first work, to wit, to worship God. Hence note, that a sence of Mercy, of distinguishing Mercy, naturally engageth the Heart to worship. It is said of Moses, when the Name of the Lord was proclaimed before him, as merciful, gracious, and abundant in goodness and truth, and that he pardoned iniquity, transgression and sin; that he made haste, and bowed his head toward the Earth, and worshipped.

And Noah builded an Altar. Altho' this Altar be the first that we read of, yet forasmuch as there was before a blessed Church, and also an open profession of Godliness, together with offering Sacrifice, in all probability this was not the first Altar that was builded unto the Lord. Besides, we read not of any immediate Revelation, from which Noah had light and instruction to build it. The Text only saith, he built an Altar unto the Lord; which may be aptly expounded, according as he was wont in the other World.

This Altar was a Type of Christ, as capacitated to bear the Sin of the World (for the Altar was it upon which the Sacrifices were burnt;) wherefore it, in mine Opinion, in special respected his Godhead, by the power of which he offered himself, that is, his Flesh. Mat. 23. 19 Again it is said, the Altar Sanctifies the Gift: So did the Godhead the Humanity of Christ, thro' which Eternal Spirit, he offered himself without spot to God: By this Altar then this blessed man preached to his Family the Godhead and Eternity of Christ. Heb. 9. 14

And took of every clean Beast, and of every clean Fowl. 224 These Beasts and Fowls were Types of the Flesh of the Son of God, as Paul in the ninth and tenth Chapters to the Hebrews affirms; wherefore by this act he also preached to his Family the Incarnation of the Lord Christ, how that in the fulness of time he

he ſhould in our fleſh offer himſelf a Sacrifice for us; for as all the Ordinances of the New-Teſtament-Miniſtration preach to us, That Chriſt is come; ſo all the Ordinances of Worſhip under the Old-Teſtament preached to them that were under it, Chriſt, as yet to come.

Of every clean Beaſt, of every clean Fowl. This was to ſhew, That when Chriſt did come, he ſhould not take hold of the Jew, and exclude the Gentile; but that in his fleſh he ſhould preſent unto God every clean Beaſt, and every clean Fowl; that is, all the Elect, both of Jew and Gentile. Acts 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16.

And it was requiſite that this by Noah ſhould be preached, becauſe the whole World was yet in his Family; from whence, at the multiplication of Men, if through their Rebellion and Idolatry they loſt not this Doctrine, they might to all their Off-ſpring preach the Lord Jeſus.

Wherefore, the Doctrine of the Goſpel, had the World been faithful, might have been to this day retained amongſt them that now are the moſt barbarous People.

225. Ver. 11. And the Lord ſmelled a ſweet ſavour, (a ſavour of reſt;) and the Lord ſaid in his heart, I will not again curſe the ground any more for mans ſake; for the imagination of man's heart is evil from his youth: neither will I again ſmite any more every living thing, as I have done.

Theſe words more fully ſhew, that this Sacrifice of Noah was a Type of the offering up of the Body of Jeſus Chriſt, he being ſaid to be that bleſſed Sacrifice that is as Perfume in the Noſtrils of God: He gave himſelf for us an Offering and a Sacrifice to God for a ſweet-ſmelling ſavour. Eph. 5. 2. Beſides, this Offering of Noah was a Burnt-Offering to God; which burning ſignified, the Curſe of God, which Chriſt was made in his death for us: Wherefore, the Burnt-Offerings were all along a Type of him; as by reading the Epiſtle to the Hebrews you may ſee: It is the Burnt-Offering, ſaith God, becauſe of the burning upon the Altar all night, until the morning; and the Fire of the Altar ſhall be burning in it. Lev. 6. 9. Which was a Type of the Fire of the Law, and the Guilt of Sin, that Chriſt, when he offered himſelf, ſhould undergo for the Sins of Man.

And the Lord ſmelled a ſweet ſavour. This ſignifies the Content and Satisfaction that for the Sin of the World, God ſhould have by the offering up of his Son for us upon the Croſs: Wherefore, he is ſaid to be now in Chriſt, reconciling the world unto himſelf, not imputing their treſpaſſes to them. 2 Cor. 5. 19

226. Now it is obſervable, That Noah was a Man of Faith long before this. Hence note Two things.

1. That Men, even of eminent Faith, have yet need of a continual remembrance of the Death and Sufferings of Chriſt; yea, and that in the moſt plain and eaſieſt manner to underſtand.

2. They have need alſo, notwithſtanding they have Faith before, to preſent themſelves before God, through Jeſus Chriſt our Lord: For as our Perſons are not accepted, but in and through him, no more are our Performances; yea, though they be ſpiritual Services or Sacrifices; it is the Blood that maketh the Attonement, as well for Works as Perſons: As he ſaith in another place, I will accept you with your ſweet ſavour, but not without it: As he alſo ſaid to his Church in Egypt, When I ſee the blood, I will paſs over you; and the Plague ſhall not be upon you to deſtroy you, when I ſmite the Land of Egypt. 1 Pet. 2. 5. Lev. 17. 11. Heb. 9. 21. Ezek. 20. 41. Exod. 12. 13.

And the Lord ſaid in his heart, I will not again curſe, &c. By Heart here, we may underſtand Two things. 227.

1. That God was altogether unfeigned in this Promiſe. He ſpake it from his very Heart; which we uſe to count the moſt ſincere expreſſing of our Mind: According to that of the Prophet, Yea, I will rejoyce over them to do them good, and I will plant them in this Land aſſuredly, in truth, in ſtability, with my whole heart, and with my whole ſoul. Jer. 32. 41. Mark, I will rejoyce to do it, I will do it aſſuredly, I will do it in truth, even with my whole Heart, and with my whole Soul.

2. By his ſaying, In his Heart, we may underſtand, the Secrecy of his Purpoſe; for this Doctrine, Of not Curſing again, it is hid from all but thoſe to whom it is revealed by the Spirit of God. For this purpoſe, in the Heart of God, is one of the depths, or of the deep things of God, which the Spirit of a Man cannot underſtand: Who hath known the mind of the Lord? None of all the Sons of Men, but thoſe that have the Holy Ghoſt: Therefore Paul applyeth that to himſelf and Fellows, as that which is peculiar to them to know, We have the mind of Chriſt. 1 Cor. 2. 16. It is ſaid, that after Chriſt had by his Parables Preached his Goſpel to the World, he in private expounded all things to his Diſciples. Mark 4. 34.

Hence Note, That they that will hear God ſpeak this, they muſt be near his very Heart: They that are in his Heart, may hear it; but to them that are without, in Parables. This Secret, in Revelation of the Goſpel, is alſo expreſſed in other terms; as, That the Lord ſpake in mine Ears, and it was revealed in mine Ears: And again, Hear now this which I ſpeak in thine Ears. Iſa. 5. 9. Chap. 22. 14. Jer. 28. 7.

I will not again curſe the ground any more. Theſe words are alſo under Moſes's Veil; for in them is contained the Sin of the World, and Damnation thereof. He ſaid, when he was to bring the Flood, that the Earth was corrupt, and that he would deſtroy the Earth; but his great meaning, was, of the Sinners that dwelt therein; as the effect of that Flood declared. So he ſaith again, he will not bring any more a Flood to deſtroy the Earth; and that the Bow in the Cloud ſhould be a Sign of Peace between him and the Earth: By all which is meant in ſpecial, the Men that dwell on the Earth; and they are called, the Ground, and the Earth, becauſe they came from thence. So then, there is, as it were, the Foundation of all ſpiritual Bleſſedneſs couched under theſe words, I will not curſe the Ground, I will not deſtroy Man. 228. Gen. 6. 11, 13. Deut. 32. 2. Pſ. 114. 7. Jer. 6. 19. Chap. 22. 29. And that this muſt needs be the meaning thereof, conſider, that this Promiſe ariſeth from the ſweet ſavour that he ſmelt before in the Burnt-Offering; which was a Figure of Chriſt, who was made a Curſe for us, to deliver us from the Curſe of the Law; that we might through him obtain the Bleſſing of Gal. 3. 13.

Fargiveneſs

Forgiveness of Sins; to which the Curse stands directly opposite.

229. I will not again curse the ground for mans sake; for the imagination of man's heart is evil from his youth. The Imagination of Man's Heart, was the Ground of this dreadful Curse; and the Effect of this Curse, was, to lay them up in Chains in Hell: Wherefore Peter saith, These Men are now in Prison. The Curse therefore, in its most eminent Extention, reached the Souls of those ungodly Ones that were swept away with the Flood: But it seems a strange Argument, or Reason rendred of God, why again he would not curse the Ground, if it was because of the evil Imagination of Man's Heart, this being the only argument that prevailed with him to send the Flood. The meaning therefore is rather this, That because of the Satisfaction that Christ hath given to God for Sin, therefore he said in his heart, he would not again curse the Ground, for the evil Imagination of Man; that is, he would not do it, for want of a Sacrifice that had in it a sufficient Propitiation.

John 3. 18, 19. Hence Note, That the great Cause now of Man's Condemnation, is not because of his inherent Pollution, but because he accepteth not, with Noah, of the Satisfaction made by Christ; for to all them that have so accepted Rom. 8. 1. thereof, there is now no Curse nor Condemnation, though still the Imagination of their Heart 1 John 2. 1, 2. be evil: If any man sin, we have an Advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous.

230. For the imagination of mans heart is evil from his Youth. These words seem to insinuate the Cause of these evil Imaginations; and that is, from the Corruption of their Youth. Now Psal. 51. how soon their Youth was corrupted, David shews by these words, I was shapen in iniquity, Ezek. 16. 1,2,3,4,5, and in sin did my mother conceive me. Ezekiel also shews, we were polluted in the day that 6,7,8. we were born. Further, God to Moses strongly affirms it, in that he commands, That for Exo. 13. 13. Chap. 34. 20. the First-born, in whom the rest were included, an Offering should be offered, by that they were a month old. God seems therefore, by this word, to look back to the Transgression of our First Rom. 5. Parents, by whom Sin came into our Natures; and by so doing, he not only intimateth, yea, promiseth a Pardon to Personal Miscarriages; but assureth us, That neither them, nor yet our inward Pollutions, shall destroy us, because of the rest that he found before in Christ.

231. Neither will I again smite any more every living thing, as I have done. The Creatures therefore also have some kind of benefit by the Death and Blood of Christ; that is, so as to live, and have a being; for infinite Justice is so perfectly Just, as that without a Sacrifice it could not have suffered the World to stand, after Sin was in the World; but must have destroyed, for the sake of Sin, the World which he had made.

For although it be foully absurd to say Beasts and Fowls are defiled with Sin, as Man; yet doubtless they received detriment thereby: The Creature was made subject to vanity, by reason of him who hath subjected the same, &c. That is, by Adam's Sin. Which Vanity they also shew by divers of their Practices; as both in their Enmity to Man, and one to another, with which they were not created; this came by the Sin of Man. Now that Man lives, yea, that Beasts live, it is because of the offering up of Christ: Wherefore it is said in that of the Colossians, The Gospel is preached to Col. 1. 23. every Creature; in every Creature under Heaven; to wit, in that they live and have a being.

Neither will I again smite any more every living thing, as I have done. These words [as I have done] doth not exempt the Creature from every Judgment of God, but from this, or such as this; for we know, that other Judgments do befall ungodly Men now; and if they continue in final Impenitence, they shall partake of far greater Judgments than to be drowned by the Waters of a Flood: The wicked is reserved unto Job 21. Judgment; yea, the Heavens and the Earth that 30, 31. now are, are reserved unto Fire, and perdition of 2 Pet. 3. 7. ungodly Men.

While the Earth remaineth, Seed-time and Harvest, Cold and Heat, and Summer and Winter, and Day and Night, shall not cease. 232. Ver. 22.

While the Earth remaineth. These words may have respect both to the words before, and to them that follow after: If they respect the words before, then they are as limits to that large Promise, of not Destroying the World again: Not but that the Day will come, as I said, in which another general Judgment, and that too far more dreadful than this of Water, will over-flow the World, and every living thing shall again be cut off from the face of all the Earth; as now by Rain of Water, then by Rain of Fire and Brimstone: Which Day and sore Judgment God shewed unto Men, when he burned Sodom and Gomorrah with Fire and Brimstone from Heaven. But,

While the earth remaineth, this shall not be: But in the end, then indeed both it and the Works therein, shall (as Peter saith) be burned up: 2 Pet. 3. 10. But so long as it remaineth, that is, until it be overtaken with this second, and that too the beginning of Eternal Judgment, no universal Judgment shall over-run the Earth: For albeit that since that Flood, the Earth hath been smitten with many a Curse; yet it hath been but here and there, not in every place at once: Famines, and Earthquakes, and Pestilences, Mark 13. 8. Luke 21. 11. have been in divers places, but yet at the same time hath there been Seed-time and Harvest also.

Seed-time and Harvest, Cold and Heat, and Summer and Winter, and Day and Night, shall not cease. 233. These words were some of the first, with that of the Bow in the Cloud, that prevailed with me to believe that the Scriptures were the Word of God.

For my Reason tells me, they are, and have continued a True Prophecy, from the day that they were related; otherwise the World could not have subsisted; for take away Seed-time and Harvest, Cold and Heat, &c. and an end is put to the beginning of the Universe.

Besides, if these words be taken in a spiritual sence, they have also stood True from that very day; otherwise the Church had ceased to have a being long before this: For take away Seed-time and Harvest from the Church, with Cold and Heat, and Day and Night, and those those Ordinances of Heaven are taken from her, which were ordained for her Begetting and Continuation. This Head might with much largeness be insisted on, but to pass it, and to come to the next Chapter.

CHAP. IX.

34. r. 1. AND God blessed Noah, and his Sons, and said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth.

Noah having thus waded through these great Temptations, and being made also to partake of the Mercy of God, in preserving and saving him from the evil thereof, and being brought to partake of the beginning of a New World, while the Ungodly that were before the Flood were perished for their Iniquity: He receiveth now from the Mouth of the Lord, before whom he walked before the Flood, Laws and Ordinances, as Rules by which he should still govern his Life before him. But mark, Before he receiveth these Rules and Commandments, he receiveth Blessing from God; Blessing, I say, as that which should yet fore-fit him to do his Will.

And God blessed Noah. Blessed him with spiritual and special Grace; for without that, no Man can walk, with God's Acceptance, before him: He blessed him with Grace suitable to the Work he was now to begin; to wit, for the replenishing and governing the New World God had brought him to: So that Noah did not without precedent Qualifications take this Work upon him. God also gave Caleb and Joshua another Spirit, and then they followed him fully. That of David is for this remarkable: Who am I, said he, and 10.29. 11,12, 14,15. what is my people, that we should offer so willingly after this sort? for all things come of thee, and of thine own have we given thee. "O Lord God, "saith he, all this Store that we have pre- "pared to build thee an House for thine "holy Name, cometh of thine Hand, and is "all thine own." So is Faith, Love, Strength, Wisdom, Sincerity, and all other good things wherewith and by which we walk with God, Worship him, and do his Will: All which is comprized in these words, I will give them 24.7. 32.37, 39,40. 36. 6,27, 9. an heart to know me, that I am the Lord; and they shall be my People, and I will be their God; for they shall return to me with their whole heart. A new heart also will I give them. And again, I will put my fear in their hearts, and they shall not depart from me.

5. And God blessed Noah and his Sons, and said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the Earth. After he had blessed him, then he tells him what he should do; namely, Be fruitful, and multiply: This he spake with respect to the Seed that he and his Sons should beget, therewith to people the World; which was now the remaining part of his Work, and he had Three Arguments to encourage him thereto. First, He was delivered from the Wicked and Sinners of the Old World: He was made the Heir of a New World; and was to leave it as an Heritage to his Children.

This therefore should teach us, who are brought into the Kingdom of Christ, that New World that hath taken its beginning in the Word of the Gospel, not to be idle, but to be fruitful, and to labour to fill the World with a spiritual Seed to God: For as Noah, so are we made Heirs of this blessed Kingdom; and shall also, as that good Man, leave, when we sleep in Jesus, this spiritual Seed to possess the Kingdom after us. 2 Pet. 1. 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15.

236. Ver. 2. And the fear of you, and the dread of you, shall be upon every Beast of the Earth, and upon every Fowl of the Air; upon all that moveth upon the Earth, and upon all the Fish of the Sea; into your hand are they delivered.

These words seem to be a Promise of what shall be a consequence of their putting into practice what was commanded in the Verse before; namely, of their being fruitful, and of their multiplying in the Earth. Hence Note, That the faithful Observation of God's Word, puts Majesty, and Dread, and Terrour upon them that do it: Therefore it is said, that when the Church is fair as the Sun, and clear as the Moon, she is terrible as an Army with Banners. The presence of godly Samuel made the Elders of Bethlehem tremble; yea, when Elisha was sought for by the King of Syria, he durst not engage him, but with Chariots and Horses, and an heavy Host. Godliness is a wonderful thing, it commandeth Reverence, and the stooping of the Spirits, even of the World of ungodly Ones. Song. 6. 4, 10. 2 Kings 6. 13, 14. Acts 5. 13.

And the fear of you, and the dread of you, shall be upon every Beast. This is true in the Letter; for because there is upon Man, as Man, more of the Image and Similitude of God, than there is upon other Creatures; therefore the Beasts, and all the Creatures, are made to stoop and fall before them; yea, though in themselves they are mighty and fierce: Every Kind (or, Nature) of Birds, and of Serpents, and things in the Sea, is tamed, and hath been tamed by Mankind. Jam. 3. 7.

237. But to allegorize the Word, (for by the word ungodly Men are Beasts;) then, as I said before, Godliness puts such a majesty and dread upon the Professors of it, that their Enemies are afraid of them; yea, even then when they rage against them, and lay heavy Afflictions upon them. It is marvellous to see in what fear the Ungodly are, even of Godly Men, and Godliness; in that they stir up the Mighty, make Edicts against them; yea, and raise up Armies, and what else can be imagin'd, to suppress them; while the Persons thus opposed, if you consider them as to their state and capacity in this World, they are most inconsiderable; but as a dead Dog, or a Flea: O but they are cloathed with Godliness! the Image and Presence of God is upon them! This makes the Beasts of this World afraid: One of you shall chase a thousand. 1 Sam. 24. 14.

Into your hand are they delivered. That is, the Beasts, Birds, and Fish of the Sea (as David saith) to be for the service of Man. But again, This is also true in an higher Nature; for taking these Beasts, &c. for Men, even they are

2 Cor. 2. 15, 16. are delivered into the hand of the Church, by whoſe Doctrine, Power and Faith they are ſmitten with ſevereſt Judgments; laying all that reject them even in the depth of Death, Rev. 11. 6. and ſmiting them with all Plagues as often as they will. The world is therefore in our Hand, and diſpoſed of by our Doctrine, by our Faith and Prayers, although they think far otherwiſe, and ſhall one day feel their Judgments are according.

238. Ver. 3. Every moving thing that liveth, ſhall be meat for you; even as the green herb have I given you all things.

From theſe words ſome would inſinuate, That before the Flood Men lived only upon Herbs, not eating Fleſh; as here they have Authority granted to do: But, in mine Opinion, ſuch ſhould be miſtaken, for this Reaſon, if there were no other: Becauſe they offered Sacrifice before. Sacrifices, I ſay, as Types and Repreſentatives to the Church, of the Death and Sufferings of Chriſt: Now, of ſuch Sacrifices the Offerers uſed to eat, as is clear by the Lamb of the Paſſover, and many other Offerings: So that theſe words ſeem to be but a renewing of their former Priviledges, not a granting new Liberty to the World.

Deut. 14. Every moving thing. This muſt be taken with this Reſtriction, That is wholſom and good for Food: For by the Law of Nature, nothing of that is forbidden to Man, though for ſome Significations many ſuch Creatures were forbidden us to uſe for a time.

Gen. 1. 29. Even as the green Herb. For which they expreſly had liberty granted them, in the Firſt Chapter of this Book. And this Liberty might a-freſh be here repeated, from ſome ſcruple that might ariſe in Noah, &c. He remembring that the World before might, for the abuſe of the Creatures of God, as well as for the abuſe of his Worſhip, be drowned with the 1 Cor. 7. 1. Flood; for ſometimes the abuſe of that which Chap. 8. is Lawful to one, may be a Snare, Abuſe and Stumbling to another.

239. Ver. 4. But fleſh with the life thereof, which is the blood thereof, ſhall you not eat.

This Law ſeems to be Ceremonial, although given long before Moſes was; as alſo ſome Joh. 7. 22. Sacrifices and Circumciſion was: Wherefore we muſt ſeek for the Reaſon of this Prohibition: Lev. 17. 10, 11, 12. What man ſoever (ſaith God) there be of the houſe of Iſrael, that eateth any manner of blood, I will ſet my face againſt that ſoul that eateth blood, and will cut him off from among his people. Why? For the life of the fleſh is the blood, and I have given it to you upon the altar, to make an attonement for your ſouls; for it is the blood that maketh the attonement for the ſoul: therefore I ſaid to the Children of Iſrael, No ſoul of you ſhall eat blood. Again, As here the Prohibition is only concerning Blood; ſo in another place, the word is Lev. 3. 16, 17. as well againſt our eating the Fat: It ſhall be a perpetual ſtatute for your generations, throughout your dwellings, that you neither eat Fat nor Blood: And the reaſon rendred, is, For all the Fat is the Lord's.

240. So then the meaning, the ſpiritual meaning, ſeems to be this, That foraſmuch as the Blood is the Life, and that which maketh the Attonement; and the Fat, the Glory, and the Lord's; therefore they both were to be offered to the Lord: That is, we ought always to offer the Merit of our Salvation to God, by a continual acknowledgment, that it was through the Blood of Chriſt; and we ought always to Iſa. 25. 1. give him the glory thereof, and this is the Fat of all our Performances. Now this is ſo bleſſed a thing, and calleth for that Grace, that every Profeſſor hath not, every one cannot aſcribe to the Blood of the Lamb, the whole of his Reconciliation to God; nor offer up the * Fat, the Glory, which is God's, to the Lord for ſo great a benefit: This is the benefit of a peculiar People, even of the Prieſts, the Levites, the Sons of Zadok, or they that are Juſtified, or Juſt thereby; that kept the Charge of my Sanctuary, when the Children of Iſrael went aſtray from me; they ſhall come near to me, to miniſter unto me; and they ſhall ſtand before me, to offer unto me the Fat, and the Blood, ſaith the Lord God. Ezek. 44. 10, 11, 13, 14, 15.

* Vers. Zadok ſanctified.

Wherefore, for Men to aſcribe to their own Works the Merit of their Salvation, or to take the Glory thereof to themſelves; it is as eating the Blood and the Fat themſelves, and they ſhall be cut off from the People of God.

241. Ver. 5. And ſurely your blood of your lives will I require; at the hand of every beaſt will I require it; and at the hand of man, and at the hand of every man's brother, will I require the life of man.

Theſe words are ſpoken to the Church, which then reſided in this Family: Not but that God will avenge the Blood that is wrongfully ſhed, though the Perſon murdered be moſt carnal and irreligious: A man that doth violence to the blood of any perſon, ſhall flie to the pit; let no man ſtay him. Prov. 28. 17.

But I ſay, theſe words reſpect the Church in a more ſpecial and eminent way: Surely (ſaith God) your Blood of your Lives will I require. Thus alſo David inſinuates the thing: When he maketh inquiſition for blood, he remembreth them; the Saints and Godly in ſpecial; he forgetteth not the cry of the humble, the afflicted. Pſ. 9. 12.

At the hand of every Beaſt will I require it. The Beaſts are here alſo to be taken for Men, to whom they are frequently likened in Scripture; and that becauſe they have caſt off Humane Affections; and, like Savage Creatures, make a Prey of thoſe that are better than themſelves. Ignorance therefore, or Bruitiſhneſs, O thou wicked Man! will not excuſe thee in the Day of Judgment; all the Injuries that thou doeſt to the People of God, ſhall for certain be required of thee.

242 At the hand of Man will I require it. By [Man] here, we may underſtand, ſuch as have greater Place and ſhew of Reaſon wherewith they manage their Cruelty, than thoſe that are as the Natural Beaſt: For all Perſecutors are not brutiſh alike; ſome are in words as ſmooth as Oyl; others can ſhew a ſemblance of Reaſon of State, why they ſhould ſell the Righteous for Silver, and the Poor for a pair of Shoes: Theſe act, to Carnal Reaſon, like Men, as Saul againſt David, for the ſafety of his Kingdom; but theſe muſt give an Account of their Cruelty, for Blood is in their hands.

And

And at the hand of every man's brother will I require the life of man. This word [Brother] may reach in all the Apostatized Hypocrites that forsake or betray the Godly, (for Brother shall betray the Brother to death:) Such are spoken of in Isaiah, Your Brethren that hated you, saith God, and that cast you forth for my Name sake, said, Let the Lord be glorified; but he shall appear to your joy, and they shall be ashamed: So that let them be as vile as the Brute, or as reasonable in Appearance as Men, or as near in Relation as a Brother; neither their Ignorance, nor their Reason, nor their Relation to the Saints, shall secure them from the stroke of the Judgment of God.

Mat. 10. 21.

Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed; for in the Image of God made he him.

In these words we have both a Threatning and a Command; and the same words carry both: By Man shall his blood be shed, there is the Threatning; By Man shall his blood be shed, there is the Command: For as they threaten, so they instruct us, That he is worthy of the loss of his own Blood, that doth wickedly shed the Blood of another. Blood for Blood, equal measure: As he also saith elsewhere, An Eye for an Eye, a Tooth for a Tooth, Wound for Wound, Burning for Burning.

Mat. 26. 52. Rev. 13. 10. Exod. 21. 24. Lev. 24. 20 Deut. 19. 21.

For in the Image of God made he him. This seems as the Reason of this Equal Law; because no Man can slay his Neighbour, but he striketh at the Image of God. It is counted an heinous Crime for a Man to run his Sword at the Picture of a King, how much more to shed the Blood of the Image of God? He that mocketh, or oppresseth, the Poor, reproacheth his Maker; but he that honoureth him, hath mercy on the Poor: And if so, how much more do they reproach, yea, despise and abhorr their Maker, that slay and murther his Image? But most of all those do prove themselves the Enemies of God, that make the Holiness, the Goodness, the Religion and Sobriety that is found in the People of God, the Object of their Wrath, and hellish Cruelty. Hence Murther is, in the New-Testament, imputed to that Man that hateth a Holy and Godly Man: He that hateth his Brother, is a Murtherer; and we know that no Murtherer hath eternal life abiding in him.

Prov. 14. 31. & 17. 5.

1 Joh. 3. 15.

244. Ver. 7.

And you, be ye fruitful, and multiply; bring forth abundantly in the earth, and multiply therein. Thus he doubleth the Blessing and Command, of multiplying and encreasing the Church in the Earth, for that is the delight of God, and of Christ.

245. Ver. 8, 9.

And God spake unto Noah, and to his Sons with him, saying, And I, behold, I establish my Covenant with you, and with your Seed after you.

God having thus blessed them, and given them Laws and Judgments to walk by, for the further Confirmation of their Hope in God, he propoundeth to them the Immutability of his Mind, by the establishing of his Covenant with them; for a Covenant is that, which not only concludeth the Matter concerned between the Persons themselves; but it provideth Remedy against after Temptations, and Fears, and Mistrusts, as to the faithful Performance of that which is spoken of: As Laban said to Jacob, Now therefore (said he) come thou, let us make a Covenant, I and thou; and let it be for a witness between me and thee. Thus also the Apostle insinuates; where making mention of the Promise and Oath of God, he faith, this Promise and Oath are both Immutable, that we might have a strong consolation, or always Ground for great Rejoycing, who have fled for refuge, to lay hold on the hope set before us.

Heb. 6. 18, 19.

This Covenant therefore, it was for the Encouragement of Noah and his Sons, that they might walk before God without fear: Yea, it was to maintain their Hope in his Promise of Forgiveness, though they should find their after Performances mixed with Infirmities; for so he had told them before, namely, That he would not again destroy the Earth for Man's sake, albeit the imagination of man's heart be evil from his youth. I will establish my Covenant with you, and with your Seed after you.

246. Ver. 10.

And with every living Creature that is with you; of the Fowl, of the Cattel, and of every Beast of the Earth with you; from all that go out of the Ark, to every Beast of the earth. These words respect the whole *Creation; for all the things in the World, Devils only excepted, have a Benefit by this Covenant of God: And hence it is, that not Man only, but every thing that hath breath, is commanded to praise the Lord: But observe it; as for the Sin of Man, they before were destroyed by the Flood; so now, by reason of the Mercy of God to Man, they are spared, and partake of Mercy also: This is intimated by these words, Every Creature that is with you; every Beast of the Earth with you.

* See in Chap. 8.

247. Ver. 11.

And I will establish my Covenant with you, neither shall all flesh be cut off any more by the waters of the Flood: neither shall there be any more a Flood to destroy the Earth.

This is the summ of the Covenant, as it respecteth the Letter, and the Type, and the whole Creation in general: But yet as to the Spirit and Gospel of it, the Holy Ghost must needs have a further reach, an Intention of more glorious things, as may further be shewed anon.

And I will establish my Covenant with you. For you that are Men, and especially the Members of the Church, have the most peculiar share therein.

Neither shall all flesh be cut off any more by the Waters of a Flood. For because of my Covenant which I establish with you, I will spare them also, and give them the taste of my Mercy and Goodness.

Neither shall there be any more a Flood to destroy the Earth. This Covenant therefore, is not of that Nature as the Covenant was which was made with Adam, (to wit, a Covenant of Works, as the only Conditions of Life;) for by that was the Ground, for Man's Sin, Accursed, Accursed, and Accursed again: But now the Lord goeth another way, the way of Grace, and Forgiveness of Sins: Wherefore now, not the Curse, but the Mercy of God, comes in on the back and neck of Sin, still sparing and forgiving Man, the great Transgressor, and the Beast, &c. and the Earth, for the sake of him.

248. Ver. 12, 13.

And God said, This is the Token of the Covenant which I make between me and you, and every living Creature that is with you, for perpetual Generations. I do set my Bow in the Cloud, and it shall be for a Token of a Covenant between Me and the Earth.

So then, the way to find out the Covenant, what that is, it is to see if we can find out this Token of it; to wit, the Bow, of which the Rain-bow is but a Type. I find then by the Scriptures, where this Bow is mystically spoken of, that the Lord Jesus Christ himself is encompassed with the Bow. The First is this:

And above the firmament that was over their heads, was the likeneſs of a Throne, as the appearance of a Saphire-ſtone; and upon the likeneſs Ezek. 1, 26, 27, 28. of the Throne, was the likeneſs, as the appearance of a Man upon it. And I ſaw, as the colour of Amber, as the appearance of fire round about within: from the appearance of his Loyns, even upward, and from the appearance of his Loyns even downward; I ſaw as it were the appearance of Fire, and it had brightneſs round about. As the appearance of the BOW that is in the Cloud in the day of rain, ſo was the appearance of the brightneſs round about: This was the appearence of the likeneſs of the glory of the Lord, the Man, the Lords Chriſt, &c.

249. Rev. 4. 2, 3. The ſecond Scripture is this: I was in the Spirit, and behold a Throne was ſet in Heaven, and one ſat on the Throne, and he that ſat was to look upon like a Jaſper and a Sardine ſtone, and there was a rainbow round about the Throne, like unto an Emerald. In theſe two Texts there is mention of the Rainbow, that was, not to be the Covenant, but the Token or Sign thereof. Now then the Covenant it ſelf muſt needs be the Man that was ſet in the midſt of the Bow upon the Throne: For ſo he ſaith by the Prophet, I the Lord have called thee in righteouſneſs, and will
Iſa. 42. 6. hold thine hand, and will keep thee, and give thee for a Covenant of the people. The Covenant therefore is Jeſus Chriſt the Saviour, whom the Bow in the Cloud was a Sign or a Token of. So then the ſumm of the Text is this, That God for the ſake of the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, will not again all the dayes of the Earth bring an univerſal Judgment upon the Creature, as in the days of Noah, and of the old World he did; for Chriſt by the Worth of his Blood and Righteouſneſs hath pacified the Juſtice of the Law for Sin: So then the whole Univerſe ſtandeth not upon a bottom of its own, but by the Word and Heb. 1. 2, 3. Pſal. 75. 3. Power of Chriſt. The Earth, ſaith he, and the inhabitants thereof are diſſolved, I bear up the pillars of it.

Queſt. But how muſt Chriſt be reckoned of God, when he maketh him the poize againſt all the Sin of the World.

The Prophet tells us thus: He ſhall be the Covenant of the People, or he ſhall be accounted the Conditions and Worth of the World; He ſhall be the Covenant, or Works, or Righteouſneſs of the People; for He, as the High Prieſt under the Law, is ſet for the people to God-ward; that is, he ſtandeth always in the preſence of God, as the compleat Obedience of the People. So then, ſo long as the Lord Chriſt bears up his Mediatorſhip, God in Juſtice will neither deſtroy the World, nor the things that are therein.

In this Covenant therefore, the Juſtice as well as the Mercy of God is diſplayed in it's perfection, inaſmuch as without the perfection of the Mediator Chriſt, the World could not be ſaved from judgment.

250. Ver. 14. And it ſhall come to paſs, when I bring a Cloud over the Earth, that the Bow ſhall be ſeen in the Cloud.

By theſe words the Lord looks back to the Flood that before had drowned the Earth; for in thoſe Clouds there was no Bow, no Token of Chriſt, or of the Mercy of God: But now, ſaith God, I will do far otherwiſe; from hence forth when I bring a Cloud, and there be ſhowers of rain on the Earth, theſe Clouds ſhall not be as the other, but my Bow ſhall be therein.

The Cloud then, that here is ſpoken of, muſt be underſtood of the Judgment of God for Sin, like thoſe before, and at the overthrow of the World; only with this difference, they were Clouds, Judgments without Mercy, but theſe Judgments mixed therewith; and often the Clouds are thus to be underſtood. Job when he curſeth his day, ſaith, Let a Cloud dwell upon it. So the Judgments of God upon Sion, are called the Covering of a Cloud: So in Joel alſo, to the darkneſs of Clouds are the Judgments of the Church compared; yea that Pillar that went before the Children of Iſrael, it being a Judgment to the People of Egypt, goes under this Epithite, as a term moſt fit to expreſs this Judgment by, it was a Cloud and darkneſs to them.

Job 3. 5. Lam. 2. 1. Joel 2. 2. Exod. 14. 20.

And now to the Cloud in hand, the Cloud in which is the Bow, the Cloud of Rain, altho' by the Mercy and Grace of God it is ſo great a bleſſing as it is, yet it ſometimes becomes a Judgment, it comes for Correction, as a Rod to afflict the Inhabitants of the World withall. Thus it was in the days of Ezra, and very often both before and ſince.

Job 37. 13. Ezra 10. 12, 13, 14.

251. The Bow ſhall be ſeen in the Cloud. This is the Mercy of God to the World, and that by which it hath been hitherto preſerved; The Bow ſhall be ſeen in the Cloud. You know I told you of the Bow before, that it was a ſign or Token of the Covenant of God with the World, and that the Covenant it ſelf was Chriſt, as given of God unto us, with all his good Conditions, Merit and Worth. So then, in that God ſet this Bow in the Cloud, and eſpecially in the Clouds that he ſends for Judgment, he would have the World remember, that there comes no Judgment as yet on the World, but it is mixed with, or poized by the Mercy of God in Chriſt.

The Bow ſhall be ſeen in the Cloud. This may reſpect God, or the World, that is, the ſeeing of the Bow in the Cloud; if it reſpect God, then it tells us he in Judgment will remember Mercy; if it reſpect the World, then it admoniſheth us not to deſpond, or ſink in deſpair under the greateſt Judgment of God, for the Bow, the Token of his Covenant, is ſeen in the Judgments that he executeth.

When the Viſion of the ruine of Jeruſalem was revealed to the Prophet Ezekiel, he ſaw that yet Chriſt ſat under the Bow. Ezek. 1.

When Antichriſt was to come againſt the Saints of God, the Commiſſion came from Chriſt, as he ſat under the Bow. This John did ſee and relate, of which we ſhould take ſpecial notice; for by this Token God would have us to know that theſe Clouds, though they come for correction, yet not to deſtroy the Church. Rev. 4.

252. Ver. 15. My Bow ſhall be ſeen in the Cloud.

And I will remember my Covenant which is between me and you, and every living Creature of all Fleſh, and the Waters ſhall no more become a flood to deſtroy all Fleſh.

And I will remember my Covenant. Much like this this is that of the Lord to Israel, when they are under all, or any of those forty Judgments mentioned Leviticus 26. If they confess their iniquities, saith he, and the iniquities of their Fathers, &c. then will I remember my Lev.25.42 Covenant with Jacob, and also my Covenant with Isaac, and also my Covenant with Abraham will I remember, and I will remember the Land. His usual way in other sayings, is to begin with Abraham, but here he ends with him; and the reason is, because there, as it were, the great promise of the Messias to that people began, Saying, in thy Seed shall all Nations be blessed.

And I will remember my Covenant which is between me and you. We read not here of any Compact or Agreement between Noah and God Almighty; wherefore such Conditions and Compacts could not be the Terms between him and us: What then? why that Covenant that he calls his, which is his gift to us, I will give thee for a Covenant; this is the Covenant which is between God and us: There is one God, and one Mediator between God and Man, the Man Christ Jesus. This then is the reason why all the Waters, why all the Judgments of God, and why all the Sins that have provoked those Judgments, cannot become a Flood to destroy all Flesh.

253. And the Bow shall be in the Cloud, and I will Ver. 16. look upon it, that I may remember the everlasting Covenant between God, and every living Creature of all Flesh that is upon the Earth.

And the Bow shall be in the Cloud. This is a kind of a repetition; for this he had told us before, saying, I do set my Bow in the Cloud, and the Bow shall be seen in the Cloud: Which repetition is very needful, for it is hard for us to believe that Christ and Grace are wrapped up in the Judgments of God. Wherefore it had need be attested twice and thrice: Phil. 3. 1. 2 Pet. 1.12 To write the same things to you, saith Paul, to me indeed is not grievous, but for you it is safe.

And I will look upon. A familiar Expression, and suited to our Capacity, and spoken to prevent a further ground of Mistrust; much like to that of God, when he was to send the plague upon Egypt: The blood saith Exo. 12.13 God, (of the Lamb) shall be to you for a token upon the houses where you are, and when I see the Blood I will pass over you, and the plague shall not be upon you, to destroy you, when I smite the Land of Egypt.

And I will look upon it, that I may remember. Not that God is forgetful, He is ever mindful of his Covenant: But such expressions are used to shew and perswade us that the whole Heart and Delight of God is in it.

That I may remember the everlasting Covenant. This word Covenant is also the sixth repetition thereof; my Covenant, the Covenant, a Covenant, and the everlasting Covenant. O how fain would God beat it into the Heads of the World, that he hath for men a Covenant of Grace.

254. The everlasting Covenant. Because the parties on both sides are faithful, perfect and true; the Father being the one, and the Son of his Love the other; for this Covenant, as I said before, is not a Compact and Agreement betwixt God and the World, but his Son, as his gift to Men, is set for them to Godward. Zech.9.11 So that what Conditions there are, they are Heb.13.20 perfectly found in Christ, by whose Blood the Covenant is sealed and established, and indeed becomes everlasting. Hence it is called the Blood of the everlasting Covenant: And again, the New Testament is said to be in this Blood. Besides, the Promises are all in Christ, I mean the Promises of this Covenant; in him they are Yea, and in him Amen, to the Glory of God the Father: Now they being all in him, and Yea and Amen no where else, the Covenant it self must needs be of pure Grace and Mercy, and the Bow in the Cloud, not Qualifications in us, the proper tokens of this Covenant.

And God said unto Noah, This is the token of Ver. 17. the Covenant, which I have established between me 255. and all flesh that is upon the Earth.

Behold a repetition of all things that were essential either to the Covenant it self, or to our Faith therein, the making of the Covenant, the looking on the Covenant, and the token of the Covenant; how oft are they mentioned, that we might be more fully convinced of the unchangeable Nature of it: as Joseph Gen.41.32 said unto Pharaoh, For that the Dream was doubled unto Pharroh twice, it is because the thing is established by God.

And God said unto Noah. Where God loveth, he delighteth to apply himself to such, in a more than general way; he singleth out the person, Noah, Abraham, and the like. I know thee by name, saith he to Moses, and thou hast found Grace in thy sight.

This is the token of the Covenant. It still wants beating into peoples heads, where they should look for the Covenant it self, to wit, the Throne which the Rainbow compasseth round about; for that is the token of the presence of the Messias, and thither we are to look for Salvation from all plagues, and from all the Judgments that are due to sin: The Lord for Christs sake forgave you, this is the token of the Covenant.

Of the Covenant which I have established. This word [I] (as I also hinted before) doth intimate that this Covenant is the Covenant of Grace and Mercy, for a Covenant of Works cannot be established; that is, settled between God and Men, before both parties have either by Sureties, or performance ratified and confirmed the same. Indeed it may be so established, as that God will appoint no other; but to be so established, as to give us the Fruits thereof, that must be the Effects of his being well pleased with the Conditions Zech.9.11 of those concerned in the making thereof: But that is not the World, but the Son of God, and therefore it is called his Covenant, and He as given to us of God, is so reckoned our Condition and Worth.

Which I have Established: To wit, upon better Promises than Duties purely commanded, or than the obedience of all the Angels in Heaven: I have established it in the Truth and Faithfulness, in the Merit and Worth of the Blood of my Son, of whom the Rainbow that you see in the Cloud is a Token.

256. Ver. 18. And the Sons of Noah that went forth of the Ark, were Shem, Ham, and Japhet; and Ham is the Father of Canaan.

By theſe words Moſes is returned again to the Hiſtory of Noah: And the Sons of Noah that went forth of the Ark. If theſe words [that went forth of the Ark] bear the Emphaſis of this part of the Verſe, then it may ſeem that Noah had more Children than theſe; but they were not accounted of; for they being ungodly, as the reſt of the World, they periſhed with them in their ungodlineſs: Theſe only went in, and came out of the Ark with him; to wit, Shem, and Ham, and Japhet. The Names thus placed, is not according to their Birth; for Japhet was the Elder, Ham the Younger, and Shem the Middlemoſt of the two.

Chap.10.21 Chap.9.24 Shem therefore takes the Place, becauſe of his Eminency in Godlineſs; alſo, becauſe from him went the Line up to Chriſt: For which cauſe alſo the Family of the Sons of Judah (though he was but the Fourth Son of Iſrael) was reckoned before the Family of Reuben, 1 Chr. 2. 3. Jacob's Firſt-born; or before the reſt of the Sons of his Brethren. Sometimes Perſons take their Place in Genealogy, from the fore-ſight of the mightineſs of their Off-ſpring: Thus Gen. 48. 17, 18, 19, 20. was Ephraim placed before Manaſſeh; for, Truly (ſaid Jacob) his younger Brother ſhall be greater than he.—And he ſet Ephraim before Manaſſeh.

257. Ham is the next in order; not for the ſake of his Birthright, or becauſe he was much, if any thing, now for Godlineſs; but for that he was the next to be eminent in his Off-ſpring, for oppoſing and fighting againſt the ſame.

Shem and Ham therefore the two Heads, or Chief, from whence ſprang Good and Evil Men, by way of Eminency. Ham is the Father of Canaan, or of the Canaanites, the People of God's Curſe, whom the Sons of Shem, who afterwards ſprang from Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob, was to cut off from the Earth, for their moſt high Abominations.

Japhet comes in, in the Firſt place, as one that, at preſent, was leaſt concerned either in the Mercy or Diſpleaſure of God; being neither (in his Off-ſpring) to be devoutly Religious, nor yet incorrigibly Wicked, though afterwards he was to be perſwaded to dwell in the Tents of Shem.

Ver. 19. Theſe are the three Sons of Noah, and of them was the whole Earth over-ſpread.

Thus, though Noah's Beginning was ſmall, his Latter-End did greatly encreaſe.

Ver. 20, 21. And Noah began to be an Husbandman, and he planted a Vineyard.—And he drank of the Wine, and was drunken; and he was uncovered within his Tent.

258. This is the Blot in this good Man's Scutcheon; and a ſtrange Blot it is, that ſuch an One as Noah ſhould be thus overtaken with Evil! One would have thought that Moſes ſhould now have began with a Relation of ſome Eminent Vertues, and Honourable Actions of Noah, ſince now he was ſaved from the Death that overtook the whole World, and was delivered, both he and his Children, to poſſeſs the whole Earth himſelf. Indeed, he ſtepped from the Ark to the Altar; as Iſrael of old did Sing on the Shore of the Red-Sea: But, as they, he ſoon forgat; he rendred Evil to God for Good.

Neither is Noah alone in this Matter: Lot alſo being delivered from that Fire from Heaven that burnt up Sodom and Gomorrah, falls ſoon after into Lewdneſs with the Children of his Body, and begetteth his own two Daughters with Child. Gen. 19. 31, 32, 33.

Gideon alſo, after he was delivered out of the Hands of his Enemies, took that very Gold which God had given him, as the Spoyl of them that hated him, and made himſelf Idols therewith. What ſhall I ſay of David? and of Solomon alſo, who after he had been Twenty Years at work for the Service of the True God, both in Building and Preparing for his Worſhip, and in Writing of Proverbs by Divine Inſpiration, did, after this, make Temples for Idols; yea, almoſt for the Gods of all Countries? Yea, he did it when he was old, when he ſhould have been preparing for his Grave, and for Eternity. It came to paſs when Solomon was old, that his Wives turned away his heart after other Gods; for Solomon went after Aſhtoreth, the Goddeſs of the Zidonians; and after Milcom, the Abomination of the Amonites. He did alſo build an high place for Chemoſh, the Abomination of Moab, in the hill before Jeruſalem; and for Molech, the Abomination of the Children of Amon. And likewiſe did he for all his ſtrange Wives, which burnt Incenſe, and ſacrificed unto their Gods. Judg. 8. 25, 26, 27. 1 Kings 11. 4, 5, 6, 7, 8.

All theſe Sins were Sins againſt Mercies; yea, and doubtleſs againſt Covenants, and the moſt ſolemn Reſolutions to the contrary. For who can imagine, but that when Noah was toſſed with the Flood, and Lot within the ſcent and ſmell of the Fire and Brimſtone (that burned down Sodom, with his Sons, and his Daughters;) and Gideon, when ſo fiercely engaged with ſo great an Enemy, and delivered by ſo ſtrange a Hand; ſhould in the moſt ſolemn manner both Promiſe and Vow to God: But behold! now they in truth are delivered and ſaved, they recompenſe all with Sin. Lord, what is Man! How abominable and filthy is Man, who drinketh in iniquity like water. Let theſe things learn us to ceaſe from man, whoſe breath is in his noſtrils; for wherein is he to be accounted of? Indeed, it is a vain thing to build our Faith upon the moſt godly Man in the World, becauſe he is ſubject to err; yea, far better than He was ſo. If Noah, and Lot, and Gideon, and David, and Solomon, who wanted not Matter from Arguments, and that of the ſtrongeſt kind, (as Arguments that are drawn from Mercy and Goodneſs be,) to ingage to Holineſs, and the Fear of God; yet after all, did ſo foully fall, as we ſee: Let us admire Grace, that any ſtand; let the Strongeſt fear, leſt he fearfully fall; and let no Man but Jeſus Chriſt himſelf be the abſolute Platform and Pattern of Faith and Holineſs: As the Prophet ſaith, Let us ceaſe from Man. But to return: 259. Job. 14. 11. Iſa. 2. 22.

And Noah began to be an Husband-man. This Trade he took up for want of better Employment; or rather (in mine Opinion) from ſome Liberty he took to himſelf, to be remiſs in his Care and Work, as a Preacher: For ſeeing the Church was now at reſt, and having the 260.

World

World before them, they ſtill retaining outward Sobriety, poor Noah, good Man, now might think with himſelf, "I need not "now be ſo diligent, watchful and painful in "my Miniſtry as formerly; the Church is but "ſmall, without Oppoſition, and alſo well "ſettled in the Truth; I may now take "to my ſelf a little time to tamper with "Worldly things." So he makes an Eſſay upon Husbandry. He began to be an Husbandman. Ha, Noah! it was better with thee when thou waſt better employed! Yea, it was better with thee, when a world of ungodly Men ſet themſelves againſt thee! Yea, when every day thy Life was in danger to be deſtroyed by the Giants, againſt whom thou waſt a Preacher above an hundred years! For then thou didſt walk with God! Then thou waſt better than all the World; but now thou art in the relapſe!

Hence Note, That though the Days of Affliction, of Temptation and Diſtreſs, are harſh to Fleſh and Blood; yet they are not half ſo dangerous as are the Days of Peace and Liberty. Wherefore Moſes pre-admoniſhed Iſrael, That when they had received Deut. 8. 10, the Land of Canaan, and had Herds, and Sil-
11, 12, 13, ver and Gold in abundance, that then their
14, 15. heart be not lifted up to forget the Lord their God. Jeſurun kicked when he was fat. O! when Provinder pricks us, we are apt to be as the Horſe or Mule, that is without underſtanding.

261. He planted a Vineyard, and drank of the Wine, and was drunken. Although in the courſe of Godlineſs, many Men have but a ſpeculative Knowledge of Things; yet it is not ſo in the ways of this World and Sin, the practical part of theſe things are lived in by all the World. They are Sinners indeed, He drank of the Wine.

He drank of the Wine, and was drunken. The Holy Ghoſt, when it hath to do with Sin, it loveth to give it its own Name: Drunkenneſs muſt be Drunkenneſs, Murther muſt be Murther, and Adultery muſt bear its own Name: Nay, it is neither the Goodneſs of the Man, nor his being in Favour with God, that will cauſe him to leſſen or mince his Sin: Noah was drunken; Lot lay with his Daughters; David killed Uriah; Peter Curſed and Swore in the Garden, and alſo Diſſembled at Antioch. But this is not Recorded, to the intent that the Name of theſe Godly ſhould rot or ſtink; but to ſhew, that the beſt Men are nothing without Grace; and, that he that ſtandeth, ſhould not be high-minded, but fear. Yea, they are alſo Recorded, for the Support of the Tempted, who when they are fallen, are oft raiſed up by conſidering the Infirmities of others:
Rom. 15. 4. Whatſoever was writ afore-time, was written for our Learning, that we through patience and comfort of the Scriptures might have hope.

262. And he was uncovered within his Tent. That is, He lay like a drunken Man, that regarded not who ſaw his Shame. Hence Note, how beaſtly a Sin Drunkenneſs is; it bereaveth a Man of Conſideration, and Civil Behaviour; it makes him as bruitiſh and ſhameleſs as a Beaſt; yea, it diſcovereth his Nakedneſs to all that behold.

And he was uncovered. That is, lay naked. Behold ye now, that a little of the Fruit of the Vine, lays Gravity, Grey Hairs, and a Man that for hundreds of years was a Lover of Faith, Holineſs, Goodneſs, Sobriety, and all Righteouſneſs, ſhamelefly, as the Object to the Eye of the Wicked, with his Nakedneſs in his Tent.

He was uncovered within his Tent. The beſt place of Retirement he had, but it could not hide him from the Eye of the Ungodly: It is not therefore thy ſecret Chamber, nor thy lurking in Holes, that will hide thee from the Eye of the Reproacher: Nothing can do this but Righteouſneſs, Goodneſs, Sobriety and Faithfulneſs to God; this will hide thee; theſe are the Garments, which, if they be on thee, will keep thee, that the ſhame of thy Nakedneſs do not appear. Rev. 16. 15.

Ver. 22. 263. And Ham, the Father of Canaan, ſaw the nakedneſs of his Father, and told his two Brethren without.

Ham was the unſanctified One, the Father of the Children of the Curſe of God: He ſaw the Nakedneſs of his Father, and he blazed abroad the Matter. Hence Note, That the Wicked and Ungodly Man, is he that doth watch for the Infirmities of the Godly: As David ſays, They watched for my halting: Indeed, they know not elſe how to Juſtifie their own Ungodlineſs; but this, inſtead of Excuſing them of their Wickedneſs, doth but Juſtifie the Word againſt them; for by this they prove themſelves Graceleſs, and Men that watch for Iniquity: They ſaid in their hearts, (ſaid David,) Ah! ſo would we have it. Pſ. 35. 25. Amon ſaid, Aha! againſt the Sanctuary when it was profaned, and againſt the Land of Iſrael when it was deſolate, and againſt the Houſe of Judah when it went into captivity. Ezek. 25. 3. Chap. 26. 2 & 36. 2. The Enmity that is in the Hearts of ungodly Men, will not ſuffer them to do otherwiſe; when they ſee Evil befall the Saint, they rejoyce and skip for joy.

HE ſaw the Nakedneſs of his Father. Hence Note, That Saints can rarely ſlip, but the Eyes of the Canaanites will ſee them. This ſhould make us walk in the World with jealous Eyes, with Eyes that look round about, not only to what we are and do, but alſo, how what we do is reſented in the World: Gen. 13. 7, Abraham was good at this, and ſo was Iſaac 8, 9. and Jacob; for they tendred more the Honour Chap. 34. and Glory of God, than they minded their own Concerns. 30.

He ſaw the Nakedneſs of his FATHER. Who was the neareſt and deareſt Relation he had in the World; yet neither Relation, nor Kin, nor all the Good that his Father had done him, could keep his polluted Lips from declaring his Father's Follies, but out they muſt go; the ſin of his own defiled Heart muſt take place of the Fifth Commandment, and muſt rather ſolace it ſelf in Rejoycing in his Father's Iniquity, than in Covering ing his Father's Nakedneſs. Wicked Men regard not Kindred; and no marvel, for they love not Godlineſs: He that loveth not God, Prov.8.36. loveth not his Brother, or Father; nay, he wrongeth his own Soul.

And he told his two Brethren without. He told them; that is, mockingly, reflecting not only upon Noah, but alſo upon his Brethren; to all of whom himſelf was far inferiour, both as to Grace and Humanity.

264. Ver. 23. And Shem and Japheth took a Garment, and laid it upon both their ſhoulders, and went backwards, and covered the nakedneſs of their Father; and their faces were backward, and they ſaw not their Father's nakedneſs.

Shem and Japheth did it: This is recorded for the Renown of theſe, as the Action of Ham is for his perpetual Infamy.

They took a Garment, and went backward, and covered their Father, and ſaw not his nakedneſs. Love will attempt to do that with difficulty, that it cannot accompliſh otherwiſe. I think it might be from this Action, that the Wiſe Prov.10.12 Man gathereth his Proverb from: Hatred ſtirreth up Strifes, but Love covereth all Sins. Indeed, Ham would fain have made Variance between his Father and his Brethren, by preſenting the Folly of the one, to the Shame and Provocation of the other: But Shem, and his Brother Japheth, they took the courſe to prevent it; they covered their Father's Nakedneſs.

265. Ver. 24. And Noah awoke from his Wine, and knew what his younger Son had done unto him.

By theſe words more is implied than expreſſed; for this awaking of Noah, not only informeth us of Natural awaking from Sleep, but of his Spiritual awaking from his Sin: He awoke from his Wine: As Ely ſaid to 1 Sam. 1. Hannah, How long wilt thou be drunken? Put 14. away thy Wine from thee. By which words he exhorteth to Repentance. It is ſaid of Nabal, That his Wine went from him, as many Mens Sins forſake them, becauſe they are decayed, and want ſtrength and opportunity to perform them. Now this may be done, where the Heart remaineth yet unſanctified: But Noah awoke from his Wine, put it away, or, repented him of the evil Prov. 24. 16. of his doing: A juſt man falleth ſeven times, and riſeth again, but the wicked ſhall fall into miſchief. Wherefore they have cauſe to ſay Mic. 7. 8. to all the Ham's in the World, Rejoyce not againſt me, O thou mine Enemy! for when I fall, I ſhall ariſe; but your fall, is, a fall into miſchief.

He knew what his younger Son had done unto him. Whether this was by Revelation from Heaven, or through the Information of Japhet and Shem, I determine not; but ſo it was, that the good Man had underſtnnding thereof: Which might be requiſite upon a double account; not only that he might now be aſhamed thereof; but take notice, that he had cauſed the Enemies of God to reproach; for this ſinks deep into a good Man's Heart, and afflicteth him ſo much the more.

And he ſaid, Curſed be Canaan; a Servant of 266. Servants ſhall he be unto his Brethren. Ver. 25.

By theſe words one would think that Canaan, the Grand-child of Noah, was the firſt that diſcovered his Nakedneſs; but of this I am uncertain: I rather think that Noah, in a ſpirit of Prophecy, determined the Deſtruction of Ham's Poſterity, from the prodigiouſneſs of his wicked Action, and of his Name, which ſignifieth Indignation, Gen. 27. or Heat; for Names of old were oft-times 36. given according to the Nature and Deſtiny of the Perſon's concerned. Is not he rightly called Jacob? And again, As his Name is, 1 Sam. 25. ſo is he. Beſides, by this Act did Ham declare himſelf void of the Grace of God; for he that rejoyceth in Iniquity, or that maketh a mock, as being ſecretly pleaſed with or at the Infirmities of the Godly, he is declared already, by the Spirit of God, to be 1 Cor. 13. nothing.

A Servant of Servants ſhall he be unto his Brethren. This was accompliſhed when Iſrael took the Land of Canaan, and made the Off-ſpring of this ſame Ham, even ſo many as eſcaped the Edge of the Sword, to be Captives, and Bondſmen, and Tributers unto them.

Hence Note, That the Cenſures of good Men are dreadful, and not lightly to be paſſed over, whether they Propheſie of Evil or Good; becauſe they ſpeak in Judgment, and according to the Tenor of the Word of God.

And he ſaid, Bleſſed be the Lord God of Shem; Ver. 26. and Canaan ſhall be his Servant.

267. Shem ſeems by this, to be the firſt in that Action of Love to his Father; and that Japhet did help through his Perſwaſion; for Shem is bleſſed in a ſpecial manner, and Canaan is made his Servant.

Hence Note, That forwardneſs in things that are good, is a bleſſed Sign that the Lord is our God: Bleſſed be the Lord God of Shem. It is ſaid of Hananiah, That he was a faithful man, and feared God above Nehem. 7. 2. many. Now ſuch Men are Provocations to Good, as I doubt not but Shem's was to Japheth: As Paul ſaith of ſome, Your zeal hath 2 Cor. 9. 2. provoked very many.

God ſhall inlarge Japhet, and he ſhall dwell in the Ver. 27. Tents of Shem.

268. In the Margin, 'tis, God ſhall perſwade: And it looks like a Confirmation of what I ſaid before, and is a Prophecy of that Requital of Love that God ſhould one day give his Poſterity, for his Kindneſs to Noah his Father: As if Noah had ſaid, "Well, "Japhet, thou waſt ſoon perſwaded by Shem "to ſhew Kindneſs to me thy Father, and "the Lord ſhall hereafter perſwade thy Po"ſterity to truſt in the God of Shem.

God ſhall enlarge. This may reſpect Liberty of Soul, or how great the Church of the Gentiles ſhould be; for Japhet was the Fa- Gen. 10. 5. ther of the Gentiles.

If it reſpect the firſt, then it ſhews, That Sin is as Fetters and Chains that hold Souls in Captivity and Thraldom. And hence, when when Christ doth come in the Gospel, it is

18. to preach deliverance to Captives, and to set at liberty them that are bruised.

God shall perswade. That is, God shall enlarge him by Perswasion; for the Gospel knows no other Compulsion, but to force by Argumentation. Them therefore that God brings into the Tents, or Churches of Christ, they by the Gospel are inlarged from the Bondage and Thraldom of the Devil, and perswaded also to embrace his Grace to Salvation.

9. And Noah lived after the Flood three hundred
28. and fifty years.

He lived therefore to see Abraham fifty and eight years old: He lived also to see the Foundation of Babel lay'd; nay, the Top Stone thereof: and also the Confusion of Tongues: He lived to see of the Fruit of his Loyns, mighty Kings and Princes: But in all this time he lived not to do one Work that the Holy Ghost thought worthy to record for the Savour of his Name, or the Edification and Benefit of his Church, save only, That he died at Nine hundred and fifty Years; so great a breach did this Drunkenness make upon his Spirit.

Ver. 29. So all the days of Noah were nine hundred and fifty years, and he died.

CHAP. X.

270. Ver. 1. NOW these are the Generations of the Sons of Noah, Shem, Ham, and Japheth; and unto them were Sons born after the Flood.

Having thus passed over the Flood, with what Noah and his Sons did after; we now come to the Second Plantation of the World, to wit, by the Three Sons of Noah; for by these Three was the World replenished after the Flood. Shem was the Father of the Jews; Ham, the Father of the Canaanites; and Japhet, the Father of the Gentiles. So then, of Shem came the then present Visible Church; of Ham, the Opposers and Enemies of it; but of Japhet came those that should be received into the Church afterwards; as also abundance of the Haters of the Lord.

271. Ver. 2. The Sons of Japheth; Gomer, and Magog, and Madai, and Javan, and Tubal, and Meshech, and Tyras.

Gomer, a Consumer; Magog, Covering, or Melting; Madai, Measuring, or Judging; Javan, making Sad; Tubal, Born, Brought, or Worldly; Meshech, Prolonging; Tyras, a Destroyer: These are the English of their Names.

Ezek. 38. 1, 2. Rev. 20. 8. Gomer, and Magog, and Meshech, and Tubal, are the great Persecutors of the Church in the latter Days: They shall be persecuted then by Consumers, Melters, and Men of this World. Madai, and Javan, (as some say,) were the Fathers of the Medes and Greeks: These therefore did sometimes help, and not always hinder the Church.

272. Ver. 3, 4. And the Sons of Gomer; Askenaz, and Riphath, and Togarmah. —Also the Sons of Javan; Elishah, and Tarshish, Kittim, and Dodanim.

Riphath, Medicine, or Release; Elishah, the Lamb of God; Dodanim, Beloved: Either these Names were given them by way of Prophecy; implying, that of their Seed should arise many Gentile Churches; or to shew us, that when Men (as their Fathers) have left or lost the Power of Godliness, yet something of the Notion they may yet retain.

273. Ver. 5. By these were the Isles of the Gentiles divided in their Lands, every one after his Tongue, after their Families, in their Nations.

But this must be understood to be after the Building of, and Confusion at Babel; for Chap. 11. 1, 2. before they had all but one Tongue; and besides, they kept all together.

Ver. 6. And the Sons of Ham; Cush, and Mizraim, Phut, and Canaan.

Cush, Black. Of Ham and Mizraim came Ps. 102. 27. the Ethiopians, or Blackamore: The Land of Ps. 72. 10. Ham was the Countrey about Egypt; where- Isa. 60. 9. fore Israel was first afflicted by them. Isa. 43. 3.

Ver. 7. And the Sons of Cush; Seba, and Havilah, and Sabtah, and Raamah, and Sabtecha: and the Sons of Raamah, Sheba, and Dedan.

Seba and Sheba, some times look well upon the Church; but when he did not, God gave them for her Ransom.

274. Ver. 8. And Cush begat Nimrod, (or the rebellious One;) he began to be a mighty one in the Earth.

The begetting of Nimrod, is accounted a thing that is over and above, and is laid by the Holy Ghost as a Blot upon Cush for ever; for when Men would vilifie, they used to say, Thou art the Son of the Rebellious, the Son of a Murtherer. So again, He that begetteth Solomon' Fool, (or, wicked One,) he begetteth him to his own shame.

Cush begat Nimrod. So then, the Curse came betimes upon the Sons of Ham; for he was the Father of Cush: For the Curse, as it were, begins in Rebellion, and a Rebellious One was Nimrod, both by Name and Nature.

He began to be a mighty One in the Earth. I am apt to think he was the first that in this New World sought after Absolute Monarchy.

He began to be a mighty One in the Earth, (or, among the Children of Men.) I suppose him to be a Gyant; not only in Person, but in Disposition; and so, through the pride of his Countenance, did scorn that others, or any, should be his Equal; nay, could not be content, till all made Obeisance to him. He therefore would needs be the Author and Master of what Religion he pleased; and would also subject the rest of his Brethren thereto, by what ways his Lusts thought best. Wherefore here began a fresh Persecution: That Sin therefore which the other World was drowned for, was again revived by this cursed Man, even to Lord it over the Sons

Sons of God, and to enforce Idolatry and Superſtition upon them; and hence he is called the Mighty Hunter.

275. Ver. 9. He was a mighty Hunter before the Lord: wherefore it is ſaid, Even as Nimrod the mighty Hunter before the Lord.

He was a mighty Hunter. That is, a Perſecutor: Wherefore Saul's Perſecuting of David is compared to Hunting: And ſo is the Perſecution of others: They hunt every Man his Brother with a Net: And it may well be compared thereto; for the Dog or Lyon that hunteth, is void of bowels and pity; and if they can but ſatisfie their Doggiſh and Lyoniſh Nature, they care neither for Innocence, nor Goodneſs, nor Life of that they purſue: The Life, the Blood, the Extirpation of the contrary Party, is the End of their Courſe of Hunting.

1 Sam. 26. 20. Eam. 4. 18. Ezek. 13. 18. Mic. 7. 2. Ezek. 13. 21. 1 Sam. 24. 11.

He was a Mighty Hunter. As it is ſaid of Jabin, He mightily oppreſſed Iſral twenty years; that is, he did it exceedingly; he went beyond others; he was more cruel and barbarous; he was a mighty Hunter: Wherefore the Children of bleſſed Shem, by this Monſter, had ſore Affliction. Noah therefore lived to ſee Nimrod, the Mighty One, make havock of the Children of his Bowels, to his no little Grief and Compunction of Spirit.

Judg. 4. 2.

276. He was a mighty Hunter Before the Lord; or, in the Preſence of the Lord; or, in Defiance to him. This ſhews, That the Hand of God was ſtretched forth againſt his Work: As alſo it was againſt Joroboam's, by that Man of God that from Judah went down to propheſie againſt him; but he abode obdurate and hard; he regarded not the Lord, nor the Operation of his Hands: As he alſo ſaith in another place of the curſed Brood of Anti-chriſt, When they ſhall fall upon the Sword, they ſhall not be wounded: Let them do things never ſo much againſt the plain Text, they feel not the Wounds of Conſcience; but this is a ſore Judgment, and that under which this Hunter was; and therefore the Preſence and Hand of God would not break him off, nor hinder his hunting of Souls: But even before the Face of the Keeper of the Godly, would Nimrod, the Rebel, hunt for their precious Life to deſtroy it.

1 King. 13. 1, 2, 3. Joel. 2. 8.

Wherefore it is ſaid, Even as Nimrod, the mighty Hunter, before the Lord. Theſe words, as it ſeems, was the Proverb that went of him among the Godly in after Generations; for he had ſo left his Marks in the Sides of the Church, that ſhe could not quickly forget him: Wherefore, when at any time there aroſe another that ſhewed Cruelty to the Ways of God, he was preſently compared to Nimrod, that hunted before the Lord. Nimrod therefore was Rebellious to a Proverb: And as it is ſaid of Ahab, ſo might it be ſaid of him, There was none like Nimrod, who ſold himſelf to work wickedneſs in the ſight of, or, before the Lord.

1 King. 21. 25.

277. Ver. 10. And the beginning of his Kingdom was Babel, and Erech, and Accad, and Calneh, in the Land of Shinar.

By theſe words, as I ſuppoſe, are thoſe in the Chapter that followeth Expounded: Where it ſays, Let us build us a City, and a Tower; for this Work was chiefly the Invenſton of Nimrod, who, with his wicked Council, contrived this Work; and as one that had made himſelf Head of the People, he enjoyned them to ſet to the Work.

And the beginning of his Kingdom was Babel. Babel therefore was the firſt great Seat of Oppreſſors, after the Flood; whoſe Scituation was in the Land of Shinar, in that Land which is now called Babylon. By this we may alſo gather, by whom our myſtical Babel was builded; to wit, by thoſe that rebelled (as Nimrod,) from the ſimplicity of the Goſpel of Chriſt; for the Builders, eſpecially the Chief, have a ſemblance one of another. It was even ſuch as came of the Seed of the Godly, as theſe did of bleſſed Noah; who, in time, apoſtatizing from the Word, and deſiring Maſterſhip over their Brethren; they, as Lords, fomented their own Conceptions, and then enjoyned the People to Build. As Rehoboam forſook the Counſel of the Ancients, that ſtood before his Father Solomon; ſo theſe have forſaken the Counſel of the Old Men, the Apoſtles that ſtood before Jeſus Chriſt; and hearkning to the Counſel of a younger ſort of Wanters of their Grace and Wiſdom, they imagine and build a Babel.

1 King. 12. 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12.

278. Ver. 11. & 12. Out of that Land went forth Aſhur, and builded Nineveh, and the City Rehoboth, and Calah, and Reſen, between Nineveh and Calah: The ſame is a great City.

Nimrod having began to exalt himſelf; others, that were big with deſires of Oſtentation, did ſoon follow his Example, making themſelves Captains and Heads of the People, and built them ſtrong Holds for the Supportation of their Glory. But they did it (as I ſaid) by Nimrod's Example; wherefore it is ſaid they went out of the Land. Juſt thus it was at the beginning of Myſtical Babel: Firſt the Tyranny began at Babel it ſelf, where the Uſurper was ſeen to ſit in his Glory, before whoſe Face the World did tremble. Now other Inferiour Perſons, Inferiour, I ſay, in Power, but not in Pride, having deſire to be Lords, as Nimrod himſelf, they will alſo go build them Cities; by which means Nimrod's Invention could not be kept at Rome, but hath ſpread it ſelf in many and mighty Kingdoms.

Out of that Land went forth Aſhur, and built Nineveh, &c. Aſhur ſeems to be the Second Son of Shem, Ver. 22. A fit Reſemblance of thoſe Perſons that have come from Myſtical Babel, to build their Niniveh's, and Rehoboth's, and Calneh's, in all Lands: Still they have pretended Religion: That they had their Orders from the Apoſtolical Sea: That they were the true Sons of Shem, or Diſciples of Chriſt: But the ſeeing Chriſtian ſhould remember, that ſome of the Children of Shem were in Babel with Rebellious Nimrod: That inſtead of learning Humility of their Father, through the Pride and Rebellion Rebellion of their own vain-glorious Fancies, they learned Wickedneſs and Rebellion of curſed and prodigious Nimrod.

279. Hence Note, That what Cities, that is, Churches, ſoever have been builded by Perſons that have come from Romiſh Babel, thoſe Builders and Cities are to be ſuſpected for ſuch as had their Founder and Foundation from Babel it ſelf. Wherefore let Iſrael ſay, Aſhur ſhall not ſave us, for he ſhall not ſave himſelf; but as the Star of Jacob ariſeth, he ſhall fade and periſh for ever. So periſh all the Builders and Building that hath had its Pattern from Myſtical Babel, unleſs a Miracle of Grace prevents.

Numb. 24. 24.

It was Aſhur that carried away the Ten Tribes; it is Aſhur that joyneth with the Enemies of the Church; it is Aſhur that with others upholds the great Mart of the Nations: Wherefore Aſhur, and all his Company, muſt at laſt go down into their Pit.

Ezra 4. 2. Pſal. 83. 8. Ezek. 27. 23. Chap. 32. 22, 23.

So then, let Auguſtine the Monk, come from Rome into England, and let him build his Nineveh here; let others go alſo into other Countries, and build their Reſen's and Calah's there; theſe are all but Brats of Babel, and their End ſhall be, That they periſh for ever. John ſaw it, and the Cities, that is, the Churches of the Nations, or the National Churches fell; and Great Babylon, their Inventer and Founder, came into remembrance before God, to give unto her the Cup of the Wine of the fierceneſs of his Wrath.

Rev. 16. 19

280. And Mizraim begat Ludim, and Anamim, and Lehabim, and Naphtuhim, and Pathruſim, and Caſluhim, (out of whom came Philiſtim,) and Caphtorim.

Ver. 13, & 14.

Ludim, as I ſuppoſe, may be the ſame with Lubim that came up with the Egyptians and Ethiopians againſt Iſrael, of whoſe Cruelty Nahum complains; where he ſaith, They alſo helped Nineveh againſt the Children of God. The reſt of them were of the ſame Diſpoſition, eſpecially the Philiſtines that came of Caſluhim; for they, both in Saul and David's days, were implacable againſt the Church and People of God; they were a Gyantiſh People, and truſted in their ſtrength, and ſeldom overcome but when Iſrael went againſt them in the Name of the Lord their God.

Nahum 3. 9 2 Chron. 12. 3. Chap. 16. 8

281. And Canaan begat Sidon his firſt-born, and Heth, and the Jebuſite, and the Emorite, and the Girgaſite, and the Hivite, and the Arkite, and the Sinite, and the Arvadite, and the Zemarite, and the Hamathite: And afterward were the Families of the Canaanites ſpread abroad.

Ver. 15, 16, 17, 18.

Theſe are the Children of Canaan, the Son of Ham, the accurſed of the Lord: Theſe did chiefly poſſeſs the Land of Canaan before Iſrael went out of Egypt; they were a mighty Gyantiſh People, yet Iſrael muſt fight with them, notwithſtanding they were, in compariſon to theſe, but as the Graſhopper.

282. And the border of the Canaanites was from Sidon, as thou comeſt to Gerar, unto Gaza, as thou goeſt unto Sodom and Gomorrah, and Admah, and Zeboim, even unto Laſha.

Ver. 19.

They bordered therefore upon the Philiſtines on the one ſide; for Gerar and Gaza belonged to them, and they touched upon Sodom and Gomorrah, &c. on the other: They were placed therefore, by the Judgment of God, between theſe two wicked and ſinful People, that they might, as a Puniſhment for their former Sins, be infected with the ſight and infection of their ungodly and monſtrous Abominations: They that turn aſide to their own crooked ways, the Lord ſhall lead them forth with the workers of iniquity.

Gen. 26. 15, 18, 19. Judg. 16. 1, 21.

283. Theſe are the Sons of Ham, after their Families, after their Tongues, in their Countreys, and in their Nations.

Ver. 20.

Ham had a mighty Off-ſpring; but the Judgment of God, was, That they ſhould be wicked Men, Idolaters, Perſecutors, Sinners with an high hand; ſuch as God was reſolved to number to the Sword, both in this World, and that to come; I mean, for the generality of them.

284. Unto Shem alſo, the Father of all the Children of Eber, the Brother of Japheth the elder, even to him were Children born.

Ver. 21.

The manner of Style which the Holy Ghoſt here uſeth in his Preamble to the Genealogy of Shem, is worthy to be taken notice of; as that he is called, the Father of all the Children of Eber, and the Brother of Japheth.

By his being called, the Father of all the Children of Eber, we may ſuppoſe, that from Eber to Abraham, (by whom the reckoning of the Genealogy was cut off from Eber, and intailed to the Name of Abraham,) all the Children of Eber were, as it were, the Diſciples of Shem, for he lived while after Abraham: His Doctrine therefore they might profeſs, though poſſibly with ſome mixture of thoſe Inventions that came in among Men afterwards; which, I think, were at the greateſt about Abraham's time. Beſides, he ſhews by this, that the other Children of Shem, as Elam, Aſſur, Lud and Aram, with Uz, Hul, Gether and Maſh, went away with Nimrod, and the reſt of that Company, into Idolatry, Tyranny, and other Profaneneſs; ſo that only the Line from Shem to Eber, and from thence to Abraham, &c. were the Viſible Church in thoſe days.

The Brother of Japheth. So he was of Ham; but becauſe Ham was cut off for his wickedneſs to his Father, therefore both Shem and Japheth did hold him in Abomination, and would not own that Relation that before was between them, eſpecially in things pertaining to the Kingdom of God, and of Chriſt: Wherefore the Holy Ghoſt alſo, in reckoning up the Kindred of Shem, excludeth Ham the younger Brother, and ſtops after he had mentioned Japheth: The Brother of Japheth the elder.

Unto him were Children born, unto Shem alſo. Unto him were Children born: The Holy Ghoſt doth ſecretly here, as he did before in the Generation of Seth, inſinuate a Wonder: For conſidering the Godlineſs of Shem, and the Ungodlineſs of Ham, and the multitude of his tyrannical Brood, it is a wonder that there ſhould ſuch a thing as the Off ſpring of Shem be found upon the face of the Earth: For I am apt to think, that Shem, with his Poſterity, did teſtifie againſt the Actions of Nimrod; as alſo againſt the Children of Ham, in their Wickedneſs and Rebellion againſt the Way of God; as may be hinted after: Wherefore he, with his Seed, were in jeopardy, among that tumultuous Generation; yet God preſerved him and his Seed upon the face of the Earth: For let the Number and Wickedneſs of Men be never ſo great in the World, there muſt be alſo a Church, by whoſe Actions the Ways of the Wicked muſt be condemned.

Ver. 22. 286. The Children of Shem; Elam, and Aſhur, and Arphaxad, and Lud, and Aram.

Theſe Children were born unto Shem: The Book of Chronicles mentions four more, as Uz, and Hul, and Gether, Meſhech or Maſh; but theſe were the Natural Sons of Aram, Shem being only their Father's Father.

Elam and Aſhur, as alſo Lud and Aram, notwithſtanding they were the Sons of Shem, ſtruck off, as I think, with Nimrod, and left their Father, for the Glory of Babel; yea, they had a Province there in the Days of Daniel: Wherefore great Judgments are threatned againſt Elam; as, That Elam ſhall drink the Cup of God's Fury: That their Bow ſhall be broken: That God would bring upon him the four Winds: And, That there ſhould be no Nation whither the Captives of Elam ſhould not come: Yet God would ſave them in the latter days.

Dan. 8. 2. Jer. 49. 36, 39.

As for Lud, although through the wickedneſs of his Heart he forſook his Father Shem, and ſo the true Religion; yet a Promiſe is made of his Converſion, when God calls home the Children of Japheth, and perſwadeth them to dwell in the Tents of Shem: I will ſet a Sign among them (ſaith God,) and I will ſend to thoſe that eſcape of them, even to Tarſhiſh, Pul and Lud, to Tubal and Javan, to the Iſles afar off that have not heard my fame: Yea, thus it ſhall be, although they were once the Soldiers of the Adverſaries of the Church, and bare the Shield and Helmet againſt her. Of Aſhur I have ſpoken before. Aram became alſo an Heathen, and dwelt among the Mountains of the Eaſt; Out of him came Balaam the Sooth-ſayer that Balak ſent for, to curſe the Children of Iſrael.

Is. 66. 19. Ezek. 27. 10. Numb. 23. 7.

In Arphaxad, though he was not the Eldeſt, remained the Line that went from Abraham to David; and from him, to Jeſus Chriſt.

Luk. 4.

287. Ver. 23. And the Children of Aram, Uz, and Hul, and Gether, and Maſh.

Uz went alſo off from Shem, but yet good Men came from his Loyns; for Job himſelf was of that Land: Yet the Wrath of God was threatned to go forth againſt them, becauſe they had a hand in the Perſecution of the Children of Iſrael, &c.

Job 1. 1. Jer. 25. 20. Lam. 4. 21.

Ver. 24, & 25. And Arphaxad begat Salah, and Salah begat Eber: and unto Eber were born two Sons, the Name of the one was Peleg, for in his days was the Earth divided; and his Brother's Name was Joktan.

This Eber was a very Godly Man, the next after Shem that vigorouſly ſtood up to maintain Religion. Two things are entail'd upon him to his Everlaſting Honour: Firſt, The Children of God, even Abraham himſelf, was not aſhamed to own himſelf one of this Man's Diſciples, or Followers; and hence he is called Abraham the Hebrew, or Ebrew. Joſeph alſo will have it go there: I was ſtoln (ſaid he) out of the Land of the Hebrews: Nay, the Lord God himſelf, to ſhew how he honoured this Man's Faith and Life, doth ſtyle himſelf the God of his Fathers, to wit, the God of the Hebrews, the Lord God of the Hebrews. Secondly, This was the Man that kept that Language with which Adam was created, and that in which God ſpake to the Fathers of old, from being corrupted and confounded by the Confuſion of Babel; and therefore it is for ever called his, the Hebrew Tongue, the Tongue in which Chriſt ſpake from Heaven to Saul: This Man therefore, was a ſtiff Oppoſer of Nimrod; neither had he a hand in the Building of Babel; for all that had, had their Language confounded by that ſtrange Judgment of God.

288. Gen. 14. 13. Chap. 40. 15. Exod. 2. 18. Chap. 7. 16. Chap. 9. 1, 13. Joh. 5. 2. Chap. 19. 13, 20. Acts 21. 40. Chap. 22. 2 Chap. 26. 14.

And unto Eber were born two Sons, the Name of the one was Peleg, (or, Diviſion,) for in his days was the Earth divided; and his Brother's Name was Joktan. This Diviſion, (in mine Opinion,) was not only that Diviſion that was made by the Confuſion of Tongues, but a Diviſion alſo that was made among Men by the bleſſed Doctrine of God, which moſt eminently reſted in the Boſom of Shem and Eber, neither of which had their hands in that monſtrous Work: Wherefore, as Eber by abſtaining kept intire the Holy Language; ſo Shem, to ſhew that he was clear from this Sin alſo, is by the Holy Ghoſt called, the Father of all the Children of Eber: Implying, that Eber and Shem did mightily labour to preſerve a Seed from the Tyranny and Pollution of Nimrod and Babel; and by that means made a Diviſion in the Earth; unto whom becauſe the Rebels would not adhere, therefore did God the Lord ſmite them with Confuſion of Tongues, and ſcatter them abroad upon the Face of all the Earth.

289. Ver. 26, 27, 28, 29. And Joktan begat Almodad, and Sheleph, and Hazarmaveth, and Jerah.

Here again he hath left the Holy Line, which is from Eber to Abraham, and makes a ſtop upon Joktan's Genealogy, and ſo comes down to the Building of Babel.

Ver. 30. Theſe therefore begat Joktan: He alſo begat Hadoram, and Uſal, and Diklah, and Obal, and Abimael, and Sheba, and Ophir, and Havilah, and Jobab; all theſe were the Sons of Joktan: and their dwelling was from Meſha, as thou goeſt unto Sephar, a Mount in the Eaſt.

290. Ver. 31. Theſe are the Sons of Shem, after their Families, after their Tongues, in their Lands, after their Nations.

Moſes,

Moses, as I said, by this Relation, respecteth, and handleth chiefly those, or them Persons, who were at first the Planters of the World after the Flood; leaving the Church, or a relation of that, and its Seed, to be discoursed after the building of Babel, unto the Tenth Verse of the next Chapter. Hence methinks one might gather, that these abovementioned, whose Genealogies are handled at large, as the Families of Japheth, of Ham, and Joktan are, were both, in their Persons and Off-spring ingaged (some few only excepted, who might adhere to Noah, Shem, and Eber) in that foul work, the Building of Babel. Now that which inclineth me thus to think, it is because immediately after their thus being reckoned by Moses, even before he taketh up the Genealogy of Shem, he bringeth in the Building thereof; the which he not only mentioneth, but also enlargeth upon; yea, and also telleth of the Cause of the stopping of that Work, before he returneth to the Church, and the Line that went from Shem to Abraham.

Ver. 32. These are the Families of the Sons of Noah, after their Generations, in their Nations; and by these were the Nations divided in the Earth after the Flood.

CHAP. XI.

291. Ver. 1. AND the whole Earth was of one Language, and of one Speech.

Moses having thus briefly passed through the Genealogies of Japheth, Ham, and Joktan; in the next place he cometh to shew us their Work which they had by this time engaged to do; and that was, to Build a Babel, whose Tower might reach to Heaven. Now, in order to this their Work, or rather to his Relation thereof, he maketh a short Fore-Speech, which consisteth of Two Branches. The First, is, That now they had all one Language or Lip. The other was, That they yet had kept themselves together, either resting or walking, as an Army compact: An excellent Resemblance of the state of the Church, before she imagined to build her a Babel: For till then, however one might out-strip another in Knowledge and Love; yet so far as they obtained, their Language or Lip was but one: Having but one Heart, and one Soul, they with one Mouth did glorifie God, even the Father.

And the whole Earth was of one Language. By these words therefore, we may conceive the reason why so great a Judgment as that great wickedness, Babel, should be contrived, and endeavoured to be accomplished. The Multitude was one: Not but that it is a blessed thing for the Church to be one; as Christ saith, My Beloved is but one. But here was an Oneness, not only in the Church, but in her mixing with the World. The whole Earth, among which, as I suppose, is included Noah, Shem, and others; who being over-topt by Nimrod, the mighty Hunter, might company with him until he began to build Babel. Therefore it is said in the next Verse, that they companied together from the East, to the Land of Shinar.

Hence Note, That the First and Primitive Churches were safe and secure, so long as they kept intire by themselves; but when once they admitted of a mixture, Great Babel, as a Judgment of God, was admitted to come into their mind.

292. Ver. 2. And it came to pass, as they journeyed from the East, that they found a Plain in the Land of Shinar, and they dwelt there.

By these words, we gather, that the first Rest of Noah, and so the Inhabiting of his Posterity, was still Eastward from Babylon, towards the Sun rising.

But to Gospellize: They journeyed from the East; and so consequently they turned their backs upon the Rising of the Sun: So did also the Primitive Church, in the day when she began to decline from her first and purest state. Indeed, so long as she kept close to the Doctrine and Discipline of the Gospel, according to the Word and Commandment of the Lord Jesus, then she kept her Face still towards the Sun-rising: According to the Type in Ezekiel, who saith of the Second and Mystical Temple, Her Fore-front, or Face, did stand towards the East: Also he saith, when he saw the glory of God, how it came unto this Temple, it came from the way of the East. Their journeying therefore from the East, was, their turning their backs upon the Sun: And to us, in Gospel-times, it holdeth forth such a Mystery as this: That their Journey was thus Recorded, to shew they were now Apostatized; for assuredly they had turned their back upon the glorious Sun of Righteousness, as upon that which shineth in the Firmament of Heaven. Ezek. 47. 1. Chap. 42. 2

They found a Plain in the Land of Shinar. Shinar is the Land of Babylon, as those Scriptures in the Margin declare. 293. Dan. 1. 2. Zech. 5. 11.

They found a Plain. Or, Place of Fatness and Plenty, as usually the Plains are; and are, upon that account, great content to our Flesh: This made Lot separate from Abraham, and choose to dwell with the Sinners of Sodom; why, the Countrey was a Plain, and therefore Fat, and Plentful, even like the Garden of the Lord, and the Land of Egypt. Here therefore they made a stop; here they dwelt and continued together: A right Resemblance of the Degenerators course in the days of general Apostacy, from the true Apostolical Doctrine, to the Church of our Romish Babel. So long as the Church endured Hardship and Affliction, she was greatly preserved from Revolts and Backslidings; but after she had turned her face from the Sun, and had found the Plain of Shinar; that is, the fleshly Contents that the Pleasures, and Profits, and Honours of this Gen. 13. 10, 11, 12.

World afford; ſhe forgetting the Word and Order of God, was content, with Lot, to pitch toward Sodom; or, with the Travellers in the Text, to dwell in the Land of Babel.

204. V. 3 And they ſaid one to another, Go to, let us make brick, and burn them throughly, (and burn them to a burning;) and they had brick for ſtone, and ſlime had they for morter.

Now they being filled with Eaſe and Plenty, they begin to lift up the Horn, and to conſult one with another what they were beſt to do: Whereupon, after ſome time of Debate, they came to this Concluſion, That they would go build a Babel.

And they ſaid one to another, Go to. This manner of Phraſe is often uſed in Scripture; and is ſometimes, as alſo here, uſed to ſhew, That the thing intended, muſt come to paſs, what Opinion or Contradiction to the contrary ſoever there be. It argueth that a Judgment is made in the Caſe, and Proceedings ſhall be according. Thus it is alſo to to be taken in Judges, Eccleſiaſtes, Iſaiah, James, &c. Wherefore it ſhews, that theſe Men had caſt off the Fear of God, and, like Iſrael in the days of the Prophet Jeremiah, they reſolved to follow their own Imagination, let God or his Judgments ſpeak never ſo loud to the contrary. And ſo indeed he ſays of them at Verſe the Sixth: And this they have begun to do, (ſaith God,) and nothing will reſtrain them. Judg. 7. 3. Eccl. 2. 1. Iſa. 5. 5. Jam. 3. 1. Verſe 6.

OF JUSTIFICATION BY AN Imputed Righteousness.

OR, No WAY to HEAVEN BUT By JESUS CHRIST.

1. JUSTIFICATION is to be diversly taken in the Scripture.

1. SOMETIMES 'tis taken for the Justification of Persons.

2. SOMETIMES for the Justification of Actions.

3. AND sometimes for the Justification of the Person and Action too.

IT is taken for the Justification of Persons, and that,

(1.) AS to Justification with God: Or,

(2.) AS to Justification with Men.

AS to Justification with God: That is, when a man stands clear, quit, free, or, in a saved Condition before him, in the Approbation of his holy Law.

AS to Justification with Men: That is, when a Man stands clear and quit from just ground of Reprehension with them.

JUSTIFICATION also is to be taken with reference to Actions; and that may be when they are considered,

1. AS flowing from true Faith: Or,

2. BECAUSE the Act done fulfills some transient Law.

1 Pet. 2.5. Heb. 13.15 Rev. 8.1,2, 4. (1.) AS Actions flow from Faith, so they are justified, because done before God in, and made compleat through the Perfections of Jesus Christ.

(2.) AS by the doing of the Act some transient Law is fulfilled: As when Jehu executed Judgement upon the House of Ahab. Thou hast done well, said God to him, in executing that which is righteous in mine eyes, and hast done to the House of Ahab all that was in mine heart, 2 King. 10. 30.

2. AS to such Acts, God may, or may not look at the Qualification of those that do them: And 'tis clear, that he had not respect to any good that was in Jehu, in the justifying of this Action; nor could he, for Jehu stuck close yet to the sins of Jeroboam, but took no heed to walk in the Law of the Lord God of Israel, Chap. 10. 29, 31.

I might hence also shew you, that a man may be justified even then when his Action is condemned; also that a man may be in a state of Condemnation, when his Action may be justified. But with these Distinctions I will not take up Time, my intention being to treat of Justification, as it sets a man free or quit from Sin, the Curse and Condemnation of the Law in the sight of God, in order to Eternal Salvation.

AND that I may with the more clearness handle this Poynt before you, I will lay down and speak to this Proposition.

THAT there is no other way for Sinners to be justified from the Curse of the Law in the Sight of God, than by the Imputation of THAT Righteousness long ago performed by, and still residing with the Person of Jesus Christ.

3. THE Terms of this Proposition are easie: yet, if it will help, I will speak a word or two for Explication.

(1.) BY a Sinner, I mean one that has transgressed the Law; for Sin is the transgression of the Law. 1 Joh. 3.4.

(2.) BY the Curse of the Law, I mean, that Sentence, Judgment, or Condemnation which the Law pronounceth against the Trangressor. Gal. 3. 10.

(3.) BY

(3.) BY Juſtifying Righteouſneſs, I mean that which ſtands in the Doing and Suffering of Rom. 5. 19. Chriſt when he was in the World.

(4.) BY the reſiding of this Righteouſneſs in Chriſts Perſon, I mean, it ſtill abides with him as to the Action, tho the Benefit is beſtowed upon thoſe that are his.

(5.) BY the Imputation of it to us, I mean, Gods making of it ours by an Act of his Grace, that we by it might be ſecured from the Curſe of the Law.

(6.) WHEN I ſay there is no other Way to be juſtified, I caſt away to that end, the Law, and all the Works of the Law as done by us.

THUS I have opened the Terms of the Propoſition.

4. NOW the two firſt, to wit, What Sin and the Curſe is, ſtand clear in all mens ſight, unleſs they be Atheiſts, or deſperately Heretical. I ſhall therefore in few words clear the other four.

FIRST, Therefore, Juſtifying Righteouſneſs, is the Doing and Suffering of Chriſt when he was in the World. This is clear, becauſe we are ſaid to be juſtified by his Obedience, Rom. 5. 19. By his Obedience to the Law. Hence he is ſaid again to be the End of the Law for that very thing. Chriſt is the end of the Law for Righteouſneſs, &c. Rom. 10. 4. The end, what's that? Why the requirement or demand of the Law. But what are they? Why Righteouſneſs, perfect Righteouſneſs; Gal. 3. 10. Perfect Righteouſneſs, what to do? That the Soul concern-
Rev. 1. 5. ed might ſtand ſpotleſs in the ſight of God. Now this lies only in the Doings and Suffer-
Heb. 9. 14. ings of Chriſt: For by his Obedience many are
Rom. 5. 8, 9. made righteous: Wherefore, as to this Chriſt is the End of the Law, that being found in that Obedience, That becomes to us ſufficient for our Juſtification. Hence we are ſaid to be made righteous by his Obedience: Yea, and to be waſhed, purged and juſtified by his Blood.

5. SECONDLY, That this Righteouſneſs ſtill reſides in and with the Perſon of Chriſt, even then when we ſtand Juſt before God thereby, is clear; for that we are ſaid when juſtified, to be juſtified in him. In the Lord ſhall all the ſeed of Iſrael be juſtified. And again: Surely ſhall one ſay,
Iſa. 45. 24, 25. In the Lord have I righteouſneſs, &c. And again:
1 Cor. 1. 30. For of him are ye in Chriſt Jeſus, who is made unto us of God Righteouſneſs.

MARK, The Righteouſneſs is ſtill in Him, not in us, even then when we are made Partakers of the Benefit of it, even as the Wing and Feathers ſtill abide in the Hen, when the Chickens are covered, kept, and warmed thereby.

FOR as my Doings, tho my Children are fed and cloathed thereby, are ſtill my Doings, not theirs; ſo the Righteouſneſs wherewith we ſtand Juſt before God from the Curſe, ſtill reſides in Chriſt, not in Us. Our ſins when laid upon Chriſt, were yet perſonally ours, not his; ſo his Righteouſneſs when put upon us, is yet perſonally his, not ours. What is it
2 Cor. 5. 21 then? Why, he was made to be ſin for us, who knew no ſin, that we might be made the Righteouſneſs of God in him.

6. THIRDLY, It is therefore of a juſtifying Vertue, only by Imputation, or as God reckoneth it to us; even as our ſins made the Lord Jeſus a Sinner, nay Sin, by Gods reckoning of them to him.

'TIS abſolutely neceſſary that this be known of us; for if the Underſtanding be muddy as to this, 'tis impoſſible that ſuch ſhould be found in the Faith: Alſo in Temptation, that man will be at a loſs, that looketh for a Righteouſneſs for Juſtification in himſelf; when 'tis to be found no where but in Jeſus Chriſt.

THE Apoſtle, who was his Craftsmaſter as to this, was always looking to Jeſus, That he Phil. 3. 6, 7, 8. might be found in him, knowing that no where elſe could Peace or Safety be had.

AND indeed this is one of the greateſt Myſteries in the World, namely, That a Righteouſneſs that reſides with a Perſon in Heaven, ſhould juſtifie me, a Sinner, on Earth.

FOURTHLY, Therefore the Law and the Works thereof, as to this, muſt by us be caſt 7. away; not only becauſe they here are uſeleſs, but alſo they being retained, are an hinderance. That they are Uſeleſs, is evident; for that Salvation comes by another Name, Acts 4. 12. And that they are an Hinderance, 'tis clear; for the very adhering to the Law, though it be but a little, or in a little part, prevents Rom. 9. 31, 32. Juſtification by the Righteouſneſs of Chriſt.

WHAT ſhall I ſay? As to this, the Moral Rom. 8. Gal. 3. Heb. 10. 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 9, 10, 11. Law is rejected, the Ceremonial Law is rejected, and Mans Righteouſneſs is rejected, for that they are here both weak and unprofitable.

NOW if all theſe and their Works, as to our Juſtification, are rejected, where but in Chriſt, is Righteouſneſs to be found?

THUS much therefore for the Explication of the Propoſition, namely, That there is no other Way for Sinners to be juſtified from the Curſe of the Law in the ſight of God, than by the Imputation of that Righteouſneſs long ago performed by, and ſtill reſiding with the Perſon of Jeſus Chriſt.

NOW from this Propoſition I draw theſe 8. two Poſitions.

FIRST, That men are Juſtified from the Curſe of the Law before God, while Sinners in themſelves.

SECONDLY, That this can be done by no other Righteouſneſs, than that long ago performed by, and reſiding with the Perſon of Jeſus Chriſt.

LET us then now enter into the conſideration of the firſt of theſe, Namely, That men are juſtified from the Curſe of the Law before God, while Sinners in themſelves.

THIS I ſhall manifeſt,

1. BY touching upon the myſterious Acts of our Redemption.

2. BY giving of you plain Texts which diſcover it: And,

3. BY Reaſons drawn from the Texts.

FOR the firſt of theſe, to wit, the myſterious Act of our Redemption: And that I ſhall ſpeak to under theſe two Heads.

1. I ſhall ſhew you what that is. And,

2. HOW we were concerned therein.

THAT which I call, and that rightly, the 9. myſterious Act of our Redemption; is Chriſts Sufferings as a common, tho a particular perſon; and as a Sinner, tho always compleatly Righteous.

THAT

THAT he suffered as a common Person, is true. By common, I mean, a publick Person, or one that presents the Body of Mankind in himself. This a multitude of Scriptures bear witness to, especially that Fifth Chapter to the Romans; where, by the Apostle, he is set before us, as the Head of all the Elect; even as Adam was once Head of all the World. Thus he lived, and thus he died; and this was a mysterious Act.

AND that he should die as a Sinner, when yet himself did no sin, nor had any guile found in his mouth, made this Act more mysterious. That he died as a Sinner, is plain: He hath made him to be sin. And the Lord laid upon him the iniquity of us all, Isa. 53. That then, as to his own Person, he was compleatly Sinless, is also as truly manifest, and that by a multitude of Scriptures.

ct. 2. 22.
hap. 3. 18
hap. 1. 19

NOW, I say, that Christ Jesus should be thus considered, and thus die, was the great Mystery of God. Hence Paul tells us, That when he preached Christ crucified, he preached not only the Wisdom of God, but the Wisdom of God in a Mystery, even his hidden Wisdom: For indeed, this Wisdom is hidden, and kept close from the Fowls of the Air.

Cor. 1. 23.
b 28. 21.

IT is also so Mysterious, that it goes beyond the reach of all Men, except those to whom an Understanding is given of God to apprehend it.

Joh. 5.

THAT one particular Man should represent all the Elect in himself; and that the most Righteous should die as a Sinner, yea, as a Sinner by the Hand of a Just and Holy God, is a Mystery of the greatest depth.

10. Secondly, AND now I come to shew you how the Elect are concerned therein; that is, in this mysterious Act of this most blessed One; and this will make this Act yet more mysterious to you.

NOW then we will speak of this First, as to how Christ prepared himself thus mysteriously to Act.

1. HE took hold of our Nature. I say, he took hold of US, by taking upon him Flesh and Blood. The Son of God therefore, took not upon him a particular Person, though he took to him a Humane Body and Soul: But that which he took, was, as I may call it, a Lump of the Common Nature of Man; and by that, hold of the whole Elect Seed of Abraham: Heb. 2. 16. For verily he took not on him the Nature of Angels, but he took on him the Seed of of Abraham.

HENCE He, in a Mystery, became Us; and was counted as all the Men that were or should be saved. And this is the reason why we are said to do, when only Jesus Christ did do. As for Instance:

11. First, WHEN Jesus Christ fulfilled the Righteousness of the Law, 'tis said, it was fulfilled in us, because indeed fulfilled in our Nature: For what the Law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh; God sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful Flesh, and for sin condemned sin in the flesh, that the righteousness of the Law might be fulfilled in us, &c. But because none should appropriate this unto themselves, that have not had passed upon them a Work of Conversion; therefore he adds, Who walk not after the Flesh, but after the Spirit. For there being an Union between Head and Members, though things may be done by the Head, and that for the Members, the things are counted to the Members, as if not done only by the Head. The Righteousness of the Law is fulfilled in us; and that truly, because fulfilled in that common Nature which the Son of God took of the Virgin. Wherefore, in this sence, we are said to do, what only was done by him; even as the Client doth by his Lawyer, when his Lawyer personates him: The Client is said to do, when 'tis the Lawyer only that does; and to Overcome by doing, when 'tis the Lawyer that Overcomes: The reason is, because the Lawyer does in the Client's Name. How much more then may it be said we do, when only Christ does; since he does what he does, not in our Name only, but in our Nature too: For the Law of the spirit of life in Christ (not in me) has set me free from the law of sin and death. He doing in his common Flesh, what could not be done in my particular Person; that so I might have the Righteousness of the Law fulfilled in me, my Flesh assumed by Christ; though impossible to be done, because of the weakness of my Person.

Rom. 8. 1, 2, 3.

THE reason of all this, is, because we are said to be in him, in his doing: In him by our Flesh, and also by the Election of God. So then, as all Men sinned when Adam fell; so all the Elect did Righteousness, when Christ wrought and fulfilled the Law: For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive.

Secondly, AS we are said to do by Christ; so we are said to suffer by him, to suffer with him. I am crucified with Christ, said Paul: And again, For as much then as Christ hath suffered for us in the flesh, arm your selves likewise with the same mind; for he that hath suffered in the flesh, hath ceased from sin. Mark how the Apostle seems to change the Person. First he says, 'Tis Christ that suffered; and that's true: But then he insinuates, That 'tis us that suffered; for the Exhortation is to Believers, To walk in newness of life; and the Argument is, Because they have suffered in the Flesh: For he that hath suffered in the flesh, hath ceased from sin; that he no longer should live the rest of his time in the flesh to the lusts of men, but to the will of God.

1 Pet. 4. 1, 2.

WE then suffered, when Christ suffered: We then suffered in his flesh, and also our old man was crucified with him; that is, in his Crucifixion; for when he hanged on the Cross, all the Elect hanged there in their common flesh which he assumed, and because he suffered there as a publick Man.

Rom. 6. 6.

Thirdly, AS we are said to suffer with him; so we are said to die, to be dead with him; with him; that is, by the dying of his Body: Now if we be dead with Christ, we believe that we shall also live with him.

13.

Rom. 6. 8.

WHEREFORE he saith in other places, Brethren, ye are become dead to the Law by the Body of Christ: For indeed we died then to it

by

by him. To the Law; that is, The Law now has nothing to do with us; for that it has already executed its Curse to the full upon us, by its slaying of the Body of Christ; for the Body of Christ was our Flesh; upon it also was laid our Sin: The Law too spent that Curse that was due to us, upon him, when it Condemned, Killed, and cast him into the Grave. Wherefore, it having thus spent its whole Curse upon him, as standing in our stead, we are exempted from its Curse for
Rom. 7. 4. ever; we are become dead to it by that Body; it has done with us, as to Justifying Righteousness: Nor need we fear its damning Threats any more; for by the Death of this Body we are freed from it, and are for ever now coupled to a living Christ.

14. Fourthly, AS we are said thus to be dead; so we are said also to rise again by him:
Isa. 26. 19. Thy dead men (saith he to the Father) shall
Hos. 6. 2. live, together with my dead body shall they arise. And again, After two days he will revive us, and in the third day we shall live in his sight.

BOTH these Scriptures speak of the Resurrection of Christ, of the Resurrection of his Body on the third day: But behold, as we were said before to suffer and be dead with him; so now we are said also to rise and live in God's sight, by the Resurrection of his Body! For, as was said, the Flesh was ours; he took part of our Flesh when he came into the World; and in IT he suffered, died, and rose again, Heb. 2. 14. We also were therefore counted by God, in that, God-Man, when he did this; yea, he suffered, died, and rose, as a common Head.

HENCE also the New-Testament is full of this,
Col. 2. 20. Chap. 3. 1. & 2, 13. saying, If ye be dead with Christ. If ye be risen with Christ. And again, He hath quickned us together with him.

15. WE are quickned together with him. Quickned, and quickned together with him. The Apostle hath words that cannot easily be shifted or evaded. Christ then was quickened, when he was raised from the Dead. Nor is it proper to say that he was ever quickened either before or since. This Text also concludes, that we, to wit, the whole Body of God's Elect, were also quickned then, and made to live with him together. True, we also are quickened personally by Grace, the day in the which we are born unto God by the Gospel; yet afore that we are quickened in our Head; quickned when he was raised from the dead; quickned together with him.

Fifthly, NOR are we thus considered, to wit, as dying, and rising, and so left: But the Apostle pursues his Argument, and tells us, that we also reap by him, as being considered in him the benefit which Christ received, both in order to his Resurrection, and the blessed Effect thereof.

1. WE received, by our thus being counted in him, that Benefit which did precede his rising from the dead: And what was that, but the Forgiveness of Sins? For this stands clear to Reason, That if Christ had our Sins charged upon him at his Death, he then must be discharged of them in order to his Resurrection. Now, though it is not proper to say they were forgiven to him, because they were purged from him by Merit; yet they may be said to be forgiven us, because we receive this Benefit by Grace.

AND this, I say, was done precedent to his Resurrection from the Dead: He hath quickened us together with him, [having] forgiven us all trespasses. He could not be quickened, till we were discharged; because 'twas not for himself, but for us that he died. Hence we are said to be, at that time (as to our own personal Estate) dead in our Sins, even when we are quickened together with him. Col. 2.

THEREFORE, both the quickening and forgiveness too, so far as we are in this Text concerned, is to him, as we are considered in him, or to him, with respect to us.

HAVING forgiven you [All] trespasses. For Necessity so required; because else how was it possible that the pains of death should be loosed in order to his rising, so long as one Sin stood still charged to him, as that for the Commission of which God had not received a plenary Satisfaction. As therefore we suffered, died, and rose again by him; so, in order to his so rising, he, as presenting of us in his Person and Suffering, received for us Remission of all our Trespasses. A full discharge therefore, was, in and by Christ, received of God of all our Sins, afore he rose from the Dead: As his Resurrection truly declared; for he was delivered for our Offences, and was raised again for our Justification. Rom. 4.

17. THIS therefore is one of the Priviledges we receive by the rising again of our Lord; for that we were in his Flesh considered; yea, and in his Death and Suffering too.

2. BY this means also we have now escaped Death. Knowing that Christ being raised from the dead, dies no more, death hath no more dominion over him: For in that he died, he died unto (or, for) sin once; but in that he liveth, he liveth unto God. Rom. 6. 10.

NOW in all this, considering what has been said before, we that are of the Elect, are priviledged: For that we also are raised up, by the rising of the Body of Christ from the Dead. And thus the Apostle bids us reckon:
Likewise (saith he) reckon also your selves to be dead indeed unto sin, but alive unto God through Jesus Christ. Rom. 6. 11.

HENCE Christ says, He is the Resurrection, and the Life; for that all his are safe in him, suffering, dying, and rising. He is the Life, our Life; yea, so our Life, that by him the Elect do live before God; even then, whenas to themselves they yet are dead in their Sins. Wherefore, hence it is that in time they partake of Quickening-Grace from this their Head, to the making of them also live by Faith, in order to their living hereafter with him in Glory: For if Christ lives, they cannot die that were Sharers with him in his Resurrection. Hence they are said to live, being quickned together with him. Also, as sure as at his Resurrection, they lived by him; so sure, at his Coming, shall they be gathered to him: Nay, from that day to this, all that, as afore-said, were

were in him at his Death and Resurrection, are already, in the fulness of the dispensation of time, daily gathering to him. For this he hath purposed, wherefore none can disannull it:

Ephes. 1. 9, 10. In the fulness of the dispensation of time, to gather together in one, all things in Christ, both which are in Heaven, and which are in Earth, even in him.

18. 3. TO secure this the more to our Faith that believe; as we are said to be raised up together with him, so we are said to be made to sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus, Eph. 2. 7. We died by him, we rose by him, and are together, even all the Elect, set down together in heavenly places, in Christ Jesus: For still, even now, he is on the Right-hand of God; he is to be considered as our publick Man, our Head, and so one in whom is concluded all the Elect of God. We then are by him already in Heaven; in Heaven, I say, by him; yea, set down there in our places of Glory by him. Hence the Apostle, speaking of us again, saith, That as we are predestinate, we are called, justified, and glorified: Called, Justified, Glorified; all is done, already done, as thus considered in Christ, Rom. 8. 30. For that in his publick work there is nothing yet to do as to this: Is not he called? Is not he justified? Is not he glorified? And are we not in him, in him, even as so considered?

NOR doth this Doctrine hinder or forestall the Doctrine of Regeneration or Conversion: Nay, it lays a Foundation for it; for by this Doctrine we gather assurance, that Christ will have his own: For if already they live in their Head, what is that but a Pledge that they shall live in their Persons with him? And consequently, that to that end they shall, in the times allotted for that end, be called to a state of Faith, which God has ordained shall precede and go before their personal Enjoyment of Glory.

19. NOR doth this hinder their partaking of the Symbol of Regeneration, and of their other Priviledges to which they are called in the Day of Grace: Yea, it lays a Foundation for all these things; for if I am dead with

Rom. 6. 10. Chap. 7. 4. Col. 2. 20. Christ, let me be like one dead with him, even to all things to which Christ died, when he hanged on the Tree; and then he died to sin, to the Law, and to the rudiments of this World.

AND if I be risen with Christ, let me live like one born from the Dead, in Newness of Life; and having my Mind and Affections on the things where Christ now sitteth on the Right-hand of God. And indeed he professes in vain, that talketh of these things, and careth not to have them also answered in himself. This was the Apostles way, name-

Phil. 3. 9, 10, 11, 12. ly, To covet to know him, and the power of his Resurrection, and the fellowship of his Sufferings, being made conformable to his death.

1 Cor. 15. 48. 1 Joh. 2. 6, 8. AND when we are thus, that thing is true both in him and us. Then as is the Heavenly, such are they that are Heavenly: For he that saith he is in him; and by being in him, a Partaker of these Priviledges by him, ought himself so to walk even as he walked.

BUT to pass this Digression, and to come to my Argument; namely, That Men are Justified from the Curse of the Law, before God, while Sinners in themselves.

THIS is evident by what hath already been said: For if the Justification of their Persons is by, in, and through Christ; then it is not by, in, and through their own doings. Nor was Christ engaged in this Work but of Necessity, even because else there had not been Salvation for the Elect. Father, (saith he,) if it be possible, let this Cup pass from me. If what be possible? Why, that my Elect may be saved, and I not spill my Blood. Wherefore he saith again, Christ ought to suffer. Christ must needs have suffered; for without Shedding of Blood, is no Remission of Sin.

Mat. 26. 39. Luk. 24. 26. Acts 17. 3. Heb. 9. 22.

20. 2. WE will now come to the present State and Condition of those that are Justified; I mean, with respect to their own Qualifications, and so Prove the Truth of this our great Position. And this I will do,

1. BY giving of you plain Texts that discover it, and that consequently prove our Point.

2. AND after that, By giving of you Reasons drawn from the Texts.

FOR the First of these:

Deut. 9. 4, 5, 6. 1. FIRST, Speak not in thine heart, (no not in thine Heart,) after that the Lord thy God hath cast out thine Enemies before thee, saying, For my righteousness do I possess the Land: Not for thy righteousness, or for the uprightness of thine heart, dost thou go in to possess the Land. Understand therefore, that the Lord thy God giveth thee not this good Land, to possess it, for thy righteousness; for thou art a stiff-necked people.

In these words, very pat for our purpose, Two things are worthy our Consideration.

1. THE People here spoken to, were the People of God; and so by God himself are they here twice acknowledged to be, The Lord thy God, The Lord thy God. So then, the righteousness here intended, is not the Righteousness that is in the World, but that which the People of God perform.

2. THE Righteousness here intended, is not some, but All, and every whit of that the Church performs to God: Say not in thine heart, after the Lord hath brought thee in, It was for my Righteousness. No, all thy Righteousness, from Egypt to Canaan, will not purchase Canaan for thee.

THAT this is true, is evident; because 'tis Thrice rejected: Not for thy righteousness, not for thy righteousness, not for thy righteousness, dost thou possess the Land. Now, if the Righteousness of the People of God, of old, could not merit for them Canaan, which was but a Type of Heaven: How can the Righteousness of the World now obtain Heaven it self? I say again,

IF Godly Men, as these were, could not by their Works purchase the Type of Heaven; then must the Ungodly be Justified, if ever they be Justified from the Curse and Sentence of the Law, while Sinners in themselves. The Argument is clear: For if good Men, by what they do, cannot merit the less; bad Men, by what they do, cannot merit more.

21. Nehem. 13. 14. SECONDLY, Remember me, O my God, for this; and wipe not out my good deeds that I have done.

These words were spoken by holy Nehemiah, and that at the end of all the Good that we read he did in the World. Also, the Deeds here spoken of, were Deeds done for God, for his People, for his House, and for the Offices thereof.

Yet godly Nehemiah durst not stand before God in these, nor yet suffer them to stand to his Judgment by the Law; but prays to God to be merciful both to him and them, and to spare him according to the multitude of his mercy. Ver. 22.

God blots out no Good but for the sake of Sin; and forasmuch as this Man prays God would not blot out his, 'tis evident, that he was conscious to himself that in his good Works were sin. Now, I say, if a good Man's Works are in danger of being overthrown, because there is in them a tang of Sin; how can bad Men think to stand Just before God in their Works, which are, in all parts, full of Sin? Yea, if the Works of a sanctified Man are blameworthy; how shall the Works of a bad Man set him clear in the Eyes of Divine Justice?

22. Isa. 64. 6. THIRDLY, But we are all as an unclean thing, and all our righteousnesses are as filthy rags; and we do all fade away as a leaf; and our iniquities, like the wind, have taken us away.

In these words we have a Relation both of Persons and Things.

1. Of Persons: And they are a righteous People, a righteous People put all together: We, we all are, &c.

2. The Condition of this People, even of all of them, take them at the best, are, and that by their own Confession, as an unclean thing.

3. Again: The things here attending this People, are their good things, put down under this large Character, Righteousnesses, ALL our Righteousnesses. These Expressions therefore comprehend all their religious Duties, both before and after Faith too. But what are all these Righteousnesses? Why, they are all as filthy Rags, when set before the Justice of the Law: Yea, it is also confessed, and that by these People, that their Iniquities, notwithstanding all their Righteousnesses, like the Wind, if Grace prevent not, would carry them away. This being so, how is it possible for one that is in his Sins, to work himself into a spotless Condition by Works done before Faith, by Works done by Natural Abilities? Or, to perform a Righteousness which is able to look God in the Face, his Law in the Face; and to demand and obtain the Forgiveness of Sins, and the Life that is Eternal? It cannot be: Men must therefore be justified from the Curse, in the sight of God, while Sinners in themselves, or not at all.

23. Eccles. 7. 20. 1 Kings 8. 46. FOURTHLY, There is not a just Man upon the Earth, that doth good, and sinneth not.

Although the words before are large, yet these seem far larger: There is not a Man, not a Just Man, not a Just Man upon the Earth, that doth good, and sinneth not. Now, if no good Man, if no good Man upon Earth, doth good, and sinneth not; then no good Man upon Earth can set himself by his own Actions Justified in the sight of God; for he has Sin mixed with his Good. How then shall a bad Man, any bad Man, the best bad Man upon Earth, think to set himself by his best things just in the sight of God? And if the Tree makes the Fruit either good or evil; then a bad Tree, (and a bad Man is a bad Tree,) can bring forth no good Fruit; how then shall such an one do that that shall cleanse him from his sin, and set him as spotless before the Face of God? Mat. 7. 16.

24. FIFTHLY, Hearken to me, ye stout-hearted, that are far from righteousness: I bring near my righteousness, &c.

1. This Call is General, and so proves, whatever Men think of themselves, that, in the Judgment of God, there is none at all Righteous. Men, as Men are far from being so.

2. This general offer of Righteousness, of the Righteousness of God, declares, that 'tis in vain for Men to think to be set Just and Righteous before God by any other means.

3. There is here also insinuated, That for him that thinks himself the worst, God has prepared a Righteousness; and therefore would not have him despair of Life, that sees himself far from Righteousness. From all these Scriptures therefore, it is manifest, That Men must be justified from the Curse of the Law, in the sight of God, while Sinners in themselves.

25. Mat. 11. 28. SIXTHLY, Come unto me, all ye that labour, and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest.

Here we have a labouring People, a People labouring for Life: But by all their labour, you see, they cannot ease themselves; their Burthen still remains upon them; they yet are heavy laden. The Load here, is, doubtless, Guilt of Sin; such as David had, when he said, by reason thereof, he was not able to look up. Psal. 38. 3, 4, 5.

Hence therefore you have an Experiment set before you, of those that are trying what they can do for Life: But behold, the more they stir, the more they sink under the weight of the Burthen that lies upon them.

And the Conclusion, to wit, Christ's Call to them to come to him for rest, declares, That in his Judgment, Rest was not to be had elsewhere. And, I think, one may with as much safety adhere to Christ's Judgment, as to any Man's alive: Wherefore, Men must be justified from the Curse, in the sight of God, while Sinners in themselves.

26. Rom. 3. 10, 11, 12. SEVENTHLY, There is none righteous, no not one; there is none that understandeth, there is none that seeketh after God; they are all gone out of the way; they are together become unprofitable, there is none that doth good, no, not one.

These words have respect to a Righteousness which is Justified by the Law; and they conclude, that none by his own Performances is righteous with such a righteousness: And it is concluded from Five Reasons.

1. Because they are not good: For a Man must be good, before he doth good, and perfectly good, before he doth good, and sinneth not.

2. Because they understand not: How then should they do good? For a Man must know know before he does, else how should he divert himself to do?

3. Because they want a Heart, they seek not after God, according to the way of his own appointment.

4. They are all gone out of the way; how then can they walk therein?

5. They are together become unprofitable; what worth or value then can there be in any of their Doings?

These are the Reasons by which he proveth that there is none righteous, no, not one. And the Reasons are weighty; for by them he proves the Tree is not good; how then can it yield good Fruit?

27. Now, as he concludes from these Five Reasons, That not one indeed is righteous: So he concludes by Five more, That none can do good to make him so.

Jer. 13. Mat. 23.27 Jit. 1. 15. Isa. 44. 12. Jer. 17. 9. 1. For that internally they are as an open Sepulchre, as full of dead Mens Bones; their Minds and Consciences are defiled; how then can sweet and good proceed from thence.

2. Their Throat is filled with this stink; all their Vocal Duties therefore smell thereof.

3. Their Mouth is full of cursing and bitterness; how then can there be found one word that should please God?

4. Their Tongue, which should present their Praise to God, has been used to work deceit; how then, 'till 'tis made a new one, should it speak in Righteousness?

5. The Poyson of Asps is under their Lips; therefore, whatever comes from them, must be polluted.

Thus you see he sets forth their Internal part; which being a true Report, as to be sure Rom. 3. 11, 12, 13, 14. it is, it is impossible that any good should so much as be framed in such an inward part, or come clean out of such a Throat, by such a Tongue, through such Lips as these.

28. And yet this is not all: He also proves, and that by Five Reasons more, That it is not possible they should do good.

Ver. 15. 1. Their Feet are swift to shed Blood: This implies an Inclination, an inward Inclination to evil Courses; a quickness of Motion to do Evil, but a backwardness to do Good.

Ver. 16. 2. Destruction and Miseries are in their ways. Take Ways for their Doings; and in the best of them Destruction lurks, and Misery yet follows them at the Heels.

Ver. 17. 3. The way of peace they have not known, that is far above, out of their sight. Wherefore, the labour of these foolish ones will weary every Ezek. 10. 15. one of them, because they know not the way that goes to the City.

Ver. 18. 4. There is no fear of God before their eyes: How then can they do any thing with that godly reverence of his holy Majesty, that is and must be essential to every good Work? For, to do things, but not in God's Fear, to what will it amount? will it avail?

29. 5. All this while they are under a Law that calls for Works that are perfectly good, that will accept of none but what are perfectly good; and that will certainly condemn them, because they neither are nor can be perfectly Ver. 19. good: For whatsoever things the Law saith, it saith it to them that are under the Law, that every mouth may be stopt, and all the world become guilty before God.

Thus you see that Paul here proves, by Fifteen Reasons, That none are, nor can be righteous before God, by Works that they can do. Therefore, Men must be justified from the Curse, in the sight of God, while Sinners in themselves.

EIGHTHLY, But now the righteousness of God, 30. without the Law, is manifest, being witnessed by the Ver. 21. Law, and the Prophets, &c.

This Text utterly excludes the Law. What Law? The Law of Works, the Moral Law, Phil. 3. 9. (Ver. 27.) and makes mention of another Righteousness, even a Righteousness of God; for the Righteousness of the Law, is the Righteousness of Men, Mens own Righteousness.

Now, if the Law, as to a Justifying Righteousness, is rejected; then the very Matter upon, and by which Man should work, is rejected; and if so, then he must be Justified by the Righteousness of God, or not at all: For he must be Justified by a Righteousness that is without the Law; to wit, the Righteousness of God. Now this Righteousness of God, whatever it is, to be sure it is not a Righteousness that flows from Men: For that, as I said, is rejected, and the Righteousness of God opposed unto it; being called a Righteousness that is without the Law, without our personal Obedience to it.

The Righteousness of God, or a Righteousness of God's compleating, a Righteousness of God's bestowing; a Righteousness that God also gives unto, and puts upon all them that believe, (Ver. 22.) a Righteousness that stands in the Works of Christ, and that is imputed both by Ver. 24, 25, 26. the Grace and Justice of God.

Where now is room for Man's Righteousness, either in the whole, or as to any part thereof? I say, Where, as to Justification with God?

NINTHLY, What shall we say then, that Abra- 31. ham our Father, as pertaining to the flesh, hath found?

Now the Apostle is at the root of the Matter: For Abraham is counted the Father of the Faithful; consequently, the Man whose way of attaining Justification must needs be Exemplary to all the Children of Abraham.

Now the Question is, How Abraham found? How he found that which some of his Children sought and miss'd? (Rom. 9. 32.) That is, How he found Justifying Righteousness? for 'twas that which Israel sought, and attained not Chap. 11. 7. unto.

Did he find it (saith Paul) by the flesh? Or, as he was in the Flesh? Or, by Acts and Works of the Flesh? But what are they? Why, the next Verse tells you, They are the Works of the Law.

If Abraham was Justified by Works, that is, as pertaining to the Flesh; for the Works of the Law are none other but the best sort of the Works of the Flesh. And so Paul calls all they that he had before his Conversion to Christ: If any other man (saith he) thinketh he hath whereof he may trust in the Flesh, I more. And then he counteth up several of his Priviledges; to which he, at last, adjoyneth the Righteous-

Phil. 3. 4, 5, 6. ness of the Moral Law, saying, Touching the righteousness which is in the Law, I was blameless.

And 'tis proper to call the Righteousness of the Law, the Work of the Flesh; because 'tis 2 Cor. 3. 8. the Work of a Man, of a Man in the Flesh: For the Holy Ghost doth not attend the Law, or the Work thereof, as to this, in Man, as Man; that has confin'd it self to another Ministration, whose glorious Name it bares.

Jam. 3. 10. I say, 'tis proper to call the Works of the Law, the Works of the Flesh; because they are done by that self same Nature, in and out of which comes all those things that are more grossly so called, (Gal. 5. 19, 20.) To wit, from the corrupt Fountain of fallen Man's polluted Nature.

This, saith he, was not the Righteousness by which Abraham found Justification with See Rom. 10. 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10. God: For if Abraham was justified by works, he hath whereof to glory; but not before God. But what saith the Scripture? Abraham believed God, and it was counted to him for righteousness. This Believing, is also set in flat Opposition to Works, and to the Law of Works: Wherefore, upon pain of great Contempt to God, it must not be reckoned as a Work to Justifie withall; but rather, as that which receiveth and applieth that Righteousness.

From all this therefore it is manifest, That Men must be Justified from the Curse of the Law, in the sight of God, while Sinners in themselves. But,

32. TENTHLY, Now to him that worketh, is the Rom. 4. 4. Reward not reckoned of Grace, but of Debt.

These words do not only back what went before, as to the Rejection of the Law for Righteousness, as to Justification with God: But supposing the Law was of force to Justifie, Life must not be admitted to come that way, because of the evil Consequences, that will unavoidably flow therefrom.

First, By this means Grace, and Justification by Grace, would be rejected; and that would be a foul business; it would not be reckoned of Grace.

Secondly, By this God would become the Debtor, and so the Underling; and so we, in this, the more Honourable. It would not be reckoned of Grace, but of Debt: And what would follow from hence? Why, Rom. 3. 24, 25, 26. Ephes. 3. 8, 9, 10, 11, 12. 1. By this we should frustrate the Design of Heaven; which is, to Justifie us freely by Grace, through a Redemption brought in by Christ.

Gal. 5. 2, 3, 4. 2. By this we should make our selves the Saviours, and justle Christ quite out of doors.

Gal. 3. 18. 3. We should have Heaven at our own dispose, as a Debt, not by Promise; and so, not be beholden to God for it. It must then be of Grace, not of Works, for the preventing of these Evils. Again, It must not be of Works, because if it should, then God would be the Debtor, and we the Creditor. Now much Blasphemy would flow from hence: As,

33. First, God himself would not be his own to dispose of: For the Inheritance being God, as well as his Kingdom; for so it is written, Rom. 8. 17. Heirs of God; Himself, I say, must needs be our Purchase.

Secondly, If so, then we have Right to dispose of Him, of his Kingdom and Glory, and all: (Be astonished, O Heavens, at this!) for if He be ours by Works, then he is ours of Debt; if he be ours of Debt, then is he ours by Purchase: And then again, if so, he is no longer his own, but ours, and at our dispose, &c.

Therefore, for these Reasons, were there sufficiency in our personal Works to justifie us, it would be even inconsistent with the Being of God to suffer it.

So then, Men are Justified from the Curse, in the sight of God, while Sinners in themselves.

ELEVENTHLY, But to him that worketh not, 34 but believeth on him that justifieth the ungodly, his Faith is counted for Righteousness. Rom. 4. 5.

These words shew how we must stand Just in the sight of God, from the Curse of the Law, both as it respecteth Justification it self, as also the Instrument or Means that receiveth that Righteousness which justifieth.

First, As for that Righteousness that Justifieth, it is not Personal Performances in us; for the Person here justified, stands, in that respect, as one that worketh not, as one that is ungodly.

Secondly, As it respecteth the Instrument that receiveth it, THAT Faith, as in the Point of Justifying Righteousness, will not work, but believe, but receive the Works and Righteousness of another: For Works and Faith, in this, are set in Opposition: He doth not work, he doth Gal. 3. 12. believe: He worketh not, but believeth on him who justifieth us, ungodly. As Paul also saith in another place, The Law is not of Faith: And Rom. 10. 5. again, Works saith on this wise; Faith, far different. The Law saith, Do this, and live: But the Doctrine of Faith saith, If thou shalt Rom. 10. 5, 10. confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved; for with the heart man believeth unto righteousness, &c.

OBJECT. But Faith is counted for Righteous- 35. ness.

ANSW. True; but yet consider, That by Faith, we do oft understand the Doctrine of Remission of Sins, as well as the Act of Believing.

But again: Faith, when it hath received the Lord Jesus, it hath done that which pleaseth God; therefore, the very Act of Believing, is the most Noble in the World: Believing sets the Crown upon the Head of Grace; it seals to the Truth of the sufficiency of the Righteous- Joh. 3. 33. ness of Christ, and giveth all the Glory to God; and therefore it is a righteous Act; but Christ himself, he is the Righteousness that justi- Rom. 4. 22. fieth.

Besides, Faith is a Relative, and hath its Relation, as such: Its Relation is the Righteousness that Justifieth; which is therefore called, the Righteousness OF Faith, or that with Rom. 10. 6. which Faith hath to do: Separate these two, and Justification cannot be; because Faith now wants his Righteousness: And hence it is you have so often such Sayings as these, He that Joh. 6. 35 believeth in me: He that believeth on him: Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be Ver. 40. saved. Faith then, as separate from Christ, doth nothing; nothing neither with God nor Man;

Man; because it wants its Relative: But let it go to the Lord Jesus; let it behold him as Acts 10. 29,31,33. dying, &c. And it fetches Righteousness, and Life, and Peace, out of the vertue of his Blood, &c. Or rather, sees it there, as sufficient for me to stand Just thereby in the sight
Rom. 3. 25, 26. of Eternal Justice: For him hath God set forth to be a Propitiation, through Faith, (Belief,) in his Blood, with intent to justifie him that believeth in Jesus.

36. TWELFTHLY, Even as David also describeth the blessedness of the Man to whom God imputeth
Rom. 4. 6. Righteousness without Works.

Did our Adversaries understand this one Text, they would not so boldly affirm, as they do, that the words, impute, imputed, imputeth, imputing, &c. are not used in Scripture, but to express Men really and personally to be that which is Imputed unto them: For Men are not really and personally [Faith,] yet Faith is imputed to Men: Nay, they are not really and personally [Sin,] nor really and personally [Righteousness;] yet these are imputed to Men: So then, both good things and bad may sometimes be imputed to Men, yet themselves be really and personally neither.

But to come to the Point: What Righteousness hath that Man that hath no Works? Doubtless, none of his own; yet God imputeth Righteousness to him: Yea, What Works of that Man doth God impute to him that he yet Justifies as Ungodly?

Further, He that hath Works, as to Justification from the Curse before God, not one of them is regarded of God: So then, it mattereth not whether thou hast Righteousness of thine own, or none.

Blessed is the Man to whom the Lord imputeth Righteousness without Works. Man's Blessedness then, the Blessedness of Justification from the Curse, in the sight of God, lyeth not in good Works done by us, either before or after Faith received; but in a Righteousness which God imputeth without Works; as we work not, as we
Ver. 7. are ungodly: Blessed is the man whose iniquities are forgiven, and whose sin is covered. To Forgive, and to Cover, are Acts of Mercy, not the Cause of our Merit: Besides, where Sin is real, there can be no perfect Righteousness; but the way of Justification must be through perfect Righteousness, therefore by another
Ver. 8. than our own, Blessed is the Man to whom the Lord will not impute Sin. The First Cause then of Justification before God, dependeth upon the Will of God, who will Justifie, because he will: Therefore, the meritorious Cause must also be of his own providing, else his Will cannot herein be Absolute: For if Justification depend upon our personal Performances, then
Rom. 9. 15, 16. not upon the Will of God: He may not have Mercy upon whom he will, but on whom Man's Righteousness will give him leave: But his Will, not ours must rule here; therefore, his Righteousness, and his only. So then, Men are Justified from the Curse, in the sight of God, while Sinners in themselves.

37. Having passed over these few Scriptures, I shall come to particular Instances of Persons who have been Justified; and shall briefly touch their Qualifications in the Act of God's Justifying them.

First, By the Old Testament Types.
Secondly, By the New.
First, By the Old.

And unto Adam also, and to his Wife, did the Lord God make Coats of Skins, and cloathed them. Gen. 3. 21.

In the beginning of this Chapter, you find these two Persons reasoning with the Serpent; the Effect of which Discourse, was, they take Ver. 7, 8. of the forbidden Fruit, and so break the Command 11, 12, 13, of God. This done, they hide themselves, and 14. cover their Nakedness with Aprons: But God finds out their Sin, from the highest branch, even to the roots thereof.

What followeth? Not one Precept by which they should by Works obtain the Favour of God, but the Promise of a Saviour: Of which Promise, this 21*st* Verse is a mystical Interpretation: The Lord God made them Ver. 15. Coats of Skins; Coats of Skins, and cloathed them.

Hence observe,

First, That these Coats were made, not before, but after they had made themselves Aprons: A plain Proof their Aprons were not sufficient to hide their Shame from the sight of God.

Secondly, These Coats were made, not of Adam's inherent Righteousness, for that was lost before by Sin: but of the Skins of the slain, Types of the Death of Christ, and of the Righteousness brought in thereby: By whose Isa. 53. stripes we are healed.

Thirdly, This is further manifest: For the Coats, God made them; and for the Persons, God cloathed them therewith: To shew, That as the Righteousness by which we must stand Just before God, from the Curse, is a Righteousness of Christ's performing, not of theirs; so he, not they, must put it on them also: For of God, we are in Christ; and of God, 1 Cor. 1. 30 his righteousness is made ours.

But, I say, if you would see their antecedent Qualifications, you find them under Two 38. Heads.

First, Rebellion.
Secondly, Hypocrisie.

Rebellion, in breaking God's Command; Hypocrisie, in seeking how to hide their Faults from God. Expound this by Gospel-Language, and then it shews, That Men are Justified from the Curse, in the sight of God, while Sinners in themselves.

Secondly, The Lord had respect to Abel, and Gen. 4. 4. to his Offering.

By these words we find the Person first accepted, The Lord had respect unto Abel. And indeed, where the Person is not first accept- Mat. 23. 16, ed, the Offering will not be pleasing; the 17, 18, 19, Altar sanctifies the Gift, and the Temple sanctifieth the Gold; so the Person, the Condition of the Person, is that which makes the Offering either pleasing or despising. In the Epistle to the Hebrews, it is said, By Faith Heb. 11. 4. Abel offered unto God a more excellent Sacrifice than Cain, by which he obtained witness that he was righteous.. Righteous before he offered his Gift, as his Sacrifice testified; for God accepted of it.

By Faith he offered. Wherefore, Faith was precedent, or before he offered. Now Faith hath hath to do with God through Christ; not with him through our Works of righteousness. Besides, Abel was righteous before he offered, before he did do good, otherwise God would not have testified of his Gift. By Faith he obtained witness that he was righteous, for God approved of his Gifts: Now Faith, I say, as to our standing quit before the Father, respects the Promise of Forgiveness of sins, through the undertaking of the Lord Jesus. Where-

39. fore, Abels Faith, as to Justifying righteousness before God, looked not forward to what should be done by himself; but back to the
Gen. 3,15. promise of the Seed of the Woman, that was to
Gal. 4. 4. destroy the Power of Hell, and to redeem them that were under the Law. By this Faith, he shrouds himself under the Promise of Victory, and the Merits of the Lord Jesus; now being there, God finds him righteous; and being righteous, he offered to God a more excellent Sacrifice than his Brother: for Cains person was not first accepted, through the righteousness of Faith going before; although he seemed foremost, as to personal acts of Righteous-
Gen. 4. ness. Abel therefore was righteous before he did good works, but that could not be, but alone through that respect God had to him for the sake of the Messias, promised before, Chap. 3. 15. But the Lords so respecting ABEL, presupposeth, that at that time, he stood in himself by the Law a Sinner, otherwise he needed not to be respected, for, and upon the account of another. Yea ABEL also, for as much as he acted Faith before he offered sacrifice, must thereby intirely respect the promise, which promise was not grounded upon a Condition of Works to be found in ABEL,
Gal. 4. 4. but in and for the sake of the Seed of the Woman: Which is Christ. Which Promise he believed; and so took it for granted that this Christ should break the Serpents Head; that is, destroy, by himself, the Works of the Devil; to wit, Sin, Death, the Curse, and Hell. By this Faith he stood before God righteous, because he had put on Christ, and being thus, he offered: By which act of Faith, God declared he was pleased with him, because he accepted of his Sacrifice.

40. Thirdly, And the Lord said unto her——The elder
Gen. 25. 23 shall serve the younger. These words, after Pauls Exposition, are to be understood of Justification in the sight of God, according to the Purpose and Decree of electing Love, which had so determined long before, that one of these Children should be received to eternal Grace: but mark, not by Works of Righteousness
Rom. 9 10, 11, 12. which they should do, but before they had done either good or evil: Otherwise the purpose of God according to Election, not of Works, but of him that calleth, could not stand, but fall in pieces. But none are received into eternal Mercy, but such as are Just before the Lord, by a Righteousness that is compleat; and Jacob having done no good, could by no means have that of his own; and therefore it must be by some other Righteousness; and so himself be Justified from the Curse in the sight of God, while a Sinner in himself.

2 Sam. 12. 24, 25. Fourthly, The same may be said concerning Solomon, whom the Lord loved with special love, as soon as born into the World: which he also confirmed with signal Characters: He sent (saith the Holy Ghost) by the hand of Nathan the Prophet, and he called his Name Jedidiah, because the Lord loved him. Was this Love of God extended to him, because of his personal Vertues? No verily. For he was yet an Infant. He was justified then in the sight of God, from the Curse, by another than his own righteousness.

Fifthly, And when I passed by thee, and saw Ezek. 16. 6. thee polluted in thine own Blood; I said unto thee, when thou wast in thy blood, live: yea, I said unto thee, when thou wast in thy Blood, live. The 41.
state of this People you have in the former Ver. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5.
Verses described, both as to their rise, and practice in the World.

(1.) As to their rise, their Original was the Gen. 9. 25.
same with Canaan, the men of Gods Curse. Thy Rom. 3. 9.
Birth and thy Nativity is of the Land of Canaan; the same with other carnal men: Thy Father was an Amorite, and thy Mother an Hittite.

(2.) Their Condition, that is shewed us, by this Emblem.

1. They had not been washed in Water. 2. They had not been Swadled. 3. They had not been Salted. 4. They brought filth with them into the World. 5. They lay stinking in their Cradle. 6. They were without Strength to help themselves: Thus they appear, and come by Generation.

Again, As to their Practice:

1. They polluted themselves in their own Blood. 2. They so continued till God passed by. And when I passed by thee, I saw thee polluted in thine own blood; in thy blood, in thy Blood; 'tis doubled. Thus we see, they were polluted born, they continued in their Blood till the day that the Lord looked upon them; polluted, I say, to the loathing of their Persons, &c. Now this was the time of Love. And when I passed by thee, and saw thee polluted in thine own blood; I said unto thee, when thou wast in thy blood, live; yea, I said unto thee, when thou wast in thy blood, live.

Quest. But how could an holy God, say, Live, 42.

Answ. Though THEY had nought but Sin; yet He had LOVE, and Righteousness. He had 1. LOVE to pity them. 2. Righteousness to cover them: Now when I passed by Ezek. 16. 8.
thee, and looked upon thee, BEHOLD, thy time was the time of LOVE: What followes? 1. I spread my skirt over thee. And 2. Covered thy Nakedness. Yea, 3. I sware unto thee. And, 4. Entred into Covenant with thee. And, 5. Thou becamest mine. MY LOVE pitied thee: MY SKIRT covered thee. Thus God delivered them from the Curse, in his sight. Then I Ver. 9.
washed thee with Water (after thou wast Justified:) Yea, I throughly washed away thy blood from thee, and anoynted thee with Oyl. Sanctification then is consequential, Justification goes before: The Holy Ghost by this Scripture setteth forth, to the life, Free Grace to the Sons of men, while they themselves are Sinners. I say, while they are unwashed, unswadled, unsalted, but bloody Sinners: For by these words, not washed, not salted, not swadled; he setteth forth their unsanctified state; yea they were not onely only unsanctified, but also cast out, cast out without pity, to the loathing of their Persons; yea, No eye pitied them, to do any of these things for them: No Eye but his, whose glorious Grace is unsearcheable: No Eye but his, who could look and love: All others look'd and loathed: But blessed be God, that hath passed by us, in that day that we wallowed in our own Blood; and blessed be God for the Skirt of his glorious Righteousness, wherewith he covered us, when we lay before him naked in Blood. 'Twas when we were in our Blood, that he loved us; when we were in our Blood, he said, Live. Therefore, Men are justified from the Curse, in the sight of God, while Sinners in themselves.

Sixthly, Now Joshua was cloathed with filthy 3. Garments, and stood before the Angel.

The standing of Joshua here, is as Men used to stand that were Arraigned before a Judge. Joshua stood before the Angel of the Lord, and Satan standing at his right-hand to resist him. The same Posture as Judas stood in, when he was to be Condemned: Set thou (saith 109. David) a wicked Man over him, and let Satan stand at his right-had. Thus therefore Joshua stood. Now Joshua was cloathed (not with Righteousness, but) with filthy Rags! Sin upon him, and Satan by him, and this before the Angel! What must he do now? Go away? No: There he must stand. Can he speak for himself? Not a word: Guilt had made him dumb. Had he no place clean? No, he was 3.12. Cloathed with filthy garments. But his lot was to stand before Jesus Christ, that maketh Intercession for Transgressors: 3.2. And the Lord said unto Satan, The Lord rebuke thee, Satan; even the Lord that hath chosen Jerusalem, rebuke thee. (Thus Christ saveth from present Condemnation, those that be still in their Sin and Blood.)

But is he now quit? No, he standeth yet in filthy Garments; neither can he, by ought that is in him, or done by him, clear himself from him. How then? Why, the Lord cloaths him with change of Raiment; the Iniquities were his own, the Rayment was the Lord's: This is the Heritage of the Servants of the Lord; and their righteousness is of me, saith the Lord. We will not here discourse of Joshua's Sin, what it was, or when committed; it is enough to our purpose, that he was cloathed with filthy garments; and that the Lord made a change with him, by causing his Iniquity to pass from him, and by cloathing him with change of Rayment. But what had Joshua antecedent to this glorious and heavenly Cloathing? The Devil at his Right-hand, to resist him; and himself in filthy. Garments: Now Joshua Zech. 3. 4. was cloathed with filthy garments, and stood before the Angel: And he answered, and spake to those that stood before him, saying, Take away the filthy garments from him. And unto him he said, Behold, I have caused thine iniquity to pass from thee; and I will cloath thee with change of raiment.

44. But to pass the Old-Testament Types, and to come to the New.

Mark. 5. 18, 19. First, And when he was come into the Ship, he that had been possessed with the Devil, prayed him that he might go with him: But Jesus suffered him not, but saith unto him, Go home to thy Friends, and tell them how great things God hath done for thee, and hath had compassion on thee.

The present state of this Man is sufficiently declared in these Particulars.

1. He was possessed with the Devil; with Devils, with many; with a whole Legion, which some say is Six thousand, or thereabouts. Mat. 8.

2. These Devils had so the mastery of him, as to drive him from place to place into the Wilderness, among the Mountains; and so to dwell in the Tombs, among the Dead. Luke 8.

3. He was out of his Wits; he would cut his Flesh, break his Chains, nay, no Man could tame him.

4. When he saw Jesus, the Devil in him, as being Lord and Governour there, cried out against the Lord Jesus. In all this, what Qualification shews it self, as precedent to Justification? None but such as Devils work, or as rank Bedlam's have: Yet this poor Man was dispossessed, taken into God's Compassion, and was bid to shew it to the World: Go home to thy friends, and tell them how great things the Lord hath done for thee, and hath had compassion on thee: Which last words, because they are added over and above his being dispossessed of the Devils, I understand to be the fruit of Electing Love. [I will have Compassion on whom I will have Compassion:] Which blesseth us with the Mercy of a Justifying Righteousness: And all this, as by this is manifest, without the least precedent Qualification of ours. Mark 5.7.

Seconly, And when they had nothing to pay, he frankly forgave them both. Luke 7.42.

The Occasion of these words, was, for that the Pharisee murmured against the Woman that washed Jesus's Feet, because she was a Sinner: For so said the Pharisee, and so saith the Holy Ghost: But saith Christ, Simon, I will ask thee a Question; A certain Man had two Debtors; the one owed him five hundred pence, and the other fifty; and when they had nothing to pay, he frankly forgave them both. Ver. 37. Ver. 39.

Hence I gather these Conclusions.

1. That Men that are wedded to their own Righteousness, understand not the Doctrine of the Fogiveness of Sins. This is manifested by the poor Pharisee; he objected against the Woman, because she was a Sinner. 45.

2. Let Pharisees murmur still, yet Christ hath Pity and Mercy for Sinners.

3. Yet Jesus doth not usually manifest Mercy, until the Sinner hath Nothing to pay: And when they had Nothing to pay, he frankly, (or freely, or heartily,) forgave them both. If they had Nothing to pay, then they were Sinners; but he forgiveth no Man, but with respect to a Righteousness: Therefore, that Righteousness must be another's; for in the very Act of Mercy they are found Sinners. They had Nothing but Debt, Nothing but Sin, Nothing to Pay. Then they were Justified freely by Grace, through that Redemption that is in Jesus Christ. So then, Men are Justified from the Curse, in the sight of God, while Sinners in themselves.

Thirdly, And when he saw their Faith, he said unto the Man, Thy sins are forgiven thee. 46. Luk 5. 20.

This Man had not Righteousness to stand Just before God withall; for his Sins, as yet, remained remained unforgiven: Wherefore, seeing Guilt remained until Christ remitted him, he was discharged while ungodly.

And, Observe it, The Faith here mentioned, is not to be reckoned so much the Man's, as the Faith of them that brought him: Neither did it reach to the Forgiveness of Sins, but to the Miracle of Healing; yet this Man, in this Condition, had his sins forgiven him.

But again: Set the case the Faith was only his, (as it was not,) and that it reached to the Doctrine of Forgiveness; yet it did it without respect to Righteousness in himself; for Guilt lay still upon him, he had now his sins forgiven him.

Isa. 65. But this Act of Grace was a surprizal; it was unlooked for: I am found of them that sought me not. They came for one thing, he gave them another: They came for a Cure upon his Body, but, to their amazement, he cured first his Soul: Thy sins are forgiven thee.

Besides, To have his Sins forgiven, betokeneth an Act of Grace; but Grace and Works, *Rom. 11. 6. as to this, * are opposite: Therefore, Men are Justified from the Curse, in the sight of God, while Sinners in themselves.

47. Luk. 15. 21. Fourthly, Father, I have sinned against Heaven, and in thy sight, and am no more worthy to be called thy Son.

What this Man was, is sufficiently declared in Verse 13, &c. As First, A riotous Spender of all; of Time, Talent, Body and Soul.

2. He added to this, his Rebellion, great Ver. 15, 17. Contempt of his Father's House: He joyned himself to a Stranger, and became an Associate with Swine.

3. At last, indeed, he came to himself. But then observe, 1. He sought not Justification by personal Performances of his own. 2. Neither did he mitigate his Wickedness: 3. Nor excuse himself before his Father: but first resolveth to confess his Sin; and coming to his Father, did confess it, and that with aggra- Ver. 18. vating Circumstances: I have sinned against Heaven; I have sinned against Thee; I am no more worthy to be called thy Son. Now what he said, was true or false: If true, then he had not Righteousness; if false, he could not stand Just in the sight of his Father by virtue of his own Performances. And indeed, the sequel of the Parable clears it. His Father Ver. 22. said to his Servant, Bring forth the best Robe, (the Justifying Righteousness,) and put it upon him; and put a Ring on his Hand, and Shoes on his Feet. This best Robe then, being in the Father's House, was not in the Prodigal's Heart; neither stayed the Father for further Qualifications, but put it upon him as he was, surrounded with Sin, and oppressed with Guilt. Therefore, Men are Justified from the Curse, in the sight of God, while Sinners in themselves.

48. Luk. 19. 10. Fifthly, For the Son of Man is come to seek, and to save that which was lost.

The Occasion of these words, was, for that the Pharisees murmured, because Jesus was gone to be a Guest to one that was a Sinner: Yea, a Sinner of the Publicans, and are most fitly applied to the Case in hand: For though Zacchæus climbed the Tree, yet Jesus Christ found him first, and called him down by his Name; adding withall, For to day I must abide at thy House; which being opened by Ver. 9. is as much as to say, I am come to be thy Salvation. Now this being believed by Zacchæus, he made haste, and came down, and received him joyfully. And not only so, but to declare to all, the simplicity of his Faith; and that he unfeignedly accepted of this word of Salvation, he said unto the Lord, and that before all present, Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor; and if I have taken any thing from any man by false accusation, (a Supposition intimating an Affirmative,) I restore him four fold. This being thus, Christ doubleth his Comfort, saying to him also, and that before the People, This day is Salvation come to this house. Then, by adding the next words, he expounds the whole of the Matter, For I am Rom. come to seek and save that which was lost; to 20. seek it till I find it, to save it when I find it. He finds them that sought him not: And (saith Zacchæus,) Behold me! to a People that asked not after him. So then, seeing Jesus findeth this Publican first, preaching Salvation to him before he came down from the Tree; it is evident, he received this, as he was a Sinner. From which Faith flowed his following Words and Works, as a Consequence.

Sixthly, Jesus saith unto him, Verily I say 49. unto thee, this day shalt thou be with me in Pa- Luk. 23. radise.

This was spoken to the Thief upon the Cross, who had lived in wickedness all his days; neither had he so much as truly repented, no, not till he came to die; nay, when he first was hanged, he then fell to railing on Christ: For though Luke leaves it out, beginning but at his Conversion; yet by Matthew's relating the whole Tragedy, we Mat. 27. find him at first as bad as the other. This Man then had no Moral Righteousness; for he had lived in the breach of the Law of God. Indeed, by Faith he believed Christ to be King, and that when dying with him: But what was this to a personal performing the Commandments? or of restoring what he had of taken away? Yea, he confesseth his Death to be Just for his Sin; and so leaning upon the Mediation of Christ, he goeth out of the World. Now he that truly confesseth and acknowledgeth his Sin, acknowledgeth also the Curse to be due thereto from the righteous Hand of God. So then, where the Curse of God is due, that Man wanteth Righteousness: Besides, he that makes to another for help, hath by that condemned his own (had he any) of utter insufficiency. But all these did this poor Creature; wherefore, he must stand Just from the Law, in the sight of God, while sinful in himself.

Sevenhtly, Lord, What wilt thou have me to do? 50 What wilt thou have me to do? Ignorance is Acts here set forth to the full: He hitherto knew not Jesus, neither what he would have him to do; yet a mighty Man for the Law of Works, and for Zeal towards God according to that. Thus you see, that he neither knew that Christ was Lord, nor what was his Mind and Will: I did it ignorantly, in unbelief; I did not know 1 T. him, I did not believe he was to save us: I 13. thought thought I must be saved, by living righteously, by keeping the Law of God. This Thought kept me ignorant of Jesus, and of Justification from the Curse by him. Poor Saul! How many Fellows hast thou yet alive! Every Man zealous of the Law of Works, yet none of them know the Law of Grace: Each of them seeking for Life by doing the Law, when Life is to be had by nought but Believing in Jesus Christ.

51. Act.16.31. Eighthly, Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved.

A little before, we find Paul and Silas in the Stocks, for Preaching of Jesus Christ: In the Stocks in the Inward Prison, by the hands of a sturdy Jaylor: But at midnight, while Paul and his Companion sang Praises to God, the Foundations of the Prison shook, and every Man's Bands were loosed. Now the Jaylor being awakened by the noise of this shaking, and supposing he had lost his Prisoners, drew his Sword, with intent to kill himself: But Paul cried out, Do thy self no harm, for we are all here: Then he called for a light, and sprang in, and came trembling, and fell down before Paul and Silas, and brought them out; and said, Sirs! What must I do to be saved? In all this Relation, here is not ought that can Justifie the Jaylor. For,

1. His whole Life was Idolatry, Cruelty, and Enmity to God: Yea,

2. Even now, while the Earthquake shook the Prison, he had Murther in his Heart, yea, and in his Intentions too: Murther, I say, and that of an high nature, even to have killed his own Body and Soul at once. Well,

3. When he began to shake, under the fears of Everlasting Burnings; yet then his Heart was wrapped up in Ignorance, as to the Way of Salvation by Jesus Christ: What must I do to be saved? He knew not what, no, not he. His Condition then was this: He neither had Righteousness to save him, nor knew he how to get it. Now, what was Paul's Answer? Why, Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, (look for Righteousness in Christ,) and then thou shalt be saved. This then still holdeth true, Men are Justified from the Curse, in the sight of God, whilest Sinners in themselves.

52. The Second Conclusion. I should now come to the Second Conclusion; viz. That this can be done by no other Righteousness, than that long ago performed by, and remaining with the Person of Christ. But before I speak to that, I will a little further press this, by urging for it several Reasons.

The First Reason.

The First Reason. First, Men must be Justified from the Curse, while Sinners in themselves: Because, By Nature all are under sin: All have sinned, and come Rom.9.23 Chap.11. 32. short of the glory of God. He hath concluded all Gal.3. 22. in unbelief; he hath concluded all under sin. Now having sinned, they are in Body and Soul defiled, and become an unclean thing: Wherefore, Tit.1.15. whatever they touch, with an intent to work Lev.15.11 out Righteousness thereby, they defile that also. And hence, as I have said, all the Righ- Isa.64.6. teousness they seek to accomplish, is but as a menstruous Cloth, and filthy Rags; therefore, they are Sinners still.

Indeed, to some Mens thinking, the Pharisee is holier than the Publican; but in God's sight in the Eyes of Divine Justice, they stand alike condemned: All have sinned; there's the Poyson: Therefore, as to God, without Christ, all Throats are an open Sepulchre. Mat.23.27 Rom.3.13

53. The World, in general, is divided into Two sorts of Sinners.

1. The open Profane.

2. The Man that seeks Life by the Works of the Law: The Profane is Judged by all; but the other by a few. Oh! but God Judgeth him!

First, For an Hypocrite: Because, that notwithstanding, he hath sinned: He would be Pro.30 12. thought to be good and righteous. And hence it Mat. 23. is that Christ calls such kind of Holy Ones, 27,28,29. Pharisees Hypocrites, Pharisees Hypocrites; be- Luk.11.24 cause by their gay Out-side they deceived those that beheld them: But saith he, God Chap. 16. sees your Hearts; you are but like painted Se- 15. pulchres, within you are full of dead Mens Bones: Such is the Root from whence flows all their Righteousness. But doth the blind Pharisee think his state is such? No, his thoughts of himself are far otherwise: God, I thank thee Chap. 18. (saith he) I am not as other Men, Extortioners, 11, 12. Unjust, Adulterers, or even like this Publican. Ay, but still God Judgeth him for an Hypocrite.

Secondly, God Judgeth him for one that spurneth against Christ, even by every such work he doth. And hence it is, when Paul was con- Phil.3.7,8. verted to Jesus Christ, that he calls the Righ- Act.22.3,4 teousness he had before, Madness, Blasphemy, Chap.26.4 Injury; because what he did to save himself 1 Tim. 1. by Works, was in direct Opposition to Grace 14, 15. by Jesus Christ.

54. Behold then the Evil that is in a Mans own Righteousness!

1. It curseth and condemneth the Righteousness of Christ.

2. It blindeth the Man from seeing his Misery.

3. It hardeneth his Heart against his own Salvation.

Thirdly, But again, God Judgeth such, for those that condemn him of Foolishness: The preaching of the Cross, (that is, Christ Crucified,) 1 Cor. 1. is to them that perish, foolishness. What? (saith 18, 23. the * Merit-monger,) will you look for Life by * Mine Ears the Obedience of another Man? Will you trust have heard to the Blood that was shed upon the Cross, that all this. run down to the Ground, and perished in the Dust! Thus deridingly they scoff at, stumble upon, and are taken in the Ginn that attends Isa. 8. 14. the Gospel; not to Salvation, but to their Condemnation: Because they have condemned the Just, that they might justifie their own filthy Righteousness.

But, I say, if all have sinned, if all are defiled; if the best of a Man's Righteousness be but Madness, Blasphemy, Injury; if for their Righteousness they are Judged Hypocrites, Condemned as Opposers of the Gospel, and as such, have counted God foolish, for sending his Son into the World: Then must the best of Men be Justified from the Curse, in the sight of God, while Sinners in themselves. Because they still stand Guilty in the sight of God; their Hearts are also still filthily infected: Though thou wash Jer. 2. 22. thee with Nitre, and take thee much Soap, yet thine iniquity is marked before ME, ſaith the Lord God: It ſtands marked ſtill before God. So then, what eſteem ſoever Men have of the Righteouſneſs of the World; yet God accounts it horrible Wickedneſs, and the greateſt Enemy that Jeſus hath. Wherefore, this Vine, is the Vine of Sodom; theſe Cluſters, are the Cluſters of Gomorrah; theſe Grapes, are Grapes of Gall; theſe Cluſters are bitter; they are the Poyſon of Dragons, and the cruel Venom of Aſps. No marvel then, if John in his Miniſtry gives the firſt Rebuke and Juſtle to ſuch; ſtill calling them Serpents and Vipers, and concluding 'tis almoſt impoſſible they ſhould eſcape the Damnation of Hell; for of all Sin, Man's own Righteouſneſs, in ſpecial, bids defiance to Jeſus Chriſt.

Mat. 3. 7. Chap. 23.

The Second Reaſon.

55. The Second Reaſon.

Secondly, A Second Reaſon why Men muſt ſtand Juſt in the ſight of God, from the Curſe, while Sinners in themſelves, is, Becauſe of the Exactions of the Law. For were it granted, That Mens good Works aroſe from a holy Root, and were perfect in their Kind; yet the Demand of the Law, (for that is ſtill beyond them,) would leave them Sinners before the Juſtice of God. And hence it is that holy Men ſtand Juſt in the ſight of God from the Curſe; yet dare not offer their Gifts by the Law, but through Jeſus Chriſt; knowing, that not only their Perſons, but their Spiritual Service alſo, would elſe be rejected of the Heavenly Majeſty.

1 Pet. 2. 5. Rev. 7. 14, 15, 16. Heb. 13. 8.

For the Law is it ſelf ſo perfectly holy and good, as not to admit of the leaſt failure, either in the Matter or Manner of Obedience: Curſed is every one that continueth not in all things that are written in the Book of the Law, to do them: For they that ſhall keep the whole Law, and yet offend in one point, are guilty of all; and convicted of the Law, as Tranſgreſſors. Tribulation therefore, and anguiſh upon every ſoul of man that doth evil; of the Jew firſt, and alſo of the Gentile.

Gal. 3. 10. Jam. 2. 9, 10. Rom. 2. 9.

And obſerve, The Law leaveth thee not to thy Choice, when, or when not, to begin to keep it; but requireth thy Obedience, ſo ſoon as concerned, exactly, both as to the Matter and Manner, and that before thou haſt ſinned againſt it; for the firſt Sin breaks the Law. Now, if thou ſinneſt before thou beginneſt to do, thou art found by the Law a Tranſgreſſor, and ſo ſtandeſt by that convicted of Sin: So then, all thy after Acts of Righteouſneſs, is but the Righteouſneſs of a Sinner, of one whom the Law hath Condemned already. The Law is ſpiritual, but thou art carnal, ſold under ſin.

56. Joh. 3. 18. Rom. 7. 14.

Beſides, the Law being abſolutely perfect, doth not only reſpect the Matter and Manner, as to outward Acts; but alſo the Riſe and Root, the HEART, from whence they flow; and an Impediment there Spoils all, were the executive part never ſo good: Thou ſhalt love the Lord thy God with all thy Heart, with all thy Soul, with all thy Mind, and with all thy Strength. Mark the Repetition, with all, with all, with all, with all; with all thy Heart, with all thy Soul, in all things, at all times, elſe thou hadſt as good do nothing: But every imagination of the thought of the heart of man, is only evil continually. The Margin hath it, the whole imagination, the purpoſes and deſires; ſo that a good Root is here wanting. The heart is deceitful above all things, and deſperately wicked; who can know it? What Thoughts, Words, or Action can be clean, ſufficiently to anſwer a perfect Law, that flows from this Original; it is impoſſible. Men muſt therefore be Juſtified from the Curſe, in the ſight of God, while Sinners in themſelves.

Mark 12. 30. Gen. 6. 5. Jer. 17. 9.

But further yet to open the Caſe: There are ſeveral things that make it impoſſible that a Man ſhould ſtand Juſt in the ſight of God, but while ſinful in himſelf.

Firſt, Becauſe the Law under which he at preſent ſtands, holds him under the dominion of Sin; for Sin, by the Law, hath dominion over all that are under the Law; Dominion, I ſay, both as to Guilt and Filth. Guilt hath dominion over him, becauſe he is under the Curſe: And Filth, becauſe the Law giveth him no power, neither can he by it deliver his Soul. And for this cauſe it is, that it is called beggerly, weak, unprofitable; impoſing Duty, but giving no Strength; expecting the Duty ſhould be compleat, yet bendeth not the Heart to do the work; to do it, I ſay, as is required: And hence it is again, that it is called, a voyd of words; for as words that are barely ſuch, are void of Spirit, and quickening Life; ſo are the Impoſitions of the Law of Works. Thus far therefore the Man remains a Sinner. But, 57. Rom. 6. 14. Gal. 3. 12. Chap. 4. 9. Rom. 8. 3. Heb. 12. 24.

Secondly, The Law is ſo far from giving Life or Strength to do it, that it doth the quite contrary. For, 58.

1. It weakeneth, it diſcourageth, and diſhearteneth the Sinner; eſpecially when it ſhews it ſelf in its Glory; for then it is the Miniſtration of Death, and killeth all the World: When Iſrael ſaw this, they fled from the Face of God: They could not endure that which was commanded: Yea, ſo terrible was the ſight, that Moſes ſaid, I exceedingly fear and quake: Yea, almoſt forty Years after, Moſes ſtood amazed, to find himſelf and Iſrael yet alive: Did ever people (ſaith he) hear the voice of God ſpeaking out of the midſt of the fire, as thou haſt done, and live?

Exod. 20. 18, 19. Heb. 12. 20, 21. Deut. 4. 22, 23.

Alas, he who boaſteth himſelf in the Works of the Law, he doth not hear the Law: When that ſpeaks, it ſhakes Mount Sinai, and writeth Death upon all Faces; and makes the Church it ſelf cry out, A Mediator! elſe we die.

Exod. 20. 19. Deut. 5. 25, 26, 27. Chap. 18. 15, 19.

2. It doth not only thus diſcourage, but abundantly encreaſeth every Sin.

1. Sin takes the advantage of Being by the Law; the Motions of Sin, are by the Law. Where no Law is, there is no Tranſgreſſion.

Rom. 5. 5. Chap. 4. 15.

2. Sin takes an occaſion to live by the Law. When the Commandment came, Sin revived; for without the Law, Sin is dead.

Chap. 7. 8, 9.

3. Sin takes an occaſion to multiply by the Law: The Law entred, that the Offence might abound.

Rom. 5. 20.

4. And the ſtrength of Sin is the Law.

1 Cor. 15. 56.

5. Sin by the Commandment is become outragious, exceeding ſinful. What ſhall we ſay then? Is the Law Sin? God forbid: Yea, I had not known

Rom. 7. 13.

Sin,

Sin, but by the Law; for I had not known Lust, except the Law had said, Thou shalt not Covet: But Sin taking occasion by the Commandment, wrought in me all manner of Concupiscence; for without the Law, Sin is dead.

60. These things then, are not infused, or operated by the Law, from its own Nature, or Doctrine; but are occasioned by the meeting of, and having to do with a thing directly opposite. The Law is Spiritual, I am Carnal: Therefore, every Imposition is rejected, and rebelled against. Strike a Steel against a Flint, and the Fire flyes about you: Strike the Law against a carnal Heart, and Sin appears, Sin multiplies, Sin rageth, Sin is strenghthened. And hence ariseth all these Doubts, Murmurings, and sinful Complainings that are found in the Hearts of the People of God; they have too much to do with the Law; the Law of Works is now in the Conscience, imposing Duty upon the Carnal part: This is the Reason of the Noise that you hear, and of the Sin that you see, and of the Horrour that you feel in your own Souls when tempted. But to pass this Digression.

The Law then having to do with carnal Men, by this they become worse Sinners than before; for their Heart now recoileth desperately, opposeth blasphemously; it giveth way to Despair; and then, to conclude, there is no Hope for hereafter; and so goeth on in a sordid, ungodly course of life, till his time is come to die, and be damned, unless a Miracle of Grace prevents. From all this I conclude, That a Man cannot stand Just from the Curse, in the sight of God, but while sinful in himself. But,

61. Thirdly, As the Law giveth neither Strength nor Life to keep it; so it neither giveth nor worketh Repentance unto Life, if thou break it: Do this and live, break it and die; this is the Voice of the Law: All the Repentance that such Men have, it is but that of themselves; the sorrow of the World, that endeth in Death, as Cain's and Judas's did; even such a Repentance as must be repented of, either here, or in Hell-fire.

2 Cor. 7. 10.

Fourthly, As it giveth none, so it accepteth none of them that are under the Law: Sin, and die, is for ever its language; there is no middle-way in the Law: They must bare their Judgment, whosoever they be, that stand and fall to the Law. Therefore Cain was a Vagabond still, and Judas hangeth himself; their Repentance could not save them, they fell headlong under the Law: The Law stays no Man from the due Reward of his Deeds; it hath no Ears to hear, nor Heart to pity its penitent Ones.

Gal. 5. 9.

Gen. 4. 9, 10, 11.

Mat. 27. 3.

Fifthly, By the Law, God will shew no Mercy: For, I will be merciful to their unrighteousness, is the Tenour of another Covenant: But by the Law, I regard them not, saith the Lord. For,

Heb. 8. 9, 10.

62. Sxthly, All the Promises annexed to the Law, are by the First Sin null and void: Though then a Man should live a Thousand Years twice told, and all that while fulfill the Law; yet having sinned first, he is not at all the better. Our Legalists then, begin to talk too soon, of having Life by the Law: Let them first begin without Sin, and so throughout, continue to death; and then if God will save them, not by Christ, but Works, contrary to the Covenant of Grace, they may hope to go to Heaven.

But Lastly, to come close to the Point: Thou hast sinned: The Law now calls for Passive, as well as Active Obedience; yea, great Contentedness in all thou sufferest, for thy transgressing against the Law. So then, Wilt thou live by the Law? Fulfill it then perfectly till Death, and afterwards go to Hell, and be Damned, and abide there till the Law and Curse for thy Sin be satisfied for; and then but not till then, thou shalt have Life by the Law.

Tell me now, you that desire to be under the Law, Can you fulfill all the Commands of the Law, and after answer all its Demands? Can you grapple with the Judgment of God? Can you wrestle with the Almighty? Are you stronger than he that made the Heavens, and that holdeth Angels in everlasting Chains? Can thine heart endure, or can thy hands be strong in the day that I shall deal with thee? I, saith the Lord, have spoken it; I will do it? Oh, it cannot be! These must go away into everlasting punishment. So then, Men must stand Just from the Curse, in the sight of God, while Sinners in themselves, or not at all.

Mat. 15. 31.

63. OBJECT. But the Apostle saith, That the Doers of the Law shall be Justified. Plainly intimating, That, notwithstanding all you say, some by doing the Law, may stand Just before God thereby; and if so, then Christ fulfilled it for us, but as our Example.

Rom. 2.

ANSW. The Consequences are not true; for by these words, [The Doers of the Law shall be Justified,] there is no more Proof of a possibility of saving thy self by the Law, than there is by these: For by the Works of the Law shall no Man living be Justified in his sight. The intent then of the Text Objected, is not to prove a possibility of Man's Salvation by the Law; but to insinuate rather an impossibility, by asserting what Perfections the Law requireth. And were I to argue against the pretended Sufficiency of Man's own Righteousness, I would choose to frame mine Argument upon such a place as this: The Hearers of the Law are not Just before God: Therefore, the Breakers of the Law are not Just before God; not Just, I say, by the Law; but all have sinned, and broken the Law, therefore none by the Law are Just before God: For if all stand guilty of Sin by the Law; then that Law that Judgeth them Sinners, cannot Justifie them before God. And what if the Apostle had said, Blessed are they that continue in all things; instead of pronouncing a Curse for the contrary? The Conclusion had been the same: For where the Blessing is pronounced, he is not the better that breaks the Condition; and where the Curse is pronounced, he is not the worse that keeps it: But neither doth the Blessing nor Curse in the Law, intend a Supposition, That Men may be Just by the Law; but rather, to shew the Perfection of the Law; and that though a Blessing be annexed thereto, no Man by it can obtain that Blessing: For not the

Gal. 2. 16.

Hearers of the Law are Juſtified before God; but the Doers, when they do it, ſhall be Juſtified: None but Doers can by it be Juſt before God; but none do the Law, no, not one; therefore none by it can ſtand Juſt before God. Rom. 3. 10, 11.

And whereas it is ſaid, Chriſt kept the Law, as our Example, that we by keeping it, might get to Heaven, as he; it is falſe, (as afore was ſhewed,) He is the end of the Law (or, hath perfectly finiſhed it) for righteouſneſs to every one that believeth. Rom. 10. 3, 4.

64. But a little to travel with this Objection: No Man can keep the Moral Law, as Chriſt, unleſs he be firſt without Sin, as Chriſt; unleſs he be God and Man, as Chriſt.

And again: Chriſt cannot be our Pattern in keeping the Law for Life, becauſe of the diſproportion that is between him and us; for if we do it as he, when yet we are weaker than he; what is this but to out-vye, out-do, and go beyond Chriſt? Wherefore, we, not he, have our Lives Exemplary; Exemplary, I ſay, to him; for who doth the greateſt work, they that take it in hand in full ſtrength, as Chriſt; or he that takes it in hand in weakneſs, as we? Doubtleſs the laſt, if he fulfills it as Chriſt. So then, by this Doctrine, while we call our ſelves his Scholars, we make our ſelves indeed the Maſters. But I challenge all the Angels in Heaven, let them but firſt ſin, as we have done, to fulfill the Law, as Chriſt, if they can.

But again: If Chriſt be our Pattern in keeping the Law for Life, from the Curſe before God, then Chriſt fulfilled the Law for himſelf; if ſo, he was imperfect before he fulfilled it: And how far ſhort this is of Blaſphemy, let ſober Chriſtians Judge: For the Righteouſneſs he fulfilled, was to Juſtifie from Sin; but if it was not to Juſtifie us from ours, you know what remaineth. Dan. 9. 26. Iſa. 53. 8, 9, 10.

65. But when muſt we conclude we have kept the Law? Not when we begin, becauſe we have ſinned firſt; nor when we are in the middle, for we may afterwards miſcarry. But what if a Man, in this his Progreſs, hath one ſinful Thought? I Query, Is it poſſible to come up to the Pattern for Juſtification with God? If yea, then Chriſt had ſuch; if no, then who can fulfill the Law as he?

But ſhould I grant that which is indeed impoſſible; namely, That thou art Juſtified by the Law: What then? Art thou now in the Favour of God? No, thou art fallen, by this thy Perfection, from the Love and Mercy of God: Whoſoever of you are Juſtified by the Law, are fallen from Grace. He ſpeaks not this to them that are doing, but to ſuch as think they have done it; and ſhews, that the Bleſſing that theſe have got thereby, is to fall from the Favour of God: Being fallen from Grace, Chriſt profits them nothing, and ſo they ſtill ſtand Debtors to do the whole Law. Gal. 5. 4, 5.

So then they muſt not be ſaved by God's Mercy, nor Chriſt's Merits, but alone by the Works of the Law. But what ſhould ſuch Men do in that Kingdom that comes by Gift, where Grace and Mercy reigns? Yea, what ſhould they do among that Company that are ſaved alone by Grace, through the Redemption that is in Jeſus Chriſt? Let them go to that Kingdom that God hath prepared for them that are fallen from Grace. Caſt out the Bond-woman, with her Son; for he ſhall not be Heir with the Son of the Promiſe. Gal. 4. 30.

But to paſs this Objection: Before I come to the next Reaſon, I ſhall yet, for the further clearing of this, urge theſe Scriptures more. The firſt is that in Gal. 3. Ver. 10. As many as are of the works of the Law, are under the Curſe. Behold, how boldly Paul aſſerts it! And obſerve it, he ſaith not here, So many as ſin againſt the Law, (though that be true;) but, As many as are of the WORKS of the Law. But what then are the Works of the Law? Not Whoredom, Murther, Theft, and the like; but Works that are holy and good; the Works commanded in the Ten Commandments; as, to Love God; Abhor Idols; Reverence the Name of God; Keeping the Sabbath; Honouring thy Parents; Abſtaining from Adultery, Murther, Theft, Falſe Witneſs; and, not to Covet what is thy Neighbours: Theſe are the Works of the Law. Now he (ſaith Paul) that is OF theſe, is under the Curſe of God: But what is it then to be OF theſe? Why, to be found in the Practice of them, and there reſting; this is the Man that is under the Curſe: Not becauſe the Works of the Law are wicked in themſelves; but becauſe the Man that is in the practice of them, comes ſhort of anſwering the Exactneſs of them; and therefore dies for his Imperfections. 66. Rom. 2. 17.

The Second Scripture, is that of the Twelfth Verſe of the ſame Chapter. But that no Man is Juſtified by the Law, in the ſight of God, is evident: For, The Juſt ſhall live by Faith. Theſe words, The Juſt ſhall live by Faith, are taken out of the Old Teſtament, and are thrice uſed by this Apoſtle in the New. 67.

1. To ſhew, That nothing of the Goſpel can be apprehended, but by Faith: For therein is the Righteouſneſs of God revealed from Faith to Faith: As it is written, The Juſt ſhall live by Faith. Rom. 1. 17.

2. To ſhew, That the way to have Relief and Succour under Temptation, is then to live by Faith: Now the Juſt ſhall live by Faith. Heb. 10. 38.

3. But in this of the Galatians, it is urged to ſhew, That how Holy and Juſt ſoever Men be in themſelves; yet, as ſuch, they are Dead, and Condemned to Death by the Law, before God. But that no Man is Juſtified by the Law, in the ſight of God, is evident; for, The Juſt ſhall live by Faith.

The word [JUST] therefore, in this place, in ſpecial, reſpecteth a Man that is Juſt, or that ſo eſteems himſelf by the Law; and is here conſidered in a double capacity. 68.

Firſt, What he is before Men.

Secondly, What he is before God.

1. As he ſtands before Men, he is Juſt by the Law; as Paul before his Converſion. Phil. 1. 3.

2. As he ſtands in the ſight of God; ſo (without the Faith of Chriſt) he cannnot be Juſt: As is evident; for, The Juſt ſhall live, not by his Juſtice, or Righteouſneſs by the Law.

This is the true Intent of this place.

1. Becauſe

1. Because they carry with them a Supposition, That the Just here intended, may be excluded Life, he falling within the Rejection asserted within the first part of the Verse. No Man is Just by the Law, in the sight of God: For, The Just shall live by Faith: His Justice cannot make him live, he must live by the Faith of Christ. Again,

69. 2. The words are a Reason dissuasive, urged to put a stop to those that are seeking Life by the Law; as if the Apostle had said, Ye Galatians! What are you doing? Would you be saved by Keeping the Law? Would you stand Just before God thereby? Do you not hear the Prophets, how they press Faith in Jesus, and Life by Faith in him? Come, I will reason with you,

1. By way of Supposition: Were it granted that you all loved the Law; yet that, for Life, will avail you nothing: For, the Just shall live by Faith.

2. Were it granted that you kept the Law, and that no Man on Earth could accuse you; were you therefore Just before God? No: Neither can you live by Works before him; for, the Just shall live by Faith. Why not live before him? Because when we have done our best, and are applauded of all the World for Just; yet then God sees Sin in Job 4. 18. our Hearts: He putteth no trust in his Saints; yea, the Heavens are not clean in his sight.
Chap. 15. 15 There is then a Just Man that perisheth in his righteousness, if he want the Faith of Christ: For that no Man is Justified by the Law, in the sight of God, is evident; for, the JUST shall live by Faith; and the Law is not of Faith.

70. The Third Scripture is this: We who are Jews by Nature, and not Sinners of the Gentiles, knowing that a Man is not Justified by the Works of the Law, but by the Faith of Jesus Christ; even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be Justified by the Faith of Christ, and not by the Works of the Law; for by the Works of the Law shall no flesh be justified.

These words are the result of the experienced Christians in the Primitive Times; yea, of those among them, that had given up themselves before to the Law, to get Life and Heaven thereby; the result, I say, of believing Jews: We who are Jews by Nature. But how are they distinguished from the Gentiles?
Rom. 2. 17, 19. Why, they are such that rest in the Law, and make their boast of God; that know his Will, and approve the things that are excellent; that are Guides to the Blind, and a Light to them that are in darkness; that are Instructers of the Foolish, Teachers of Babes; and which have the form of Knowledge, and of the Truth of the Law.

Luk. 18. 12. How far these attained, we find by that of the Pharisee; I Pray, I Fast, I give Tithes of all: And by the Young-man in the Gospel;
Phil. 3. All these have I kept from my youth up: And by that of Paul; Touching the Righteousness which is in the Law, blameless. This was the Jew by Nature; to do, and trust in this. Now these attaining afterwards the sound Knowledge of Sin, the Depravedness of Nature, and the Exactions of the Law, fled from the Command of the Law, to the Lord Jesus for Life: WE knowing it; We that are taught of God, and that have found it by sad experience; We, even We, have believed in Jesus Christ; that we might be justified by the Faith of Christ, and not by the Works of the Law.

Surely, if Righteousness had come by the Law, Paul and the Jews had found it, they being by many Priviledges far better than the Sinners of the Gentiles: But these, when they received the Word of the Gospel, even these now fly to Christ from the Law, that they might be Justified by the Faith of Christ, and not by the Works of the Law.

To conclude this: If righteous Men, through the knowledge of the Gospel, are made to leave the Law of God, as despairing of Life thereby; surely Righteousness is not to be found in the Law; I mean, that which can Justifie thee before God from the Curse, who livest and walkest in the Law.

I shall therefore end this Second Reason with what I have said before: Men must be Justified from the Curse, in the sight of God, while sinful in themselves.

The Third Reason.

71. The Third Reason. Thirdly, Another Reason why not one under Heaven can be Justified by the Law, or by his own personal Performances to it, is, Because since Sin was in the World, God hath Rom. 7. 10. rejected the Law, and the Works thereof, for Life.

'Tis true, before Man had sinned, it was ordained to be unto Life; but since, and because of Sin, God of Love gave the word of Grace. Take the Law then as God hath established it, to wit, to Condemn all flesh; and Gal. 3. 21. then there is room for the Promise, and the Law; the one to kill, the other to heal: And so the Law is not against the Promises; but Rom. 4. 14. make the Law a Justifier, and Faith is made void; and the Promise is made of none effect; and the Everlasting Gospel, by so doing, thou endeavourest to root out of the World.

Methinks, since it hath pleased God to reject the Law, and the Righteousness thereof for Life; such Dust and Ashes as we are should strive to consent to his holy Will; especially when in the room of this of Works, there is established a better Covenant, and that upon better Promises.

The Lord hath rejected the Law, for the weakness and unprofitableness thereof: For Heb. 8. 7, 8. (finding fault with them of the Law,) The days come, saith the Lord, that I will make a New Covenant with the House of Israel, &c. Give God leave to find fault with us, and to condemn our personal Performances to Death, as to our Justification before him thereby: Let Him do it, I say; and the rather, because he doth by the Gospel present us with a better: And certainly, if ever he be pleased with us, it will be when he findeth us in that Righteousness that is of his own appointing.

To conclude: Notwithstanding all that hath or can be said, there are six things that have great power with the Heart, to bend it to seek

Life

Life before God by the Law: Of all which I would Caution that Soul to beware, that would have Happineſs in another World.

72. First, Take heed thou be not made to ſeek to Exod. 2.1. the Law for Life, becauſe of that Name and Majeſty of God which thou findeſt upon the Doctrine of the Law. God indeed ſpake all the words of the Law, and delivered them in that Dread and Majeſty to Men, that ſhook the Hearts of all that heard it. Now this is of great Authority
Joh. 9. 28, 29. with ſome, even to ſeek for Life and Bliſs by the Law: We know (ſaid ſome) that God ſpake to Moſes: And Saul rejected Chriſt, even of
Act. 22. 3. Zeal towards God. What Zeal? Zeal towards
Gal. 2. 20. God according to the Law; which afterwards he left and rejected, becauſe he had found out a better way. The Life that he once lived, it was by the Law; but afterwards, ſaith he, The Life that I NOW live, it is by Faith, by the Faith of Jeſus Chriſt. So that, though the Law was the Appointment of God, and had alſo his Name and Majeſty upon it; yet now he will not live by the Law. Indeed, God is in the Law; but yet only as Juſt and Holy, not as Gracious and Merciful; ſo he is only in Jeſus Chriſt:
Joh 1. 17. The Law (the Word of Juſtice) was given by Moſes, but Grace and Truth came by Jeſus Chriſt: Wherefore, whatever of God thou findeſt in the Law; yet ſeeing Grace and Mercy is not there, let neither the Name of God, nor that Majeſty that thou findeſt of him in the Law, prevail with thee to ſeek Life by all the holy Commands of the Law.

73. Secondly, Take heed that the Law, by taking
Rom. 2.13, 14, 15. hold on thy Conſcience, doth not make thee ſeek Life by the Law. The Heart of Man is the Seat of the Law: This being ſo, the Underſtanding and Conſcience muſt needs be in danger of being Bound by the Law: Man is a Law unto himſelf, and ſheweth that the Works of the Law are written in his Heart. Now the Law being thus nearly related to Man, it eaſily takes hold of the Underſtanding and Conſcience: By which Hold, if it be not quickly broken off by the Promiſe and Grace of the Goſpel, it is captivated to the Works of the Law: For Conſcience is ſuch a thing, that if it once be poſſeſſed with a Do-
1 Cor. 8. 6, 7. ctrine, yea, though but with the Doctrine of an Idol, it will cleave ſo faſt thereto, that nothing but an Hand from Heaven can looſen it; and if it be not looſed, no Goſpel can be there embraced. Conſcience is Little-eaſe, if Men reſiſt it, whether it be rightly or wrongly informed: How faſt then will it hold, when it knows it cleaves to the Law of God? Upon this Account, the Condition of the Unbeliever is moſt miſerable: For not having Faith, in the Goſpel of Grace, through which is tendred the Forgiveneſs of Sins; they, like Men a drowning, hold
Rom. 9. 31, 32. faſt that they have found; which being the Law of God, they follow it; but becauſe Righteouſneſs flies from them, they at laſt are found only accurſed, and Condemned to Hell by the Law: Take heed therefore, that thy Conſcience be not entangled by the Law.

74. Thirdly, Take heed of fleſhly Wiſdom. Reaſoning ſuiteth much with the Law: I thought verily that I ought to do many things againſt the Name of Jeſus, and ſo to have ſought for Life by the Law; my Reaſon told me ſo: For thus will Reaſon ſay; Here is a Righteous Law, the Rule of Life and Death: Beſides, What can be better than to love God, and my Neighbour as my ſelf? Again, God hath thus commanded, and his Commands are Juſt and Good: Therefore, doubtleſs, Life muſt come by the Law. Further, To Love God, and keep the Law, are better than to Sin, and break it: And ſeeing Men loſt Heaven by Sin, how ſhould they get it again but by working Righteouſneſs? Beſides, God is Righteous, and will therefore bleſs the Righteous. Oh, the Holineſs of the Law! It mightily ſwayeth with Reaſon, when a Man addicteth himſelf to Religion: The Light of Nature teacheth, that Sin is not the Way to Heaven; and ſeeing no word doth more condemn Sin, than the words of the Ten Commandments; it muſt needs be therefore the moſt perfect Rule for Holineſs: Wherefore, ſaith Reaſon, the ſafeſt Way to Life and Glory, is, to keep my ſelf cloſe to the Law. But a little here to correct: Though the Law indeed be Holy, yet the Miſtake as to the matter in hand, is as wide as the Eaſt from the Weſt: For therefore the Law can do thee no good, becauſe it is Holy and Juſt: For what can he that hath ſinned expect from a Law that is Holy, and Juſt? Nought but Condemnation: Let them lean to it while they will, There is one that accuſeth you (ſaith Chriſt) even Moſes, in whom you truſt. Joh. 5. 45.

75. Fourthly, Man's Ignorance of the Goſpel, ſuiteth well with the Doctrine of the Law: They, through their being ignorant of God's Righteouſneſs, fall in love with that. Yea, they do not only ſuit, but, when joyned in act, the one ſtrengthneth the other; that is, the Law ſtrengthneth our Blindneſs, and bindeth the Vail more faſt about the Face of our Souls. The Law ſuiteth much our Blindneſs of Mind: For until this day remains the Vail untaken away, in the reading of the Old-Teſtament; eſpecially in the reading of that which was written and ingraven in Stones, to wit, the Ten Commandments, that perfect Rule for Holineſs; which Vail is done away in Chriſt: But even to this day, when Moſes is read, the Vail is over their Hearts: They are blinded by the Duties enjoyned by the Law, from the ſight and Hopes of Forgiveneſs of Sins by Grace: Nevertheleſs, when IT (the Heart) ſhall turn to the Lord, the Vail ſhall be taken away. The Law then doth vail the Heart from Chriſt; and holds the Man ſo down to doing, and working for the Kingdom of Heaven, that he quite forgets the Forgiveneſs of Sins, by Mercy through Chriſt. Now this Vailing, or Blinding by the Law, is occaſioned, Rom. 10. 1, 2, 3, 4. 2 Cor. 3. 15.

76. 1. By reaſon of the contrariety of Doctrine that is in the Law, to that which is in the Goſpel. The Law requireth Obedience to all its Demands, upon pain of Everlaſting Burnings: The Goſpel promiſeth Forgiveneſs of Sins to him that worketh not, but Believeth. Now the Heart cannot receive both theſe Doctrines; it muſt either let go Doing, or Believing: If it Believe, it is dead to Doing; if it be ſet to Doing for Life, it is dead to Believing. Beſides, he that ſhall think both to Do, and Believe, for Juſtification before God from the Curſe, he ſeeks for Life but as it were by the Law; he ſeeks for Life but as it were by Chriſt; and he being

Rom.9.32. not direct in neither, shall for certain be forsaken of either. Wherefore? Because he seeks it not by Faith, but as it were, by the Works of the Law.

2. The Law vails and blinds, by that guilt and horror for Sin that seizeth the Soul by the Law: For Guilt, when charged close upon the Conscience, is attended with such Aggravations, and that with such Power and Evidence, that the Conscience cannot hear, nor see, nor feel any thing else but that. When David's Guilt, for Murther and Blood, did roar by the Law in his Conscience, notwithstanding he knew much of the Grace of the Gospel, he could hear nothing else but Terror, the sound of Blood; the Murther of Uriah was the only noise that he heard; Wherefore he crieth to God, that he Psal.51.8. would MAKE him hear the Gospel: MAKE me (saith he) to hear joy and gladness, that the bones which thou hast broken may rejoyce. And as he could not hear, so neither could he SEE; the Law had struck him deaf and blind: I am (saith he) not able to look up; not up to Christ for Mercy: As if David had said, "O Lord, the Guilt of "Sin, which is by the Law, makes such a noise "and horrour in my Conscience, that I can "neither hear nor see the word of Peace, un-"less 'tis spoke with a Voice from Heaven!" Num.21.6 The Serpents that bit the People in the days of old, were Types of Guilt of Sin: Now these were fiery Serpents, and such as (I think) could *Isa.14.29 Fly: Wherefore, in my Judgment, they Joh.3.14. stung the People about their Faces, and so swelled up their Eyes; which made it the more difficult for them to look up to the brazen Serpent, which was the Tipe of Christ. Just so doth Sin by the Law do now; it stings the Soul, the very Face of the Soul; which is the cause that looking up to Jesus, or believing in him, is so difficult a Task in time of Terrour of Conscience.

77. 3. This is not only so at present; but so long as Guilt is on the Conscience, so long remains the Blindness: For Guilt standing before the Soul, the Grace of God is intercepted, even as the Sun is hid from the sight of mine Eyes, by the Cloud that cometh between: My sin Psal.51.3. (said David) is ever before me; and so kept other things out of his sight: Sin, I say, when applied by the Law. When the Law came to Paul, he Act. 9. remained without sight, until the good Man came unto him with the word of Forgiveness of Sins.

4. Again, Where the Law comes with Power, there it begetteth many Doubts against the Grace of God; for it is only a Revealer of Sin, and the Ministration of Death; that is, a Doctrine that sheweth Sin, and condemneth for the same: Hence therefore, as was hinted before, the Law being the Revealer of Sin; where that is embraced, there Sin must needs be discovered and condemned, and the Soul for the sake of that. Further, It is not only a Revealer of Sin, but that which makes it abound: So that the closer any Man sticks to the Law for Life, the faster Sin Rom.7.14. doth cleave to him. That Law (saith Paul) which was ordained to be unto Life, I found to be unto Death; for by the Law I became a notorious Sinner: I thought to have obtained Life, by obeying the Law; but Sin taking occasion by the Commandment, deceived me, and thereby slew me. A strange way of deceivableness, and it is hid from the most of Men; but, as I have already told you, you see how it comes to pass.

78. 1. Man by Nature is Carnal, and the Law it self is Spiritual: Now betwixt these two ariseth great difference; the Law is exceeding good, the Heart exceeding bad; these two Opposites therefore (the Heart so abiding) can by no means agree.

2. Therefore, at every approach of the Law to the Heart, with intent to impose Duty, or to condemn for the neglect thereof; at every such approach the Heart starteth back, especially when the Law comes home indeed, and is heard in his own Language. This being thus, the Conscience perceiving this is a fault, begins to tremble at the sense of Judgment; the Law still continueth to command to Duty, and to condemn for the neglect thereof: From this struggling of these two Opposites, ariseth, I say, those Doubts and Fears that drive the Heart into Unbelief; and that makes it blind to the word of the Gospel, that it can neither see nor understand any thing, but that it is a Sinner, and that the Law must be fulfilled by it, if ever it be saved.

79. But again, Another thing that hath great influence upon the Heart, to make it lean to the Law for Life, is, the false Names that Satan and his Instruments have put upon it; such as these, to call the Law the Gospel; Conscience, the Spirit of Christ; Works, Faith; and the like: With these weak Consciences have been mightily pestered; yea, thousands deluded, and destroyed. This was the way whereby the Enemy attempted to overthrow the Church of Christ of old; as namely, those in Galatia, and at Corinth, &c. I say, By the feigned Notion, 2 Cor. 11. that the Law was the Gospel, the Galatians were 3, 4. — removed from the Gospel of Christ; and Satan, 13, 14. by appropriating to himself and his Ministers, the Names and Titles of the Ministers of the Lord Jesus, prevailed with many at Corinth to forsake Paul and his Doctrine. Where the Lord Jesus hath been preached in Truth, and something of his Doctrine known; it is not there so easie to turn People aside from the sound of the Promise of Grace, unless it be by the noise and sound of A Gospel: Therefore, I say, the false Apostles came thus among the Churches; Another Gospel, Another Gospel; which in truth saith Paul, is not another; but Gal. 1. 6, some would pervert the Gospel of Christ; and thrust 7, 8. that out of doors, by guilding the Law with that glorious Name. So again, For the Ministers of Satan, they must be called the Apostles of Christ, and Ministers of Righteousness? Which thing, I say, is of great force, especially being accompanied with so Holy and Just a Doctrine as the word of the Law is; for what better to the Eye of Reason, than to love God above all, and our Neighbour as our selves; which Doctrine being the scope of the ten words given on Sinai, no Man can contradict; for in truth they are Holy and good: But here is the Poyson; To set this Law in the room of a Mediator, as those do, that seek to stand Just before God thereby; and then nothing is so dishonourable to Christ, nor of so Soul-destroying a Nature as the Law; for that thus placed, hath not only power when Souls are deluded; but power to delude, by its real Holineſs, the Underſtanding, Conſcience, and Reaſon of a Man; and by giving the Soul a ſemblance of Heaven, to cauſe it to throw away Chriſt, Grace and Faith. Wherefore, it behoveth all Men to take heed of Names, and of Appearances of Holineſs and Goodneſs.

80. Laſtly, Satan will yet go further; he will make uſe of ſomething that may be at a diſtance from a Moral Precept, and therewith bring Souls under the Law. Thus he did with ſome of old; he did not make the Galatians fall from Chriſt, by virtue of one of the ten words; but by ſomething that was aloof off, by Circumciſion, Days and Months; that were Levitical Ceremonies; for he knows it is no matter, nor in what Teſtament he found it, if he can therewith hide Chriſt from the Soul: Behold, I Gal. 5. 2, 3. Paul ſay unto you, That if you be circumciſed, Chriſt ſhall profit you nothing; for I teſtifie again to every man that is circumciſed, that he is a Debtor to the whole Law. Why ſo, ſeeing Circumciſion is not one of the ten words? Why, becauſe they did it in Conſcience to God, to ſtand Juſt before him thereby. Now here we may behold much cunning of the Devil; he begins with ſome at a diſtance from that Law, which Curſeth, and ſo by little and little bringeth them under it; even as by Circumciſion the Galatians were at length brought under the Law, that condemneth all Men to the Wrath and Judgment of God. I have often wondred, when I have read, how God crieth out againſt the Jews, for obſerving his own Commandment, (Iſai. 1.) but I perceive by Paul, that by theſe things a Man may reject and condemn the Lord Jeſus; which thoſe do, that for Life ſet up ought, whether Moral, or other Inſtitution, beſides the Faith of Jeſus.

Let Men therefore warily diſtinguiſh betwixt 2 Cor. 1. 19, 20. Names and Things; betwixt Statute and Commandment; leſt they by doing the one, tranſgreſs againſt the other. Study therefore the Nature and End of the Law, with the Nature and End of the Goſpel; and if thou canſt keep them diſtinct in thy Underſtanding and Conſcience, neither Names nor Things, neither Statutes nor Commandments, can draw thee from the Faith of the Goſpel. And that thou mayeſt yet be helped in this matter, I ſhall now come to ſpeak to the Second Concluſion.

The Second Poſition.

81. The Second Concluſion. That Men can be Juſtified from the Curſe before God, while Sinners in themſelves, by no other Righteouſneſs than that long ago performed by, and remaining with the Perſon of Chriſt.

For the better proſecuting of this Poſition, I ſhall obſerve Two things.

1. That the Righteouſneſs by which we ſtand Juſt before God, from the Curſe, was performed by the Perſon of Chriſt.

2. That this Righteouſneſs is inherent only in him.

As to the Firſt of theſe, I ſhall be but brief.

Now, that the Righteouſneſs that Juſtifieth us, was performed long ago by the Perſon of Chriſt, beſides what hath already been ſaid, is further manifeſt thus.

1. He is ſaid to have purged our Sins by HIMSELF: When he had by himſelf purged our Sins, he ſate down on the right-hand of God. Heb. 1. 3. I have ſhewed, that in Chriſt, for the accompliſhing of Righteouſneſs, there was both Doing and Suffering; Doing, to fulfill all the Commands of the Law; Suffering, to anſwer its Penalty for Sin: This Second is that which in this to the Hebrews, is in ſpecial intended by the Apoſtle; where he ſaith, he hath purged our ſins; Heb. 9. 14. that is, by his precious Blood; for 'tis that alone can purge our Sins, either out of the ſight of God, or out of the ſight of the Soul. Now this was done by HIMSELF, ſaith the Apoſtle; that is, in or by his perſonal Doings and Sufferings. And hence it is, that when God had rejected the Offerings of the Law, he ſaid, Lo, I come! A Chap. 10. Body haſt thou prepared me, to do thy WILL, O God. 5, 6, 7, 8. Now by this Will of God (ſaith the Scripture) we are ſanctified. By what Will? Why, by the offering up of the Body of Jeſus Chriſt; for that was God's Will, that thereby we might be an Habitaton for him: As he ſaith again: Jeſus Chap. 13. alſo, that he might ſanctifie the people with his own 12. Blood, ſuffered without the Gate.

2. As it is ſaid, he hath purged our ſins by 82. HIMSELF; ſo it was by himſelf at ONCE: For by one Offering hath he perfected for ever them that are ſanctified. Now by this word, at ONCE, or, by one Offering, is cut off all thoſe imaginary Sufferings of Chriſt, which fooliſh Men conceive of; as, that he in all Ages hath ſuffered, or ſuffereth for Sin, in us. No; he did this Work but ONCE: Not that he ſhould offer him- Heb. 9. 25, ſelf often; as the High-Prieſt entred into the holy 26. place, every year, with the Blood of others; for then muſt he often have ſuffered ſince the Foundation of the World. But now ONCE in the end of the World (in the time of Pilate) hath he appeared, to put away ſin by the Sacrifice of Himſelf. Mark how to the purpoſe the Holy Ghoſt expreſſeth it: He hath ſuffered but ONCE; and that ONCE, now; now ONCE: NOW he is God and Man in one Perſon: NOW he hath taken the BODY that was prepared of God: NOW ONCE, in the end of the world, hath he appeared, to put away Sin, by the Sacrifice of himſelf; by the offering up of the Body of Jeſus Chriſt ONCE for all.

3. It further appears, in that by his Reſur- 83. rection from the Dead, the Mercies of God are made ſure to the Soul; God declaring by that, as was ſaid before, how well pleaſed he is by the Undertaking of his Son, for the Salvation of the World: And as concerning that he raiſed Act. 13. him up from the dead, now no more to return to corruption; he ſaid on this wiſe, I will give thee the ſure Mercies of David. For Chriſt being cloathed with Man's Fleſh, and undertaking for Man's Sins, did then confirm all ſure to us, by his Reſurrection from the dead. So that by the riſing of that Man again, Mercy and Grace are made ſure to him that hath believed on Jeſus. Wherefore, from theſe things, together with what hath been diſcovered about his addreſſing himſelf to the Work, I conclude, That Men can be Juſtified from the Curſe before God, while Sinners in themſelves, by no other righteouſneſs than that long ago performed by the Perſon of Chriſt. Now the Concluſion is true, from all ſhew of Contradiction; for for the Holy Ghost saith, He hath done it; hath done it by himself, and that by the Will of God, at once, even then when he took the prepared Body upon him. By the Will of God we are sanctified, through the offering up of the Body of Jesus Christ once for all.

84. This being so, the Second Position is also manifest; namely, That the Righteousness, by which we stand Just from the Curse before God, is only inherent in Jesus Christ. For if he hath undertaken to bring in a Justifying Righteousness, and that by Works and Merits of his own, then that Righteousness must of necessity be inherent in him alone, and ours only by Imputation: And hence it is called, in that Fifth to the Romans, the Gift, the GIFT of Righteousness; because neither wrought nor obtained by Works of ours, but bestowed upon us, as a Garment already prepared by the Mercy of God in Christ. Rom. 5. 17. & 61. 10.

There are Four things that confirm this for a Truth.

85. First, This Righteousness is said to be the Righteousness of ONE, not of many: I mean, of ONE properly and personally, as his own particular personal Righteousness. The Gift of Grace, which is the Gift of Righteousness, it is by ONE Man, Jesus Christ. Much more they that receive abundance of Grace, and of the Gift of Righteousness, shall reign in life by ONE Jesus Christ: Therefore as by the Offence of one, Judgment came upon all to Condemnation; even so by the Righteousness of ONE, the Free Gift came upon all Men to Justification of Life: For as by one Man's Disobedience, many were made Sinners; so by the Obedience of ONE, shall many be made Righteous. Mark, the Righteousness of ONE, the Obedience of ONE; the Righteousness of ONE Man, of one Man, Jesus. Wherefore, the Righteousness that Justifieth a Sinner, it is personally and inherently the Righteousness of that Person only, who by Works and Acts of Obedience did compleat it, even the Obedience of one, of one Man, Jesus Christ; and so ours onely by Imputation. It is improper to say, Adam's eating of the Forbidden Fruit, was personally and inherently an Act of mine: 'Twas personally his, and imputatively mine; personally his, because he did it; imputatively mine, because I was then in him. Indeed, the effects of his personal eating is found in my Person, to wit, defilement and pravity: The effects also of the Imputation of Christ's personal Righteousness, is truly found in those that are in him, by Electing Love, and Unfeigned Faith, even holy and heavenly Dispositions: But a Personal Act is one thing, and the Effects of that another: The Act may be done by, and be only inherent in one; the Imputation of the Merit of the Act, as also the Effects of the same, may be in a manner universal, extending it self unto the most, or all. This the Case of Adam and Christ doth manifest: The Sin of one, is imputed to his Posterity; the Righteousness of the other, is reckoned the Righteousness of those that are his. Rom. 5. 15, 16, 17, 18, 19.

86. Secondly, The Righteousness by which we stand Just before God, from the Curse, is called, The Righteousness of the Lord: The Righteousness of God: The Righteousness of Jesus Christ, &c. Phil. 3. 6, 7, 8.

And that by way of Opposition to the Righteousness of God's own Holy Law: That I might be found in him; not having on my own Righteousness, which is of the Law, but that which is through the Faith of Christ, the Righteousness which is of God by Faith. Now by this Opposition, (as by what was said before,) the Truth is made exceeding clear: For by these words, [not having my own Righteousness,] is not only excluded what Qualifications we suppose to be in us; but the Righteousness through which we stand Just in the sight of God, by them is limited, and confined to a Person absolutely distinct: Distinct, I say, as to his Person and Performances; who here is called GOD, and Jesus Christ: As he saith also in the Prophet Isaiah, In the Lord shall all the Seed of Israel be Justified, and shall glory: In the Lord, not in the Law; in the Lord, not in themselves: And their Righteousness is of me, saith the Lord: Of ME, not of themselves; of ME, not of the Law. And again, Surely shall one say, in the Lord have I righteousness and strength. Now, as I have already said, all this is to be understood of the Righteousness that was fulfilled by Acts and Works of Obedience, which the Person of the Son of God accomplished in the days of his flesh in the World: By that Man, I say, The Lord our Righteousness. Christ indeed is naturally and essentially Righteousness; but as he is simply such, so he Justifieth no Man; for then he need not to bear our Sins in his Flesh, and become obedient in all Points of the Law for us; but the Righteousness by which we stand Just before God, is a Righteousness consisting of Works and Deeds; of the Doings and Sufferings of such a Person who also is essentially Righteousness. And hence, as before I have hinted, we are said to be Justified, by the Obedience and Blood of the Lord Jesus Christ, by the Doings and Sufferings of the Son of God. And hence again it is, that he first is called King of Righteousness; that is, a King of Righteousness, as God-Man, which of necessity supposeth his Personal Performances; and after that, King of Peace: For what he is naturally and eternally in his Godhead, he is not to us, but himself; but what he is actively, and by Works, he is not to himself, but to us: So then, he is neither King of Righteousness, nor of Peace, to us, as he is only the Eternal Son of the Father, without his being considered as our Priest and Undertaker; he hath obtained (by Works of Righteousness) eternal redemption for us. So then, the Righteousness by which we stand Just before God, is a Righteousness inherent (only) in Christ, because a Righteousness performed by him alone. Isa. 45. 25. Ch. 54. 17. Ch. 45. 24. 87. Jer. 23. 6. Heb. 7. 1, 2, 3. Heb. 9. 12.

Now that Righteousness by which we stand Just before God, must be a Righteousness consisting of Personal Performances: The Reason is, because Persons had sinned, this the nature of Justice requireth; That since by Man came Death, by Man should come also the Resurrection from the dead. The Angels therefore, for this very reason, abide under the Chains of Everlasting Darkness; because he took not hold on them; that is, by fulfilling Righteousness for them in their Nature: That is a blessed word, To YOU, to YOU is born this day, in the City of David, 1 Cor. 15. 21. Heb. 2. 16, 17. Luk. 2. 11.

David, a Saviour, which is Christ, the Lord: To YOU, not to Angels; to YOU is born a Saviour.

88. Thirdly, It is yet further evident, That the Righteousness by which we stand Just before God from the Curse, is a Righteousness inherent, not in us, but Christ; because it is a Righteousness besides, and without the Law it self, now take away the Law, and you take away the Rule of Righteousness. Again, Take away the Rule, and the Act as to us must cease:

Rom. 3. 21 But now the Righteousness of God without the Law, is manifested; being witnessed by the Law and the Prophets. So then, by such a Righteousness we are Justified, as is not within the power of the Law to command of us.

89. Quest. But what Law is that which hath not power to command our Obedience, in the Point of our Justification with God?

Answ. The Moral Law, or that called the Ten Commandments. Therefore we are neither commanded to love God, or our Neighbour, as the means or part of our Justifying Righteousness: Nay, he that shall attempt to do these things, to be delivered from the Curse thereby, by the Scripture is holden accursed of

Gal. 3. 10. God: As many as are of the Works (or, Duties) of the Law, are under the Curse, &c. Because we are Justified, not by that of the Law, but by the Righteousness of God, without the Law; that is, without its commanding of us, without

Rom. 3. 24 our obedience to it: Freely by his Grace, through the Redemption that is in Jesus Christ; whom God hath set forth to be a Propitiation, through Faith in his Blood. This is the Righteousness of God without the Law; that is, without any of our Obedience to the Law. Wherefore, the Righteousness by which we stand Just in the sight of God, cannot be inherent in us, but in Christ the King thereof.

90. Fourthly, This is further made apparent, by the capacity that God will consider that Soul in, to whom he imputeth Justifying Righteous-

Rom. 4. 4, 5 ness; and that is, as one that worketh not, as one that stands ungodly in the judgment of the Law. But this I have handled before, and therefore shall pass it here.

91. Fifthly, To conclude: If any Works of ours could Justifie us before God, they would be Works after Faith received; but it is evident that these do not: Therefore the Righteousness that Justifies us from the Curse before God, is a Righteousness inherent only in Christ.

That Works after Faith do not Justifie us from the Curse, in the sight of God, is evident,

1. Because no Works of the Saints can be

Gal. 3. 10. Justified by the Moral Law, considering it as the Law of Works for Life: For this must stand a Truth for ever: Whatsoever Justifieth us, must be Justified by the Moral Law; for that is it that pronounceth the Curse; unless then that Curse be taken away by the Work, the

Rom. 3. 21. Work cannot Justifie us before God. But the Curse cannot be taken away, but by a Righteousness that is first approved of by that Law that so curseth: For if that shall yet complain for want of a full Satisfaction, the Penalty remaineth: This is evident to Reason, and confirmed by the Authority of God's Word, as hath been already proved; because the Law once broken, pronounceth Death, expecteth Death, and executeth the same on him that will stand to the Judgment of the Law: But no Work of a Believer, is capable of answering this Demand of the Law; therefore none of his Works can justifie him before God; for the Law, that notwithstanding, complaineth,

2. No Works of Faith can justifie us from the Curse before God; because of the want of Perfection that is in the greatest Faith in us. Now if Faith be not perfect, the Work cannot be perfect; I mean, with that Perfection, as to please Divine Justice: Consider the Person, one that hath to do with God immediately by himself. Now, that Faith is not capable of this kind of Perfection, it is evident; because when Men here know most, they know but in part: Now he that knows but in part, can do but in part; and he that doth but in part, hath a part wanting in the Judgment of the Justice of God. So then, when thou hast done all thou canst, thou hast done but part of thy Duty; and so art short of Justification from the Curse, by what thou hast done. 1 Cor. 13. Chap. 9.

91. 3. Besides, it looks too like a Monster, that the Works of Faith should Justifie us before God; because then Faith is turned, as it were, with its Neck behind it. Faith, in its own Nature, and Natural Course, respecteth the Mercy of God, through the Mediator, Jesus Christ; and as such, its vertue and excellency is to expect Justification by Grace, through him; but by this Doctrine, Faith is turned round about, and now makes a Life out of what it self hath done: But methinks Faith should be as Noble as it's Fruits; that being the First, and they but the Fruits of that.

Besides, seeing the Work is only good, because it floweth from Faith, (for Faith purifieth the Heart,) therefore Faith is it that justifies all its Works: If then we be Justified by either, it is by Faith, and not by his Works; unless we will say there is more Vertue in the less, than in the greater. Now what is Faith, but a Believing, a Trusting, or Relying Act of the Soul; what then must it rely upon, or trust in? Not in it self, that's without Scripture; not in its Works, they are inferiour to it self: Besides, this is the way to make even the Works of Faith the Mediator between God and the Soul, and so by them thrust Christ out of doors: Therefore it must trust in Christ; and if so, then no Man can be Justified from the Curse before God, by the Works that flow from Faith. Act. 15.

91. 4. To put all out of doubt; the Saint, when he hath done what he can to bring forth good Works by Faith; yet he dares not shew these Works before God, but as they pass through the Mediator, Christ; but as they are washed in the Blood of the Lamb. And therefore Peter saith, those Sacrifices of ours that are truly spiritual, are only then accepted of God, when offered up by Jesus Christ. And therefore it is said again, That the Prayers of the Saints, which are the Fruits of Faith, come up before the Throne of God, through the Angel's Hand; that is, through the Hand of Christ; through his 1 Pet. 2. 5. Rev. 8. 3, 4.

his golden Censer, perfumed with his Incense, made acceptable by his Intercession.

It is said, in the Book of the Revelations, That it is granted to the Bride, the Lamb's Wife, that she should be arrayed in fine linnen, clean and white; which white Linnen is the Righteousness of Saints. This fine Linnen, in my judgment, is the Works of Godly Men, their Works that sprang from Faith. But how came they clean? How came they white? Not simply, because they were the Works of Faith. Rev. 7. 14, 15. But mark, They washed their Robes, and made them white in the Blood of the Lamb; and therefore they stand before the Throne of God: Yea, therefore it is that their good Works stand there too.

94. I conclude then: Our Persons are Justified, while we are Sinners in our selves: Our Works, even the Works of Faith, are no otherwise accepted, but as they come through Jesus Christ, even through his Intercession and Blood. So then, Christ doth Justifie both our Person and Works, not by way of Approbation, as we stand in our selves, or Works before God; but by presenting of us to his Father by himself; washing what we are and have from Guilt in his Blood, and cloathing us with his own Performances: This is the cause of our acceptance with God, and that our Works are not cast forth of his presence.

The USE.

The First USE. 1. Is Justifying Righteousness to be found in the Person of Christ only? Then this should admonish us, to take heed of seeking it in our selves; that is, of working Righteousness, thereby to appease the Justice of God; lest by so doing, we affront and blaspheme the Righteousness of Christ. He that shall go about to establish his own Righteousness; HE, as yet, doth defiance to that which is of God; of God's appointing, of God's providing; and that only wherewith the Justice of the Law must be well-pleased. Wherefore, take heed, I say, of doing of such a thing, lest it provoke the Eyes Ezek. 33. 13. of the Lord's Glory. When I shall say to the Righteous, that he shall surely live: if he trust to his own righteousness, and commit iniquity, all his righteousness shall not be remembred; but for his iniquity that he hath committed, he shall die for it. Mark, Though he be Righteous; yea, though he have a Promise of Life; yet he shall die. But why? Because he sinned against the Lord, by trusting to his own Righteousness, therefore he must die for it.

There are some things that will preserve a Man from splitting upon this Rock: As,

95. 1. Get good acquaintance with the Covenant of Grace, and of the Persons concerned in the Conditions of that Covenant. The Conditions (of that Covenant) are, That a Righteousness shall be brought into the World, that shall please the Justice of God, and answer (and so remove the Curse of) the Law. Now he that doth perform this Condition, is Christ; therefore the Covenant is not immediately with Man, but with him that will be the Mediator betwixt God and Man: As Zach. 11. 9. for thee, by the Blood of thy Covenant, (speaking of Christ.) So then, Christ, the Man Christ, is he who was to bring in these Conditions, to wit, Everlasting Righteousness. And hence it is that God hath said, Christ shall be the Covenant OF the People; that is, he shall be our Conditions to God-ward: He therefore is all our Righteousness, as to the Point of our Justification before God; he is the Covenant OF the People, as well as the light of the Gentiles: For as no Man can see, but in the light of his Spirit; so no Man can stand, but in and by him: He is the Covenant of the People, the Conditions and Qualifications of the People: So that to God-ward, Christ is all in all, and no Man any thing at all. He hath made with me an everlasting Covenant; with me, as I stand in my Head, Christ, who, because he hath brought in Everlasting Righteousness, therefore hath removed the Curse of the Law: Wherefore he adds, This Covenant is ordered in all things, and sure; because, all Points that 2 Sam. 23. 5. concern me, as to Redemption from the Curse, are taken away by Christ, (as before is discoursed.) Look then upon Christ, as the Man, the Mediator, Undertaker and Accomplisher of that Righteousness in himself, wherein thou must stand Just before God; and that he is the Covenant, or Conditions OF the People, to Godward; always having in himself the Righteousness that the Law is well-pleased with; and always presenting himself before God, as our only Righteousness. Dan. 9. 23, 24. Isa. 52. 6.

96. 2. That this Truth may be the more heartily enquired into by thee, consider thine own Perfections; I say, study how polluted thou art, even from the heart throughout: No Man hath an high esteem of the Lord Jesus, that is a stranger to his own sore: Christ's Church is an Hospital of sick, wounded, and afflicted People; even as when he was in the World, the Afflicted and Distressed set the highest Price upon Jesus Christ. Why? They were sick, and he was the Physician; but the whole had no need of him. And just thus it is now: Christ is offered to the World, to be the Righteousness and Life of Sinners; but no Man will regard him, save he that seeth his own pollution: He that seeth he cannot answer the Demands of the Law; he that sees himself from top to toe polluted; and that therefore his Service cannot be clean, as to Justifie him from the Curse before God; he is the Man that must needs die in Despair, and be Damned; or must trust in Jesus Christ for Life.

97. Further, This Rule I would have all receive, that come to Jesus Christ for Life and Salvation.

1. Not to stick at the acknowledgment of Sin, but to make that of it, which the Law makes of it: Acknowledge thine iniquity, saith the Lord. Jer. 3. 13. This is a hard pinch, (I know what I say,) for a Man to fall down under the sense of Sin, by acknowledging them to be, what the Lord saith they are; to acknowledge them, I say, in their own defiling and polluting Nature; to acknowledge them in their unreasonable and aggravating Circumstances; to acknowledge them in their God-offending, and Soul-destroying Nature, especially when the Conscience is burthened with the guilt of them. Yet this is Duty, If we confess our sins, he is 1 Joh. 1. 9. faithful and just to forgive: Yea, to this is annexed the Promiſe, He that confeſſeth, and forſaketh them ſhall find mercy. This made David, as it were, lay claim to the Mercy of God. Waſh me throughly (ſaid he) from mine iniquity, and cleanſe me from my ſin; for I acknowledge my tranſgreſſion, and my ſin is ever before me. Though then thou art to bluſh, and be aſhamed, when thou remembreſt thy Sins and Iniquities, yet do not hide them: He that hideth his ſins, ſhall not proſper: Do not leſſen them; do not ſpeak of them before God after

Jer. 3. 13. a mincing way: Acknowledge thine iniquities, that thou haſt ſinned againſt the Lord thy God; and haſt ſcattered thy ways to the ſtrangers, under every green tree; and ye have not obeyed my voice, ſaith the Lord.

98. 2. If we would come to Chriſt aright, we muſt ONLY acknowledge our ſins; we muſt ONLY acknowledge them, and there ſtop; ſtop, I ſay, from attempting to do ought to preſent us good before God, but ONLY to receive the Mercy offered. ONLY acknowledge thine iniquities: Men are ſubject to two Extreams; either to confeſs Sins Notionally, and by the halves; or elſe, together with the
Hoſ. 5. 14, 15. Confeſſion of them, to labour to do ſome holy work, thereby to eaſe their burthened Conſcience, and beget Faith in the Mercy of God. Now both theſe are dangerous, and very ungodly: dangerous, becauſe the Wound is healed falſely; and ungodly, becauſe the Command is tranſ-
Zach. 13. 3. greſſed: Only acknowledge thy ſin, and there ſtand (as David) till thy guilt is taken away. Joſhua ſtood before the Angel, from top to toe in filthy Garments, till the Lord put other Cloaths upon him. In the matter of thy Juſtification thou muſt know nothing, ſee nothing, hear nothing, but thine own Sins, and Chriſt's Righteouſneſs. ONLY acknowledge thine iniquities. Now the Saviour and the Soul comes rightly together; the Saviour, to do
Jer. 3. 25. his work, which is to ſpread his Skirt over the Sinner; and the Sinner, to receive, by believing this bleſſed imputed Righteouſneſs. And hence the Church, when ſhe came to God, lyeth down in her ſhame, and her confuſion covereth her; and ſo lyeth till pardon comes.

The Second USE.

99. I come now to the Second USE, Have Faith in Chriſt. But what are we to underſtand by The Second USE. FAITH?

Anſw. Faith importeth as much as to ſay, Receive, Embrace, Accept of, or truſt in the
Joh. 1. 12. 2 Cor. 4. 1. Col. 2. 6. Heb. 11. 13 2 Cor. 11. 4 1 Tim. 1. 15 Epheſ. 1. 12, 13. Act. 15. 11. Benefit offered. All which are (by holy Men of God) words uſed on purpoſe to ſhew that the Mercy of God, the Forgiveneſs Sins, and Eternal Life, are not to be had by Doing, or by the Law; but by Receiving, Embracing, Accepting, or truſting to the Mercy of God, through Chriſt: We believe, that through the Grace of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, we ſhall be ſaved, even as they. Thus you ſee what the Goſpel is, and what Faith doth do in the Salvation of the Soul.

Now, that Faith might be helped in this Work, (for great are they that oppoſe it,) therefore the Scriptures (the Word of Truth) hath preſented us with the Invitation, in moſt plain and ſuitable Sentences: As, That Chriſt came into the world to ſave Sinners: Chriſt died for our Sins: Chriſt gave himſelf for our Sins: Chriſt bare our Sins in his Body on the Tree: And, That God, for Chriſt's ſake, hath forgiven you. Further, As the Invitations are plain and eaſie; ſo the Threatning to the Oppoſers are ſore and aſtoniſhing: He that believeth not, ſhall be damned: Becauſe they received not the love of the Truth, that they might be ſaved, God gave them up to ſtrong deluſions, that they all might be damned.

Mat. 16. 2 Thef. 2. 10, 11, 12.

Object. But Faith is ſaid to be an Act of Obedience. 100

Anſw. 1. And well it may; for it it is the moſt ſubmitting Act that a Man can do; it throweth out all our Righteouſneſs; it makes the Soul poor in it ſelf; it liveth upon God and Chriſt, as the Alms-man doth upon his Lord; it conſenteth to the Goſpel, that it is true; it giveth God and Chriſt the Glory of their Mercy and Merit; it loveth God for his Mercy, and Jeſus Chriſt for his Service; whatever Good it doth, it ſtill cryeth, Hereby am I not Juſtified; but he that Juſtifieth me, is the Lord.

Well, But is there in truth ſuch a thing as the Obedience of Faith? Then let Chriſtians labour to underſtand it, and diſtinguiſh it aright; and to ſeparate it from the Law, and all Man's Righteouſneſs; and remember, that it is a receiving of Mercy, an embracing of Forgiveneſs, an accepting of the Righteouſneſs of Chriſt, and a truſting to theſe for Life. Remember again, that it putteth the Soul upon coming to Chriſt, as a Sinner; and to receive Forgiveneſs, as a Sinner; as ſuch. We now treat of Juſtification.

But a little to inſert at large a few more of the Excellencies of it, and ſo draw towards a Concluſion. 101.

Firſt, The more thou believeſt for Remiſſion of Sins, the more of the Light of the glorious Goſpel of Chriſt thou receiveſt into thy Soul: For therein is the Righteouſneſs of God revealed, from Faith to Faith; that is, according to the degree of Faith: Little Faith ſeeth but little, but great Faith ſeeth much; and therefore he ſaith again, That by Faith we have acceſs into the Grace of God. The Reaſon is, Rom. 1. 16, 17. Chap. 5. 2.

1. Becauſe Faith having laid hold upon Chriſt, hath found him in whom are hid all the treaſures of Wiſdom and Knowledge: In him therefore it finds and ſees thoſe heighths and depths of Goſpel-Myſteries that are no where elſe to be found: Nay, let a Man be deſtitute of Faith, and it is not poſſible he ſhould once think of ſome of them. Col. 2. 3.

2. By this means, the Holy Spirit is plentifully received. Now the Spirit of God, is a Spirit of Wiſdom and Revelation; but yet ſo, as in the knowledge of Chriſt; otherwiſe the Spirit will ſhew to Man not any mighty thing; its great delight being, to open Chriſt, and to reveal him unto Faith: Faith indeed can ſee him, for that is the Eye of the Soul; and the Spirit alone can reveal him, that being the Searcher of the deep things of God: By theſe therefore the Myſteries of Heaven are revealed and received: And hence it is that the Myſtery Gal. 3. 4. 2, 3. Eph. 1. 17.

Tim.3.9. stery of the Gospel, is called, the Mystery of FAITH, or the Mystery with which Faith only hath to do. Wouldest thou then know the greatest things of God? Accustom thy self to the Obedience of Faith; live upon thy Justifying Righteousness.

102. And never think, that to live always on Christ for Justification, is a low and beggerly thing, and as it were, a staying at the Foundation: For let me tell you, Depart from a sense of the meritorious means of your Justification with God, and you will quickly grow light and frothy, and vain: Besides, you will always be subject to Errours and Delusions; for this is

Col.2.19. not to hold the Head from, or, through which nourishment is administred. Further, No Man that buildeth, forsakes the good Foundation; that is the ground of his Encouragement to work; for upon that is laid the stress of ALL; and without it, nothing that is framed can be supported, but must inevitably fall to the ground. Again, Why not live upon Christ alway? and especially as he standeth the Mediator between God and the Soul; defending thee with the Merit of his Blood, and covering thee with his infinite Righteousness, from the Wrath of God, and Curse of the Law. Can there be any greater comfort ministred to THEE, than to know thy Person stands Just before God? JUST, and Justified from all things that would otherwise swallow thee up? Is Peace with God, and Assurance of Heaven, of so little respect with thee, that thou slightest the very Foundation thereof, even Faith in the Blood and Righteousness of Christ? And are Notions and Whimsies of such credit with thee, that thou must leave the Foundation, to follow them? But again, What Mystery is desirable to be known, that is not to be found in Jesus Christ, as Priest, Prophet, or King of

Col.2.1,2. Saints? In him is hid all the treasures of them,

cv. 3.7. and he alone hath the Key of David to open them. Paul was so taken with Jesus Christ, and the Knowledge of this, that he was Crucified for Cor.2.2. us; that he desired, nay determined not to know any thing else among the Corinthians, that itch't after other Wisdom.

103. Object. But I see not that in Christ now, that I have seen in him in former days: besides, I find the Spirit lead me forth to study other things.

Answ. To the First part of this Objection, I would answer several things.

1. The Cause why thou seest not that in Christ now, which thou hast seen in him in former days, is not in Christ, but in thy Faith:

b.1.11, He is the same, as fresh, and as good, and as full of Blessedness, as when thou didst most rejoyce in him.

2. And why not now, as well as formerly? God is never weary of being delighted with Jesus Christ; his Blood is always precious with w.8.30. God: His Merits being those in which Justice

. 2.36. hath Everlasting Rest, why shouldest thou wander, or go about to change thy way?

3. Sin is the same as ever, and so is the Curse of the Law: The Devil is as busie as ever, and beware of the Law in thy Members: Return therefore to thy rest, O Soul! for he is thy life, and the length of thy days.

4. Guilt is to be taken off now, as it was years ago; and whether thou seest it or no, thou sinnest in ALL thy Works: How then canst thou stand clear from guilt in thy Soul, who neglectest to act Faith in the Blood of the Lamb? There thou must wash thy Robes, and there thou must make them white, Rev. 7. 14, 15.

5. I conclude then, thou art a polluted, surfeited, corrupted, hardened Creature, whosoever thou art, that thus objectest.

104. But I find (sayest thou) as if the Spirit led me forth to study other matters.

Answ. What other Matters? WHAT Matters besides, above, or beyond the glorious Gospel of Jesus Christ, and of our acceptance with God through him! WHAT Spirit, or Doctrine, or Wisdom soever it be, that centers not in, that cometh not from, and that terminates not within the Bonds of the Gospel Joh. 6. 5. of Jesus Christ, is not worthy the study of the Sons of God; neither is it Food for the Faith of Jesus Christ; for that is the Flesh of Christ, (and that is Eternal Life,) Whither will you go? Beware of the Spirit of Antichrist; for many false Spirits are gone out into the world. I told you before, that the Spirit of God, is the Spi- Eph.1.17. rit of Wisdom and Revelation in the Knowledge of Joh. 14. Christ; and that without and besides the Lord Chap. 15. Jesus it discovereth nothing; it is sent to testifie Chap. 16. of him; it is sent, to bring his words to our remembrance; it is sent, to take of his things, and shew them unto us. Wherefore, never call that the Spirit of Jesus, which leads you away from the Blood and Righteousness of Christ: That is but the Spirit of Delusion, and of the Devil, whose Teachings end in Perdition and Destruction. Tempt not Christ, as they of old did. But how did they tempt him? Why, in loathing the Manna, which was the Type of his Flesh and Blood; which we are to eat of by believing. I say, tempt him not, lest you Num. 21. be destroyed by the Serpents, by the gnawing guilt 5, 6, 7. of sin; for, take away Christ, and Sin remains, 1 Cor. 10. and there is no more Sacrifice for Sin; if so, thou 10. wilt be destroyed by the Destroyer, &c.

105. But again: Living by Faith, begets in the Heart a Son-like Boldness and Confidence to God-ward, in all our Gospel-Duties; under all our Weaknesses, and under all our Temptations. It is a blessed thing to be priviledged with an holy Boldness and Confidence God-ward, that he is on our side, that he taketh part with us, and that he will plead our Cause 2Cor.2.14. with them that rise up against us. But this Bold- Gal.2.20. ness Faith helpeth us to do, and also manageth Phil.3.2,3. in our Heart. This is that which made Paul Rom.5.11. always triumph and rejoyce in God, and the Lord 2 Cor. 4. Jesus: He lived the Life of Faith; for Faith 17, 18. sets a Man in the Favour of God, by Christ; and makes a Man see, that what befalls him in this life, it shall, through the Wisdom and Mercy of God, not only prove for his forwarding to Heaven, but to augment his Glory when he comes there. This Man now stands on high; he lives; he is rid of slavish Fears, and carking Cares; and in all his streights, he hath a God to go to. Thus David, when all things look'd 1 Sam.30.6 a-wry upon him, encouraged himself in the Lord his God. Daniel also believed in his God, and Dan.6.23. knew that all his Trouble, Losses and Crosses, would be abundantly made up in his God.

Psal.27.13. Jon.5.4,5. Heb. 10. 22, 23. Eph. 1. 4, 5, 6, 7. Isa.33.17, 18.

And David said, I had fainted, unless I had believed: Believing therefore is a great Preservative against all such Impediments, and makes us confident in our God, and with boldness to come into his presence, claiming Priviledge in what he is and hath: For by Faith, I say, he seeth his acceptance through the Beloved; and himself interested in the Mercy of God, and Riches of Christ, and Glory in the World to come. This Man can look upon all the Dangers in Hell and Earth, without paleness of Countenance; he shall meditate Terrour with Comfort, because he beholds the King in his beauty.

106. Gal. 5. 5. Jam. 5. 7, —11.

Again: Living by Faith, makes a Man exercise Patience and Quietness under all his Afflictions; for Faith shews him, that his best part is safe, that his Soul is in God's special Care and Protection, purged from Sin in the Blood of Christ: Faith also shews him, that after a little while he shall be in the full enjoyment of that which now he believes is coming: We, through the Spirit, wait for the hope of Righteousness by Faith. Wherefore, upon this ground it is, that James exhorteth the Saints, to whom he wrote, to Patience; because they knew the Harvest would in due time Come. Faith lodgeth the Soul with Christ: I know (saith Paul) on whom I have believed, (and to whom I have committed my Soul,) and am perswaded, (I believe it,) that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him, against that day: Therefore it were no shame to him, to wear a Chain for his Name and Sake. Oh! it is a blessed thing to see, I say, by the Faith of the Lord Jesus, that we are embarqued in the same Ship with him: This will help us greatly, both to hope, and quietly wait for the Salvation of the Lord.

2 Tim. 1. 12, 16. Psal. 46. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6. Lam. 3. 26.

107. Acts 28. 15. 2 Cor. 3. 18

Further, I might add, That living by Faith, is the way to receive fresh strength from Heaven, thereby to manage thine every days work with life and vigour; yea, every look, by Faith, upon Jesus Christ, as thine, doth this great work. It is said, when Paul saw the Brethren that came to meet him, he thanked God, and took courage. Oh, how much more then shall the Christian be blessed with fresh Strength and Courage, even at the beholding of Christ! whom beholding, as in a glass, we are changed (even by beholding of him by Faith in the Word) into the same Image, from Glory to Glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord. But to be brief:

1 Joh. 3. 23. Joh. 6. 40. Heb. 12.

Make Conscience of the Duty of Believing; and be as fraid of falling short here, as in any other Command of God. This is his Commandment, That you Believe: Believe therefore in the Name of the Lord Jesus. This is the Will of God, That you Believe: Believe therefore to the Saving of the Soul. Unbelief is a fine spun Thread, not so easily discerned as grosser Sins; and therefore that is truly THE Sin that doth SO easily beset us. The Light of Nature will shew those Sins that are against the Law of Nature; but the Law of Faith, is a Command beyond what Flesh or Nature teacheth: Therefore, to Live by Faith, is so much the harder work; yet it must be done, otherwise thine other Duties profit thee nothing: For if a Man give way to Unbelief, though he be most frequent in all other Duties besides; so often as he worshippeth God in these, he yet saith, God is a Lyar in the other; even because he hath not Believed: He that believeth not God, hath made him a Lyar; because he believeth not the record that God gave of his Son: And this is the record, that God hath given us eternal life; and this Life is in his Son. So then, when thou giv'st way to Unbelief; when thou dost not venture the Salvation of thy Soul upon the Justifying Life that is in Christ, that is, in his Blood, &c. at once, thou giv'st the Lye to the whole Testament of God; yea, thou trampl'st upon the Promise of Grace; and count'st this precious Blood an unholy and unworthy thing. Now how (thou doing thus) the Lord should accept of thy other Duties, of Prayer, Alms, Thanksgiving, Self-denyal, or any other, will be hard for thee to prove: In the mean time remember, that Faith pleaseth God; and that without Faith, it is impossible to please him: Remember also, that for this cause it was that the Offering of Cain was not accepted. By Faith Abel offered unto God a more excellent Sacrifice than Cain: For by Faith Abel first justified the Promise of the Messias, by whom a Conquest should be obtained over the Devil, and all the Combination of Hell against us: Then he honoured Christ, by believing that he was able to save him; and in token that he believed these things indeed, he presented the Lord with the Firstling of his Flock, as a Remembrance before God, that he believed in his Christ: And therefore 'tis said, By Faith he offered; by which means the Offering was accepted of God; for no Man's Offering can be accepted with God, but his that stands righteous before him first: But Unbelief holdeth Men under their guilt, because they have not believed in Christ, and by that means put on his Righteousness. Again, He that believeth not, hath made invalid (what in him lyes) the Promise of God, and Merits of Christ, of whom the Father hath spoken so worthily: Therefore, what Duties, or Acts of Obedience soever he performeth, God by no means can be pleased with him.

1 Joh. 5. 10, 11. Heb. 10. Heb 11.

By this therefore you see the miserable state of the People that have not Faith: Whatever they do, they sin; if they break the Law, they sin; if they endeavour to keep it, they sin: They sin, I say, upon a double account: First, Because they do it but imperfectly: And Secondly, Because they yet stay upon that, resisting that which is perfect, even that which God hath appointed. It mattereth not (as to Justification from the Curse) therefore, Men wanting Faith, whether they be civil or profane, they are such as stand accursed of the Law, because they have not believed, and because they have given the Lye to the Truth, and to the God of Truth. Let all Men therefore, that would please God, make Conscience of Believing; on pain, I say, of displeasing him; on pain of being with Cain, rejected; and on pain of being damned in Hell. He that believeth not, shall be damned. Faith is the very quintessence of all Gospel-Obedience, it being that which must go before other Duties, and that which also must accompany whatever I do in the Worship of God, if it be accepted of him. Here you may see a Reason, why the force and power of Hell is so bent against Believing: Satan hateth all the parts of our Christian Obedience; but the best and 108. Mark 16. 16.

chiefest,

chiefest, must. And hence the Apostle saith to the Thessalonians, That he sent to know their Faith, lest by some means the Tempter have tempted them, and so his labour had been in vain. Indeed, where Faith is wanting, or hath been destroyed, all the labour is in vain; nothing can profit any Man, neither as to Peace with God, nor the Acceptance of any Religious Duty: And this, I say, Satan knows, which makes him so bend his force against us.

1 Thes. 3. 5.

109. There are three things in the Act of Believing, which makes this Grace displeasing to the wicked one.

1. Faith discovereth the Truth of things to the Soul. The Truth of things as they are, whether they be things that are of this World, or of that which is to come; the Things and Pleasures above, and also those beneath. Faith discovereth to the Soul, the Blessedness, and Goodness, and Durableness of the one; the Vanity, Foolishness, and Transitoriness of the other. Faith giveth credit to all things that are written in the Law, and in the Prophets; both as to the Being, Nature, and Attributes of God; the blessed Undertaking of the Lord Jesus Christ; the Glory of Heaven, and Torments of Hell; the Sweetness of the Promise, and Terror of the Threatnings, and Curses of the Word: By which means Satan is greatly frustrated in his Assaults, when he tempteth either to love this World, or slight that which is to come; for he can do no great matter in these things to any but those who want the Faith: In vain is the snare laid in the sight of any Bird: Therefore he must first blind, and hold blind the Minds of Men, that the light of the glorious Gospel of Christ, who is the Image of God, should not shine into them, else he can do no harm to the Soul. Now Faith is the Eye of the Godly Man, and that sees the Truth of things, whatever Satan suggests, either about the Glory of this World, the Sweetness of Sin, the Uncertainty of another World, or the like.

Act. 24. 14.
Joh. 5. 4. 5.
Prov. 1. 17.
2 Cor. 4. 4.
Heb. 11. 27.

110. 2. Faith wraps the Soul up in the bundle of Life with God; it encloseth it in the Righteousness of Jesus; and presents it so perfect in that, that whatever he can do, with all his cunning, cannot render the Soul spotted or wrinkled before the Justice of the Law: Yea, though the Man, as to his own Person and Acts, be full of Sin from top to toe, Jesus Christ covereth all; Faith sees it, and holds the Soul in the godly sense and comfort of it. The Man therefore standing here, stands shrouded under that goodly Robe that makes him glister in the Eye of Justice: yea, all the Answer that Satan can get from God against such a Soul, is, That he doth not see iniquity in Jacob, nor behold perverseness in Israel: for HERE Israel hath not been forsaken, nor Juda of his God, of the Lord of Hosts, though (as to their own Persons) their Land was filled with sin against the Holy One of Israel. Thus therefore the Soul Believing, is hid from all the power of the Enemy, and dwells safely under the dominion of GRACE.

Num. 23. 21, 22, 23.
Jer. 51. 5.
Am. 6. 14.
Deut. 33.

111. 3. Faith keeps the Soul from giving credit to any of his Insinuations; for whatever Satan saith, either about the acceptance of my Person or Performances; so long as I believe that both are accepted of God, for Christ's sake, he suggesteth to the Wind: Wherefore, Faith doth the same against the Devil, that Unbelief doth to God. Doth Unbelief count God a Lyar? Faith counts the Devil a Lyar. Doth Unbelief hold the Soul from the Mercy of God? Faith holds the Soul from the Malice of the Devil. Doth Unbelief quench thy Graces? Faith kindleth them even into a flame. Doth Unbelief fill the Soul full of Sorrow? Faith fills it full of the Joy of the Holy Ghost. In a word, Doth Unbelief bind down thy Sins upon thee? Why, Faith in Jesus Christ releaseth thee of them all.

112. 4. As Faith keeps the Soul from giving credit to the Insinuations of Satan; so, when he makes his assaults, it overmasters him, and makes him retreat: Resist the Devil, and he will flee from you; whom resist stedfast in the Faith. Believe, as I have already said, that God loveth you; that the Blood of Christ was shed for you; that your Person is presented compleat before him, through the Righteousness of Christ; and Satan must give place, thy crediting of the Gospel, makes him fly before thee. But thou must do it STEDFAST in the Faith; every WAVER giveth him advantage. And indeed this is the reason that the Godly are so foyled with his assaults, they do not resist him STEDFAST in the Faith; they often stagger through Unbelief: Now at every stagger, he recovereth lost ground again, and giveth Battel another time. Besides, by this and the other stagger, he taketh heart to attempt by other means, and so doubleth the Affliction with manifold Temptations: This is, I say, for want of being STEDFAST: Above ALL taking the Shield of Faith, wherewith you shall be able to quench ALL the fiery Darts of the wicked: To quench them, though they come from him as kindled with the very Fire of Hell: None knows, save him that feels it, how burning hot the fiery Darts of Satan are; and how, when darted, they kindle upon our Flesh and Unbelief; neither can any know the power and worth of Faith to quench them, but he that hath it, and hath power to act it.

Jam. 4. 7.
Eph. 6. 16.

113. 5. Lastly, If Justifying Righteousness be alone to be found in the Person of Jesus Christ, then this shews us the sad Condition of two sorts of Men.

1. Of those that hang in doubt betwixt Christ and the Law.

2. Of those that do professedly make denial of the Sufficiency of this most blessed Righteousness.

The First sort, though they may seek Life; yet thus continuing, are never like to find it: Wherefore? Because they seek it not by Faith, but as it were by the Works of the Law. Indeed they will not be Merit-mongers; they will not wholly trust to the Law; they will partly venture on Christ, and partly trust to the Law. Well, but therefore they shall be damned, because they trust to Christ but in part, and in part, as it were, to the Works of the Law; for such Sinners make Christ but a Saviour in part, Why then should he be their Saviour in whole? No, because they halt between Christ and the Law, therefore they shall fall between Christ and the Law; yea, because they will trust to their Works in part, they shall be but almost saved by Christ. Let not that man think that he shall obtain any thing from the Lord. What Man? Why, he that doubteth, or wavereth in his mind, about the Truth of the Mercy of God in Christ: Therefore the Exhortation is, But let him ask in Faith; for he that wavereth, (or, that halteth between the Law and Christ for Life,) is like a wave of the Sea, driven of the Wind, and tossed. In Conclusion, he resteth no where: a double-minded man is unstable in all his ways. This Man therefore must miscarry; he must not see the good Land that flows with Milk and Honey; no, let him not have a Thought of Life in his Heart: Let not that man think that he shall receive any thing of the Lord.

Jam. 4. 8.

This was the Case of many in the Primitive Times, for whose sake this Caution was written: For the devout and religious Jew and Proselite, when they fell away from the Word of the Gospel, they did not fall to those gross and abominable Pollutions in which the open Profane, like Sows and Swine, do wallow; but they fell from the Grace of God, to the Law; or at least, did rest betwixt them both, doubting of the Sufficiency of either; and thus being fearful, they distrust: Wherefore, being found at length Unbelieving, they are reputed of God abominable, as Murderers, Whore-mongers, Sorcerers, Idolaters, and Lyars; and so must have their Portion in the Lake (with them) that burns with Fire and Brimstone: The Reason is, because where Christ is rejected, Sin remaineth, and so the Wrath of God for Sin: neither will he be a Saviour in part; he must be all thy Salvation, or none: Let not that man think that he shall receive any thing of the Lord.

114. Rev. 21. 8.

Not any thing. There is no Promise for him, no Pardon for him, no Heaven for him, no Salvation for him, no escaping of his Fire! What Condition is this Man in! Yet he is a religious Man, for he prays; he is a seeking Man, a desiring Man, for he prays: But he halts between two, he leaneth to his Righteousness, and commiteth iniquity: He is afraid to venture all upon the Lord Jesus Christ. Let not that Man think of receiving any thing from the Lord.

Joh. 3. 36.

Yet the words suggest, That he is apt to think he shall; that he shall receive something, because God is merciful, because his Promise is great; but this Expectation is by this word cut off, and this Sinner is cast away. Let not that Man think; let him forbear to think of having any thing at the Hand of God. The Israelites thought to go up to the Land the day after they had despised it. Agag thought the bitterness of death was past, even that day in which he was hewen in pieces. Rechab, and Baanah his Brother, thought to have received Reward of David, that day they were hanged over the Pool in Hebron. Let not that Man think that he shall receive any thing of the Lord.

Num. 14. 40, 41.
1 Sam. 15. 32, 33.
2 Sam. 4. 12.

115. 6. As for those that do professedly make denial of the Sufficiency of this most blessed Righteousness, the whole Book is Conviction to them; and shall assuredly, if it comes to their hands, rise up in Judgment against them. They have rejected the Wisdom and Mercy of God; they have rejected the Means of their Salvation; they have trampled upon the Blood of the Son of God: Wherefore, Judgment waiteth for them, and fiery Indignation, which shall devour the Adversaries.

To conclude: One word also to you that are Neglecters of Jesus Christ: How shall we escape, if we neglect so great Salvation? Here then we may see how we ought to judge of all such Persons as neglect the Lord Jesus, under what guise, name or notion soever they be: We ought, I say, to judge of such, That they are at present in a state of Condemnation; of Condemnation,

Joh. 3. 18. Condemnation, because they have not believed in the only begotten Son of God.

116. 'Tis true, there is no Man more at ease in his Mind, (with such ease as it is,) than the Man that hath not closed with the Lord Jesus, but is shut up in Unbelief: Oh! but that is the man that stands Convict before God, and that is bound over to the Great Assize! that is the man whose Sins are still his own, and upon whom the wrath of God abideth: For the ease and peace of such, though it keep them far from fear, is but like to that of the secure Thief, that is ignorant that the Constable standeth at the door; the first sight of an Officer, makes his Peace to give up the Ghost: Ah, how many thousands that can now glory, that they never were troubled for sin against God; I say, how many be there that God will trouble worse than he troubled cursed Achan; because their peace (this false, and of the Devil) was rather chosen by them, than peace by Jesus Christ, than peace with God by the Blood of his Cross.

Joh. 7. 25.

Awake! Careless Sinners, awake! and arise from the Dead, and Christ shall give you light. Content not your selves either with Sin or Righteousness, if you be destitute of Jesus Christ; but CRY, CRY, Oh CRY to God for Light to see your Condition by! for Light in the Word of God! for therein is the Righteousness of God revealed: Cry therefore for Light to see this Righteousness by; it is a Righteousness of Christ's finishing, of God's accepting, and that which alone can save the Soul from the stroke of Eternal Justice.

Eph. 5. 14.

Rom. 1. 17

117. There are Six things that, on Man's part, are the cause he receiveth not the Gospel of Christ, and so Life by him.

1. They see not their state by Nature, how polluted they are with Original Sin.

Eph. 2. 2.

Heb. 10. 30

2. They see not the Justice of God against Sin; they know not him that hath said, Vengeance belongeth unto me, I will recompense.

2 Cor. 4. 4.

3. They cannot see the Beauty of Jesus Christ.

Rev. 21. 8.

4. Unbelief being mighty in them, they dare not venture their Souls with Jesus Christ; they dare not trust to his Righteousness, and to THAT only. For,

1 Cor. 2. 24

5. Their Carnal Reason also sets it self against the Word of Faith, and cannot stoop to the Grace of Jesus Christ.

Joh. 5. 44.

6. They love to have Honour one of another; they love to be commended for their own vain-glorious Righteousness; and the Fools think, that because they are commended of Men, they shall be commended of God also: How can you Believe, who seek Honour one of another, and seek not the Honour that cometh from God ONLY. This Last thing, to wit, Desire of Vain-glory, is the Bane of thousands; 'tis the Legalist's Bane; 'tis the Civilian's Bane; 'tis the Formalist's Bane; yea, (which yet is stranger,) it is the Bane of the Vicious and Debauched also: For though there be a Generation, that, to one's thinking, have not regard to Righteousness; yet watch them narrowly, and they have their times of doing something that looks like good; and though possibly it be but seldom, yet this Wretch counteth, that for the sake of that, God accepteth him, and counteth his, glorious Righteousness.

I might add a Seventh Cause; which is, Want of serious Meditation upon Eternal Judgment, and what shall follow. This Consideration, did it take a deep place in the Heart, would doubtless produce these workings of Spirit after Jesus Christ for Justification, that now is wanting in the most of Men. This made Felix, yea, it makes the Devils tremble; and would, I say, couldest thou deeply meditate, make thee start, and turn thy wanton Thoughts into heavy Sighs after God's Mercy in Jesus Christ, lest thou also come into their place of Torment.

Before I conclude this Use, I would lay down a few Motives, if so be thou mayest be prevailed with, to look after thine own Everlasting State.

118. 1. Consider, God hath put Man (above all the Creatures in this Visible World) into a state of abiding for ever; they cannot be annihilated, they shall never again be turned into nothing; but must live with God or the Devil for ever and ever. And though the Scripture saith, Man hath not preheminence over a Beast in his death, yet the Beast hath Preheminency above many Men; for he shall not rise again, to come into Judgment, as Man must; nor receive that dismal Sentence for Sin and Transgression; as Men shall: This therefore is worthy to be considered with seriousness, of all that have Souls to be saved or damned: They must one day come to Judgment, there to stand before that Judge of all the Earth, whose Eyes are like a Flame of Fire; from the sight of which thou canst not hide one of thy Words, or Thoughts, or Actions, because thou wantest the Righteousness of God: The Fire of his Justice shall burn up all thy Rags of Righteousness, wherewith by the Law thou hast cloathed thy self; and will leave thee nothing but a Soul full of Sin to bemoan, and eternal Burnings to grapple with. Oh! the Burnings that will then beset Sinners on every side! and that will eat their Flesh, and torment their Spirit, with far more terrour than if they were stricken with Scorpions! And observe it, the Torment will there be higher than other, where there is the Guilt of neglecting Jesus Christ, he being indeed the Saviour, and him that was sent on purpose to deliver Men from the Wrath to come.

2. Consider, Once past Grace, and Ever past Grace: When the Door is shut against thee, it will open no more; and then Repentings, Desires, Wishings, and Wouldings, come all too late; Good may be done to others, but to thee none; and this shall be, because, even because thou hast withstood the time of thy Visitation, and not received Grace when offered: My God shall cast them away, because they did not hearken unto him. Cain was driven out from the presence of God (for ought I know, some hundreds of Years) before his death. Ishmael was cast away after seventeen years of age; Esau lived thirty or forty years after he had sold his Birth-right. O! many, very many, are in this Condition! for tho' God be gracious, yea, very gracious; yet he will not be slighted, nor abused always; there is plenty of Sinners in the World, if one will not, another will. Christ was soon repulsed by, and sent away from the Country of the Gadarens; but on the other side of the Sea, there were many ready, with joy to receive him: So when the Jews contradicted and blasphemed, the Gentiles gladly received the Word. Look to it, Sinner, here is Life and Death set before thee: Life, if it be not too late to receive it; but if it be, 'tis not too late for Death to swallow thee up: And tell me, Will it not be dreadful, to be carried from under the Gospel to the Damned, there to lye in endless Torment, because thou wouldest not be delivered therefrom? Will it be comfort to thee, to see the Saviour turn Judge? to see him that wept and died for the Sin of the World, now ease his mind on Christ-abhorring-Sinners, by rendring to them the just Judgment of God? For all their abominable filthiness, had they closed with Christ, they had been shrouded from the Justice of the Law; and should not have come into Condemnation, but had been passed from Death to Life; but they would not take shelter there; they would venture to meet the Justice of God in its fury, wherefore now it shall swallow them up for ever and ever. And let me ask further; Is not he a mad man, who being loaden with combustible matter, will run headlong into the fire upon a bravado? Or that being guilty of Felony or Murther, will desperately run himself into the hand of the Officer, as if the Law, the Judge, the Sentence, Execution, were but a Jest, or a thing to be play'd withall? And yet thus mad are poor, wretched, miserable Sinners, who flying from Christ, as if he were a Viper, they are overcome, and cast off for ever by the Just Judgment of the Law. But ah! how poorly will these be able to plead the Virtues of the Law, to which they have cleaved, when God shall answer them, Whom dost thou pass in Beauty? Go down, and be thou laid with the Uncircumcised: Go down to Hell, and there be laid with those that refused the Grace of God.

Chap. 11. 41, 42, 43. Mat. 5. 15.

Luk. 8. 31. 40. Act. 13. 46. 47. 48.

Ezek. 32. 19.

Sinners, take my Advice; with which I shall conclude this USE: Call often to remembrance, that thou hast a precious Soul within thee; that thou art in the Way to thine End, at which thy precious Soul will be in special concerned; it being then time to delay no longer, the time of Reward being come. I say again, Bring thy End home; put thy self, in thy Thoughts, into the last day thou must live in this World; seriously arguing thus: How if this day were my last? How if I never see the Sun rise more? How if the first Voice that rings to morrow morning in my heavy Ears, be, Arise, ye Dead, and come to Judgment? Or, How if the next sight I see with mine Eyes, be the Lord in the Clouds, with all his Angels, raining floods of Fire and Brimstone upon the World! Am I in a case to be thus near mine End? To hear this Trump of God? Or, to see this great appearance of this Great God, and the Lord Jesus Christ? Will my Profession, or the Faith I think I have, carry me through all the Tryals of God's Tribunal? Cannot his Eyes, which are as a Flame of Fire, see in my Words, Thoughts, and Actions, enough to make me culpable of the Wrath of God? Oh! how serious should Sinners be in this work, of remembring things to come, of laying to their Heart the Greatness and Terrour of that notable Day of God Almighty! and in examining themselves, how it is like to go with their Souls, when they shall stand before the Judge indeed! To this End, God make this Word effectual, AMEN.

PAUL's

PAUL's Departure and Crown:

OR, AN EXPOSITION

Upon

2 TIM. Chap. IV. Verſ. 6, 7, 8.

For I am now ready to be offered up, and the time of my departure is at hand.

I have fought a good fight, I have finiſhed my courſe, I have kept the faith.

Henceforth there is laid up for me a Crown of righteouſneſs, which the Lord the righteous Judge ſhall give me at that day; and not to me only, but alſo to all them that love his appearing.

For I am now ready to be offered up, and the time of my departure is at hand, 2 Tim. 4. 7.

1. THeſe words were by the Apoſtle Paul written to Timothy, whom he had begot to the faith, by the Preaching of the Goſpel of Chriſt; in which are many things of great concernment both for inſtruction and Conſolation, ſomething of which I ſhall open unto you for your profit and edification. But before I come to the words themſelves, as they are a Relation of Paul's caſe, I ſhall take notice of ſomething from them as they depend upon the words going, before being a vehement Exhortation to Timothy to be conſtant and faithful in his Work. Which in brief may be ſummed up in theſe particulars, 1ſt. a ſolemn binding charge before God and Jeſus Chriſt our Lord, that he be conſtant in preaching the Word, whether in, or out of ſeaſon, Reproving, Rebuking, and Exhorting with all long-ſuffering and Doctrin: and that becauſe of that ungodly Spirit that would poſſeſs profeſſors after he was dead; for the time will come, ſaith he, that they will not indure ſound Doctrin (neither ſound reproof nor ſound trial of their ſtate and condition by the Word) but after their own luſts ſhall they heap to themſelves Teachers having itching Ears (the plague that once God threatned to rebellious Iſrael) and be turned unto Fables. Much like this is that in the Acts of the Apoſtles; for I know that after my departure ſhall grievous Wolves enter in amongſt you, not ſparing the Flock, and alſo of your own ſelves ſhall men ariſe ſpeaking perverſe things to draw away Diſciples after them. Therefore watch, and remember that by the ſpace of three years I ceaſed not to warn every one of you night and day with tears. Deut. 28. 27. Acts 20. 29, 30, 31.

2. This evil then is to be prevented, 1ſt. by a diligent watchfulneſs in Miniſters, 2d. by a diligent preaching the Word of the Lord, and 3ly by ſound and cleſe rebukes, reproofs and exhortations to thoſe in whoſoever the leaſt there appears any ſwarving or turning aſide from the Goſpel. The Miniſters of the Goſpel have each of them all that authority that belongs to their calling and office, and need not to ſtay for power from Men to put the Laws of Chriſt in his Church into due and full Execution. This remnant of Jacob ſhould be in the midſt of many people as a Dew from the Lord, that tarrieth not for Man, nor waiteth for the Sons of Men. Therefore he adds, watch thou in all things, indure afflictions (if thou ſhouldſt be oppoſed in thy work) do the work of an Evangeliſt, make full proof of thy Miniſtery. How Tit. 2. 15. Mic. 5. 7.

our time-serving, and self-saving Ministers will salve their Conscience from the stroak that Gods Word will one day give them, and how they will stand before the Judgment-seat to render an account of this their doings, let them see to it; surely God will require it of their hand.

But O Timothy do thou be diligent, do thou watch in all things, do thou indure affliction, do thou the work of an Evangelist, make thou full proof of thy Ministery; for I am now ready to be offered up, &c. The words then of my Text are a reason of this Exhortation, of this Exhortation to Timothy, that he should continue watchful and abide faithful in his calling. For I am now ready to be offered up, that is, to be put to death for the Gospel.

3. Hence then learn two things:

First, That the murders and out-rage that our Brethren suffer at the hands of wicked Men, should not discourage those that live, from a full and faithful performance of their duty to God and Man, whatever may be the consequence thereof. Or thus; When we see our Brethren before us fall to the Earth, by death, through the violence of the enemies of God for their Holy and Christian profession, we should covet to make good their ground against them, though our turn should be the next: We should valiantly do in this matter as is the Custom of Soldiers in Wars; take great care that the ground be maintained, and the front kept full and compleat. Thou therefore, saith Paul, indure hardness as a good Soldier of Jesus Christ: And in another place, we should not be moved by these afflictions, but indure, by resisting even unto blood. Wherefore Paul saith again, be not thou therefore ashamed of the Testimony of our Lord, nor of me, his Prisoner; but be thou a partaker of the affliction of the Gospel, according to the power of God. Thus let the Spirit of Paul rest upon Joshua, and the Spirit of Elijah rest upon Elisha; stand up therefore like valiant Worthies as the Ministers of my God, and fly not every Man to his own, while the cause and ways and Brethren of our Lord are buffeted and condemned by the World. And remember that those that keep the charge of the Lord when most go a whoring from under their God; they, when he turns the captivity of his people, shall be counted worthy to come nigh unto him, to offer the fat and the blood, saith the Lord God. But for the rest, though they may yet stand before the people, because, they stood before them in a way of Idolatry, yet it shall not be to their honour, nor to their comfort; but to their shame, as the same Scripture saith.

2 Tim. 2. 3. Thess. 3. 3. 2 Tim. 1. 8. Num. 27. 20. 2 Kin. 2. 15. Ezek. 44. 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16.

4. 1. Let this therefore smight with conviction those that in this day of Jacobs trouble, have been false with God, his cause and people; I say those first and especially as the chief ring-leaders of this cowardliness, who have done it against light, profession and resolutions. Behold, thou hast sinned against the Lord, and be sure thy sins will find thee out; and though thou mayest now have as a Judgment of God upon thee thy right eye darkned that thou mayest not see, yet awakening time will overtake thee, and that too between the straights, when he will shew thee, to the great confusion of thy face, and the amazement of them that behold thee, how great an affront he counts it to be left by thee in a day when his truth is cast down to the ground. I have often thought of that Prophet that went down from Judah to Bethel, to Prophesie against the Idolatry that was there set up by the King; who because he kept not the commandment of God, but did eat and drink in that place, at the perswasion of a lying Prophet, was met at last by a Lion, who slew him there in the way, where his Carcas was made a spectacle of God to passengers. If thou be Spiritual, judge what I say; and think not to be one of that number that shall have the Harps of God, when God appears for Zion, and that shall sing that Song of Moses, and also the Song of the Lamb, for that is only for those who have fought the godly fight, and gotten the victory over the Beast, his Image, Mark, Number and Name. 1 Kin.

2. Let this also be an awe to thee, who hast hankerings to do as the other: Beware and remember Judas, and the end God brought upon him; he will not always bear such things: These times have shewed us already that he beholds them with great dislike; why shouldest thou hang up in Chains as a Fetter to all that know thee? And never object that some have done it and yet are at peace in their Souls; for peace in a sinful course is one of the greatest of curses. And the Man that wandreth out of the way of understanding shall remain in the congregation of the dead. Rom. 10. Prov. 16.

The Second thing to be learned from these words as they have relation to them going before, is, encouragement to those that are yet in the storm; and that from three great Arguments; First, Pauls peace and comfort now at the time of his death, which he signifieth to Timothy by these three expressions, I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith.

Secondly, by the blessed Reward he should have for his labour from Christ in another World, together with all those that love the appearing of the Lord, at that great and notable day.

Thirdly, that now his last act should not be inferiour to any act he did for God, while he was alive and preached in the World; for his body should now be an offering, a Sacrifice well pleasing to God. To all which I shall speak something in my discourse upon these words. And therefore to come to them;

I am now ready to be offered up.

In these words we have to inquire into Two things

First, What it is to be offered up.

Secondly, What it is to be ready to be offered up. I am now ready to be offered up.

For the first of these.

Paul by saying he was to be offered, alludeth to some of the Sacrifices that of old were under the Law, and thereby signifieth to Timothy, that his death and martyrdom for the Gospel should be both sweet in the Nostrils of God, and of great profit to his Church in this World;

for

for so were the Sacrifices of old. Paul therefore lifts his eyes up higher than simply to look upon Death, as it is the common fate of Men: and he had good reason to do it, for his death was violent, twas also for Christ and for his Church, and Truth; and it is usual with Paul thus to set out the suffering of the Saints which they undergo for the name and Testimony of Jesus. Yea, he will have our Prayers a Sacrifice, our Praises Thanksgiving and Mortification, Sacrifices: Alms-deed and the offering up of the Gentiles Sacrifices, being sanctified by the holy Ghost; and here his death also must be for a Sacrifice and an acceptable offering to God.

Peter also saith, we are Priests to offer up Spiritual Sacrifices acceptable to God by Jesus Christ; of which Sacrifices, it seems by Paul, the death of a Christian for Jesus sake must needs be counted one.

Besides, Paul further insinuates this by some other Sentences in his Epistles. As by that in the Epistle to the Colossians, where he saith, I now rejoyce in my sufferings for you, and fill up that which is behind of the affliction of Christ in my flesh, for his body sake which is the Church (not by way of merit, for so Christ alone, and that by once being offered himself, hath perfected for ever them that are sanctified,) but his meaning is, that as Christ was offered in Sacrifice for his Church as a Saviour; so Paul would offer himself as a Sacrifice for Christ's Church, as a Saint, as a Minister, and one that was counted faithful. Yea, saith he, and if I be offered upon the Sacrifice and service of your faith, I joy and rejoyce with you all. This then teacheth us several things worthy our consideration.

First, That the blood of the Saints that they lose for his name, is a sweet Savour to God. And so saith the Holy Ghost, precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his Saints. And again, he shall redeem their Soul from deceit and violence, and precious shall their blood be in his sight.

Secondly, Those that suffer for Christ are of great benefit to his Church (as the Sacrifices of old, were confirming and strengthening to Israel) wherefore Paul saith, his bonds incouraged his Brethren, and made them much more bold in the way of God to speak his word without fear.

Thirdly, The sufferings or offering of the Saints in Sacrifice it is of great use and advantage to the Gospel; of use I say many ways.

First, The blood of the Saints defends it. Secondly, confirmeth it; and Thirdly, redeemeth that thereof that hath been lost in Antichristian darkness.

First, They do thereby defend and preserve it from those that would take it from us, or from those that would impose another upon us. I am set, saith Paul, for the defence of the Gospel, and my sufferings have fallen out for the furtherance of it; that is, it hath not only continued to hold its ground, but hath also got more by my contentions, sufferings and hazards for it.

Secondly, It confirms it, and this is part of the meaning of Paul in those large relations of his sufferings for Christ, saying, are they Ministers of Christ, I speak as a Fool, I am more, in prisons more frequent, &c. as he saith again, and these things I do for the Gospels sake: and again, That the Truth of the Gospel might be continued with you. So again, I suffer saith he, in the Gospel as an evil doer even unto bonds, but the word of God is not bound; yea, saith he, therefore I indure all things for the elects sake (that is) that the Gospel may be preserved intire, that the Souls that are yet unborn may have the benefit of it, with eternal Glory.

Thirdly, The sufferings of the Saints are of a redeeming vertue; for by their patient indureing and losing their blood for the Word, they recover the truths of God that have been buried in Antichristian Popish, from that soil and slur that thereby hath for a long time cleaved unto them; wherefore it is said, they overcame the beast by the blood of the Lamb, the Word of their Testimony, they not loving their lives to the death. They overcame him, that is, they recovered the truth from under his aspersions and delivered it from all his enemies. David saith, the words of the Lord are as Silver tried in a furnace of Earth, purified seven times; what is this furnace of Earth but the body of the Saints of God, in which the Word is tried as by fire in persecution, yea purified seven times, that is, brought forth at last by the death of the Christians, in its purity before the World: How hath the Headship and Lordship of Christ, with many other Doctrins of God, been taken away from the Pope by the sufferings of our Brethren before us? While their flesh did fry in the flames, the Word of God was cleansed, and by such means purified in these their Earthen Furnaces, and so delivered to us. The Lamps of Gideon were then discovered, when his Soldiers Pitchers were broken; if our Pitchers were broke for the Lord and his Gospel's sake, those Lamps will then be discovered, that before lay hid and unseen. Much use might be made of this good Doctrin: Learn thus much,

First, That the judgment [illegible] of our sufferings by carnal Men, is nothing at all to be heeded; they see not the glory that is wrapped up in our cause, nor the innocence and goodness of our conscience in our indureing of these afflictions: They judge according to the flesh, according to outward appearance. For so indeed we seem to lie under contempt, and to be in a disgraceful condition; but all things here are converted to another use and end. That which is contemptible when persons are guilty, is honourable when persons are clear; and that which brings shame when persons are buffeted for their faults, is thank-worthy in those that indure grief, suffering wrongfully; though to suffer for sin be the token of Gods displeasure, yet to those that suffer for righteousness it is a token of greatest favour: wherefore matter not how the World doth esteem of thee and thy present distress that thou beareſt with patience for God and his Word; but believe, that those things that are both shame and dishonour to others, are glory and honour to thee. O for a Man to be able to say, for the hope of Israel I am bound with this chain; it makes his face to shine like the face of an Angel, and his lips to drop like the Hony-comb.

Secondly, We learn also from hence, the reason why some in days before us have made light of the rage of the World; but they have laughed at destruction when it cometh, and have gone forth to meet the armed Men; and with Jobs liars, mocked at fear and have not been affrighted, neither turned their back from the Sword, the Quiver

Job 39. 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25. ratleth against him, the glittering Spear and the Shield; but they have said among the Trumpets, ha, ha, it hath been their glory to suffer for Christ. As it is said of the Saints of old, they departed from the counsel, rejoycing that they were Acts 5.41. worthy to suffer shame for his name. As Paul also saith, I will most gladly, mark, most gladly rather rejoyce in mine infirmities, that the power of 2 Cor. 12. 9, 10. Christ may rest upon me. Therefore I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, in distresses for Christs sake, &c. let those that suffer for theft and murther hang down their heads like a bull-rush, and carry it like those that are going to hanging; but let those whose trials are for the Word of God, know, by these very things they are dignified.

11 Thirdly, Learn also in this to be confident, that thy sufferings have their sound, and a voice before God and Men: First, before God to provoke Psal. 9.12. him to vengeance, when he makes inquisition for blood. Gen. 4. 9, 10, 11. The blood of Abel cried until it brought down wrath upon Cain; and so did the blood of Christ, and his Apostles till it laid Jerusalem upon heaps. Secondly, thy blood will also have a voice before Men, and that possibly for their good. The faithful Christian in his patient suffering knows not what work he may do for God; who knows but thy blood may be so remembred by thy Children, neighbours and enemies as to convince them thou wert for the truth? yea, who knows, but their thoughts of thy resolution for Christ, in thy resisting unto blood, may have so good an effect upon some, as to perswade them to close with his ways? The three Children in the Fiery Furnace made Nabuchadnezzar cry out, there was no God like theirs. Indeed this is hard labor, but be content, the dearer thou payest for it to win the souls of others, the greater will be thy Crown when the Lord the righteous Judge shall appear; and in the mean while thy death shall be as a Sacrifice pleasing to God and his Saints.

12 I am now ready to be offered up.

The Second thing that I would inquire into is this:

What it is to be [ready] to be offered up: Or how we should understand this word [ready] I am now ready to be offered up. Which I think may be understood three manner of ways.

First, With respect to that readiness that was continually in the heart of those that hated him, to destroy him with his Doctrin.

Secondly, Or it may be understood with respect to the readiness of this blessed Apostles mind, his being ready and willing always to imbrace the Cross for the words sake: Or,

Thirdly, We may very well understand it, that he had done his work for God in this World, and therefore was ready to be gon.

For the first of these.

13 The enemies of God and his Truth they never want will and malice to oppose the Word of God; they are also always so far forth in readiness to murder and slaughter the Saints, as the Prophet cries to Jerusalem, behold the Princes of Israel, Ezek. 22. 6. every one were in thee to their power to shed blood. That is, they had will and malice always at hand to oppose the upright in heart. And therefore our Lord Jesus saith, they are they that kill the body; he doth not say they can do it as relating to their power, but that they do it, as relating to their will, and their custom, if let loose: And we may understand thereby that it is no more to them to kill the people of God than it is to Butchers to kill Sheep and Oxen. For though it be indeed a truth that Gods hand Psal. is always safe upon the Hilt of their Sword, yet by 22. them we are killed all the day long, and accounted as Sheep for the Slaughter, that is, in their desires always, as well as by their deeds when they are let loose, as Pauls Kinsman said to the Captain, There lieth in wait for him of them more than forty Rom. men that have bound themselves in a curse, 36. that they will neither eat nor drink until they have killed him. And now are they ready, looking for a promise from thee: And hence it is that by the Word they are called Dragons, Lions, Bears, Wolves, Leopards, Dogs, and the like: all which are Beasts of prey and delight to live by the death of others. Paul therefore seeing and knowing that this readiness was in his enemies, to pour out his Bowels to the Earth, he cried out to Timothy, saying, make thou full proof of thy Ministery, for I am now ready to be slain; I am now ready to be offered up.

These words thus understood, may be useful many ways:

First, To shew us, we live, not because of any good nature or inclination, that is in our Psal. enemies towards us; for they, as to their wills 56. are ready to destroy us; but they are in the hand of God, in whose hand is also our times. Where- 2 Cor. fore though by the will of our enemies we are 4. 9. always delivered to death, yet behold we live. Therefore in this sense it may be said, where is the fury of the oppressor? it is not in his power to dispose of, therefore here it may de said again he is not ready to destroy. The cup that gods people in all ages have drank of, even the cup of affliction and persecution, it is not in the hand of the enemy, but in the hand of God; and he, not they, poureth out of the same. So that they Psal. with all their raging Waves, have Banks and Job 38. Bounds set to them, by which they are limited 10, 11. with in their range, as the Bear is by his chain. Surely the wrath of Men shall praise thee, and the remainder of wrath thou wilt restrain. Psal. 76. 10.

Secondly, This should incourage us, not to forsake the way of our Lord Jesus, when threatned by our Adversaries; because, they are in his chain: Indeed they are ready in their wills to destroy us, but as to power and liberty to do it, that is not at all with them, who would fear to go, even by the very nose of a Lion, if his chain would not suffer him to hurt us. It is too Isa. much below the Spirit of a Christian to fear a 12, 13. Man that shall die; and they that have so done have forgotten the Lord their Maker, who preserveth the haires of our head. Yea, let me tell you, Luke he that so doth, he feareth to trust the Lord 7. with his life, estate and concernments, and chuseth rather to trust to himself, and that too out of Gods way; and though such persons may lick themselves whole now while they are fallen, and senseless, they must count for these things again, and then they shall see, that fear of Men, and to be ashamed of Christ, will load them with with no light burden. Alſo it is an uncomely thing for any Man in his profeſſion, to be in and out with the Times; and to do this when winked at by Men, that they would not do if they frowned: Do ſuch fear God? Nay, they fear the fear of Men, when they ſhould Sanctifie the Lord himſelf, and let him be their dread, and him be their fear.

. 12, Thirdly, Let the readineſs that is in the enemies of God to deſtroy, provoke thee to make ready alſo, as I ſaid a little before, go out to meet the armed Men. David ran to meet Goliah; n. 17. 6,47, rub up Man, put on thy Harnis, put on the whole Armor of God, that thou mayeſt be ready as well as thy adverſaries, as bleſſed Paul was here, I am now ready to be offered up, and the time of my departure is at hand: But becauſe this will fall in fitteſt under the ſecond head, I ſhall therefore diſcourſe of it there

The ſecond Thing.

6 The ſecond Thing conſidered in the words is this, that to be ready, might be underſtood with reſpect to the bleſſed Apoſtle's mind, that was graciouſly brought over into a willingneſs to imbrace the Croſs for the Word's ſake, and thus in other places he himſelf Expounds it; I am ready, 21. ſaith he, not to be bound only, but to die at Jeruſalem for the name of the Lord Jeſus. That alſo implies as much, where he ſaith, I count not my life dear unto my ſelf, ſo that I may finiſh my courſe with joy, and the Miniſtery which I have received of the 20. Lord Jeſus, to teſtify the Goſpel of the grace of 3,24. God. As the enemies then were ready and willing in their hearts: ſo he was ready and willing in his. This Man was like to thoſe mighty Men of Solomon, that were ready prepared for ron. the War, and waited on the King, fit to be ſent 8,19. at any time upon the moſt ſharp and pinching ſervice. A thing fitly becoming all the Saints, but chiefly thoſe that Miniſter in the Word and Doctrin.

7 Underſtand the words thus, and they alſo teach us many things both for conviction and for edification, Firſt, Here we ſee that a Chriſtians heart ſhould be unclinched from this World; for he that is ready to be made a Sacrifice for Chriſt and his bleſſed Word, he muſt be one that is not intangled with the affairs of this life; how elſe n. 2. can he pleaſe him who hath choſen him to be a Souldier? Thus was it with this bleſſed Man, he r. 1. was brought to Gods Foot with Abraham, and 2. crucified to this World with Chriſt; he had paſſed a ſentence of death upon all earthly plea- 6. ſures and profits beforehand, that they might not deaden his Spirit when he came to ſuffer for his profeſſion.

Secondly, This ſhews us the true effects of unfeigned faith and love, for they were the riſe of this moſt bleſſed frame of heart; read 2 Cor. 4. at the 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14. and compare it Chapter the 12, at the 9*th* and 10*th* verſes; and Men may talk what they will of their faith and love to the Lord Jeſus and to his Holy Goſpel; but if they throw up their open profeſſing of his name for fear of thoſe that hate him, it is evident their Mouths go before 24. their Hearts, and that their words are bigger than their graces. If thou faintеſt in the day of adverſity, thy ſtrength is ſmall, and ſo thy faith and love: Herein is love, that a Man lay down his life for his friend. Joh. 15. 13.

Thirdly, This ſhews us the true effects of a right ſight and ſenſe of the ſufferings that attend the Goſpel, that they ſhall become truly profitable to thoſe that ſhall bear them aright. 2 Cor. 4. What made he ready for? it was for ſuffering: 16, 17, 18. And why made he ready for them, but becauſe he ſaw they wrought out for him a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory. This made Moſes alſo ſpurn at a Crown and a Kingdom; to look with a diſdainful eye upon all the glory Heb. 11. of Egypt: he ſaw the reward that was laid up in 24, 25, 26, Heaven for thoſe that ſuffered for Chriſt. There- 27. fore he refuſed to be called the Son of Pharaoh's Daughter; chuſing rather to ſuffer affliction with the People of God, than to injoy the pleaſures of ſin for a ſeaſon. Eſteeming the reproach of Chriſt greater riches than the treaſures in Egypt: for he had reſpect to the recompence of reward: by faith he forſook Egypt, not fearing the wrath of the King, for he indured, as ſeeing him who is inviſible. Every one cannot thus look upon the Afflictions and temptations that attend the Goſpel; no not every one that profeſſeth it, as appears by their ſhrinking and ſhirking at the noiſe of the Trumpet, and alarum to War. They can be content (as Cowards in a Garriſon) to lie ſtill under ſome ſmaller pieces of ſervice, as hearing the Word, entring in, to follow with loving in word and in tongue, and the like, but to go forth to him with- Heb. 13. out the camp, bearing his reproach, and to be in 13. Jeopardy every hour for the truth of the glorious 1 Cor. 15. Goſpel, that they dare not do. Nay inſtead of 30. making ready with Paul to ingage the Dragon and his Angels, they ſtudy how to evade, and Revel. 12. ſhun the Croſs of Chriſt. Secretly rejoycing if 7, 8, 9. they can but delude their conſcience, and make it ſtill and quiet while they do yet unworthily.

Fourthly, By this readineſs we may diſcern 19 who are unfeignedly willing to find out, that they may do the whole will of God; even thoſe that are already made willing to ſuffer for his ſake, they are ſtill inquiring, Lord, what wouldeſt thou have me to do? not mattering nor regarding the Croſs and diſtreſs that attends it. Acts, 20. The Holy Ghoſt witneſſeth to me, ſaith Paul, that in 22, 23. every City Bonds and Afflictions abide me; but none of theſe things move me; neither count I my life dear unto my ſelf, ſo that I may finiſh my courſe with joy. &c. counting that to ſee and be doing of heavenly things, will countervail all the trouble and ſorrow that attends them; This therefore ſharply rebuketh thoſe that can be glad to be ignorant of the knowledge of ſome truths, eſpecially of them that are perſecuted. Still anſwering thoſe that charge them with walking irregularly, that they do but according to their light. Whereas, the hearts that be full of love to the name and glory of Chriſt, will in quiet, return and come: yea, and be glad, if they find the words of God, and will eat them with ſavour and ſweet delight, how bitter ſoever they Revel. 10. are to the belly; becauſe of that teſtimony they 10, 11. bind us up to maintain before Peoples, and Nations, and Kings.

I judg not thoſe that have conſcienciouſly ſought, and that according to rule, and yet remain in the dark.

I am

20 I am now ready to be offered up.

The third thing to be considered in the words is this, that the Apostle by saying I am now ready, doth signify that now he had done that work that God had appointed him to do in the World. I am now ready, because I have done my work; this is further manifest by the following words of the Text; I am now ready to be offered up, and the time of my departure is at hand; namely my time to depart this World. The words
Joh. 17. 4. also that follow, are much to the purpose, I have fought the good fight, I have finished my course, &c. much like that of our Lord Jesus, I have finished the work which thou gavest me to do. Now then, put all these things together, namely that I am to be offered a Sacrifice, and for this my enemies are ready, my heart is also ready; and because I have done my work, I am therefore every way ready. This is a frame and condition that deserveth, not only to stand in the word of God for Paul's everlasting praise: but to be a provoking argument to all that read or hear thereof, to follow the same steps. I shall therefore to help it forward according to Grace received, draw one conclusion from the words, and speak a few words to it. The conclusion is this;

That it is the duty and wisdom of those that fear God, so to manage their time and work that he hath alloted unto them, that they may not have part of their work to do when they should be departing the World.

21 This truth I might further urge from the very words of the Text, they being written on purpose by Paul to stir up Timothy and all the godly to press hard after this very thing. But to pass that, and to mind you of some other Scriptures that press it hard as a duty, and then to proceed to some few Examples of the wise and most eminent Saints. Which when I have done I shall

1. Shew you reason for it.
2. Give you incouragement to it.
3. Press it with several motives.
4. Make some use and application of the whole, and so conclude.

That this is the duty and wisdom of those that fear God, you may see by Christs Exhortation to watchfulness and to prepare for his
Mat. 24. 44. second coming: Therefore be ye ready also; for at an hour when you think not, the Son of Man cometh. These words, as they are spoken to stir up the godly to be ready, to meet their Lord at his coming, so because the godly must meet him as well in his Judgments and Providences here, as at his personal appearing at the last day; therefore they should be diligent to be fitting themselves to meet him in all such dispensations: and Amos 4. 12. because, saith God, I will do this unto thee, prepare to meet thy God O Israel. Now death is one of the most certain of those dispensations; yea and such, that it leaveth to those no help at all, or means to perform for ever that, which, shouldest thou want it, that is lacking to thy work. Wherefore Solomon also doth press us to this very work, and that from this consideration,
Eccles. 9. 10. whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with all thy might, for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom in thy grave whether thou goest; bauk nothing of thy duty, neither defer to do it; for thou art in thy way to thy grave, and there thou canst not finish ought that by neglect thou leavest undone; therefore be diligent while life lasts.

Another Scripture is that in Peter's Epistle to those that were scattered abroad, seeing, saith he, that you look for such things, be diligent, that you may be found of him in peace, &c. he is there discoursing of the coming of Christ to Judgment, as Christ also was in the other; and from the certainty and dread of that day he doth press them on to a continual diligence, and is to be understood, as that of Paul to Timothy, a diligent watching in all things, that as he saith again, they may stand complent in all the will of God, not lacking this or that of that work which was given them to do of God in this World. Much might be said for the further proof of this duty; but to give you some Examples of the godly Men of old, whereby it will appear, that as it is our duty to do it, so it is also our wisdom: And hence.

It is said of Enoch, that he walked with God, and of Noah, that he was faithful in his generation, and also walked with God, That is, they kept touch with him, still keeping up to the work and duty that every day required; not doing their duty by fits and by starts, but in a fervent Spirit they served the Lord. So again it is said of Abraham that his work was to walk before God in a way of faith and self-denial, which he with diligence performed. And therefore the Holy Ghost saith, he died in a good old age, thereby insinuating, that he made both ends meet together, the end of his work with the end of his days, and so came to his grave, in a full age, as a shock of Corn coming in his season. Jacob also when he blessed his Sons, as he lay upon his death bed before them, doth sweetly comfort himself with this, after all his toyl and travel, saying, I have waited for thy Salvation, O Lord: As if he had said, Lord, I have faithfully walked before thee in the days of my Pilgrimage thorough the help and power of thy grace; and now having nothing to do but to die, I lie waiting for thy coming to gather me up to thy self and my Fathers: So when he had made an end of commanding his Sons; (now his bottom was wound) he gathered up his Feet in the bed, and yielded up the Ghost, and was gathered unto his People. Caleb and Joshuah are said to be Men of excellent Spirits, because they were faithful in this their work. David was eminent this way, and had done his work before his death-day came. After he had served his own generation by the will of God, then he fell asleep. Which in the Old Testament is signified by three passages. 1. By his losing his heat before his death, thereby shewing his work for God was done, he now only waited to die. 2. By that passage, these are the last words of David even the wind up of all the Doctrins of that sweet Psalmist of Israel. 3. That in the Psalms is very significant, The Prayers of David the Son of Jesse are ended. In the whole they all do doubtless speak forth this in the main, that David made great conscience of walking with God, by labouring to drive his work before him, that his work and life might meet together; for that indeed is a good mans

wiſdom. Job had great conſcience alſo as to this very thing, as witneſs both Gods Teſtimony, and his own conſcience for him. Elijah had brought his work to that iſſue that he had but to anoint Haziel to be King of Aſſyria, Jehu to be King of Iſrael and Eliſha, Prophet in his room, and then to be caught up into Heaven. What ſhall I ſay? I might come to Hezekiah, Jehoſaphat, Joſias; with old Simeon alſo, whoſe days were lengthened chiefly, not becauſe he was behind with God and his conſcience as to his work for God in the World, but to ſee with his eyes now at laſt, the Lords Chriſt: a ſweet forefiting for death! Zacharias with Elizabeth his Wife (that good old couple alſo,) how tender and doubtful were they in this matter, to walk in all the Commandments and Ordinances of the Lord, in a bleſſed blameleſs way! Their Son alſo is not to be left out, who rather than he would be put out of his way, and hindred from fulfilling his courſe, would venture the loſs of the love of a King, and the loſs of his Head for a Word. All theſe with many more, are as ſo many mighty arguments for the praiſe of that I aſſerted before, to wit, that it is the duty and wiſdom of thoſe that fear God, ſo to manage their time and work that he hath here allotted unto them, that they not have part of their work to do when they ſhould be departing this World. I might urge alſo many reaſons to inforce this truth upon you, as,

First, Otherwiſe the great and chief deſign of God in ſending us into the World, eſpecially in converting us and poſſeſſing our Souls with gifts and graces, and many other benefits, that we might here be to the glory of his grace, is as much as in us lies, fruſtrate and diſappointed. This people have I formed for my ſelf, ſaith he, they ſhall ſhew forth my praiſe: and ſo again, you have not choſen me, but I have choſen you and ordained you that you ſhould go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit ſhould remain. God never intended when he covered thy nakedneſs with the righteouſneſs of his dear Son, and delivered thee from the condemning Power of ſin and the Law, that thou ſhouldeſt ſtill live as do thoſe who know not God. This I ſay therefore, ſaith Paul, and teſtify in the Lord; that ye hence forth walk not as other Gentiles, in the vanity of their mind. What, a Chriſtian, and live as does the World? a Chriſtian, and ſpend thy time, thy ſtrength and parts for things that periſh in the uſing? Remember Man, if the grace of God hath taken hold of thy Soul, thou art a Man of another World, and indeed, a Subject of another and more noble. Kingdom, the Kingdom of God which is the Kingdom of the Goſpel, of grace, of faith and righteouſneſs, and the Kingdom of Heaven hereafter; in theſe things thou ſhouldeſt exerciſe thy ſelf: Not making Heavenly things, which God hath beſtowed upon thee, to ſtoop to things that are of the World; but rather here beat down thy body, mortify thy members, hoiſt up thy mind to the things that are above, and practically hold forth before all the World that bleſſed Word of life. This, I ſay, is Gods deſign; this is the tendency, the natural tendency of every grace of God beſtowed upon thee; and herein is our Father glorified, that we bring forth much fruit.

Secondly, A ſecond reaſon why Chriſtians ſhould ſo manage their time and the work that God hath appointed them to do, for his name in this World, that they may not have part thereof to do when they ſhould be departing this World, it is becauſe, if they do not, dying will be an hard work with them, eſpecially if God awakeneth them about their neglect of their duty. The Way of God with his people is to viſit their ſins in this life; and the worſt time for thee to be viſited for them, is when thy life is ſmitten down, as it were, to the duſt of death, even when all natural infirmities break in like a Flood upon thee; Sickneſs, Fainting, Pains, Wearineſs and the like; now I ſay to be charged alſo with the neglect of duty, when in no capacity to do it; yea, when perhaps, ſo feeble, as ſcarce able to abide to hear thy deareſt friend in this life ſpeak to thee; Will not this make dying hard? yea, when thou ſhalt ſeem both in thine own eyes, as alſo in the eyes of others, to fall ſhort of the Kingdom of Heaven for this and the other tranſgreſſion; Will not this make dying hard? David found it hard, when he cried, O ſpare me a little, that I may recover ſtrength, before I go hence and be no more. David at this time was chaſtened for ſome iniquity; yea, brought for his folly to the doors of the ſhadow of death. But here he could not enter without great diſtreſs of mind; wherefore he cries out for reſpit, and time to do the Will of God, and the work allotted to him. So again, the pains of Hell caught hold upon me, the ſorrows of death compaſſed me about, and I found trouble and ſorrow; then I cried unto the Lord. Ay, this will make thee crie though thou be as good as David. Wherefore learn by his ſorrow, as he himſelf alſo learned, at laſt to ſerve his own generation by the Will of God, before he fell aſleep. God can tell how to pardon thy ſins, and yet make them ſuch a bitter thing, and ſo heavy a burden to thee, that thou wouldeſt not, if thou waſt but once diſtreſſed with it, come there again for all this World. Ah! it is eaſy with him to have this pardon in his boſom, when yet he is breaking all thy bones, and pouring out thy Gall upon the ground; yea, to ſhew himſelf then unto thee in ſo dreadful a Majeſty, that Heaven and Earth ſhall ſeem to thee to tremble at his preſence. Let then the thoughts of this prevail with thee, as a reaſon of great weight to provoke thee to ſtudy, to manage thy time and work in wiſdom while thou art well. 26

1 Cor. 11. 30, 31, 32.

Pſal. 39. 13.

Thirdly, Another reaſon why thoſe that fear God ſhould ſo manage their time and work for God in this World, that they may not have part to do when they ſhould be departing this life, it is becauſe loitering in thy work, doth as much as in it lieth, defer and hold back the ſecond coming of our Lord and Saviour Jeſus, Chriſt. One thing, amongſt many, that letteth the appearing of Chriſt in the Clouds of Heaven, is, his Body with the ſeveral Members thereof are not yet compleat and full; they are not all yet come to the knowledge of the Son of God, to the meaſure of the ſtature of the fulneſs of Chriſt, that is, to the compleat making up of his Body, for as Peter ſaith, the Lord is not ſlack concerning his promiſe, as ſome Men count ſlackneſs, but is long-ſuffering to us-ward, not 27

Eph. 4. 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13.

not willing that any ſhould periſh, but that all ſhould come to repentance, and ſo alſo to the compleat performance of all their duty, and work they have for God in this World. And I ſay, the faſter the work of converſion, repentance, faith, ſelf-denial, and the reſt of the Chriſtian duties aro performed by the Saints in their day, the more they make way for the coming of the Lord from Heaven. Wherefore,

2 Pet. 3. 9, 10, 11, 12. Peter ſaith again, ſeeing then that we look for ſuch things, what manner of Perſons ought we to be in all holy converſation and godlineſs, looking for, and haſtning unto, or as it is in the margent, haſtning the coming of the day of God, wherein the Heavens being on fire ſhall be diſſolved and the Elements

Rev. 19. ſhall melt with fervent heat; when the bride hath made her ſelf ready, the Marriage of the Lamb is come. That is, the Lord will then wait upon the World no longer, when his Saints are fit to receive him. As he ſaid to Lot when he

Gen. 9. 20, 21, 22. came to burn down Sodom, haſt thee to Zoar, for I can do nothing till thou be come thither. So concerning the great day of Judgment to the World which ſhall be alſo the day of bleſſedneſs, and reſt to the People of God, it cannot come until the Lambs Wife hath made her ſelf ready; until all the Saints that belong to glory are ready. And before I go further, what might I yet ſay to faſten this reaſon upon the truly gracious Soul? What! wilt thou yet loiter in the work of thy day? wilt thou ſtill be unwilling to haſten righteouſneſs? doeſt thou not know that thou by ſo doing deferreſt the coming of thy deareſt Lord? beſides, that is the day of his glory, the day when he ſhall come in the glory of his Father and of the holy Angels, and wilt not thou by thy diligence help it forwards? Muſt alſo the general aſſembly and Church of the firſt-born wait upon thee for their full portions of glory? Wilt thou by thus doing indeavour to keep them wrapt up ſtill in the Duſt of the Earth, there to dwell with the Worm and Corruption? The Lord awaken thee, that thou mayeſt ſee thy loitering doth do this, and doth alſo hinder thy own Soul of the inheritance prepared for thee.

28. Fourthly, Another reaſon why Saints ſhould preſs hard after a compleat performing their work that God hath allotted unto them, is, becauſe ſo far forth as they fall ſhort, in that they impair their own glory. For as the Lord hath commanded his people to work for him in this World; ſo alſo he of grace hath promiſed to reward whatever they Chriſtianly do. For whatſoever good thing any man doth, the ſame ſhall

Heb 6. 10. 2. Theſ. 1. 6, 7. he receive of the Lord, whether he be bound or free; yea, he counts it unrighteouſneſs to forget their work of faith and labour of Love, but a righteous thing to recompence them for it in the day of our Lord Jeſus. This well conſidered is of great force to prevail with thoſe that are covetous of glory, ſuch as. Moſes, and Paul, with the reſt of that Spirit. As the 1 Cor. 15. ult. Apoſtle ſaith alſo to the Saints at Corinth, be ſtedfaſt, unmovable, allways abounding in the work of the Lord, foraſmuch of you know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord.

Having thus given you the reaſons, why Gods People ſhould be diligent in that work that God hath allotted for them, to be doing for him in this World; I ſhall in the next place give you ſome directions, as helps to further you in this work. And they are ſuch as tend to take away thoſe hindrances that come upon thee either by diſcouragment, or by reaſon of hardneſs and benummedneſs of Spirit. For great hindrances overtake Gods People from both theſe impediments.

Firſt then, If thou wouldeſt be faithful to do that work that God hath allotted thee to do in this world for his name; labour to live much in the ſavour and ſenſe of thy freedom and liberty by Jeſus Chriſt. That is, keep this, if poſſible, ever before thee, that thou art a redeemed one, taken out of this World, and from under the curſe of the Law, out of the Power of the Devil, &c. and placed in a Kingdom of grace, and forgiveneſs of ſins for Chriſts ſake. This is of abſolute uſe in this matter; yea, ſo abſolute, that it is impoſſible for any Chriſtian to do his work Chriſtianly without ſome injoyment of it. For this in the firſt of Luke is made the very ground of all good works, both as to their nature and our continuance in them, and is alſo reckoned there an eſſential part of that Covenant, that God made with our Fathers; Even that he would grant unto us that we being delivered out of the hands of our Enemies, might ſerve him without fear, in Holineſs and righteouſneſs before him all the days of our life. And indeed, take this away, and what ground can there be laid for any Man to perſevere in good works? none at all. For take away grace and remiſſion of ſins for Chriſts ſake, and you leave Men nothing to help them but the terrors of the Law, and Judgment of God, which at beſt can beget but a ſervile and ſlaviſh Spirit in that Man in whom it dwells, which Spirit is ſo far off from being an help to us in our purſuit of good works, that it makes us we cannot indure that which is commanded, but Iſrael like, it flieth from God even as from the face of a Serpent. As Solomon ſaith, a Servant will not be corrected by words, for though he underſtand, he will not anſwer. Get thou then thy Soul poſſeſſed with the Spirit of the Son, and believe thou art ſet perfectly free by him from whatſoever thou by ſin haſt deſerved at the hand of revenging Juſtice. This Doctrin unlooſeth thy bands, takes off thy yoak and lets thee go upright. This Doctrin puts Spiritual and Heavenly inclinations into thy Soul, and the faith of this truth, doth ſhew thee, that God hath ſo ſurprized thee, and gon beyond thee with his bleſſed and everlaſting love that thou canſt not but reckon thy ſelf his debtor for ever. Therefore Brethren we are debtors, not to the fleſh to live after the fleſh: That argument of Paul to Philemon is here true in the higheſt degree, thou oweſt to God for his grace to thee, even thy whole ſelf beſides. This Paul further teſtifies both in the ſixth and ſeventh of the Romans. In the one he ſaith, we are free from ſin, in the other he ſaith, we are dead to the Law, that our fruit might be unto Holyneſs; that we might bring forth fruit unto God: For, as I ſaid, if either thy ungodly luſts, or the power and force of the Law have dominion over thy Spirit, thou art not in a condition now to be performing thy work to God in this World. I have heretofore marvelled at the quarelſom Spirit that poſſeſſed poſſeſſed the People that Malachi ſpeaketh of, how they found fault with, in a manner, all things that was commanded them to do: But I have ſince obſerved, their ungodly diſpoſition was grounded upon this their doubting of the love of God, .2. yet ye ſay, wherein haſt thou loved us? And indeed if People once ſay to God by way of doubt, wherein haſt thou loved thus, no marvel though that People be like thoſe in Malachi's time; a diſcontented murmuring backward People about every thing that is good. Read that whole Book of Malachi.

I SECONDLY, If thou wouldeſt be faithful to do that work that God hath allotted 96.9. thee to do in this World for his name; Then labour to ſee a beauty and glory in holineſs and in every good work, this tends much to the ingaging of thy heart. O worſhip the Lord in the beauty of holineſs; fear before him all the Earth: And for thy help in this, think much on this in general, that, thus ſaith the Lord, is the wind up of every command: For indeed much of the glory and beauty of duties doth lie in the glory and excellency of the perſon that doth command them; and hence it is, that Be it in acted by the Kings moſt Excellent Majeſty, is in the head of every Law, becauſe that Law ſhould therefore be reverenced by, and be made glorious and beautiful to all. And we ſee upon this very account what Power and place the precepts of Kings do take in the hearts of their Subjects, every one loving and reverencing the Statute becauſe there is the name of their King. Will you rebel againſt the King, is a word that ſhakes the World. Well then, turn theſe things about for an argument to the matter in hand, and let the name of God, ſeeing he is wiſer and better and of more glory and beauty than Kings, beget in thy heart a beauty in all things that are commanded thee of God. And indeed if thou do not in this act thus, thou wilt ſtumble at ſome of thy duty and work thou haſt to do; for ſome of the commands of God, are in themſelves in. 5. ſo mean and low, that take away the name of 16 God from them, and thou wilt do as Naaman the Syrian, deſpiſe inſtead of obeying. What is there in the Lords Supper, in Baptiſm, yea in preaching the word and prayer, were they not the appointments of God? His name being intailed to them, makes them every one glorious and beautiful. Wherefore, no marvel if he that looks upon them without their Title Page goeth away in a rage, like Naaman, preferring others before them. What is Jordan? Are not Abana and Pharpax, rivers of Damaſcus, better than all the waters in Iſrael, may I not waſh in them and 6.2, be clean, ſaith he? This was becauſe he remem- 20. 3. bred not that the name of God was in the com- ek. 3. 1, mand. Iſrael's Trumpets of Rams Horns, and 3. 4. Iſaiah's walking naked, and Ezekiel's Wars againſt a Tile, would doubtleſs have been ignoble acts, but that the name of God was that which gave them Reverence, Power, Glory and Beauty. Set therefore the name of God, and thus ſaith the Lord, againſt all reaſonings, defamings and reproaches that either by the World, or thy own heart thou findeſt to ariſe againſt thy duty, and let his Name and Authority alone be a ſuffici- al. 27. 4. ent argument with thee, to behold the beauty that he hath put upon all his ways, and to inquire in his Temple.

THIRDLY, Wouldeſt thou be faithful to do that work that God hath appointed thee to do in this World for his name? then make much of a trembling heart and conſcience; for though the Word be the line and rule whereby we muſt order and govern all our actions, yet a trembling Heart and tender Conſcience is of abſolute neceſſity for our ſo doing. A hard Heart can do nothing with the word of Jeſus Chriſt. Hear the word of the Lord, ye that tremble at his word; Iſa. 66. 5. ſerve the Lord with fear and rejoyce with trembling, Pſal. 2. I ſpake before againſt a ſervile and ſlaviſh frame 11. and Spirit, therefore you muſt not underſtand me here as if I meant now to cheriſh ſuch a one; no, it is a heart that trembleth for, or at the grace of God; and a conſcience made tender by the ſprinkling of the Blood of Chriſt. Such a conſcience as is awakened both by wrath and grace, by the terror and the mercy of God, for it ſtands with the Spirit of a Son to fear before his Father. Yea, to fear chaſtizings, though Job 31. not to fear damnation. Let therefore deſtruc- 20. on from God be a terror to thy heart, though not that deſtruction that attends them that periſh by Sin for ever. Though this I might add further; it may do thee no harm but good to caſt an Eye over thy Shoulder, at thoſe that now lye roaring under the vengeance of Eter- Iſa. 66. nal Fire; it may put thee in mind of what thou 24. waſt once, and of what thou muſt yet aſſuredly be, if grace by Chriſt preventeth not: Keep then thy Conſcience awake with Wrath and Grace, with Heaven and Hell; but let Grace and Heaven bear ſway. Paul made much of a tender conſcience, elſe he had never done as he did, nor ſuffered what we read of. But herein, ſaith Acts 24. he, I exerciſe my ſelf to have always a conſcience 15. void of offence towards God, and towards Men. But this could not a ſtony benummed, bribed, deluded, or a muzled conſcience do. Paul was like the Nightingale with his Breſt againſt the Thorn. That his Heart might ſtill keep waking, he would accuſtom himſelf to the meditation of them things that ſhould beget both love and fear; and would always be very chary leſt he offended his conſcience. Here- in do exerciſe my ſelf, &c.

BE diligent then in this matter, if thou wouldeſt be faithful with God. A tender conſci- Pro. 25. ence to ſome People is like Solomon's brawling Wo- 24. man, a burden to thoſe that have it: But let it Pſal. 122. be to thee like thoſe that invited David to go up 1. to the Houſe of the Lord. Hear it and cheriſh it with pleaſure and delight.

FOURTHLY, If thou wouldeſt be faithful to do that work that God hath appointed thee to do in this World for his name; then let Religion be the only buſineſs to take up thy thoughts and Eccle. 9. time. Whatſoever thy hand findeth to do, do it 10. with all thy might, with all thy heart, with all thy mind and with all thy ſtrength. Religion, to moſt Men, is but a by-buſineſs, with which they uſe to fill up ſpare Hours; or as a ſtalking Horſe, which is uſed to catch the game. How few are there in the World, that have their converſation only, as becomes the Goſpel! an heart ſound Philip. 1. in God's ſtatutes, an heart united to the fear 27. of God, an heart moulded and faſhioned by the Pſal. 119. word of God, is a rare thing. Rare, becauſe 80. 'tis hard to be found, and rare becauſe 'tis indeed Pſal. 86. 11.

Rom. 6. 17. the fruit of an excellent Spirit, and a token of one saved by the Lord. But this indifferency in Religion, this fashioning our selves in our language, gesture, behaviour, and carriage to the Fancies and Fopperies of this World, as it is in it self much unbecoming a People that should bear the name of their God in their foreheads; so it cannot but be a very great and sore obstruction to thy faithful walking with God in this World. Gird up then thy loins like a Man, let God and his Christ, and his Word and his People, and cause, be the chief in thy Soul; and as heretofore thou hast afforded this World the most of thy Time, and Travel, and Study, so now convert all these to the use of Religion. As you have yielded your Members servants to

Rom. 6. 19. uncleanness, and to iniquity, unto iniquity; even so now yield your Members servants to Righteousness, unto Holiness.

34 HOLY things must be in every heart where this is faithfully put in practice.

1. DAYLY bring thy heart and the Word of God together, that thy heart may be levelled by it, and also filled with it. The want of performing this sincerely is a great cause of that unfaithfulness that is in us to God. Bring then thy heart to the Word dayly, to try how thou believest the Word to day, to try how it agrees with the Word to day. This is the way to make clean work dayly, to keep thy Soul warm

Psal. 119. 9. and living dayly. Wherewithall shall a young Man cleanse his way? saith David, by taking

Psal. 17. 4. heed thereto according to thy Word. So again concerning the Works of Men, by the word of thy lips, I have kept me from the paths of the destroyer.

Pro. 23. 2. proneness that was in his flesh to carnal things. This will make thee keep the Knife at thy Throat in all places and business and company.

3. LET thy heart be more affected with what concerns the honor of God and the profit and glory of the Gospel, than with what are thy concernments as a Man, with all earthly advantages. This will make thee refuse things that are lawful, if they appear to be inexpedient. Yea, this will make thee, like the Apostles of old, prefer another mans peace and edification before thine own profit, and to take more pleasure in the increase of the Power of Godliness in any, than in the increase of thy Corn and Wine.

4. RECKON with thy own heart every day be fore thou lie down to sleep, and cast up both what thou hast received from God, done for him, and where thou hast also bin wanting. This will beget praise and humility, and put thee upon redeeming the day that is past; Whereby thou wilt be able, through the continual supplies of Grace, in some good measure, to drive thy work before thee; and to shorten it as thy life doth shorten, and mayest comfortably live in the hope of bringing both ends sweetly together. But to pass this,

5. IF thou wouldest be faithful to do that work, that God hath appointed thee to do in this World for his name; Then beware thou do not stop and stick when hard work comes before thee. It is with Christians as it is with other Scholars, they sometimes meet with hard Lessons, but these thou must also learn or thou canst not do thy work. The Word and Spirit of God comes sometimes like Chain-Shot to us, as if it would cut down all; as when Abraham was to offer up Isaac, and the Levites to slay their Brethren. Paul also must go from place to place to Preach, though he knew beforehand he was to be afflicted there. God may sometimes say to thee, as he said to his Servant Moses, take the Serpent by the Tail; or as the Lord Jesus said to Peter, walk upon the Sea. These are hard things, but have not been rejected when God hath called to do them. O how willingly would our Flesh and Blood escape the Cross for Christ! The comforts of the Gospel, the sweetness of the promise, how pleasing is it to us! like Ephraim here, we love to tread out the Corn, and to hear those pleasant Songs and Musick that Gospel Sermons make where only grace is Preached, and nothing of our duty as to works of self-denial; but as for such God will tread upon their fair Neck, and Yoak them with Christs Yoak; for there they have a Work to do, even a Work of self-denial.

NOW this Work sometimes lieth in acts that seem to be desperate, as when a Man must both leave and hate his life, and all he hath for Christ, or else he cannot serve him nor be counted his Disciple.

THUS it seemed with Christ himself when he went his fatal Journey up to Jerusalem, he went thither as he knew, to die, and therefore trod every step as it were in his own Bowels, but yet no doubt with great temptation to shun and avoid that voiage; and therefore it is said he set his Face stedfastly to go up, scorning to be invited to the contrary, and to prevent the noise of his weak Disciples, Master save thy self. It is said he ascended before them, insomuch that they were amazed to see his resolution, while they themselves were afraid of that dreadful effect that might follow; also when he came there and was to be apprehended, he went to the Garden that Judas knew, his old accustomed place: So when they asked him the killing question, he answered, I am he.

SOMETIMES in acts that seem to be Foolish, as when Men denie themselves of those comforts and Pleasures and Friendships and honours of the World that formerly they used to have, and chuse rather to associate themselves with the very abjects of this World; I mean such as Carnal Men count so, counting their ways and manners of life though attended with a thousand Calamities, more profitable and pleasing and delightful, than all former glory. Thus Eliſha left his Father's Houſe though to pour water upon the hands of Elijah, and thus the Diſciples left their Fathers Ships and Nets, to love a beggerly life with Jeſus Chriſt. As Paul did leave the Feet of Gamaliel for the Whip, and the Stocks and the Deaths that attended the bleſſed Goſpel. One would have thought that had been a ſimple way of Peter, to leave all for Chriſt before he knew what Chriſt would give him; as that 19th. of Matthew ſeems to import; but Chriſt will have it ſo. He that will ſave his life, muſt loſe it; and he that will loſe his life in this World for Chriſt, ſhall keep it to life eternal. I might add many things of this nature, to ſhew you what hard Chapters ſometimess God ſets his beſt People: But thy work is, if thou wouldeſt be faithful, not to ſtop nor ſtick at any thing. Some when they come at the Croſs, they will either there make a ſtop and go no further; or elſe, if they can, ſtep over it, if not they will go round about; do not thou do this; but take it up, and kiſs it, and bear it after Jeſus. God forbid, ſaith Paul, that I ſhould glory, ſave in the Croſs of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, by whom the World is Crucified unto me, and I unto the World. Now for thy better performing this piece of ſervice for our Lord and Saviour Jeſus Chriſt.

O 'tis hard Work to pocket up the reproaches of all the fooliſh People, as if we had found great ſpoil, and to ſuffer all their revilings, lies and ſlanders, without curſing them, as Eliſha did the Children; to anſwer them with prayers, and bleſſings for their curſings. It is far more eaſy to give them taunt for taunt and reviling for reviling; to give them blow for blow; yea, to call for Fire from Heaven againſt them: But to bleſs them that curſe us, and to pray for them that deſpitefully uſe and perſecute us even of malice, of old grudge, and on purpoſe to vex and afflict our mind, and to make us break out into a rage, this is work above us; now our patience ſhould look up to unſeen things; now remember Chriſt his carriage to them that ſpilt his Blood; or all is in danger of burſting, and thou of miſcarrying in theſe things.

I might here alſo dilate upon Job's Caſe and the Leſſon God ſet him, when at one ſtroak he did beat down all, only ſpared his life, but made that alſo ſo bitter to him, that his Soul choſe ſtrangling rather than it. O when every providence of God unto thee is like the Meſſengers of Job, and the laſt to bring more heavy Tidings than all that went before him; when Life, Eſtate, Wife, Children, Body and Soul, and all at once, ſeem to be ſtruck at by Heaven and Earth; here are hard Leſſons: Now to behave my ſelf even as a weaned Child, now to ſay the Lord giveth and the Lord hath taken away, and bleſſed be the name of Lord. Thus with few Words Job aſcribeth righteouſneſs to his Maker; but though they were but few, they proceeded from ſo bleſſed a frame of heart, that cauſeth the Pen-man of the Word to ſtay himſelf and wonder, ſaying, in all this Job ſinned not with his Lips, nor charged God fooliſhly, in all this. What a great deal will the Holy Ghoſt make of that, which ſeems but little when it flows from an upright heart, And it indeed may well be ſo accounted of all that know what is in Man, and what he is prone unto.

1. LABOUR, To believe that all theſe things are tokens of the love of God. 38 Heb. 12. 6.
2. REMEMBER often that thou art not the firſt that hath met with theſe things in the World: It hated me, ſaith Chriſt, before it hated you. Rev. 3. 19. Joh. 15. 18.
3. ARM thy ſelf with a patient and quiet mind to bear and ſuffer for his ſake. 1 Pet. 4. 1, 2, 3.
4. LOOK back upon thy provocations wherewith thou mayeſt have provoked God; then wilt thou accept of the puniſhment for thy Sins, and confeſs it was leſs than thine iniquities deſerve. Deut. 9.7. Levit. 26. 41, 42. Ezra 9. 13.
5. PRAY thou mayeſt hear the voice of the Rod, and have an heart to anſwer the end of God therein. Mic. 6. 9.
6. REMEMBER the promiſe; all things ſhall work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpoſe. Rom. 8. 28.
7. IF thou wouldeſt be faithful to do that work that God hath appointed thee to do in this World for his name; Then labour alway to poſſeſs thy heart with a right underſtanding, both of the things that this World yieldeth, and of the things that ſhall be hereafter. I am confident that moſt, if not all the miſcarriages of the Saints and People of God, they have their riſe from deceivable thoughts here. The things of this World appear to us more, and thoſe that are to come, leſs than they are; and hence it is that many are ſo hot and eager for things that be in the World, and ſo cold and heartleſs for thoſe that be in Heaven. Satan is here a mighty Artiſt, and can ſhew us all earthly things in a multiplying Glaſs; but when we look up to things above, we ſee them as through Sackcloath of hair: But take thou heed, be not ruled by thy ſenſual appetite that can only ſavour fleſhly things, neither be thou ruled by carnal reaſon, which always darkneth the things of Heaven. But go to the Word, and as that ſays, ſo judg thou. That tells thee all things under the Sun are vanity, nay worſe, vexation of Spirit; That tells thee the World is not, even then when it doth moſt appear to be: Wilt thou ſet thine heart upon that which is not? for riches certainly make themſelves Wings and fly away as an Eagle towards Heaven. The ſame may be ſaid for honours, pleaſures and the like, they are poor, low, baſe things to be entertained by a Chriſtians heart. The Man that hath moſt of them may in the fulneſs of his ſufficiency be in ſtraits. Yea, when he is about to fill his Belly with them, God may caſt the fury of his wrath upon him; ſo is every one that layeth up treaſure for himſelf on Earth and is not rich towards God. An Horſe that is loaden with Gold and Pearls all day, may have a foul Stable and a gauled back at night. And wo be to him that increaſeth that which is not his, and that ladeth himſelf with thick Clay. O Man of God, throw this Bone to the Dogs, ſuck not at it, there is no Marrow there. Set thine affections on things that are above, where Chriſt ſitteth on the right hand of God. Behold, what God hath prepared for them that love him. And if God hath bleſſed thee with ought; ſet not thy heart upon it, honour the Lord with thy ſubſtance; labour to be rich in 39 Eccleſ. 1. 2. Pro. 23. 4. 5. 40 Job 20. 22, 23, 24, 25. good Works, ready to distribute, willing to communi-
1 Tim. 6. 17, 18, 19. cate, laying up in store a good foundation for the time to come, that thou mayest lay hold on Eternal Life. Further to lighten thine eyes a little; and first concerning the glory of the World.

41. 1 Cor. 1. 26. 1. IT is that which God doth mostly give to those that are not his; for the poor receive the Gospel, not many rich, not many mighty, not many noble are called.

2. MUCH of this World and its glory is permitted of God to be disposed of by the Joh. 14. 30. Devil, and he is called both the Prince and God thereof: yea, when Satan told Christ, he could 2 Cor. 4. 4. give it to whom he would, Christ did not say Luke 4. 6, 7, 8. thou liest; but answered, by the Word it is written thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve. Implying also, that commonly when Men get much of the Honours and glory of this World, it is by bending the Knee too low to the Prince and God thereof.

Rom. 8. 6, 7. 1 Joh. 2. 15. 1 Tim. 6. 9, 10, 11, 12. 3. THE nature of the best of Wordly things, if hankered after, is to deaden the Spirit, to estrange the heart from God, to pierce thee thorough with many sorrows, and to drown thee in perdition and destruction. O man of God flie these things, and follow after righteousness, godliness, faith, love, patience, meekness. And fight the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life, whereunto thou art also called, &c.

42. SECONDLY, As to the things of God, what shall I say? the things of his Word, and Spirit, and Kingdom, they so far go beyond the conceivings of the Heart of Man, that none can utter them but by the Holy Spirit; there is no deceit in them, no lie is of the truth, what they
1 Joh. 2. 21. promise they will perform with additions of amazing glory. Taste them first, and then thou Psal. 34. 8. shalt see them, O come taste and see that the Lord is good; blessed is the Man that trusteth in him.

TO stoop low, is a good work (which is an act of thine,) if it be done in faith and love; though but by a Cup of cold Water it is really more worth in it self and of higher esteem with God, than all worldly and perishing glory: There is no comparison, the one perisheth with 2 Cor. 4. 17. the using; and for the other is laid up a far more exceeding and eternal Weight of glory.

43. BUT again, as thou shouldest labour to possess thy Heart with a right understanding, of the perishing nature of the riches and pleasures of this World, and of the durable riches and righteousness that is in Christ, and all heavenly things; so thou shouldest labour to keep always in thy Eye, what Sin is, what Hell is, what the wrath of God, and everlasting burnings are; Transfer them to thy self, as it were on a Finger, that thou mayest learn to think of nothing more highly than is meet, but to give to what thou beholdest their own due weight; then thou wilt fear, where thou shouldest fear, love what is worth thy love, and slight that which is of no worth. These are just Weights and even Balances; now thou dealest not with deceitful Weights; and this is the way to be rich in good works, and to bring thy work, that God hath appointed, to a good issue, against thy dying day.

44. SEVENTHLY, but again; If thou wouldest be faithfully to do that work that God hath appointed thee to do, in this World, for his name, then beware that thou slip not, or let pass by the present opportunity that Providence layeth before thee; work while it is called to day, Joh. the Night comes when no Man can work. In that parable of the Man that took a far Journey, it is said; As he gave to every servant his work, so Matth. 24. he commanded the Porter to watch, that is, for his Lords coming back; and, in the mean time, for all opportunities to perform the work he left in their hand, and committed unto their trust. Seest thou the poor, seest thou the fatherless, seest thou thy foe in distress; draw Rom. 12. out thy breast, shut not up thy Bowels of compassion, deal thy Bread to the hungry, bring the poor that are cast out, into thine House, Isa. hide not thy self from thine own flesh, take the opportunity that presents it self to thee; either by the Eye, or the hearing of the Ear, or by some godly motion that passeth over thy heart; say not to such messengers, go and come again Pro. to morrow, if thou hast it by thee, now the opportunity is put into thy hand, delay not to do it, and the Lord be with thee. Good. Opportunities are Gods seasons for the doing of thy work; wherefore watch for them and take them as they come. Paul tells us, he was in 2 Cor. watchings often; surely it was, That he might 26. take the season that God should give him to do this work for him; As he also saith to Timothy, watch thou in all things, do the work, &c. Opportunities, as to some things, come but once in ones life time, as in the case of Esther, and of Nicodemus, and Holy Joseph; when Esther begged the Life of the Jews, and the other the Body of Jesus, which once had they let slip or neglected, they could not have recovered it again for ever; Watch then for the opportunity.

FIRST, Because it is Gods season; which 45. without doubt is the best season and time for Eccles. every purpose. 10, 11.

SECONDLY, Because Satan watches to spoil, by mistiming as well as by corrupting, whatever thou shalt do for God: When I would do good, saith Paul, evil is present; that is, Rom. either to withdraw me from my purpose, or else to infect my work.

THIRDLY, this is the way to be profitable unto others. Thy wickedness may hurt Job a Man, as thou art, and thy righteousness may profit the Son of Man.

FOURTHLY, this is also the way to be doing good to thy self. He that watereth shall be Pro. watered himself; Cast thy Bread upon the Waters; 25. for thou shalt find it after many days. As God said Job to Coniah, did not thy father eat and drink, and do Eccl. judgment and justice, and then it was well with him? 1, 2. He judged the cause of the poor and needy, then Deut. it went well with him. 10. Jer. 16.

AND I say, That the opportunity may not slip thee, either for want of care or provision.

1. SIT always loose from an overmuch affecting thine own concernments, and 46. believe, that thou wast not born for thy Pro. self; a Brother is born for adversity. 17.

2. GET thy heart tenderly affected with the wellfare and prosperity of all 2 Cor. things, that bear the Stamp and Image of 5. God.

3. STUDY

3. STUDY thy own place and capacity that God hath put thee in, in this World; for suitable to thy place, thy work and opportunities are.

4. MAKE provision before-hand, that when things present themselves, thou mayest come up to a good performance; be prepared to every good work.

5. TAKE heed of Carnal reasonings, keep thy heart tender; but set thy face like a Flint for God.

6. AND look well to the manner of every duty.

EIGHTLY, Wouldest thou be faithful, to do that work that God hath appointed thee to do, in this World, for his name; believe then, that whatever good thing thou doest for him, if done according to the Word, it is not only accepted by him now, but recorded, to be remembred for thee, against the time to come; yea, laid up for thee as treasure in Chests and Coffers, to be brought out to be rewarded before both Men and Angels to thy Eternal comfort by Jesus Christ our Lord. Lay not up, saith Christ, treasures on Earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where Thieves break through and steal; But lay up for your selves treasures in Heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where Thieves do not break through and steal. The treasure, that here our Lord commands, we should with diligence lay up in Heaven, is found both in Luke and Paul and Peter, to be meant by doing good Works.

1. LUKE renders it thus, Sell that you have and give alms; provide your selves bags that wax not old, a treasure in the Heavens that fadeth not, where no Thief approacheth, nor moth corrupteth: The latter part of the verse expounding the former.

2. PAUL, saith thus, charge them that be rich in this World, That they be not high minded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us all things richly to enjoy: That they do good, that they be RICH IN GOOD WORKS, ready to distribute, willing to communicate; Laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life.

3. PETER also acknowledgeth, and asserteth this, where, in his Exhortation to Elders to do their duty faithfully and with chearfulness; he affirms, if they do so, They shall receive a Crown of glory that fadeth not away, which Paul also calleth, a reward for chearful work, and that as an act of Justice by the hand of a righteous Judg, in the day when the Lord shall come to give reward to his servants the Prophets, and to his Saints, and to all that fear his name small and great; for every Man shall receive his own reward according to his own labour.

BUT before I go any further, I must answer three objections that may be made by those that read this Book.

THE first is this, Some godly heart may say, I dare not own, that what I do shall ever be regarded, much less rewarded by God in an other World, because of the unworthiness of my person, and because of the many infirmities and sinful weaknesses that attend me in every duty.

Answer. THIS objection is built partly upon a bashful Modesty, partly upon ignorance and partly upon unbelief. My answer to it is as followeth.

1. YOU must remind and look back to what but now hath been proved, namely, That both Christ and his Apostles do all agree in this; that there is a reward for the righteous; and that their good deeds are laid up as treasure for them in Heaven, and are certainly to be bestowed upon them in the last day with abundance of eternal glory.

2. NOW then, to speak to thy case, and to remove the bottom of thy objection, that the unworthyness of thy person, and thy sinful infirmities, that attend thee in every duty, do make thee think thy works shall not be either regarded, or rewarded in another World. But consider first, as to the unworthiness of thy Person.

1. THEY that are in Christ Jesus are always compleat before God, in the righteousness that Christ hath obtained, how infirm and weak and wicked soever they appear to themselves: Before God therefore in this righteousness thou standest all the day long, and that upon a double account; first by the act of faith, because thou hast believed in him that thou mightest be justified by the righteousness of Christ: but if this fail, I mean the act of believing, still thou standest justified by Gods imputing this righteousness to thee; which imputation standing purely upon the grace and good pleasure of God to thee, that holds thee still as Just before God, though thou wantest at present the comfort thereof; thus therefore thy Person stands always accepted; and indeed no Mans works can at all be regarded, if his Person in the first place be not respected. The Lord had respect first to Abel, and after to his offering; but he can have respect to no Man before works done, unless he find them in the righteousness of Christ, for they must be accepted through a righteousness; which because they have none of their own, therefore they have one of Gods imputing, even that of his Son, which he wrought for us when he was born of the Virgin, &c.

50. Gen. 4. 4. Heb. 11. 4.

2. AS to thy sinful infirmities that attend thee in every work, they cannot hinder thee from laying up treasure in Heaven, thy heart being upright in the way with God; nor will he be unrighteous at all to forget thy good deeds in the day when Christ shall come from Heaven.

51.

1. BECAUSE by the same reason then he must disown all the good works of all his Prophets and Apostles, for they have all been attended with weaknesses and sinful infirmities; from the beginning hitherto there is not a Man, not a Just Man upon the Earth that doth good and sinneth not; the best of our Works are accompanied with sin; when I would do good, saith Paul, evil is present with me. This therefore must not hinder. And for thy further satisfaction in this consider,

52. Eccles. 7. 20. Rom. 7. 21.

As Christ presents thy Person before God acceptable without thy works, freely and alone by his righteousness, so his office is to take away the iniquity of thy holy things, that they also by him may be accepted of God; wherefore it is further said for the incouragement of the weak and feeble, he shall not break a bruised reed nor quench the smoaking Flax, but shall bring forth Judgment unto unto victory: The bruised Reed you know is weak, and by bruises we should understand sinful infirmities. And so also concerning the smoaking Flax, by smoaking you must understand sinful weakness; but none of these shall neither hinder the Justification of thy Person, nor the acceptation of thy performance, they being done in faith and love, let thy temptations be never so many, because of Jesus Christ, his Priestly Office now at the right hand of God; by him therefore let us offer Spiritual Sacrifices; for they shall be acceptable to God and our Father.

53. Rev. 22. 12. 2. BECAUSE otherwise God and Christ would prove false to their own word, which is horrible Blasphemy once to imagine, who hath promised that when the Son of God shall come to Judgment, he shall render to every Man according to his Works, and doth upon this very account incourage his Servants to a patient indureing of the hottest persecutions. For great is your reward in Heaven. From this also he bindeth his Saints and Servants to be sincerely liberal and good and kind to all; first because otherwise they have no reward of their Father which is in Heaven, that is, for what they do not; but if they do it, then though it be but a cup of cold Water given to a Prophet or righteous Man, they shall receive a Prophets reward, a righteous Mans reward; yea, they shall receive it in any wise, they shall in no wise lose their reward.

Mat. 5. 12. Luke 6. 23, 35. Mat. 6. 1. Mat. 10. 41, 42.

3. IT must be so; otherwise he should deny a reward to the works and operations of his own good grace he hath freely bestowed upon us; but that he will not do, he is not unfaithful to forget your work of faith and labour of love; and so of all other graces our work shall not be in vain in the Lord; and as I said before, temptations weaknesses and sins shall not hinder the truly gracious, of this their blessed reward. Nay, they shall further it (if need be;) you are in heavinesse through manifold temptations; that the trial of your faith being much more precious than of Gold that perisheth, might be found unto praise and honour and Glory at the appearing of Jesus Christ. And the reason is, because the truth and sincerity of Gods grace in us doth so much the more discover it self, by how much it is opposed and resisted by weakness and sin. It is recorded to the everlasting renown of three of Davids Mighties, that they would break through an host of Giant-like Enemies, to fetch water for their longing King. For it bespake their valour, their love and good will to him: The same also is true, concerning thy graces and every act of them when assaulted with an host of weaknesses.

Heb. 6. 10. 1 Cor. 15. 58. 1 Pet. 1. 6, 7. 1 Chron. 11. 15, 16, 17, 18.

54. The second objection. AND now I came to the second Objection, and that ariseth from our being compleatly justified freely by the grace of God through Christ; and by the same means alone brought to glory. And may be framed thus,

BUT seeing we are freely Justified, and brought to glory by free grace through the redemption that is in Jesus Christ; and seeing the glory that we shall be possessed of upon the account of the Lord Jesus, is both full and compleat, both for happiness and continuing therein, what need will there be that our work should be rewarded? nay, may not the Doctrin of reward for good works be here not only needless, but indeed an imparing and lessening the compleatness of that glory, to which we are brought (and in which we shall live inconceivably happy for ever) by free grace?

55. THAT we are Justified in the sight of the Divine Majesty, from the whole lump of our sins, both past, present, and to come, by free grace, through that one offering of the body of Jesus Christ, once for all, I bless God I believe it; and that we shall be brought to glory by the same grace, through the same most blessed Jesus, I thank God by his grace I believe that also. Again, that the glory to which we shall be brought, by free grace, through the only merits of Jesus, is unspeakably glorious and compleat, I question no more than I question the blessed truths but now confessed. But yet notwithstanding all this, there is a reward for the righteous, a reward for their works of faith and love, whether in a doing or suffering way, and that not principally to be enjoyed here, but hereafter, great is your reward in Heaven, as I proved in the answer to the first objection. And now I shall answer further.

FIRST, If this reward had been an imparing or derogation to the free grace of God that saveth us, he would never have mentioned it for our incouragement unto good works, nor have added a promise of reward for them that do them, nor have counted himself unfaithful if he should not do it.

SECONDLY, The same may be said concerning Jesus Christ, who doubtless loveth and tendereth the honour of his own merits, as much as any who are saved by him can do; whether they be in Heaven or Earth, yet he hath promised a reward to a Cup of cold water, or giving of any other alms; and hath further told us, They that do these things they do lay up treasure in Heaven, namely a reward when their Lord doth come, then to be received by them to their Eternal comfort.

56. THIRDLY, Paul was as great a maintainer of the Doctrin of Gods free grace and of Justification from sin, by the righteousnes of Christ imputed by grace, as any he that ever lived in Christs service, from the Worlds beginning till now; and yet he was for this Doctrin, he expected himself, and incouraged others also to look for such a reward, for doing and suffering for Christ, which he calls, a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory. Surely, as Christ saith in a case not for distant from this in hand, if it were not so he would have told us. Now could I tell what those rewards are that Christ hath prepared, and will one day bestow upon those that do for him in faith and love in this World, I should therein also say more than now I dare or ought; yet this let me say in general, they are such as should make us leap to think on, and that we should remember with exceeding joy, and never think that it is contrary to the Christian faith, to rejoyce and be glad for that which yet we understand not. Beloved, now are we the Sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be, &c. But every one that hath his hope in him, namely, that he shall be more than here he can imagine, purifieth himself even as he is pure.

4. poſſible for any here to know it any further, than by certain general Words of God ſuch as theſe,
5. praiſe, honour, glory, a Crown of righteouſneſs, a Crown of Glory, Thrones, Judging of Angels,
5. 36. a Kingdom with a far more exceeding and eternal Weight of glory &c.

25: 39, WHEREFORE to both theſe objections let me yet anſwer thus a few Words. Though thy modeſty or thy opinion will not ſuffer thee to look for a reward for what thou doeſt here for thy Lord by the Faith and Love of the Goſpel: Yea, though in the day of Judgment thou ſhouldſt there ſlight all thou didſt on Earth for thy Lord, ſaying when, Lord, when did we do it? he will anſwer then, even then when ye did it to the leaſt of theſe my Brethren, ye did it unto me.

BUT is not the reward that God hath promiſed to his Saints for their good Works, to be injoyed only here? for concerning Holy walking according to Gods command, yieldeth even here a bundance of bleſſed Fruits, as he ſaith, in keeping of them there is great reward; and again, this Man ſhall be bleſſed in his deed, that is, now even in this time, as he ſaith in another place; for indeed there is ſo much goodneſs and bleſſedneſs to be found in a Holy and godly Life, that were a Man to have nothing hereafter, the preſent comfort and glory that lieth as the Juice in the Grape, in all things rightly done for God, it were ſufficient to anſwer all all our travel and ſelf-denial in our work of Faith, and labour of love to do the Will of God.

DOEST thou love thy Friends, doeſt thou love thine Enemies, doeſt thou love thy Family or Relations, or the Church of God; then cry for ſtrength from Heaven, and for wiſdom, and an heart from Heaven to walk wiſely before them. For if a Man be remiſs, negligent and careleſs in his converſation, not much mattering whom he offends, diſpleaſes or diſcourages by doing this or that, ſo he may ſave himſelf, pleaſe his fooliſh heart, and get this World, or the like, this Man hath loſt a good report of them that are without, and is fallen into reproach and the ſnare of the Devil. He is fallen
3. into reproach, and is ſlighted, diſdained, both he, his profeſſion and all he ſays, either by way of reproof, rebuke or exhortation; Phiſician cure thy ſelf, ſay all to ſuch a one; this Man is a ſayer, but not a doer, ſay they; he believeth not what he ſays. Yea, Religion it ſelf is made to ſtink by this Mans ungodly life. This is he that hardens his Children, that ſtumbleth the World, that grieveth the tender and godly Chriſtian; but, I ſay, he that walketh uprightly, that tenders the name of God, the credit of the Goſpel, and the welfare of others, ſeeking with Paul, not his own profit, but the profit of others, that they may be ſaved; This Man holds forth the Word of Life, this Man is a good ſavour of Chriſt amongſt them that are ſaved. Yea, may prove by ſo doing the inſtrument in Gods Hand of the Salvation of many Souls.

THIRDLY, This is the way to be clear from the Blood of all Men, the way not to be charged with the ruin and everlaſting miſery of poor immortal Souls. Great is the danger that attends an ungodly life, or any ungodly action, by them that profeſs the Goſpel. When wicked Men learn to be wicked of profeſſors, when profeſſors cauſe the Enemies of God to Blaſpheme; doubtleſs ſad and woful effects muſt needs be the fruit of ſo doing. How many in Iſrael were deſtroyed for that which Aaron, Gideon, and Manaſſeth unworthily did in their day? A godly Man if he take not heed to himſelf, may do that in his life that may fend many to everlaſting burnings, when he himſelf is in everlaſting bliſs. But on the contrary, let Men walk with God, and here they ſhall be excuſed; the Blood of them that periſh ſhall lie at their own door, and thou ſhalt be clear. I am pure from the Blood of all Men, ſaith Paul; and again, your Blood be upon your own head, I am clean. Yea, he that doth thus ſhall leave in them that periſh an accuſing conſcience, even begotten by his good converſation, and by that they ſhall be forced to Juſtify God, his People and way, in the day of their viſitation; in the day when they are deſcending into the pit to the damned. 59.

FOURTHLY, This is the way to maintain always the anſwer, the Ecchoing anſwer of a good conſcience in thy own Soul. Godlineſs is of great uſe this way, for the Man that hath a good conſcience to Godward, hath a continual feaſt in his own Soul. While others ſay there is caſting down, he ſhall ſay there is lifting up, for he ſhall ſave the humble Perſon. Some indeed in the midſt of their profeſſion are reproached, ſmitten and condemned of their own heart, their conſcience ſtill biting and ſtinging of them becauſe of the uncleanneſs of their hands, and they cannot lift up their face unto God, they have not the anſwer of a good conſcience toward him, but muſt walk as perſons falſe to their God, and as Traitors to their own eternal welfare; but the godly upright Man ſhall have the light ſhine upon his ways, and he ſhall take his ſteps in Butter and Hony. The work of righteouſneſs ſhall be peace, and the effect of righteouſneſs, quietneſs and aſſurance forever. If our heart condemn us, God is greater than our hearts and knoweth all things; Beloved, if our hearts condemn us not, then have we confidence towards God. 60.

FIFTHLY, The godly Man that walketh with God, that chiefly careth to do the work that God hath allotted him to do for his name in this World, he hath not only theſe advantages, but further, he hath as it were a priviledge of Power with God, he can ſway much with him; as it it ſaid of Jacob, as a Prince he had Power with God to prevail in times of difficulty; and ſo again tis ſaid of Judah, being faithful with the Saints, they ruled with God. How many times did that good Man Moſes turn away the wrath of God from the many thouſands of Iſrael; yea, as it were he held the Hands of God, and ſtaved off the Judgments not once nor twice; the effectual fervent prayer of a righteous 61.

Sam. 5. 16.

righteous Man availeth much. One Man that walketh much with God, may work wonders in this very thing, he may be a means of saving whole Countreys and Kingdoms from those Judgments their sins deserve. How many times when Israel provoked the Lord to anger, did he yet defer to destroy them? and the reason of that forbearance, he tells them, it was for Davids sake; for my servant Davids sake, I will not do it. As the Lord said also concerning Paul, Lo, God hath given thee all them that sail with thee: That is, to save their lives from the rage of the Sea. Yea, when a Judgment is not only threatned, but the Decree gon forth for its execution, then godly upright Men may sometimes cause the very Decree it self to cease without bringing forth; or else may so time the Judgment that is decreed, that the Church shall best be able to bear it.

Acts 27. 23, 24.
Mat. 24. 20.

62. SIXTHLY, The Man that is tender of Gods glory in this World, still ruling and governing his affairs by the Word, and desirous to be faithful to the work and imployment that God hath appointed him to do for his name; that Man shall still be let into the secrets of God; he shall know that which God will reserve and hide from many; shall I hide from Abraham the thing that I do, saith the Lord? For I know him that he will command his Children and his houshold after him, and they shall keep the way of the Lord, &c. So again, The secret of the Lord is with them that fear him: and he will shew them his covenant. And to him that ordereth his conversation aright will I shew the salvation of God. Such a Man shall have things new as well as old. His converse with the Father and the Son and the Spirit shall be turned into a kind of familiarity; he shall be led into the Word, and shall still increase in knowledge: When others shall be stinted and look with old faces, being black and dry as a stick, he shall be like a Fatted Calf, like the Tree that is Planted by the Rivers of Water, his flesh shall be fresh as the flesh of a Child, and God will renew the Face of his Soul.

Gen. 18. 17, 18, 19.
Psal. 50. 23.

63. SEVENTHLY, If any escape publick Calamities, usually they are such as are very tender of the name of God, and that make it their business to walk before him. They either escape by being mercifully taken away before it, or by being safely preserved in the midst of the Judgment, until the indignation be over-past. Therefore God saith in one place, the righteous are taken away from the evil to come; but if not so, as all be not, then they shall have their Life for a prey. Caleb and Joshua escaped all the plagues that befel to Israel in the wilderness, for they followed God. Somewhat of this you have also in that Scripture, Seek the Lord all ye meek of the Earth, which hath wrought his Judgments, seek righteousness, seek meekness, it may be, ye shall be hid in the day of the Lords anger. According to this is that in Luke, Watch therefore and pray always, that you may be accounted worthy to escape all these things that shall come to pass, and to stand before the Son of Man. When a Mans ways please the Lord he will make his Enemies to be at peace with him. Marvelous is the work of God in the preservation of his Saints (that are faithful with him) when dangers and Calamities come; As Joseph, David, Jeremiah, and Paul, with many others may appear: He shall deliver thee in six troubles; yea, in seven there shall no evil touch thee. In famine he shall redeem thee from death; and in War, from the power of the Sword. Thou shalt be hid from the scourge of the tongue, neither shalt thou be afraid of destruction when it cometh.

Jer. 39. 15, 16, 17, 18.
Numb. 14. 21, 22, 23, 24.
Zeph. 2. 1, 2, 3.
Luke 21. 34, 35, 36.
Job 5.

EIGHTHLY, If afflictions do over-take thee; for whom the Lord loveth he chastneth, and scourgeth every Son whom he receiveth; Yet those afflictions shall not befal thee, for those causes for which they befal the sloathful and backsliding Christian; neither shall they have that pinching and gauling operation upon thee, as on those who have left their first love and tenderness for Gods glory in the World.

1. UPON the faithful upright Man (though he also may be corrected and chastised for sin, yet I say he abiding close with God) afflictions come rather for trial and for the exercise of grace received, than as rebukes for this or that wickedness; when upon the blacksliding heartless Christian these things shall come from Fatherly anger and displeasure, and that for their sins against him. Job did acknowledge himself a sinner, and that God therefore might chastise him; but yet he rather believed it was chiefly for the trial of his grace, as indeed and in truth it was: He is a perfect Man, saith God to Satan, and one that feareth God, and escheweth evil, and holdeth still his integrity, although thou movest me against him to destroy him without cause. God will not say thus of every one when affliction is laid upon them, though they yet may be his Children; but rather declareth and pronounceth that it is for their transgressions, because they have wickedly departed from him.

Job 10.
Job 1.
Phil. 4, 5.

2. NOW affliction arising from these two causes, their effects in the manner of their working (though Grace turns them both for good) is very different one from the other; he who hath been helped to walk with God, is not assaulted with those turnings and returnings of guilt when he is afflicted, as he who hath basely departed from God; the one can plead his integrity when the other blusheth for shame. See both these cases in one person, even that goodly beloved David. When the Lord did rebuke him for sin, then he cries, O Blood guiltiness, O cast me not away from thy presence. But when he at another time knew himself guiltless (though then also sorely afflicted) behold with what boldness he turns his face unto God; O Lord my God, saith he, if I have done this; if there be iniquity in my hands; if I have rewarded evil unto him that was at peace with me; (yea, I delivered him that without cause was mine Enemy) Let the Enemy persecute my Soul, and take it; yea, let him tread down my life to the Earth, and lay mine honour in the dust. Selah. &c.

Phil. 6.
Psal. 7. 3, 4, 5.

THIS therefore must needs be a blessed help in distress, for a Man to have a good conscience when affliction hath taken hold on him; for a Man then in his looking behind and before to return with peace to his own Soul; that Man must needs find Hony in this Lion, that can plead his innocency and uprightness. All the People curse me, saith Jeremiah, but that without

Jer. 10.

without a cauſe; for I have neither lent nor taken on uſury, which it ſeems was a ſin at that day.

NINTHLY, When Men are faithful with God in this World, to do the work he hath appointed for them, by this means a dying Bed is made eaſier, and that upon a double account.

1. BY reaſon of that preſent peace ſuch ſhall have even in their time of languiſhing.

2. BY reaſon of the good company ſuch ſhall have at their departure.

1. SUCH Souls uſually abound in preſent peace, they look not back upon the years they have ſpent, with that ſhame as the idle and ſloathful Chriſtian does. Remember now Lord how I have walked before thee in truth and with a perfect heart.

BLESSED is the Man that conſidereth the poor; the Lord will deliver him in time of trouble. The Lord will preſerve him, and keep him alive, and he ſhall be bleſſed upon the Earth; and thou wilt not deliver him to the will of his Enemies. The Lord will ſtrengthen him upon the bed of languiſhing; Thou wilt make all his bed in his ſickneſs. Ah! when God make the bed, he muſt needs lie eaſy, that weakneſs hath caſt thereon; a bleſſed Pillow hath that Man for his Head, though to all beholders it is hard as a Stone. Jacob, on his death Bed, had two things that made it eaſy:

1. THE Faith of his going to reſt, I am, to be gathered unto my people; that is, to the bleſſed that have yielded up the Ghoſt before me.

2. THE remembrance of the ſealings of the countenance of God upon him, when he walked before him in the days of his Pilgrimage: When Joſeph came to ſee him, before he left this World, Iſrael ſaith, the Word ſtrengthened himſelf upon his Bed; and the firſt Word that dropt out of this good Mans Mouth, O! how full of glory was it! God Almighty appeared unto me, ſaith he, at Luz in the Land of Canaan, and bleſſed me &c. O bleſſed diſcourſe for a ſick Bed, when thoſe can talk thus that lie thereon, from as true a ground as Jacob; but thus will God make the Bed of thoſe who walk cloſe with him in this World.

SECONDLY, The dying Bed of ſuch a Man, is made eaſy by reaſon alſo of the good company ſuch ſhall have at their departure: and that is 1ſt, the Angels, 2ly. their good works they have done for God in the World.

1. THE Angels of Heaven ſhall wait upon them, as they did upon bleſſed Lazarus, to carry them into Abrahams boſom. I know all that go to paradiſe are by theſe Holy ones conducted thither, but yet for all that, ſuch as die under the Clouds, for unchriſtian walking with God may meet, with Darkneſs in that day, may go heavily hence, notwithſtanding that; yea, their Bed may be as uncomfortable to them as if they lay upon nothing but the Cords, and their departing from it (as to appearance) more uncomfortable by far. But as for thoſe who have been faithful to their God, they ſhall ſee before them, ſhall know their tabernacle, ſhall be in peace, the everlaſting gates ſhall be opened unto them; in all which from earth they ſhall ſee the glory. I once was told a ſtory of what hapned at a good Mans death, the which I have often remembred, with wonderment and gladneſs: After he had lain for ſome time ſick, his hour came that he muſt depart, and behold, while he lay (as we call it) drawing on, to the amazment of the Mourners, there was heard about his Bed ſuch bleſſed and raviſhing muſick as they never heard before; which alſo continued till his Soul departed, and then began to ceaſe, and grow (as to its ſound) as if it was departing the houſe, and ſo ſtill ſeemed to go further and further off, till at laſt they could hear it no longer. Eye hath not ſeen nor ear heard, neither hath in entred into the heart of Man, the things that God hath prepared for them that love him: Behold then how God can make thy ſick Bed eaſy!

Job 5. 24. Acts 7. 54, 55, 56.

2. A dying Bed is made eaſy by thoſe good works that Men have done in their Life, for the name of God: Bleſſed are the dead that die in the Lord; yea, ſaith the Spirit, that they may reſt from their labors and their works follow them: Yea, and go before them too. No Man need be afraid to be accompanied by good deeds to Heaven: Be afraid of ſins, they are like Blood-Hounds at the Heels; and be ſure thy ſins will find thee out, even thee who haſt not been pardoned in the precious Blood of Chriſt: But as for thoſe who have ſubmitted themſelves to the righteouſneſs of God, for their Juſtification, and who have through faith and love to his name, been frequent in deeds of righteouſneſs, they ſhall not appear empty before their God, their works, their good works, follow them. Theſe ſhall enter into reſt, and walk with Chriſt in white. I obſerve when Iſrael had paſſed over Jordan, they were to go to poſſeſs between mount Ebal and mount Gerizzim, from whence was to be pronounced the bleſſing and the curſing. The Goſpel meaning of which I take to be as followeth, I take Jordan to be a type of death, and theſe two Mountains with the curſing and bleſſing to be a type of the Judgment that comes on every Man ſo ſoon as he goes from hence [and after death the Judgment] ſo that he that eſcapes the curſing, he alone goes into bleſſedneſs: But he that mount Ebal ſmiteth, he falls ſhort of Heaven: O! none knows the noyſe that doth ſound in ſinners Souls from Ebal and Gerizzim when they are departed hence; yet it may be they know not what will become of them till they hear theſe Ecchoings from theſe two Mountains: But here the good Man is ſure Mount Gerizzim doth pronounce him bleſſed: Bleſſed then are the dead that die in the Lord, for their works will follow them till they are paſt all danger. Theſe are the Chriſtians Train that follow him to reſt; theſe are a good Mans company that follow him to Heaven.

68. Deut. 27.

Of the TRINITY and a CHRISTIAN.

How a young or ſhaken Chriſtian ſhould demean himſelf under the weighty thoughts of the Doctrin of the Trinity, or Plurality of Perſons in the Eternal Godhead.

1. THE reaſon why I ſay a young or ſhaken Chriſtian; it is becauſe ſome that are not young but of an ancient ſtanding, may not only be aſſaulted with violent temptations, concerning Goſpel Principles, but a ſecond time may become a Child, a Babe, a ſhallow Man, in the things of God; eſpecially, either when by backſliding he hath provoked God to leave him, or when ſome new unexpected and (as to preſent ſtrength) over weighty objection doth fall upon the Spirit; By means of which, great ſhakings of mind do commonly attend ſuch a Soul, in the moſt weighty matters of the concerns of Faith, of which this is one that I have ſuppoſed in the above named Queſtion: Wherefore paſſing other things, I will come directly to that, and briefly propoſe ſome helps to a Soul in ſuch a caſe. (The firſt preparative)

2. FIRST, then be ſure thou keep cloſe to the Word of God, for that is the revelation of the mind and will of God, both as to the truth of what is either in himſelf or ways; and alſo as to what he requireth and expecteth of thee, either concerning faith in, or obedience to what he hath ſo revealed. Now for thy better performing of this I ſhall give thee in brief theſe following directions.

1. SUFFER thy ſelf by the authority of the Word, to be perſwaded that the Scripture indeed is the Word of God; the Scriptures of truth, the Words of the Holy one, and that they therefore muſt be every one true, pure and forever ſetled in Heaven.

2. CONCLUDE therefore from the former Doctrin, that that God whoſe words they are, is able to make a reconciliation and moſt ſweet and harmonious agreement with all the ſayings therein, how obſcure, croſs, dark and contradictory ſoever they ſeem to thee. To underſtand all myſteries, to have all knowledge, to be able to comprehend with all Saints is a great work, enough to cruſh the Spirit and to ſtretch the ſtrings of the moſt capacious and widned Soul that breatheth on this ſide glory, be they notwithſtanding exceedingly inlarged by Revelation. Paul, when he was caught up to Heaven, ſaw that which was unlawful, becauſe impoſſible for Man to utter. And, ſaith Chriſt, to the reaſoning Phariſee, if I have told you earthly things and ye believe not, how ſhall you believe if I tell you of things that are heavenly? It is great lewdneſs, and alſo inſufferable arrogancy to come to the Word of God, as conceiting already that whatever thou readeſt muſt either by thee be underſtood, or of it ſelf fall to the ground as a ſenſleſs error. But God is wiſer than Man, wherefore fear thou him and tremble at his Word, ſaying ſtill, with godly ſuſpicion of thine own infirmity, what I ſee not teach thou me, and thou art God only wiſe; but as for me, I was as a beaſt before thee.

3. 3. TAKE heed of taking a part of the Word only, leſt thou thereby go away with the truth as mangled in pieces. For inſtance, where thou readeſt the Lord our God is one Lord, there take heed that thou doeſt not thence conclude, Then there are not three perſons in the Godhead: Or when thou readeſt of the Father the Son and the Holy Spirit, then take heed of concluding, there muſt therefore either be three Gods, or elſe that Jeſus Chriſt and the Holy Ghoſt are not true God, but the Father only. Wherefore to help thee here obſerve

1. THAT Chriſtian Religion requireth credit concerning every Doctrin contained in the Word; credit, I ſay, according to the true relation of every ſentence that the Holy Ghoſt hath revealed for the aſcerting, Maintaining, or Vindicating that ſame Truth.

2. AND therefore hence it is that a Chriſtian is not called a Doer, a Reaſoner, an Objector, and perverſe Diſputer; but a Believer; be thou an example to the believers; and believers were added to the Church, &c.

3. THEREFORE know again that the Word, if it ſaith and expreſſeth that this or that is ſo and ſo as to the matter in Hand, thou art bound and obliged both by the name, profeſſion and the truth unto which thou haſt joyned thy ſelf, to aſſent to, confeſs and acknowledge the ſame, even then when thy carnal reaſon will not ſtoop thereto. Righteous art thou O God, ſaith Jeremiah, yet let me plead with thee; Wherefore do the wicked live? Mark, firſt he acknowledgeth that Gods way with the wicked is juſt and right, even then when yet he could not ſee the reaſon of his actings and diſpenſations towards them. The ſame reaſon is good as to our preſent caſe. And hence it is that the Apoſtle ſaith, the Spirſtual Armour of Chriſtians ſhould be much exerciſed againſt thoſe high Towering and ſelf-exalting imaginations that within our own boſoms do exalt themſelves againſt the knowledge of God. That every thought or carnal reaſoning may be not only taken, but brought as captive into obedience to Chriſt, that is, be made to ſtoop to the Word of God, and to give way and place to the Doctrin therein contained, how croſs ſoever our thoughts and the Word lie each to other. And it is obſervable that he here ſaith, they exalt themſelves againſt the knowledg of God, which cannot be underſtood that our carnal or natural reaſon doth exalt it ſelf againſt an eternal Deity, ſimply conſidered; for that Nature it ſelf doth gather from the very things that are made, even his Eternal Power and Godhead; it muſt be then that they exalt themſelves againſt that God as thus and thus revealed in the Word, to wit againſt the knowledg of one God conſiſting of three Perſons, Father Son and Spirit; for this is the Doctrin of the Scriptures of truth; and therefore it is obſervable theſe thoughts muſt be brought captive, and be made ſubject in particular to the Lord Jeſus Chriſt as to the ſecond Perſon in the Godhead; for the Father is ever acknowledged by all that profeſs the leaſt of Religion; but the Son is that ſtumbling-ſtone and rock of offence againſt which thouſands daſh themſelves in pieces; though in him are hid all the Treaſures of wiſdom and knowledg, and in him dwells the fulneſs of the Godhead bodily.

Of the LAW and a CHRISTIAN.

THE Law was given twice upon Mount Sinai, but the appearance of the Lord when he gave it the second time, was wonderfully different from that of his, when at the first he delivered it to Israel.

1. WHEN he gave it the first time, he caused his terror and severity to appear before Moses, to the shaking of his Soul and the dismaying of Israel: But when he gave it the second time, he caused all his goodness to pass before Moses, to the comfort of his conscience and the bowing of his heart.

2. WHEN he gave it the first time, it was with Thundrings and Lightnings, with Blackness and Darkness, with Flame and Smoak, and a tearing sound of the Trumpet: But when he gave it the second time, it was with a proclamation of his name to be merciful, gracious long-suffering and abundant in goodness and truth, keeping mercy for thousands, forgiving iniquity transgressions and sins, &c.

3. WHEN he gave it the first time, Moses was called to go up to receive it through the fire, which made him exceedingly fear and quake: But when he went to receive it the second time, he was laid in a clift of the rock.

4. FROM all which I gather, that, though as to the matter of the Law, both as to its being given the first time, and the second, it binds the unbeliever under the pains of Eternal Damnation (if he close not with Christ by Faith) Yet as to the manner of its giving at these two times, I think the first doth more principally intend its force as a Covenant of works, not at all respecting the Lord Jesus; but this second time not (at least in the manner of its being given) respecting such a Covenant, but rather as a rule, or directory to those who already are found in the clift of the rock, Christ; for the Saint himself, though he be without Law to God, as it is considered the first or old Covenant, yet even he is not without Law to him as considered under grace, not without Law to God, but under the Law to Christ.

5. THOUGH therefore it be sad with the unbeliever, because he only and wholly standeth under the Law, as it is given in Fire, in Smoak, in Blackness, and Darkness, and Thunder; all which threaten him with Eternal ruin if he fulfil not the utmost tittle thereof: Yet the believer stands to the Law under no such consideration, neither is he so at all to hear or regard it, for he is now removed from thence to the blessed mountain of Zion, to grace and forgiveness of sins; he is now, I say, by faith in the Lord Jesus shrouded under so perfect and blessed a righteousness, that this thundering Law of Mount Sinai cannot find the least fault or diminution therein; but rather approveth and alloweth thereof either when, or where-ever it find it. This is called the righteousness of God without the Law, and is also said to be witnessed by both the Law and the Prophets: Even the righteousness of God, which is by faith in Jesus Christ unto all and upon all them that believe, for there is no difference.

6. WHEREFORE when ever thou who believest in Jesus, doest hear the Law in its Thundering and Lightning fits, as if it would burn up Heaven and Earth; then say thou, I am freed from this Law, these Thunderings have nothing to do with my Soul; nay even this Law, while it thus Thunders and Roareth, it doth both allow and approve of my righteousness. I know that Hagar would sometimes be domineering and high, even in Sarahs House and against her; but this she is not to be suffered to do, nay though Sarah her self be barren; wherefore serve it also as Sarah served her, and expel her out from thy house. My meaning is, when this Law with its Thundering threatnings doth attempt to lay hold on thy conscience, shut it out with a promise of grace; cry, the Inn is took up already, the Lord Jesus is here entertained, and here is no room for the Law. Indeed if it will be content with being my informer, and so lovingly leave off to judge me, I will be content, it shall be in my sight, I will also delight therein; but otherwise, I being now made upright without it, and that too with that righteonsness, which this Law speaks well of and approveth; I may not, will not, cannot, dare not make it my Saviour and Judg, nor suffer it to set up its government in my conscience; for by so doing I fall from Grace, and Christ Jesus doth profit me nothing. Gal. 5. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5.

7. THUS therefore the Soul that is Married to him that is raised up from the Dead, both may and ought to deal with this Law of God; yea, it doth greatly dishonour its Lord and refuse its Gospel priviledges, if it at any time otherwise doth, whatever it seeth or feels. The Law hath Power over the Wife so long as her Husband liveth, but if her Husband be dead she is freed from that Law, so that she's no Adultress tho she be Married to another Man. Indeed so long as thou art alive to Sin and to thy righteousness which is of the Law, so long thou hast them for thy Husband and they must reign over thee: But when once they are become dead unto thee, as they then most certainly will, when thou closest with the Lord Jesus Christ; then I say, thy former Husbands have no more to meddle with thee, thou art freed from their Law. Set case a Woman be cast into Prison for a debt of Hundreds of Pounds, if after this she Marry; yea, though while she is in the Gaolers Hand, in the same day that she is joyned to her Husband, her debt is all become his; yea, and the Law also that arrested and imprisoned this Woman, as freely tels her, Go; she is freed, saith Paul, from that, and so saith the Law of this Land. Rom. 7. 1, 2, 3.

THE sum then of what hath been said is this, The Christian hath now nothing to do with the Law, as it thundreth and burneth on Sinai, or as it bindeth the conscience to wrath and the displeasure of God for Sin; for from its thus appearing, it is freed by faith in Christ. Yet it is to have regard thereto, and is to count it Holy, Just and Good; which that it may do, it is always whenever it seeth or regards it, to remember that he who giveth it to us is merciful, gracious, long suffering and abundant in goodness and truth, &c. Rom. 7.

ISRAEL'S Hope Encouraged:

OR,

What Hope is, and how diſtinguiſhed from Faith; with Encouragements for a hoping People.

By John Bunyan.

Pſal. 130. 7. Let Iſrael hope in the Lord; for with the Lord there is mercy, and with him is plentous redemption.

1. THIS Pſalm is ſaid to be one of the Pſalms of Degrees, which ſome ſay, if I be not miſtaken, the Prieſts and Levites uſed to Sing, when they went up the Steps into the Temple: But to let that paſs. It is a Pſalm that gives us a Relation of the Pen-man's Praying frame, and of an Exhortation to Iſrael to hope in God.

v. 1. OUT of the deeps have I cryed unto thee O Lord; that is, out of deep or great Afflictions: (And ſaid) Lord hear my Voice, let thine ears be attentive to the Voice of my Supplications. The latter Words explain the former; as who ſhould ſay, by Voice I mean the meaning and Spirit of my Prayer. There are Words in Prayer, and Spirit in Prayer; and by the Spirit that is in Prayer, is diſcerned whether the Words be Dead, Lifeleſs, Fained; or Warm, Fervent, Earneſt; and God who ſearcheth the heart, Rom. 8. 27. knoweth the meaning of the Spirit, becauſe he maketh Interceſſion for the Saints according to the Will of God.

v. 3. IF thou Lord ſhouldſt mark Iniquity, O Lord who ſhall ſtand? Here he confeſſeth that all Men by the Law muſt fall before God forever; for that they have broken it, but cannot make amends for the Tranſgreſſion thereof: But he quickly bethinking himſelf of the Mercy of God in Chriſt, he ſaith, v. 4. But there is Forgiveneſs with thee that thou mayſt be feared. Then he returns, ſaying v. 5. I wait for the Lord, that is, in all his Appointments; yea, he doubleth it, ſaying, my Soul doth wait, and in his word do I hope. By which Repetition he inſinuates, that many are content to give their Bodily Preſence to God in his Appointments, while their Hearts were roving to the ends of the Earth; but for his part he did not ſo. v. 6. My Soul waiteth for the Lord, more than they that watch for the morning: I ſay, more than they that watch for the morning. As who ſhould ſay, even as it is with thoſe that are tired with the Night, either by reaſon of dark or wearifom Journies, or becauſe of tedious Sickneſs, to whom the Night is moſt doleful and uncomfortable, waiting for ſpring of Day: So wait I for the Lord, that his Preſence might be with my Soul. So and more too, I ſay, More than they that wait for the morning. Then he comes to the Words which I have choſen for my Text, ſaying, Let Iſrael hope in the Lord; for with the Lord there is Mercy, and with him is plenteous Redemption.

IN which Words, we have

1. AN Exhortation.
2. A Reaſon of that Exhortation, and
3. AN Amplification of that Reaſon.

LET Iſrael hope in the Lord; there is the Exhortation. For with the Lord there is Mercy; there is the Reaſon of it. And with him is plenteous Redemption; there is the Amplification of that Reaſon.

IN the Exhortation there are three Things to be inquired into.

1. THE Matter contained in it.
2. THE Manner by which it is expreſt.
3. THE Inferences that do naturally flow there-from.

WE will ſpeak firſt to the Matter contained in the Text, and that preſenteth it ſelf unto us, under three Heads.

1. A

1. A Duty.
2. A Direction for the well Management of that Duty.
3. THE Perſons that are ſo to Manage it.

FIRST then to ſpeak to the Duty, and that is HOPE: Let Iſrael [Hope.] By which Word, there is ſomething pre-admitted, and ſomething of great Concern inſinuated.

THAT which is pre-admitted, is Faith; for when we ſpeak properly of Hope, and put others diſtinctly to the Duty of Hoping, we conclude that ſuch have Faith already; for no Faith, no Hope. To Hope without Faith, is to ſee without Eyes, or to expect without a
11. Ground: For Faith is the Subſtance of things hoped for; as well with reſpect to the Grace, as to the Doctrin of Faith. Doth ſuch a one Believe? No: Doth he Hope? Yes: If the firſt is true, the ſecond is a lie; he that never Believed, did never Hope in the Lord. Wherefore when he ſaith, Let Iſrael hope in the Lord, he pre-ſuppoſeth Faith, and ſignifieth that he ſpeaketh to Believers.

THAT which is (of great Concern) inſinuated, is, That Hope has in it an excellent quality to ſupport Iſrael in all its troubles. Faith has his excellency in this, Hope in that, and Love in an other thing. Faith will do that which Hope cannot do, Hope can do that which Faith doth not do, and Love can do things diſtinct from both their doings: Faith goes in the Van, Hope in the Body, and Love brings 13. up the Reer; and thus now abideth Faith, Hope, and Charity.

*FAITH is the Mother Grace, for Hope is born of her, but Charity floweth from them both. But a little now we are upon Faith and Hope diſtinctly, to let you ſee a little.

10. 1. FAITH comes by Hearing, Hope by
pp. 5. Experience.

2. FAITH comes by Hearing the Word of
4. God, Hope by the credit that Faith hath given to it.

3. FAITH believeth the Truth of the Word, Hope waits for the fulfilling of it.

4. FAITH lays hold of that end of the Promiſe that is next to us, to wit, as it is in the Bible; Hope lays hold of that end of the Promiſe that is faſtned to the Mercy-ſeat: For the Promiſe is like a mighty Cable, that is faſtened by one end to a Ship, and by the other to the Anchor: The Soul is the Ship where Faith is, and to which the hither end of this Cable is faſtned; but Hope is the Anchor
6. that is at the other end of this Cable, and
19. which entreth into that within the Vail. Thus Faith and Hope getting hold of both ends of
r. 15. the Promiſe, they carry it ſafely ALL away.
3, 4. 5. FAITH looketh to Chriſt, as Dead,

n. 3. 3. Patience on work: Faith ſays to Hope, look

9. FAITH looks through the Word to God in Chriſt; Hope looks through Faith, beyond the World to Glory.

10. THUS Faith ſaves, and thus Hope ſaves: Faith ſaves by laying hold of God by Chriſt; Hope ſaves by prevailing with the Soul to ſuffer all Troubles, Afflictions and Adverſities that it meets with 'twixt this and the World to come, for the ſake thereof. Take the Matter in this plain Similitude: There was a King that adopted ſuch an one to be his Child, and Cloathed him with the Attire of the Children of the King, and promiſed him that if he would fight his Fathers Battels, and walk in his Fathers ways, he ſhould at laſt ſhare in his Fathers Kingdom. He has received the adoption, and the Kings Robe, but not yet his part in the Kingdom; but now Hope of a ſhare in that, will make him fight the Kings Battels, and alſo tread the Kings Paths. Yea, and tho' he ſhould meet with many things that have a Tendency to deter him from ſo doing, yet Thoughts of the Intereſt promiſed in the Kingdom, and hopes to enjoy it, will make him cut his Way through thoſe difficulties, and ſo ſave him from the Ruins that thoſe deſtructions would bring upon him, and will in concluſion, uſher him into a Perſonal Poſſeſſion and Enjoyment of that Inheritance. Hope has a thick Skin, and will endure many a blow, it will put on Patience as a Veſtment, it will wade through a Sea of Blood, it will endure all things, if it be of the right kind, for the Joy that is ſet before it. Hence Patience is called, Patience 1 Theſſ. 1.
of Hope, becauſe it is Hope that makes the Soul 3.
exerciſe Patience and long-ſuffering under the Croſs, until the time comes to enjoy the Crown. The Pſalmiſt therefore by this Exhortation, perſwadeth them that have believed the truth, to wait for the accompliſhment of it, as by his own example he did himſelf. I wait for the Lord, my Soul waiteth, and in his word do I hope. It is for want of Hope, that ſo many briſk Profeſſors that have ſo boaſted and made brags of their Faith, have not been able to endure the Drum in the day of Alarum and Affliction. Their Hope in Chriſt has been ſuch, as has extended it ſelf no further than to this life, and therefore they are of all Men the moſt miſerable.

THE Pſalmiſt therefore by exhorting us unto this Duty, doth put us in mind of four things.

FIRST, that the beſt things are yet behind, and in reverſion for the Saints.

SECONDLY, that thoſe that have believed, will yet meet with difficulties before they come at them.

THIRDLY, the Grace of Hope well exerciſed, is the only way to overcome theſe difficulties.

FOURTHLY, they therefore that have Hope, and do exerciſe it as they ſhould, ſhall aſſuredly at laſt enjoy that Hope, that is laid up for them in Heaven. 5.

FOR the firſt of theſe, that the beſt things are yet behind, and in reverſion for Believers; this is manifeſt by the natural exerciſe of this Grace.

Grace. For Hope that is seen, is not Hope; for what a Man seeth, why doth he yet hope for? But if we Hope for that we see not, then do we with Patience Hope for it, Rom. 8. 24, 25. Hope lives not by sight as Faith doth, but Hope trusteth Faith, as Faith trusts the Word, and so bears up the Soul in a Patient Expectation at last to enjoy, what God has promised: But I say, the very natural work of this Grace, proveth, that the Believers best things are behind in Reversion.

Joh. 3. 12. 1 Cor. 4. 14. Col. 3. 1. Isa. 64. 4. 1 Cor. 2. 9.

YOU may ask me, what those things are? And I may tell you, first in general; they are Heavenly things, they are Eternal things, they are the things that are where Christ sitteth on the right Hand of God: Do you know them now? They are things that Eye hath not seen, nor Ear heard, nor that have entred into the heart of Man to conceive of: Do you know them now?

THEY are things that are referred for the next World, for the Saints when they come into the next World; talked of they may be now, the real being of them may be believed now, and by Hope we may, and 'twill be our Wisdom to wait for them now; but to know what they are in the nature of them, or in the enjoyment of them, otherwise than by Faith, he is deceived that saith it. They are things too big as yet to enter into our Hearts, and things too big if they were there to come out, or to be expressed by our Mouths.

6. FIRST, there is Heaven it self, the Imperial Heaven; does any body know what that is?

SECONDLY, there is the Mount Zion, the Heavenly Jerusalem, and the Innumerable Company of Angels; doth any body know what all they are?

THIRDLY, there is Immortality and Eternal Life, and who knows what they are?

FOURTHLY, there are Rewards for Services and labour of Love, shewed to Gods Name here, and who knows what they will be?

FIFTHLY, there are Mansion-houses, Beds of Glory, and Places to walk in among the Angels, and who knows what they are?

SIXTHLY, there will be Badges of Honour, Harps to make merry with, and Heavenly Songs of Triumph; doth any here know what they are?

SEVENTHLY, there will be then a Knowing, an Enjoying, and a Solacing of our selves with Prophets, Apostles and Martyrs, and all Saints; but in what glorious manner, we all are ignorant of.

EIGHTLY, there we shall see and know, and be with forever, all our Relations, as Wife, Husband, Child, Father, Mother, Brother or Sister, that have died in the Faith; but how gloriously they will look when we shall see them, and how gloriously we shall love when 1 Thes. 4. we are with them, it is not for us in this World to know.

NINTHLY, there are Thoughts, and Words, and Ways for us, which we never dreamt on in this World: The Law was but
Heb. 10. 1. the Shadow, the Gospel the Image, but what will be the Substance that comes to us next, or that rather we shall go unto, who can understand?

TENTHLY, if we never saw God nor Christ as glorified, nor the Spirit of the Lord, nor the bottom of the Bible, nor yet so much as one of the days of Eternity, (and yet all these things we shall see and have then) how can it be that the things laid up for us, that should be the Object of our Hope, should by us be understood in this World?

YET there are Intimations given us of the Goodness and Greatness of them.

OF their Goodness. And that,

1. IN that the Holy Ghost scorns that things that are here, should once be compared with them; hence all things here are called Vanities, Nothings, less than Nothings: Now if the things, all the things, that are here, are so contemptuously considered, when compared with the things that are to be hereafter; and yet these things so great in the Carnal Mans esteem, as that he is willing to venture Life and Soul, and all to have them: What are the things that God has prepared for them that Wait, that is, that Hope for him?

2. THEIR Goodness also appears in this, that whoever has had that Understanding of them as is Revealed in the Word, whether King or Beggar, Wise Man or Fool, he has willingly cast this World behind him in Contempt and Scorn, for the Hope of that.

3. THE Goodness of them has even Testimony in the very Conscience of them that hate them: Take the vilest Man in the Country, the Man who is so wedded to his Lusts, that he will rather run the hazard of a thousand Hells, than leave them; and ask this Man his Judgment of the things of the next World, and he will shake his head, and say, They are good, they are best of all.

4. BUT the Saints have the best Apprehension of their Goodness, for that the Lord doth sometimes drop some of the Juice of them out of the Word, into their hungry Souls.

BUT as they are good, so they are great. O how great is thy Goodness that thou hast laid up for them that fear thee, which thou hast wrought for them that trust (that hope) in thee before the Sons of Men!

1. THEIR Greatness appears in that they go beyond the Word; yea, beyond the Word of the Holy Ghost; It doth not yet appear to us by the Word of God to the full, the Greatness of what is prepared for Gods People. Beloved, now are we the Sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be; it doth not appear in the Word; there is a Greatness in the things that we are to Hope for, that could never be expressed: They are beyond Word, beyond Thought, beyond conceiving of. Paul when he was come down again from out of Paradice, into which he was caught up, could not speak a Word about the Words he heard, and the things that there he saw: They were things and words which he saw and heard, which it is not possible for a Man to utter.

2. THEIR Greatness is intimated by the word [Eternal] he that knows the bottom of that Word, shall know what things they are; the the things which are not ſeen, are Eternal; they are Incorruptible, Undefiled, and that fade not away, that are reſerved in Heaven for us.

3. THEIR Greatneſs is ſhewed, in that one right Thought of them, will fill the heart ſo full, that both it and the Eyes will run over together; yea, ſo full, that the Creature ſhall not be able to ſtand up under the wait of Glory, that by it is laid upon the Soul.

ALAS! all the things in this World, will not fill one Heart; and yet one Thought that is right, of the things that God has prepared, and laid up in Heaven for us, will, yea, and over-fill it too.

4. THE Greatneſs of the things of the next World appears, in that when one of the leaſt of them are ſhewed to us, we are not able without ſupport from thence, to abide the ſight thereof. I count that the Angels are of thoſe things, that are leaſt in that World, and yet the ſight of one of them, when the ſight of them was in uſe, what work would it make in the Hearts and Minds of Mortal Men? The Scripture plainly enough declares.

5. THEIR Greatneſs is intimated in that we muſt be as it were, new made again, before we can be capable of enjoying them, as we muſt enjoy them with Comfort. And herein will be a great part of our Happineſs, that we ſhall not only ſee them, but be made like unto them, like unto their King. For when he ſhall appear we ſhall be like him, for we ſhall ſee him as he is, we ſhall ſee him, and therefore muſt be like him; for elſe the ſight of him would overcome us and deſtroy us; but becauſe we are to ſee him with Comfort and Everlaſting Joy; therefore we muſt be like him in Body and Mind.

BUT to come to the ſecond thing, namely, That thoſe that have believed there are ſuch things as theſe, will meet with difficulties before they come at them: This is ſo grand a Truth, that nothing can be ſaid againſtit. Many are the Afflictions of the Righteous; and we muſt through many Tribulations enter into the Kingdom of Heaven.

THE cauſe from whence theſe Afflictions ariſe is known to be,

1. FROM our ſelves, for Sin having got ſuch hold in our Fleſh, makes that oppoſition againſt our Soul and the Welfare of that, that puts us continually to trouble. Fleſhly Luſts work againſt the Soul, and ſo do Worldly Luſts too; yea, they quench our Graces, and make them that would live, ready to die: Yea, by reaſon of theſe, ſuch Darkneſs, ſuch Guilt, ſuch Fear, ſuch Miſtruſt, ariſeth in us, that it is common for us, if we live any while, to make a thouſand Concluſions, twice told, that we ſhall never arrive with Comfort at the Gates of the Kingdom of Heaven. The natural tendency of every ſtruggle of the leaſt Luſt againſt Grace, is, if we judge according to Carnal Reaſon, to make us queſtion the truth of a work of Grace in us, and our right to the World to come. This it was that made Paul cry out, O wretched Man that I am, who ſhall deliver me! Only he had more Wiſdom than to follow the natural concluſions that Carnal Reaſon was apt to make thereupon, and ſo hoiſted up his Soul to hope.

2. SIN by its working in us, doth not only bring Darkneſs, Guiſt, Fear, Miſtruſt, and the like; but it doth oft times as it were, ham-ſtring us, and diſable us from going to God by Faith and Prayer for Pardon: It makes the Heart Hard, Senſeleſs, Careleſs, Lifeleſs, Spiritleſs as to Feeling, in all Chriſtian duty; and this is a grievous thing, to a gracious Soul. The other things will create a doubt, and drive it up to the head into the Soul; but theſe will go on the other ſide, and clench it: Now all theſe things make hoping difficult. 10.

Iſa. 63.

3. FOR by theſe things the Judgment is not only clouded, and the Underſtanding greatly darkned; but all the Powers of the Soul made to fight againſt it ſelf, conceiving, imagining, apprehending and concluding things, that have a direct Tendency to extirpate and extinguiſh, if poſſible, the Graces of God that are planted in the Soul: Yea, to the making of it cry out, I am cut off from before thine Eyes.

Pſal. 31. 22.

4. AND to theſe, the hidings of the Face of God from the Soul; a thing to it, more bitter than Death; yet nothing more common among them that Hope in the Lord; He hideth himſelf from the houſe of Jacob. Nor is this done only in Fatherly diſpleaſure, but by this means ſome Graces are kept alive, Faith is kept alive by the Word, Patience by Hope, and Hope by Faith; but oft-times a Spirit of Prayer, by the Rod, Chaſtizement, and the hiding of God's Face. But I ſay, this hiding of this ſweet Face, is bitter to the Soul, and oft-times puts both Faith and Hope to a ſad, and moſt fearful plunge: For at ſuch a day, it is with the Soul, as with the Ship at Sea, that is benighted and without light; to wit, like a Man bewildred upon the Land; only the Text ſaith, for the help and ſuccour of ſuch, Who is among you that feareth the Lord, and that obeyeth the voice of his Servant, that ſitteth in darkneſs and hath no light, let him truſt in the name of the Lord, and ſtay upon his God. Yet as it is with Children, ſo it is with Saints; we are a great deal more ſubject to fears in the Night, than in the Day: That therefore that tendeth to the help of ſome Graces, if there be not great care taken, will prove an hindrance to others.

Iſa. 8. 17. Hoſ. 5. 14, 15. Iſa. 26. 16. Song 5. 6.

Iſa. 50. 10.

5. NOR is the Ruler of the darkneſs of this World wanting to apply himſelf and his Engins, ſo, as if poſſible, to make uſe of all theſe things, for the overthrowing of Faith, and for the removing of our Hope from the Lord; as a Tree is removed from Rooting in the Ground. 11.

Job 19. 10.

BEHOLD! he can expound all things, ſo as that they ſhall fall directly in the way of our Believing: As thus, we have Sin, therefore we have no Grace; Sin ſtruggleth in us, therefore we fear not God; ſomething in us ſideth with Sin, therefore we are wholly Unregenerate; Sin is in our beſt performances, therefore wherefore ſhould I hope? Thus I ſay, he can afflict us in our Pilgrimage, and make hope difficult to us. Beſides the hiding of Gods Face, he can make, not only a cauſe of ſorrow (for that indeed it ſhould) but a ground ground of Despair, and as desperately concluding he will never come again: How many good Souls has he driven to these Conclusions, who afterwards have been made to unsay all again?

6. AND though Spiritual desertions, darkness of Soul, and guilt of Sin, are the Burdens most intolerable, yet they are not all; for there is to be added to all these, that common Evil of Persectuion, another device invented to make void our Hope.

IN this, I say, we are sure to be concerned; that is, if we be Godly: For though the Apostle doth not say, All that will live in Christ; that is, in the common Profession of him, shall suffer Persecution: Yet he saith, All that will live Godly in him shall. Now this in it self is a Terror to Flesh and Blood, and hath a direct Tendency in it to make Hope difficult. Hence Men of a persecuting Spirit, because of their Greatness, and of their Teeth, the Laws, are said to be a Terror, and to carry amazement in their doings; and Gods People are apt to be afraid of them, though they should die, and to forget God their Maker; and this makes Hoping hard work.

2 Tim. 3. 12.

1 Pet. 3. 6, 14.

Isa. 51. 12, 13.

12. 7. FOR, besides that Grimness that appears in the Face of Persecutors, Satan can tell how to lessen and make to dwindle in our Apprehensions, those Truths unto which our Hearts have joyned themselves afore, and to which Christ our Lord has commanded us to stand. So that they shall now appear but little, small, inconsiderable Things; Things not worth engaging for; Things not worth running those hazards for, that in the hour of Tryal may lye staring us in the Face.

MOREOVER we shall not want false Friends in every hole, such as will continually be boring our Ears with that saying, Master do good to thy self: At such times also, Stars do use to fall from Heaven, and the Powers of Heaven to be shaken; and so every thing tends to weaken, or at least to lay stumbling Blocks in their way, who are commanded To Hope in the Lord.

Mat. 24.

8. AGAIN, As Satan can make use of his Subtilty, thus to afflict and weaken the Hands and Hearts of those that Hope in God; so he can add to these, the dismalness of a suffering State: He can make the loss of Goods in our Imagination, ten times bigger than it is in it self: He can make an Informer a frightful Creature, a Gaol look like Hell it self; he can make Banishment and Death utterly intolerable, and things that must be shunned with the hazard of our Salvation. Thus he can greaten and lessen, lessen and greaten, for the troubling of our Hearts, for the hindring of our Hope.

9. ADD to all these, That the things that we suffer for were never seen by us, but are quite beyond our sight; Things that indeed are said to be great and good; but we have only the Word and the Bible for it. And be sure if he that laboureth Night and Day to devour us, can help it, our Faith shall be molested and perplexed at such a time, that it may, if possible, be hard to do the Commandment that here the Text enjoyns us to the Practice of; that is, to Hope in the Lord. And this brings me to the third Particular.

THIRDLY, That the Grace of Hope well exercised, is the only way to overcome those difficulties: Abraham had never laughed for Joy, had he not Hoped when the Angel brought him Tydings of a Son; yea, had he not Hoped against all things that could have been said to discourage: Hence it is said, that against Hope he believed in Hope, that he might become the Father of many Nations, according to that which was spoken, so shall thy Seed be.

THERE is Hope against Hope; Hope grounded on Faith, against Hope grounded on Reason: Hope grounded on Reason, would have made Abraham expect that the Promise should surely have been ineffectual, because of the deadness of Abraham's Body, and of the Barrenness of Sarahs Womb: But he hoped against the difficulty, by a Hope that sprang from Faith, which confided in the Promise and Power of God, and so overcame the difficulty, and indeed obtained the Promise: Hope therefore well exercised, is the only way to overcome. Hence Peter bids those that are in a suffering Condition, Be Sober, and Hope to the end, for the Grace that is to be brought unto them at the Revelation of Jesus Christ: And therefore it is as you heard before, that we are said to be saved by Hope,

Hope is excellent,

FIRST, against those Discouragements, that arise up out of our own Bowels.

SECONDLY, it is excellent to imbolden a Man in the cause of God.

THIRDLY, it is excellent at helping one over the difficulties, that Men by Frights and Terrors may lay in our way.

FIRST, it is excellent to help us against those Discouragements that arise out of our own Bowels: This is clear in the Instance last mentioned about Abraham, who had nothing but Discouragements arising from himself; but he had Hope, and as well he exercised it; wherefore after a little patient enduring, he overcame the difficulty, and obtained the Promise.

THE Reason is, for that it is the nature of true Hope, to turn away its Ear from opposing difficulties, to the Word and Mouth of Faith; and perceiving that Faith has got hold of the promise, Hope, notwithstanding difficulties that do or may attempt to intercept, will expect, and so wait for the accomplishment thereof.

SECONDLY, Hope is excellent at imboldning a Man in the cause of God: Hence the Apostle saith, Hope maketh not ashamed; for not to be ashamed, there, is to be imbolned. So again, when Paul speaks of his Troubles he met with for the Profession of the Gospel, he saith, That they should turn to his Salvation: According, saith he, to my earnest Expectation, and my Hope, that in nothing I shall be ashamed, but that with all boldness, as always, so now Christ shall be magnified in my Body, whether it be by Life or by Death: See here, a Man at the Foot of the Ladder, now ready in Will and Mind, to die for his Profession; but how will he carry it now? Why, with all brave and innocent boldness:

neſs. But how will he do that? Oh! By the Hope of the Goſpel that is in him, for by that he is fully perſwaded that the cauſe he ſuffereth for will bear him up in the day of God, and that he ſhall then be well rewarded for it.

THIRDLY, It is alſo excellent at helping one over thoſe difficulties, that Men by frights and terrors may lay in our way. Hence when David was almoſt killed with the reproach and oppreſſion of his enemies, and his Soul full ſorely bowed down to the ground therewith; That he might revive and get up again, he calls to his Soul to put in exerciſe the grace of Hope. Saying, why art thou caſt down O my Soul? and why art thou diſquieted within me? Hope thou in God, for I ſhall yet praiſe him, who is the health of my countenance and my God. So again, ſaith he, in the next Pſalm after, as afore he had complained of the oppreſſion of the enemy, Why art thou caſt down, O my Soul? and why art thou diſquieted within me? Hope in God, for I ſhall yet praiſe him who is the health of my countenance, and my God. Hope therefore is a Soul-incouraging Grace, a Soul-imbolding Grace, and a Soul-preſerving Grace. Hence it is called our Helmet or Head-piece, the Helmet of Salvation. This is, one piece of the Armor with which the Son of God was cloathed, when he came into the World: and 'tis that againſt which nothing can prevail. For as long as I can Hope for Salvation, what can hurt me? This word ſpoken in the bleſſed exerciſe of grace, I hope for Salvation, drives down all before it. The Truth of God is that Mans Shield and Buckler that hath made the Lord his Hope.

AND now to Encourage thee, good Man, to the exerciſe of this Bleſſed Grace of Hope as the Text bids; Let me preſent thee with that which followeth,

1. GOD to ſhew how well he takes Hoping in him, at our hands, has called himſelf The God of Hope. That is, not only the Author of Hope, but the God that takes pleaſure in them that exerciſe it. The Lord takes pleaſure in them that fear him, in them that Hope in his mercy.

2. HE will be a Shield, a defence to them that Hope in him. Thou art my hiding place, and my Shield, ſaid David. I Hope in thy Word. That is, he knew he would be ſo: for he Hoped in his Word.

3. HE has promiſed us the Life we Hope for, to incourage us ſtill to Hope, and to indure all things to enjoy it. That he that Ploweth ſhould Plow in Hope, and that he that threſheth in hope, ſhould be partaker of his Hope.

Queſt. BUT you may ſay, What is it to exerciſe this Grace aright?

Anſw. FIRST, you muſt look well to your Faith that that may proſper; for as your Faith is, ſuch your Hope will be. Hope is never ill, when Faith is well; nor ſtrong, if Faith be weak. Wherefore Paul prays that the Romans might be filled with all joy and Peace in believing, that they might abound in Hope. When a Man by Faith, believes to joy and Peace, then Hope grows ſtrong, and with an aſſurance looketh for a ſhare in the World to come. Wherefore look to your Faith, and pray heartily that the God of Hope will fill you with all Joy and Peace in believing.

SECONDLY, Learn of Abraham not to faint, ſtumble or doubt, at the ſight of your own weakneſs; for if you do, Hope will ſtay below and creak in the Wheels as it goes, becauſe it will want the Oyl of Faith. But ſay to thy Soul, when thou beginneſt to faint and ſink at the ſight of theſe, as David did to his, in the places made mention of before. Rom. 4.

THIRDLY, Be much in calling to mind what God has done for thee in former times. Keep thy experience as a choice thing. Remember all the way, the Lord hath led thee in the wilderneſs this forty years. O God, ſaid David, my Soul is caſt down within me, therefore will I remember thee from the land of Jordan, and of the Hermonites from the hill Mizar. 18. Rom. 5.4. Deut. 8. 2, 3, 4, 5. Pſal. 42.6.

FOURTHLY, Be much in looking at the end of things, or rather to the end of this, and to the beginning of the next World. What we enjoy of God in this World, may be an earneſt of Hope, or a token that the thing Hoped for, is to be ours at laſt: but the object of Hope is in general, the next World. We muſt therefore put a difference betwixt the Mother of Hope, Faith; the means of Hope, the Word; the earneſt of Hope, Chriſt in us; and the proper object of Hope, to wit the World to come and the goodneſs thereof. Heb. 11.1. Pſal. 119. 49. Col. 1. 27.

IF Chriſtians have not much here, their Hope, as I may ſo ſay, lies idle, and as a Grace out of its exerciſe. For as Faith cannot feed upon Patience, but upon Chriſt; and as the Grace of hungering and thirſting cannot live upon ſelf-fulneſs, but upon the riches of the promiſe: ſo Hope cannot make what is injoyed, its object; for what a Man ſeeth why doth he yet hope for it? but the proper object of Hope is, that we ſee not. Rom. 8. 24.

LET Faith then be exerciſed upon Chriſt crucified, for my juſtification; and Hope upon the nex World, for my glorification: and let love ſhew the truth of Faith in Chriſt, by acts of kindneſs to Chriſt, and his People; and Patience, the truth of Hope, by a quiet bearing and enduring that which may now be laid upon me for my ſincere profeſſions ſake, until the Hope that is laid up for us in Heaven ſhall come to us, or we be gathered to that, and then Hope is in ſome meaſure in good order, and exerciſed well. But FOURTHLY, We now come to the laſt thing propounded to be ſpoken to, which is, They that have Hope and exerciſe it well, ſhall aſſuredly at laſt enjoy that Hope that is laid up for them in Heaven. That is, they that do regularly exerciſe the grace of Hope, ſhall at laſt enjoy the object of it, or the thing Hoped for. This muſt of neceſſity be concluded, elſe we overthrow the whole truth of God at once, and the expectation of the beſt of Men: Yea, if this be not concluded, what follows, but that Atheiſm, Unbelief and Irreligion is the righteſt? and profane and debauched perſons are in the righteſt way? 19.

BUT to proceed. This muſt be, as is evident, for that the things hoped for, are put under the very name of the Grace that lives in the expectation of them: They are called HOPE; looking for the bleſſed Hope; for the Hope that is laid up for them in Heaven. God has ſet THAT Tit. 2.13. Colo. 1. 5.

Character upon them, to signify that they belong to HOPE, and shall be the reward of Hope. God doth in this, as your great Traders do with the Goods that their Chapmen have either bought or spoke for; to wit, he sets their Name or Mark upon them: And then saith, This belongs to this Grace, and this belongs to that; but the Kingdom of Heaven belongs to HOPE, for HIS name is set upon it. This therefore is one thing to prove that the thing hoped for shall be thine, God has marked it for thee: Nor can it be given to those that do not Hope. That is, to the same purpose that you read of, 2 Thes. 1. That you may be counted worthy of the Kingdom of Heaven, for for which ye also suffer. Suffering flows from Hope: He that Hopes not for an House in Heaven, will not for it chuse to suffer the loss of the Pleasures and Friendships of this World, But they that suffer for it, and that all do, one way or other, in whom is placed this Grace of Hope; They, God counteth worthy of it, and therefore hath marked it with their mark, HOPE, for that it belongs to Hope, and shall be given to those that Hope. That's the first.

20. SECONDLY, They that do, as afore is said, exercise this Grace of Hope, shall assuredly enjoy the Hope that is laid up for them in Heaven, as is evident also from this; Because, as God has marked and set it a part for them, so what he has done TO, and with our Lord and Head since his death, he hath done it to this very end: that is, to beget and maintain our Hope in him as touching this thing. He has begotten us again to a lively Hope by the resurrection of Christ from the dead. The meaning is, Christ is our undertaker, and suffered death for us, that we might enjoy Happiness and Glory: And God to shew how willing he was that we should have this glory, raised up Christ again, and delivered him from the sorrows of death. Wherefore considering this, Paul said, he rejoyced in Hope of the glory of God, to wit of that glory, that Sin, had he not had Jesus for his undertaker, would have caused that he should certainly have come short of.

1 Pet. 1. 3. Rom 5. 2. Chap. 3. 23.

BUT again, God raised him up from the dead, and gave him glory too, and that to this very end, that your Faith and Hope might be in God. I say, he did it to this very end, that he might beget in you this good opinion of him, as to Hope in him, that he would give you that good thing hoped for, to wit, eternal life. And gave him glory, and put it into his hand (for you) who is your head and Saviour that you might see how willing God is, to give you the Hope you look for, That your Faith and Hope might be in God.

1 Pet. 1. 21.

21. THIRDLY, That we that have Hope and rightly exercise it, might assuredly injoy that Hope that is laid up for us in Heaven: God has promised it, and that to our Saviour for us. Had he promised it to us, we might yet have feared, for that with our faults we give a cause of continual provocation to him: But since he hath promised it to Christ, it must assuredly come to us by him; because Christ to whom tis promised, never gave occasion of provocation to him to take it back. And that it was promised to Christ, 'tis evident, because 'twas promised before the World began. In Hope of eternal life, saith Paul, which God, that cannot lie, promised before the World began; And this is, that we might Hope. Men that use to Hope to enjoy that Mony or Estate, that by those that are faithful is promised to them, and put into the hand of trusty persons for them. Why this is the case, God that cannot lie has promised it to the hopers, and has put it into the hand of the trusty Jesus for us, therefore let us Hope that in his times we shall both see and enjoy the same we Hope for. Tit.

FOURTHLY, Yea, that all ground of doubt and scruple as to this, might be removed out of the way; when Christ, who as to what was last said, is our Hope, shall come, he shall bring that Grace and Mercy with him, that shall even from before his Judgment Seat, remove all those things that might have any tendency in them to deprive us of our Hope, or of the thing hoped for by us. Hence Peter bids us be sober and Hope to the end, for the grace that shall be brought unto us at the Revelation of Jesus Christ. Also as to this, Jude, the Servant of Jesus Christ joyns with him, saying, Keep your selves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto Eternal life. Here then you see that there is Grace and Mercy still for us in reversion, Grace and Mercy to be brought unto us at the Revelation, or second coming of Jesus Christ: How then can we be hindred of our Hope? For transporting mercy will then be busie for them that indeed have here the Hope of Eternal life. And they shall be mine, saith the Lord, in the Day that I make up my Jewels; and I will spare him, as a Man spareth his own Son that serveth him. 2 1 Tim 1. 1 Pet. 13. Jude Mala. 3. 16.

None knows the Mystery of Gods Will in all things revealed in his Word: Therefore many Texts are looked over, or laid by, as those whose Key doth go too hard; nor will I boast of any singular knowledge in any particular thing. Yet methinks since Grace and Mercy was not only brought by Christ when he came into the World, but shall be brought again with him when he comes in his Fathers glory; It signifies, that as the first brought the beginning of Eternal life to us while we were enemies; This second will bring the full enjoyment of it to us, while we are Saints, attended with many imperfections: And that as by the first Grace, all unworthiness was pardoned and passed by: So by this second Grace, the Grace that is to be brought unto us at the Revelation of Jesus Christ, all shortness in duties, and failings in performances, shall be spared also; And we made possessors by vertue of this Grace and Mercy, of the blessings hoped for, to wit, the blessings of eternal life.

BUT thus much for the duty contained in the exhortation, to wit, of hoping. I shall therefore come in the next place, to treat of the well managing of this duty with referece to its primary object, which is, the Lord himself. Let Israel Hope in the Lord. There is a general object of Hope, and there is a particular object; there is a common object, and there is a special one. Of the general and common object, to wit, of Heaven and Happiness, I have said something already; wherefore it remains that 2

now we come and treat of this particular and ſpecial object of our Hope: Let Iſrael Hope in the [Lord.] The LORD therefore is to be the particular, and ſpecial object of our Hope: Let Iſrael Hope in the Lord. Now in that there is not only a duty here exhorted to, but a direction for the better management of that duty, to the particular and ſpecial object upon which this duty ſhould be exerciſed; It ſuggeſteth how apt good Man are, eſpecially in times of trouble (the caſe of Iſrael now) to fix their Hopes in other things, than on the Lord. We have ſeen a great deal of this in our days; our days indeed have been days of trouble, eſpecially ſince the diſcovery of the Popiſh Plot, for then we began to fear cutting of Throats, of being burned in our beds, and of ſeeing our Children daſhed in pieces before our Faces. But looking about us, we found we had a gracious King, brave Parliaments, a ſtout City, good Lord Maiors, honeſt Sherifs, ſubſtantial Laws againſt them, and theſe we made the object of our Hope, quite forgetting the direction in this exhortation, Let Iſrael Hope in the Lord. For indeed the Lord ought to be our Hope in Temporals, as well as in Spirituals, and Eternals. Wherefore Iſrael of old were checked under a ſuppoſition, of placing their Hope for Temporals in Men, It is better to truſt in the Lord, than to put confidence in Man. It is better to truſt in the Lord, than to put confidence in Princes. And again, put not your truſt in Princes, nor in the Son of Man, in whom there is no help. This implyeth that there is in us an incidency to forget God our Hope, and to put confidence in ſome thing elſe. And to be ſure we ſhall find it the more difficult to make the Lord our Hope only, when things that are here, tho deceitfully, profer us their help.

BUT my deſign is not to treat of the object of Hope, but with reference to the next World. And as to that we muſt take heed that we ſet our Hope in God, in God in the firſt place, and in nothing below or beſides himſelf. To this end it is that he has given us his Word, and appointed a Law to Iſrael.

FIRST, becauſe of his own Grace he is become the ſpecial object of Hope, deſigning HIMSELF in the moſt ſpecial ſenſe to be the portion of his People. The Lord is my portion, ſaith my Soul, therefore will I hope in him. Wherefore this we muſt look well to, and take heed that we miſs not of this object. This is the ſpecial object, the ultimate object, the object that we cannot be without, and that ſhort of which we cannot be happy, as God willing, ſhall be ſhewed more anon. God is not only happineſs in himſelf, but the life of the Soul, and him that puts goodneſs into every thing in the next World, in which goodneſs ſhall be found. And this our Lord Jeſus Chriſt himſelf affirmeth, when he ſaith, I am the way, to wit, the way to life and happineſs. And yet he ſaith I am the way to the Father, for that it is HE that is the Fountain and Ocean of happineſs and bliſs.

SO then, that we might in the next World be Heirs of the higheſt good, God has made us Heirs of his own good ſelf, Heirs of God and joynt-Heirs with Chriſt, Heirs of God through Chriſt. This God, this eternal God therefore is neceſſity to be the object of our Hope, becauſe he is of Grace become our Hope. The Church in Heaven, called the Body and Temple of God, is to be an habitation for himſelf, when it is finiſhed, to dwell in forever and ever. This then we hope for, to wit, to be poſſeſſed at that day with Eternal life, Eternal glory. Now this Eternal life and Eternal glory, is through God, the Hope of his People. And for this end, and to this bliſs, are the called and regenerate in this World, That being juſtified by his grace, we ſhould be made Heirs, according to the Hope of Eternal life.

NOR can it be that Heaven and happineſs, ſhould ever be the portion of them that make not God their Hope; any more than ſuch a Lady ſhould hope to enjoy the Eſtate of ſuch a Lord, who firſt makes not the Lord himſelff her Husband. Heaven, Heaven is the talk of the ignorant, while the God of Heaven they cannot abide. But ſhall ſuch ever come to glory! But,

SECONDLY, God muſt be the ſpecial object of our Hope, and him in ſpecial that muſt be enjoyed by us in the next World, or nothing can make us happy. We will ſuppoſe now for the illuſtrating of this matter, that which is not to be ſuppoſed: As,

1. SUPPOSE a Man when he dieth ſhould go to Heaven, that Golden place, what good would this do him, if he was not poſſeſſed of the God of it? It would be, as to ſweetneſs, but a thing unſavoury; as to durableneſs, but a thing uncertain; as to ſociety, as a thing forlorn; and as to life, but a place of death. All this is made appear by the Angels that fell; for when fallen, what was Heaven to them? Suppoſe they ſtaid but one quarter of an hour there after their fall, before they were caſt out, What ſweetneſs found they there, but Guilt? what ſtay, but a continual fall of heart and mind? what ſociety, but to be abandoned of all? and what life, but death in its perfection? Yea, if it be true that ſome think, that for the promoting of Grace, they are admitted yet to enter that place to accuſe the Saints on earth; yet what do they find there, but what is grievous to them? Tis the preſence of God that makes Heaven Heaven in all its beauteouſneſs. Hence David when he ſpeaks of Heaven ſays, who have I in Heaven but thee? As who ſhould ſay, what would Heaven yield to me for delights, if I was there without my God? 'tis the preſence of God that will make Heaven ſweet to who are his. And as 'tis that that makes the place, ſo 'tis intereſt in him that makes the company, and the deeds that are (done) there, pleaſant to the Soul. What ſolace can he that is without God, tho he were in Heaven, have with Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, the Prophets, and Angels? how could he joyn in their Thanks, and Praiſes, and Bleſſings of him for ever and ever in whoſe Favour, Mercy, and Grace they are not concerned?

2. SUPPOSE a Man, when he dieth, ſhould be made to live forever, but without the enjoyment of God; what good would his life do him? Why, it would be filled full of Horror, Darkneſs, Deſolation, Sorrow, and all things

1 Tim. 6. 12, 19. 1 Pet. 5. 10. Joh. 5. 20.

Tit. 3. 7.

that would tend to make it bitter to the Soul, Witneſs they that live in hell, if it be proper to ſay they live in hell. It is no more poſſible for a Man to live happily (were he poſſeſſed of all that Heaven and life could afford him) ſuppoſe him to be without intereſt in God; than it is for a Man that hath all the enjoyments of this World, if the Sun was taken from him out of the firmament. As all things, whether it be Heaven, Angels, Heavenly pleaſures and delights have had their being of him: So their being is continued by him, and made ſweet of him.

NOW for the well managing of our Hope with reference to this ſpecial object of it, there are theſe things to be conſidered; and now I ſpeak to all.

WE muſt know him right, we muſt come to him right: Firſt, we muſt know him right. Joh. 17.1, 2, 3. It is eſſential to happineſs and ſo to the making of the God of Heaven our Hope, to know him rightly. It is not every fancy, or every imagination of God, that thou mayeſt have, that will prove that therefore thou knoweſt God aright. In him there is no variableneſs nor Jam. 1. ſhadow of turning, he only is what he is, what imaginations ſoever we have of him. We may ſet up Idols, and images of him, as much in our minds as ſome do in their Houſes and in their Temples, and be as great, tho not ſo Pro. 2.1, groſs Idolaters as they. Now if thou wouldſt 2, 3, 4, 5. know him thou muſt diligently feel for him in Acts 17. his works, in his Word, and in his ways, if 27. perhaps thou mayeſt find the knowledge of him.

27. SECONDLY, Beware when thou haſt found him, that thou go to him by his Son, whom he has ſanctified and ſent into the World, to be the way for Sinners to go to God. And ſee that thou keepeſt in this path always, for out of him he is found intolerable, and a conſuming Fire.

THIRDLY, Buſy thy ſelf with all thy Joh. 3. 36. might to make an intereſt in his Son (and he 2 Joh. 9. will willingly by thy Saviour) for he muſt become thine before his Father can be the object of thy Hope. He that hath the Son, hath the Father, but contrariwiſe he that hath not him has neither.

FOURTHLY, Stay not in ſome tranſient comforts, but abide reſtleſs till thou ſeeſt an union twixt thee and this bleſſed one. To wit, that he is a Root, and thou a Branch; that he is head, and thou a member. And then ſhall thou know that the caſe is ſo between Rom. 4. 4, 5. thee and him, when Grace and his Spirit has 1 Cor. 6. made thee to lay the whole ſtreſs of thy Juſtifi- 17. cation upon him, and has ſubdued thy heart and mind to be one Spirit with him.

28. FIFTHLY, This done, Hope thou in God, for he is become thy Hope, that is, the object of it. And for thy incouragement ſo to do.

1. CONSIDER that he is able to bear Pſal. 27. up thy heart, and has ſaid he will do it, as to 14. this very thing, to all thoſe that thus Hope in Pſal. 31. him: Be of good courage, and he ſhall ſtrengthen 24. your heart, all ye that Hope in the Lord.

IT is manifeſt, as was ſaid before, that many difficulties lie in the way of hoping; but God will make them difficulties eaſy, by ſtrengthening the Heart of him that hopeth, to Hope. He has a way to do that, which no creature can hinder, by the bleſſed work of his Holy Spirit; he can ſhew us he loves us, that he may incourage our Hope.

2. AS he can work in us for our incouragement, ſo he can and will, as was ſaid before, himſelf in his time anſwer our Hope, by becoming our Hope himſelf. The Lord ſhall be the Hope of his People, and the ſtrength of the Joel Children of Iſrael.

3. His faithfulneſs alſo is a great incouragement to his, to Hope for the accompliſhment of all that he hath promiſed unto his People. Hath he ſaid it, and ſhall he not make it good? When he promiſed to bring Iſrael into the Land of Canaan, he accompliſhed it to a tittle. There failed not Jo. ought of any good thing which the Lord had ſpoken 45. to the houſe of Iſrael; all came to paſs. Alſo what Chr. he with his Mouth had promiſed to David, 14. with his hand he fulfilled to Solomon in the view 22. of all the thouſands of Iſrael. I will omit 2 Ch. making mention again of the incouragments 7. ſpoken of before, and ſhall now come to the third thing ſpecified in this part of the Text, to wit, to ſhew more diſtinctly, who, and what particular perſons they are, who are concerned in this exhortation to Hope.

THEY are put, as you ſee, under this general term [Iſrael] Let Iſrael Hope in the Lord; And he ſhall ſave Iſrael from all his troubles.

ISRAEL is to be taken three ways, (in the Scripture)

1. FOR ſuch that are Iſrael after the Fleſh.

2. FOR ſuch as are Iſrael after God, or the Spirit.

3. FOR ſuch as are ſuch neither after the Fleſh nor the Spirit; but in their own fancies, and carnal imaginations only.

FIRST, Iſrael is to be taken for thoſe that are ſuch after the fleſh; that is, for thoſe that ſprang from the loins of Jacob, and are Rom. called, ISRAEL, after the Fleſh, the Chil- 7, 8 dren of the Fleſh. Now theſe, as ſuch, are not 1 Cor. the Perſons intereſted in this exhortation, for 18. by the Fleſh comes no true Spiritual and Eter- Phil. nal Grace. Men are not within the bounds of 4, 5, 6 the promiſe of Eternal life as they are the Children of the Fleſh, either in the more groſs or more refined ſenſe. Jacob was as Spiritual a Father as any he, I ſuppoſe, that now profeſſeth the Goſpel; but his Spiritualneſs could not convey down to his Children, that were ſuch only after the Fleſh, that Spirit and Grace that cauſeth ſound converſion, and Salvation by Jeſus Chriſt. Hence Paul counts it a carnal thing to glory in this; and tels us plainly, if he had heretofore known Chriſt thus, that is, to have been his Brother, or Kinſman according to the Fleſh, or after that, he would henceforth 2 Cor. know him, that is, ſo, no more. For tho the 16, 17 Children of Iſrael be as the ſand of the Sea; Rom. yet not that multitude, but the remnant that 27. the Lord hath choſen and ſhall call, ſhall be Joel ſaved. 32.

THIS therefore is as an Arrow againſt the Face of that falſe Doctrin that the Jews leaned upon, to wit, that they were in the ſtate of grace, and the everlaſting favour of God, be cauſe cauſe the Children and Off-ſpring of Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob. But SECONDLY, Iſrael may be taken for ſuch, as are neither ſo after the Fleſh, nor the 9. Spirit, but in their own Fancy and Imagina- 3.9. tion only: And ſuch I take to be all thoſe that you read of in Rev. 2. 3. which ſaid, They were Jews, and were not, but did lie.

2. THESE I take to be thoſe Carnal Goſpel- 9. ers, that from among the Gentiles pretended themſelves to be Jews inwardly, whoſe Circumciſion is that of the Heart in the Spirit, when they were ſuch only in their own Fancies and Conceits, and made their Profeſſion out as a lie.

ABUNDANCE of theſe there are at this day in the World, men who know neither the Father, nor the Son, nor any thing of the way of the Spirit, in the work of Regeneration, and yet preſume to ſay, they are Jews; that is, truly and ſpiritually the Seed of Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob: For now, he is not a Jew who is one outwardly, neither is that Circumciſion which is outward in the Fleſh; but he is a Jew which is one inwardly, and Circumciſion is that of the heart in the Spirit, whoſe Praiſe is not of Men, but of God.

AND although it may pleaſe ſome now to 3. 2. ſay, as they of old ſaid to them of the Captivity, We ſeek your God, as ye do; yet at laſt 2.20. it will be found, that as they, ſuch have no Portion, nor Right, nor Memorial in Jeruſalem. And I would from hence, caution all to take heed of preſuming to count themſelves Jews, unleſs they have a ſubſtantial Ground ſo to do: For to do this without a good bottom, makes all our Profeſſion a lie; and not only ſo, but it hindreth us of a ſight, of a want of an Intereſt in Jeſus Chriſt, without which we cannot be ſaved; yea, ſuch an one is THE great Self-Deceiver, and ſo the worſt Deceiver of all: For he that deceives his OWN ſelf, his 1. OWN Heart is a Deceiver in the worſt ſenſe; 5. nor can any diſappointment be like unto that, which caſts away Soul and Body at once. Oh Slender Thread! that a Man ſhould think that becauſe he fancieth himſelf an Iſraelite indeed, that therefore he ſhall go for ſuch an one in the day of Judgment, or that he ſhall be able to cheat God, with a pitiful ſay-ſo.

1. THIRDLY, But the Iſrael under conſide- 16. ration in the Text, is Iſrael after God or the Spirit; hence they are called the Iſrael of God, becauſe they are made ſo of him, not by Generation, nor by Fancy, but by Divine Power.

32. AND thus was the firſt of this Name made ſo, Thy Name ſhall be called no more Jacob, but Iſrael: This then is the Man concerned in the Text, Let Iſrael hope in the Lord; to wit, Iſrael that is ſo of Gods making, and of Gods Allowance: For Men are not debarred from calling themſelves after this moſt godly Name, provided they are ſo indeed; all that is dangerous is, when Men ſhall think this Priviledge comes by carnal Generation, or that their fancying of themſelves to be ſuch, will bear them out in the day of Judgment. Otherwiſe if Men become the true Servants of God by Chriſt, they have, as I ſaid, an Allowance, ſo to ſubſcribe themſelves. One ſhall ſay, I am the Lords, and another ſhall call himſelf by the Name of Jacob, and another ſhall ſubſcribe with his Hand unto the Lord, and ſurname himſelf by the name of Iſrael: But then for the further deſcribing of ſuch, they muſt be Men of circumciſed and tender Hearts, they muſt be ſuch which Worſhip God in the Spirit, and that rejoyce in Chriſt Jeſus, and that have no Confidence in the Fleſh; for theſe are the Nathaniels, the Iſraelites INDEED, in whom there is no Guile; and theſe are they that are intended in the Exhortation, when he ſaith, Let Iſrael hope in the Lord. Iſa. 44. 5. Phil. 3. 3. Joh. 1. 47.

FIRST, for theſe are formed for that very end, that they might Hope in the Lord; yea, the Word and Teſtament is given to them for this purpoſe. 32. Pſal. 78. 5, 6, 7.

SECONDLY, theſe are Priſoners of Hope all the time they are in the ſtate of nature, even as the whole Creation is ſubjected under Hope, all the time of its Bondage, by the Sin and Villany of Man; and unto them it ſhall be ſaid in the Diſpenſation of the fulneſs of time, Return to the ſtrong Hold ye Priſoners of Hope; as certainly, as that which is called the Creature it ſelf, ſhall be delivered from the Bondage of Corruption, into the glorious liberty of the Children of God. Zech. 9. 11, 12. Rom. 8. 18, 19, 20, 21.

ONLY here, as I ſaid before, let all Men have a care in this thing; this is the Pinnacle, the Point; he that is right here, is right in all that is neceſſary to Salvation; but he that miſſes here, can by no means be right any where to his Soul's advantage in the other World.

IF I ſhould a little improve the Text, where this Title is firſt given to Man, and ſhew the Poſture that he was in, when 'twas ſaid to him, Thy Name ſhall be called Iſrael; and ſhould alſo debate upon the cauſe or ground of that, An Iſraelite INDEED, thou mighteſt not Repent it who ſhall read it; and therefore a few Words to each. 33.

1. WHEN Jacob received the Name of Iſrael, he was found wreſtling with the Angel; yea, and ſo reſolved a Wreſtler was he, that he purpoſed, now he had begun, not to give out without a Bleſſing, I will not let thee go, ſaid he, except thou bleſs me. Diſcouragements he had while he Wreſtled with him, to have left off before he obtained his deſire; for the Angel bid him leave off; let me go, ſaid he: He had Wreſtled all Night and had not prevailed, and now the Day brake upon him, and conſequently his Diſcouragement was like to be the greater, for that now the Majeſty and Terribleneſs of him with whom he Wreſtled, would be ſeen more apparently; but this did not Diſcourage him: Beſides, he loſt the uſe of a Limb as he Wreſtled with him; yet all would not put this Iſrael out: Pray he did, and Pray he would, and nothing ſhould make him leave off Prayer, until he had obtained, and therefore he was called Iſrael: For as a Prince haſt thou had Power with God and with Man, and haſt prevailed Gen. 32. 24, 32. Gen. 32.

A Wreſtling Spirit of Prayer is a Demonſtration of an Iſrael of God; this Jacob had, this he made uſe of, and by this he obtained the name of Iſrael: A Wreſtling Spirit of Prayer in Straits, Difficulties and Diſtreſſes; a Wreſtling Spirit of 34.

Prayer

Prayer when alone in Private, in the Night, when no Eye ſeeth but Gods; then to be at it, then to lay hold of God, then to Wreſtle, to hold faſt, and not to give over until the Bleſſing is obtained, is a Sign of one that is an Iſrael of God.

Joh. 1.47. BEHOLD an Iſraelite indeed in whom is no Guile: This was the Teſtimony of the ver. 46. Lord Jeſus concerning Nathaniel. Nathaniel was perſwaded by Philip to come to Jeſus, and as he was coming, Jeſus ſaith to the reſt of the Diſciples concerning him, Behold an Iſraelite indeed, in whom is no Guile: Then ſaid ver. 48. Nathaniel to Jeſus, Whence knoweſt thou me? Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto him, before that Philip called thee, when thou waſt under the Fig-tree, I ſaw thee. Nathaniel as Jacob was at Prayer, at Prayer alone under the Fig-tree, Wreſtling in Prayer; for what, no Man can certainly tell, but probably for the Meſſias, or for the Reve- Luk. 3. 15, 16. lation of him: For the ſeeing Jews were convinced, that the time of the Promiſe was out; and all Men were in expectation concerning John, whether he might not be he. But Nathaniel was under the Fig-tree alone with God, to enquire of him, and that with great Earneſtneſs and Sincerity; elſe the Lord Jeſus would not thus have excuſed him of Hypocriſie, and juſtified his action as he did, concluding from what he did there, that he was a true Son of Jacob; and ought, as he, to have his Name changed from what his Parents gave him, to this given him of Chriſt, An Iſraelite indeed. Wherefore from both theſe places, it is apparent, that a Wreſtling Spirit of Prayer in Private, is one of the beſt ſigns, that this or that Man or Woman is of Iſrael; and conſequently ſuch, who are within the compaſs of the Exhortation here, ſaying, Let Iſrael hope in the Lord.

35. I ſay it is this Wreſtling Spirit of Prayer with God alone; for as for that of Publick Prayer (though I will not condemn it) it gives not ground for this Character, notwithſtanding all the Flouriſhes and Excellencies that may therein appear. I am not unſenſible what Pride, what Hypocriſie, what Pretences, what Self-ſeekings of Commendations and Applauſe, may be countenanced by thoſe concerned in, or that make publick Prayers; and how little thought or ſavour of God, may be in all ſo ſaid; but this Cloſet, Night, or alone Prayer, is of an other ſtamp, and attended, at leaſt ſo I judge, with that Senſe, thoſe Deſires, that Simplicity, and thoſe Struglings, wherewith that in publick is not. Nay, I think verily, a Man cannot addict himſelf to theſe moſt ſolemn Retirements, without ſome of Jacobs and Nathaniels Senſe and Sincerity, Wreſtlings and Reſtleſneſs for Mercy: Wherefore laying aſide all other, I ſhall abide by this; That the Man that is, as I have here deſcribed, is not an Iſraelite of the Fleſh, nor one ſo only in his Fancy or Luk. 2 37. Act. 26. 5, 6, 7. Imagination, but one made ſo of God; one that is called a Child of Promiſe, and one to whom this Exhortation doth belong: Let Iſrael hope in the Lord; to wit, they that ſerve God by Prayer Day and Night: Theſe I ſay are Iſrael, the Iſrael Pſal. 131. 3. of God: And let theſe hope in the Lord, from now, henceforth, and forever.

36. Having thus briefly touched upon thoſe three things, that are contained in the matter of the Exhortation; I now come to ſpeak a word to the manner of Praiſes, by which the Exhortation is preſented to us, Let Iſrael hope; he doth not ſay, Iſrael hath Hoped; Iſrael did Hope, or Iſrael can Hope, but LET Iſrael hope in the Lord. LET is a word very copious, and ſometimes ſignifieth this, and ſometimes that, even according as the nature or reaſon of the thing under Debate, or to be expreſſed, will with Truth and Advantage bear: LET him Hope.

FIRST, ſometimes LET is equivalent to a Command; Let every Soul be ſubject to the higher Powers, this is a Command: LET all things be done decently and in Order, this alſo is a Command: So here, LET Iſrael hope, this alſo is a Command; and ſo enjoyns a Duty upon Iſrael; for why, ſince they ſeek for Mercy, ſhould they not have it? Now a Command lays a very ſtrong obligation upon a Man, to do this or an other Duty. He commandeth all Men every where to Repent, but Iſrael only to Hope in his Mercy: Now take the Exhortation and convert it into a Commandment, and it ſheweth us,

1. IN what good earneſt God offers his Mercy to his Iſrael; he commands them to Hope in him, as he is and will be ſo to them.

2. IT ſuppoſes an Impediment in Iſrael, as to the faculty of Receiving or Hoping in God for Mercy; we that would have God be Merciful, we that cry and pray to him to ſhew us Mercy, have yet that Weakneſs and Impediment in our Faith, which greatly hindreth us from a ſtedfaſt Hoping in the Lord for Mercy.

3. IT ſuggeſteth alſo, that Iſrael SINS if he Hopeth not in God; God would not that all ſhould attempt to Hope, becauſe they have no Faith; for he is for having of them firſt Believe, knowing that it is in vain to think of Hoping, until they have Believed; but Iſrael has Believed, and therefore God has commanded them to Hope, and they Sin if they obey him not in this, as in all other Duties. He commands thee, I ſay, ſince thou haſt believed in his Son, to Hope, that is, to expect to ſee his Face in the next World with Joy and Comfort; this is Hoping, this is thy Duty, this God commands thee.

SECONDLY, as this word LET is 37. ſometimes equivalent to a Command, ſo it is expreſſed ſometimes alſo to ſhew a Grant Leave, or Licenſe to do a thing; ſuch are theſe that follow, LET us come boldly to the Throne of Heb. chap. 22, 4. Grace; LET us draw near with a true Heart; LET us hold faſt the Profeſſion of our Faith without wavering. Here alſo this manner of expreſſing the thing may be taken in the ſame ſenſe, to wit, to ſhew that Iſrael has a Grant, a Leave, a Licenſe, to truſt in the Lord. And oh! what a Priviledge is this, but who believes it? And yet as truly as God has granted to Jacob, to Iſrael, Repentance unto Life, and by that means has made him fly for Refuge, to lay hold of Chriſt ſet before him as a Juſtifier; ſo has he granted him leave and licenſe to truſt in him forever, and to Hope for his ſavour in the next World.

AND

AND if you take the word in this ſenſe, to wit, for a Grant, Leave or Licence, to Hope in God; Then

1. THIS ſhews how liberal God is of himſelf, and things to Iſrael: Let Iſrael Hope in me, Truſt to me, expect good Things at my Hand, I give him Leave and Licence to do it: Let him live in a full expectation of being with me, and with my Son in Glory, I give him Leave to do ſo; he has Licence from me to do ſo.

2. UNDERSTAND the Word thus, and it ſhews us with what Boldneſs and Confidence, God would have us Hope in him: They that have Leave and Licence to do a thing, may do it with Confidence and Boldneſs, without miſgivings and reluctances of Mind, this is our Priviledge; we may live in a full aſſurance of Hope, unto the end, we may Hope perfectly to the end, we have Leave, Licence, and a Grant to do it.

3. UNDERSTAND the Word thus, and it alſo ſhews you how muddy, how dark thoſe of Iſrael are, and how little they are acquainted with the Goodneſs of their God, who ſtand ſhrinking at his door like Beggars, and dare not in a Godly ſort be bold with his Mercy: Wherefore ſtandeſt thou thus with thy If's and thy O-buts, O thou poor benighted Iſraelite! Wherefore putteſt thou thy Hand in thy Boſom, as being afraid to touch the Hem of the Garment of thy Lord? Thou haſt a Leave, a Grant, a Licence, to Hope for Good to come, thy Lord himſelf has given it to thee, ſaying; LET Iſrael hope in the Lord.

THIRDLY, this Word LET is alſo
4. ſometimes uſed by way of Rebuke and Snub, Let her alone, for her Soul is vexed; Let her
4. alone, why trouble ye her? Refrain from theſe
38. Men, and Let them alone; and it may alſo ſo be taken here. But if ſo, then it implies that God in this Exhortation, rebuketh thoſe evil Inſtruments, thoſe fallen Angels, with all others that attempt to hinder us in the exerciſe of this Duty. As Boaz ſaid to his Servants, when Ruth was to Glean in his Field; LET her Glean even among the Sheaves, and reproach her not: We have indeed thoſe that continually endeavour to hinder us of living in the full aſſurance of Hope, as to being with God and with Chriſt in Glory: But here's a Rebuke for ſuch; LET Iſrael hope in the Lord. And it ſhews us,

1. THAT what Suggeſtions come from Satan to make us that are Iſraelites to doubt, come not for that end, by vertue of any Commiſſion that he hath from God; God has rebuked him in the Text, and you may ſee it alſo
1, elſewhere: Theſe Temptations therefore are rather forged of Malice, and of deſpite to our Faith and Hope, and ſo ſhould be accounted by us.

2. THIS ſhews us alſo, that we ſhould take heed of crediting of that which comes unto us, to hinder our Hope in the Lord; leſt we take part with Satan, while God rebuketh him, and countenanceth that which fights againſt the Grace of God in us.

3. IT ſhews us alſo, that as Faith, ſo Hope, cannot be maintained, but with great difficulty, and that we ſhould endeavour to maintain it, and hope, tho very difficulty.

FOURTHLY, this Word LET is ſometimes uſed by way of Requeſt or Entreaty: I pray thee LET Tamar my Siſter come: LET it be granted to the Jews to do, &c. And if it be ſo to be taken here, or if in the beſt ſenſe this Interpretation of it may here be admitted, the conſideration thereof is amazing; for then 'tis all one as if God by the Mouth of his Servant, the Penman of this Pſalm, did entreat us to Hope in him: And why this may not be implyed here, as well as expreſſed elſewhere, I know not: God did beſeech you by us; we pray you in Chriſt's ſtead, be ye Reconciled to God. Why ſhould God beſeech us to Reconcile to him, but that we might Hope in him? And if it be thus taken here, it ſhews, 39. 2 Sam. 13. 6. Eſt. 9. 13. 2 Cor. 5. 20.

1. THE great Condeſcenſion of God, in that he doth not only hold out to us the advantages of Hoping in God, but deſire that we ſhould Hope, that we might indeed be Partakers of thoſe advantages.

2. IT teaches us alſo Humility, and that always in the acts of Faith and Hope we ſhould mix Bluſhing, and Shame, with our Joy and Rejoycing: Kiſs the Ground, Sinner; put thy Mouth in the Duſt, if ſo there may be Hope. Lam. 3. 29.

FIFTHLY and Laſtly, This Word is uſed ſometimes by way of Caution; LET him that thinketh he ſtandeth, take heed leſt he fall. LET us fear therefore leſt a Promiſe being left us of entring into his Reſt, any of you ſhould ſeem to come ſhort of it: And if it ſhould be ſo taken here, Then,

40. 1 Cor. 10. 12. Heb. 4. 1.

1. THIS ſhews us the evil of Deſpair, and that we at times are incident to it; our daily Weakneſſes, our freſh Guilt, our often Decays, our aptneſs to forget the Goodneſs of God, are direct Tendencies unto this evil, of which we ſhould be aware; for it robs God of his Glory, and us of our Comfort, and gratifies none but the Devil and Unbelief.

2. IT ſheweth us that Deſpair is a fall, a falling down from our Liberty; our Liberty is to Hope; it is our Portion from God; for he hath ſaid that himſelf will be the Hope of his People. To do the contrary, is therefore a falling from God, a departing from God, through an evil heart of Unbelief. It is the greateſt folly in the World for an Iſraelite to deſpair; Why ſayeſt, thou O Jacob, and ſpeakeſt, O Iſrael, my way is hid from the Lord, Iſa. 40. 27, and my judgment is paſſed over from my God? 28, 29, Haſt thou not known, haſt thou not heard, 30, 31. that the everlaſting God, the Lord, the Creator of the ends of the Earth fainteth not? There is no ſearching of his Underſtanding. He gives power to the faint; and to them that have no might, he increaſeth ſtrength. Even the Youths ſhall faint and be weary, and the young Men ſhall utterly fall. But they that wait upon (that Hope in) the Lord, ſhall renew their ſtrength; they ſhall mount up with Wings as Eagles, they ſhall run and not be weary, and they ſhall walk and not faint.

41. NOW we come to thoſe Inferences that do naturally flow from this Exhortation, and they are in number four.

FIRST,

First inference. FIRST, That HOPE, and the exerciſe of it, is as neceſſary in its place, as FAITH, and the exerciſe of it. All will grant that there is need of a dayly exerciſe FAITH, and we are bid to HOPE unto the end: Becauſe Hope is the Grace that relieveth the Soul, when dark and weary. Hope is as the Bottle to the faint and ſinking Spirit. Hope calls upon the Soul, not to forget how far it is arrived in its progreſs towards Heaven. Hope will point and ſhew it the Gate afar off; And therefore it is called the Hope of Salvation. Hope exerciſeth it ſelf upon God.

1. BY thoſe miſtakes that the Soul hath formerly been guilty of, with reference to the Judgment that it hath made of God, and of his dealings with it. And this is an excellent vertue. I ſaid once, ſays the Church, that my Hope was periſhed from the Lord(but I was deceived) this I recall to mind, therefore have I Hope. That is, why, if I give way to ſuch diſtruſting thoughts, may I not be wrong again? Therefore will I Hope. This vertue, is that which belongs to this grace only; for this and this only is it that can turn unbelief and doubts to advantage.

Lam. 3. 18, 19, 20. 21.

I ſaid in my haſt, ſaid David, I am cut off from before thine Eyes: nevertheleſs I was miſtaken; thou heardeſt the voice of my ſupplications, when I cried unto thee. And what uſe doth he make of this? Why, an exhortation to all good Men to Hope, and to take advantage to Hope from the ſame miſtakes. I think I am caſt off from God, ſays the Soul; ſo thou thoughteſt afore, ſays Memory, but thou waſt miſtaken then, and why not the like again? and therefore will I hope. When I had concluded that God would never come near me more, yet after that he came to me again, and as I was then, ſo I am now, therefore will I hope.

2. TRUE Hope, in the right exerciſe of it upon God, makes no ſtick at weakneſs or darkneſs, but rather worketh up the Soul to ſome ſtay, by theſe. Thus Abraham's Hope wrought by his weakneſs. And ſo Paul, when I am weak, then I am ſtrong. I will therefore moſt gladly rejoyce in mine infirmities. But this cannot be done where there is no Hope; nor but by Hope: for it is Hope, and the exerciſe of it, that can ſay, now I expect that God ſhould bring good out of all this. And as for the dark, it is its Element to act in that, for Hope which is ſeen is not Hope: But we muſt Hope for that we ſee not. So David, Why art thou caſt down O my Soul! Hope thou in God. Chriſtians have no reaſon to miſtruſt the goodneſs of God, becauſe of their weakneſs, &c. I had fainted unleſs I had believed to ſee. By believing, there he means hoping to ſee, as the exhortation drawn from thence doth import.

Rom. 4. 2 Cor. 12. Rom. 8. Pſal. 27. 13, 14.

3. HOPE will make uſe of our calling, to ſupport the Soul, and to help it, by that, to exerciſe it ſelf in a way of expectation of good from God. Hence the Apoſtle prays for the Epheſians that they may be made to ſee what is the Hope of their calling; That is, what good that is which by their calling they have ground to Hope is laid up in Heaven, and to be brought unto them at the appearence of Jeſus Chriſt.

Epheſ. 1. 17, 18, 18.

FOR thus the Soul by this Grace of Hope will reaſon about this matter. God has called me; ſurely it is to a Feaſt. God has called me to the fellowſhip of his Son; ſurely it is, that I may be with him in the next World. God has given me the Spirit of Faith and prayer; ſurely it is that I might Hope for what I believe is, and wait for what I pray for. God has given me ſome taſtes already; ſurely it is to incourage me to Hope that he purpoſeth to bring me into the rich fruition of the whole.

4. HOPE will exerciſe it ſelf upon God by thoſe breakings, wherewith he breaketh his People for their ſins. The valley of Achor muſt be given for a door of Hope. The valley of Achor, what is that? Why the place where Achan was ſtoned for his wickedneſs, and the place where all Iſrael was afflicted for the ſame. I ſay hope can gather by this, that God has a love to the Soul. For when God hateth a Man, he chaſtiſeth him not for his treſpaſſes. If ye be without chaſtiſement, whereof all are partakers, then are ye Baſtards, and not Sons. Hence Moſes tells Iſrael, that when the Hand of God was upon them for their Sins, they ſhould conſider in their heart that as a Man chaſtneth his Son, ſo the Lord their God chaſtned them. And why thus conſider, but that a Door might be opened for Hope to exerciſe it ſelf upon God, by this. This is that alſo that is intended in Paul to the Corinthians, When we are judged we are chaſtned of the Lord, that we ſhould not be condemned with the World. Is not here a Door of Hope? and why a Door of Hope? but that by it, Gods People, when afflicted, ſhould go out by it, from deſpair by hope. But it is to be inferred

Hos. 2. 15. Heb. 12. 1 Cor. 11. 32.

SECONDLY, That the exerciſe of Hope upon God is very delightful to him. Elſe he would not have commanded and granted us a liberty to Hope, and have ſnibbed thoſe that would hinder. Behold, the Eye of Lord is upon them that fear him: upon them that Hope in his mercy: To deliver their Soul from death, and to keep them alive in famine.

Pſal. 33. 18, 19.

THAT God is much delighted in the exerciſe of this Grace, is evident, becauſe of the preparation that he has made for this Grace, wherewith to exerciſe it ſelf. For whatſoever things were writ aforetime, were writ for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the Scriptures might have hope.

MARK the whole Hiſtory of the Bible, with the relation of the wonderful works of God with his People, from the beginning of the World, are written for this very purpoſe, that we by conſidering and comparing, by patience and comfort of them might have hope. The Bible is the Scaffold or Stage that God has builded, for Hope to play his part upon in this World. It is therefore a thing very delightful to God, to ſee Hope rightly giving its colour before him. Hence he is ſaid, to laugh at the trial of the innocent: Why at his trial? Becauſe his trial puts him upon the exerciſe of hope. For then indeed there is work for hope when trials are ſharp upon us. But why is God ſo delighted in the exerciſe of this Grace of Hope?

Rom. 15. 4. Job 9. 23.

1. BECAUSE

1. BECAUSE Hope is a head Grace and governing; There are ſeveral Luſts in the Soul that cannot be maſtered, if Hope be not in exerciſe; Eſpecially if the Soul be in great and ſore trials. There is peeviſhneſs and impatience, there is fear and deſpair, there is doubting and mis-conſtruing of Gods preſent hand, and all theſe become Maſters, if Hope be not ſtirring; nor can any Grace beſides, put a ſtop to their tumultous raging in the Soul. But now Hope in God, makes them all huſh, takes takes away the occaſion of their working, and lays the Soul at the foot of God. Surely, ſays the Pſalmiſt, I have behaved and quieted my ſelf as a Child that is weaned of his Mother, my Soul is even as a weaned Child. But how came he to bring his Soul into ſo good a temper? why that is gathered by the exhortation following; Let Iſrael Hope in the Lord from henceforth and for ever. It was by hoping in the Lord that he quieted his Soul, and all its unruly ſinful paſſions.

2. AS Hope quaſheth and quieteth ſinful paſſions; ſo it putteth into order ſome Graces that cannot be put into order without it. As Patience, Meekneſs, Silence, and longſuffering, and the like. Theſe are all in a day of Trial, out of place, order and exerciſe, where Hope forbeareth to work.

I never ſaw a diſtruſting man, a patient Man, a quiet Man, a ſilent Man, and a meek Man, under the hand of God, except he was dead in ſin, at the time: But we are not now talking of ſuch. But now let a Man Hope in the Lord, and he preſently concludes, this Affliction is for my good, a ſign God loves me, and that which will work out for me a far more exceeding and Eternal weight of glory; and ſo it puts the Graces of the Soul into order: Wherefore Patience, by which a Man is bid to poſſeſs
1. or keep his Soul under the croſs, is called, The patience of Hope. So in another place, when he would have the Church Patient in tribulation, and continue inſtant in prayer, he bids them
12. rejoyce in Hope, knowing, that the other could not be done without it.

3. GOD takes much delight in the exerciſe of Hope, becauſe it conſtrueth all Gods diſpenſations, at preſent, towards it, for the
3. beſt; when he hath tryed me I ſhall come forth like Gold. This is the language of Hope. God, ſaith the Soul, is doing of me good, making of me better, refining of my inward Man. Take a profeſſor that is without Hope, and either he ſuffereth affliction of pride and onſtentation, or elſe he picks a quarrel with God and throws up All. For he thinks that God is about to undo him; but Hope conſtrueth all to the beſt, and admits no ſuch unruly paſſions to carry the Man away.

4. THEREFORE Hope makes the Man, be the trials what they will, to keep ſtill cloſe to the way and path of God. My
1. foot, ſaid hoping Job, hath held his ſteps, his way have I kept and not declined, neither have I gon back from the Commandment of his Lips.
14. And again, our heart is not turned back, neither have our ſteps declined from thy way; tho thou haſt ſore broken us in the place of Dragons, and covered us with the ſhadow of death. But how came they thus patiently to endure? Why, they by Hope put patience and prayer into exerciſe. They knew that their God was as it were but aſleep, and that in his time he would ariſe for their help, and when he did ariſe he would certainly deliver. Thus is this Pſalm applied by Paul. Rom. 8.

THIRDLY, There is alſo inferred from this exhortation, That the Hope of thoſe that are not Iſraelites, is not eſteemed of God. Let Iſrael Hope, the words are excluſive, ſhutting out the reſt. He doth not ſay, let Amalek Hope, let Babylon, or the Babylonians Hope; but even in and by this exhortation ſhutteth out both the reſt and their Hope from his acceptance. This being concluded, it follows, that ſome may hope and not be the better for their Hope. The Hypocrites Hope ſhall periſh: their Hope ſhall be as the giving up of the Ghoſt; For what is the Hope of hypocrite? Again, the Hope of unjuſt Men periſheth. There is a Hope that periſheth, both it and he that hoped with it, together. The reaſons are, Third inference. 47. Job 8. 13, 14. Chap. 11. 20. Chap. 27. 8. Pro. 11. 7.

1. BECAUSE it floweth not from Faith and experience, but rather from conceit and preſumption. Hope as I have told you, if it be right, cometh of Faith, and is brought forth by experience; but the Hope now under conſideration is alone, and has no right original, therefore not regarded. 'Tis not the Hope of God, but the Hope of Man; that is, It is not the Hope of God's working, but the Hope that ſtandeth in natural abilities. Thou waſheſt away the things that grow out of the duſt of the earth, and thou deſtroyeſt the Hope of Man. Whatſoever in religious matters is but of a carnal and earthly exiſtence, muſt be waſhed away when the overflowing Scourge ſhall at the end paſs over the World. Job. 14. 19. Iſa. 28. 17, 18, 19.

2. BECAUSE the Lord's, Mercy is not the object of it. The wordly Man makes Gold, or an arm of Fleſh, his Hope; that is, the object of it, and ſo he deſpiſeth God. Or if he be a religious hypocrite, his Hope terminates in his own doings; he truſteth, or hopeth, in himſelf that he is righteous. All theſe things are abhorred of God, nor can he with honour to his name, or in a compliance with his own eternal deſigns, give any countenance to ſuch a Hope as this. Job 31. 24. Jer. 3. 23. Luk. 18. 9.

3. THIS hope has no good effect on the heart and mind of him that hath it. It purifieth not the Soul, it only holds faſt a lie, and keeps a Man in a circuit, at an infinite diſtance from waiting upon God.

4. THIS Hope buſieth all the powers of the Soul about things that are of the World, or about thoſe falſe objects on which it is pitched; even as the Spider diligently worketh in her Web (unto which alſo this Hope is compared) in vain. This Hope will bring that Man that has it and and exerciſes it, to Heaven, when Leviathan is pulled out of the Sea with a hook; or when his Jaw is bored thorough with a Thorn: But as he that thinks to do this, hopeth in vain; So, even ſo will the Hope of the other be as unſucceſsful, So are the paths of all that forget God, and the hypocrites Hope ſhall periſh; whoſe Hope ſhall be cut off, and whoſe truſt ſhall be as the Spiders Web. He ſhall lean upon his Houſe, but it Job 41. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9.

Chap. 8. 13, 14, 15. shall not stand; he shall hold it fast, but it shall not endure. This is the Hope that is not accepted of God, nor the Persons that have it, preferred by him a whit before their own dung.

Chap. 3. 4, 5, 6, 7, 8.

48. FOURTHLY, There is also inferred from these Words, That Israel himself is subject to swerve in his Soul about the object of Hope. For this Text is to him (as a command and grant) so an instruction by which he is to be informed, how and upon whom to set his Hope. That Israel is apt to swerve as to the object of his Hope is evident, for that so much a do is made by the Prophets to keep him upon his God; in that so many Laws and Statutes are made to direct him to set his Hope in God: and also by his own confession. The fears also and the murmurings and the faintings that attend the godly in this life, do put the truth of this inference out of doubt. 'Tis true, the Apostle said that he had the sentence of Death in himself, that he might not trust, or hope, in himself, but in God that raiseth the dead. But this was an high pitch, Israel is not always here: There are many things that hinder.

Psal. 78. 7. Jer. 3. 23, 24, 25. Lam. 4. 17.

1. THE Imperfection of our Graces. There is no Grace perfected in the godly. Now it is incident to things defective, to be wanting in their course. Faith is not perfect; and hence the sensible Christian feels what follows; Love is not perfect, and we see what follows; and so of Hope and every other Grace; their imperfection makes them stagger.

Rom. 4.

2. ISRAEL is not yet beyond temptations. There is a deal to attend him with temptations, and he has a Soul so disabled by Sin, that at all times he cannot fix on God, that made him, but is apt to be turned aside to lying vanities. The very thing that Jonah was ensnared with.

Jona. 2. 8.

3. THE promising helps that seems to be in other things, are great hindrances to a steddy fixing, by Hope, on God; there are good frames of heart, enlargements in duties, with other the like, that have thorough the darkness, & the legality of our Spirits, been great hindrances to Israel. Not that their natural tendency is to turn us aside; but our corrupt Reason getting the upper hand, and bearing the stroak in Judgment, perverts our minds and consciences to the making of wrong conclusions upon them.

4. BESIDES, as the mind and conscience by Reason is oft deluded to draw these wrong conclusions upon our good frames of heart, to the removing of our Hope from the right object unto them; so by like reason, are we turned by unwholsom Doctrins, and a carnal understanding of the Word, to the very same thing: Cisterns, broken Cisterns that can hold no Water, Israel, even Gods People, are apt to make unto themselves to the forsaking of their God.

Jer. 2. 11, 12, 13.

49. THUS have I gone through the first part of the Text, which consists of an Exhortation to Hope in the Lord: And have shewed you,

1. THE matter contained therein.

3. SOMETHING of the reason of the manner of the Phraise.

3. AND have drawn, as you see, some Inferences from it.

I Now come to the second part of the Text, which is a reason urged to enforce the Exhortation. Let Israel Hope in the Lord. Why? For with the Lord there is mercy. There is the reason, let him Hope, for there is mercy; let him Hope in the Lord, for with him there is mercy.

THE reason is full and suitable. For what is the ground of despair, but a conceit that Sin has shut the Soul out of all interest in happiness; and what is the reason of that, but a persuasion that there is no help for him in God? Besides, could God do all but shew Mercy, yet the belief of that ability would not be a reason sufficient to encourage the Soul to Hope in God. For the Block, SIN, which cannot be removed, but by mercy, still lies in the way. The reason therefore is full and suitable, having naturally an inforcement in it, to the Exhortation.

AND first to touch upon the reason in a way general, and then to come to it more particularly.

LET Israel Hope in the Lord, for with the Lord there is mercy. Mercy to be bestowed, mercy designed to be bestowed.

FIRST, mercy to be bestowed. This must be the meaning: What if a Man has never so much Gold or Silver, or Food or Raiment; yet if he has none to comunicate, what is the distressed, or those in want, the better! What if there be Mercy with God, yet if he has none to bestow, what force is in the exhortation, or what shall Israel, if he hopeth, be the better? But God has Mercy to bestow, to give. He saith on this wise, I will give you the sure mercies of David. And again, The Lord give mercy to the house of Onesiphorus. Now then here lies the encouragement: The Lord has Mercy to give; he has not given away ALL his Mercy; his Mercy is not clean gon for ever. He has Mercy yet to give away, yet to bestow upon his Israel. Let Israel Hope in the Lord, for with the Lord there is Mercy.

Act. 13. 34. Isa. 55. 3. Psal. 18. 50. Psal. 147. 11.

SECONDLY, As there is with God, Mercy to be bestowed, so there is Mercy designed to be bestowed, or given to Israel. Some Men lay by what they mean to give away, and put that in a Bag by it self, saying, this I design to give away, this I purpose to bestow upon the poor. Thus God, he designeth Mercy for his People. Hence the Mercy that Gods Israel are said to be partakers of, is a Mercy kept for them. (And thou O God hast prepared of thy goodness for the poor) and laid up for them. This is excellent and is true, let Israel Hope in the Lord, for there is with him Mercy, kept, prepared, and laid up for them. When God designs the bestowing of Mercy, we may well Hope to be partakers. The Poor will go merrily to Weddings and Funerals, and Hope for an Alms all the way they go, when they come to understand that there is so much kept, prepared and laid up for them by the Bridegroom, &c. But HE keepeth Mercy for thousands.

Ezra 7. 28. Psal. 68. 10. Psal. 31. 19.

THIRDLY, As god has Mercies to bestow, and as he has designed to bestow them: So those Mercies are no fragments or the leavings of others: but Mercies that are full and compleat compleat to do for thee, what thou wanteſt, wouldeſt have, or canſt deſire. As I may ſo ſay, God has his Bags that were never yet untied, never yet broken up, but laid by him through a thouſand generations, for thoſe that he commands to Hope in his Mercy. As

9. Samuel kept the ſhoulder for Saul, and as God brake up that decreed place for the Sea, ſo
10. hath he ſet a part, and will break up his Mercy
19. for his People: Mercy and Grace that he gave us before we had a being, is the Mercy deſigned for Iſrael. Whole Mercies alotted to us; however Mercy ſufficient.

BUT to be a little more diſtinct.

FIRST, I find that the goodneſs of God to his People is diverſly expreſſed in his Word, ſometimes by the Word, GRACE; ſometimes by the Word, LOVE; and ſometimes by the Word, Mercy: even as our badneſs againg him is called, iniquity, tranſgreſſion and Sin.

When it it expreſſed by that Word, GRACE; then it is to ſhew, that what he doth, is of his his Princely Will, his Royal Bounty and Sovereign Pleaſure. When it is expreſſed by that Word LOVE, then it is to ſhew us that his affection was, and is in what he doth and that he doth what he doth for us, with complacency, and delight. But when it is ſet forth to us under the notion of Mercy, then it beſpeaks us to be in a State both wretched & miſerable, and that his Bowels & Compaſſions yearn over us in this our fearful plight.

NOW the Holy Ghoſt chuſeth (as it ſhould ſeem) in this place, to preſent us, with that goodneſs that is in Gods heart towards us rather under the term of Mercy, for that, as I ſaid before, it ſo preſenteth us with our miſery and his pity, and compaſſion; and becauſe it beſt pleaſeth us when we apprehend God in Christ, as one that has the love of compaſſion and pity for us. Hence we are often preſented with Gods goodneſs to us to cauſe us to Hope,
9. under the name of pity and compaſſion. In
103. his pity he redeemed them, and like as a Father
11. pitieth his Children; ſo the Lord pitieth
8. them that fear him. The Lord is very pitiful and of great Mercy; he alſo is gracious and
86. full of compaſſion. Thou O Lord! art a God
111. full of compaſſion, and thy compaſſions fail not.

THE Words being thus briefly touched upon
22. on; I ſhall come to treat of two things.

2. FIRST, more diſtinctly, I ſhall ſhew you what kind of Mercy is with the Lord, as a
5.6. reaſon to encourage Iſrael to Hope.
103. SECONDLY, And then ſhall ſhew what
119. is to be inferred from this reaſon, Let Iſrael Hope in the Lord, for with the Lord there is Mercy.
0. For the firſt of theſe; firſt, with him there is TENDER Mercy, and therefore let Iſrael Hope. Tender Mercy is Mercy IN Mercy; and that which Iſrael of old had in high eſtima-
1.1. tion, cried much for, and thoſe that God would deal with their Souls by that: Withhold not thy tender Mercy from me, ſaid David.
119. And according to the multitude of thy tender Mercies blot out my tranſgreſſions. And again, Let thy tender Mercy come unto me, that I may live: Now of this ſort of Mercies God has a great many, a multitude to beſtow upon his People. And they are theſe mentioned by the Word, to cauſe us to hope in him. And is not this alluring, is not this enticing to the Iſrael of God to Hope, when the object of their Hope is a God very pitiful, and of tender Mercy? Yea, a God whoſe tender Mercies are great, and many. Theſe are two things that this word Tender Mercy importeth.

1. THE firſt is, that Sin will put a Believer, if he giveth way thereto, into a very miſerable condition.

2. THAT God would have them Hope, that tho Sin may have brought any of them into this condition, the Lord will reſtore them with much pity and compaſſion. Let Iſrael Hope in the Lord, for with the Lord there is Mercy: Tender Mercy.

FOR the firſt of theſe, That Sin will put 53.
a Believer, if he gives way thereto, into a very miſerable condition, and that upon a double account.

1. FOR that it will bring him into fears of Damnation.

2. IN that it will make his Soul to be much pained under thoſe fears. We will wave the firſt, and come to the ſecond of theſe.

THE pains that Guilt will make, when it wounds the Conſcience, none knows, but thoſe to whom Sin is applied by the Spirit of God, in the Law. Yet all may read of it in the experience of the godly; Where this pain is compared to a wound in the fleſh, to fire in the bones, to the putting of bones out of joint, and the breaking of them aſunder. Pſal. 38. 3, 4, 7, 8. Pſal. 102. 3. Pſal. 22. 14. Lam. 1. 13. Chap. 3. 4.

HE that knows what Wounds and broken Bones are, knows them to be painful things: And he that knows, what miſery Sin will bring the Soul into with its Guilt, will conclude the one comes no whit ſhort of the other. But now, he that hath theſe Wounds and alſo theſe broken Bones, the very thoughts of a Man that can cure, and of a Bone-ſetter, will make him afraid, yea, quake for fear; eſpecially if he knows that though he has skill, he has a hard Heart and Fingers that are like Iron. He that handleth a Wound had need have Fingers like Feathers, or Down; to be ſure the Patient wiſheth they were. Tenderneſs is a thing of great worth to ſuch; and ſuch Men are much enquired after by ſuch; yea, their tenderneſs is an invitation to ſuch to ſeek after them. And the Iſa. 42. 3. thing is true in Spirituals. Wherefore David cried, as I ſaid before, Have Mercy upon me O Lord! according to the multitude of thy tender Mercies, blot out my tranſgreſſions. O handle me tenderly, Lord handle me tenderly, cried David. O cure me I beſeech thee, and do it with thy TENDER Mercy. Pſal. 51. 1.

NOW anſwerable to this, the Lord is ſet forth to Iſrael, as own with whom is Mercy, conſequently, Tender Mercy, Let Iſrael Hope in the Lord, for with the Lord there is Tender Mercy.

2. GOD therefore would have the wound- 54.
ded and bruiſed, and thoſe whoſe pains may be compared to the pains and pangs of broken Bones, to Hope that he will reſtore them with much pity and compaſſion, or as you have it before, in pity and Tender Mercy. See how he promiſeth to do it, by the Prophet, A Iſa. 42. 3.
bruiſed reed ſhall he not break: and the ſmoaking flax ſhall he not quench: See how tender he is in the action; When he saw him, he had Compassion on him, and went to him, and bound up his Wounds, Luk. 10. 33, 34, 35. pouring in Oyl and Wine, and set him on his own Beast, and brought him to an Inn, and took care of him: Every circumstance is full of Tenderness and Compassion. See also how angry he maketh himself with those of his Servants, that handle the Wounded or Diseased, without this Tenderness; and how he catcheth them out of their hand, with a purpose to deal more gently with them himself. The Diseased (saith he) have ye not strengthened, neither have ye healed that which was Sick, neither have ye bound up that which was broken, neither have ye brought again that which Ezek. 34. 4, 7, 15, 16. was driven away, neither have ye sought that which was lost; but with force and with cruelty have ye ruled them. Therefore ye Shepherds, hear the Word of the Lord: I will feed my Flock, and I will cause them to lye down, saith the Lord. I will seek that which was lost, and bring again that which was driven away, and will bind up that which is broken, and will strengthen that which was sick, Here is Encouragement to Hope, even according to the Reason urged; Let Israel hope in the Lord; for with the Lord there is Mercy, Tender Mercy.

55. SECONDLY, As with him is Mercy Tender, so there is with him Mercy that is Num. 14. 18. Great (for with him is great Mercy) The Lord is Long-suffering, and of great Mercy. When Tenderness accompanies want of Skill, the defect is great; but when Tenderness and great Skill meet together, such a Surgeon is a brave accomplish'd Man. Besides, some are more plagued with the sense of the greatness of their Sins, than others are; the Devil having placed or fixed the great sting there: These are driven by the greatness of Sin into despairing Thoughts, hotter than Fire: These have the greatness of their Sin betwixt God and them, like a great Mountain; yea, they are like a Cloud, that darkneth the Sun and Air. This Man stands under Caius's Gibbet, and has the Halter of Judas, to his own thinking, fastned about his Neck.

AND now cries he, GREAT Mercy, or NO Mercy, for little Mercy will do me no good: Such a poor Creature, thus expostulateth the case with God. Wilt thou shew Psal. 88. 10. Wonders to the Dead, shall the Dead arise and Praise thee? Lord! I have destroyed my self, can I live? My Sins are more than the Sands, can I live? Lord every one of them are Sins of the first Rate, of the biggest Size, of the blackest Line, can I live? I never read that Expression but once in all the whole Bible. Psal. 25. 11. For thy Names sake, O Lord, pardon mine Iniquity, for it is great: Not that there was but one Man in Israel that had committed great Iniquities, but because Men that have so done, have rather inclined to Despair, than to an Argument so against the Wind. If he had said, Pardon for they are little, his Reason had carried Reason in it; but when he saith, Pardon for they are great, he seems to stand like a Man alone. This is the common Language, if our Transgressions be upon us, and we pine away in them, Ezek. 33. 10. how shall we then live? Or thus, our Bones are dried, Chap. 37. 11. our Hope is lost, and we are cut off for our parts. Wherefore to such as these, good Wishes, tender Fingers and Compassion, without GREAT Mercy, can do nothing. But behold O thou Man of Israel, thou talkest of great Sins; answerable to this, the Scripture speaks of great Mercy; and thy great Sins, are but the Sins of a Man; but these great Mercies, are the Mercies of a God; yea, and thou art Exhorted, even because there is Mercy with him, therefore to trust thy Soul with ihm; Let Israel trust in the Lord; for with the Lord there is Mercy; great Mercy.

THIS therefore is a Truth of singular Consolation, That Mercy is with the Lord, that tender Mercy is with him, that great Mercy is with him; both tender and great: What would Man have more! But THIRDLY, As great Mercy is with the Lord to encourage us to Hope, so this Mercy that is great, is Rich; God is Rich in Mercy: There is Riches of Goodness, and Riches of Grace with him. Things may be great in quantity and little of value; but the Mercy of God is not so: We use to prize small things, when great worth is in them; even a Diamond as little as a Pea, is preferred before a Pibble, though as big as a Camel. Why here is Rich Mercy Sinner, here is Mercy that is Rich and full of vertue; a drop of it will cure a Kingdom! Ah but how much is there of it, says the Sinner? Oh abundance, abundance, for so saith the Text; let us fall now into the Hand of the Lord, for his (rich) Mercies are great: Some things are so Rich and of such vertue, that if they do but touch a Man, if they do but come nigh a Man, if a Man doth but look upon them, they have present operation upon him; but the very mentioning of Mercy, yea a very Thought of it, has sometimes had that vertue in it, as to cure a Sin-sick Soul: Here is vertuous Mercy.

INDEED Mercy, the best of Mercies, are little worth to a Self-righteous Man, or a Sinner fast asleep; we must not therefore make our esteems of Mercy, according to the judgment of the secure and heedless Man, but according to the verdict of the Word; nay, though the awakened Sinner, he that roareth for Mercy all day long, by reason of the disquietness of his Heart, is the likeliest among sinful Flesh; or as likely as another, to set a suitable estimate upon Mercy; yet his Verdict is not always to pass in this matter. None can know the RICHES of Mercy to the full, but he that perfectly knoweth the evil of Sin, the Justice of God, all the errors of Man, the Torments of Hell, and the Sorrows that the Lord Jesus underwent, when Mercy made him a Reconciler of Sinners to God: But this can be known by none, but the God whose Mercy it is: This is the Pearl of great Price.

THE richness of Mercy is seen in several Things.

1. IT can save from Sin, from great Sin, from all Sin.

2. IT can save a Soul from the Devil, from all Devils.

3. IT can save a Soul from Hell, from all Hells.

4. IT can hold us up in the midst of all Weaknesses.

5. IT can deliver from Eternal Judgment.

YEA, what is it that we have, or shall need, that that this vertuous Mercy cannot do for us? Let Iſrael Hope in the Lord; for with the Lord is RICH Mercy, Mercy full of vertue, and that can do great Things.

FOURTHLY, As the Mercies that are with the Lord, are Tender, Great and Rich, ſo there is a Multitude of them, and they are called manifold: There is a Multitude of theſe rich and vertuous Mercies. By Multitude, I underſtand Mercies of every ſort or kind; Mercies for this, and Mercies for the other Malady; Mercies for every Sickneſs, a Salve for every Sore. Some things that are rich and very full of vertue, have yet their Excellency extending it ſelf, but to ONE, or TWO, or THREE things for help; and this is their Leanneſs in the midſt of their Excellencies. But it is not thus with the Mercy of God: Some things that are rich and vertuous, are yet ſo only, but at certain ſeaſons; for there are times in which they can do nothing: But it is not ſo with this Tender, Great and Rich Mercy of God. There are ſome things, though rich, that are ſparingly made uſe of; but it is not ſo with this Mercy of God. There is a Multitude of them; ſo if one will not, another will: There is a Multitude of them; ſo one or other of them is always in their ſeaſon: There is a Multitude of them; and therefore it muſt not be ſuppoſed, that God is niggardly as to the communicating of them.

AS they are called a Multitude, ſo they are called Mercies manifold. There is no ſingle Flower in God's Goſpel-garden, they are all double and treble; there is a Wheel within a Wheel, a Bleſſing within a Bleſſing, in all the Mercies of God. Manifold: A Man cannot receive one, but he receives many, many folded up, one within another. For inſtance,

1. IF a Man receiveth Chriſt, who is called God's tender Mercy; why he ſhall find in him all the Promiſes, Pardons, Juſtifications, Righteouſneſſes and Redemptions, that are requiſit to make him ſtand clear before the Juſtice of the Law, in the ſight of God from Sin.

2. IF a Man receive the Spirit, he ſhall have as folded up in that (for this is the firſt unfolding it ſelf) many, very many Mercies: He ſhall have the Graces, the Teachings, the Sanctifications, the Comforts and the Supports of the Spirit; when he ſaith in one place, He will give the Spirit; he calleth that in another place, The good Things of God.

3. IF Man receive the Mercy of the Reſurrection of the Body (and God's People ſhall aſſuredly receive that in its time) what a Bundle of Mercies will be received, as wrapt up in that? He will receive Perfection, Immortality Heaven and Glory: And what is folded up in theſe things, who can tell?

I name but theſe three (for many more might be added) to ſhew you the Plenteouſneſs, as well as the Vertuouſneſs, of the Tender, Great and Rich, Mercy of God.

A Multitude: There is Converting Mercy, there is Preſerving Mercy, there is Glorifying Mercy; and how many Mercies are folded up in every one of theſe Mercies? None but God can tell.

A Multitude: There are Mercies for the faithful Followers of Chriſt, for thoſe of his that backſlide from him, and alſo for thoſe that ſuffer for him; and what Mercies, will by theſe be found folded up in their Mercies, they will better know, when they come to Heaven.

A Multitude of preventing Mercies, in Afflictions, in Diſappointments, in Croſs-providencies, there are with God: And what Mercicies are folded up in theſe afflicting Mercies, in theſe diſappointing Mercies, and in theſe merciful Croſs-providences, muſt reſt in the Boſom of him to be Revealed, who only is wonderful in Counſel, and excellent in Working.

A Multitude of Common Mercies; of every days Mercies, of every nights Mercies, of Mercies in Relations, of Mercies in Food and Rayment, and of Mercies in the want of theſe things there is; and who can number them? David ſaid, He daily was loaded with Gods Benefits: And I believe, if, as we are bound, we ſhould at all times return God thanks, for all particular Mercies particularly; it would be a Burden intollerable, and would kill us out of Hand. Pſal. 68. 19.

AND all this is written, that Iſrael might Hope in the Lord; Let Iſrael hope in the Lord; for with the Lord there is Mercy.

FIFTHLY, As the Mercies that are with the Lord, are Tender, Great, Rich, a Multitude and Manifold; ſo they are Mercies that diminiſh not in the uſing, but that rather increaſe in the exerciſing of them: Hence it is ſaid, Grace aboundeth, and hath abounded unto many; and that God is able to make all Grace abound towards us: The Grace of forgiveneſs I mean, wherein he hath abounded towards us: Now to abound, is to Flow, to Multiply, to Increaſe, to Greaten, to be more and more; and of this nature is the Mercy that is with the Lord: Mercy that will abound and increaſe in the uſing. Hence he is ſaid to Pardon abundantly, to Pardon and Multiply to Pardon: And again, to exerciſe loving kindneſs; to exerciſe it, that is, to draw it out to the length, to make the beſt advantage and improvement of every Grain and Quantity of it. The Lord, the Lord God, merciful and gracious, long-ſuffering, and abundant in goodneſs and truth. Rom. 5. 15, 2. 2 Cor. 9. 8. Eph. 1. 7, 8. Iſa. 55. 7. Jer. 9. 24. Exo. 34. 6.

MERCY to a Man under Guilt, and fear of Hell-fire, ſeems as a little ſhrunk up, or ſhrivled thing, there appears no quantity in it: There is Mercy, ſaid Cain, but there is not enough, and he died under that Conceit: Nor is it as to Judgment and Thought many times much better with the Iſrael of God. But behold when God ſets Mercy to work, it is like the Cloud that at firſt was but like a Man's hand, it increaſeth until it hath covered the face of Heaven: Many have found it thus, yea, they have found it thus in their Diſtreſs. Gen. 4. 13. 1 Kin. 18. 41, 42, 43, 44.

PAUL has this Expreſſion; The Grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant; that is, increaſed towards me exceedingly. 1 Tim. 1. 13, 14, 15.

AND this is the cauſe of that change of Thoughts, that is wrought at laſt in the hearts of the Tempted; at firſt they Doubt, at laſt they Hope; at firſt they Deſpair, at laſt they Rejoyce; at firſt they Quake, while they imagin how great their Sins are, and how little the Grace of God is; but at laſt they ſee ſuch a Great-

Greatneſs, ſuch a Largeneſs, ſuch an Abundance of Increaſe, in this multiplying Mercy of God, that with gladneſs of Heart, for their firſt Thoughts, they call themſelves Fools, and venture their Souls, the next World, and their Intereſt in it, upon this Mercy of God.

I tell you Sirs, you muſt not traſt your own Apprehenſions nor Judgments with the Mercy of God; you do not know how he can cauſe it to abound; that which ſeems to be ſhort and ſhrunk up to you, he can draw out, and cauſe to abound exceedingly. There is a Breadth, and Length, and Depth, and Hight therein, when God will pleaſe to open it; that for Infiniteneſs can ſwallow up not only all thy Sins, but all thy Thoughts and Imaginations, and that can alſo drown thee at laſt. Now unto him that is able (as to Mercy) to do exceeding abundantly, above all that we ask or think, according to the Power that worketh in us; unto him be Glory in the Church by Chriſt Jeſus throughout all Ages, World without end, Amen. Eph. 3. 20, 21.

THIS therefore is a wonderful thing, and ſhall be wondred at to all Eternity; that that River of Mercy, that at firſt did ſeem to be but Ankle deep, ſhould ſo riſe, and riſe and riſe, that at laſt it became, Waters to Swim in, a River that could not be paſſed over. Ezek. 47. 3, 4, 5.

NOW all this is Written that Iſrael might Hope: Let Iſrael Hope in the Lord; for with the Lord there is Mercy.

61. SIXTHLY, As there is with God Mercies, Tender, Great, Rich, a Multitude, and Mercy that abounds; ſo to encourage us to truſt in him, there is Mercy to compaſs us round about; Many Sorrows ſhall be to the Wicked, but he that truſteth in the Lord, Mercy ſhall compaſs him about: This is therefore the Lot of the Iſrael of God, that they ſhall, they truſting in their God, be compaſſed with Mercy round about. Pſal. 32. 10. THIS is Mercy to do for us in this World, that we may arrive ſafely in that World which is to come. Another Text ſaith, For thou Lord wilt bleſs the Righteous; with favour wilt thou compaſs him as with a Shield.

AS with a Shield; this compaſſing of them therefore, is, to the end they may be defended and guarded from them that ſeek their hurt: When Eliſha was in danger by reaſon of the Army of the Syrians; Behold the Mountains were full of Horſes and Chariots of fire, round about him, to deliver him. 2 Kin. 6. 15, 16, 17.

ROUND about on every ſide; or as David hath it, Thou ſhalt encreaſe my Greatneſs, and Comfort me on every ſide. I will camp about mine Houſe, ſaith God, becauſe of the Army, becauſe of him that paſſeth by, and him that returneth. Pſal. 71. 21. Zech. 9. 8.

THIS therefore is the reaſon, why, notwithſtanding all our Weakneſſes, and alſo the rage of Satan, we are kept and preſerved in a wicked World; we are compaſſed round about: Hence, when God asked Satan concerning Holy Job, he anſwered, Thou haſt made a Hedge about him, and about his Houſe, and about all that he hath on every ſide; I cannot come at him, thou compaſſeſt him, and keepeſt me out. Job 1. 10.

BY this then is that Scripture opened, Thou art my hiding place, thou ſhalt preſerve me from Trouble, thou ſhalt compaſs me about with Songs of Deliverance. Pſal. 32. 7. And indeed it would be comly, if we, inſtead of doubting and deſpairing, did ſing in the ways of the Lord; have we not cauſe thus to do, when the Lord is round about us with Sword and Shield, watching for us againſt the Enemy, that he may deliver us from their Hand? Jer.

THIS alſo is the Reaſon why nothing can come at us, but that it may do us good: If the Mercy of God is round about us, about us on every ſide; then no evil thing can by any means come at us, but it muſt come through this Mercy, and ſo muſt be ſeaſoned with it, and muſt have its deadly Poyſon, by it, taken away. Hence Paul underſtanding this, ſaith, And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God: But how can that be, did they not come to us through the very ſides of Mercy? And how could they come to us ſo, ſince Satan pryeth to wound us deadly in every, or in ſome private place, if Mercy did not compaſs us round about, round about as with a Shield? Rom.

HE went round about Job, to ſee by what Hog-hole he might get at him, that he might ſmight him under the fifth Rib: But behold, he found he was Hedged out round about, wherefore he could not come at him but through the ſides of Mercy; and therefore what he did to him muſt be for good. Even thus alſo ſhall it be in Concluſion with all the Wrath of our Enemies; when they have done what they can, by the Mercy of God, we ſhall be made to ſtand. Why boaſteſt thou thy ſelf in Miſchief (ſaid David) O mighty Man! the goodneſs of God endureth continually: And that will ſanctifie to me whatever thou doeſt againſt me. This therefore is another ſingular Encouragement to Iſrael to Hope in the Lord; for that there is with him Mercy to compaſs us round about. Pſal.

HERE is I ſay, room for Hope, and for the exerciſe thereof; when we feel our ſelves after the worſt manner aſſaulted.

WHEREFORE ſhould I fear (ſaid David) in the day of evil, when the Iniquity of my Heels compaſſeth me about? Wherefore? why now there is all the Reaſon in the World to fear, the day of evil is come upon thee, and the Iniquity of thy Heels doth compaſs thee about. The hand of God is upon thee, and thy Sins, which are, the Cauſe, ſtand round about thee, to give in evidence againſt thee; and therefore thou muſt fear. No, ſaith David, that's not a ſufficient Reaſon; he that truſteth in the Lord, Mercy ſhall compaſs him about. Pſal.

HERE is Ground alſo to pray in Faith, as David, ſaying, Keep me as the Apple of thine Eye, hide me under the Shadow of thy Wings; from the Wicked that oppreſs me, from my deadly Enemies, who compaſs me about. Pſal. 8, 9.

SEVENTHLY, As all this Tender, Great, Rich, Much abounding Mercy, compaſſeth us about; ſo that we may Hope in the God of our Mercy, it is ſaid, This Mercy is to follow us, ſurely Goodneſs and Mercy ſhall follow me all the days of my Life, and I will dwell in the Houſe of the Lord forever: It ſhall follow me, go with me, and be near me, in all the way that I go. There are theſe ſix Things to be gathered out of this Text, for the further ſupport of our Hope. 6. Pſal. Pſal.

1. IT

1. IT shall follow us to guide us in the way. I will guide Thee with mine Eye, says God, that is, in the way that thou shalt go. The way of Man to the next World, is like the way from Egypt to Canaan; A way not to be found out but by the Pillar of a Cloud by day, and a Flame of Fire by night; That is, 73. with the Word and Spirit. Thou shalt guide me with thy counsel, and afterward receive me to glory. Thou shalt guide me from the first step to the last, that I shall take in this my Pilgrimage. Goodness and Mercy shall follow me.

2. AS God in Mercy will guide, so by the same he will uphold our goings in his paths. We are weak, wherefore tho the path we go in, were never so plain, yet we are apt to stumble 94. and fall. But when I said my foot slippeth, thy Mercy O Lord held me up. Wherefore we should always turn our Hope into prayer, and say, 17.5. Lord, hold up my goings in thy paths, that my Foot-steps slip not, be not moved; let Mercy follow me,

3. AS the God of our Mercy has Mercy to guide us, and uphold us; so by the same will 32. he instruct us, when we are at a loss, at a stand. I led Israel about, says God, I instructed him and kept him as the Apple of mine Eye. I say we are often at a loss; David said, after all his 119. brave sayings in the 119th Psalm, I have gon astray like a lost sheep, seek thy Servant. Indeed a Christian is not so often out of the way, as he is at a stand therein, and knows not what to do. But here also is his Mercy as to that. Thine ears shall hear a word behind thee, saying, 0.21. This is the way, walk in it, when ye turn to the right hand, and when ye turn to the left; Mercy follows for this.

4. MERCY shall follow to carry thee when thou art faint; we have many fainting 0.11. and sinking fits as we go. He shall gather the Lambs with his Arm, and carry them in his . 32. bosom, or upon Eagles Wings. He made Israel to ride on the high places of the Earth, and made him to suck Hony out of the Rock.

5. MERCY shall follow us to take us up when we are fallen, and to heal us of those Wounds that we have caught by our Falls. 145. The Lord upholdeth all that fall, and raiseth up all those that are bowed down. And again, 146. the Lord openeth the Eyes of the blind; the Lord raiseth up them that are bowed down; the Lord loveth the righteous. Or as we have it in an other place; The steps of a good Man are ordered by the Lord: and he delighteth in 37. his way. Tho he fall he shall not be utterly 4. cast down: for the Lord upholdeth him with his hand. Here is Mercy for a hoping Israelite; and yet this is not all.

6. MERCY shall follow us to pardon our Sins, as they are committed. For tho by the act of Justification, we are for ever secured from a state of condemnation; yet as we are; Children we need forgiveness dayly, and have need to pray, Our Father forgive us our trespasses. Now that we may have daily forgiveness, for our daily Sins and Trespasses, Mercy and . 34. Goodness must follow us; or as Moses has it And he said, if now I have found Grace in thy sight, O Lord! let my Lord I pray thee go amongst us (for it is a stiff-necked People) and pardon our iniquity and our Sin, and take us for thine inheritance. Joyn to this, that prayer of his, which you find in Numbers; Now I beseech thee let the Power of my Lord, be great according as thou hast spoken, saying; The Lord is long-suffering and of great Mercy, forgiving iniquity, and transgression, and by no means clearing the guilty; visiting the iniquity of the Fathers, upon the Children, unto the third and fourth generation. Pardon I beseech thee the iniquities of this People according to the greatness of thy Mercy, and as thou hast forgiven this People from Egypt, even until now, or hitherto. Numb. 14. 18, 19.

HOW many times think you did Israel stand in need of pardon, from Egypt, till they came to Canaan? Even so many times wilt thou need pardon from the day of thy conversion, to the day of death; To the which, God will follow Israel that he may dwell in the House of the Lord for ever.

7. AS all this Tender, Great, Rich, abounding, compassing Mercy, shall follow Israel to do him good; so shall it do him every good turn, in delivering of him from every judgment that by Sin he hath laid himself obnoxious to, with rejoycing. For Mercy rejoyceth against judgments, That is (applying it to the Mercy of God towards his) it rejoyceth in delivering us from the judgments that we have deserved; yea, it delivereth us from all our woes with rejoycing. In the margent it is, glorieth; It glorieth in doing this great thing for us. I have thought, considering how often I have procured judgments and destructions to my self, that God would be weary of pardoning, or else that he would pardon with grudging. But the Word saith, he fainteth not nor is weary. I will rejoyce over them to do them good, with my whole heart, and with my whole soul. This doing of us good with rejoycing, this saving of us from deserved judgments with rejoycing; this getting the victory over our destructions, for us with rejoycing; oh! it is a marvelous thing. O sing unto the Lord a new song, for he hath done marvelous things: his right hand, and his holy arm hath gotten him the victory. The victory for us, as Paul said, we are more than conquerors through him, and this he did with triumph and rejoycing. The Heart is seen oft times, more in the manner, than in the act that is acted; more in the manner of doing, than in doing of the thing. The wickedness of the Heart of Moab, was more seen in the manner of action than in the words that he spake against Israel. For since thou spakest against him thou skippedst for joy. So Edom rejoyced, at the calamity of his Brother, he looked on it and rejoyced, and in his rejoycing appeared the badness of his Heart, and the great spite that he had against his Brother Jacob.

NOW, my Brethren, I beseech you consider, That God hath not only shewed you Mercy, but hath done it with rejoycing: Mercy doth not only follow you, but it follows you with rejoycing: Yea, it doth not only prevent your ruin, by your repeated transgressions procured, but it doth it with rejoycing. Here is the very Heart of Mercy seen, in that it rejoyceth against Judgment.

LIKE

Zeph. 3. 17. 18. LIKE unto this is that in Zephaniah; The Lord thy God in the midſt of thee is mighty: he will ſave, he will rejoyce over thee with joy, he will reſt in his love, he will joy over thee with ſinging.

There are many things that ſhew with what an heart Mercy is of God extended, as is afore deſcribed to Iſrael for his Salvation: but THIS, that it acteth with rejoycing, that it ſaveth with rejoycing! and gets the victory over judgment with rejoycing! is a wonderful one, and one that ſhould be taken notice of by Iſrael, for his incouragement to Hope. Let Iſrael Hope in the Lord, for with him there is Mercy, Tender, Great, Rich, multiplying Mercy: Mercy that compaſſeth us about, that goeth with us all the way, and Mercy that rejoyceth to overcome every Judgment that ſeeketh our deſtruction, as we go toward our Fathers Houſe and Kingdom.

Mich. 7. 18. IT is ſaid in the Word, God delighteth in Mercy: Who is a God like unto thee that pardoneth iniquity, and paſſeth by the tranſgreſſion of the remnant of his Heritage? he retaineth not his anger for ever, becauſe he delighteth in Mercy.

HERE then is a reaſon of the rejoycing of Mercy, againſt Judgment; why, Mercy is Gods delight, or as another hath it, Mercy pleaſeth thee. What a Man delights in, that he will ſet on foot, & that he will ſeek to manage, that he will promote, and that he will glory in the ſucceſs and proſperity of: why, the Text ſaith, God delighteth in Mercy; nor do I believe, (how odious ſoever the compariſon may ſeem to be) that ever Man delighted more in Sin, than God hath delighted in ſhewing Mercy. Has Man given himſelf for Joh. 3. 16. Sin? God has given his Son for us, that he Iſa. 30. 18. might ſhew us Mercy. Has Man lain at weight Luk. 9. 58. for opportunities for Sin? God has waited to be gracious, and that he might have Mercy upon us. Has Man, that he might injoy his Sin, 2 Cor. 8. 9. brought himſelf to a morſel of Bread? Why Chriſt, Lord of all, that he might make room for Mercy, made himſelf the pooreſt Man. Has Man, when he has found his Sin, perſued it with all his Heart? Why God, when he ſets a ſhewing Mercy, ſhews it with rejoycing, for he delighteth in Mercy.

67. HERE alſo you may ſee the reaſon why Pſal. 25. 10. ALL Gods paths are Mercy and Truth, to his. I have obſerved that what a Man loveth, he will acuſtom himſelf unto, whether it be Fiſhing, Hunting, or the like. Theſe are his ways, his courſe, the paths wherein he ſpends his life, and therefore he is ſeldom found out of one or another of them. Now, ſaith David, ALL the paths of the Lord are Mercy, &c. he is never out of them. For whereever he is, ſtill he is coming towards his Iſrael in one or other of theſe paths, ſtepping ſteps of Mercy.

HENCE again it is that you find, that at the Hab. 2. 3. end of every Judgment, there is Mercy; and that God, in the midſt of this, remembers that. 1 Cor. 11. 32. Yea, Judgment is in Mercy, and were it not for that, Judgment ſhould never overtake his People. Wherefore let Iſrael Hope in the Lord, ſeeing with him is all this Mercy.

68. 8lv. BESIDES all this, The Mercy that is with God, and that is an incouragement to Pſal. 103. 17. Iſrael to Hope in him, is everlaſting. The Mercy of the Lord is from everlaſting to everlaſting upon them that fear him: From everlaſting to everlaſting: That is more, more than I ſaid. Well,

1. THEN from everlaſting, that is, from before the World began; ſo then, things that are, and are to be hereafter, are to be managed according to thoſe meaſures that God in Mercy took for his People then. Hence it is Epheſ. 1. 4. ſaid, that he has bleſſed us according as he choſe us in Chriſt, before the World began; that is, according to thoſe meaſures, and grants that were by Mercy allotted to us then. According to that other ſaying, according to his Mercy he ſaved us, that is, according as Mercy had allotted for us before the World began; according to his own purpoſe and Grace, which was Tit. 3. 5. 2 Tim. 1. 9. given us in Chriſt before the World began. This is Mercy from everlaſting, and is the ground and bottom of all diſpenſations that have been, are, or are to come to his People. And now tho it would be too great a ſtep a toſide, to treat of all thoſe Mercies that of neceſſity will be found to ſtand upon that which is called Mercy from everlaſting; yet it will be to our purpoſe, and agreeable to our method, to conclude, that Mercy TO everlaſting, ſtands upon THAT; even as Vocation, Juſtification, Preſervation, and Glorification, ſtandeth Rom. 8. 29, 30. upon our being choſen in Chriſt before the foundation of the World. Here then is the Mercy that is with God, and that ſhould incourage Iſrael to Hope. The Mercy that has concerned it ſelf with them, is Mercy from everlaſting. Nor may it be thought that a few quarrels of ſome brain-ſick-fellows will put God upon taking new meaſures for his People; what Rom. 9. foundation has been laid for his, before he laid 11. the foundation of the World, ſhall ſtand, for that it was laid in Chriſt by vertue of Mercy, that is, from everlaſting. The old Laws, which are the magna charta, the ſole baſis of the Government of a Kingdom, may not be caſt away for the pet that is taken by every little Gentleman againſt them. We have indeed ſome profeſſors that take a great pet againſt that foundation of Salvation, that the Mercy that is from everlaſting has laid; but ſince the Kingdom, Government and Glory of Chriſt is wrapped up in it; and ſince the calling, juſtification, perſeverance, and glorification of his elect, which are called, his body, and fulneſs, is wrapt up therein: it may not be laid aſide nor deſpiſed, nor quarrelled againſt by any, without danger of damnation.

HERE then is the Mercy with which Iſrael is concerned, and which is with God as an incouragement to them that ſhould hope, to hope in him. 'Tis Mercy from everlaſting; 'tis Mercy of an ancient date; 'tis Mercy in the root of the thing. For it is from this Mercy, this Mercy from everlaſting, that all, and all thoſe ſorts of Mercies, of which we have diſcourſed before, do flow. It is from this, that Chriſt the Saviour flows; This is it, from which that Tender Mercy, that Great Mercy, that Rich Mercy, and that Mercy that aboundeth towards us, doth flow; and ſo of all the reſt. Kind brings forth its kind, know the Tree by his fruit, and God by his Mercy in Chriſt. Yea, and know what God was doing before he made the World, by what he has been doing ever ſince.

And

AND what has God been doing for, and to his Church, from the beginning of the World, but extending to, and exerciſing loving kindneſs and Mercy for them? therefore he laid a foundation for this in Mercy from everlaſting.

9. 2. BUT Mercy FROM everlaſting, is but the beginning (and we have diſcourſed of thoſe Mercies that we have found in the Bowels of this already) wherefore a word of that which is, TO everlaſting alſo. From everlaſting, to everlaſting. Nothing can go beyond to everlaſting; wherefore this, to everlaſting will ſee an end of all. The Devil will tempt us, Sin will aſſault us, Men will perſecute; but can they do it, to everlaſting? If not, then there is Mercy to come to Gods People at laſt; even when all evils have done to us what they can. After the Prophet had ſpoken of the inconceivable bleſſedneſs that God hath prepared for them that wait for him: he drops to preſent wrath, and the Sin of God's
4. 4. People in this Life: This done, he mounts up again to the firſt, and ſaith; In thoſe is continuance, that is, the things laid up for us are everlaſting, and (therefore) we ſhall be ſaved. How many things ſince the beginning, have aſſaulted the World to deſtroy it, as Wars, Famines, Peſtilences, Earthquakes, &c. and
119. yet to this day it abideth. But what is the reaſon of that? Why God liveth, upon whoſe
93. 1. 96. Word, and by whoſe decree it abideth. He hath eſtabliſhed the earth and it abideth; It ſtand-
136. eth faſt, and cannot be moved. Why, my Brethren, Mercy liveth, Mercy is everlaſting, His Mercy endureth forever: and therefore the Church of God liveth, and when all her Enemies have done their all, this is the Song that the Church
20. 8. ſhall Sing over them; They are brought down
2. 33. and are fallen, but we are riſen, and ſtand upright. Everlaſting Mercy with everlaſting Arms are underneath.

AND as this ſhews the cauſe of the life of the Church, notwithſtanding her Ghoſtly and bodily Enemies, ſo it ſheweth the cauſe of her deliverance from her repeated Sins. As God ſaid of Leviathan, I will not conceal his parts, &c. ſo it is very unbecoming of Gods People, to conceal their Sins and miſcarriages, for it diminiſheth this Mercy of God. Let therefore Sin be acknowledged, confeſſed, and not be hid nor diſſembled; 'tis to the glory of Mercy that we confeſs to God and one another what we are, ſtill remembring this, but Mercy is everlaſting.

0. AS this ſhews the reaſon of our Life, and the continuance of that, notwithſtanding our repeated Sins; ſo it ſhews the cauſe of the receiving of our Graces, from ſo many decays and ſickneſs. For this Mercy will live, laſt and out-laſt all things that are corruptible and hurtful unto Iſrael. Wherefore let Iſrael Hope in the Lord, for this reaſon, for with the Lord there is Mercy.

1. TENDER Mercy for us.
2. GREAT Mercy for us.
3. RICH Mercy. 4. Manifold Mercy.
5. ABOUNDING Mercy towards us.
6. COMPASSING Mercy wherewith we are ſurrounded.
7. MERCY to follow us whereever we go.
8. MERCY that rejoyceth againſt judgment.
9. AND Mercy that is from everlaſting to everlaſting.

ALL theſe Mercies are with God, to allure, to encourage, and uphold Iſrael in Hope.

I come now to the ſecond thing, which is to ſhew what is to be inferred from this reaſon. And,

FIRST, Thus to be ſure, is to be inferred, That Iſrael, as the Child of God, is a pitiful thing of himſelf; one that is full of weakneſſes infirmities, and defects; ſhould we ſpeak nothing of his tranſgreſſions. He that is to be attended with SO many Mercies abſolutely neceſſary Mercies (for there is not in theſe Mercies, ONE that can be ſpared) muſt needs be, in himſelf, a poor, indigent creature: Should you ſee a Child attended with ſo many Engines to make him go, as the Child of God is attended with Mercies to make him ſtand, you would ſay, what an infirm, decrepid, helpleſs thing is this? Alas, I have here counted up Mercies in Number nine: If I had counted up nine hundred nintey and nine, all had been the ſame. For the Child of God, would not have one to ſpare. The Text ſaith, The Earth Pſal. 119. 64. is full of the Mercy of the Lord, and all little enough to preſerve his Iſrael. Indeed thoſe that I have preſented the Reader with, are the chief heads of Mercies; or the head Mercies from which many others flow: But however, were they but ſingle Mercies, they ſhew with great evidence our deficiency; but being double they ſhew it much more. 71. First inference.

SHOULD it be ſaid, there is ſuch a Lord has a Son, a poor decrepid thing; he is forced to were Things to ſtrengthen his Ankles, things to ſtrengthen his Knees, things to ſtrengthen his Loyns, things to keep up his Bowels, things to ſtrengthen his Shoulders, his Neck, his Hands, Fingers; yea, he cannot ſpeak, but by the help of an Engin, nor chew his food, but by the help of an Engin: what would you ſay? what would you think? would you not ſay ſuch an one is not worth the keeping, and that his Father cannot look for any thing from him, but that he ſhould live upon high charge, and expence, as long as he liveth, beſides all the trouble, ſuch an one is like to be of to others. Why this is the caſe: Iſrael is ſuch an one, nay a worſe. He cannot LIVE without Tender Mercy, without Great Mercy, without Rich Mercy, without Manifold Mercy, and unleſs Mercy abounds towards him. He cannot STAND, if Mercy doth not compaſs him round about, nor GO, unleſs Mercy follows him. Yea, if Mercy that rejoyceth againſt judgment, doth not continually flutter over him, the very Moth will eat him up, and the Canker will conſume him. Wherefore it is neceſſary to the making of Iſrael live and flouriſh, that everlaſting Mercy ſhould be over his Head, and everlaſting Mercy under his Feet, with all the aforementioned Mercies and more in the bowels of it. Job 4. 19.

BUT I ſay, doth not this ſufficiently ſhew, had we but Eyes to ſee it, what a ſad and deplorable creature the Child of God, of himſelf is? Oh! this is not believed, nor conſi-dered as it ſhould. Vain Man would be wiſe, ſinful Man would be Holy, and Poor, Lame, Infirm, Helpleſs Man, would be ſtrong, and fain perſwade others that he hath a ſufficiency of himſelf. But I ſay, if it be ſo, what need all this Mercy? if thou canſt go luſtily, what means thy Crutches? No, no Iſrael; Gods Iſrael, when awake, ſtand aſtoniſhed at his being ſurrounded with Mercies, and cries out, I am not worthy of the leaſt, (I am leſs than the leaſt of all thy Mercies, and) thy truth which thou haſt ſhewed to thy Servant.

Gen. 32. 10.

72. Second inference.

SECONDLY, This alſo ſheweth how ſorely the Enemies of Iſrael are bent to ſeek his deſtruction. The Devil is by way of eminency called the enemy of Gods People: The Devil your adverſary. And this, that there are ſo many mercies imployed about us, and all to bring us to the place which of God has appointed for us, doth demonſtrate it. Should you ſee a Man that was not to go from door to door, but he muſt be clod in a Coat of Mail, muſt have an Helmet of braſs upon his Head, and for his Life-guard not ſo few as a thouſand Men to wait upon him: would you not ſay, ſurely this Man has ſtore of Enemies at Hand, ſurely this Man goes continually in danger of his Life? Why this is the caſe, Enemies lie in wait for Poor Iſrael in every Hole; he can neither Eat, Drink, Wake, Sleep, Work, ſit ſtill, Talk, be ſilent; Worſhip his God in publick, or in private, but he is in danger of being ſtabb'd, of being deſtroyed. Hence, as was ſaid before, he is compaſſed about with Mercy as with a Shield. And again, 'tis ſaid concerning theſe, Gods truth (his Mercy) ſhall be thy Shield and Buckler. And again, He is a Buckler to all them that truſt in him; yea, David, being a Man ſenſible of his own weakneſs, & of the rage & Power of his Enemies, cries out to his God to take hold of Shield and Buckler, and to ſtand up for his help. But what need theſe things be aſſerted, promiſed or prayed for, if Iſrael had no Enemies, or none but ſuch, he could, as we ſay, make his party good with all? Alaſs their Cries, their Tears, Sighs, Watchings, and outcries at ſundry times, make this beyond all ſhew of doubt, a Truth.

1 Pet. 5. 8.

Mich. 7. 20. Pſal. 91. 4. 2 Sam. 22. 31. Pſal. 35. 2.

IF Solomon uſed to have about his Bed, no leſs than three ſcore of the valienteſt of Iſrael, holding Swords, and being expert in War; every one with his Sword upon his Thigh becauſe of fear in the night (and yet thoſe fears were only concerning Men) what Guard, and Safeguard doth Gods poor people need, who are continually both night and day roared upon by the unmerciful fallen Angels of Hell?

Song. 3. 7, 8.

73. I will add, If it be but duly conſidered; all this Guard, and Safeguard by Mercy notwithſtanding, how hardly this people do eſcape being deſtroyed forever; yea, how will Heart broken, and Loins broken many of them with much difficulty get to the Gates of Heaven? it will be eaſily concluded that her Enemies are ſwifter than Eagles, ſtronger than Lions: and that they often overtake her between the ſtraits.

TO ſay nothing of the Many thouſands that dare not ſo much as once think of True Religion, becauſe of the Power of the Enemy which they behold (when alas they ſee no body but the very Scare-crows which the Devil hath ſet up, for I count the perſecutor of Gods, People, but the Devils Scare-crow, the old one himſelf lies quat: yet) I ſay, how are they frighted! how are they amazed! what a many of the Enemies of religion have theſe folks ſeen to day! Yea, and they will as ſoon venture to run the hazard of Hell-fire, as to be engaged by theſe Enemies in THIS way. Why, Gods People are fain to go through them all, and yet no more able than the other to do it, of themſelves. They therefore are girded, compaſſed, and defended by this Mercy, which is the true cauſe indeed of their godly perſeverance.

THIRDLY, A third thing that I infer from theſe Words is, what a loving God has Iſrael? Truly God is good to Iſrael, Let the redeemed of the Lord ſay ſo. A loving God, that ſhould take this care of him, and beſtow ſo many Mercies upon him. Mercies of all ſorts, for all caſes, for all manner of relief and help againſt all manner of perils. What is Man that God ſhould ſo unweariedly attend upon him, and viſit him every moment? Is he a ſecond God, is he Gods fellow, is he of the higheſt order or Angels! or what is he? Oh! he is a Flea, a Worm, a dead Dog, ſinful duſt and aſhes: he comes up like a flower, and is cut down, and what a thing is it that God ſhould ſo much as open his Eyes upon ſuch an one! But then, what a thing is it that God ſhould magnify him, and that he ſhould ſet his HEART upon him! Yea, that he ſhould take him into acquaintance with him, give his Angels to be all miniſtring Spirits for him! Yea, engage his Mercy for him, his Tender, Great, Manifold, and everlaſting Mercy for him, to compaſs him round with all, as with a Shield, that nothing might work his ruin, forever and ever!

Third inference. 74.

1 Sam. 2. 20. Job 25.

Job 14. 2, 3. Chap. 7. 17.

IT may well be ſaid, God is love, Man may well ſay ſo. O give thanks unto the Lord for he is good, for his Mercy endureth forever. Let the redeemed of the Lord ſay ſo, whom he hath redeemed from the Hand of the Enemy.

1 Joh. 4. 16. Pſal. 107. 1, 2, 3.

IF it be love for a fellow-creature to give a bit of Bread, a Coat, a cup of cold Water; What ſhall we call this? when God, the Great God, the former of all things, ſhall not only give an Alms, an Alms to an Enemy, but ſhall riſe up, take Shield and Buckler and be a guard, a protection, a deliverer from all evil, until we come into his Heavenly Kingdom?

THIS love is ſuch, as is not found on earth, nor to be paralleld among the creatures. None hopes thus, but one that is good. Nor does any believe as they ſhould, that God doth love as theſe things declare he does. Our heart ſtaggereth at the greatneſs of the thing, and who is it that has any reaſon left in him, and knows any thing of what a wretched thing Sin has made him, that can without ſtarting, ſo much as hear of all this Mercy? But.

FOURTHLY, Another thing that I infer from theſe Words is this, what ground is here for Iſrael to Hope in the Lord? The Lord is not that broken Reed of Egypt, on which if a Man lean, it will go into his Hand and pierce it. Gods Word is ſtedfaſt forever, even the Word by which we are here exhorted to Hope. Nor ſhall ſhall we have cauſe to doubt of the cauſe of the Exhortation, to ſuch a Soul-quieting Duty, for Mercy is with the Lord; Let Iſrael rejoyce in him that made him; let the Children of Zion be joyful in their King: For with the Lord there is Mercy, wherewith to beautifie the Meek with Salvation. What ſayeſt thou, Child of God? has Sin wounded, bruiſed thy Soul, and broken thy Bones? Why, with the Lord there is Tender Mercy. Art thou a Sinner of the firſt Rate, of the biggeſt Size? Why, with the Lord there is Great Mercy for thee. Have thy Sins corrupted thy Wounds, and made them putrifie and ſtink? Why, with the Lord there is Rich, that is, Vertuous Mercy for thee. Are thy Sins of divers ſorts? Why, here is a Multitude of Manifold Mercies for thee. Doſt thou ſee thy ſelf ſurrounded with Enemies? Why, with the Lord there is Mercy to Compaſs thee about withal. Is the way dangerous in which thou art to go? Surely Goodneſs and Mercy ſhall follow thee, all the days of thy Life. Doth Iniquity prevail againſt thee? The Mercy of this Lord Aboundeth towards thee. Doth Judgments for thy Miſcarriages overtake thee? There is with thy Lord Mercy that Rejoyceth to deliver thee from thoſe Judgments. What ſhall I ſay? There is Mercy from everlaſting to everlaſting upon thee. What wouldeſt thou have? There is Mercy underneath, Mercy above, and Mercy for thee on every ſide; therefore Let Iſrael hope in the Lord. I will add, it is the greateſt unkindneſs thou canſt return to the Lord, to doubt this Mercy notwithſtanding. Why what wilt thou make of God, is there no Truth (nor Truſt to be put) in him, notwithſtanding all that he hath ſaid? Oh the depravedneſs of Man's nature! becauſe he ſpeaketh the Truth, therefore we believe him not: The odiouſneſs of Unbelief is manifeſt by this, yea, alſo the unreaſonableneſs thereof. God is true, his Word is true; and to help us to Hope in him, how many times has he fulfilled it to others, and that before our Eyes? Hope then; 'tis good that a Man ſhould Hope: Hope then; it pleaſes God that thou ſhouldſt Hope: Hope then to the end, for the Grace that is to be brought unto thee will ſurely come, with Chriſt thy Saviour.

Pſal. 149.

Joh. 8. 45.

75. MEN that have given up themſelves to their Sins, Hope to enjoy ſome benefit by them, though the curſe of God and his Wrath is revealed from Heaven againſt them for it; and yet thou that haſt given thy ſelf to God by Chriſt, art afraid to Hope in his Mercy: For ſhame Hope, and do not thus diſhonour thy God, wound thine own Soul, and ſet ſo bad an Example to others. I know thou haſt thy Objections in a readineſs to caſt in my way, and were they made againſt Doctrin, Reaſon would that ſome notice ſhould be taken of them; but ſince they are made againſt Duty, Duty urged from, and grounded upon a word which is ſtedfaſt forever; thou deſerveſt to be blamed, and to be told, that of all Sins that ever thou didſt commit, thou now art managing the vileſt, while thou art giving way to, and fortifying of Unbelief and Miſtruſt, againſt this Exhortation to Hope, and againſt the Reaſon for Encouragement to the Duty. But I ſhall paſs from this, to the third thing found in the Text, and that is, the Amplification of the Reaſon. I told you that there was in the Text, theſe three things; Firſt, an Exhortation to the Children of God to Hope in the Lord; Let Iſrael hope in the Lord. Secondly, A Reaſon to enforce that Exhortation; For with the Lord there is Mercy. Thirdly, An Amplification of that Reaſon; And with him is plenteous Redemption. I have gone through the two firſt, and ſhall now come to this laſt.

Rom. 1. 18.

IN theſe laſt words, which I call the Amplification of the Reaſon, we have two Things. 76.

FIRST, A more particular Account of the nature of the Mercy, propounded for an Encouragement to Iſrael to Hope.

SECONDLY, An Account of the Sufficiency of it.

THE nature of the Mercy propounded, is expreſſed by that word Redemption: The Sufficiency of it is expreſſed by that word plenteous; Let Iſrael hope in the Lord; for with the Lord there is Mercy, and with him is plenteous Redemption.

REDEMPTION may be diverſly taken, as ſhall be further ſhewed anon; but for as much as the Term here, is made mention of indefinitely, without nominating of this or that part of Redemption particularly; I ſhall ſpeak to it in the General, with reſpect at leaſt to the main Heads thereof.

TO Redeem, is to fetch back by ſufficient and ſuitable Means, thoſe at preſent in an Inthralled, Captivated or an Impriſoned Condition; and there are two ſorts of this Redemption.

1. REDEMPTION by Purchaſe.
2. REDEMPTION by Power.

REDEMPTION by Purchaſe is, from the cauſe of Captivities.

REDEMPTION by Power; is from the Effects.

IF we ſpeak of Redemption by Purchaſe, then three Things preſent themſelves to our Conſideration. 77.

1. THE Perſon redeeming.
2. THE nature of the Price paid to redeem withal.
3. THE thing or ſtate from which this Redeemer, with this Price redeemeth.

THE ſubject of this Redemption (or Perſon Redeemed is Iſrael) of him we have ſpoken before.

FOR the Perſon Redeeming, it is Jeſus of Nazareth; Jeſus that was born at Bethlehem, at the time, and as the Scriptures relate. Mat. 1. Luk. 2.

NOW with Reference to his Perſon, we have two Things to enquire after.

1. WHAT this Perſon was.
2. How he addreſſed himſelf to this work.

THIS Jeſus was and is, the Natural and Eternal Son of God Almighty, without beginning or end, from everlaſting; the Creator and Upholder of the World. Prov. 8. Joh. 1. Heb. 1.

HOW he addreſſed himſelf to the work of Redeeming, take as follows. 78. Luk. 2. 31, 32, 33, 34, 35.

1. HE became true Man; for he was conceived through the Power of the Holy Ghoſt, in the Womb of a Maid, and in the fulneſs of time, brought forth of her, true, real, natural Man; I ſay, though not in the worſt, yet in the beſt ſenſe.

BEING thus brought forth without Spot or Blemiſh.

2. HE began to addreſs himſelf to the work.

1. BY Works Preparatory, and then by the act it ſelf; The Works Preparatory were as follow.

Rom.5.19. Exod. 28. 41. Exod. 40. 13. 1 Pet. 1. 19. 1. HE prepares himſelf a Prieſtly Robe, which was his own Obediential Righteouſneſs; for without theſe Holy Garments, he might not adventure to come into the Preſence of God to offer his Gift.

2. BEFORE he offered his Gift for the People, he was to be himſelf ſanctified to his Office. And that,

1. BY Blood. 2. By Prayers and Tears.

1. BY Blood; for before Aaron was to offer his Sacrifice for the People, he muſt himſelf be ſprinkled with Blood: And becauſe Jeſus could not be ſprinkled with the Blood of Beaſts, therefore was he ſprinkled with that of his own: Not as Aaron was, upon the Tip of his Ear, and upon the Tip of his Toe; but from Top to Toe, from Head to Foot, his Sweat was Blood. So that from his Agony in the Garden, to the Place where he was to lay down the price of our Redemption, he went as Conſecrated in his own Blood.

Exod. 29. 19,20,21, 22. Luk. 22. 44.

Heb. 5.5, 6,7,8. 2. HE offered alſo his Sacrifice of ſtrong Crying and Tears, as his drink-offering to God, as a Sacrifice Preparatory, not Propitiatory in perſuit of his Office; not to purge his Perſon.

THIS is the Perſon redeeming, and this was his Preparation to the work.

NOW the Redemption is often aſcribed particularly to his Blood; yet in general, the Act of his Redeeming of us, muſt either more remotely or more nearly be reckoned, from his whole Suffering for us in the Fleſh; which Suffering I take to begin at his Agony, and was finiſhed, when he was raiſed again from the Dead. By his Fleſh I underſtand his whole Man, as diſtinguiſhed from his divine Nature; and ſo that word doth comprehend his Soul, as well as his Body, as by the 53d of Iſaiah appears. His Soul after that manner which was proper to it; and his Body after that manner which was proper to it.

Iſa. 53.

HIS Sufferings began in his Soul, ſome time before his Body was touch'd, by vertue of which was his Bloody Sweat in his Body: The ſorrows of his Soul began at the Apprehenſion of what was coming from God, for our ſakes upon him; but the Bloody Sweat of his Body, was from that Union it had with ſuch a Soul.

79. HIS Sufferings were from the Hand of God, not of Man; not by Conſtraint, but of his own Will: And they differ from ours in theſe ſix Things.

Lev. 1. 3. Joh.10.18. Gal. 3. 13. Heb. 12. 10. Iſa 53. 6. Heb.9.22.

1. HIS Sufferings were by the rigor of the Law; ours according to the Tenor of the Goſpel.

2. HIS Sufferings were from Gods Hand immediately; ours by and through a Mediator.

Iſa. 53. 103. Lam.3.33. 1 Cor.15. 12. Lam.3 39.

3. GOD delighted himſelf in every Stroak he gave him; he doth not willingly grieve nor afflict his People.

4. HE Suffered as a common or publick Perſon; we for our own private Offences.

5. HE Suffered to make amends to Juſtice, for the Breach of an Holy Law; we to receive ſome ſmall Correction, and to be taught to amend our Lives.

Heb. 9. Rom. 3,4. Deut. 2 Chr. 6,27. Act. 2. Eph. 4. Chap. 5.

6. HE was delivered from the nature of Suffering, by the Merit of his Perſon and Sufferings; we from ours, by the Mercy of God, through Chriſt.

REDEMPTION then by a Price, was this, the Blood of Chriſt which he willingly ſuffered to be ſpilt on the Croſs, before the Face of God. The cauſe of this price was our Sins, by which we were juſtly delivered up to the Curſe, the Devil, Death and Hell; and ſhould everlaſtingly have ſo continued, but that this price of Redemption was for us paid. Hence it is ſaid Chriſt died for us, Chriſt died for our Sins, Chriſt gave himſelf for our Sins; we have Redemption through his Blood, the forgiveneſs of Sins; and that we are bought with this Price.

NOW in all this Chriſt reſpected the Holyneſs of the Law, and the worth of our Souls; giving full ſatisfaction to the one, for the love that he bear to the other: And this has Redeemed his People from Sin and the Curſe, the Cauſe of our Captivity.

SECONDLY, But beſides this, there is Redemption by Power, and that reſpecteth that or thoſe Things, unto which we become not legally indebted by our Tranſgreſſion: There was that unto which we became legally indebted, and that was the Juſtice and Holyneſs of the Law; now from this becauſe God had ſaid it (for his Word made it ſo) there could be no deliverance, but by a Reverend and Due reſpect to its Command and Demand, and an Anſwer to every Whit of what it could require; for not one Tittle, not one Jot or Tittle of the Law could fail. 80. Gen.2.17. Mat.5.18.

JESUS Chriſt therefore with reſpect to the Law, that he might Redeem us, paid a full, and a ſufficient price of Redemption; but as for theſe things that hold us Captive, not for any Injury we had done to them, but of Power, Tyranny, or the like; from them he Redeemed us by Power. Hence when he had made ſatisfaction or amends for us to the Law, he is ſaid to lead Captivity Captive, to ſpoil Principalities and Powers, and to make a ſhew of them openly. But to take Captive, and to Spoil, muſt be underſtood of what he did, not to the Law, but to thoſe others of our Enemies from which we were to be Redeemed, not by price but by Power. And this ſecond part of Redemption is to be conſidered under a twofold Head. Ephes.4. Col. 2.

FIRST, That theſe were overcome Perſonally, in and by himſelf for us. 81.

SECONDLY, That they ſhall be overcome alſo, in and by his Church through the Power of his Spirit.

FOR the firſt, Theſe were overcome Perſonally, in and by himſelf for us; to wit, at his Reſurrection from the Dead. For as by his Death he made amends for our Breach of the Law, ſo by his Reſurrection he ſpoiled thoſe other Enemies; to wit, Death, the Devil, and the Grave, &c. unto which we were ſubjected, not for any Offence we had committed againſt them, but for our Sin againſt the Law; and

Men

Men when they have anſwered to the Juſtice of the Law, are by Law and Power delivered from the Priſon. Chriſt therefore by Power, by his glorious Power, did overcome the Devil, Hell, Sin and Death, then when he aroſe and revived from his Grave; and ſo got the Victory over them, in and by himſelf for us: For he engaging as a common or publick Perſon for us, did on our behalf what he did, both in his Death and Reſurrection: So then as he died for us, he roſe for us; and as by his Death he Redeemed us from ſome, ſo by his Reſurrection from other of our Enemies. Only it muſt be conſidered, that this Redemption as to the fulneſs of it as yet, reſides in his own Perſon only, and is ſet out to his Church as ſhe has need thereof, and that orderly too. Firſt that part thereof, which reſpecteth our Redemption from the Law; and then that part of it, which reſpecteth our Redemption from thoſe other things. And although we are made Partakers of Redemption from the curſe of the Law in this life, ſo far forth as to be juſtified therefrom, and alſo as to the receiving of an earneſt, while here, of being wholly poſſeſſed of the Glory of the next World hereafter; yet we neither are, nor ſhall be redeemed from all thoſe things, which yet our Head has, as Head, got a compleat and eternal Victory over, until juſt before he ſhall deliver up the Kingdom to the
1 Cor. 15. 6. Father, that God may be all in all; For the laſt Enemy that ſhall be deſtroyed is Death: Death as it has hold upon us (for Death as it had hold on our Head, was deſtroyed, when HE roſe from the Dead; but Death as we are ſubject to it) ſhall not be deſtroyed, until we all and
Col. 3. 1, every one of us ſhall attain to the Reſurrection
3, 4. Eph. 4. 30. Rev. 20. 5. from the Dead: A Pledge of which we have by our Spiritual Reſurrection, from a ſtate of Nature to a ſtate of Grace, a Promiſe of which we have in the word of the Truth of the Goſpel; and an Aſſurance of it we have by the Reſurrection of Chriſt from the Dead: Wherefore let us Hope.

82. NOW as to Redemption from the Law, and from thoſe other things from which we are, and are to be Redeemed with Power; do but conſider the different Language which the Holy Ghoſt uſeth, with Reference to our Redemption from each.

1. WHEN it ſpeaketh of our Redemption from the juſt curſe of the Law, which we have ſufficiently deſerved, it is ſaid to be done, not by deſtroying, but by fulfilling the Law:
Mat. 5. 17, 18. Rom. 8. 3, 4. Think not (ſays Chriſt) that I am come to deſtroy the Law and the Prophets; I am not come to deſtroy, but to fulfil: For verily I ſay unto you, till Heaven and Earth paſs, one Jot or one Tittle ſhall in no wiſe paſs from the Law, till all be fulfilled: For it became him, as our Redeemer, to fulfil all, and all manner of Righteouſneſs, by doing and ſuffering what juſtly ſhould have been done or born of us.

2. BUT now when our Redemption from thoſe other things is made mention of, the Dialect is changed; for then we read, to the end we might be delivered from them, Chriſt was
Heb. 2. 14. 2 Tim. 1. to deſtroy and aboliſh them; that through Death, he might deſtroy him that had the Power of Death, which is the Devil, and (ſo) deliver. And again, O Death I will be thy Plagues! O Grave I will by thy Deſtruction! And again, that the Body of Sin might be deſtroyed: And I have the Keys of Hell, and of Death; having thereby ſufficiently declared, that the Power of it is deſtroyed as to Iſrael, who are the People concerned in this Redemption.

Hoſ. 13. 14. Rom. 6. Rev. 1.

NOW, as was hinted before, the Redemption is already obtained and that compleatly, by the Perſon of Chriſt for us, as 'tis Written, He has obtained Eternal Redemption for us; yet theſe Enemies, Sin, Death, the Devil, Hell, and the Grave, are not ſo under the Feet of his, as he will put them, and as they ſhall be in Concluſion under the Feet of Chriſt; I ſay they are not; wherefore as the Text alſo concludeth, this Redemption is with the Lord, and under our Feet they ſhall be by the Power of God towards us, and for this let Iſrael Hope.

Heb. 9. 2. Ch. 2. 8, 2 Cor. 1. 4.

THE Sum then is, God's People have with the Lord Redemption, and Redemption in Reverſion; Redemption and Redemption to come; all which is in the hand of the Lord for us, and of all we ſhall be poſſeſſed in his time: This is that called plenteous Redemption, for with him is plenteous Redemption.

83.

A little therefore to touch upon the Redemption that we have in Reverſion, or of the Redemption yet to come.

FIRST, There is yet much Sin and many Imperfections, that cleave to our Perſons and to our Performances, from which, though we be not yet in the moſt full ſenſe delivered, yet THIS Redemption is with our Lord, and we ſhall have it in his Time: And in the mean time it is ſaid, it ſhall not have Dominion over us, Sin ſhall not have Dominion over you, for you are not under the Law, but under Grace: We are by what Chriſt HAS done, taken from under the Law, the Curſe; and muſt by what Chriſt WILL do, be delivered from the very being of Sin. He
Tit. 2. 13. 14. gave himſelf for us, that he might Redeem us from all Iniquity, that he might preſent us to himſelf a Glorious Church, not having Spot or Wrinkle or any ſuch thing, but that we ſhould be without Blemiſh: That we are al-
Eph. 5. 25, 26, 27. ready without the being of Sin, none but Fools and Madmen will aſſert; and that we ſhall never be delivered from it, none but ſuch Men will affirm neither. It remains then, that there is a Redemption for Iſrael in Reverſion, and that from the being of Sin; and of this it is that the Text alſo diſcourſeth, and for which let the Godly Hope.

Rom. 6. 14.

SECONDLY, We are not yet QUITE free from Satan's aſſaulting of us; though our Head by himſelf, and that for us, has got a compleat Conqueſt over him; but the time is coming, and himſelf knows that it is but a little while to it, in which he ſhall forever be bruiſed under our Feet. Be wiſe unto that which
Rom. 16. 20. is good, and ſimple concerning evil, and the God of Peace ſhall bruiſe, tread down, Satan under your Feet ſhortly: Some may think that this Text, will have a fulfilling of the ruin and downfal of Antichriſt, and ſo it may; but yet it will never be wholly fulfilled, as long as Satan ſhall have any thing to do with one of the Children of God. There is therefore a Redemption in Reverſion for the Children of God from Satan, which they are to Hope for, becauſe this Redemption is with the Lord their Head, and that to manage and bring about for them: For he ſhall bruiſe him under their Feet in his time.

84. THIRDLY, There is yet belonging to the Church of God, a Redemption from what remains of Antichriſt, although as yet he is ſtronger than we, which I alſo call a Redemption in Reverſion, for that it is yet to come, nor ſhall it be accompliſhed till the time appointed: In this Redemption, not only Saints, but Truths will have a ſhare; yea, and many alſo of the Men, that belong not to the Kingdom of Chriſt and of God.

THIS Redemption God's People are alſo to Hope for, for it is with their Lord, and he has promiſed it to them, as the Scripture doth plentifully declare.

85. FOURTHLY, There is yet a Redemption to come, which is called the Redemption of our Body: Of this Redemption we have both the Earneſt and the Seal, to wit, the Spirit of God. And becauſe the time to it is long, therefore we are to wait for it; and becauſe it will be, that upon which all our Bleſſedneſs will be let out to us, and we alſo let into it; therefore we ſhould be comforted, at all the Signs of the near approach thereof: Then, ſaith Chriſt, look up and lift up your Heads. The Bodies of Saints are called the purchaſed Poſſeſſion; Poſſeſſion, becauſe the whole of all that ſhall be Saved, ſhall be for a Temple or Houſe for God to dwell in, in the Heavens: A purchaſed Poſſeſſion, becauſe the Body as well as the Soul, is bought with the Price of Blood. But what then doth he mean by the Redemption of this purchaſed Poſſeſſion? I anſwer, he meaneth the raiſing it up from the Dead; I will ranſom them from the Power of the Grave, I will redeem them from Death. And then ſhall be brought to paſs that ſaying, that is written, Death is ſwallowed up of Victory: That ſaying, that is this, and that in Iſaiah, for they ſpeak both the ſelf ſame thing.

Rom. 8. 23. Ephes. 1. 14. Ch. 4. 30. Luk. 21. 28. 1 Cor. 6. 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20. Hoſ. 13. 14. 1 Cor. 15. Iſa. 25. 8.

AND this was ſignified by Moſes, where he ſpeaks of the year of Jubile, and of the Redemption of the Houſe that was ſold in Iſrael, how of that year it ſhould return to the owner. Our Bodies of right are Gods, but Sin ſtill dwells in them; we have alſo ſold and forfeited them to Death and the Grave, and ſo they will abide; but at the Judgment day, that bleſſed Jubile, God will take our Body, which originally is his, and will deliver it from the Bondage of Corruption, unto which by our Souls, through Sin, it has been ſubjected; he will take it I ſay, becauſe 'tis his, both by Creation and Redemption, and will bring it to that perfect Freedom, that is only to be found in Immortality and Eternal Life; and for this ſhould Iſrael Hope.

Levit. 25.

86. FROM what hath been ſaid to this firſt Thing, it appears that the Mercy that is with God for his People (as it is in general what has been deſcribed before, ſo it) is Redeeming Mercy, or Mercy that has with it the vertue of Redemption: Of the advantagiouſneſs of this Mercy, we will further diſcourſe by and by:

But now we will look into the ſecond Thing, that from this Amplification of the Reaſon, was propounded to be ſpoken to; to wit, An Account of the Sufficiency of this Redemption; Let Iſrael hope in the Lord; for with the Lord there is Mercy, and with him is [plenteous] Redemption.

THE Sufficiency or Plenteouſneſs of it may be ſpoken to as it reſpecteth the many difficulties and dangers, that by Sin we have brought our ſelves into; or as it reſpecteth the ſuperabundant Worth that is found therein, let the dangers attending us be what they will; though we ſhould not be acquainted with the half or the hundredth part thereof.

TO ſpeak to it as it reſpecteth thoſe particular difficulties and dangers, that by Sin we have brought our ſelves unto; and that,

1. BY ſhewing the Suitableneſs of it.

2. BY ſhewing the Sufficiency of the Suitableneſs thereof.

87. THE Suitableneſs of it lieth in the fit Application thereof, to all the parts of Thraldom and Bondage.

1. Have we Sinned? Chriſt had our Sins laid upon his Back; yea, of God was was made, that is, reputed Sin for us. Iſa. 53. 2 Cor. 5. 20.

2. WERE we under the Curſe of the Law, by reaſon of Sin? Chriſt was made under the Law, and bare the Curſe thereof to Redeem. Gal. 4. 4. Ch. 3. 13. Rom. 3. 25. Col. 1. 20. Rom. 6. 23.

3. HAD Sin ſet us at an indefinite diſtance from God? Chriſt has become by the price of his Redeeming Blood, a Reconciler of Man to God again. Act. 26. 18. 2 Tim. 2. 26.

4. WERE we by Sin ſubject to Death? Chriſt died the Death to ſet us free therefrom.

5. HAD our Sins betrayed us into, and under Satan's Slavery? Chriſt has ſpoiled and deſtroyed this Work, and made us free Citizens of Heaven. Heb. 2. 14. Epheſ. 2. 19.

THUS was our Redeemer made, as to thoſe things, a ſuitable Recoverer, taking all and miſſing nothing, that ſtood in the way of our Happineſs; according to that a little below the Text; And he ſhall redeem Iſrael from all his Iniquities: That is, from them together, with their evil Fruits.

88. NOW as to the Sufficiency that was in this Suitableneſs, that is declared by his Reſurrection, by his Aſcenſion, by his Exaltation to the right hand of God, that is alſo declared by Gods putting all things under his Feet, and by giving of him to be Head over all things for his Redeemed ſakes. It is alſo further declared, in that God now threatneth none but thoſe that refuſe to take Jeſus for their Saviour, and for that he is reſolved to make his Foes his Footſtool: What are more natural conſequences flowing from any thing, than that by theſe things is the ſufficiency of the ſuitableneſs of Redemption by Chriſt proved?

FOR all theſe things followed Chriſt, for, or becauſe he Humbled himſelf to the death of the Croſs, that he might become a Redeemer; therefore God raiſed him up, took him to his Throne, and gave him Glory, that your Faith and Hope might be in God by him. Phil. 2. 1 Pet. 1.

2. BUT

2. BUT alas! what need we ſtand to prove the Sun is light, the Fire hot, the Water wet! What was done by him, was done by God, for he was true God; and what compariſon can there be betwixt God and the creature, betwixt the worth of Gods acts, and the merit of the Sin of poor Man! And can Death or Sin, or the Grave hold us, when God ſaith, give up! Yea, where is that, or he, that ſhall call into queſtion the ſuper-abounding ſufficiency that is in the merit of Chriſt, when God continueth to diſcharge day by day; yea, hourly, and every moment, Sinners from their Sin, and death, and Hell, for the ſake of the redemption, that is obtained for us by Chriſt.

GOD be thanked here is plenty; but no want of any thing. Enough, and to ſpare. It will be with the merit of Chriſt, even at the end of the World, as it was with the five loaves and two fiſhes after the five thouſand Men, beſides Women and Children had ſufficiently eaten thereof. There was to the view of all at laſt, more than ſhewed it ſelf at firſt. At firſt there was but five loaves and two fiſhes, which a Lad carried. At laſt there were twelve baskets full, the weigth of which I ſuppoſe, not the ſtrongeſt Man could bear away. Nay, I am perſwaded that at the end of the World, when the damned ſhall ſee what a ſufficiency there is left of merit in Chriſt, beſides what was beſtowed upon them that were ſaved by him, they will run mad for anguiſh of heart to think what fools they were, not to come to him, and truſt in him that they might be ſaved as their fellow ſinners did. But this is revealed, that Iſrael, that the godly may Hope and expect. Let Iſrael therefore Hope in the Lord, for with him is plenteous redemption.

89. NOW as this laſt Clauſe, as I termed it, Is the Amplification of the reaſon going before; ſo it ſelf yieldeth amplifying Reaſons as a concluſion of the whole. For

FIRST, Add Redemption unto Mercy, and then things ſtill are heightned, and made greater. And it muſt, becauſe the Text adds it, and becauſe both the nature of God, the Holineſs of his Law, and the preſent ſtate of the ſinner that is to be ſaved, requireth that it ſhould be ſo. God is Juſtice, as well as Mercy; the Law is Holy and juſt; that Man that is to be ſaved, is not only a ſinner, but polluted. Now then, that Mercy and Juſtice may meet and kiſs in the Salvation of the ſinner, there muſt be a redemption; That the ſinner may be ſaved, and the Law retain its ſanction and authority, there muſt be a redemption; that the ſinner may be purged, as well as pardoned, there muſt be a redemption. And, I ſay, as there muſt, ſo there is. For with the Lord there is Mercy, and with him is plenteous Redemption. Mercy is the original, the cauſe, and the manager of our redemption. Redemption is the manifeſtation, and the compleating of that Mercy. If there had been no Mercy, there had been no redemption: Mercy had been defective, as to us, or muſt have offered violence to the Law and Juſtice of God, and have ſaved us contrary to that Word, in the day thou eateſt thou ſhalt die; and curſed is every one that continueth not in all things written in the Book of the Law to do them. But now, Redemption coming in by Mercy, the ſin is done away and the ſinner ſaved, in a way of righteouſneſs.

SECONDLY, By Law as well as Grace. That is, in a way of Juſtice as well as in a way of Mercy. Hence it ſaith, we are juſtified freely by Grace, through the redemption that is in Jeſus Chriſt. Through the Redemption that is in Jeſus Chriſt, whom God hath ſet forth to be a Propitiation through Faith in his Blood, and ſo, to ſhew the World the equity of his proceeding with ſinners in the ſaving of their Souls. As if God ſhould ſay to all thoſe who ſtumble at the Salvation of ſinners by Grace. Behold, I act according to Law and Juſtice: for of Grace I ſave them through a redemption, and therefore, am faithful and juſt to my Law, as well as free and liberal of my Mercy. Wherefore thus I declare I am righteous, faithful and juſt in paſſing over or remitting of ſin. Nay the matter ſo ſtandeth now betwixt me and the ſinful World, that I could not be juſt if I did not juſtify him that hath Faith in the blood of Jeſus, ſince by that Blood my Juſtice is appeaſed for all that this or that ſinner has done againſt my Law. 90 Rom. 3.

THIS is a way that God, nor any Child of his, need be aſhamed of before any that ſhall call in queſtion the legality and Juſtneſs of this procedure. For why may not God be merciful, and why may not God be juſt? and ſince he can be both merciful and juſt in the Salvation of ſinners, why may he not alſo ſave them from death and Hell? Chriſt is Gods Salvation, and to ſhew that he is not aſhamed of him, he hath preſented him and the way of Redemption by him, before the face of all People. Nor is the SON, who is become, with reſpect to the act of redemption, the Author of eternal Salvation, aſhamed of this his doings. I gave my back to the ſmiters ſaith he, and my cheeks to them that plucked off the Hair, I hid not my Face from ſhame and ſmiting This he ſpeaks, to ſhew what was ſome of his ſuffering, when he engaged in the work of our redemption, and how heartily he did bear and go through them. For, ſays he, the Lord God will help me, that is, juſtify me in it, therefore I ſhall not be confounded, therefore have I ſet my face like a Flint, for I know that I ſhall not be aſhamed. And if God and his Son Jeſus Chriſt, are neither of them aſhamed to own this way of Salvation; why ſhould the ſinners concerned thereabout, be afraid thereupon to venture their Soul? Luk. 2. 30, 31, 32. Iſa. 50. 6. verſ. 8. ver. 7.

I know, ſaith he, I ſhall not be aſhamed. I ſhall not, that is, when all things come to light, and every thing ſhall appear above-board; when the Heart and Soul of this undertaking of mine ſhall be proclaimed upon the Houſe tops, I know I ſhall not be aſhamed. 91.

IT was alſo upon this account that Paul ſaid, he was not aſhamed of the Goſpel. For he knew that it was a declaration of the higheſt act of wiſdom, that ever God did ſpread before the Face of the Sons of Men. And of what wiſdom is the Goſpel a declaration? but of that of forgiveneſs of Sins by Grace, through the redemption that is by the Blood of Jeſus Chriſt? In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveneſs of Sins, according to the Rom. 1. Epheſ. 1. 8. ver. 7.

the Riches of his Grace, wherein he hath abounded towards us in all wisdom and prudence.

AND as Paul speaketh here as a Minister, so he speaketh after the same manner also, as he is a believer, saying, I am not ashamed (of this Gospel) for I know whom I have believed (or trusted with my Soul) and I am perswaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him, against that day. Wherefore seeing that Mercy is not presented to us alone, or singly, but as accompanying, and concerning with redemption; It is manifest enough that Mercy standeth not above, and consequently that it saveth none but, in, by and thorough a Redeemer. He that believeth not in Christ shall be damned: But what needs that, if Mercy could save the Soul without the redemption that is by him? If any says, Christ is the Mercy of God to us: True, if you count him a Redeemer, a worker out of a redemption for us by his death and Blood upon the Cross. But otherwise he is none, I mean, if you make him a Lawgiver and a Saviour only, as he has set an example to us to get to Heaven by doing commandments, or by treading in his steps. Yea, though you say his commandment is, That we believe in him. For take the work of redemption by his Blood, from the curse out of his hand; and then what concerning him is left for me to believe, but as was said before, that he is a Lawgiver, and as such, at best but a pattern to us to get to Heaven as here? And who so counteth him as such, is so far off from counting of Christ the Mercy of God to us, that they make him a contradictor of Mercy, both in the fountain and all the streams of it. For to propound life eternal to us, through the observation of Laws, is to set before us that which contradicteth Grace and Mercy; let the work be what it will; nor will it help at all to say, that they that do the Law of Christ, or that take him for their Law and example, shall be sure of Mercy to pass by their shortness of attaining to the perfection of what is set before them. For all this might a been done, and not one drop of Blood spilt for the redemption of Man. Besides, this makes Christs death as a redeemer, as an act unadvisedly undertaken; for what need he have died, if his Doctrin and example had been sufficient through that which they call Mercy, to have brought the Soul to Glory? If righteousness comes by the Law, then Christ is dead in vain. I will add, put Mans righteousness, Gods Mercy, and Christ's redemption altogether, and they will not save a Man, though the last two alone, will sufficiently do it: but this third is a piece, when put to that, does, instead of mending, make the Rent worse. Besides, since Mans righteousness cannot be joined in justification with Gods Mercy and Christs redemption, but thorough a disbelief of the sufficiency of them, should it be admitted as a cause, though but the least cause thereof, what would follow, but to make that cursed Sin of unbelief a good inventer, and a necessary worker in the manner of the justification of a Sinner? For I say, unbelief is the cause of this Hodge Podge, in any, and the effects of it are shewed in the Ninth Chapter of the Epistle of Paul to the Romans, at the latter end thereof.

2 Tim 1. 11, 12.

Galat. 2. 20.

Rom. 9. 31, 32, 33.

AND there are three things that follow upon that Opinion that denieth the absolute necessity of the shedding of the Blood of Christ for the redemption of Man, that Mercy might be let out to him. 92.

1. IT followeth from thence, That there is no such Attribute as absolute Justice in God; Justice to stand to his Word, and to vindicate every Tittle of his Law: For let but this be granted, and the death of Christ must be brought in, or by Justice the Floodgate of Mercy still be shut against sinful Man; or that God must have Mercy upon Man, with the breath of his Word.

2. IT also followeth from the Premises, That Christs death was of pleasure only, and not of necessity also; contrary to the Scripture that makes his death the effect of both: of pleasure to shew how willing God the Father was that Christ should die for Man. Of necessity, to shew that Man could not be saved without it; of pleasure to shew, how Justice did deal with him for our Sin; of necessity to shew that Mercy could not be communicated to us without it.

Isa. 53. 10. Mat. 26. 39. Acts 17. 3.

3. THERE also followeth therefrom, that by the Blood of Christ we have not redemption from Law and Justice, as to the condemning part of both, but that rather this Title is given to it for Honour and Glory, to dignify it: as the name God, is also given to him. For they that affirm the one, are bold to affirm the other. For as by them is concluded, that there is no necessity, why the Blood of Christ should be counted the absolutely necessary price of our Redemption from the Curse of the Law and severity of Justice; so by them it is concluded, that it is not necessary to hold that Christ the Redeemer is naturally, and coeternaly God as the Father. But let Israel Hope in the Lord, for with him is Mercy, and with him is plenteous redemption.

THIRDLY, Must there be Redemption by Blood added to Mercy, if the Soul be saved? This shews us what an horrible thing the Sin of Man is: Sin as to the nature of it, is little known in the World. Oh! it sticks so fast to us, as not to be severed from us, by all the Mercy of God, do but exclude redemption by the Blood of Christ. I will say it over again. All the Mercy of God cannot save a sinner without respect to redemption from the course of the Law, by the death and Blood of Christ. Without shedding of Blood is no remission. No remission, no pardon, or passing by of the least transgression without it. Tears! Christs tears will not do it; Prayers! Christs Prayers will not do it; an Holy Life the Holy Life, that Christ lived, will not do it; as severed from his death and Blood. The Word Redemption, therefore must be well understood, and close stuck to, and must not be allowed as proper ly spoken, when we talk of deliverance from Sin, the Law and Gods curse, unless it be applyed particularly to the death and Blood of Christ. We have redemption through his Blood. Christ has redeemed us from the Curse of the Law, being made a Curse for us; as it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree: He has redeemed us to God by his Blood. For thou waſt ſlain and haſt redeemed us to God by thy Blood. This is the Redemption that is joined with Mercy; Yea, that is the fruit thereof: and it is that without which, Sin cannot be removed out of the ſight of God. Moſes that was a better Preacher of the Law, and the ſufficiency of the righteouſneſs thereof, than any now can pretend to be, yet he full well declared by all his bloody Sacrifices, that the Blood and Death of Jeſus Chriſt, is of abſolute neceſſity for the redemption of the Soul. Beſides, he tells us that the Man that ſhould flee to the City of refuge, from the Avenger of Blood, ſhould not be at liberty from the Law, unleſs he kept himſelf cloſe in that City until the death of the High-prieſt. Mark the Word, ye ſhall take no ſatisfaction for him that is fled to the City of his refuge, that he ſhould come again to dwell in the land, until the death of the High-prieſt. Wherefore Chriſtian Man, know thou thy Sin in the nature of it, and perſwade thy ſelf that the removing of it from before the face of God, is by no leſs means, than the death and Blood of Chriſt.

Numb. 35.

BUT it is a poor ſhift that the Enemies of the Truth are put to, when to defend their errors, they are forced to diminiſh Sin, and to enlarge the borders of their figleaf-garments, and to deny or caſt away, as much as in them lies, one of the Attributes, the Juſtice of God. Indeed they will ſay they abhor to do thus, and all erroneous Perſons will put the beſt face they can upon their bad matters, but the natural conſequences of things amount to it, nor can they when Men ſtick cloſe to their ſides, avoid the charge.

94. FOURTHLY, Then here you ſee the reaſon of that free courſe that Mercy hath among the Sons of Men, and why it doth, as has been ſhewed before, what it doth: Why, Juſtice is content; Blood has anſwered the demands of Juſtice. The Law has nothing to object againſt his Salvation; that believeth in Jeſus Chriſt. Blood has ſet the door open for us, with boldneſs to go to God for Mercy, and for God to come with his abundant Grace to us.

Heb. 10. 20. We have boldneſs, Brethren, to enter into the Holyeſt by the blood of Jeſus, by a new and living way, which he has conſecrated for us through the vail, that is to ſay, his Fleſh. This is the WAY that Moſes deſired to find, when God ſo largly ſpake to him of his Mercy. Thou haſt ſaid, ſays Moſes to God, I know thee by name, and thou haſt found Grace in my ſight. Now therefore I pray thee If I have found grace in thy ſight, ſhew me thy way that I may know thee, &c. What if it ſhould be applied thus? Thou now talkeſt of Mercy, but in thy words to us from the Mount, thou ſpakeſt fire and Juſtice: and ſince thou haſt delivered us ſo Holy a Law, and art reſolved that the leaſt Tittle thereof ſhall by no means fall to the ground; by what means is it that Mercy ſhould come unto us? Well, ſaith God, I will ſhew thee my way, I will put thee in a clift of the rock, which was a Figure of Chriſt: For Chriſt ſays, I am the way, This done he proclaimed his name, & ſhewed him how he could be gracious, & gave him the ſign of his being Merciful, a promiſe that his preſence ſhould go with him. The breaking then of the Body of Jeſus was, (the renting of the Vail) that out of which came

Exod. 33. 13.

Jer. 34. 14. 6.

Blood, that the way to God might be, living; and not death, or Sword, or Flame, to the Poor Children of Men.

OUT hence therefore bubbleth continually, the Tender Mercy; the Great Mercy; the Rich Mercy; the abundant Mercy; multiplying Mercy, and every other Mercy of God to us for our preſent and everlaſting good.

NOT that God was ſparing of his Mercy, and would not part with it unleſs paid for it: for this WAY of Redemption by Blood, was his contrivance, the fruit of his wiſdom. So then, God was big with Mercy for a ſinful World; but to be continually extending of Mercy, ſince ſin and Juſtice, becauſe of the Sanction of the Law, lay in the way, as a turning flaming Sword, there did lie the work; ſo it was concluded, that Mercy might, in a way of Juſtice, be let out to ſiners, Chriſt the Son of God ſhould die for the ſin of Man. By which means the outcries of the Law and Juſtice againſt us for our ſins did ceaſe, and Mercy flowed from Heaven like the waters of Noah, until it became a Sea.

Ephes. 1. 8.

Mich. 7. 18. 19.

95. BY Redemption by Blood therefore, is this great myſtery, That a juſt God can ſave that Man that has broken that Law, that God has ſaid he will inflict the penalty for the breach thereof upon, and do his juſtice no wrong, expounded: not by a relaxation of the puniſhment, as the doltiſh wiſdom of this World imagins; but by an inflicting of the exacteſt Juſtice upon that nature that has offended. If the queſtion be asked, How a Juſt God can ſave that Man from death that by ſin has put himſelf under the ſentence of it? Any Fool can anſwer, by a pardon. And if it be asked, But what will become of the threatning wherewith he threatned the offender? He that knows no myſteries, can ſay, why Man muſt repent of his ſin, and God of his threatning. But if it be asked, how God can execute his threatning to the utmoſt, and yet deliver the ſinner by his Mercy from it; the ſinner that has deſerved it, and yet be Juſt to his Law, faithful to his Law, and one that will ſtand by every Tittle of his Law? This, to expound, is too high for a Fool. Therefore theſe Men are for deſpiſing of myſteries, and for counting of myſteries in the Goſpel, Follies.

BUT this Key of Heaven is no where but in the Word of the Spirit, it is not ſeen in the Law, nor in the reaſon, or righteousneſs of the World. To puniſh the Juſt for the unjuſt and to make him to be ſin for us, who knew no ſin, that we might be made the righteouſneſs of God in him, ſeems unreaſonable; ſo croſs to the Wiſdom of Man, are the words of this Lock. Wherefore uſually, when they come at this Doctrin, they belch out their Frumps, their Taunts, their Scoffs, and their Scorns againſt it; and in oppoſition thereto, comment, exalt cry up and ſet on high Socinianiſm, Mahometaniſm, Mans ragged Righteouſneſs, or any thing. But we will paſs theſe things.

1 Pet. 3. 18. 2 Cor. 5. 21.

96. FIFTHLY, The knowledge of Redemption, and the Faith of Redemption, is the only means of ſetling, compoſing, and upholding the Soul of the throughly awakened, in the Hope of enjoying a portion in Mercy forever. What ſenſleſs, ſecure, beſotted, and deluded Men conclude of themſelves, and of the means of future happineſs, is one thing; and what the throughly awakened Soul concludes upon, is another. And I ſay, one throughly awakened about the nature of God, the nature of ſin, and the worth of the Soul, will find but little eaſe of mind, notwithſtanding notions of Mercy, until he comes and ſees that he muſt be ſaved by Mercy and Juſtice both, and that to be ſure Coloſ. 2. he ſhall never do until he is taught that by the blood of Chriſt the Law is, as to the curſe that is in it againſt the ſinner, taken out of the way.

THESE things, Sin and Juſtice, are too great to be played with by him, that ſhall ſee them in the hight of the Law, and that ſhall feel them in their terror upon a trembling Conſcience: But when the Soul ſhall ſee that a propitiation is made to Juſtice by Blood, then and not kill then, it ſees ſin taken away; and when it ſees, by this means, ſin taken away, then it can behold to Hope in the Mercy of God. Yea, and it will be as hard to wring off him that is ſetled here, from this belief to another, as it would be to perſwade him that ſtands upon
Joh. 6. 51,52,53, 54,55,56. ſound ground, to venture his life upon a ſhaking bottomleſs Quag. Oh! it is a pleaſant thing for the wounded Conſcience to taſt the ſweetneſs of redeeming Blood! This is like the beſt
Heb. 9. 14. Wine that goes down ſweetly; this carries with the laſt of it, the very Tang of eternal life. And know, that dead works, or works of death, will abide in the conſcience, notwithſtanding all talk and notions of Mercy, until that be purged with Blood, applied thereto, by the Spirit, and
1 Joh. 5. 8, 9, 10, 11. Faith. This is one of the three that abide to witneſs on Earth, that God hath given us eternal life, and that this life is in his Son; becauſe he died for us and roſe again

97. THIS therefore is that that will eſtabliſh a man with that peace that ſhall not be ſhaken, Coloſ. 1. 20. becauſe by this, ſuch an one ſeeth the Juſtice of God is quieted. For peace is made by the Blood of the Croſs: peace with God for ſinners? Yea, God himſelf by the Blood of the Croſs has made it, that by him, Chriſt, he might reconcile to himſelf all things, whether they be things in Earth, or things in Heaven. Nor will a Man that is truly Spiritually wiſe, reſt, till he comes where God towards Man doth reſt; but that can be only there, where ſuch means are offered for the taking away of ſin, that are of a ſweet ſmelling Savour to God. Now this is the offering that Chriſt offered, towit, himſelf; for Epheſ. 5. 1. Chriſt loved us, and hath given himſelf for us, an offering and a Sacrifice to God for a ſweet
Coloſ. 1. 21. ſmelling Savour. Therefore it is it, the body of his Fleſh through Death, that we are preſented Holy, unblameable, and unreprovable in his ſight by. Wherefore it muſt be true which was ſaid afore, to wit, That the knowledge of Redemption, and the Faith of Redemption, is the only means of ſetling, compoſing and upholding of the Soul of the throughly awakened, in the Hope
1 Joh. 2. 23. of enjoying a portion in Mercy forever.

Chap. 5. 10,11,12. 2 Joh. 9. Epheſ. 4. 32. HE that hath the Son of God, hath the Father, hath life: becauſe with him is the means of peace with the Father; and ſo of Eternal Life: But then, to have the Son, is to believe on him, and on the Father through him: On him, that he is the Saviour by his Blood; & on the Father through him, as believing, that he, for his Sons ſufferings, is pacified with us, and of his grace hath forgiven us, through him, all treſpaſſes.

SIXTHLY The knowledge, & Faith of this Redemption, fortifieth the Chriſtian againſt Temptations. We that do believe, know what it is to be aſſaulted by the Devil, and to have knotty objections caſt into our minds by him; we alſo know what advantage the vile ſin of unbelief will get upon us, if our Knowledge, and Faith in this Redemption, be in the leaſt, below the Common Faith of Saints, defective. If we talk of Mercy, he can talk of Juſtice; if we talk of Grace, he can talk of the Law. And all his words when God will ſuffer it, we ſhall find as ſharp and as ſubject to ſtick in our minds, as bearded Arrows are to ſtick in fleſh. Beſides, he can and doth, and that often, work in our fancies & imaginations ſuch apprehenſions of God, that he ſhall ſeem to be to us, one that cannot abide us, one that hates us, and that lieth in wait to deſtroy us. And now if any body ſpeaks to us of Mercy, we think we might Hope in that, had we nothing to trouble us but the guilt of actual ſins: But we ſee our nature as full of the filth of ſin, as the Egg is of meat, or the Toad of Poiſon. Which filth vilely recoileth againſt the commandments, flyeth in the face of God, and continueth all his Judgments. This is felt; this is ſeen by the ſinner, who cannot help it; nor can he be brought to that conſideration, as to ſay, it is no more I. Now what ſhall this Man do, ſhall he look to the commandment? there is death. Shall he look to God? there is Juſtice. Shall he look to himſelf? there is ſin out of meaſure; Let him look then to one as dying; to the Lamb as it had been ſlain: And there let him ſee himſelf by this Lamb, as Curſed, and a dying of a Curſed Death for this Sin that doth ſo fright and ſo diſtreſs the Soul. Then let him turn again, and behold this Lamb alive and well, and highly exalted by this God, that but juſt before laid the curſe of the Law upon him; but let him be ſure to reckon that he has died for his ſins by the Perſon of Chriſt, & it will follow, that this Man is now acquitted; becauſe Chriſt is ſtill alive. Say I, theſe things as a Man? ſaith not the Goſpel the very ſame? 99.

1. AS to Chriſt his dying for us, as alſo that we are dead to the Law by the body of Chriſt.

2. AND that we ſhould ſo reckon as to this matter, becauſe that God has transferred our ſin from us to him.

FIRST, did not Chriſt die for us? & dying for us, are we not become dead to the Law by the death of his body? or will the Law ſlay both him and us, and that for the ſame tranſgreſſion? If this be concluded in the affirmative, what follows but that Chriſt though he undertook, came ſhort in doing for us? But he was raiſed up from the dead, & believing marrieth us to him as riſen, and that ſtops the Mouth of all. I am crucified with Chriſt, our old Man was crucified with him, and we are become dead to to the Law by the body of Chriſt. What then?

SECONDLY, Why, reckon your ſelves to be dead indeed unto ſin, but active unto God through JeſusChriſt. Ay, but ſays the Soul, How can I reckon thus, when ſin is yet ſtrong in me? Anſwer. Read the words again,

He

He ſaith not, Reckon your ſelves to be dead indeed unto ſin, in your ſelves; but dead unto it, thorough Jeſus Chriſt. Not alive unto God, in your ſelves; but alive unto God through Jeſus Chriſt. For Chriſt in his Death and Reſurrection preſenteth me. As I died, by him; I roſe again, by him; and live thorough the Faith of the Goſpel in the preſence of God by him. This muſt in the firſt place be allowed and believed, or no true peace can come near the Soul, nor the Soul be prepared to aſſoil the aſſaults of the Adverſary. Let therefore thy Faith, if thou wouldeſt be a Warrier, Oh, thou faint hearted Chriſtian! be well inſtructed in this. Then will thy Faith do thee a twofold kindneſs. 1ſt. It will comform thee to the death & rereſurrection of Chriſt; and 2ly. It will give thee advantage, when thou ſeeſt ſin ſtrange in thy ſelf, yet to conclude that by Chriſt thou art dead thereto, and by him alive therefrom: Nor can there but two Objections be made againſt this. The firſt is, to queſtion whether any are ſaid to die and riſe, by the Death and Reſurrection of Chriſt? Or if it ſo may be ſaid; yet whether thou art one of them. To the firſt, the Scripture is full. To the ſecond, thy Faith muſt be ſtrong; For let go Faith here, and all falls flat to the ground, I mean as to comfort, and conſolation. Chriſt died for us, or in our ſtead, therefore by the word of God, I am allowed ſo to reckon. Chriſt roſe and revived, though he died for me, therefore I roſe and revived by Chriſt. Unleſs any does hold, that though he died in a common, yet he roſe as conſidered but in a ſingle capacity. Now then, if Satan comes and tels me of my Sins; I anſwer, Chriſt has taken them upon himſelf. If he comes and tells me of the death that is due to me for ſin, by the Curſe of the Holy Law; I anſwer, I have already undergon that by Chriſt. If he asks me, how I know that the Law will not lay hold of me alſo? I anſwer, becauſe Chriſt is riſen from the Dead. If he asks me by what authority I om. 4. take upon me thus to reaſon? I tell him, by the authority and allowance of the Holy and moſt bleſſed Goſpel, which ſaith he was delivered for our offences, and was raiſed again for our Juſtification. And to encourage thee thus to believe, and
Cor. 3. thus to hold when thou art in an hour of temp-
6, 17, 18. tation; This is the way to ſee Mercy ſtand & ſmile upon thee; for Mercy will ſmile upon him that
m. 4. 7. ſhall thus believe. This is the way to put Faith &
Pet. 5. Hope both to work againſt the Devil; & to do this is very pleaſing to God. This is the way to make that Hell-hounds retreat & leave off to aſſault. And,

THIS is the way to find an anſwer to many Scriptures, with which elſe thou wilt not know what to do, as with many of the Types and ſhadows; yea, and with the moral Law it ſelf.

BESIDES, thus believing ſetteth thy Soul againſt the fear of death, and judgment to come; for if Chriſt be raiſed from the dead who died for our ſins; and if Chriſt who died for our ſins is entred into glory; I ſay again, if Chriſt who died for our ſins has purchaſed us to himſelf, and is purpoſed that the fruit of this his purchaſe ſhall be that we may behold his face in glory, then caſt off ſlaviſh fear of death and judgment: For Chriſt being raiſed from the dead, dieth no more; Death hath no more Dominion over him.

SEVENTHLY, The Knowledge & Faith of this Redemption preparethMan to an holy life. By an holy life I mean, a life according to the moral Law, flowing from a Spirit of thankfulneſs to God, for giving of his Son to be my Redeemer. This I call an holy life, becauſe it is according to the rule of holineſs, the law; and this I call a holy life, becauſe it floweth from ſuch a principle as giveth to God the heart, and life, for the gift beſtowed on us. 100

WHAT pretences ſoever there are to holineſs, if it floweth not from thankfulneſs for Mercy received, it floweth from a wrong principle, and ſo cannot be good. Hence Men were required, of old, to ſerve the Lord with joyfulneſs, for the abundance of all things; and threatned, if they did not, that they ſhould ſerve their enemies in Hunger and in Thirſt, in Nakedneſs, and in the Want of all things. But then, though there are many Mercies that lay an obligation upon Men to be holy; yet he that ſhall want the obligation that is begotten by the faith of redeeming Mercy, wanteth the main principle of true holineſs; nor will any other be found ſufficiently to ſanctifie the Heart to the cauſing of it to produce ſuch a life. Nor can ſuch holineſs be accepted, becauſe it comes not forth in the name of Chriſt. That that obliged David, was, forgiving and redeeming Mercy; and that that obliged Paul was, the love that Chriſt ſhewed to him in dying for his ſins, and in raiſing from the dead. Paul alſo beſeecheth the Romans by the redeeming, juſtifying, preſerving, and electing Mercy of God, that they preſent their body a living Sacrifice, holy, acceptable to God; which is, ſaith he, your reaſonable ſervice. For we muſt be holy and without blame before him in love. Deut. 28. 47, 48. Pſal. 103. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5. 2 Cor. 5. 14, 15. Rom. 12. 1. Epheſ. 1. 4.

HENCE all along they that are exhorted to holineſs in the New Teſtament, are exhorted to it upon the ſuppoſition of the benefit of Redemption, which they have received by Jeſus Chriſt. Walk in love as Chriſt loved us. If there be any conſolation in Chriſt, if any comfort of love, if any fellowſhip of the Spirit, if any Bowels and Mercies, fulfil ye my joy, that ye be like-minded, having the ſame love, &c. If ye then be riſen with Chriſt, ſeek thoſe things that are above, where Chriſt ſitteth on the right hand of God. Set your affections on things above, not on things on the Earth. For ye are dead & your life is hid with Chriſt in God; when Chriſt who is our life ſhall appear, then ſhall we appear with him in glory. Mortife therefore your Members which are upon the earth, &c. Wherefore laying aſide all malice and all guil, and Hypocriſie & Envy, & all evill ſpeaking, as new born Babes deſire the ſincere Milk of the Word, that ye may grow thereby, if ſo be ye have taſted that the Lord is gracious. I will conclude this with that of Peter to thoſe, to whom he wrote concerning this very thing. Be obedient Children, ſaith he, not faſhioning your ſelves according to the former luſts, in your ignorance; but as he which hath called you is holy, ſo be ye holy in all mannner of converſation: becauſe it it written; Be ye holy, for I am holy. And if ye call on the Father, who without reſpect of perſons judgeth according to every Mans work, paſs the time of your ſojourning here in fear: For Epheſ. 5. 1. Philip. 2. 1, 2, 3. Col. 3. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5. 1 Pet. 2. 1, 2, 3. Chap. 1. 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19.

as much as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as Silver and Gold, from your vain converſation received by tradition from your Fathers, but with the precious Blood of Chriſt, as of a Lamb without blemiſh and without ſpot.

102. FROM all which it appears, that Mercy by Chriſt, or from the benefit of redemption by the precious blood of Chriſt, I ſay from the Faith of that, flows that which is holineſs indeed.

AND I believe that thoſe very Men that are pleaſed to taunt at this kind of inference, would condemn a Man was he laid under theſe obligations concerning things of this life, and yet did carry it as one not touched thereby. We will make an inſtance: Suppoſe a Socinian ſhould thorough his contracting a great Debt, be forced to rot in Priſon, unleſs redeemed by Silver and Gold: And ſuppoſe a Man unto whom this Socinian was an enemy, ſhould lay down the whole Debt to the Creditor that this Socinian might be at liberty, might trade and live comfortably in this World: And if after this, this Socinian ſhould taunt at them that ſhould tell him he is ingaged to this Redeemer, ought to love and reſpect this Redeemer, what would they ſay, but that this Socinian that was a Debtor, is an inconſiderate and ſtupified Raſcal. Why this is the caſe: Paul was a debtor to the law and juſtice of God; Jeſus Chriſt his Son, that Paul might not periſh forever, paid for him a price of Redemption, to wit, his moſt precious Blood. But what! ſhall Paul now, though redeemed from perpetual Impriſonment in Hell, be as one that never was beholding to Jeſus Chriſt, or if others ſay he was, taunt at them for their ſo ſaying! No, he ſcorns it. Though the love of Chriſt, in dying to pay a price of redemption, will not ingage a Socinian, yet it will ingage a true Chriſtian to think and believe that he ought to live to Jeſus, that died for him and roſe again.

I know it will be objected, that the Satisfactioniſts, as the quaking Pen is pleaſed to call them, ſhew but little of this to the World. For their pride, covetouſneſs, falſe-dealing, and the like, ſince they profeſs as I have ſaid, ſhews them as little concerned to the full, as to the Socinian under conſideration.

I anſwer, It muſt be that the name of Chriſt ſhould be ſcandalized through ſome that profeſs him; and they muſt anſwer it at the tribunal of the great Judg: yet what I have ſaid, ſtands faſt as a Rock that cannot be moved.

103. EIGHTLY, The knowledge and Faith of Redemption, is a very great incouragment to prayer. It is great incouragment for the poor to go even to a Prince for what he wanteth, when he conſidereth that what he goeth to him for, is the price of redemption. All things that we want we muſt ask the Father for, in the name of Chriſt; we muſt ask it of him for the ſake of his redeeming Blood, for the ſake of the Merit of his paſſion. Thus David means when he ſays, for thy name ſake do it; and Daniel, when he ſaith here, for the Lord's ſake. For Jeſus Chriſt is Gods great Name, and to do for his ſake, is to do, for what worthineſs is in him.

Joh. 15. 16.

Dan. 9. 17.

UNWORTHINESS; The conſideration of Unworthineſs, is a great ſtumbling block to the tempted when he goes to ſeek the Lord. But now, remembring the worthineſs of Chriſt, and that he is now on the right hand of God on purpoſe to plead that on the behalf of the Petitioner, this is great encouragement.

THE Jews, by Gods ordinance, when they went morning and evening, by their Prieſt, to ſpeak with God, were to offer a Lamb for a Burnt-offering, and it muſt be thus continually. Now this Lamb was a Figure of the Sacrificing of the Body of Chriſt which was to be offered for them in time to come: and in that it was to be continually, morning and evening ſo repeated, what doth it ſignify, but that we ſhould remember to go, when we went to God, in the Name, and Faith of the Merits of Jeſus Chriſt for what we ſtood in need of? This will ſupport, and this will encourage, for now we ſee that the thing deſired (it being according to his Will) is obtained for us by the Sacrificing of the body of Jeſus Chriſt, once for all.

Exod. 29. 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46.

WHEN Iſrael begged of Samuel that he would not ceaſe to cry to the Lord their God for them; 'Tis ſaid, he took a ſucking Lamb, and offered it for a Burnt-offering wholly unto the Lord; and Samuel cried unto the Lord for Iſrael, and the Lord heard him. 104. 1 Sam. 7. 8, 9.

BUT why did he take a ſucking Lamb, and why did he offer it, and that wholly unto the Lord, as he cried, but to ſhew to Iſrael, that he was not heard for his own, or for his righteouſneſs ſake, but for the ſake of Chriſt, whoſe merits were prefigured by Samuels burning of the Lamb?

ALSO when David ſpake for himſelf to Saul, he put himſelf upon this; If, ſaith he, the Lord hath ſtired thee up againſt me, let him accept a Sacrifice, a Smell, or a ſweet ſmelling Sacrifice, a figure of the ſatisfactoryneſs of the ſufferings of Jeſus Chriſt. 1 Sam. 26. 19.

WHAT is the meaning of all theſe paſſages, if not to ſhew that when we go to pray to God, we ſhould turn away our face from every thing of ours, and look to God, only by the price of Redemption paid for us by Jeſus Chriſt, and plead that alone with him as the great prevailing argument, and that by and for the ſake of which he giveth Pardon and Grace to help in time of need?

WHEREFORE, wouldeſt thou be a praying Man, a Man that would pray and prevail; why pray to God in the faith of the merits of Chriſt, and ſpeed.

NINTHLY, For this is the very cauſe why This is added in the Text, to wit, the plenteouſneſs of Redemption, it is, I ſay, that Men ſhould hope to partake by it, of the goodneſs and Mercy of God. Let Iſrael Hope in the Lord, for with the Lord there is Mercy; and with him is plenteous Redemption. Mercy and Redemption, Mercy through a Redeemer, therefore let Iſrael Hope. It muſt alſo be noted, that this Word Redemption is as it were the explicatory part of the Text, for the helping of Iſrael to Hope. As who ſhould ſay, as there is with God Mercy, ſo there is with him a way 105.

to

to his Mercy, and that way is Redemption, or a Price paid for your sins; and that you should not be discouraged through the greatness of your sins, I tell you, there is with God plenty of this Redemption, or a Price paid to the full; to an over and above. It also is as if he had said, forget not this, for this is the Key of all the rest, and the great Support to the Saints in Prayer, or while they wait upon God in any of his Appointments to encourage them to Hope.

106. TENTHLY and Lastly, This also should teach the Saints when they Sing or Praise the Lord, they should not sing of Mercy only, but Psal. 101. of Mercy and Judgment too; I will sing of Mercy and Judgment, unto thee O Lord will I sing: Of Mercy and Judgment, or Justice in the Manifestation of it as smiling upon our forgiveness. When Hannah sang of, and rejoyced in
Sam. 2. 2. God's Salvation, she sang aloud of Holiness; saying, There is none Holy as the Lord; Holy in keeping his Word, though it cost the Blood of his Son: This also is that that is called a helping of his Servant Israel in Remembrance
Luk. 1. 69, 54. of his Mercy, and the performing of the Mercy promised; even the Oath that he sware to our Father Abraham, that he would grant unto us, that we being delivered out of the hands of our Enemies (by a Redeemer) might serve him without fear, &c.

WHEN you Praise therefore, remember Christ and his Blood, and how Justice and Judgment took hold on him that they might not take hold on thee; yea, how they by taGen. 22. king hold on him, left a way to thee to escape. Isaac should have been sacrificed, had not the Lord provided a Ram; and thou thy self shouldest have been damned, had not not the Lord provided a Lamb. Hence Christ is called the Rev. 5. Lamb of God that taketh away the Sins of the World; that taketh them away by the Sacrifice of himself: Sing therefore in your Praises unto God, and to the Lamb.

107. I would come now to speak one short Word of Use to the whole. And

FIRST, This still shews more and more, what a sad state God's People have brought themselves into by Sin: I told you before that the Revelation of so much Mercy as is presented unto us by the first part of the Text, sufficiently declared our state to be miserable by Sin. But what shall we say, when there must be added to that, the Heart Blood of the Son
Rev. 17. 9, 11. Rom. 3. 24, 25. of God, and all to make our Salvation compleat? For albeit Mercy is essential to our Salvation, and that without which can be no Salvation; yet it is the Blood that maketh the attonement for the Soul, that propitiates, and so makes capable of enjoying of it. 'Twas Mercy and Love, as I said afore, that sent one to shed his Blood for us; and it is the Blood of him that was sent, that puts us into the Enjoyment of Mercy. Oh! I have thought sometimes, what bloody Creatures hath Sin made us! The Beasts of the Field must be slain by thousands before Christ came, to signifie to us we should have a Saviour; and after that, he must come himself and die a worse Death than died those Beasts, before the work of Saving could be finished, O Redemption, Redemption by Blood, is the Heart-indearing consideration! This is that which will make the Water stand in our Eyes, that will break an Heart of Flint, and that will make one do as they do, that are in Bitterness for their first Born.
Zech. 12. 10.

SINNER, wouldst thou have Mercy? 108 wouldst thou be Saved? Go thou then to the Blood of the Cross, as set forth in the Word of the Truth of the Gospel, and there thou shalt find that Mercy that thou hast need of first; for there is a Mercy that may be called a first Mercy, and that is the Mercy that gives admittance into, an Interest in all the rest: Now the Mercy that doth this, is that which reconcileth us to God; but that cannot other things do, if we stand off from the Blood of the Cross. Wherefore we are said to be reconciled to God, by the death of his Son: For if when Rom. 5. 6, 7, 8, 10. we were Enemies we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son; much more being reconciled, we shall be saved by his Life.

ACCORDING to that other saying, He that spared not his own Son, but delivered him up Chap. 8. 31, 32. for us all, how shall he not with him also freely give us all things? In both these places, the Son of God and our Redeemer, is set forth to us in the Col. 1. 20. first place, as the only one that reconcileth to God the Sinner by the Blood of his Cross; wherefore to this Christ, as Crucified, the Sinner must come first; because nothing else can reconcile to God; and if thou be not reconciled to God, what art thou but an Enemy to him, partake of what Mercy thou canst? Go to him, did I say? receive him into the Arms of thy Faith, hold him fast, for he is a Saviour; yea, carry him as set forth by the Gospel, Dying for thee, and pray God for his sake to bestow upon thee, all those Mercies that will compass thee about as with a Shield, and follow thee all thy days till thou entrest in at the Doors of Eternity; and this is the way to speed. For he that hath the Son hath Life in the beginning of it; and he that holds fast the Son, shall have Life in the Consummation of it. I do the oftener touch upon this matter, because this Christ is the Door, in at which whosoever entreth shall be saved; but he that climbs up any other way, shall be judged as a Thief Joh. 10. and a Robber. But,

SECONDLY, Is Christ, as Crucified, 109. the Way and Door to all Spiritual and Eternal Mercy? And doth God come to the Sinner, and Heb. 10. 19, 20. the Sinner again go to God in a saving way, by him, and by him only? And is there no other way to the Father but by his Blood, and through the Vail, that is to say, his Flesh? Then this shews the danger upon what pretence soever, of casting of the daily Sacrifice, and setting up in its place the Abomination that maketh desolate; I mean of casting away of a Crucified Christ, and the setting up the vanity of moral Obedience, as the more substantial and most acceptable thing with God. I call not a Crucified Christ the daily Sacrifice, as if I thought he often suffered for Sin, since the Foundation of the World: But because the vertue of that one Offering is that, and only that by the which we daily draw nigh unto God; and because the vertuousness of that one Sacrifice, will forever abide beneficial to them that come to God, to the Worlds end, by him.

110. BUT I ſay, into what a miſerable plight have ſuch People put themſelves, that have caſt off coming to God by Chriſt, as he is the Propitiation for their Sins, and that ſeek to come another way? ſuch are relapſed again to Gentiliſm, to Paganiſm, to Heatheniſm: Nor will it help at all to ſay, they rely on the Mercy and Goodneſs of God; for there is no ſuch thing as Spiritual and Eternal Mercy can come from God to him, that comes not to him by Chriſt. The Turks, if I be not miſtaken, have this for the beginning of every Chapter in their Alcoran, The Lord God, Gracious and Merciful, yet are counted Unbelievers, and are verily ſo, for they have not received the Faith of Chriſt: The Lord God Gracious and Merciful, will not ſave them, no not by Grace and Merciful, unleſs repenting of their preſuming upon Mercy without a Bloody Sacrifice, they come to him by his Son. Men therefore that have laid aſide the neceſſity of Reconciliation to God by the precious Blood of Chriſt, are in a damned ſtate; nor will it help at all to ſay, they do indeed believe in him. I am not ſo void of Reaſon, as to think, that they that have caſt away Chriſt as he is a Propitiatory Sacrifice with God for Sin, ſhould alſo caſt away his Name out of their Mouths; no, his Name is too Honourable, and the Profeſſion of it too Glorious for them to do ſuch a thing. But retaining his Name, and the notion of him as a Saviour, they yet caſt him off, and that in thoſe very things wherein the eſſential part of his Sacrifice, the Merit of it, and his Everlaſting Prieſthood conſiſts: And in this lies the myſtery of their Iniquity. Act. 4. 12.

THEY will have him to be a Saviour, but it muſt not be by fulfilling of the Law for us; but it muſt not be by the putting of his glorious Righteouſneſs, that which he performed by ſubjecting himſelf to the Law, on our behalf, upon us; but it muſt not be by Waſhing of us from our Sins in his own Blood; but it muſt be by his Kingly and Prophetical Office: When as for his Kingly and Prophetical Offices, he puts thoſe People under the Government of them, that he has afore made to ſtand juſtified before God, from the curſe of the Law by his Prieſthood. Nor dare they altogether deny that Chriſt doth ſave his People as a Prieſt, but then their Art is to confound theſe Offices, by pleading that they are in effect but one and the ſelf ſame thing; and then with a noiſe of Morality and Government, they joſtle the Merit of his Blood, and the Perfection of his juſtifying Righteouſneſs out of doors; and ſo retaining the Name of Chriſt in their Mouths, they caſt thoſe things of Chriſt that they like not, under Feet; which things, who have not the Faith of, muſt not, cannot ſee the Kingdom of God.

111. THE Term [Mercy] is but a general ſound, and is as an Arrow ſhot at Revers, unleſs the Death and Blood of the Son of God be ſet before us, as the Mark or Mean by which our Spirits are to be directed to it. What Profit ſhall a Man have; and what ſhelter or ſucker ſhall he find, in hearing of the moſt exact Relation of the ſtrength of the moſt Impregnable Caſtle in the World, unleſs he knows the Door, and entreth in by that, into that place of ſtrength, in the time when the Enemy ſhall perſue him? Why this is the Caſe: We hear a noiſe of Mercy, and of being at Peace with God; what a good God God is, and what a bleſſed thing it is to be a Child of God; how many Priviledges the Children of God have, and what will be their Exaltation and Glory in the next World: And all the while they that tell us theſe things, conceal from us the way thereto, which is Chriſt, not in the naming of him, but in the right adminiſtring of his Goſpel to us.

112. CHRIST, and Faith in him as a Saviour, not in the name only, but in the true ſenſe thereof, is the Mark, as I have ſaid, from which if any ſwerve, they err from the ſaving way, and ſo come nothing near that Mercy that can ſave them. Hence Chriſt is called a Standard, an Enſign; And in that day there ſhall be a Root of Jeſſe, which ſhall ſtand for an Enſign of the People, to it ſhall the Gentiles ſeek, and his reſt ſhall be glorious. And again, Thus ſaith the Lord God, I will lift up mine Hand to the Gentiles, and ſet up my Standard to the People. Go through, go through the Gates, prepare you the way of the People, gather out the Stones, lift up a Standard for the People. Behold, the Lord hath proclaimed to the end of the World; ſay ye to the Daughter of Zion, behold thy Salvation cometh. Behold his Reward is with him, and his work before him: Hence again he is called the Captain (the Chieftain) of our Salvation, and him without whom there neither is nor can be any. Iſa. 5. 26. Ch. 11. 10. Ch. 49. 22. Ch. 62. 10, 11.

BUT now the Men of this Confederacy, rather than they will ſubmit themſelves to the Righteouſneſs of God, will lay Odiums and Scandals upon them that Preach they ſhould. Not forſooth, if you will believe them, but that they are highly for the Righteouſneſs of God, let it be that which they count ſo; but then to be ſure it ſhall never be the Perſonal performances of Chriſt, by which they that believe in him, are juſtified from all things: But that which they call firſt Principles, dictates of Humane Nature, Obedience to a Moral Precept, followed and done as they have Chriſt for an Example, not underſtanding that Chriſt in his own doings, is the end of all theſe things to every one that believeth. But if it be urged, that Gentiles and Pagans are poſſeſſed with thoſe very Principles, only they have not got the Art as our Men have, to cover them with the Name of Chriſt and Principles of Chriſtianity; then they fall to commending the Heathens and their Philoſophers, and the natural Motives and Principles by which they were acted; preferring of them much before what by others are called the Graces of the Spirit and Principles, upon what the Doctrin of the free Grace and Mercy of God by Chriſt are grounded. But as I ſaid, all the good that ſuch Preachers can do as to the next World, is, to draw the People away from their Enſign, and their Standard, and ſo lead them among the Gentiles and Infidels, to ſeek by their Rules, the way to this unſpeakable Mercy of God. Rom. 10. 3. Ver. 4

Wherefore their ſtate being thus deplorable, and their Spirits thus incorrigible; they muſt be pitied, and left and fled from, if we would live.

113. THIRDLY, Is Chriſt Jeſus, the Redemption; and as ſuch, the very door and inlet into all Gods Mercies! Chriſtian-Man, look well to thy ſelf that thou goeſt no whether and doeſt nothing, I mean, in any part of religious worſhip, &c. but as thou art in him. Walk in him, ſpeak in him, grow in him, for he is the All. And though others regard not to hold the Head, from which all the Body by Joynts and Bands have nouriſhment miniſtred; yet have thou a care: This is he that is thy life, and the length of thy days, and without whom no true Happineſs can be had. Many there be that count this but a low thing, they deſire to ſoar aloft, to fly into new notions, and to be broaching of new opinions, not counting themſelves happy, except they can throw ſome new-found fangle, to be applauded for, among their novel Hearers: But fly thou to Chriſt for life; and that thou mayeſt ſo do, remember well thy Sins, and the Judgment and wrath of God; and know alſo that he is merciful; but at Mercy none can come, but through the curſed death Chriſt underwent. And although, ſome of the wanton profeſſors of our age, may blame thee for poring ſo much upon thy Sins, and the pollution of thy nature, yet know that there is an advantage in it. There be ſome alive in the World, who, though they count the nature and commiſſion of Sin, the very evil of evils, yet can ſay, that the remembrance of how vile they are, and of what evils they have committed, has been to them, a Soul-humbling, a Chriſt-advancing, and a Creature-emptying conſideration. Though ſin made Death bitter to Chriſt, yet Sin makes Chriſt ſweet to his. And though none ſhould ſin that Grace might abound, yet where ſin has abounded, Grace doth much more abound, not only as an act of God, but alſo in the Eye of Faith.

2 Cor. 12. 18. 19. Coloſ. 2. 6, 7. Ephes. 4. 15. Coloſ. 2. 19.

114. A ſight of the filth, and a ſenſe of the guilt of ſin, makes a pardon to ſuch a Soul more than empty notion; and makes the mean through which the pardon comes, more to be deſired than is either life or limb. This is it that makes the ſenſible Soul prize the Lord Jeſus, while the Self-Juſticiary laugheth him to ſcorn. This is it which makes the awakned Sinner caſt away his own Righteouſneſs, while the ſelf-conceited one makes it his Advocate with the Father.

SOME indeed count their own doings the only Darling of their Soul, while others caſt it to the Dogs. And why ſhould a Man cumber himſelf with what is his, when the good of all that is in Chriſt, is laid, and to be laid out for him? Not that a Believer caſts off to do good, for he knows that what good thing is done in faith and love, is acceptable to God and profitable to his Neighbor: But this is it, he ſetteth not his good deed againſt the Judgment of God; he cometh not in his own good: When he comes to God for forgiveneſs of ſins, then he ſeees nothing, knows nothing, mentions nothing as righteouſneſs, but that which Chriſt wrought out in the days of his fleſh, and that only. But how then is what he doth, accepted of God? verily as the duty of a Son, and as the work of one that is Juſtified. We muſt therefore conclude, that there is acceptation, and acceptation: acceptation of the Perſon, and acceptation of his performance. Acceptation of the Perſon, may be conſidered with reſpect to Juſtification from the curſe, and ſo acceptation there can be none, but through the one offering of the body of Jeſus Chriſt once for all. Alſo the acceptation of a duty done by ſuch a Perſon, is by vertue of the ſelf-ſame offering, the Perſon being conſidered as ſtanding juſt through Chriſt before God. And the reaſon why a juſtified Perſon muſt have his duties accepted the ſame way, as is his Perſon, is becauſe juſtifying righteouſneſs, ſets not the Perſon free from Sin, ſave only in the ſight of God and conſcience, he remaineth ſtill infirm in himſelf, and ſtandeth ſtill in need of the freſh and continual application of the merits of the Lord Jeſus, which alſo the Soul receiveth by vertue of Chriſts interceſſion. I ſpeak now of acceptation with reference to the Juſtice of the Law, and the Judgment of God upon Perſon or work acccording to the ſelf-ſame Law. For ſo they both muſt be accepted through the ſelf-ſame Mediator, or they cannot be accepted at all. Nor is it a thing to be wondered at that a Man ſhould ſtand juſt in the ſight of God, when polluted and defiled in his own ſight. He ſtands juſt before God in the Juſtice of his Son, upon whom God looks, and for whoſe ſake he accepts him. May not a ſcabbed, mangy Man, a Man all overrun with blanes and botches, be yet made beautiful to the view of a beholder, through the Silken, Silver, Golden Garment that may be put upon him, and may cover all his fleſh? Why the righteouſneſs of Chriſt is not only unto, but upon all them that believe. And whoſo conſiders the parable of the wretched Infant, ſhall find that before it was waſhed with water, it was wrapt up, or covered, as 'twas found in its Blood, in, and with the skirt of his Garment that found it in its faith. And then he waſhed it with water, and then he ſanctified it by the anointing Oil of the Spirit of God.

Rom. 3. 22. Ezek. 16. 8, 9.

115. I ſpeak thus to thee Chriſtian Reader, partly, becauſe in the Faith of theſe things is thy life, and becauſe, I would yet inforce the exhortation upon thee with the reaſon and the amplification thereof. To wit, to put thee upon truſting in the Lord through the encouragment that thou haſt in redeeming-Mercy ſo to do.

SOME may ſay, Will God ſee that which is not, and will he judg a Man juſt that is a ſinner? But I will anſwer, The Man that had the Rainbow about his head, was to look on; or be looked upon, while he ſhon like a Jaſper and a Sardix-ſtone. The blood of the Paſcal Lamb was to be looked upon by him that came to deſtroy the Land of Egypt, in their firſt-born, I add, The Rainbow that God gave to Noah for a token that he would no more deſtroy the Earth with the Waters of the Flood, was to be looked upon, that God might remember to ſhew Mercy to his People. Now all theſe meet in the Man Chriſt Jeſus, who is the only one, for the ſake of whom the ſinner that believeth in him, ſtands acquitted in the ſight of God. His is the Blood, he is the Prince, that's more than the Rev. 4. 3. Exod. 12. 13. Gen. 9. 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17.

Ezek. 1. 27, 28. the token of the Covenant: nor do all the Colours in the Rainbow appear so beautiful in the Eyes of Man, as does the Garment of Christ; which is from his Loins, even upward, and from his Loins even downward, in the Eyes of the God of Heaven: and wilt thou say these are things that are not! Also he can legally judg a Man just that is a sinner. Do but admit of a diverse consideration, and God will so consider of that sinner which he justifieth, in despite of all the Teeth in thy proud Mouth. He Justifies the ungodly. Not that were, but that are such now, in the judgment and verdict of the Law, might it deal with them in their own Persons as Men. He will then consider them in his Son; in, and under the Skirt of his Son: He will consider them as washed in the Blood of his Son, &c: will also consider, that in him is no Sin, and so he will deal with them. We know that he was manifest to take away our Sins, and in him is no Sin.

Rom. 4. 5. Chap. 5. 8, 9, 10.

1 Joh. 3. 5.

116. WHAT though I have broke a thousand Pound in my Creditors Debt; yet if an other will discharge the whole freely, what has the Law to do with me, as to that?

OR, what If I cannot but live upon the spend all my days; yet if my Friend will always supply my need, and through his bounty, keep me from Writ, Bailiff, or Gaol, is it not well for me? Yea, what, if what I can get, shall be laid up for me for hereafter, and that my Friend so long as there is death or danger in the way, will himself secure me, and bear my charges to the Worlds end; May I not accept thereof and be thankful? Blessed be God for Jesus Christ! I believe he is more than all this to me. In the Lord shall all the seeed of Israel be justified, and shall glory. I know Similitudes will not hold in all things; but we that believe, are set free from the curse of the Law by another Mans obedience: for by the obedience of one, shall many be made righteous. Let then the Believer, as was said, study and pray, and read Gods Word continually, for the sake of the glory of this truth, that it may be made more his own, and that his conscience may be more and more setled in the Power and glory thereof.

Isa. 44. 25.

Rom. 5. 19.

FOURTHLY, As the Christian should most Labour to get into the Power and glory of this Doctrin, so let him see that he holds it fast. This Doctrin is forein to Flesh and Blood; it is not Earthly, but from Heaven. It is with many that begin with this Doctrin, as it is with Boys that go to the Latin School; they learn till they have learned the grounds of their Grammer, and then go home and forget all. How have many, that as to the grounds of Christian Religion, one would think, had been well taught, yet not taking such heed thereto as they should, they have let slip all, and their hearts have been filled with the World again, or else have drunk in some opinion that has been diametrically opposite to what they professed of the truth before? Wherefore, hast thou any thing of the truth of Christ in thy heart? hold that fast that no Man takes thy Crown. Yea, grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

Mat. 16. 17.

Heb. 2. 1, 2, 3, 4.

Rev. 3. 11.

2 Pet. 3. 18.

117. HE that will retain and hold fast the Doctrin of Redemption, and so by that, have, through Faith, an inlet into all the abounding Mercy of God, must not deal in God's matters with a slack hand. 'Tis not enough for them that would do so, to be content with Sermons, Familie-Duties, and other publick Assemblies for worship; but there must be a continual exercise of the mind about these matters, and a labour of the Soul to retain them in their glory, and sweetness; else they will first as to their exellency, then as to the very notion of them, slip from the heart and be gon. Not that there is treachery, or deceit therein; but the deceit lies in the heart about them: He that will keep water in a Sieve, must use more than ordinary diligence. Our Heart is the leaking Vessel; And therefore we ought to give the more earnest heed to the things that we have heard, lest at any time we should let them slip.

Heb. 2. 1, 2, 3.

THAT this Doctrin may remain with us, we must also mortify our carnal Reason, for that makes head against the truth thereof, and what can foolishness do else! And the wisdom of this World, which is carnal reason in its improvements, is foolishness with God. It is not subject to the Law of God, neither indeed can it be. It judges this Doctrin that we have been speaking of, foolishness: Wherefore, it must be avoided, opposed, and mortified: and the Word of Faith the more carefully submitted to. Trust in the Lord with all thy heart and lean not to thine own understanding. See here, trusting in the Lord, and leaning to our own understanding are opposites; wherefore, they must either be reconciled, or one quite adhered unto, in a way of mortification of the other. Now 'tis safest in this matter to keep a continual Guard upon our carnal Powers, and to give up our selves to the conduct of our God and in all our ways acknowledg him that he (not our selves) may direct our paths. 'Tis a great thing for a Man, when the Word, & his reason clashes, then to adhere to the Word, and let his Reason fall to the ground. And this indeed is Christianity in the practic part thereof. The Spirit of Christ in the Word is to be hearkned unto, above all things.

1 Cor. 1. 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25. Prov. 3. 5. ver. 6. 2 Cor. 10. 3, 4, 5.

118. THERE must also be a continual War maintained upon all the Lusts of the flesh, that they may not draw away the heart from the study and delight, the love and Faith of the things that are hid in Christ. This I say, must be done, else the Heart cannot be at liberty to wait upon the Lord without distraction, for the further communications of himself in his Son, according to his blessed Gospel, to us. Many Christians are lean in their Faith and too barren in their lives, and all for want of being diligent here. Wherefore having Faith in this blessed Lord Jesus Christ, as has been afore discourse; in the next place, giving all diligence, add to your Faith, vertue; and to vertue, knowledg; and to knowledge, temperance; and to temperance, patience; and to patience, Godliness; and to Godliness, Brotherly kindness; and to Brotherly kindness charity. For if these things be in you and abound, they make you that you shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. There is a method that the Holy Ghost has prescribed in the Word, for them that have Faith to observe; and and without the observation thereof, though they indeed may be of the number of them that shall be saved, yet they shall not have much, nor do much for Christ and his name, in this World. Now the unskilful, that are so in the Word of righteousness, finding this method, and not discerning to whom it belongs, forthwith apply it to all; and forgetting that Faith must go before, they press them as duties preparatory to Faith, or else so call that which is not so; and so the blind leading of the blind, both fall into the ditch, and are smothered. But do thou, O Child of God, distinguish, and keep Faith and Duty for Justification of thy person in the sight of God, far asunder; also be sure to let Faith go before, and be always with thy Saviour: But add unto thy Faith, Vertue; &c. not as though thy Faith could not lay hold of Christ, unless accompanied with these, but to shew that thy Faith is of the right kind, as also for the imboldening of thee to an Holy endeavour, yet to press further into his everlasting Kingdom, his Word; for he that lacketh these things, is blind, and connot see afar off, and has forgotten that he was purged from his old Sins.

Isa. 28. 9. 2 Pet. 1. 5, 6, 7, 8.

119. FIFTHLY, That thou mayest keep stedfast to this Doctrin, take heed of being offended, or of stumbling at the Word, because of the offensive lives and conversations of some that are professors of the same. There will be offences, and 'tis needful there should; yea, scandals and 1 Cor. 11. 19. Heresies also, that they that are approved of God may be made manifest among you. There are many causes of the offensive lives of them that profess this Faith, some of which I will give a touch upon here.

FIRST Many that adhere to, and profess this Gospel, are short of the Power and glory of the things which they profess: Now the 2 Cor. 4. 18, 19, 20. Word, the Word only, will not bring those that profess it into a confirmity to it; into a confirmity in heart and life. Wherefore they that know it only in word, live scandalous lives, to the reproach of the Faith, the imboldening of it's enemies, the stumbling of the ignorant, and grief of the godly, that are so indeed; and must bear their Judgment in the next World.

120. SECONDLY, This also flows from the Wisdom of Hell: The Devil knows that the Faith of the Gospel rightly professed, is, not only saving to those in whom it is; but alluring unto beholders; wherefore that he may prevent the beauteous lustre thereof, he sows his Tares among Gods Wheat, and goes his way, that is, to the end, those that stumble, may not see what he hath done; or whose are the Tares indeed. Now by these the Sun-shine of the Faith of the true professors of this blessed Gospel is clouded: Yea, and the World made believe, that Mat. 13. 37, 38, 39. such as the worst are, such are the best; that there is never a Barrel better Herring, but that the whole lump of them are in truth, a pack of Knaves. Now has the Devil got the point aimed at, and has caused many to fall; but behold ye now the good reward these Tares shall have at the day of reward for their doVer. 41. ings. As therefore the Tares are gathered and burned in the fire, so shall it be in the end of this World. The Son of Man shall send forth his Angels, and they shall gather out of his King- ver. 41. dom all things that offend, and them that do iniquity, and shall cast them into a Furnace of ver. 42. Fire, there shall be wailing and gnashing of Teeth.

THIRDLY, It also happeneth, some- 121. times, through the anger and Judgment of God against Sinners, that some of them truly gracious, do fall; as David, Peter, &c. The which is a great Tryal to the Godly, a wound to the Persons fallen, and a Judgment of God to the World: For since these last would not be converted, nor made turn to God by the convincing Glory that has attended their Faith in a Holy and unblamable life anexed, God has suffered them to fall that they also might stumble and fall, and be dashed in pieces by their vices.

BUT thou Christian Man, be not thou offended at any of these things; do thou look unto Jesus, do thou look unto his Word, do thou live by Faith, and think much of thy latter end; do thou be base in thine own Eyes, be Humble and Tender, and pray to God always; do thou add to thy Faith Vertue, and to Vertue what else is mentioned; and give 2 Pet. 1. diligence to make thy Calling and Election 10, 11. sure, for if thou dost these things thou shalt never fall: For so an Entrance shall be ministred unto you abundantly, into the Everlasting Kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

SIXTHLY, If it be so, that there is so 122. much Mercy in the Heart of God for his People, and that Jesus his Son has by his Blood, made so living a way for us that we might enjoy it, and the benefit of it forever, Then let Israel Hope; for to that end is this Goodness revealed; Let Israel Hope in the Lord; for with the Lord there is Mercy, and with him is plenteous Redemption. Hope! who would not Hope to enjoy Life eternal, that has an Inheritance in the God of Israel? Happy art thou O Israel; who is Deut. 33. like unto thee, O People saved by the Lord, the 29. Shield of thy help, and who is the Sword of thy Excellency! Did but the People of God see to what they are born, and how true the God of Truth will be to what by his Word they look for at his Hands, they would be above alway; they would be weary of Life, of Estates, of Relations; they would groan earnestly under all their Enjoyments to be with him, who is their Life, their Nation, and their Glory forever. But we Profess, and yet care not for Dying; we Profess, and yet long not for the coming of the day of God; we Profess the Faith, and yet by our whole Life shew to them that can see, how little a Measure of it we have in our Hearts. The Lord lead us more into the Power of things; then shall the vertues of him that has saved us, and called us out of Darkness into his marvelous Light, and the savour of his good Knowledge be made known to others, far otherwise than it is, Amen.

SEVENTHLY and Lastly, Sinner, 123. doth not all this Discourse make thy Heart twitter after the Mercy that is with God, and after the way that is made by this plenteous Redemption thereto? Methinks it should; yea, thou couldst not do otherwise, didst thou but ſee thy Condition; look behind thee, take a view of the Path thou haſt trodden this many years: Doſt thou think that the way that thou art in, will lead thee to the ſtrait Gate, Sinner? Ponder the Path of thy Feet with the greateſt Seriouſneſs; thy Life lies upon it; what thinkeſt thou? But make no Anſwer, till in the Night, till thou art in the Night Watches, Commune with thine own Heart upon thy Bed, and then ſay, what thou thinkeſt of, whether thou art going.

Pſal. 4. 4.

O H that thou wert Serious! Is not it a thing to be lamented, that Madneſs and Folly ſhould be in thy Heart while thou liveſt, and after that to go to the Dead, when ſo much Life ſtands before thee, and light to ſee the way to it: Surely Men void of Grace and poſſeſt of Carnal minds, muſt either think that Sin is nothing, that Hell is eaſie, and that Eternity is ſhort; or elſe that what ever God has ſaid about the puniſhing of Sinners, he will never do as he has ſaid; or that there is no Sin, no God, no Heaven, no Hell, and ſo no good or bad hereafter; or elſe they could not live as they do. But perhaps thou preſumeſt upon it, and ſayſt, I ſhall have Peace, though I live ſo ſinful a Life: Sinner, if this wicked Thought be in thy Heart, tell me again, doſt thou thus think in earneſt? Canſt thou imagin thou ſhalt at the day of Account outface God, or make him believe thou waſt what thou waſt not? Or that when the Gate of Mercy is ſhut up in Wrath, he will at thy Pleaſure, and to the reverſing of his own Counſel, open it again to thee? Why ſhall thy deceived Heart turn thee aſide, that thou canſt not deliver thy Soul, nor ſay, is there not a Lie in my right Hand?

Deſire of the Righteous Granted:

DISCOURSE

O F T H E

Righteous Man's Deſires.

By John Bunyan.

Prov. 11. 23. The Deſire of the Righteous is only good.
Prov. 10. 24. The fear of the Wicked, it ſhall come upon him; but the Deſire of the Righteous ſhall be granted.

1. THIS Book of the Proverbs, is ſo called, becauſe it is ſuch as containeth hard, dark and pethy Sentences of Wiſdom, by which is taught unto Young Men, Knowledge and Diſcretion.

Chap. 1. 2, 3, 4, 5, 6.

WHEREFORE this Book is not ſuch as diſcloſeth Truths, by Words antecedent or ſubſequent to the Text, SO as other Scriptures generally do, but has its Texts or Sentences more independent; for uſually each Verſe ſtandeth upon its own bottom, and preſenteth by it ſelf, ſome ſingular thing to the Conſideration of the Reader: So that I ſhall not need to bid my Reader look back to what went before, nor yet to that which follows, for the better opening of the Text; and ſhall therefore come immediately to the Words, and ſearch into them, for what hidden Treaſures are contained therein.

1. THE Words then, in the first place, present us with the general Condition of the whole World; for all Men are ranked under one of these Conditions; the Wicked or the Righteous: For he that is not Wicked, is Righteous; and he that is not Righteous, is Wicked. So again, Lay not wait (O Wicked Man) against the dwelling of the Righteous, spoil not his Dwelling-place. I might give you out of this Book, many such Instances, for it flows with such; but the Truth hereof is plain enough.

THE World is also divided by other general Terms, as by these; Believers, Unbelievers; Saints, Sinners; Good, Bad; Children of God, and Children of the Wicked one, &c. These, I say, are general Terms, and comprehend not this, or that Sect, or Order of each, but the whole: The Believer, Saint, Good, and Child of God, is one, to wit, the Righteous: The Unbeliever, the Sinner, the Bad, and the Child of the Devil, is one, to wit, the Wicked; as also the Text expresses them; so that I say, the Text, or these two Terms in it, comprehend all Men: The one, all that shall be Saved; the other, all that shall be Damned forever in Hell-fire.

THE [Wicked] who is he? But the Man that loves not God, nor to do his Will: The [Righteous] who is he? But the Man that loveth God, and his Holy Will to do it.

OF the Wicked there are several sorts, some more Ignorant, some more Knowing; the more Ignorant of them are such, as go to be Executed, as the Ox goes to the Slaughter, or as a Fool to the Correction of the Stocks: That is, as Creatures whose Ignorance makes them as unconcerned, while they are going down the Stairs to Hell. But alas their Ignorance will be no Plea for them before the Bar of God! for it is Written, It is a People of no Understanding; therefore he that made them, will not have Mercy on them, and he that formed them will shew them no Favour.

v.7. 27.11.

THOUGH I must confess, the more knowing the Wicked is, or the more Light and Goodness such a one Sins against, the greater will his Judgment be; these shall have greater damnation: It shall be more tollerable at the Judgment for Sodom than for them.

. 10. 11, 12. 20.47.

THERE is a Wicked Man that goes blinded, and a Wicked Man that goes with his Eyes open to Hell: There is a Wicked Man that cannot see, and a Wicked Man that will not see the danger he is in, but Hell-fire will open both their Eyes.

. 16.

THERE are that are Wicked, and cover all with a Cloak of Religion; and there are that proclaim their Profaneness, but they will meet both in the Lake that burns with Fire and Brimstone; The Wicked shall be turned into Hell, and all the Nations that forget God.

9.17.

THERE are also several sorts (if I may so express my self) of those that are truly Righteous, as Children, Young-men, Fathers, or Saints that fear God, both small and great. Some have more Grace than some, and some do better improve the Grace they have, than others of their Brethren do; some also are more Valiant for the Truth upon the Earth, than others of their Brethren are: Yea, some are so swallowed up with God, and love to his Word and Ways, that they are fit to be a Pattern or Example in Holyness, to all that are about them; and some again have their Light shining so dim, that they render themselves suspicious to their Brethren, whether they are of the number of those that have Grace or no. But being Gracious they shall not be lost, although such will at the day of Reward suffer loss: For this is the Will of the Father that sent the Son to be the Saviour of the World, That of all that he had given him he should lose nothing, but should raise it up at the last day.

h. 2. 11.

4.

SECONDLY, In the next place, we are here presented with some of the Qualities of the Wicked and the Righteous; the Wicked has his Fears, the Righteous has his Desires.

THE Wicked has his Fears; the fear of the Wicked it shall come upon him, and the desire of the Righteous shall be granted.

INDEED it seems to the Godly that the Wicked feareth not, nor doth he after a Godly sort; for he that feareth God aright must not be reputed a Wicked Man. The Wicked through the Pride of his countenance declareth that he feareth not God aright, because he doth not graciously call upon him: But yet for all that, the Wicked, at times, are Haunted, sorely Haunted, and that with the worst of Fears; Terrors (says Bildad) shall make him afraid on every side: And again, His Confidence shall be rooted out of his Tabernacle, and it shall bring him to the King of Terrors

Job 18. 11,12,13, 14.

A Wicked Man, though he may Hector it at times with his proud Heart, as though he feared neither God nor Hell; yet again at times, his Soul is even drowned with Terrors; The Morning is to them even as the Shadow of Death, if one knew them, they are in the Terrors of the Shadow of Death.

Job 24.14. 15, 16, 17.

AT times, I say, it is thus with them, especially when they are under warm Convictions, that the day of Judgment is at hand, or when they feel in themselves, as if death was coming as a Tempest, to steal them away from their Enjoyments, and Lusts, and Delights; then the Bed shakes on which they lye, then the Proud Tongue doth faulter in their Mouth, and their Knees knock one against another; then their Conscience stares, and roars, and tears, and arraigns them before God's judgment Seat, or threatens to follow them down to Hell, and there to wreek its Fury on them, for all the Abuses and Affronts this Wicked Wretch offered to it in the day in which it controuled his unlawful Deeds.

OH! none can imagin what fearful Plights a Wicked Man is in sometimes; though God in his just Judgment towards them, suffers then again and again, to stifle and choak such awakenings, from a purpose to reserve them unto the day of Judgment to be punished.

2 Pet. 2. 7, 8, 9.

THIRDLY, In the third place, as the Wicked has his Fears, so the Righteous has his Desires; The desire of the Righteous shall be granted: But this must not be taken exclusively, as if the Wicked had nothing but Fears, and the Righteous nothing but desires. For both by Scripture and Experience also, we find, that the Wicked has his Desires, and the Righteous Man his Fears.

1. FOR the Wicked, they are not without their Desires, Let me die the Death of the Righteous, and let my last end be like his, was the desire of Wicked Balaam: And another place saith, The wicked boasteth of his Hearts desire. That he is for Heaven as well as the best of you all, but yet, even then, he blesseth the Covetous whom the Lord abhorreth.

Numb. 23. 10.
Psal. 10. 3.

WICKED Men have their Desires and their Hopes too, but the Hope and Desire of unjust Men perisheth; yea, and though they look and long too all the day long, with Desires of Life and Glory, yet their Fears, and them only shall come upon them; for they are the desires of the Righteous that shall be granted.

Prov. 11. 7.
Ch. 14. 32.
Psal. 112. 10.

THE Desires of the Wicked want a good bottom, they flow not from a sanctified Mind, nor of love to the God, or the Heaven now desired; but only from such a sense, as Devils have of Torments, and so as they, they cry out, I beseech thee torment me not.

Luk. 8. 28.
Ch. 16. 24.

7. BUT their Fears have a substantial Foundation, for they are grounded upon the view of an ill-spent Life, the due reward of which is Hell-fire; the Unrighteous shall not Inherit the Kingdom of God, their place is without; for without are Dogs and Sorcerers, and Whoremongers, and Murderers, and Idolaters, and whosoever loveth and maketh a Lie.

1 Cor. 6. 9, 10.
Rev. 22 14, 15.

THEIR Fears therefore have a strong Foundation; they have also Matter to work upon, which is Guilt and Justice, the which they shall never be able to escape, without a Miracle of Grace and Mercy.

Heb. 2. 3.

THEREFORE it saith, and that with Emphasis, The fear of the Wicked it shall come upon him, wherefore his desires must die with him; for the Promise of a Grant of that which is desired, is only entailed to Righteousness, The desire of the Righteous shall be granted: But grant not O Lord, the desire of the Wicked, said David.

Psal. 140. 8.

8. 2. NOR are the Righteous without their Fears, and that even all their Life long, Through fear of Death, they some of them, are all their Life-time subject to Bondage.

Heb. 2. 14.

BUT as the Desires of the Wicked shall be frustrate, so shall also the Fears of the Godly; hence you have them admonished, yea, commanded not to be afraid; neither of Devils, Death nor Hell; for the fear of the Righteous shall not come upon them to Eternal Damnation, The desire of the Righteous shall be granted.

Isa. 35. 4.
Ch. 41. 10, 13, 14.
Ch. 43. 1.
Ch. 44. 28.
Luk. 8. 50.
Ch. 12. 32.
Rev. 1. 17.

NO, they are not to Fear what Sin can do unto them, not what all their Sins can do unto them; I do not say they should not be afraid of Sinning, nor of those temporal Judgments that Sin shall bring upon them, for of such things they ought to be afraid, as saith the Psalmist, My Flesh trembleth for fear of thee, and I am afraid of thy Judgments.

Psal. 119. 120.

BUT of Eternal Ruin, of that they ought not to be afraid with Slavish fear; Wherefore should I fear, said the Prophet, in the days of evil, when the Iniquity of my Heels shall compass me about? And again, Ye have done all this Wickedness, yet turn not aside from following the Lord; for the Lord will not forsake his People, for his great Name sake.

Psal. 49. 5.
1 Sam. 12. 20, 21, 22.

9. THE Reason is, because the Righteous are secured by their Faith in Christ Jesus; also their fears stand upon a Mistake of the nature of the Covenant, in which they are wrapped up, which is ordered for them in all things, and sure. Besides, God is purposed to magnifie the Riches of his Grace in their Salvation, therefore Goodness and Mercy shall to that end, follow them all the days of their Life, that they may dwell in the House of the Lord forever. They have also their Intercessor and Advocate ready with God to take up matters for them, in such a way, as may maintain true Peace betwixt their God and them, and as may encourage them to be sober, and hope to the end, for the Grace that is to be brought unto them, at the Revelation of Jesus Christ.

2. Sam. 23. 5.
Isa. 55. 3.
Psal. 23. 6.
Ephes. 1. 3, 4, 5, 6, 7.
Heb. 7. 25.
1 Joh. 2. 2.
1 Pet. 1. 13.

WHEREFORE, though the Godly have their Fears, yea sometimes dreadful Fears, and that of perishing forever and ever; yet the day is coming, when their Fears and Tears shall be done away, and when their desires only shall be granted; The fear of the Wicked, it shall come upon them; but the desire of the Righteous shall be granted.

THE Words then, are a Prediction or Prophecy, and that both concerning the Wicked and the Righteous, with reference to time and things to come, and shall certainly be fulfilled in their Season.

HENCE it is said concerning the Wicked, That their Triumphing is short, and that the Joy of the Hypocrite is but for a Moment. Oh their end will be bitter as Wormwood, and will cut like a two-edged Sword! Of this Solomon admonishes Youth, when he saith, Rejoyce O Young Man in thy Youth, and let thy heart chear thee in the days of thy Youth, and walk in the ways of thine Heart, and in the sight of thine Eyes; but know thou, that for all these things, God will bring thee to Judgment.

Job 20. 5.
Eccles. 11. 9.

THIS therefore sheweth the desperate Spirit that possesses the Children of Men, who though they hear and read all this, yet cannot be reclaimed from Courses that are Wicked, and that lead to such a Condition; I say, they will not be reclaimed from such Courses, as lead to ways that go down to Hell, where their Soul must mourn, even then, when their Flesh and their Body are consumed. Oh! how dear bought are their Pleasures, and how will their Laughter be turned into Tears and Anguish unutterable? And that presently, for 'tis coming: Their Judgment now of a long time lingreth not, and their Damnation slumbreth not. But what good will their Covenant of Death then do them? and will their Agreement of Hell yield them Comfort? Is not God as well mighty to Punish as to Save? Or can these Sinners believe God out of the World? Or cause that he should not pay them home for their Sins, and recompence them for all the evil they have loved, and continued in the Commission of? Can thy Heart endure, or can thy Hands be strong in the day that God shall deal with thee?

Prov. 8, 9, 10, 12, 13, 15.
2 Pet. 2. 3.
Isa. 28. 21.
Job 21. 30, 31.
Ezek. 22. 14.

THOU art bold now, I mean bold in a wicked Way; thou sayst now, thou wilt keep thy sweet Morsels of Sin under thy Tongue, thou wilt keep them still within thy Mouth; Poor Wretch! read Job 20. 11. Thy Sins shall lie lie down in the dust with thee. Thou hast sucked the Poyson of Asps, and the Vipers Tongue shall slay thee, ver. 16. Thou shalt not see the Rivers, the Streaming Floods, the Brooks of Butter and Hony, ver. 17. All Darkness shall be hid in thy secret places, a Fire not blown shall consume thee, &c. This is the Portion of a wicked Man from God, and the Heritage appointed to him by God, vers. 26, 27, 28, 29.

16.

AND as they Predict or Prophecy what shall become of the Wicked; so also they plentifully foretel what shall happen to the Righteous, when he saith, Their desire shall be granted: Of which more anon.

ONLY here I will drop this short Hint, That the Righteous have great cause to Rejoyce; for what more pleasing, what more comfortable to a Man, than to be assured, and that from the Spirit of Truth, that what he desireth shall be granted? and this the Righteous are assured of here, for he saith it in Words at length; The desire of the Righteous shall be granted.

12. THIS then should comfort them against their Fears, and the sense of their Unworthiness; it should also make them hold up their Heads under all their Temptations, and the affronts that is usual for them to meet with in the World. The Righteous! who so vilified as the Righteous? He by the Wisemen of the World is counted a very Abraham, a Fool; like to him who is the Father of us all.

BUT as he left all for the desire that he had of a better Country, and at last obtained his desire (for after he had patiently endured, he obtained the Promise:) So those that walk in the steps of that Faith, which our Father Abraham had, even those also in the end, shall find place in Abraham's Bosom: Wherefore it is meet that we should chear up and be glad, because what we desire shall be granted unto us. Heb. 6.

13. BUT I shall here leave off this short way of Paraphrazing upon the Text, and shall come more distinctly to enquire into the nature of the words; but my subject matter shall be the last part of the Verse, The desire of the Righteous shall be granted: From which words there are these Things to be enquired into.

FIRST, What or who is the Righteous Man?

SECONDLY, What are the Desires of a Righteous Man.

THIRDLY, What is meant or to be understood, by the Granting of the desires of the Righteous; The desires of the Righteous shall be granted.

1. FOR the first of these, namely, What or who is the Righteous Man?

MY way of prosecuting this Head shall be to shew you first, that I intend a Righteous Man, not in every sense, but in that which is the best; otherwise I shall miscarry as to the intendment of the Holy Ghost; for it may not be supposed that these words reach to them that are Righteous in a general, but in a special sense; such I mean that are so in the Judgment of God. For as I hinted, there are several sorts of Righteous Men, that yet have nothing to do with this blessed Promise, or that shall never, as such, have their desires granted.

1. THERE is one that is Righteous in his own Eyes, and is yet far enough off from the Blessing of the Text; There is a Generation that are Pure or Righteous in their own sight, yet are not purged from their Filthiness. 14. Prov. 30 12.

THESE are they that you also read of in the Evangelist Luke, that are said to trust in themselves that they were Righteous, and despised others. Luk. 18. 9.

THESE are set so low, by this their foolish Confidence, in the Eyes of Jesus Christ, that he even preferred a praying Publican before them. Wherefore these cannot be the Men, I mean those Righteous Men, to whom this Promise is made. ver. 13, 14.

2. THERE are those that by others are counted Righteous. I mean, they are so accounted by their neighbours. Thus Corah and his companied are called, The People of the Lord, and all the Congregation by them also, called Holy, every one of them, Numb. 16. 3, 41. But as he who commends himself is not approved: so 'tis no great matter if all the World shall count us Righteous, if God esteemeth us not for such. For not he that commendeth himself is approved, but whom the Lord commends. 15. 2 Cor. 10. 18.

3. THERE are those, that indeed are Righteous when compared with others. I came not to call the Righteous. For scarcely for a righteous Man will one dye, and the like, are Texts thus to be understood. For such as these, are as to life moral, better than others. But these, if they are none otherwise righteous, than by acts and Works of Righteousness of their own, are not the Persons contained in the Text, that are to have their desires granted.

4. THE Righteous Man therefore in the Text, is, and ought to be thus described. 16.

1. HE is one whom God makes Righteous by reckoning him so.

2. HE is one that God makes Righteous by possessing of him with a principle of Righteousness.

3. HE is one that is practically Righteous.

FIRST, He is one that God makes Righteous. Now if God makes him Righteous his Righteousness is not his own; I mean this sort of Righteousness. Their Righteousness is of me, saith the Lord. Isa. 54. 17. Phil. 3. 6, 7, 8, 9.

GOD then makes a Man Righteous by putting Righteousness upon him; by putting the Righteousness of God upon him. Hence we are said to be made the Righteousness of God in Christ. For God hath made him to be sin for us who knew no sin, that we might be made the Righteousness of God in him. 2 Cor. 5. 21.

THUS God therefore reckoneth one righteous, even by imputing that unto us, which is able to make us so; he is made unto us of God Righteousness. Wherefore he saith again, in the Lord shall all the Seed of Israel be justified and shall Glory. Isa. 45. 25. 1 Cor. 1. 30.

THE Righteousness then by which a Man is made righteous, with Righteousness to Justification of life before God (for that is it we are speaking of now) is the Righteousness of another than is he who is justified thereby. Hence it is said again, by the Soul thus justified and made righteous, The Lord hath cloathed me with the Garment of Salvation and covered me with the robe of righteousness. As he also saith Isa. 61 10.

Ezek. 16. 8. in an other place, I ſpread my skirt over thee and covered thy nakedneſs.

17. THIS we call a being made righteous by reckoning, by the reckoning of God; for none is of Power to reckon one righteous, but God, becauſe none can make one ſo to be, but him.

HE that can make me rich, though I am in my ſelf the pooreſt of Men, may reckon me rich, if together with his ſo reckoning, he indeed doth make me rich. This is the Caſe, God makes a Man Righteous by beſtowing of Righteouſneſs upon him, by counting the Righteouſneſs of his Son, for his. He gives him Righteouſneſs, a Righteouſneſs already performed, and compleated by the obedience of his Son. Rom. 5. 19.

NOT that this Righteouſneſs by being beſtowed upon us, is ſevered from Jeſus Chriſt: for it is ſtill his, and in him. How then, may ſome ſay, doth it become ours?

18. I anſwer, by our being put into him. For of God are we in Chriſt Jeſus, who is made unto us, of him, Righteouſneſs. And again, we are made the Righteouſneſs of God in him. So then, the Righteouſneſs of Chriſt covereth his, as a Mans garments cover the members of his body, (for we are the Body of Chriſt, and members in particular). The Righteouſneſs therefore is Chriſts, reſideth ſtill in him, and covereth us, as the Child is lapped up in its Fathers Skirt, or as the Chicken is covered with the Feathers of the Hen. 1 Cor. 12. 27.

I make uſe of all theſe ſimilitudes, thereby to inform you of my meaning, for by all theſe things are ſet forth the way of our being made Righteous to Juſtification of life. Mat. 23. 37. Ezek. 16. 8.

NOW thus a Man is Made Righteous, without any regard to what he has, or to what is of him: for as to him, it is utterly anothers. Juſt as if I ſhould with the skirts of my garment take up and cloath ſome poor and naked Infant, that I find caſt out into the open Field. Now if I cover the Perſon, I cover Scabs, and Sores, and Ulcers, and all Blemiſhes. Hence God by putting this Righteouſneſs upon us, is ſaid to hide and cover our ſins. Bleſſed is the Man whoſe tranſgreſſions are forgiven, and whoſe ſin is covered. Bleſſed is the Man to whom the Lord will not impute ſin. Pſal. 36. 7. Rom. 4. 6, 7, 8.

19. FOR ſince this Righteouſneſs is Chriſts, and counted or reckoned ours by the Grace of God, it is therefore beſtowed upon us, not becauſe we are, but to make us righteous before the Face of God. Hence, as I ſaid, it is ſaid to make us righteous, even as gay Cloaths do make a naked body fine. He hath made him to be ſin for us, who know no ſin, that we might be MADE the Righteouſneſs of God in him.

THIS is of abſolute neceſſity to be known, and to be believed. For without this, no Man can be counted Righteous before God, and if we ſtand not Righteous before God, it will benefit us nothing as to life eternal, though we ſhould be counted Righteous by all the Men on Earth. Beſides, if God counts me Righteous, I am ſafe, though in, and of my ſelf I am nothing but a ſinner, and ungodly. The reaſon is, becauſe God has right to beſtow Righteouſneſs upon me; for he has Righteouſneſs to ſpare, he has alſo a Right to forgive, becauſe ſin is the tranſgreſſion of the Law. Yea, he has therefore ſent his Son into the World to accompliſh Righteouſneſs for ſinners, and God of his Mercy beſtows it upon thoſe that ſhall it receive by Faith. Now if God ſhall count me Righteous, who will be ſo hardy as to conclude, I yet ſhall periſh? 'Tis God that Juſtifies, who is he that condemneth? It is Chriſt that died, yea, rather that is riſen again; who is even at the Right Hand of God, who alſo maketh interceſſion for us. Who ſhall ſeparate us from the love of Chriſt? Rom. 8. 33, 34.

20. THUS therefore is a Man MADE Righteous, even of God by Chriſt, or through his Righteouſneſs. Now if, as was ſaid, a Man is thus MADE Righteous, then in this ſenſe, he is good before God before he has done any thing of that which the Law calls good before Men, for God maketh not Men Righteous with this Righteouſneſs, becauſe they have been, or have done good, but before they are capable of doing good at all. Hence we are ſaid to be juſtified while ungodly, even as an Infant is Cloathed with the skirt of an other while naked as touching it ſelf. Rom. 4. 5.

WORKS therefore do not preceed, but follow after this Righteouſneſs; and even thus it is in nature, the Tree muſt be good before it bear good fruit, and ſo alſo muſt a Man. 'Tis as impoſſible to make a Man bring forth good fruit to God before he is of God made good; as it is for a Thorn or Bramble-Buſh to bring forth Figs, or Grapes. Mat. 7. 15. 16.

BUT again, a Man muſt be Righteous before he can be good; Righteous by imputation, before his Perſon, his Intellectuals can be qualified with good, as to the principle of good. For Faith, the Spirit, nor any Grace is given unto the ſinner before God has made him Righteous with this Righteouſneſs of Chriſt. Wherefore 'tis ſaid, that after he had ſpread his skirt over us, he waſhed us with water; That is, with the waſhing of ſanctification. Ezek. 16. 8, 9.

AND to conclude otherwiſe, is as much as to ſay, That an unjuſtified Man, has Faith, the Spirit and the Graces thereof, which to ſay, is to overthrow the Goſpel. For what need of Chriſts Righteouſneſs, if a Man may have Faith and the Spirit of Chriſt without it, ſince the Spirit is ſaid to be the earneſt of our inheritance, and that by which we are ſealed unto the day of Redemption? Ephes. 1. Chap. 4.

21. BUT the truth is, the Spirit which makes our Perſon good, I mean that which ſanctifies our natures, is the fruit of the Righteouſneſs which is by Jeſus Chriſt. For as Chriſt died and roſe again, before he ſent the Holy Ghoſt from Heaven to his; ſo the benefit of his death and reſurrection is by God beſtowed upon us, in order to the Spirits poſſeſſing of our Souls.

22. 2. AND this leads me to the ſecond thing, namely, That God makes a Man Righteous by poſſeſſing of him with a principle of Righteouſneſs, even with the Spirit of Righteouſneſs. For though, as to Juſtification before God from the curſe of the Law, we are made Righteous while we are ungodly, and yet ſinners; yet being made free from ſin, thus, we forthwith become through a change which the Holy Ghoſt works in our minds, the Servants of God. Hence, 'tis ſaid, There is therefore now no condemnation Rom. 4. 4, 5. Chap. 8. 7, 8, 9.

demnation to those that are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh but after the Spirit. For
om. 8. 1, though, as the Apostle also insinuates here, that being in Christ Jesus is antecedent to our walking after the Spirit: yet a Man can make no demonstration of his being in Christ Jesus, but by his walking in the Spirit; because the Spirit is an inseparable companion of imputed Righteousness, and immediately follows it to dwell with whomsoever it is bestowed upon.

23. NOW it dwelling in us, principles us in all the Powers of our Souls, with that which is Righteousness in the habit and nature of it. Hence the Fruits of the Spirit are called, The Fruits of goodness and Righteousness, as the Fruits of a Tree, are called the Fruit of that Tree.

phes. 5. AND again, He that doth Righteousness is Righteous, not only in our first sense, but even in this also. For who can do Righteousness without he be principled so to do? who can act reason, that hath not reason? So none can bring forth Righteousness that hath not in him the root of Joh. 2. Righteousness, which is the Spirit of God, which comes to us by vertue of our being made hap. 3. 7. Sons of God. Hence the Fruits of the Spirit, hilip. 1. are called the Fruits of Righteousness, which are al. 4. 5, by Jesus Christ to the praise and glory of
7. God.

THIS then is the thing we say, to wit, That he that is made Righteous unto Justification of life before God, is also habituated with a principle of Righteousness, as that which follows that Righteousness by which he stands just before. I say as that which follows it, for it comes by Jesus Christ, and by our being Justified before God, and made Righteous through him.

24. THIS second then, also comes to us before we do any act spiritually good. For how can a Man act Righteousness but from a principle of Righteousness? And seeing this principle is not of, or by nature, but of, and by Grace through Christ, it follows, that as no Man is just before God that is not covered with the Righteousness of Christ; so no Man can do Righteousness but by the Power of the Spirit of God which must dwell in him. Hence we are said through the Spirit to mortifie the deeds of the body, which works are preparatory to
Tim. 2. fruitful actions. The Husband-Man, says Paul,
2, 3, 4. that laboureth, must first be partaker of the fruit. So he that worketh Righteousness, must first be blessed with a principle of Righteousness.

MEN must have eyes before they see, Tongues before they speak, and Legs before they go; even so must a Man be made habitually good and righteous before he can work Righteousness. This then is the second thing. God makes a Man righteous by possessing him with a principle of Righteousness: which principle is not of Nature, but of Grace; not of Man, but God.

25. THIRDLY, The Man in the Text, is practically righteous, or one that declareth himself by works that are good, a vertuous a righteous Man, even as the Tree declares by
7. 16. the Apple or Plum it beareth, what manner of Tree it is; you shall know them by their Fruits.

FRUITS shew outwardly what the heart is principled with; shew me then thy Faith which abideth in the Heart, by thy works in a well spent life.

MARK how the Apostle words it, we being faith he, made free from sin, and become the Servants of God, have our Fruit unto Holiness, and the end everlasting life. Rom. 6. 19, 20, 21, 22.

MARK his order, first we are made free from sin; now that is by being justified freely by the Grace of God, through the Redemption which is in Jesus Christ, whom God has set forth to be a propitiation through Faith in his Blood. Rom. 3. Now this is Gods act without any regard at all to any good that the sinner has or can accomplish; not by works of Righteousness which we have done, but according to his Mercy thus he saveth us. 26. 24. 2 Tim. 1. 9. Tit. 3. 5.

NOW being made free from sin, what follows? We become the Servants of God, that is, by that turn which the Holy Ghost makes upon our Heart, when it reconciles it to the Word of Gods Grace. For that, as was said afore, is the effect of the in-dwelling and operation of the Holy Ghost. Now having our Hearts thus changed by God and his Word, the Fruits of Righteousness put forth themselves by us. For as when we were in the Flesh, the motions of sin which is in our members did bring forth Fruit unto death; so now, if we are in the Spirit. (And we are not in the Flesh but in the Spirit, if so be the Spirit of Christ dwels in us,) by the motions and workings of that, we have our Fruit unto Holiness, and the end everlasting life. Rom. 8. 6, 7, 8, 9.

BUT now by these Fruits, we are neither made righteous, nor good; for the Apple maketh not the Tree good, it only declares it so to be. Here therefore all those are mistaken that think to be righteous by doing of righteous actions, or good by doing good. A Man must first be righteous or he cannot do Righteousness, to wit, that which is Evangelically such. Now if a Man is, and must be righteous, before he acts Righteousness; then all his works are born too late to make him just before God; for his works, if they be right, flow from the Heart of a righteous Man, of a Man that had, before he had any good work, a twofold Righteousness bestowed on him; one to make him Righteous in the sight of God, the other to principle him to be Righteous before the World. That he might be called a Tree of Righteousness, the planting of the Lord, that he might be glorified. 27. Isa. 61. 3.

THE want of understanding of this, is that which keeps so many in a Mist of darkness about the way of Salvation; for they, poor Hearts, when they hear of the need that they have of a Righteousness to commend them to God, being ignorant of the Righteousness of God, that is, of that which God Imputeth to a Man, and that by which he counteth him Righteous, have it not in their thoughts to accept of that unto Justification of life, but presently betake themselves to the Law of Works, and fall to work there for the performing of a Righteousness, that they may be accepted of God for the same, and so submit not themselves to the Righteousness of God, by which, and by which only, the Soul stands Just before God. 28. Rom. 10. 1, 2, 3.

WHEREFORE

WHEREFORE, I say, it is necessary that this be distinctly laid down; That a Man must be Righteous first, even before he doth Righteousness; the Argument is plain from the order of nature, For a Corrupt Tree cannot bring forth good Fruit: Wherefore make the Tree good, and so his Fruit good; or the Tree corrupt, and his Fruit corrupt. Luk. 6. 43.

29. REASON also says the same; for how can Blacks beget white Children, when both Father and Mother are Blacks? How can a Man without Grace, and the Spirit of Grace, do good? Nature is defiled, even to the Mind and Conscience; how then can good Fruit come from such a Stock? Tit. 1. 15.

BESIDES, God accepteth not any work of a Person, which is not first accepted of him; The Lord had respect to Abel and to his Offering: To Abel first, that is, before that Abel offered. But how could God have respect to Abel, if Abel was not pleasing in his sight? And how could Abel be yet pleasing in his sight, for the sake of his own Righteousness, when 'tis plain that Abel had not yet done good Works? He was therefore first made acceptable in the sight of God, by and for the sake of that Righteousness, which God of his Grace, had put upon him to Justification of Life; through and by which also, the Holy Ghost in the Graces of it, dwelt in Abel's Soul; now Abel being justified, and also possessed with this Holy Principle, he offers his Sacrifice to God. Hence 'tis said, that he offered by Faith, by the Faith which he had precedent to his Offering; for if through Faith he offered, he had that Faith before he offered, that is plain. Now his Faith looked not for acceptance for the sake of what he offered, but for the sake of that Righteousness, which it did apprehend God had already put upon him, and by which he was made Righteous; wherefore his Offering was the Offering of a Righteous Man, of a Man made Righteous first: And so the Text saith; By Faith Abel offered unto God a more excellent Sacrifice than Cain, by which he obtained Witness that he was Righteous, that is, antecedent to his Offering: For he had Faith in Christ to come, by which he was made Righteous; he also had the Spirit of Faith, by which he was possessed with a Righteous Principle: And so being in this manner made Righteous, Righteous before God, and also principled to work, he comes and offereth his more acceptable Sacrifice to God. For this all will grant, namely, that the Works of a Righteous Man, are more excellent than are even the best works of the Wicked. Hence Cain's Works came behind, for God had not made him Righteous, had no respect unto his Person, had not given him the Spirit and Faith, whereby alone Men are made capable to offer acceptably: But to Cain and to his Offering, the Lord had not respect. Heb. 11. 4. Gen. 4. 4.

30. FROM all which 'tis manifest, that the Person must be accepted, before the Duty performed can be pleasing unto God: And if the Person must first be accepted, 'tis evident that the Person must first be Righteous; but if the Person be Righteous before he doth good, then it follows, that he is made Righteous by a Righteousness that is none of his own, that he hath had no hand in further, than to receive it as the gracious Gift of God: Deny this, and it follows that God accepteth Men without respect to Righteousness, and then what follows that, but that Christ is dead in vain?

WE must not therefore be deceived, He that doth Righteousness is Righteous, even as the Lord is Righteous: He doth not say, he that doth Righteousness shall be Righteous; as if his doing Works, would make him so before God: But he that doth Righteousness IS Righteous, Antecedent to his doing Righteousness. And it must be thus understood, else that which follows signifies nothing; for he saith, He that doth Righteousness is Righteous, even as the Lord his God is Righteous. But how is the Lord Righteous? Even antecedent to his Works. The Lord was Righteous before he wrought Righteousness in the World; and even so are we, to wit, every Child of God. As he is, so are we, in this World. 1 Joh. 3. 7. 1 Joh. 4. 17.

31. BUT we must in this, admit of this difference; the Lord was Eternal and essentially Righteous before he did any work, but we are imputatively Righteous, and also made so by a second work of Creation, before we do good works. It holds therefore only as to Order; God was Righteous before he made the World, and we are Righteous before we do good Works.

THUS therefore we have described the Righteous Man.

1. He is one whom God makes Righteous by Recokning or Imputation.

2. HE is one that God makes Righteous by possessing of him with a Principle of Righteousness.

3. HE is one that is practically Righteous.

32. NOR dare I give a narrower Description of a Righteous Man, than this; nor otherwise, than thus.

1. I dare not give a narrower Description of a Righteous Man than this, because whoever pretends to Justification, if he be not Sanctified, pretends to what he is not; and whoever pretends to Sanctification, if he shews not the Fruits thereof by a Holy Life, he deceiveth his own Heart, and professeth but in vain. Jam. 1. 22, 23, 24, 26, 27.

2. NOR dare I give this Description otherwise than thus, because there is a real distinction to be put between that Righteousness by which we should be just before God, and that which is in us a Principle of Sanctification; the first being the obedience of the Son of God without us, the second being the Work of the Spirit in our Hearts.

THERE is also a difference to be put betwixt the Principle by which we work Righteousness, and the Works themselves; as a difference is to be put betwixt the Cause, and the Effect; the Tree and the Apple.

33. I come now to the second Thing into which we are to enquire, and that is,

WHAT are the Desires of a Righteous Man!

MY way of handling this Question shall be,

1. TO speak of the Nature of Desire in the general.

2. AND then to shew you more particularly, what are the Desires of the Righteous.

1. FOR

1. FOR the first: Desires in general may be thus described, They are the workings of the Heart or Mind, after that of which the Soul is perswaded that it is good to be enjoyed: This, I say, is so, without respect to Regulation; for we speak not now of good Desires, but of Desires themseves, even as they flow from the Heart of a Human Creature; I say Desires are, or may be called, The working of the Heart after this or that; the strong Motions of the Mind unto it.

1. HENCE the love of Women to their Husbands, is called, their Desires; and the 16. Wife also is called, The Desire of the Husbands 24. Eye. Also love to Woman, to make her ones 21. Wife, is called by the Name of Desire. Now how strong the Motions or Passions of love 3.6. are, who is there that is an utter Stranger thereto?

2. HUNGER is also a most vehement Thing; and that which is called Hunger in one 145. place, is called Desire in another: And he desi- 16. red to be fed with the Crumbs which fell from the Rich Mans Table.

3. EXCEEDING Lustings are called 4. Desires, to shew the vehemency of Desires. 106.

4. LONGINGS, Pantings, Thirstings, 78. Prayers, &c, if there be any Life in them, 3,29. are all Fruits of a desirous Soul.

5. DESIRES therefore, flow from the Consideration of the Goodness, or Profitableness, or Pleasurableness of a Thing; yea, all Desires flow from thence: For a Man desires not that about which he has had no consideration, nor that neither on which he has Thought, if he doth not judge it will yield him something worth desiring.

WHEN Eve saw that the forbidden Fruit was a beautiful Tree (though her sight deceived her) then she desired it, and took thereof her self, and gave to her Husband, and he did eat: Yea, saith the Text, when she saw that it 3.6. was a Tree to be Desired, to make one Wise, she took.

6. HENCE that which is called Coveting 20. in one place, is called Desiring in another, for nt. 5. Desires are Craving; and by Desires a Man seeks to enjoy what is not his.

35. FROM all these things therefore we see what Desire is; It is the working of the Heart, after that, which the Soul is perswaded that it is good to be enjoyed: And of them there are these two Effects.

1. ONE is (on a Supposition that the Soul is not satisfied with what it has) to cause the Soul to range and hunt through the world for something that may fill up that Vacancy, that yet the Soul finds in it self, and would have supplied. Hence desires are said to be wandring, clef.6,8. and the Soul said to walk by them: Better is the sight of the Eyes than the wandring of the desire, or than the walking of the Soul. Desires are hunting things; and how many things do some empty Souls seek after, both as to the World, and also as to Religion, who have desirous Minds?

36. 2. THE second Effect is; if Desires be strong they carry all away with them, they are like Sampson, They will pull down the Gates of a City, but they will go out abroad; nothing can stop the Current of Desires; but the enjoyment of the thing desired, or a change of opinion as to the worth, or want of worth of the thing that is desired.

BUT we will now come to the thing more particularly intended, which is,

TO shew, what are the desires of the Righteous; this is that which the Text calls us to the consideration of, because it saith, The desire of the Righteous shall be granted.

WE have hitherto spoken of Desires, as to the Nature of them, without respect to them as good or bad; but now we shall speak to them, as they are the Effects of a sanctified Mind, as they are the Breathings, Pantings, Lustings, Hungerings and Thirstings of a righteous Man.

THE Text says, The desires of the Righteous 37. shall be granted; what then are the desires of the Righteous? Now I will,

1. SPEAK to their desires in the general, or with reference to them as to their Bulk.

2. I will speak to them more particularly as they work this way, and that,

FIRST, for their Desires in the general: The same Solomon that saith, The desire of the Prov. 11. Righteous shall be granted, saith also, The desire 23. of the Righteous is only good.

THIS Text giveth us, in the general, a description of the desires of a righteous Man, and a sharp and smart description it is: For where, may some say, is then the righteous Man, or the Man that hath none but good Desires? And if it be answered, they are good in the main, or good in the general, yet that will seem to come short of an Answer; for in that he saith, The desires of the Righteous are only good, it is as much as to say, that a righteous Man has none but good Desires, or desireth nothing but things that are good.

WHEREFORE, before we go any further; I must labour to reconcile the experience of good Men with this Text, which thus gives us a description of the Desires of the Righteous.

FIRST then, a righteous Man, is to be considered more generally, or more strictly. 38.

1. MORE generally, as he consisteth of the whole Man, of Flesh and Spirit, of Body and Soul, of Grace and Nature; now consider him thus, and you can by no means reconcile the Text with his experience, nor his experience with the Text. For as he is Body, Flesh and Nature (for all these are with him, though he is a righteous Man) so he has Desires vastly different from those described hy this Text, vastly differing from what is good; yea, what is it not, that is naught, that the Flesh and Nature even of a righteous Man will not desire? Do you think that the Scripture speaketh in vain, the Spirit that dwelleth in us lusteth to Envy? And again, In me, that is, in my Flesh, dwelleth no good thing: And again, The Flesh lusteth against the Spirit: And again, The Lusts thereof do war against the Soul. Jam. 4. 5. Rom 7.18. Gal. 5.17. 1 Pet. 2. 11.

FROM all these Texts we find, That a righteous Man has other workings, Lusts and Desires, than such only that are good; here then, if we consider of a righteous Man thus generally, is no place of agreement betwixt him and this Text.

WE must consider of him then in the next place more strictly, as he may and is to be distinguished from his Flesh, his carnal Lusts, and sinful Nature.

39. SECONDLY, Then a righteous Man is taken sometimes as to, or for his best part, or as he is a second Creation; and so, or as so considered, His desires are only good.

2 Cor. 5. 17, 18. Ephes. 2. 10. Joh. 3. 6. 1 Joh. 3. 9. Heb. 9. 23.

1. HE is taken sometimes as to, or for his best part, or as he is a second Creation, as these Scriptures declare; If any Man is in Christ, he is a new Creature, all things are become new; created in Christ Jesus, born of God, become heavenly Things, renewed after the Image of him that Created them, and the like.

By all which places, the sinful Flesh, the old Man, the law of Sin, the outward Man, all which are corrupt according to the deceitful Lusts, are excluded, and so pared off from the Man, as he is righteous; for his delight in the Law of God is after the inward Man.

And Paul himself was forced thus to distinguish of himself, before he could come to make a right Judgment in this matter; saith he, That which I do, I allow not; what I would, I do not; but what I hate, that do I. See you not here how he cleaves himself in twain, severing himself as he is Spiritual, from himself as he is Carnal; and ascribeth his notions to what is good to himself only, as he is Spiritual, or the new Man; If then I do that which I would not, I consent to the Law that it is good.

40. BUT I tro Sir, your consenting to what is good, is not by that part which doth do what you would not; no, no, saith he, That which doth do what I would not, I disown, and count it no part of sanctified Paul: Now then it is no more I that do it, but Sin that dwells in me; for in me (that is, in my Flesh) dwells no good thing, for to will is present with me; but how to perform that which is good, I find not: For the good that I would, I do not, but the evil that I would not, that I do: Now if I do that I would not, it is no more I that do it, but Sin that dwells in me. Thus you see, Paul is forced to make two Men of himself, saying, I and I; I do, I do not; I do, I would not do; what I hate, that I do: Now it cannot be the same I, unto whom these Contraries are applied, but his sinful Flesh is one I, and his godly Mind the other: And indeed so he concludes it in this Chapter, saying, So then with the Mind I my self serve the Law of God, but with the Flesh the Law of Sin.

Rom. 7. ch.

Thus therefore the Christian Man must distinguish concerning himself; and doing so, he shall find, though he has Flesh, and as he is such, he hath Lusts contrary to God; yet as he is a new Creature, he allows not, but hates the motions and desires of the Flesh, and consents to, and wills and delights in the Law of God.

Rom. 15. 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22.

Yea, as a new Creature, he can do nothing else; for the new Man, inward Man, or hidden Man of the Heart, being the immediate work of the Holy Ghost, and consisting only of that which is Divine and Heavenly; cannot breath, or act, or desire to act, in ways and courses, that are carnal: Wherefore in this sense, or as the Righteous Man is thus considered, his desires are only good.

41. SECONDLY, As the righteous Man must here be taken for the best part, for the I that would do good, for the I that hates the evil; so again, we must consider of the desires of this righteous Man, as they flow from that Fountain of Grace, which is the Holy Ghost within him, and as they are immediately mixed with those foul Channels, in and through which they must pass, before they can be put forth into acts.

For though the desire, as to its Birth, and first being, is only good, yet before it comes into much motion, it gathers that from the defilements of the Passages through which it comes, as makes it to bear a Tang of Flesh, and weakness in the skirts of it; and the evil that dwells in us is so universal, and also always so ready, that as sure as there is any motions to what is good, so sure evil is present with it; for when or whenever I would do good, says Paul, evil is present with me. Rom. 7. 21.

42. HENCE it follows that all our Graces, and so our desires, receive disadvantage by our Flesh, that mixing it self with what is good, and so abates the excellency of the good.

There is a Spring that yieldeth Water good and clear, but the Channels through which this Water comes to us, are muddy, foul or dirty; now of the Channels, the Waters receive a disadvantage, and so come to us as savouring of what came not with them, from the Fountain, but from the Channels.

This is the cause of the coolness, and of the weakness, of the flatness, and of the many extravagances that attend some of our desires; they come warm from the Spirit and Grace of God in us; but as hot Water runneth through cold Pipes, or as clear Water runneth through dirty conveyances, so our desires gather Soil.

You read in Solomons Ecclesiastes of a time when desires fail, For that Man goeth to his long home: And as to good desires, there is not one of them, when we are in our Prime, but they fail also as to the perfecting of that which a Man desires to do, to will is present with me, says Paul; but how to perform that which is good, I find not. Ch. 12. Rom. 7. 18.

To will or to desire, that is present with me, but when I have willed or desired to do, to perform is what I cannot attain to: But why not attain to a performance? Why says he, I find a Law in my Members warring against the Law of my mind; and this Law takes me Prisoner, and brings me into Captivity to the law of Sin, which is in my Members. Rom. 7. 23.

43. NOW where things will'd and desir'd meet with such Obstructions, no marvel if our willing and desiring, though they set out lustily at the beginning, come yet lame home in Conclusion..

There is a Man when he first prostrates himself before God, doth it with desires as warm as Fire-coals; but ere while he finds, for all that, that the Mettle of those desires, were it not revived with fresh Supplies, would be quickly spent and grow cold.

But yet the desire is good, and only good, as it comes from the breathing of the Spirit of God within us.

We

We must therefore, as I said, distinguish betwixt what is good, and that which doth annoy it, as Gold is to be distinguished from the Earth, and Dross that doth attend it.

The Man that believed, desired to believe better, and so cries out, Lord help my Unbelief: Mark 9. 24. The Man that feared God, desired to fear him better, saying, I desire to fear thy Name. Neh. 1. 11.

But these desires failed, as to the performance of what was begun, so that they were forced to come off but lamely, as to their Faith and Fear they had; yet the desires were true, good, and such as was accepted of God by Christ; not according to what they had not, but as to those good motions which they had. Distinguish then the desires of the Righteous in the nature of them, from that corruption and weakness of ours that cleaveth to them, and then again, They are only good.

44. 3. THERE is another thing to be considered, and that is, The different frames that our inward Man is in, while we live as Pilgrims in the World. A Man, as he is not always well without, so neither is he always well within. Our inward Man is subject to transient, though not to utter decays. Isa. 1. 5. Ezek. 34. 4.

And as it is when the outward Man is sick, strength and stomack and lust, or desire, fails; so it is when our inward Man has caught a Cold likewise.

The inward Man, I call, the new creature; of which the Spirit of God is the support, as my Soul supports my Body. But, I say, this new Man, is not always well; he knows nothing that knows not this. Now being sick, things fail. As when a Man is not in health of body, his pulse beats so as to declare that he is sick; so when a Man is not well within; his inward pulse, which are his desires; for I count the desires, for the pulse of the inward Man, they also declare that the Man is not well within. They beat too little after God, weak and faintly after Grace; they also have their halts; they beat not evenly, as when the Soul is well, but so as to manifest all is not well there.

We read that the Church of Sardis was under sore sickness, in so much that some of her things were quite dead, and they that were not so, were yet, ready to die; yet life is life we say; and as long as there is a pulse, or breath, tho breath scarce able to shake a Feather, we cast not away all Hope of life. Desires then, though they be weak, are notwithstanding, true desires, if they be the desires of the righteous thus discribed, and therefore are truly good, according to our Text. Revel. 3. 2.

David says, he opened his Mouth and panted, for he longed for Gods commandments. This was a sickness, but not such a one as we have been speaking of; the Spouse also cried out, That she was sick of love. Such sickness would do us good, for in it the pulse beats strongly-well. Psal. 119. 131. Cong 5. 8.

45. Object. But it may be objected. I am yet in doubt of the goodness of my desires, both because my desires run both ways, and because those that run toward sin, and the World, seem more and stronger, than those that run after God, and Christ, and Grace.

Ans. There is not a Christian under Heaven, but has desires run both ways, as is manifest from what hath been said already. Flesh will be Flesh, Grace shall not make it otherwise. By Flesh, I mean that body of sin and death that dwelleth in the Godly. As Grace will act according to its nature, so sin will act according to the nature of sin. Now the Flesh has desires, and the desires of the Flesh and of the mind are both one in the ungodly, thank God it is not so in thee. Rom. 6. 6. Chap. 7. 24. Ephes. 2. 3. Rom. 7. 25.

THE Flesh, I say, hath its desires in the Godly; hence 'tis said to lust enviously, it lusts against the Spirit. The Flesh lusteth against the Spirit. And if it be so audacious as to fly in the Face of the Holy Ghost, wonder that thou art not wholly carried away with it. Gal. 5. 17.

BUT them desires that run to the World and sin, seem most and strongest in me. 46.

Answ. THE Works of the Flesh are manifest, that is, more plainly discovered even in the Godly, than are the works of the Holy Ghost. Gal. 5. 19.

AND this their manifestation ariseth from these following particulars.

1. WE know the least appearance of a sin, better by its native hue, than we know a Grace of the Spirit.

2. SIN is sooner felt in its bitterness to, and upon a sanctified Soul, than is the Grace of God. A little Aloes will be sooner tasted, than will much sweet, though mixt therewith.

3. SIN is dreadful, and murderous in the sight of a sanctified Soul. Wherefore the apprehending of that, makes us often forget, and often question, whether we have any Grace or no.

4. Grace lies deep in the hidden part, but sin lies high and floats above in the Flesh, wherefore 'tis easier oftener seen, than is the Grace of God. The little Fishes swim on the top of the Water, but the biggest and best keep down below, and so are seldomer seen. Psal. 51. 6.

5. Grace as to quantity, seems less than sin: What is leaven or a grain of Mustard-seed, to the bulkey lump of a body of death? Mat. 13. 31, 32, 33.

6. SIN is seen by its own darkness and also in the light of the Spirit; but the Spirit it self neither discovers it self, nor yet its Graces, by every glance of its own light.

7. A Man may have the Spirit busily at work in him; he may also have many of his Graces in their vigorous acts, and yet may be greatly ignorant of other. Wherefore we are not competent Judges in this case. There may a thousand acts of Graces pass through thy Soul, and thou be sensible of few, if of any of them.

8. DO you think that he that repents, believes, loves, fears or humbles himself before God, and acts in other Graces too, doth always know what he doth? No, no. Grace many times, even in a Man is acted by him, unawares unto him. Did Gideon, think you, believe that he was so strong in grace as he was? nay, was he not ready to give the lie to the Angel, when he told him God was with him? Judges 12. 13, 14. Or what do you think of David, when he said he was cast off from Gods Eyes; or of Heman, when he said, he was free among them, whom God remembred no more. Did these then see their Graces so clear, as they saw themselves by their sins to be unworthy ones? Psal. 31. 22. Psal. 88. 5. 47.

9. I tell you, 'tis a rare thing for some Christians to see their Graces, but a thing very common for such to see their sins, yea, and to feel them too in their lusts and desires, to the shaking of their Souls.

48. Quest. BUT since I have lusts, and desires both ways, how shall I know to which my Soul adheres?

Answ. THIS may be known thus.

1. WHICH wouldest thou have prevail, the desires of the Flesh, or the lusts of the Spirit, whose side art thou of? Doth not thy Soul now inwardly say, and that with a strong indignation? O let God, let Grace, let my desires that are good prevail against my Flesh, for Jesus Christ his sake.

2. WHAT kind of secret wishes hast thou in thy Soul, when thou feelest the lusts of thy Flesh to rage? Dost thou not inwardly and with indignation against sin, say, O that I might never, never, feel one such motion more! O that my Soul were so full of Grace, that there might be longer no room for ever for the least lust to come into my thoughts!

3. WHAT kind of thoughts hast thou of thy self, now thou seest these desires of thine that are good, so briskly opposed by those that are bad? Dost thou not say, Oh! I am the basest of creatures, I could even spue at my self: There is no Man in all the World, in mine Eyes, so loathsom at my self is. I abhor my self, a Toad is not so vile as I am. O Lord let me be any thing but a sinner, any thing so thou subduest mine iniquities for me!

4. HOW dost thou like the discovery of that which thou thinkest is Grace in other Men? dost thou not cry out, Oh I bless them in my heart! O methinks Grace is the greatest beauty in the World! Yea, I could be content to live and die with those People that have the Grace of God in their Souls. A hundred times, and a hundred, when I have been upon my knees before God, I have desired, were it the will of God, that I might be in their condition.

5. HOW art thou when thou thinkest that thou thy self hast Grace! O then, says the Soul, I am as if I could leap out of my self; Joy, Joy, Joy then is with my heart. It is methinks the greatest Mercy under Heaven to be made a gracious Man.

49. AND is it thus with thy Soul indeed? Happy man! 'Tis Grace that has thy Soul, tho sin at present Works in thy Flesh. Yea, all these breathings are the very actings of Grace, even of the Grace of desire, of love, of humility, and of the fear of God within thee. Be of good courage, thou art on the right side. Thy desires are only good; for that thou hast desired against thy sin, thy sinful self; which indeed is not thy self, but sin that dwells in thee.

50. I come next to speak of desires more distinctly, or particularly, as they Work this way, and that.

FIRST then, The desires of the Righteous are either such as they would have accomplished here, or else such as they know they cannot come at the enjoyment of, till after death.

FOR the first of these, the desires of the Righteous are for such good things as they would have accomplished here; That is, in this World, while they are on this side glory. And they in general are comprized under these two general heads.

1. COMMUNION with their God, in Spirit, or Spiritual communion with him.

2. The liberty of the enjoyment of his holy ordinances. And indeed, this second is, that they may both attain to, and have the first maintained with them. But for the first.

1. They desire now Communion with God. With my Soul, said she, have I desired thee in the night, and with my Spirit within me, will I seek thee early. Isa. 26. 9.

THE reason of this she renders in the verse foregoing, saying, The desire of our Soul is to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee.

NOW thus to desire, declares, one already made righteous. For herein there appears a mind reconciled to God. Wherefore the wicked are set on the other side, even in that opposition to these; They say unto God depart from us, for we desire not the knowledge of thy ways. They neither love his presence, nor to be frequenters of his Ordinances. What's the Almighty that we should serve him, and what profit should we have if we pray unto him? So again speaking of the wicked, he saith, yea, have said it is in vain to serve God, and what profit is it that we have kept his ordinances? 51. Job 21. 14. Mal. 3. 14.

THIS then to desire truly, to have Communion with God, is the property of a righteous Man, of a righteous Man only; for this desire ariseth from a suitableness which is in the righteous unto God. Whom, said the Prophet, have I in Heaven but thee? and there is none upon earth that I desire besides thee. This could never be the desire of a Man, were he not a righteous Man, a Man with a truly sanctified mind. The carnal mind is enmity against God, for it is not subject to the Law of God, neither indeed can be. Psal. 73. 25. Rom. 8. 7.

WHEN Moses the Man of God was with the Children of Israel in the Wilderness, he praies that God would give them his presence unto Canaan, or else to let them die in that place. 'Twas death to him to think of being in the Wilderness without God. And he said unto God, If thy presence go not with me, carry us not hence. Exod. 33. 14, 15.

HERE then are the desires of a righteous Man, namely after Communion with God. He chuses rather to be a stranger with God in the World, than to be a Citizen of the World and a stranger to God. For I am, said David, a stranger with thee, and a sojourner as all my Fathers were. Psal. 39. 12.

INDEED he that walketh with God, is but a stranger to this World: And the righteous Mans desires are to, for, and after Communion with God, though he be so.

THE reasons of these desires are many. 52.

1. IN Communion with God, is life, and favour; yea, the very presence of God with a Man is a token of it. Psal. 30. 3, 5.

FOR by his presence he helps, suckers, relieves, and supports the Hearts of his People, and therefore is communion with him desired, I will, said David, behave my self wisely in a perfect way; O when wilt thou come unto me? Psal. 101. 2.

2. The

2. THE pleasures that such a Soul finds in God that has Communion with him, are surpassing all pleasures and delights, yea, infinitely surpassing them. In thy presence is Fulness of joy, and at thy right hand are pleasures forever more: Upon this account he is called, The desire of all Nations, of all in all Nations that know him.

3. JOB desired Gods presence that he might reason with God; surely, said he, I would speak to the Almighty, and I desire to reason with God. And again, O that he would hear me! Behold my desire is that the Almighty would answer me.

BUT why doth Job thus DESIRE to be in the presence of God? Oh! he knew that God was good, and that he would speak to him that which would do him good. Would he plead against me with his great power? no, but he would put strength into me. There the righteous might dispute with him: so should I be delivered forever from my Judg.

4. Gods presence is the safety of a Man: If God be with one who can hurt one? As HE said, If God be for us, who can be against us? Now if so much safety flows from Gods being FOR one, how safe are we when God is with us? The beloved of the Lord, said Moses, shall dwell in safety by him, and the Lord shall cover him all the day long, and he shall dwell between his Shoulders.

53. 5. GODS presence keeps the heart awake to Joy, and will make a Man sing in the night; Can the Children of the Bride-Chamber mourn while the Bride-groom is with them? Gods presence is feasting, and feasting is made for mirth.

6. GODS presence keeps the heart tender, and makes it ready to fall in with what is made known, as duty or priviledge. I will run the ways of thy commandments, said the Psalmist, when thou shalt enlarge my heart.

7. THE presence of God makes a Man affectionally, and sincerely good: Yea, makes him willing to be searched and stript from all the remains of iniquity.

8. WHAT what shall I say? Gods presence is renewing, transforming, seasoning, sanctifying, commanding, sweetning and lightning to the Soul. Nothing like it in all the World; his presence supplies all wants, heals all maladies, saves from all dangers; is Life in Death, Heaven in Hell; all in all.

NO marvel then if the presence of, and Communion with God, is become the desire of a Righteous Man.

9. TO conclude this, by the presence of God being with us, 'tis known to our selves and to others what we are. If thy presence, said Moses, go not with me, carry us not hence; for wherein shall it be known, that I and thy People have found Grace in thy sight, is it not in that thou goest with us? so shall we be separate, I and thy People from all the People that are upon the Face of the Earth.

54. 1. THEY are then best known to themselves. They know they are his People because Gods presence is with them. Therefore he saith, my presence shall go with thee, and I will give thee rest. That is, let thee know that thou hast found Grace in my sight, and art accepted of me. For if God withdraws himself, or hides his presence from his People, 'tis hard for them to bear up in the stedfast belief that they belong to him. Be not silent unto me O Lord, said David, lest I be like unto them that go down into the Pit. Be not silent unto me, that is, as he has it in another place, Hide not thy Face from me. Hear me speedily O Lord, saith he, my Spirit faileth; hide not thy Face from me, lest I be like unto them that go down into the Pit. Psal. 28. 1. Psal. 143. 7.

SO that Gods presence is the desire of the righteous for this cause also, even for that by it they gather, that God delighteth in them. By this I know thou favourest me, because mine Enemies do not triumph over me. And is this all? no, And as for me thou upholdest me in mine integrity, and settest me before thy Face forever.

2. As by the presence of God being with us, we know our selves to be the People of God: so by this presence of God, the World themselves are sometimes convinced who we are also.

1. THUS Abimelich saw that God was with Abraham. Gen. 21. 22.

2. THUS Abimelich saw that God was with Isaac. Gen. 26. 28, 29.

3. PHARAOH knew that God was with Joseph. Gen. 41. 38.

4. SAUL saw and knew that the Lord was with David. 1 Sam. 18. 28.

5. SAULS Servant knew that the Lord was with Samuel. Sam. 9. 6.

6. BELSHAZZERS Queen knew also that God was with Daniel. Dan. 5. 11.

7. Darius knew also that God was with Daniel. Dan. 6. 20.

8. AND when the Enemy saw the boldness of Peter and John, they took knowledge of them that they had been with Jesus. Acts 4. 13.

9. THE Girl that was a Witch, knew that Paul was a Servant of the most high God. Acts 16. 17.

55. THERE is a Glory upon them that have God with them, a Glory that sometimes Glances, and flashes out into the Faces of those that behold the People of God. And all they that sat in the counsel, looking stedfastly upon him, saw Stephen's Face, as if it had been the Face of an Angel. Such Rays of Divine Majesty did shew themselves therein. Acts 6. 15.

THE reason is, for that,

1. SUCH have with them the Wisdom of God. 2 Sam. 14. 17, 18, 19, 20.

2. SUCH also have special bowels and compassions of God for others. 1 Sam. 16. 4.

3. SUCH have more of his Majesty upon them than others. 1 Sam. 3. 19, 20.

4. SUCH, their words and ways, their carriages and doings are attended with that of God that others are destitute of. 2 King 4. 9.

5. SUCH are Holier and of more convincing lives in the general than other People are.

NOW there is both comfort and honour in this; for what comfort like that of being a Holy Man of God? and what honour like that of being a Holy Man of God?

56. THIS therefore is the desire of the righteous, to wit, To have Communion with God. Indeed none like God, and to be desired as he, in the thoughts of a righteous Man.

AND this leads me to the second thing, namely,

The

The liberty of the enjoyment of his holy Ordinances. For next to God himself, nothing is so dear to a righteous Man as the enjoyment of his Holy Ordinances.

Psal.27.4. ONE thing, said David, have I desired of the Lord, and that will I seek after (namely) that I may dwell in the House of the Lord all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the Lord, and to enquire in his Temple.

THE Temple of the Lord was the dwelling-House of God, there he recorded his name, and there he made known himself unto his People. Wherefore this was the cause why David so earnestly desired to dwell there too, To be-
Psal.11.4. hold, saith he, the beauty of the Lord, and to en-
Hab.2.2. quire in his Temple.

There he had promised his presence to his People, yea, and to bring thither a blessing
Exod.20. 24. for them. In all places where I record my name I will come unto thee, and I will bless thee.

For this cause therefore, as I said, it is, why the righteous do SO desire that they may enjoy the liberty of the Ordinances, and appointments of their God; to wit, that they may attain to, and have Communion maintained with him.

57. ALAS! the righteous are as it were undone if Gods Ordinances be taken from them. How Psal. 84. 1, 2. amiable are thy Tabernacles, O Lord of Hosts. My Soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the Lord, my heart and my flesh cryeth out for the living God. Behold, what a taking the good Man was in, because at this time he could not attain to so frequent a being in the Temple of God, as his Soul desired. It even longed, and fainted, yea, and his heart and his flesh cried out for the God that dwelt in the Temple at Jerusalem.

Yea, he seems in the next words to envie the very BIRDS that could more commonly frequent the Temple than he.

The Sparrow, saith he, hath found her a House, and the Swallow a nest for her self, where she may lay her young, even thine Altars, O Lord my King, and my God.

And then blesseth all them that had the liberty of Temple Worship, saying, Blessed are they
ver. 4. that dwell in thine House, they will be still praising thee.

ver. 7. Then he cries up the happiness of those that in Zion do appear before God.

After this he cries out unto God, that he would grant him to be partaker of this high favour, saying, O Lord God of Hosts hear my prayer, &c. For a day in thy courts is better than a thousand: I had rather be a door-keeper in the House of my God, than to dwell in the Tents of wickedness.

58. BUT why is all this! what aileth the Man thus to express himself? Why, as I said, The Temple was the great Ordinance of God, there was his true worship performed, there God appeared, and there his People was to find him. This was, I say, the reason why the Psalmist chose out, and desired THIS one thing, above ALL the things that were under Heaven, even to behold there the beauty of the Lord, and to enquire in his Temple.

There was to be seen The shadows of things in the Heavens; The Candle-stick, the Table, of Shew-bread, the Holiest of all, where was the Golden Censor, the Ark of the Covenant overlaid round about with Gold, the Golden Pot Heb. 9. ver. 1, 2, that had Manna, Aarons Rod that budded, the Tables 3, 4, 5. of the Covenant, and the Cherubins of glory compared overshadowing the Mercy-Seat, which were with ver. all of them then, things by which God shewed 23 and himself merciful to them. Chap. 8

Do you think that Love-letters are not desired 5. between Lovers? Why these, God's Ordinances, they are his Love-letters, and Love-tokens too: no marvel then if the righteous do SO desire them. More to be desired are they than Gold, yea, Psal. 19. than much fine Gold: sweeter also than the Hony, 10. and the Hony Comb. Psal. 119.

Yea, this Judgment, Wisdom it self passes 72. ver. upon these things, receive, saith he, my instruction, 127. and not Silver, and knowledge rather than fine Gold. Prov. 8. For wisdom is better than Rubies; and all the 10, 11. things that may be desired, are not to be compared to it.

59. FOR this cause therefore are the Ordinnaces of God so much desired by the Righteous. In them they meet with God; and by them they are builded, and nourished up to Eternal life.

As new-born Babes, says Peter, desire the sincere Milk of the Word that ye may grow thereby. As 1 Pet.2.2. milk is nourishing to Children, so is the Word, heard, read, and meditated on, to the Righteous. Therefore it is their desire.

He made himself known to them in breaking of Luk.24. Bread: Who who would not then, that loves to know 35. him, be present at such an Ordinance?

Oft times the Holy Ghost, in the comfortable influences of it, has accompanied the Bap-
Isa. 26. 8. tized in the very act of Administring it. There-fore in the way of thy Judgments, or appointments, O Lord, thy People have waited for thee, The desire of their Soul is to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee.

60. CHURCH-fellowship, or the Communion of Saints, is the place where the Son of God loveth to walk; his first walking was in Eden; There he converted our first Parents. And come my beloved, saies he, let us go early to Song 7. the Vineyards, let us see if the Vine flourish, whe- 12. ther the tender Grapes appear, and the Pomgranates bud forth: there will I give thee my loves.

Church-fellowship rightly managed, is the glory of all the World. No place, no community, no fellowship adorned and bespangled with those beauties as is a Church rightly knit together to their head, and lovingly serving one another. In his Temple every one Psal. 132. speaks of his glory. Hence the Church is called the 13, 14, 15. place of Gods desire on Earth. This is my rest, 16. Psal. 29.9. here I will dwell forever, for I have desired it. And again. Thus the Church confesseth, when Song 7. she saith, I am my beloved's, and his desire is to- 10. wards me.

No marvel then if this be the ONE thing that David desired, and that which he would seek after, namely, to dwell in the House of the Lord all the days of his life.

61. And this also shews you the reason why Gods People of old used to venture so hardly for Ordinances, and to get to them with the peril of their lives, because of the Sword of the Wil-
Lam.5.9. derness.

They

They was their Bread, they was their water, they was their Milk, they was their Hony. Hence the Sanctuary was called the desire of their Eyes, and that which their Soul pitied, or the pity of their Soul. They had rather have died than lost it, or than that it should have been burned down as it was. Ezek. 24. 21, 25.

When the Children of Israel hast lost the Ark, they count the glory was departed from Israel. But when they had lost all, what a complaint made they then! He hath violently taken away his tabernacle, as if it were of a Garden, he hath destroyed the places of the assemblie: The Lord hath caused the solemn Feasts and Sabbaths to be forgotten in Sion, and hath despised in the indignation of his anger, the King and the Priest.

Wherefore upon this account it was that the Church in those days counted the punishment of her iniquity greater than the punishment of Sodom. 1 Sam. 4. 22. Lam. 2. 6, 7.

By these few hints you may perceive, what is the desire of the righteous. But this is spoken of with reference to things present; to things that the righteous desire to enjoy while they are here: Communion with God while here, and his Ordinances in their purity while here. I come therefore in the second place to shew you that the righteous have desires that reach further, desires that have so long a neck as to look into the World to come.

62. SECONDLY then the desires of the righteous, are after that, which, yet they know, cannot be enjoyed till after death. And those are comprehended under these two heads.

1. They desire that presence of their Lord, which is personal.

2. They desire to be in that Country where their Lord personally is.

That Heavenly Country.

For the first of these, says Paul,

I have a desire to depart and to be with Christ. Thus you have it in Philippians, 1. 25. I have a desire to be with Christ.

In our first SORT of desires, I told you that the righteous desired spiritual Communion with God; and now I tell you they desire to be with Christ's person; I have a desire to be with Christ, That is, with his Person, that I may enjoy his personal presence; such a presence of his, as we are not capable to enjoy while here. Hence he says, I have a desire to depart that I might be with him. Knowing, as he says in another place, that while we are at home in the body, we are (and cannot but be) absent from the Lord. 2 Cor. 5. 6.

63. NOW this desire, as I said, is a desire that hath a long neck, for it can look over the brazen Wall of this, quite into another World. And as it hath a long neck, so it is very forceable, and mighty in its operation.

1. This desire breeds a divorce, a compleat divorce betwixt the Soul and all inordinate love and affections to relations and worldly enjoyments. THIS desire makes a Married Man live as if he had no Wife, a rich Man live as if he possessed not what he has &c. 1 Cor. 7. 29, 30.

This is a Soul sequestring desire; This desire makes a Man willing rather to be absent from all enjoyments, that he may be present with the Lord. This is a famous desire; none hath this desire, but a righteous Man.

There are that profess much love to Christ, that yet never had such a desire in them, all their life long. No, the relation that they stand in to the World, together with those many flesh-pleasing accommodations with which they are surrounded, would never yet suffer SUCH a desire to enter into their Hearts.

2. THE strength of this desire is such, that it is ready, so far forth as it can to dissolve that sweet knot of union that is betwixt body and Soul. A knot more dear to a reasonable creature than that can be which is betwixt Wife and Husband, Parent and Child, or a Man and his Estate. For even all that a Man has will he give for his Life, and to keep Body and Soul firmly knit together. But now, when THIS desire comes, this Silver Cord is loosed, is loosed by consent. This desire grants to him that comes to dissolve this union, leave to do it delightfully. We are confident and willing rather to be absent from the body and to be present with the Lord. 64. 2 Cor. 5. 8.

Yea, This desire makes this flesh, this mortal life, a burden. The Man that has this desire, exercises self-denial, while he waits till his desired change comes. For were it not, that the will of God is that he should live; and did he not hope that his life might be serviceable to the truth and Church of God; He would not have wherewith to cool the heat of this desire: But would rather in a holy passion with holy Job cry out, I loath or I abhor it, I would not live always; let me alone (that I may die) for my days are vanity. Job 7. 15, 16, 17.

3. THE strength of this desire shews it self in this also, namely in that it is willing to grapple with the King of terrors, rather than to be detained from that sweet Communion, that the Soul looks for when it comes into the place where its Lord is. Death is not to be desired for it self, the Apostle chose rather to be cloathed upon with his House which is from Heaven, that mortality might be swallowed up of life. 65. 2 Cor. 5. 1, 2, 3, 4.

But yet, rather than he would be absent from the Lord, he was willing to be absent from the body. Death in the very thoughts of it is grievous to Flesh and Blood; and nothing can so master it in our apprehensions, as that by which we attain to these desires. These desires do deal with death, as Jacobs love to Rachel did deal with the seven long years which he was to serve for her. It made them seem few, or but a little time; Now so I say, doth these desires deal with Death it self. They make it seem little, nay a Servant, nay a priviledge; for that by that a Man may come to enjoy the presence of his beloved Lord. I have a desire to depart, to go from the World and relations, to go from my body, that great piece of my self; I have a desire to venture the tugs, and pains and the harsh handling of the King of terrors, so I may be with Jesus Christ, These are desires of the righteous.

Are not these therefore, strong desires? Is there not life and mettle in them? Have they not in them, power to loose the bands of nature, and to harden the Soul against sorrow? flow they not, think you, from faith of the finest sort, and are they not bread in the bosom of a truly mortified Soul? Are these the effects of a pur-blind Spirit? Are they not rather the Fruits of an Eagle-ey'd Confidence? Oh these desires! they are peculiar to the Righteous, they are none others, but the desires of the Righteous.

66. Quest. BUT why do the Righteous desire to be with Christ?

Answ. And I ask, why doth the Wife, that is, as the loving Hind, love to be in the Presence of her Husband?

Mark 5. 18. 1. Christ in Glory is worth the being with; if the Man out of whom the Lord Jesus did cast a Legion, prayed that he might be with him, notwithstanding all the Trials that attended him in this Life; how can it be but that a righteous Man, must desire to be with him now he is in Glory?

2. What we have heard concerning the Excellency of his Person, the unspeakableness of his Love, the greatness of his Sufferings, and the Things that he still is doing for us, must needs command our Souls into a desire to be with him.

3. When we have heard of a Man among us, that has done for us some excellent Thing; the next thing that our Hearts doth pitch upon, is, I would I could set mine Eyes upon him; but was ever heard the like, to what Jesus Christ has done for Sinners? Who then that hath the Faith of him, can do otherwise, but desire to be with him? 'Twas that which sometime comforted John, that the time was coming that he should see him.

1 Joh. 3. 2.

Rev. 22. 20. But that Consideration made him bray like a Hart, to hasten the time that he might set his Eyes upon him quickly.

To see Jesus Christ then, to see him as he is, to see him as he is in Glory, is a sight that is worth going from Relations, and out of the Body, and through the Jaws of Death to see; for this is to see him Head over all, to see him possessed of Heaven for his Church, to see him preparing of Mansion-houses for those his poor Ones, that are now by his Enemies kickt too and fro, like Foot-balls in the World; and is not this a blessed Sight?

67. SECONDLY, I have a desire to be with him, to see my self with him; this is more blessed still; for for a Man to see himself in Glory, this is a sight worth seeing: Sometimes I look upon my self, and say, where am I now? And do quickly return Answer to my self again, why I am in an evil World, a great way from Heaven, in a sinful Body, among Devils and wicked Men; sometimes benighted, sometimes beguilted, sometimes fearing, sometimes hoping, sometimes breathing, sometimes dying, and the like. But then I turn the Tables, and say, but where shall I be shortly? Where shall I see my self anon, after a few times more have passed over me? And when I can but answer this Question thus, I shall see my self with Jesus Christ; this yields Glory, even Glory to ones Spirit now; no marvel then, if the Righteous desire to be with Christ.

68. THIRDLY, I have a desire to be with Christ; there the Spirits of the Just are perfected; there the Spirits of the Righteous are as full as they can hold: A Sight of Jesus in the Word, some know how 'twill change them from Glory to Glory; but how then shall we be changed and filled, when we shall see him as he is? When he shall appear we shall be like him, for we shall see him as he is.

Heb. 12. 23.

2 Cor. 3. 18. 1 Joh. 3. 2.

Moses and Elias appeared to Peter and James and John, at the Transfiguration of Christ in Glory: How so? Why they had been in the Heavens, and came thence with some of the Glories of Heaven upon them. Gild a bit of Wood, yea, gild it seven times over, and it must not compare in difference to Wood not gilt, to the Soul, that but a little while has been dipt in Glory.

Glory is a strange Thing to Men that are on this side the Heavens; 'tis that which Eye hath not seen, nor Ear heard, nor entered into the Heart of Man to conceive of; only the Christian has a Word and Spirit, that at times doth give a little of the Glimmering thereof unto him.

But oh when he is in the Spirit, and sees in the Spirit, do you think his Tongue can tell! But I say, if the sight of Heaven, at so vast a distance, is so excellent a Prospect, what will it look like, when one is in it?

No marvel then, If the desires of the Righteous are to be with Christ.

69. Object. But if this be the Character of a Righteous Man, to desire to depart and to be with Christ, I am none of them; for I never had such a desire in my Heart; no, my Fears of Perishing will not suffer me either to desire to die to be with Christ, nor that Christ should come to Judge the World.

Answ. Though thine is a case that must be excepted, for that thy desires may not as yet be grown so high; yet if thou art a righteous Man, thy Heart has in it the very Seeds thereof.

There are therefore desires, and desires to desire, as one Child can reach so High, and the other can but desire to do so: Thou, if thou art a righteous Man, hast desires, these desires ready to put forth into act, when they are grown a little stronger, or when their Impediment is removed.

Many times it is with our desires, as it is with Saffron, it will Bloom and Blossom, and be Ripe, and all in a Night: Tell me, dost thou not desire to desire? Yea, dost thou not vehemently desire to desire, to depart and to be with Christ? I know if thou art a righteous Man, thou dost. There is a Man sows his Field with Wheat, but as he sows, soon is it covered with great Clods; now that grows as well as the rest, though it runs not upright as yet; it grows and yet is kept down, so do thy desires; and when one shall remove, the Clod, the Blade will soon point up upwards.

70. I know thy Mind; that which keeps thee that thou canst not yet arrive to this, To desire to depart and to be with Christ, is, because some strong doubt or Clod of Unbelief, as to thy eternal Welfare, lies hard upon thy desiring Spirit; now let but Jesus Christ remove this Clod, and thy desires will quickly start up to be gone.

I say let but Jesus Christ give thee one Kiss, and with his Lips as he kisses thee, whisper to thee The forgiveness of thy Sins, and thou wilt quickly break out and say, Nay, then Lord let me die in Peace, since my Soul is perswaded of thy Salvation.

There

There is a Man upon the Bed of Languishing, but oh! he dares not die, for all is not as he would have it, 'twixt God and his poor Soul; and many a Night he lies thus in great horror of Mind; but do you think, that he doth not desire to desire to depart? Yes, yes, he also waits, and crys to God to set his desires at Liberty: At last the Visitor comes and sets his Soul at ease, by perswading of him that he belongs to God; and what then? Oh! now let me die, welcom Death.

Now he is like the Man in Essex, who when his Neighbour at his Bed-side prayed for him, that God would restore him to Health, started up in his Bed, and pulled him by the Arm, and cryed out, No, no, pray that God will take me away, for to me 'tis best to go to Christ.

71. THE desires of some good Christians are pinioned and cannot stir, especially these sort of desires; but Christ can and will cut the Cord sometime or other; and then thou that wouldest, shalt be able to say, I have a desire to depart, and to be with Jesus Christ.

Mean time be thou earnest to desire to know thy Interest in the Grace of God, for there is nothing short of the knowledge of that, can make thee desire to depart, that thou mayst be with Christ; this is that that Paul laid as the ground of his desires to be gone: We know, says 2 Cor. 5. 1, 2. he, that if our earthly House of this Tabernacle were dissolved, we have a Building of God, an House not made with Hands, eternal in the Heavens: For in this we groan earnestly, desiring to be Cloathed upon with our House, which is from Heaven.

And know that if thy desires be right, they will grow as other Graces do, from Strength to Strength; only in this they can grow no faster, than Faith grows as to Justification, and than Hope grows as to Glory.

But we will leave this, and come to the second Thing.

72. SECONDLY, As the righteous Men desire to be present with Jesus Christ, so they desire to be with him in that Country where he is; Heb. 11. 14,15,16. But now they desire a better Country, that is, an Heavenly; wherefore God is not ashamed to be called their God, for he hath prepared for them a City. But now they desire a better Country; here is a Comparison: There was another Country, to wit, their native Country, the Country from whence they came out; that in which they left their Friends and their Pleasures, for the sake of another World, which indeed is a better Country, as is manifest from its Character, It is an Heavenly: As high as Heaven is above the Earth, so much better is that Country which is an Heavenly, than is this in which now we are. Mat. 6. 14,15,16. Ch. 15. 13. Ch. 18. 35. Luk. 2. 13. Joh. 3. 12. Act. 26. 19. Ephes. 1. 3. 20. 2 Tim. 4. 18. Heb. 3. 1. Ch. 9. 23. Ch. 12. 22.

A Heavenly Country, where there is a Heavenly Father; a Heavenly Host, Heavenly Things, Heavenly Visions, Heavenly Places, a Heavenly Kingdom, and the Heavenly Jerusalem, for them that are Partakers of the Heavenly Calling, and that are the Heavenly things themselves.

THIS is a Country to be desired, and therefore no marvel if any, except those that have lost their Wits and Senses, refuse to chuse themselves an Habitation here. Here is the Mount Zion, the City of the living God, the Heavenly Jerusalem, and an Innumerable Company of Angels; here is the General Assembly and Church of the first Born, and God the Judge of all, and Jesus, and the Spirits of just Men made perfect; Who would not be here? Heb. 12. 22,23,24.

This is the Country that the Righteous desire for a Habitation; but now they desire a better Country, that is, an Heavenly: wherefore God is not ashamed to be called their God, for he hath prepared for them a City. 73.

Mark, they desire a Country, and God prepareth for them a City; he goes beyond their Desires, beyond their Apprehensions, beyond what their Hearts could conceive to ask for.

There is none that are weary of this World, from a gracious Disposition that they have to an Heavenly; but God will take notice of them, will own them, and not be ashamed to own them; yea, such shall not lose their Longing: They desire a Handful, God gives them a Seaful; they desire a Country, God prepares for them a City. A City, that is an Heavenly; a City, that has Foundations; a City, whose Builder and Maker is God. And all this is that the Promise to them might be fulfilled, The desire of the Righteous shall be granted; and this is the last Thing, propounded to be spoken to from the Text. Therefore, Heb. 11. 10. Rev. 3. 12.

THIRDLY, We then in Conclusion come to enquire into, What is meant, or to be understood by the granting of the Righteous their desires; The desire of the Righteous shall be granted. 74.

1. To grant, is to yield to what is desired, to consent that it shall be even so as is requested; The Lord hear thee in the time of Trouble, the Name of the God of Jacob defend thee; send thee help from his Sanctuary, and strengthen thee out of Zion; Remember all thy Sacrifices; Grant thee according to thine own Heart, and fulfil all thy Counsel. Psal 20. 1, 2, 3.

2. To grant, is to accomplish what is promised; thus God granted to the Gentiles Repentance unto Life, namely, for that he had promised it by the Prophets from the days of old. Act. 11. 18, Rom. 15. 9. 10, 11, 12.

3. To grant therefore, is an act of Grace and condescending Favour; for if God is said to humble himself when he beholds things in Heaven, what condescension is it for him, to hearken to a sinful Wretch on Earth, and to tell him, have the Thing which thou desireth? A Wretch I call him, if compared to him that hears him, though he is a righteous Man when considered, as the new Creation of God.

4. To grant then, is not to part with the Thing desired, as if a desire merited, purchased, earned or deserved it, but of Bounty and good Will, to bestow the thing desired upon the Humble: Hence God's grants are said to be gracious Ones. Psal. 119. 29.

5. I will add, That to grant, is sometimes taken for giving one Authority or Power to do, or possess, or enjoy such and such Priviledges; and so it may be taken here: For the Righteous has a Right to a Power, to enjoy the things bestowed on them by their God. Ezra 3. 7.

SO then, to grant is to give, to accomplish, even of free Grace, The desires of the Righteous. 75.

1. This is acknowledged by David, where he saith to God, Thou hast given him his Hearts desire, and hast not withholden the Requests of his Lips. Psal. 21. 2.

2. And this is promised unto all that Delight themselves in God; Delight thy self in the Lord and he shall give thee the desire of thy Heart. And again, Psal. 37. 4.

3. He will fulfil the desires of them that fear him; he also will hear their Cry and will save them. Psal. 145. 19.

By all these places 'tis plain, that the Promise of Granting desires, is entailed to the Righteous, and also the grant to them, is an Act of Grace and Mercy.

But it also follows that tho the desires of the Righteous are not Meritorious, yet they are pleasing in his sight; and this is manifest several ways, besides the Promise of a Grant of them.

First, In that the desires of God, and the desires of the Righteous jump, or agree in one; they are of one Mind in their desires: God's desire is to the work of his Hands, and the Righteous are for surrendring that up to him.

76. 1. IN giving up the Heart unto him; My Son, says God, give me thy Heart: I lift my Heart to thee, says the righteous Man. Prov. 23. 26.

Here therefore there is an Agreement between God and the Righteous; 'tis I say, agreed on both sides, that God should have the Heart: God desires it, the righteous Man desires it; yea, he desires it with a Groan, saying, Incline my Heart unto thy Testimony; let my Heart be found in thy Statutes. Psal. 25. 1. Psal. 86. 4. Lam. 3. 41. Psal. 119. 36, 80.

2. They are also agreed about the disposing of the whole Man; God is for Body and Soul, and Spirit; and the Righteous desires that God should have it all: Hence they are said, To give themselves to the Lord; and to addict themselves to his service. 2 Cor. 8. 5. 1 Cor. 16. 15.

3. God desireth Truth in the inward Parts, that is, that Truth may be at the bottom of all; and this is the desire of the righteous Man likewise: I have hid thy Word in my Heart, said David, that I might not Sin against thee. Psal. 119. 11. Psal. 51. 6, 16.

4. They agree in the way of Justification, in the way of Sanctification, in the way of Preservation, and in the way of Glorification; to wit, which way to come at and enjoy all: Wherefore, who should hinder the righteous Man, or keep him back from enjoying the desire of his Heart?

5. They also agree about the Sanctifiing of God's Name in the World; saying, Thy Will be done on Earth as it is in Heaven: There is a great Agreement between God and the Righteous; He that is joyned to the Lord is one Spirit; no marvel then if their desires in the general, so far as the righteous Man doth know the Mind of his God, is one; consequently their desires must be granted, or God must deny himself. 1 Cor. 6. 17.

77. SECONDLY, The desires of the Righteous are the life of all their Prayers; and 'tis said the Prayer of the Upright is God's Delight.

1. Jesus Christ put a difference betwixt the Form and Spirit that is in Prayer, and intimates, the Soul of Prayer is in the desires of a Man: Therefore saith he, I say unto you what things soever you desire when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them. Mark 11. 24.

2. If a Man prays never so long, and has never so many brave Expressions in Prayer; yet God counts it Prayer no further, than there are warm and fervent desires in it after those things the Mouth maketh mention of. In Psalm 38. 9. saith David, Lord all my desires are before thee, and my groanings are not hid from thee.

3. Can you say you desire when you pray? or that your Prayers come from the Braying, Panting and Longing of your Hearts? If not, they shall not be granted; for God looks when Men are at Prayer, to see if their Heart and Spirit is in their Prayers; for he counts all other but vain Speaking. Ye shall seek me, and find me, says he, when you shall search for me with all your Heart. The People that you read of in 2 Chron. 15. are there said to do what they did, with all their Heart and with all their Soul, For they sought God with their whole desire, ver. 11, 12, 13, 14, 15. Rom. 8. 26, 27. Mat. 6. Jer. 29.

When a Man's desires put him upon Prayer, run along with him in his Prayer, break out of his Heart, and ascend up to Heaven with his Prayers, 'tis a good sign that he is a righteous Man, and that his desires shall be granted.

78. THIRDLY, By desires a righteous Man shews more of his Mind for God, than he can by any manner of ways besides; hence 'tis said, The desire of a Man is his Kindness, and that a poor Man (that is sincere in his desires) is better than (he that with his Mouth shews much Love, if he be) a Lier. Prov. 19. 22.

1. Desires, desires are copious Things; you read that a Man may enlarge his desires as Hell, that is, if they be Wicked: Yea, and a righteous Man may enlarge his desires as Heaven. Hab. 2. 5. Psal. 73. 25.

2. No Grace is so extensive as desires, desires out-go all; who Believes, as he desires to Believe? and Loves, as he desires to Love? and Fears, as he desires to Fear God's Name? Might it be as a righteous Man doth sometimes desire it should be, both with God's Church and also with his own Soul, stranger Things would be than there are; Faith and Love, and Holyness, would flourish more than it does. Oh! what does a righteous Man desire? What do you think the Prophet desired, when he said, O that thou wouldst rent the Heavens and come down? And Paul when he said, He could wish that himself were accursed from Christ, for the vehement desire that he had that the Jews might be saved? Yea, what do you think John desired, when he cryed out to Christ to come quickly? Neh. 1. 11. Isa. 64. 1. Rom. 9. 1, 2. Ch. 10. 1.

79. 3. LOVE to God, as I said, is more seen in desires, than in any Christian act: Do you think that the Woman with her two Mites, cast in all that she desired to cast into the Treasury of God? Or do you think, when David said that he had prepared for the House of God, with all his Might, that his desires stinted when his Ability was at its utmost? No, no, desires go beyond all actions: Therefore I said, it is the desires of a Man that are reckoned for his Kindness. 1 Chron. 29.

4. Kindness is that which God will not forget, I mean the Kindness which his People shew to him; especially in their desires to serve him in the the World. When Israel was come out of Egypt, you know how many stumbles they had before they got to Canaan. But for as much as they were willing, or desirous to follow God, he he passes by all their failures, saying, I remember thee (and that almost a thousand year after) Jer. 2. 2. the kindness of thy youth, the love of thine espousals, when thou wentest after me in the Wilderness in a land that was not sown: Israel was Holiness to the Lord, and the first fruits of his increase.

5. There is nothing that God likes of ours, better than he likes our true desires. For indeed, true desires, they are the Smoak of our incense, the Flower of our Graces, and the very Vital part of our new Man. They are our desires that ascend, and them that are the sweet of all the Sacrifices that we offer to God. The Man of desires is the Man of kindness.

Fourthly, Desires! True and right desires, they are they by which a Man is taken up from the ground and brought away to God in spite of all opposers. A desire will take a Man upon its back, and carry him away to God if ten thousand Men stand by and oppose it. Hence 'tis said, That through desire a Man separates himself, to wit, from what is contrary to the mind Prov. 18. of God, and so seeketh, and intermedleth with all wisdom.

1. All Convictions, Conversions, Illuminations, Favours, Tastes, Revelations, Knowledg, and Mercies will do nothing, if the Soul abides without desires. All I say, is but like rain upon Stones, or favours bestowed upon a dead Dog. Oh! But a poor Man with desires, a Man that sees but little, that knows but little, that finds in himself but little, if he has but strong desires, they will supply all. His desires take him up from his sins, from his companions, from his pleasures, and carry him away to God.

2. Suppose thou wast a Minister, and wast sent from God with a Whip whose Cords was made of the flames of Hell, thou mightest lash long enough, before thou couldest so much as drive one Man that abides without desires, to God, or to his Kingdom, by that thy so sore a Whip.

3. Suppose again that thou wast a Minister, and wast sent from God to sinners with a Crown of glory in thy Hand to offer to him that first comes to thee for it; yet none can come without desires; but desire takes the Man upon its back, and so brings him to thee.

4. Whats the reason, that Men will with mouth commend God, and commend Christ, and commend and praise both Heaven and glory, and yet all the while, flie from him, and from his Mercy, as from the worst of Enemies? why, They want good desires; their desires being mischievous, carry them another way. Thou entreatest thy Wife, thy Husband and the Son of thy Womb to fall in with thy Lord and thy Christ, but they will not. Ask them the reason why they will not, and they know none, only Isa. 53. 1, 2, 3. they have no desires. When we shall see him there is no beauty in him that we should desire him. And I am sure if they do not desire him, they can by no means be made to come to him.

But now, DESIRES! desires that are right, will carry a Man quite away to God, and to do his will, let the Work be never so hard. Take an instance or two for this.

1. You may see it in Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. The Text says plainly, They were not Heb. 11. mindful of that country from whence they came out, 8, 9, 10, through their desires of a better. 11, 12, 13 14, 15, 16.

God gave them intimation of a better Country, and their minds did cleave to it with desires of it, and what then? why they went forth, and desired to go, though they did not know whither they went. Yea, they all sojourned in the Land of promise, because 'twas but a shaddow of what was designed for them by God, and looked to by their faith, as in a strange Country; wherefore they also cast that behind their back, looking for that City that had foundation, of which mention was made before.

Had not now these Men desires that were mighty! They were their desires that thus separated them from their dearest and choice relations and enjoyments. Their desires were pitcht upon the heavenly Country, and so they broke through all difficulties for that.

2. You may see it in Moses, who had a Kingdom at his Foot, and was the alone visible Heir thereof; but desire of a better inheritance, made him refuse it, and chuse rather to take part with the People of God in their afflicted condition, than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season.

You may say, The Scripture attributes this to his faith; I answer, so it attributes to Abraham's faith, his leaving of his Country. But his Faith begat in him these desires after the Country that is above. So indeed Moses saw these things by Faith, and therefore his Faith begat in him these desires. For 'twas because of his desires that he did refuse, and did chuse, as you read. And here we may opportunely take an opportunity to touch upon the vanity of that Faith that is not breeding, and that knows not how to bring forth strong desires of enjoying what is pretended to be believed; all such Faith is false. Abrahams', Isaack's, Jacob's and Moses's, Faith bred in them desires, strong desires; yea, desires so strong, as to take them up, and to carry them after what by their Faith was made known unto them. Yea, their desires were so mightily set upon the things made known to them by their Faith, that neither difficulties, nor dangers, nor yet frowns nor flatteries could stop them from the use of all lawful attempts of enjoying what they believed was to be had, and what they desired to be possessed of.

80. 3. THE Women also that you read of, and others, that would not upon unworthy terms, accept of deliverance from torments, and sundry tryals, That they might (or because they had a Heb. 11. desire to) be made partakers of a better resurrection. 35.

And others, saith he, had trial of cruel mockings, and scourgings. Yea, moreover of bonds, and imprisonments; they were stoned, they were sawn asunder, were tempted, were slain with the Sword; they wandred about in Sheep-skins, and Goat-skins, being destitute, afflicted, tormented: Of whom the World was not worthy. They wandred in Deserts, in Mountains and Caves of the Earth.

81. 4. BUT we will come to the Lord Jesus himself. Whither did his desires bring him? whither did they carry him, and to what did they they make him stoop? For they were his desires after us, and after our good that made him humble himself to do as he did.

Song 7. 10.

What was it, think you, that made him cry out, I have a Baptizm to be Baptized with, and how am I straitned until it is accomplished. What was that Baptizm, but his death? and why did he so long for it, but of desire to do us good? Yea, the Passover being to be eaten on the Eve of his sufferings, with what desires did he desire to eat it with his Disciples?

Luk. 12. 50.

Chap. 22. 15.

Yea, his desires to suffer for his People, made him go with more strength to lay down his life for them, than they for want of them, had to go to see him suffer. And they were in the way going up to Jerusalem, he to suffer, and they to look on. And Jesus went before them, and they were amazed, and as they followed they were afraid.

Mat. 20. 17. Mark 10. 32.

I tell you, desires are strange things if they be right; they Jump with Gods mind, they are the life of Prayer; they are a Mans kindness to God, and they which will take him up from the ground and carry him away after God to do his Will, let the work be never so hard. Is it any marvel then, if the desires of the righteous are so pleasing to God as they are? and that God has so graciously promised, that the desires of the righteous shall be granted?

But we come now to the Use and Application.

First Use is a Use of Information.

82. The first Use shall be a Use of Information. You have what heard hath been said of desires, and what pleasing things right desires are unto God. But you must know, that they are the desires of his People, of the righteous that are so. No wicked mans desires are regarded.

Psal. 112. 10.

This Men must be informed of, lest their desires become a snare to their Souls. You read of a Man whose desire kills him. And why? but becaus he rests in desiring, without considering what he is, whether such a one unto whom the promise of granting desires, is made; he coveteth greedily all the day long, but to little purpose. The grant of desires, of the fulfilling of desires, is entailed to the righteous Man.

Prov. 21. 25.

There are four sorts of People that desire, that desire the kingdom of Heaven; consequently, desires have a fourfold root from whence they flow.

First, The natural Man desires to be saved, and to go to Heaven when he dies. Ask any natural Man, and he will tell you so. Besides, we see it is so with them, especially at certain seasons. As when some guilt, or conviction for sin, takes hold upon them; or when some sudden fear terrifies them; when they are afraid that the plague or pestilence will come upon them, and break up house-keeping for them; or when death has taken them by the Throat and is halling them down Stairs to the Grave. Then, O then! Lord save me, Lord have Mercy upon me; good People pray for me: Oh whither shall I go when I die, if sweet Christ has not pity for my Soul? And now the Bed shakes, and the poor Soul is as loth to go out of the body for fear the Devil should catch it, as the poor Bird is to go out of the Bush, while it sees the Hawk waits there to receive her. But the fears of the wicked they must come upon the wicked; they are the desires of the righteous that must be granted. Pray take good notice of this. And to back this with the authority of God, Consider,

1. THAT Scripture, The wicked travels with pain all his days, and the number of his years is hidden from the oppressor. A dreadful sound is in his Ears, in prosperity the destroyer shall come upon him. Trouble and anguish shall make him afraid, they shall prevail against him as a King ready to the battel. 83. Job 15. 20, 21, 22, 23, 24.

Can it be imagined that when the wicked are in this distress but that they will desire to be saved? Therefore he saith again,

2. Terrors take hold on him as waters, a tempest stealeth him away in the night. The East Wind, that blasting Wind, carrieth him away and he departeth, and as a storm hurrieth him out of (the World) his place. For God shall cast upon him and not spare; in flying, he would fain flie out of his hand. Job 27. 20, 22, 23. Isa. 65. 13. Chap. 66. 4.

Their terrors and their fears must come upon them; their desires and wishes for Salvation must not be granted. They shall call upon me, says God, but I will not answer, they shall seek me early, but shall not find me. Prov. 1. 28.

84. SECONDLY, There is the Hypocrites desire: Now his desire seems to have life and Spirit in it. Also he desires in his Youth, his health, and the like: Yet it comes to nought. You shall see him drawn to the life in Mark 10. 17. He comes running, and kneeling, and asking, and that, as I said, in Youth, and Health; and that is more than Men meerly natural do. But all to no purpose; he went as he came, without the thing desired. The conditions propounded were too hard for this Hypocrite to comply with all. v. 21, 22.

Some indeed make a great noise with their desires over some again do, but inconclusion all comes to one; they meet together there where they go, whose desires are not granted.

For what is the Hope of the Hypocrite, though he has gained to a higher Strain of desires, when God taketh away his Soul? will God hear his cry when trouble cometh upon him? Job 27. 8, 9.

Did he not, even when he desired life, yet break with God, in the day when conditions of life were propounded to him? Did he not even when he asked what good things were to be done that he might have eternal life, refuse to hear or to comply with what was propounded to him? How then can HIS desires be granted, who himself refused to have them answered?

No marvel then if he perishes like his own dung, if they that have seen him shall say they miss him among those that are to have their desires granted.

85. THIRDLY, There are the desires of the cold formal professor. The desires, I say, of him whose Religion lies in a few of the shells of Religion; even as the foolish Virgins who were content with their Lamps, but gave not heed to take Oyl in their Vessels. These I take to be those whom the wise Man calls the sloathful. The Soul of the sluggard desireth and hath nothing, but the Soul of the diligent shall be made fat. Prov. 13. 4.

The sluggard is one that comes to poverty through idleness, that contents himself with forms,

Prov. 20. forms, That will not plow in winter by reaſon of the cold; therefore ſhall he beg in harveſt, or at the day of Judgment, and have nothing.

Thus you ſee that there are many that deſire: The natural Man, the Hypocrite, the formaliſt; they all deſire. For Heaven is a brave place, no body would go to Hell. Lord, Lord, open to us, is the cry of many in this World, and will be the cry of more in the day of Judgment.

86. OF this therefore thou ſhouldſt be informed and that for theſe reaſons,

1. Becauſe ignorance of this may keep thee aſleep in ſecurity, and cauſe thee to fall under ſuch diſappointments as are the worſt and worſt to be born. For, for a Man to think to go to Heaven becauſe he deſires it, and when all is done, to fall into Hell, is a fruſtration of the moſt diſmal complection. And yet thus it will Eccl. 12. 5. be when deſires ſhall fail, when Man goes to his long home, and when the mourners go about the City.

2. Becauſe, as was ſaid before, elſe thy deſires, and that which ſhould be for thy good, will kill thee.

1. They kill thee at death, when thou ſhalt find them every one empty.

2. And at Judgment, when thou ſhalt be convinced, that thou oughteſt to go without what thou deſireſt, becauſe thou waſt not the Man to whoſe deſires the Promiſe was made, nor the Man that didſt deſire aright.

3. To be informed of this is the way to put thee upon ſuch ſenſe and ſight of thy caſe, as will make thee in earneſt betake thy ſelf in that way to him, that is acceptable, who grants the deſires of the righteous.

And then ſhalt thou be happy when thou ſhunneſt to deſire as the natural Man deſireth, as the Hypocrite deſireth, or as the formaliſt deſireth: When thou deſireſt as the righteous do, thy deſires ſhall be granted.

Second Uſe is of Examination.

87. Secondly, If this be ſo, then what cauſe haſt thou that art conſcious to thy ſelf that thou art a deſiring-Man, to examine thy ſelf, whether thou art one whoſe deſires ſhall be granted? For to what purpoſe ſhould a Man deſire, or what fruits will deſires bring him whoſe deſires ſhall not be granted? Such a Man is but like to her that longs, but loſes her longing; or like to him that looks for peace while evil overtakes him.

Thou haſt heard it over and over, that the grant of deſires belongs to the righteous: Shouldeſt thou then not enquire into thy condition, and examine thy ſelf whether thou art a righteous Man or no? The Apoſtle ſaid to the Corinthians, examin your ſelves whether you be in the faith; prove your own ſelves; know you not how that Jeſus Chriſt is in you except you be reprobates? You may be reprobates and not be aware of it, if you do not examine and prove your own ſelves.

88. 'TIS therefore for thy life, wherefore do not deceive thy ſelf.

I have given you before a deſcription of a righteous, Man, namely, that he is one made ſo of God by imputation, by an inward principle, and one that brings forth fruit to God. Now this laſt thou mayſt think thou haſt. For 'tis eaſy and common for Men to think, when they bring forth fruit to themſelves, that they bring it forth to God. Wherefore examin thy ſelf.

1. Art thou righteous? If thou ſayſt, yea. I ask, how comeſt thou righteous? If thou thinkeſt that obedience to the law of Righteouſneſs has made thee ſo, thou art utterly deceived. For he that thus ſeeks Righteouſneſs, Rom. 9. 31, 32. yet is not righteous, becauſe he cannot by ſo doing, attain that thing he ſeeketh for.

Did not I tell thee before, that a Man muſt be righteous before he doth one good work, or he can never be righteous? The Tree muſt be good firſt, even before it brings forth one good Apple.

2. Art thou righteous? In whoſe Judgment art thou righteous? Is it in the Judgment of God, or of Man? If not of God, 'tis no matter tho all the Men on Earth ſhould Juſtifie thee; thou for that art no whit the more righteous.

3. Art thou righteous in the Judgment of God? who told thee ſo, or doſt thou but dream thereof? Indeed to be righteous in Gods ſight, is that, and only that, which can ſecure a Man from wrath to come; for if God juſtifies, who Rom. 8. 33, 34. is he that condemns? And this only is the Man whoſe deſires ſhall be granted.

89. 4. But ſtill I ſay, is the queſtion, how comeſt thou to know that thou art righteous in the Judgment of God? Doſt thou know by what it is, that God makes a Man righteous? Doſt thou know where that is, by or with which, God makes a Man righteous? And alſo how God doth make a Man righteous with it? Theſe are queſtions in the anſwer of which thou muſt have ſome heavenly skill, or elſe all that thou ſayſt about thy being righteous, will ſeem without a bottom.

5. Now if thou anſwereſt; That that which makes me righteous is the obedience of Chriſt to his Father's will; that this Righteouſneſs is before the Throne of God, and that it is made mine by an act of Gods free Grace; I ſhall ask thee yet again,

6. How cameſt thou to ſee thy need of this Righteouſneſs? And by what is this Righteouſneſs by thee applied to thy ſelf? For this Righteouſneſs is beſtowed upon thoſe that ſee their need thereof.

This Righteouſneſs is the refuge whereto the Heb. 6. guilty fly for ſucker that they may be ſhelter- 16, 17, 18, ed from the wrath to come. Haſt thou then 18, 19. fled, or doſt thou indeed fly to it?

7. None flies to this Righteouſneſs for life, but thoſe who feel the ſentence of condemnation by Gods Law upon their conſcience; and that in that extremity have ſought for Righteouſneſs firſt elſe where, but cannot find it in all the World.

8. For Man, when he findeth himſelf at firſt a ſinner, doth not ſtraightway betake himſelf for Righteouſneſs to God by Chriſt; but in the firſt place, ſeeks it in the Law on Earth by labouring to yield obedience thereto, to the end he may, when he ſtands before God at death, and Judgment, have ſomething to commend him to him, and for the ſake of which he may

at least help forward his Acceptance with him.

90. 9. BUT being wearied out of this (and if God loves him, he will weary him out of it) then he looks unto Heaven, and cries to God for Righteousness; the which God shews him in his own good time, he hath reckoned to him, for the sake of Jesus Christ.

10. Now by this very discovery, the Heart is also principled with the Spirit of the Gospel; for the Spirit comes with the Gospel down from Heaven to such a one, and fills his Soul with good; by which he is capacitated to bring forth Fruit, true Fruit, which are the Fruits of Righteousness imputed, and of Righteousness infused, to the Glory and Praise of God.

11. Nor can any thing but Faith make a Man see himself thus made righteous; for this Righteousness is revealed from Faith to Faith, from the object of Faith to the Grace of Faith, by the Spirit of Faith: A faithless Man then can see this, no more than a blind Man can see Colours: nor relish this, more than a dead Man tasteth Victuals: As therefore blind Men talk of Colours, and as dead Men relish Food, so do carnal Men talk of Jesus Christ; to wit, without sense or savour; without sense of the want, or savour of the worth and goodness of him to the Soul.

12. Wherefore I say, 'tis of absolute necessity, that with thy Heart thou deal in this point, and beware of self-deceiving; for if thou fail here, thy desires will fail thee forever; For the desire of the Righteous, and that only, must be granted.

Third Use is Cautionary.

91. LET me here therefore Caution thee to beware of some things, by which else, perhaps, thou mayst deceive thy self.

1. Take heed of taking of such things for grants of desires, that accidentially fall out; accidentially I mean, as to thy desires; for 'tis possible, that that very thing that thou desirest, may come to pass in the current of Providence, not as an Answer of thy desires. Now if thou takest such things for a grant of thy desires, and consequently concludest thy self a righteous Man, how mayst thou be deceived? The Ark of God was delivered into the hand of the Philistins, which they desired; but not for the sake of their desires, but for the Sins of the Children of Israel.

The Land of Canaan was given unto Israel, not for the sake of their desires, but for the Sins of those whom God cast out before them; and to fulfil the Promise that God, before they were born, had made unto their Fathers. Deut. 9. 5, 6.

Israel was carried away Captive out of their own Land, not to fulfil the desires of their Enemies, but to punish them for their Transgressions. These, with many of smaller Importance and more Personal, might be mentioned, to shew that many things happen to us, some to our pleasing, and some to the pleasing of our Enemies; which if either we or they should count the returns of our Prayer, or the fruits of our Desires, and so draw Conclusions of our Estate to be for the future Happy, because in such things we seemed to be answered of God; we might greatly swerve in our Judgments, and become the greatest at Self-deceiving. Or shouldst thou,

2. TAKE it for granted, that what thou enjoyest thou hast it as the Fruit of thy desires; 92. yet if the things thou boasts of, are things pertaining to this Life, such may be granted thee, Psal. 145. 16. as thou art considered of God as his Creature, Psal. 147. though thy Self art far enough off from being 9. a righteous Man; Thou openest thy hand, says Psal. 104. the Psalmist, and satisfiest the desires of every 21. living thing. Again, He feeds the young Ravens Gen. 4 14. 15. that cry to him; and the young Lyons seek their Ch. 21. 17, 18. Meat from God. Cain, Ishmael, Ahab too, had in 1 Kin. 21. some things, their desires granted them of 29. God.

For if God will hear the desire of the Beast of the Field, the Fishes of the Sea, and of the Psal. 10. 3. Fowls of Heaven; no marvel if the Wicked also, may boast him of his Hearts desire.

Into whose Hand, as he saith in another Job 12. 6. place, God bringeth abundantly. Take heed therefore, these things, nor the grant of them, are any Signs that thou art a righteous Man, or that the Promise made to the Righteous in granting their desires, are accomplished upon thee.

I think a Man may say, that the Men that know not God, have a fuller grant, I mean generally, of their desires of temporal things, than has the Child of God himself; for his Portion lying in better things, his desires are answered another way.

3. TAKE heed, God grants to some Men 93. their desires in Anger, and to their Destruction. Psal. 78. 29. Jer. 42. 22.

He gave to some their own desires, but sent leanness into their Souls. All that God gives to the Sons of Men, he gives not in Mercy; he gives to some an inferiour, and to some a superiour Portion; and yet so also he answereth them in the joy of their Heart.

Some Mens Hearts are narrow upwards, and wide downwards; narrow as to God, but wide for the World; they gape for the one, but shut themselves up against the other; so as they desire, they have of what they desire; Thou fillest their Belly with thy hid Treasures, for that Psal. 17. they do desire; But as for me, said David (these 14, 15. things will not satisfie) I shall be satisfied when I awake in thy likeness.

I told you before that the Heart of a wicked Man was widest downward, but it is not so with the Righteous: Therefore the Portion of Jacob is not like them; God has given to him himself. The Temple that Ezekiel saw in the Vision, was still widest upward; it spread it self Ezek. 41. toward Heaven: So is the Church, and so is the 7. Righteous, and so are his desires.

Thy great Concern therefore is to consider, since thou art confident that God also heareth thy desires; I say, to consider, whether he answereth thee in his Anger; for if he doth so, thy desires come with a Woe: Therefore I say, look to thy self.

A full Purse and a lean Soul is a Sign of a great 94. Curse; He gave them their own desires, but sent leanness into their Soul: Take heed of that; many Men crave by their desires, as the dropsical Man craves drink; his drinking makes his Belly Belly swell big, but consumes other parts of his Body; Oh! 'tis a sad grant, when the desire is granted, only to make the Belly big, the Estate big, the Name big; when even by this bigness the Soul pines, is made to dwindle, to grow lean, and to look like an Anatomy.

95. I am perswaded that it is thus with many, who, while they were lean in Estates, had fat Souls; but the fatting of their Estates, has made their Souls, as to good, as lean as a Rake. They cannot now breath after God, they cannot now look to their Hearts; they cannot now set watch and ward over their ways; they cannot now spare time to examin who goes out, or who comes in.

They have so much their desires in things below, that they have no leisure to concern themselves with, or to look after things above; their Hearts are now as fat as Grease; their Eyes do now too much start out to be turned, and made to look inward.

Psal. 119. 70. Psal. 73. 7.

They are now become as to their best part, like the Garden of the Sloathful, all grown over with Nettles and Bryers, that cover the face thereof; or like Saul, removed from a little Estate and low Condition, to much, even worse and worse.

Men do not know what they do in desiring things of this life, things over and above what are necessary; they desire them, and they have them with a woe: Surely he shall not feel quietness in his Belly (his Belly is taken for his Conscience) he shall not save of that which he desired, (to help him in an evil day.)

Prov. 20. 17. Job 20. 20. 1 Tim. 6. 17, 18, 19.

96. I shall not here give my Caution to the Righteous, but shall reserve that for the next Use: But O that Men were as wise in judging of the answering of the desires, as they are in judging of the extravagancies of their Appetites! You shall have a Man even from experience, reclaim himself from such an excess of Eating, Drinking, Smoaking, Sleeping, Talking or pleasurable Actions, as by his experience he finds is hurtful to him (and yet all this may but hurt the Body, at least the Body directly;) but how Blind, how Unskill'd are they in the evils that attend desires? For like the Man in the Dropsie, made mention of before, they desire this World, as he doth Drink, till they desire themselves quite down to Hell. Look to it therefore and take heed; God's granting the things pertaining to this Life unto thee, doth neither prove that thou art Righteous, nor that he acts in Mercy towards thee, by giving of thee thy desires.

Fourth Use is for Encouragement.

97. IS it so? shall the desire of the Righteous be granted? Then this should encourage them that in the first place, have sought the Kingdom of God and his Sons righteousness, to go on in their desires.

God has given thee his Sons righteousness to justifie thee; he has also, because thou art a Son, sent forth the Spirit of his Son into thy Heart to sanctifie thee, and to help thee to cry unto him Father, Father; wilt thou not cry? wilt thou not desire? Thy God has bidden thee open thy Mouth, he has bid thee open it wide, and promised saying, And I will fill it: And wilt thou not desire?

Psal. 81. 12.

O! thou hast a License, a Leave, a Grant to desire; wherefore be not afraid to desire great Mercies of the God of Heaven: This was Daniel's way, and he set others to do it too.

Dan. 2. 18.

Object. But I am an unworthy Creature.

Answ. That's true; but God gives to no Man for his Worthiness, nor rejects any for their Sinfulness, that come to him sensible of the want and worth of Mercy for them. Besides, I told thee before, that the desires of a righteous Man, and the desires of his God, do jump or agree: God has a desire to thee, thou hast a desire to him; God desires Truth in the inward parts, and so dost thou with all thy Heart; God desires Mercy, and to shew it to the Needy; that's it thou also wantest, and that which thy Soul craves at his Hand.

Job 14. 15. Psal. 51. 6. Hos. 6. 6.

Seek Man, ask, knock, and do not be discouraged; The Lord grant all thy desires. Thou sayst thou art unworthy to ask the biggest things, things Spiritual and Heavenly; well, will carnal things serve thee, and answer the desires of thy Heart? Canst thou be content to be put off with a Belly well filled, and a Back well cloathed?

O H! better I never had been born.

98. See, thou wilt not ask the best, and yet canst not make shift without them; shift, no, no shift without them; I am undone without them, undone for ever and ever, sayst thou; well then desire; so I do, sayst thou: Ah but desire with more strong desires, desire with more large desires; desire Spiritual Gifts, covet them earnestly, thou hast a License too to do so, God bids thee do so; And I, says the Apostle, desire that ye faint not, That is, in the prosecution of your desires, what discouragements soever you may meet with in the way; for he hath said, The desire of the Righteous shall be granted.

1 Cor. 14. 1. Ephes. 3. 13.

Object. But I find it not so, says one, for though I have desired and desired, a thousand times upon my Knees, for something that I want, yet I have not my desire; and indeed the consideration of this, hath made me question whether I am one of those, to whom the Promise of granting of desires is made.

99. Answ. TO this Objection many things must be replyed.

1. By way of Question.

2 Then by way of Answer.

First, by way of Question; what are the things thou desirest, are they lawful or unlawful? For a Christian may desire unlawful things; as the Mother of Zebedees Children did when she came to Christ (nay her Sons themselves had their hearts therein) saying, Master, we would that thou shouldst do for us, whatsoever we shall desire.

Mat. 20. 19, 20. Mark 10. 35.

They came with a wide Mouth, but their desire was unlawful, as is evident, for that Christ would not grant it. James also himself caught those unto whom he wrote, in such a fault as this, where he says, Ye Kill, and desire to have, and cannot obtain.

Jam. 4. 2.

100. THERE are four Things that are Unlawful to be desired.

1. To

1 King 3. 11. Deut. 5. 21. Psal. 73. 3. Prov. 24. 1, 19. Jam. 4. 2, 3, 4.

1. To desire the life of thine enemy, is unlawful.

2. To desire any thing that is thy neighbours, is unlawful.

3. To desire to share in the prosperity of the wicked, is unlawful.

4. To desire Spiritual things for evil ends is unlawful.

Secondly, are they lawful things, which thou desirest? Yet the question is, are they absolutely or conditionally promised? If absolutely promised, hold on in desiring. If conditionally promised, then thou must consider,

1. Whether they are such as are essential to the wel-being of thy Soul in thy Christian course in this life.

2. Or whether they are things that are of a more inferior sort.

If they are such as are essential to the welbeing of thy Soul in thy Christian course in this World; then hold on in thy desires; and look also for the conditions that that word calls for that profereth them to thee. And if it be not possible to find them in thy self, look for them in Christ; and cry to God for them, for the Lords sake

BUT if they be of an inferior sort, and thou canst be a good Christian without them; Desire them, and yet be content to go without them; for who knows, but it may be better that thou shouldest be denied, than that thou shouldst have now a grant of some things thou desirest? And herein thou hast thy Lord for thy pattern; who, though he desired that his life might be prolonged, yet wound up that prayer with a nevertheless, not my will, but thine be done.

Mat. 26. 39, 42, Mark 14. 36.

101. BUT we will suppose, that the thing thou desirest is good, and that thy heart may be right in asking. As suppose thou desirest more Grace, or as David has it, more Truth in the inward, and hidden part. Yet there are several things for thy instruction, may be replyed to thy objection, as,

Psal. 51.

1. Thou, though thou desirest more of this, mayest not yet be so sensible of the worth of what thou askest as perhaps God will have thee be, before he granteth thy desire; sometimes Christians ask for good things without having in themselves, an estimate proportionable to the worth of what they desire; and God may hold it therefore back, to learn them to know better, the worth and greatness of that thing they ask for. The good Disciples asked they knew not what.

Mark 10. 38.

I know they asked what was unlawful, but they were ignorant of the value of that thing, and the same may be thy fault when thou askest for things most lawful, and necessary.

102. 2. Hast thou well improved what thou hast received already? Fathers will hold back more mony, when the Sons have spent that profusely which they had received before. He that is faithful in that which is least, is faithful also in much, and he that is unjust in that which is least; is unjust also in much. And if you have not been faithful in that which is another Mans, who shall give you that which is your own?

Luke 16. 10, 11, 12.

See here, an objection made against a further supply, or rather against such a supply as some would have, because they have mispent, or been unfaithful in what they have already had.

If thou therefore hast been faulty here; Go humble thy self to thy Friend, and beg pardon for thy faults that are past, when thou art desiring of him more Grace.

3. WHEN God gives to his, the grant of their desires, he doth it so, as may be best for our advantage; now there are times wherein the giving of Grace may be best to our advantage, as, 103.

1. Just before a temptation comes, then if it rains Grace on thee from Heaven, it may be most for thy advantage. This is like Gods sending of plenty in Egypt just before the years of Famine came.

2. For God to restrain that which thou desirest, even till the Spirit of prayer is in a manner spent, may be further to inform thee, that though prayer and desires are a duty, and such also to which the promise is made; yet God sees those imperfections in both thy prayers and desires, as would utterly bind his hands, did he not act toward thee nearly from motives drawn from his own Bowels and compassions, rather than from any deserving that he sees in thy prayers. Christians, even righteous Men, are apt to lean too much to their own doings; and God to wean them from them, oftimes defers to do, what they by doing expect, even until in doing, their Spirits are spent, and they as to doing can do no longer. When they that cried for water, had cried till their Spirits failed, and their tongue clave to the roof of their Mouth for Thirst; Then the Lord did hear, and then the God of Israel did give them their desire. Also when Jonas his Soul fainted under the consideration of all the evils that he had brought upon himself; then his prayer came unto God into his Holy Temple.

Isa. 41. 17, 18. Jon. 2. 7.

The righteous would be too light in asking, and would too much over prize their works, if their God should not sometimes deal in this manner with them.

3. IT is also to the advantage of the righteous that they be kept, and led in that way which will best improve Grace already received and that is, when they spin it out and use it to the utmost; when they do with it, as the Prophet did with that Meals meat that he eat under the Juniper Tree: Go in the strength of it their forty days and forty nights, even to the Mount of God. Or when they do as the Widow did, spend upon their handful of Flower in the Barrel, and upon that little Oyl in the Cruse, till God shall send more plenty. 104.

The righteous are apt to be like well fed Children, too wanton, if God should not appoint them some fasting days. Or they would be apt to cast away fragments, if God should give them every day a new Dish. So then God will grant the desires of the righteous in that way which will be most for their advantage. And that is, when they have made the best of the old store.

1 King 19. 4, 5, 6, 7, 8. Chap. 17. 9, 10, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16.

If God should give us two or three Harvests in a year, we should incline to feed our Horse and Hogs with Wheat; but being as it is, we learn better to husband the matter.

By

By this means we are also made to see, that there is vertue sufficient in our old store of Grace to keep us with God in the way of our duty, longer than we could imagin it would.

I my self have cried out, I can stand no longer, hold out no longer, without a further supply of Grace, and yet I have by my old Grace been kept even after this, Days, and Weeks, and Months in a way of waiting on God. A little true Grace will go a great way, yea, and do more wonders than we are aware of. If we have but Grace enough to keep us groaning after God, 'tis not all the World that can destroy us.

105. 4. Perhaps thou mayest be mistaken. The Grace thou prayest for, may in great measure be come unto thee. Thou hast been desiring of God, thou sayest, more Grace; but hast it not.

But how if whilst thou lookest for it to come to thee at one door, it should come to thee in at another? And that we may a little enquire into the truth of this, let us a little consider what are the effects of Grace in its coming to the Soul, and then see if it has not been coming unto thee almost ever since thou hast set upon this fresh desire after it.

1. Grace in the general effect of it, is to mend the Soul and to make it better disposed. Hence when it comes it brings convincing light along with it, by which a Man sees more of his baseness than at other times. More I say, of his inward baseness. It is through the shinings of the Spirit of Grace, that those Cobwebs and Stinks that yet remain in thee, are discovered. In thy light we shall see light. And again, whatsoever makes manifest is light. If then thou seest thy self more vile than formerly, Grace by its coming to thee, has done this for thee.

2. Grace when it comes breaks and crumbles the heart, in the sense and sight of its vileness. A Man stands amazed and confounded in himself; breaks, and falls down on his Face before God; is ashamed to lift up so much as his Face to God at the sight and apprehension of how wicked he is.

3. Grace when it comes shews to a Man more of the Holiness and Patience of God; his Holiness to make us wonder at his patience, and his patience to make us wonder at his mercy, that yet, even yet such a vile one as I am, should be admitted to breath in the land of the living, yea more, suffered to come to the Throne of Grace.

106. 4. GRACE is of a heart-humbling nature; it will make a Man count himself the most unworthy of any thing; of all Saints. Twill make a Man put all others afore him, and be glad too, if he may be one beloved, though least beloved, because most unworthy. Twill make him with gladness accept of the lowest room, as counting all Saints more worthy of exaltation than himself.

5. Grace will make a Man prize other Mens Graces and gracious actions above his own. As he thinks, every Mans Candle burns brighter than his. Every Man improves Grace better than he, every good Man does more sincerely his duty than he. And if these be not some of the effects of the renewings of Grace, I will confess I have taken my mark amiss.

6. Renewings of Grace beget renewed self-bemoanings, self-condemnations, self-abhorrences.

And say thou prayest for Communion with, and the presence of God. God can have communion with thee and grant thee his presence, and all this shall, instead of comforting of thee at present, more confound thee and make thee see thy wickedness. Isa. 6. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5.

Some People think they never have the presence, and the renewings of Gods Grace upon them, but when they are comforted, and when they are cheared up; when alas, God may be richly with them, while they cry out, by these visions my sorrows are multiplied, or, because I have seen God, I shall die. Dan 10. 8, 16. Judg. 13. 22.

And tell me now, all these things considered, has not Grace, even the Grace of God which thou hast so much desired, been coming to thee and working in thee in all these hidden methods? And so doing, has it not also accommodated thee with all the afore named conveniences? The which when thou considerest, I know thou wouldst not be without for all the good of the World. Thus therefore thy desire is accomplishing: and when 'tis accomplished, will be sweet to thy Soul. Prov. 13. 19.

5. But we will follow thee a little in the way of thy heart. Thou sayest, thou desirest and desirest Grace, yea, hast been a thousand times upon thy knees before God for more Grace, and yet thou canst not attain. 107.

I answer, 1. It may be, the Grace which thou prayest for, is worth thy being upon thy Knees yet a thousand times more. We find that usually they that go to Kings Courts for preferment, are there at great expences; yea, and wait a great while, even until they have spent their whole estates, and worn out their patience too. Yet they at last prevail, and the thing desired comes. Yea, and when it is come; it sets them up anew, and makes them better Men, though they did spend all that they had to obtain it, than ever they were before. Wait, therefore; wait, I say, on the Lord. Psal. 27. 14.

Wait therefore with David, wait patiently; bid thy Soul chear up, and wait. Blessed are all they that wait for him. Psal. 37. 7, 34. Psal. 62, 5. Isa. 30, 18.

2. Thou must consider that great Grace is reserved for great service; thou desirest abundance of Grace; thou doest well, and thou shalt have what shall qualifie and fit thee for the service, that God has for thee to do for him and for his name in the World. The Apostles themselves were to stay for great grace, until the time of their work was come. Acts 1. 4, 8. 4. 33. Chap. 4. 33.

I will not allot thy service, but assure thy self when thy desire cometh, thou wilt have occasion for it; new Work, new Tryals, new Sufferings; or something that will call for the Power and vertue of all the Grace thou shalt have to keep thy Spirit even, and thy Feet from slipping while thou art exercised in new engagements.

ASSURE thy self, Thy God will not give thee Straw, but he will expect Brick. For unto whomsoever much is given, of him shall be much required, and to whom Men have committed much, of him they will ask the more. Wherefore as thou 108. Luke 12. 48.

art busie in desiring more Grace, be also desirous, that Wisdom to manage it with faithfulness may also be granted unto thee. Thou wilt say, Grace, if I had it, will do all this for me. Twill, and will not. Twill, if thou watch and be sober; twill not if thou be fooliſh and remiſs. Men of great Grace may grow conſumptive in Grace, and idleneſs may turn him that wears a Pluſh Jacket, into Rags. David was once a Man of great Grace, but his ſin made the Grace which he had, to ſhrink up, and dwindle away, as to make him cry out, O take not thy Spirit utterly from me.

Pſal. 51. 11.
Pſal. 119. 8.

3. Or, perhaps God withholds what thou wouldſt have, that it may be the more prized by thee, when it comes. Hope deferred makes the heart ſick, but when the deſire cometh, it is a Tree of Life.

Prov. 13. 12.

4. Laſtly, but doſt thou think that thy more Grace, will exempt thee from temptations! Alaſs! The more Grace, as was hinted, the greater Trials. Thou muſt be for all that, like the Ship of which thou readeſt, ſometimes high, ſometimes low; ſometimes ſteddy, ſometimes ſtaggering, ſometimes in, and ſometimes even at the end of thy very wits. For ſo he brings us to our deſired Haven.

Pſal. 107.
Pſal. 107. 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30.

Yet Grace is the Gold and preciouſneſs of the Righteous Man; yea, and herein appears the uprightneſs of his Soul; In that though all theſe things attend the Grace of God in him, yet he chuſeth Grace here, above all, for that it makes him the more like God and his Chriſt, and for that it ſeaſons his heart beſt to his own content; and alſo for that it capacitates him to glorify God in the World.

The CONCLUSION.

109. Is it ſo, is this the ſum of all, namely, that the fears of the wicked ſhall come upon them, and that the deſire of the Righteous ſhall be granted; Then this ſhews us what is determined concerning both, concerning the wicked, that all his hopes ſhall not bring him to Heaven; and concerning the righteous, that all his fears ſhall not bring him to Hell. But what a ſad thing is it for one to be a wicked Man? nothing can help him his wickedneſs is too ſtrong for him. His own iniquity ſhall take the wicked himſelf, and he ſhall be holden in the Cords of his ſins.

Prov. 5. 22.

He may twiſt, and twine, and ſeek to work himſelf from under the ſentence paſt upon him: but all will do him no pleaſure. The wicked is driven away in his wickedneſs. But the righteous hath hope in his death.

Prov. 14. 32.

Loath he is to be righteous now; and as loath he will be to be found in his ſins at the dreadful day of doom. But ſo it muſt be. Upon the wicked God ſhall rain ſnares, Fire and Brimſtone, and a horrible burning tempeſt: this ſhall be the portion of their cup.

Pſal. 11.

Wo to the wicked, therefore: It ſhall be ill with him, for the reward of his hands ſhall be done unto him. The juſt God will recompence both the Righteous and the wicked, even according to their works. And yet for all this, the wicked will not hear. When I read Gods word and ſee how the wicked follow their ſins, yea, dance in the ways of their own deſtruction, it is aſtoniſhing to me.

Their actions declare them, though not Atheiſts in principle, yet ſuch in practice. What do all their acts declare, but this, that they either know not God, or fear not what he can do unto them?

But Oh how will they change their note when they ſee what will become of them! How wan will they look! yea, the Hair of their Heads will ſtand an end for fear. For their fear is their portion; nor can their fears, nor their prayers, nor their entreaties, nor their wiſhes, nor their repentings help them in this day.

And thus have I ſhewed you what are the deſires of the Righteous: And that the fear of the wicked ſhall come upon him, but the deſire of the Righteous ſhall be granted.

FINIS.

THE SAINTS Privilege and Profit.

By John Bunyan.

Heb. 4. 16. Let us therefore come boldly unto the Throne of Grace, that we may obtain Mercy, and find Grace to help in time of need.

1. THis Epiſtle is indicted and left to the Church by the Holy Ghoſt, to ſhew particularly, and more diſtinctly the HIGH Prieſthood of Jeſus Chriſt; and the excellent benefits that his People have thereby. In which both the excellency of his Perſon, and tranſcendent glory of his office, beyond either Prieſt, or Prieſthood of the Law, is largly ſet forth before us in Chap. 1. Chap. 2. &c.

Wherefore in order to our beneficial reading of this Epiſtle, the Spirit of God calls upon us, firſt moſt ſeriouſly to conſider what an one this excellent Perſon is. Wherefore Holy Brethren, ſaith he, you that are partakers of the Heavenly calling: conſequently you that are related to, and that are concerned in the undertaking of this Holy one, conſider the Apoſtle and Highprieſt of our profeſſion, Chriſt Jeſus. Chap 3. 1. Conſider how great, and how fit this Man is, for ſo Holy and glorious a calling. He being ſo high, as to be far above all Heavens; ſo great, as to be the Son of, and God equal with the Father. Conſider him alſo as to his humanity, how that he is really fleſh of our fleſh; ſinleſsly ſo, Sympathizingly ſo, ſo in all the compaſſions of a Man; he is touched with, compaſſioneth, pitieth, loveth, ſuckereth us and feeleth our infirmities, and maketh our caſe his own. Nay, he again from the conſideration of his greatneſs and love, puts us upon a confident reliance on his undertaking, and alſo preſſeth us to a bold approach of that Throne of Grace, where he continually abideth in the execution of his office. Seeing then, ſaith he, that we have a great High-prieſt that is paſſed into the Heavens, Jeſus the Son of God, let us hold faſt our profeſſion. For we have not an High-prieſt which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities, but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without ſin. Let us therefore come boldly to the Throne of Grace.

2. IN the words we have.

1. An exhortation.

2. An implication, that we ſhall reap a worthy benefit if we truly put the exhortation into practice.

The exhortation is, That we ſhall come boldly to the Throne of Grace, Let us therefore come boldly to the Throne of Grace. In all we have an intimation of five things.

1. That God hath more Thrones than one. Elſe the Throne of Grace need not to be ſpecified by name. Let us come to the Throne of GRACE.

2. That the godly can diſtinguiſh one Throne from another. For the Throne here is not ſet forth, by where, or what ſigns it ſhould be known; it is only propounded to us by its NAME, and ſo left for Saints to make their approach unto it. Let us come to the THRONE of Grace.

3. The third thing is, The PERSONS intended by this exhortation, let US therefore come. US; What US? or who are they that by this exhortation are called upon to come; let Us.

4. The MANNER of the coming of theſe Perſons to this Throne of Grace, and that is through the vail, boldly, confidently. Let us come BOLDLY to the Throne of Grace.

5. The motive to this exhortation, and that is twofold.

1. BECAUSE we have so great an High-priest, that cannot but be touched with the feeling of our infirmities. Let us THEREFORE come boldly to the Throne of Grace.

2. And because we are sure to speed; That we may obtain mercy and find grace, &c.

3. I shall, as God shall help me, handle these things in order.

Psal. 11.4. First, for the first, that God hath more Thrones than one. He hath a Throne in Hea-Jer. 3. 27. ven, and a Throne on earth. The Lords Throne is in Heaven, and they shall call Jerusalem the Psal. 59. Throne of the Lord. He ruleth over the Angels,
23. He ruleth in his Church. He sitteth in Jacob and ruleth to the ends of the Earth, yea, he has a Throne and Seat of Majesty among the Princes
Psal. 82.1. and great ones of the World. He ruleth or judgeth among the Gods. There is a Throne for him as a Father, and a Throne for Christ as
Rev. 3.21. a giver of reward to all faithful and overcoming Christians. To him that overcometh, I will grant to sit with me on my Throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father upon his Throne.

There is also to be a Throne of Judgment, on which God by Christ at the great and notable day shall sit to give to the whole World their last or final sentence: from which, no, not not by any means they shall never be released.
Mat. 25. 31. This Throne is made mention of in the New Testament; and is called by Christ, the Throne of his glory; and a great white Throne. And his presence when he sits upon this Throne, will be so terrible, that nothing shall be able to abide it, that is not reconciled to God by him before.

Wherefore it is not amiss that I give you this hint, because it may tend to inform unawary Christians, when they go to God, that they address not themselves to him at rovers, or at random, but that when they come to him for benefits, they direct their prayer to the Throne of Grace, or to God as considered on a Throne of Grace. For he is not to be found a God merciful and gracious, but as he is on the Throne of Grace. This is his Holy place, out of which he is terrible to the Sons of Men, and cannot be gracious unto them. For, as when he shall sit at the last day upon his Throne of Judgment, he will neither be moved with the tears or misery of the World to do any thing for them, that in the least will have a tendency to a relaxation of the least part of their sorrow, so now let Men take him where they will, or consider him as they list, he gives no Grace, no special Grace, but as considered on the Throne of Grace: wherefore they that will pray, and speed, they must come to a Throne of Grace; to a God that sitteth on a Throne of Grace. Let us therefore come boldly to the Throne of GRACE, that we may obtain, &c.

The unbeliever, the erroneous and superstitious consider not this: Wherefore they speak to God as their fancies lead them, not as the Word directs them, and therefore obtain nothing. Ask the carnal Man, to whom he prays? he will say to God. Ask him where this God is? he will say in Heaven. But ask him how, or under what notion he is to be considered there? and he will give a few generals, but cannot direct his Soul unto him as he is upon, a Throne of Grace, as the Apostle here biddeth, saying, Let us come boldly to the Throne of Grace. Wherefore they come and go, or rather go and come to no advantage at all; they find nothing but their labour or words for their pains. For the right considering of God when I go unto him, and how or where I may find him gracious and merciful, is all in all; and mercy and grace is then obtained when we come to him as sitting upon a Throne of Grace.

2. WE will therefore come to the second thing, to wit, That the godly can distinguish one Throne from another. And the reason why I so conclude, is, as I said, because the Throne here, is not set forth unto us here, by where or what signs it should be known; it is only propounded to us by its name (a Throne of Grace) and so left for Saints to make their approach thereto. Let us therefore come boldly to the Throne of Grace.

4. WE will therefore take this conclusion into two parts and consider it under this double position.

First, that there is a Throne of Grace.

Secondly, that it is the Privilege of the godly to distinguish from all other Thrones whatever, this Throne of Grace.

First, There is a Throne of Grace. This must be true, because the Text saith also it is that of which the Mercy-Seat so often made mention of in the Old Testament was a type, shadow, or figure; nor is the terms, of Seat, and Throne, of any strength, to make this supposition void. For 'tis common for the antitype to be put forth in words unto us, more glorious than is the figure, or shadow of that thing. And the reason is, for that the Heavenly things themselves are far more excellent than the shadow by which they are represented. What's a Sheep, a Bull, an Ox, or Calf, to Christ; or their blood, to the blood of Christ? What's Jerusalem that stood in Canaan to that new Jerusalem that shall come down from Heaven; or the Tabernacle made with corruptible things, to the Body of Christ, or Heaven it self? No marvel then if they be set forth unto us by words of an inferior rank; the most full and apteſt being reserved to set out the higheſt things withal.

Before I proceed to give you a more particular description of this Throne of Grace, as also how it may be known; I will a little touch upon the Terms themselves, and shew briefly what must he implyed by them.

5. FIRST, by this word Grace we are to understand Gods free sovereign good pleasure, whereby he acteth in Christ towards his People. Grace and Mercy therefore are Terms that have their distinct significations; mercy signifies pitifulness, or a running over of infinite Bowels to objects in a miserable and helpless condition. But Grace signifies that God still acts in this as a free agent, not being wrought upon by the misery of the creature, as a procuring cause; but of his own princely mind.

Was

Was there no objects of pity among those that in the old World perished by the Flood, or that in Sodom were burned with fire from Heaven? Doubtless according to our apprehension there were many: But Noah, and he only found grace in Gods eyes, not because that of himself he was better than the rest; but God acted as a gracious Prince towards him, and let him share in mercy of his own Sovereign will and pleasure. But this at first, was not so fully made manifest as it was afterwards. Wherefore the propitiatory was not called as here, A Throne of Grace, but, a Mercy-seat, albeit there was great glory in them terms also; for by, (Mercy seat) was shewed, not only that God had compassion for Men; but that also to be good, was as his continual resting place, whither he would at length retire, and where he would sit down and abide, whatever terrible or troublesome work for his Church was on the Wheel at present. For a Seat is a place of rest, yea, is prepared for that end; and in that here mercy is called that Seat, it is to shew, as I said, that whatever work is on the Wheel in the World, let it be never so dreadful and amazing, yet to Gods Church it shall end in mercy, for that that is Gods resting place. Wherefore after God had so severely threatned and punished his Church under the name of a whorish Woman, as you may read in the Prophet Ezekiel, he saith, so I will make my fury towards thee to rest, and my jealousy shall depart from thee; and I will be quiet, and will be no more angry. And again, speaking of the same People, and of the same punishments, he saith, nevertheless I will remember my covenant with thee in the days of thy Youth, and I will establish unto thee an everlasting Covenant. And again, I will establish my Covenant with thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord. That thou mayest remember, and be confounded, and never open thy Mouth any more: because of thy shame, when I am pacified towards thee for all that thou hast done, saith the Lord God. These with many more places shew that mercy is Gods Place of rest, and thither he will retire at last, and from thence will bless his Church, his People.

Ezek. 16. 12. 60. 61, 62, 63.

6. BUT yet these terms (a Throne, the Throne of Grace) doth more exceed in glory: not only because the word Grace, shews that God by all that he doth towards us in saving and forgiving, acts freely as the highest Lord and of his own good will and pleasure: but also for that he now saith, that his Grace is become a King, a Throne of Grace. A Throne is not only Seat for rest, but a place of dignity and authority. This is known to all. Wherefore by this word, a Throne, or the Throne of Grace, is intimated, that God ruleth, and governeth by his Grace. And this he can justly do. Grace reigns through Righteousness, unto eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord. So then, in that here is mention made of a Throne of Grace, it sheweth that Sin, and Satan, and Death and Hell must needs be subdued. For these last mentioned are but weakness and destruction; but Grace is life, and the absolute Sovereign over all these to the ruling of them utterly down. A Throne of Grace. By this then, God plainly declareth that he is resolved this way to rule, and that he pointeth at sin as his deadly foe: and if so, then where sin abounded grace must much more abound. For it is the wisdom and discretion of all that rule, to fortify themselves against them that rebel against them, what they can. Wherefore, he saith, again, sin shall not have dominion over you, for you are not under the Law, but under Grace. Sin seeks for the dominion, and Grace seeks for the dominion: but sin shall not rule, because it has no Throne in the Church, among the godly. Grace is King. Grace has the Throne, and the People of God are not under the dominion of sin, but of the Grace of God, the which they are here implicitly bid to acknowledge, in that they are bid to come boldly to it for help. That we may obtain mercy and find Grace to help: to help in time of need. For as from the hand and Power of the King, comes help and sucker to the subject, when assaulted by an Enemy: so from the Throne of Grace, or from Grace, as it Reigns, comes the help and health of Gods People. Hence it is said again, A glorious high Throne from the beginning is the place of our sanctuary. Here then the Saints take shelter from the roaring of the Devil, from the rageing of their lusts, and from the fury of the wicked. That also is a very notable place, He will subdue our iniquities, and thou wilt cast all our sins into the depth of the Sea. He speaks here of God as solacing himself in mercy, and as delighting of himself in the Salvation of his People, and that without comparison. Who is a God like unto thee that pardoneth iniquity, and passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage? he retaineth not his anger for ever, because he delighteth in mercy. Thus is mercy and grace got into the Throne, reigns, and will assuredly conquer all. Yea, will conquer and that with a shout, mercy rejoyceth against Judgment. Yea, glorieth when it getteth the victory of sin, and subdueth the sinner unto God and to its own Salvation, as is yet more fully shewed in the parable of the prodigal Son. But this briefly to shew you something of the nature of the Terms, and what must necessarily be implied thereby.

7. WE will in the next place, shew what is to be inferred from hence. And,

First, To be sure this is inferred, That Converted Men are not every way, or in every sense free from the being of sin. For were they, they need not betake themselves to a Throne of Grace for help; when it saith there is grace in God, it inferreth that there is sin in the godly; and when it saith, Grace reigns; as upon a Throne, &c. It implies that sin would ascend the Throne, would reign, and would have the dominion over the Children of God. This also is manifest, when he saith, Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body, that you should obey it in the lusts thereof. And the only way to prevent it, is to apply our selves, as by the Text we are directed, to the Throne of Grace for help against it.

Rom. 6. 12.

Secondly, the Text implies that at certain times, the most godly Man in the World may be hard put to it, by the sin that dwelleth in him; yea, so hard put to it, as that there can be no ways to save himself from a fall, but by im-

imploring Heaven, and the Throne of Grace
2 Sam. 12. Luke 22. 31. for Help. This is called the needy time, the time when the wayfaring Man that knocked at Davids door shall knock at ours: or when we are got into the sieve into which Satan did get Peter; or when those Fists are about our Ears that were about Pauls; and when that Thorn
2 Cor. 12. 7, 8. pricks us that Paul said was in his flesh. But why, or how comes it to pass that the godly are so hard put to it at these times, but because there is in them, that is, in their flesh, no good thing but consequently all aptness to close in with the Devil and his suggestions to the overthrow of the Soul?

But now here we are presented with a Throne of Grace, unto which, as David says, we must Psal. 71. 3. continually resort, and that's the way to obtain relief, and to find help in time of need.

8. THIRDLY, as Christians are sometimes in eminent dangers of falling, so sometimes it is so that they are fallen, are down, down dreadfully, and can by no means lift up themselves. And this happeneth unto them because they have been remiss as to the conscionable performance of what by this exhortation they are enjoyned to. They have not bin been constant supplicants at this Throne, for preserving Grace; for had they, they should, as the Text suggests, most certainly have kept from such a fall; help should have bin been granted them in their needfull time. But that is it of which such are guilty,
Isa. 43. 22, 28. which is written in the Prophet Isaiah, But thou hast not called upon me O Jacob, but thou hast been weary of me, O Israel. Therefore thou art profaned, therefore thou art given to reproaches.

Now as they which are falling, are kept from coming down, by coming to this Throne of Grace: so those that are fallen, must rise, by the Scepter of love extended to them from thence. Men may fall by sin, but cannot raise up themselves without the help of Grace.

Wherefore it is worthy of our enquiry after a more thorough knowledge of this Throne of Grace, whence as we may well perceive, our help comes, and by what comes from thence we are made to stand.

I therefore come now to a more particular description of this Throne of Grace, and to shew how the godly know, or may know it, from other Thrones of God.

9. FIRST then, this Throne of Grace is the Humanity or Heart and Soul of Jesus Christ, IN which God sits and resteth for ever, in love towards them that believe in him: For as much as Christ did by the body of his flesh,
Isa. 22. 22, 23. when here, reconcile them unto the Father. The key of David, saith God, I will lay upon his Shoulder: so he shall open and none shall shut, and he shall shut and none shall open. And I will fasten him as a nail in a sure place, and he shall be for a glorious Throne to his Fathers House. For a glorious Throne to his Fathers House, that is, for his Fathers House to come to their Father by, for that they shall always find him thereon,
2 Cor. 5. 19, 20. or as another Scripture saith, in him, reconciling them unto him, not imputing to them their trespasses and sins. Nor is it possible that we lay aside the humane nature of Christ, for us to find any such thing, as a Throne of Grace: either in earth or Heaven, for that then nothing can be found to be the rest of God. This Mat. 3. 17. is my well beloved Son in whom I am well pleased, is Gods one language, but there is none other of whom he hath so said. Wherefore he resteth in him towards us, and in him only. Besides, Grace cannot be extended towards us but in a Gen. 3. 24. way of Justice. For that the law, and our sin, obstructeth another way; but lay the humane nature of Christ aside, and where will you find THAT that shall become such a Sacrifice to Justice for the sin of Men, as that God for the sake of that shall both forgive, and cause that Grace forever should reign towards us in such a way? It reigns through Rom. 5. 21. Righteousness, or Justice, by Jesus Christ, and no way else. Christ Jesus therefore is this Throne of Grace, or him, or that by which Grace reigns towards the Children of God.

That Scripture also gives us a little light herein. And I beheld, and lo in the midst of Revel. 5. 6. the Throne, &c. stood a lamb as it had been slain. This is to shew the cause why Grace is so freely let out to us, even for that there stands there in the midst of the Throne and in the midst of the Elders, a Lamb as it had been slain, or as it was made a Sacrifice for our sin; for as a slain Lamb he now lives in the midst of the Throne, and is the meritorious cause of all the Grace that we enjoy. And though it seems by this Text, that the Throne is one thing, and the Lamb another: yet the Lamb of God is the Throne, though not as a Lamb or Sacrifice, but as one that by his Sacrifice has made way for Grace to run like a River into the World. The Son of God, Jesus Christ, is ALL; he is the Throne, the Altar, the Priest, the Sacrifice, and all; but he is the Throne, the Priest, the Altar, and the Sacrifice under divers considerations. He is not the Throne, as he is the Priest; he is not the Priest, as he is the Sacrifice; he is not the Sacrifice, as he is the Altar: yet is truly all these; yea, there is no Throne of Grace, no High-priest, no propitiatory Sacrifice, &c. but he; of all which we may yet speak further before we conclude this Treatise.

I conclude then, that Christ Jesus in his humane nature is this Throne of Grace: in his humane nature, I say he has by that compleatly accomplished all things necessary for the making way for Grace to be extended to Men: and that that is not only Gods place of rest, but that by, and from which, as upon a glorious Throne, his Grace shall reign over Devil, Death, Sin, Hell, and the Grave for ever.

This humane nature of Christ is also called the tabernacle of God, for the fulness of the Godhead dwells in it bodily. It is Gods habitation, his dwelling place, his Chear and Throne of State. He doth all in, and by it, and without it he doth not any thing. But to pass this, let us come to the next thing.

SECONDLY, we will now come to dis- 10.
course of the placing of this Throne of Grace, or to discover where it is erected. And for this we must repair to the Type; which as was said Heb. 9. 4, 5. before, is called the Mercy-seat. The which we find, not in the outward Court, nor yet within within the first vail, which ſignifies, not in the World, nor in the Church on earth: but in the Holy of the Holies, or after the ſecond vail, the fleſh of Chriſt. There then is this Throne of God, this Throne of Grace, and no where here below. And for as much as it is called the Throne of God, of Grace, and is there; it ſignifieth, that it is the higheſt, and moſt honourable. Hence he is ſaid to be far above all Heavens, and to have a name above every name.

Wherefore he that will come to this Throne of Grace, muſt know what manner of coming it is by which he muſt approach it, and that is, not perſonally, but by runnings out of heart; not by himſelf, but by his Prieſt, his Highprieſt; for ſo it was in the Type. Into the ſecond, where the Mercy-ſeat was, went the Highprieſt alone, that is, perſonally, and the People by him, as he made interceſſion for them.

This then muſt be done by thoſe that will approach this Throne of Grace: They muſt go to God, as he is inthroned IN Chriſt, BY Chriſt as he is the Highprieſt of his Church: and they muſt go to him, in the Holieſt, by him.

But again, as this Throne of Grace is in the Holieſt, not in the World, not in the Church on Earth; ſo it is in this Holieſt, ſet up above the Ark of the teſtimony: for ſo was the Mercy-ſeat; it was ſet up in the moſt holy place above the Ark of the teſtimony. The Ark of the teſtimony, what was that? why it was the place of the Law, the Ark in which it was kept; the teſtimony was the Law, the Ark was prepared to put that in. This Ark in which was put this Law, was ſet up in the Holieſt, and the Mercy-ſeat was ſet above it; for ſo was Moſes commanded to place them, Thou ſhalt make an Ark, ſaith God, and thou ſhalt make a Mercy-ſeat: the Ark ſhall be called the Ark of the teſtimony, and there thou ſhalt put the teſtimony which I give thee (that is, the Law) and thou ſhalt put the Mercy-ſeat above upon the Ark, and there will I meet with thee, from above the Mercy-ſeat between the two Cherubims which are upon, that is, above the Ark of the teſtimony, ſhadowing the Mercy-ſeat.

Thus then were things of old ordained in the Type, by which we gather what is now to be minded in our worſhiping of God: There was an Ark made, and the two Tables of ſtone, in which the Law was writ, was put therein. This Ark with theſe two Tables were put into the Holieſt, and this Mercy-ſeat was ſet above it. The Holy Ghoſt in my mind, thus ſignifying, that Grace ſits upon a Throne, that is higher than the Law, above the Law, and that Grace therefore is to rule before the Law, and notwithſtanding all the ſentence of the Law, for it ſitteth, I ſay, upon a Throne, but the Law ſits on none; a Throne, I ſay, which the Law inſtead of accuſing, juſtifieth & approveth. For although it condemneth all Men, yet it excepteth Chriſt, who in his Manhood is this Throne of Grace. Him, I ſay, it condemneth not, but approveth, and liketh well of all his doings; yea, it granteth him, as here we ſee, as a Throne of Grace, to be exalted above it ſelf; yea, it cannot but ſo do, becauſe by wiſdom and Holineſs it ſelf, which is alſo the Lord of the Law, it is appointed ſo to do. Here then is the Throne of God, the Throne of Grace, namely above the Ark of the Teſtimony; on this God and his Grace, ſits, reigns, and gives leave to ſinners to approach his preſence for Grace and Mercy. He gives, I ſay, for thoſe ſinners ſo to do, that have waſhed before in the brazen Laver that is prepared to waſh in firſt, of which we may ſpeak more anon.

NOW behold the wiſdom of God in his thus ordaining of things, in his placing, in the firſt place the Law, and Chriſt the Ark of the teſtimony, and the Mercy-ſeat, or Throne of Grace, ſo nigh together; for doubtleſs twas wiſdom that thus ordained them, and it might ſo ordain for theſe reaſons. II.

1. That we that approach the Throne of Grace, might when we come there, be made ſtill to remember that we are ſinners (for by the Law is the knowledge of ſin) and behold juſt before us, is this Ark in which are the two Tables that condemn all fleſh. Yea, we muſt look that way, if we look at all; for juſt above it is the Mercy-ſeat, or Throne of Grace. So then here is a Memento for them that come to God, and to his Throne of Grace for Mercy, to wit, The Law, by which they are afreſh put in remembrance of themſelves, their ſins, and what need they have of freſh ſupplies of Grace. I read that the Laver of Braſs and the Foot of it, was made of the Looking-glaſſes of the Women that aſſembled at the door of the Tabernacle, methinks to ſignify, that Men might ſee their Smyrches when they came to waſh; ſo here, you ſee, the Law is placed even with the Mercy-ſeat (only that ſtood above) whereby thoſe that come to the Throne of Grace for Mercy might alſo yet more be put in mind that they are ſinners. Rom. 3. 20. Exod. 28. 8.

2. This alſo tendeth to ſet an edge upon Prayer, and to make us more fervent in Spirit when we come to the Throne of Grace. Should a King ordain that the Ax and Halter ſhould be before all thoſe that ſupplicate him for mercy; it would put yet an edge upon all their petitions for his Grace, and make them yet the more humbly and fervently implore his Majeſty for favour.

But behold, the Mercy-ſeat ſtands ABOVE, is ſet up above the Ark and Teſtimony that is in it. Here therefore we have incouragement to look for good. For obſerve, though here is the Law, and that too in the Holieſt of all, whether we go; yet above it is the Mercy-ſeat and Throne of Grace Triumphant, unto which we ſhould look, and to which we ſhould direct our Prayers. Let us therefore come boldly, to the Throne of Grace, notwithſtanding the Ark and Teſtimony is by; for the Law cannot hurt us when Grace is ſo nigh; beſides, God is now not in the Law, but upon the Throne of Grace that is above it, to give forth pardons, and Grace and helps at a time of need.

This then may ſerve to inform ſome, whereabout they are, when they are in their Cloſets, and at Prayer: Art thou moſt dejected when thou art at Prayer? Hear me, thou art not far from the Throne of Grace; for thy dejection proceedeth from thy looking into the Ark, into which God hath ordained, that whoſoever looks ſhall die. Now if thou art indeed ſo near 1 Sam. 6. 19.

as to see thy sins by thy reading of thy self by the Tables in the Ark, cast but up thine Eyes a little higher, and behold, there is the Mercy seat and Throne of Grace to which thou wouldest come, and by which thou must be saved. When David came to pray to God, Psal. 5. 3. he said, he would direct his prayer to God, and would look up.

As who should say, when I pray, I will say to my prayers, O my Prayers! mount up, stay not at the Ark of the Testimony, for there is the Law and condemnation; but fore aloft to the Throne that stands above, for there is God, and there is Grace displayed, and there thou mayest obtain what is necessary to help in time of need.

12. SOME indeed there be that know not what these things mean: they never read their sin nor condemnation for it, when they are upon their Knees at their devotion, and so are neither dejected at the sight of what they are, nor driven with sense of things to look higher for help at need; for need, indeed, they see none. Of such I shall say, they are not concerned in our Text, nor can they come hither, before they have been prepared so to do, as may appear before we come to an end.

And thus have I shewed you what this Throne of Grace is, and where it stands: And now I shall come to shew you how you shall find it, and know when you are come to it by several other things.

Rev. 4. 1, 2, 3. First then, about the Throne of Grace there is a Rain-bow, in sight like unto an Emerald. This was the first sight that John saw after he had received his Epistles for the seven Churches. Before he received them, he had the great vision of his Lord, and heard him say to him,
*Chap. 1. 17, 18. I am he that was dead and am alive, or that liveth and was dead, and behold I am alive, for ever more, and have the Keys of Hell and of death. And a good preparation it was for a work of that nature that now he has called unto; to wit, that he might the more warmly and affectionately and confidently attest the truth which his Lord had now for him to testify to them.

So here, before he entreth upon his prophecy of things to come, he hears a first voice, and sees a first sight. The first voice that he heard, was come up hither, and the first sight that he saw, was a Throne with a Rainbow round about it. And immediately, saith he, I was in the Spirit; and behold, a Throne was set in Heaven, and one sat upon the Throne. And he that sat was to look upon like a Jasper, and a Sardin-stone, and there was a Rainbow round about the Throne.

The first time that we find in Gods Word, mention made of a Rainbow, we read also of its Spiritual signification, to wit, that it was
Gen. 9. 8, 18. a token of the firmness of the Covenant that God made with Noah, as touching his not drowning the Earth any more with the waters of a Flood. I do set, saith he, my Bow in the
ver. 13. Cloud, and it shall be a token of a Covenant between me and the earth. And it shall come to pass when I bring a Cloud over the earth, that the Bow shall be seen in the Cloud. And I will remember my Covenant which is between me and you, and every living creature of all flesh; and the waters shall no more become a Flood to destroy all flesh.

The first use therefore of the Rain-bow, it was 13. to be a token of a Covenant of mercy, and kindness to the World; but that was not the utmost end thereof. For that Covenant was but a shadow of the Covenant of Grace which God hath made with his elect in Christ, and that Bow but a shadow of the token of the permanency and lastingness of that Covenant. Wherefore the next time we read of the Rainbow, is in the first of Ezekiel, and there we read of it, ver. 28.
only with reference to the excellencies of its colour: For that it is there said to be exactly like the colour of the glory of the Man that the Prophet there saw, as sitting upon a Throne. Zech. 6. 13.
The glory, that is, the Priestly Robes, for he is a Priest upon the Throne, and his Robes become his glory and beauty. His ROBES, what Exod. 28. 1, 2. is, or are they, but his blessed Righteousness Ezek. 16. 8.
with the Skirts of which he covereth the sinful nakedness of his People, and with the Isa. 61. 10.
perfection of which he decketh and adorneth them as a Bride adorneth her self with Jewels.

Now here again, in the third place, we find a Rainbow; a Rainbow round about the Throne; Round about the Throne of Grace. A Rainbow, that is, a token of the Covenant, a token of the Covenant of Grace in its lastingness, and that token is the appearance of the Man Christ. The appearance, that is, his Robes, his Righte- Ezek. 1.
ousness, from the appearance of his loins even 27.
upwards, and from the appearance of his loyns even downwards, even down to the Foot, as you Rev. 1. 13.
have it in the Book of the Revelations. As the appearance of the Bow that is in the Cloud in the day of Rain: so was the appearance of the bright- Ezek. 1.
ness round about: this was the appearance of the 28.
likeness of the glory of the Lord, &c.

14. THE sum then is, that by the Rainbow round about the Throne of Grace upon which God sitteth to hear and answer the petitions of his People, we are to understand the obediential Righteousness of Jesus Christ, which in the days of his flesh he wrought out and accomplished for his People; by which Gods Justice is satisfied and their persons Justified and they so made acceptable to him. This Righteousness, that shines in Gods Eyes, more glorious than the Rainbow in the Cloud doth in ours, saith John, is round about the Throne. But for what purpose? Why, to be looked upon. But who must look upon it? why God and his People; the People when they come to pray, and God when he is about to hear and give. And the Bow shall be in the Cloud, says God, and I Gen. 9. will look upon it; that I may remember the ever- 17.
lasting Covenant between God and every living creature of all flesh that is upon the Earth.

And I say, as the Bow is for God to look on, so it is also for our sight to behold. A Rainbow round about the Throne, in sight; in whose sight? in John's, and his companions, like unto an Emerald.

We read of Solomon's great Throne of Ivory, that though there was not its like in any King- 1 Kin.
dom, yet he was not willing that the Bow of it 18, 19.
should stand before him. It was round behind. Oh but, Gods Throne has the Bow before, even round about, to view, to look upon in sight. Solomon's was but a shadow, and therefore fit to be put behind: But this is the sum

and

and ſubſtance, and therefore fit to be before, in view, in ſight for God and his People to behold.

Thus you ſee that a Rain-bow is round about the Throne of Grace, and what this Rain-bow is. Look then when thou goeſt to Prayer, for the Throne, and that thou mayeſt not be deceived with a fancy, look for the Rain-bow too. The Rain-bow, that is, as I have ſaid, the perſonal performances of Chriſt thy Saviour for thee. Look, I ſay, for that, it is his Righteouſneſs; the token of the everlaſtingneſs of the Covenant of Grace; the object of Gods delight, and muſt be the matter of the Juſtification of thy Perſon and performances before God. God looks at it, look thou at it, and at
74. it only. For in Heaven or Earth, if that be caſt away, there it nothing to be found that can pleaſe God or juſtify thee. If it be ſaid, Faith pleaſes God. I anſwer, Faith is a relative Grace; take then the relative away, which, as to Juſtification, is this ſpangling Robe, this Rain-bow, this Righteouſneſs of Chriſt, and Faith dies and becomes as to what we now treat of, extinct and quenched as Tow.

75. AND a very fit emblem the Rain-bow is of the Righteouſneſs of Chriſt, and that in theſe particulars.

1. The Rain-bow is an effect of the Sun that ſhines in the firmament; and the Righteouſneſs by which this Throne of Grace is encompaſſed, the work of the Son of God.

2. The Rain-bow was a token that the wrath of God in ſending the Flood was appeaſed; this Righteouſneſs of Chriſt is that for the ſake of which God forgiveth us all Treſpaſſes.

3. The Rain-bow was ſet in the Cloud that the ſinful Man might look thereon and wax confident in common mercy; this Righteouſneſs is ſhewed us in the Word that we may by it believe unto ſpecial mercy.

4. The Bow is ſeen but now and then in the Cloud; Chriſts Righteouſneſs is but here and there revealed in the Word.

5. The Bow is ſeen commonly upon, or after Rain: Chriſts Righteouſneſs is apprehended by faith upon, or ſoon after the apprehenſions of wrath.

6. The Bow is ſeen ſometimes more, ſometimes leſs; and ſo is this Righteouſneſs, even according to the degree or clearneſs of the ſight of faith.

ck. 16. 7. The Bow is of that nature as to make whatbel. 1. ever you ſhall look upon through it, to be of the ſame colour of it ſelf, whether that thing be Buſh, or Man, or Beaſt. And the Righteouſneſs of Chriſt is that that makes ſinners, when God looks upon them through it, to look beautiful, and acceptable in his ſight, for we are made comely through his comelineſs and made accepted in the beloved.

One word more of the Rainbow, and then to ſome other things. As here you read that the Rainbow is round about the Throne: ſo if you read on even in the ſame place, you ſhall find the glorious effects thereof to be far more than all that I have ſaid. But,

16. SECONDLY, as the Throne of Grace is known by the Rain-bow that is round about it: ſo alſo thou ſhalt know it, by this, The High-prieſt is Continually Miniſtring before it; the High-prieſt, or Chriſt as Prieſt is there before God in his Pigh-prieſts Robes making continual interceſſion for thy acceptance there.

Now, as I ſaid before, Chriſt is Prieſt and Throne and all; Throne in one ſenſe, Prieſt in another; even as he was Prieſt, and Sacrifice, and Altar too, when he became our reconciler to God.

As a Prieſt here, he is put under the notion of an Angel, of an Angel that came and ſtood at the Altar to offer Incenſe for the Church all the time that the ſeven Angels were to ſound out with Trumpets the Alarum of Gods wrath againſt the Antichriſtian World; leſt that wrath ſhould ſwallow them up alſo. Revel. 8. 1, 2.

And, ſaith John, another Angel came and ſtood at the Altar having a Golden Cenſer; and there was given unto him much incenſe, that he ſhould offer it with the prayers of all Saints upon the Golden Altar which was before the Throne. And the ſmoak of the incenſe which came with the prayers of all Saints, aſcended up before God out of the Angels Hand. ver. 3.

Here then you have before the Throne, that is, the Throne or Mercy-ſeat, the High-prieſt; for there it was that God appointed that the Altar of incenſe, or that to burn incenſe on, ſhould be placed. This incenſe Altar in the Type, was to be over-laid with Gold; but here the Holy Ghoſt implies that it is all of Gold. This Throne then is the Mercy ſeat, or Throne of Grace, to which we are bid to come; and as you ſee, here is the Angel, the High-Prieſt with his Golden Cenſer, and his incenſe, ready to wait upon us: for ſo the Text implies, for he is there to ofter his incenſe with the prayers of all Saints that are waiting without at his time of offering incenſe within. So then, at the Throne of Grace, or before it, ſtands the High-prieſt of our propitiation Chriſt Jeſus, with his Golden Cenſer in his hand, full of incenſe, therewith to perfume the Prayers of Saints, that come thither for Grace and mercy to help in time of need. And he ſtands there, as you ſee, under the name of an Angel, for he is the Angel of Gods preſence and meſſenger of his Covenant. Exod. 30. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7. Luk. 1. 10.

But now 'tis worth our conſidering, to take notice how, or in what method the High-prieſt under the Law was to approach the Incenſe-altar. When he came to make interceſſion for the Saints before the Throne, he was to go in thither to do this work in his Robes, and ornaments; not without them, leſt he died. The principal of theſe ornaments were, a Breaſt-plate, an Ephod, a Robe, a broidered Coat, a Miter, and a Girdle. Theſe are briefly called his garments, (in Revelations the firſt) and in the general they ſhew us, that he is cloathed with Righteouſneſs, girded with Truth and faithfulneſs, (for that is the girdle of his Reins to ſtrengthen him) and that he beareth upon his heart the names of the Children of Iſrael that are Iſraelites indeed: for as on Aarons Breaſt-plate was fixed the names of the twelve Tribes of Iſrael, and he was to bear the weight of them by the ſtrength of his Shoulders, ſo are we on the heart of Chriſt. Exod. 28. ver. 4. Iſa. 11. 5. Chap. 22. 31.

Thus therefore is our High-prieſt within the Holieſt to offer Incenſe upon the golden Altar of Incenſe, that is, before the Throne. Wherefore when thou goeſt thither, even to the Throne of Grace, look for him, and be not content though thou ſhouldſt find God there, if thou findeſt there not him, (I ſuppoſe now an impoſſibility for edifications ſake) for without him nothing can be done: I ſay without him as a Prieſt. He is the Throne and without him as a Throne, God has no reſting place as to us; he is a Prieſt, and without him as ſuch, we can make no acceptable approach
1 Pet. 2. 5. Heb. 13. 15. to God. For by him, as Prieſt, our Spiritual Sacrifices are accepted. By him therefore let us offer the Sacrifice of praiſe to God continually, giving thanks and confeſſing to, and in his name.

And for our further edification herein, let us conſider that as God has choſen and made him his Throne of Grace; ſo he has ſworn that he ſhall be accepted as a Prieſt for ever there. For his natural qualifications we may ſpeak ſomething to them afterwards; in the mean time know that there is no coming to God, upon pain of death, without him.

Nor will it out of my mind, but that his wear-
Revel. 10. 1. Ezek. 1. ing the Rain-bow upon his head, doth ſomewhat belong to him as Prieſt, his Prieſtly veſtments being for glory and beauty, as afore was ſaid, compared to the colour of it. But why doth he wear the Rain-bow upon his head? but to ſhew, that the ſign, that the everlaſtingneſs of the Covenant of Grace, is only to be found in him; that he wears it as a Miter or frontlet of Gold, and can always plead it with acceptance to God, and for the ſubduing of the World and good of his People. But,

17. THIRDLY the Throne of Grace is to be known by the Sacrifice that is preſented there. The High-prieſt was not to go into the Holieſt, nor come near the Mercy-ſeat, the which as I have ſhewed you, was a Type of
Heb. 9. 7. Levit. 4. 5, 6, 7. Chap. 16. 13, 14, 15. our Throne of Grace; without blood. But into the ſecond went the High-prieſt alone once every year, not without blood, which he offered for himſelf and for the errors of the People. Yea, the Prieſt was to take of the Blood of his Sacrifice, and ſprinkle it ſeven times before the Lord, that is, before the Mercy-ſeat or Throne of Grace; and was to put ſome of the Blood upon the Horns of the Altar of Incenſe before the Lord. So then the Throne of Grace is known by the Blood that is ſprinkled thereon, and by the attonement that by it is made there. I told you before that before the Throne of Grace there is our High-prieſt, and now I tell you, there is his Sacrifice too: his Sacrifice which he there preſenteth as amends for the ſins of all ſuch as have a right to come with boldneſs to the Throne of Grace. Hence as I mentioned before, there is ſaid to be in the Revel. 5. 6. midſt of the Throne (the ſame Throne of which we have ſpoken before) a Lamb as it had been ſlain. The words are to the purpoſe, and ſignify that in the midſt of the Throne is our Sacrifice, with the very marks of his death upon him, ſhewing to God that ſiteth upon the Throne, the Holes of the Thorns, of the Nails, of the Spear; and how he was disfigured with blows and blood when at his command he gave himſelf a ranſom for his People; for it cannot be imagined that either the exaltation or glorification of the body of Jeſus Chriſt, ſhould make him forget the day in which he died the death for our ſins, ſpecially ſince that which puts worth into his whole interceſſion is the death he died, and blood he ſhed upon the croſs for our treſpaſſes. Beſides, there is no ſight more taketh the heart of God than to ſee of the travel of the Soul, and the bruiſings of the body of his Son for our tranſgreſſions. Hence it is ſaid he is in the midſt of the Throne as he died, or as he had been ſlain. It is ſaid again, The Lamb that is in the midſt of the Throne ſhall feed them. The Lamb, that is, the Son of God, as a Sacrifice ſhall be always in the midſt of the Throne to feed and comfort his People. He is the Throne, he is the Prieſt, he is the Sacrifice. But then how as a Lamb, is he in the midſt of the Throne? Why, the meaning in mine opinion is, that Chriſt as a dying, and bleeding Sacrifice, ſhall be chief in the reconciling of us to God; or that his being offered for our ſins ſhall be of great virtue when pleaded by him as Prieſt, to the obtaining of Grace, Mercy, and Glory for us. By his blood he entreth into the Holy place, by his blood he hath made an attonement for us before the Mercy-ſeat: his blood it is that ſpeaketh better for us, than the blood of Abel did for Cain; alſo it is by his blood that we have bold admittance into the Holieſt: wherefore no marvel if you find him here a Lamb, as it had been ſlain, and that in the midſt of the Throne of Grace.

Revel. 5. 17. Heb. 9. 12. Heb. 12. 24. Heb. 10. 19. 18.

WHILE thou art therefore thinking on him as he is the Throne of Grace, forget him not as he is Prieſt and Sacrifice, for as a Prieſt he makes attonement, but there is no attonement made for ſin without a Sacrifice. Now as Chriſt is a Sacrifice, ſo he is to be conſidered as paſſive or a ſufferer; as he is a Prieſt ſo he is active, or one that hath offered up himſelf: as he is an Altar, ſo he is to be conſidered as God; for in, and upon the Power of his Godhead he offered up himſelf. The Altar then was not the Croſs, as ſome have fooliſhly imagined. But as a Throne, a Throne of Grace ſo he is to be conſidered as diſtinct from theſe three things, as I alſo have hinted before.

Wouldeſt thou then know this Throne of Grace, where God ſits to hear Prayers and give Grace? then caſt the Eyes of thy Soul, about; and look till thou findeſt the Lamb there, a Lamb there as it had been ſlain: for by this thou ſhalt know thou art right. A ſlain Lamb, or a Lamb as it had been ſlain, when tis ſeen by a ſupplicant in the midſt of the Throne whither he is come for Grace, is a bleſſed ſight, a bleſſed ſight indeed, and it informs him he is where he ſhould be.

And thou muſt look for this the rather, becauſe without blood is no remiſſion. He that thinks to find Grace at Gods hand, and yet enters not into the Holieſt by the blood of Jeſus. will find himſelf miſtaken, and will find a dead inſtead of a living way. For if not any thing below, or beſides blood, can yield remiſſion on Gods part, how ſhould remiſſion be received by us without our acting faith therein? We are Juſtified by his blood,

Heb. 10. 19.

Rom.5. 6, 8,9. through Faith in his Blood. Wherefore, I say, look when thou approacheſt the Throne of Grace, that thou give diligence to ſee for the Lamb, that is, as it had been Slain, in the midſt of the Throne of Grace: And then thou wilt have, not only a ſign that thou preſenteſt thy Supplications to God, where, and as thou ſhouldſt; but there alſo wilt thou meet with Matter to break, to ſoften, to bend, to bow, and to make thy Heart as thou wouldſt have it; for if the Blood of a Goat will, as ſome ſay, diſſolve an Adamant, a Stone that is harder than Flint; ſhall not the ſight of a Lamb as it had been Slain, much more diſſolve and melt down the Spirit of that Man that is upon his Knees before the Throne of Grace for Mercy; eſpecially when he ſhall ſee, that not his Prayers, not his Tears, not his Wants, but the Blood of the Lamb has prevailed with a God of Grace, to give Mercy and Grace to an undeſerving Man? This then is the third Sign by which thou ſhalt know when thou art at the Throne of Grace; that Throne is ſprinkled with Blood, yea, in the midſt of that Throne, there is to Rev. 7.17. be ſeen to this day, a Lamb as it had been ſlain; and he is in the midſt of it, to feed thoſe that come to that Throne, and to lead them by and to living Fountains of Water. Wherefore,

19. FOURTHLY, The Throne of Grace is to be known by the Streams of Grace that continually proceed therefrom, and that like a River run themſelves out into the World. And Rev. 22.1. ſaith John, He ſhewed me a pure River of Water of Life clear as Chryſtal, proceeding out of the Throne of God and of the Lamb. Mark you, here is again a Throne, the Throne of God, which as we have ſhewed, is the human Nature of his Son; out of which, as you read, proceeds a River, a River of Water of Life clear as Chryſtal. And the joining of the Lamb alſo here with God, is to ſhew that it comes, I ſay from God, by the Lamb; by Chriſt, who as a Lamb, or Sacrifice for Sin, is the procuring cauſe of the running of this River; it proceedeth out of the Throne of God and of the Lamb. Behold therefore how carefully here the Lamb is brought in, as one from, or through whom proceeds the Water of Life to us: God is the Spring-Head; Chriſt the golden Pipe of conveyance; the Elect, the Receivers of this Water of Life: He ſaith not here, the Throne of the Lamb, but and of the Lamb, to ſhew, I ſay, that he is out of, or through whom this River of Grace ſhould come. But and if it ſhould be underſtood that it proceedeth from the Throne of the Lamb, it may be to ſhew that Chriſt alſo has Power as a Mediator, to ſend Grace like a River into the Church: And then it amounts to this, that God for Chriſt's ſake, gives this River of Grace, and that Chriſt for his Merits ſake, has Power to do ſo too. And hence is that good wiſh, ſo often mentioned in the Epi-

Rom. 1. 7. 1 Cor. 1. 3. 2 Cor. 1. 2. Gal. 1. 3. Epheſ. 1. 2. Phil. 1. 2 Col. 1. 2. 1 Theſ. 1. 1. 2 Theſ. 1. 2. 1 Tim. 1. 2. ſtles, Grace to you, and Peace from God the Father, and the Lord Jeſus Chriſt. And again, Grace be to you from God the Father, and from the Lord Jeſus Chriſt. For Chriſt has Power with the Father, to give Grace and forgiveneſs of Sins to Men: But let us come to the Terms in this Text. Here we have a Throne, a Throne of Grace; and to ſhew that this Throne is it in-deed, therefore there proceeds therefrom a River of this Grace put here under the term of Water of Life; a term fit to expreſs both the nature of Grace, and the condition of him that comes for it to the Throne of Grace.

2 Tim. 1, 2. Tit. 1. 4. Phil. 3. Joh. 5. 21; 22, 23, 26. Mark 2. 10.

'Tis called by the name of Water of Life, to ſhew what a Reviving Cordial the Grace of God in Chriſt is, ſhall be, and will be found to be, of all thoſe that by him ſhall drink thereof; It ſhall be in him, even in him that drinks it, a Well Joh. 4. 14. of Water ſpringing up unto Everlaſting Life; It will therefore beget Life and maintain it; yea, will it ſelf be a Spring of Life, in the very Heart of him that drinks it. Ah, it will be ſuch a Preſervative alſo to ſpiritual Health, as that by its vertue the Soul ſhall forever be kept, I ſay, the Soul that drinks it, from total and final Decay; it ſhall be in them a Well of living Water, ſpringing up unto Everlaſting Life.

But there is alſo by this Phraſe or Term, briefly touched the preſent State of them that ſhall come hither to drink; they are not the Healthful, but the Sick: 'Tis with the Throne of Grace, as 'tis with the Bath, and other places of Sovereign and Healing Waters, they are moſt coveted of them that are Diſeaſed, and do alſo ſhew their Vertues on thoſe that have their Health and Limbs; ſo I ſay, is the Ezek. 47. 8, 9. Throne of Grace, its Waters are for Healing, for Soul Healing, that is their Vertue. Wherefore as at thoſe Waters above mentioned, the Lame leave their Crutches, and the Sick, ſuch ſigns of their Recovery, as may be a ſign of their receiving Health and Cure there; ſo at the Throne of Grace it is where true Penitents, and thoſe that are Sick for Mercy, do leave their Sighs and Tears; And the Lamb that is in the midſt of the Throne ſhall feed them, and ſhall Rev. 7. 17. lead them unto living Fountains of Waters, and God ſhall (there) wipe away all Tears from their Eyes. Wherefore as Joſeph waſhed his Face, and dried his Tears away, when he ſaw his Brother Benjamin; ſo all God's Saints ſhall here, even at the Throne of Grace, where God's Benjamin or the Son of his right Hand is, waſh their Souls from Sorrow, and have their Tears wiped from their Eyes: Wherefore, O! thou that art diſeaſed, afflicted, and that wouldſt live, come by Jeſus to God as Merciful and Gracious, yea look for this River when thou art upon thy Knees before him, for by that thou ſhalt find whereabout is the Throne of Grace, and ſo where thou mayſt find Mercy.

But again; As that which proceeds out of this Throne of Grace, is called Water of Life, ſo it is ſaid to be a River, a River of Water of Life. This in the firſt place ſhews, that with God is plenty of Grace, even as in a River there is plenty of Water; a Pond, a Pool, a Ciſtern, will hold much, but a River will hold more; from this Throne comes Rivers and Streams of Water of Life, to ſatisfie thoſe that come for Life to the Throne of God.

21. Further, as by River is ſhewed what Abundance of Grace proceeds from God through Chriſt; ſo it ſhews the unſatiable Thirſt, and Deſire of one that comes indeed aright to the Throne of Grace for Mercy; nothing but Rivers will ſatisfie ſuch a Soul; Ponds, Pools and Ciſterns will do nothing; ſuch an one is

Job 40.23. like him of whom it is said, Behold he drinketh up a River, and hasteth not; he trusteth that he can draw up Jordan into his Mouth: This David Psal.42.1. testifies, when he saith, As the Hart panteth after the Water-brooks, so panteth my Soul after thee, O God. Hence the Invitation is proportionable, Drink abundantly, and that they that are Song 5.1. saved, are said to receive abundance of Grace; Rom.5.17. they that receive abundance of Grace, and of the Gift of Righteousness, shall reign in life by one Jesus Christ. And hence it is said again, when the Poor and Needy seek Water and there is none, and their Tongue faileth for thirst; I the Lord will hear, I the God of Israel will not forsake them: But Lord how wilt thou quench Isa. 41. 17, 18. their boundless thirst? I will open Rivers in high Places and Fountains in the midst of the Valleys; I will make the Wilderness a pool of Waters, and the dry Land Springs of Water: Behold, here is a Pool of Water as big as a Wilderness, enough one would think to satisfie any thirsty Soul: Oh but that will not do! wherefore he will open Rivers, Fountains and Springs, and all this is to quench the drought of one that thirsteth for the grace of God, that they have enough; They Psal.36.8, 9. shall be abundantly satisfied with the fatness of thy House, and thou shalt make them drink of the River of thy Pleasures, for with thee is the Fountain of Life, &c.

This abundance, the Throne of Grace yieldeth for the help and health of such as would have the Water of Life to drink, and to cure their Diseases withal; it yields a River of Water of Life.

Moreover since Grace is said here to proceed as a River from the Throne of God and of the Lamb, it is to shew the Commonness of it; Rivers you know are common in the Stream, however Judg. 3. they are at the Head: And to shew the Com- Ezek.47. 8. monness of it, the Apostle calls it the common Sal- Zech.14.8. vation; and 'tis said in Ezekiel and Zecharias, to go forth to the Desert, and into the Sea, the World, to heal the Beasts and Fish of all kinds that are there. This therefore is a Text that shews us what it is to come to a Throne, where the Token of the Covenant of Grace is, where the High Priest ministreth, and in the midst of which there is a Lamb, as it had been slain; for from thence there cometh not Drops, nor Showers, but Rivers of the Grace of God, a River of Water of Life.

22. Again, as the Grace that we here read of is said, as it comes from this Throne, to come as a River of Water of Life; so it is said to be Ezek. 34. 19. pure and clear as Chrystal; pure is set in opposition to muddy and dirty Waters, and clear is set in opposition to those Waters that are black, by reason of the cold and icyish nature of them; therefore there is conjoyned to this Job 6. 15, 16. Phrase, the word (Chrystal) which all know is clear and shining Stone. Indeed the Life and Spirit that is in this Water, will keep it from looking black and dull; and the Throne from whence it comes, will keep it from being muddy, so much as in the Streams thereof; Prov. 10. 22. The Blessing of the Lord it maketh rich, and he addeth no Sorrow with it. Indeed all the Sorrow that is mixed with our Christianity, it proceedeth as the procuring cause, from our selves, not from the Throne of Grace; for that is the place where our Tears, as was shewed you, are wiped away; and also where we hang up our Crutches: The Streams thereof are pure and clear, Psal. 46. not muddy nor frozen, but warm and delightful, and that make glad the City of God.

These words also shew us, that this Water of it self can do, without a mixture of any thing of ours: What comes from this Throne of Grace, is pure Grace and nothing else; clear Grace, free Grace, Grace that is not mixed, nor need be mixed with works of Righteousness which we have done; 'tis of it self sufficient to answer all our wants, to heal all our diseases, and to help us at a time of need.

'Tis Grace that chooses, 'tis Grace that calleth, 'tis Grace that preserveth, and 'tis Grace that brings to Glory; even the Grace that like a River of Water of Life proceedeth from this Throne: And hence it is, that from first to last, we must cry Grace, Grace, unto it.

Thus you see, what a Throne the Christian is invited to; 'tis a Throne of Grace whereon doth sit the God of all Grace; 'tis a Throne of Grace before which the Lord Jesus ministreth continually for us; 'tis a Throne of Grace sprinkled with the Blood, and in the midst of which is a Lamb as it had been slain; 'tis a Throne with a Rainbow round about it, which is the Token of the everlasting Covenant, and out of which proceeds, as here you read, a River, a pure River of Water of Life clear as Chrystal.

Look then for these signs of the Throne of Grace all you that would come to it, and rest not until by some of them, you know that you are even come to it; they are all to be seen, have you but Eyes; and the sight of them is very delectable, and has a natural Tendency in them when seen, to revive and quicken the Soul. But,

Fifthly, As the Throne of Grace is known and distinguished by the things above-named, so 23. it is by the effects which these things have wrought; There is about that Throne four and Rev. 4.4. twenty Seats, and upon the Seats, four and twenty Elders sitting, cloathed in white Rayment, and they have on their Heads Crowns of Gold.

There is no Throne that has these Signs and Effects belonging to it but this; wherefore as by these Signs so by the effects of them also, one may know which is, and so when he is indeed come to the Throne of Grace.

And a little, as we Commented upon what went before, we will also touch upon this.

1. By Seats, I understand places of Rest and Dignity; places of Rest, for that they that sit Rev. 14 on them, do rest from their Labours; and places 13. of Dignity, for that they are about the Throne; Chap. 11 And the four and twenty Elders which sat before God on their Seats, fell upon their Faces and worshiped God: And for as much as the Seats are mentioned before they are mentioned that sat thereon, it is to shew that the places were prepared before they were converted.

2. The Elders, I take to be the twelve Patriarchs and the twelve Apostles, or the first Fathers of the Churches; for they are the Elders of both the Churches, that is, both of the Jewish and Gentile Church of God; they are the Ancients, as also they are called in the Prophet Isaiah, a.24.23. Isaiah, which are in some sense the Fathers of both these Churches. These Elders are well set forth by that four and twenty, that you read of in the book of Chronicles, who had every one of them for Sons twelve in number. There therefore the four and twenty are.

Chro. 5. ver. 8. 0 ver. 31.

3. Their sitting denoteth also their abiding in the presence of God; sit thou at my right hand, was the Fathers word to the Son, and also signifieth the same.

Psal. 110.

It is then the Throne of Grace where the four and twenty Seats are, and before which the four and twenty Elders sit.

24. 4. Their white Robes are Christs Righteousness, their own good works and glory; not that their works brought them thither, for they were of themselves polluted, and were washed white in the Blood of the Lamb; but yet God will have all that his People have done in love to him, be rewarded: yea, and they shall wear their own labors, being washed as afore is hinted, as a badge of their honour, before the Throne of Grace, and this is Grace indeed. They have washed their Robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb, therefore are they before the Throne of God. They have washed as others did do before them.

ev. 7. 14, 15.

5. And they had on their heads Crowns of Gold. This denotes their victory, and also that they are Kings, and as Kings shall reign with him for ever and ever.

Rev. 5. 10.

6. But what! were they silent! did they say, did they do nothing while they sat before the Throne? yes, they were appointed to be singers there. This was signified by the four and twenty that we made mention of before, who with their Sons were instructed in the Songs of the Lord, and all that were cunning to do so then, were two hundred fourscore and eight. These were the figure of that hundred forty and four thousand redeemed from the Earth. For as the first four and twenty, and their Sons, are said to sing and to play upon Cymbals, Psalteries and Harps, and as they are there said to be instructed and cunning in the Songs of the Lord: so these that sit before the Throne, are said also to sing with Harps in their Hands, their Song before the Throne; and such Song it was, and so cunningly did they sing it, that no Man could learn it, but that hundred and forty and four thousand which were redeemed from the Earth.

Chro. 25. 6, 7.

ev. 14. 1, 3, 4.

25. Now, as I said, as he at first began with four and twenty, in David; and ended with four and twenty times twelve: so here in John, he begins with the same number, but ends with such a company that no Man could number. For, he saith, after this I looked, and lo, a great multitude which no Man could number, of all nations, and kindreds, and People, and tongues, stood before the Throne, and before the Lamb, cloathed with white Robes and Palms in their hands. And they cried with a loud voice, saying, Salvation to our God which sitteth upon the Throne, and unto the Lamb. And all the Angels stood round about the Throne and the Elders, and the four Beasts, and fell before the Throne on their Faces and worshiped God.

ev. 7. 9, 10, 11.

This numberless number seems to have got the Song by the end; for they cry aloud Salvation, Salvation to our God, and to the Lamb; which to be sure is such a Song that none can learn but them that are redeemed from the earth.

But I say, what a brave encouragement is it for one that is come for Grace to the Throne of Grace, to see so great a number already there, on their Seats, in their Robes, with their Palms in their Hands, and their Crowns upon their Heads, singing of Salvation to God, and to the Lamb!

And I say again, (and speak now to the dejected,) methinks it would be strange, O thou that art so fraid that the greatness of thy sins will be a bar unto thee, if amongst all this great number of Pipers and Harpers that are got to glory, thou canst not espie one that, when here, was as vile a sinner as thy self. Look Man, they are there for thee to view them, and for thee to take encouragement to hope when thou shalt consider what Grace and mercy has done for them. Look again, I say, now thou art upon thy Knees, and see if some that are among them has not done worse than thou hast done. And yet behold they are set down, and yet behold they have their Crowns on their Heads, their Harps in their Hands, and sing aloud of Salvation to their God and to the Lamb.

26. This then is a fifth note or sign that doth distinguish the Throne of Grace from other Thrones; there are before that to be seen for our incouragement a numberless number of People sitting and singing round about it: singing I say to God for his Grace, and to the Lamb for his Blood, by which they are secured from the wrath to come. And the four and twenty Elders fell down before the Lamb, having every one of them Harps, and Golden Vials full of odours, which are the Prayers of Saints, and they Sang a new Song, saying, thou art worthy to take the Book and to open the Seals thereof: for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us unto God by thy Blood, out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation: and hast made us to our God, Kings, and Priests, and we shall reign on the Earth. Rev. 5. 6, 7, 8, 9, 10.

Behold tempted Soul, dost thou not yet see what a Throne of Grace here is, and what multitudes are already arrived thither to give thanks unto his name, that sits thereon, and to the Lamb for ever and ever? And wilt thou hang thy Harp upon the Willows, and go drooping up and down the World, as if there was no God, no Grace, no Throne of Grace to apply thy self unto, for mercy and Grace to help in time of need? Hark! dost thou not hear them what they say? worthy, say they, is the Lamb that was slain, to receive Power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength, and honour and glory, and blessing. And every creature which is in Heaven (where they are) and on the Earth (where thou art) and under the Earth, and such as are in the Sea, and all that are therein, heard I, saying, blessing, honour, glory, and power, be to him that sitteth upon the Throne, and unto the Lamb for ever and ever.

All

27. All this is written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the Scriptures might have hope; and that the drooping ones might come boldly to the Throne of Grace, to obtain Grace and find Mercy to help in time of need.

They bleſs, they all bleſs; they thank, they all thank; and wilt thou hold thy Tongue? They have all received of his fulneſs, and Grace for Grace, and will he ſhut thee out! Or is his Grace ſo far gone, and ſo near ſpent, that now he has not enough to pardon and ſecure, and ſave one Sinner more? For Shame leave off this unbelief: Wherefore (doſt thou think) art thou told of all this, but to encourage thee to come to the Throne of Grace? And wilt thou hang back or be ſullen, becauſe thou art none of the firſt? Since he hath ſaid, The firſt ſhall be laſt, and the laſt firſt. Behold the Legions, the Thouſands, the untold and numberleſs number that ſtand before the Throne, and be bold to hope in his Mercy.

28. Sixthly, As the Throne of Grace is diſtinguiſhed from other Thrones by theſe; ſo out of this Throne proceeds Lightnings and Thundrings, Rev. 4. 5. and Voices; alſo before this Throne are ſeven Lamps of Fire burning, which are the ſeven Spirits of God. This then is another thing by which the Throne of Grace may be known as an effect of what is before. So again, Chapter Rev. 8. 5. the eighth, it is ſaid, That from the Altar of Incenſe that ſtood before the Throne, there was Voices, and Thundrings and Lightnings, and an Earthquake; all theſe then come out of the Holyeſt where the Throne is, and are inflamed by this Throne, and by him that ſits thereon.

1. Lightnings here, are to be taken for the Illuminations of the Spirit in the Goſpel; as Heb. 10. 32. Pſal. 34. 5. Pſal. 77. 18. 'tis ſaid in the Book of Pſalms, They looked to him (on the Throne) and were lightned: Or as it is ſaid in other places, The voice of thy Thunder was in the Heavens, the Lightnings lightned the World: And again, His Lightnings inlightned the World, the Earth ſaw it and trembled.

This Lightning therefore communicates Light to them that ſit in darkneſs; God, ſaith the Apoſtle, 2 Cor 4. 6. who commanded the Light to ſhine out of darkneſs, hath ſhined into our Hearts, to Act. 9. 3. give thee Light of the knowledge of the Glory of God in the face of Jeſus Chriſt. 'Twas from this Throne, that the Light came that ſtruck Paul off his Horſe, when he went to deſtroy it, and the People that profeſſed it: Theſe are thoſe Lightnings by which Sinners are made to ſee their ſad condition, and by which they are made to ſee the way out of it: Art thou then made to ſee thy condition how bad it is, and that the way out of it is by Jeſus Chriſt? (For, as I ſaid, he is the Throne of Grace) why then come orderly in the Light of theſe Convictions to the Throne from whence thy Light did come, and cry there, as Samuel did to Ely, 1 Sam. 3. 8. Here I am for thou haſt called me: Thus did Saul by the Light that made him ſee, by it he came Act. 9. 6. to Chriſt, and cry'd, Who art thou Lord, and what wouldſt thou have me to do? And is it not an Incouragement to thee to come to him, when he lights thy Candle that thou mightſt ſee the way, yea when he doth it on purpoſe that thou mightſt come to him? He gives Light to them that ſit in darkneſs, and in the Shadow of Death, (what do to?) to guide our Feet in the way of Peace.

This Interpretation of this place, ſeems to me moſt to Cohere with what went before; for firſt you have here a Throne, and one ſitting on it; then you have the Elders, and in them preſented to you the whole Church, ſitting round about the Throne; then you have in the Words laſt read unto you, a Diſcourſe how they came thither, and that is by the Lightnings, Thundrings and Voices that proceed out of the Throne.

2. As you have here Lightnings, ſo thereto 29. is adjoyned Thunders; there proceeded out of this Throne Lightnings and Thunders: By Thunders, I underſtand that powerful diſcovery of the Majeſty of God by the word of Truth, which ſeizeth the Heart with a reverential Dread and Awe of him; hence it is ſaid, the Pſal. 29. 4, 5, 6, 7. voice of the Lord is full of Majeſty, the voice of the Lord breaketh the Cedars; the voice, Job 40. 9. Ch. 26. 14. that is, his Thundring Voice: Canſt thou Thunder with a voice like him? And the Thunder of his Power who can underſtand? It was upon Mark 3. 16, 17. this Account that Peter, and James, and John, were called the Sons of Thunder, becauſe in the word which they were to Preach, there was to be not only Lightnings, but Thunders; not only Illuminations, but a great ſeizing of the Heart with the Dread and Majeſty of God, to the effectual turning of the Sinner to him.

Lightnings without Thunder, are in this caſe dangerous, becauſe they that receive the one without the other, are ſubject to miſcarry: They were once Enlightned, but you read of no Heb. 6. 4, 5, 6. Thunder they had, and they were ſubject to fall into an irrecoverable State. Saul had Thunder with his Lightnings to the ſhaking of his Act. 9. Chap. 2. Soul; ſo had the three thouſand; ſo had the Chap. 16. Jaylor: They that receive Light without Thun- Rom. 3. 8. der, are ſubject to turn the grace of God into Jud. 4. Wantonneſs; but they that know the Terror of 2 Cor. 5. 11. God, will perſwade Men. So then, when he decrees to give the Rain of his Grace to a Man, He makes a way for the Lightning and Thunder; Job 28. 26. not the one without the other, but the one following the other. Lightning and Thunder is made a cauſe of Rain, but Lightning alone, is not: Who hath divided a Water-courſe for the overflowing of Waters? and a way for the Light- Chap. 38. ning and Thunder to cauſe it to rain on the Earth, 25, 26. where no Man is; on the Wilderneſs wherein there is no Man?

Thus therefore you may ſee how in the dark- 33. eſt Sayings of the Holy Ghoſt, there is as great an Harmony with Truth as in the moſt plain and eaſie; there muſt be Thunder with Light, if thy Heart be well poiſed and ballanced with the fear of God: We have had great Lightnings in this Land of late years, but little Thunders; and that is one Reaſon why ſo little Grace is found where Light is, and why ſo many Profeſſors run on their Heads in ſuch a day as this is, notwithſtanding all they have ſeen.

Well then, this alſo ſhould be an help to a Soul to come to the Throne of Grace; the God of Glory has thundred, has thundred to awaken thee, as well as ſent Lightnings to give thee Light; to awaken thee to a coming to him, as well as to the enabling of thee to ſee his things; this then has come from the Throne of Grace, to make thee come hither: Wherefore obſerve where it is by theſe Signs made mention of before, and by theſe effects; and go, and come to the Throne of Grace.

3. As there proceeds from this Throne Lightnings and Thunders, ſo from hence 'tis ſaid, Voices proceed alſo; now theſe Voices may be taken for ſuch as are ſent with this Lightning and Thunder to inſtruct, or for ſuch as this Lightning and Thunder begets in our Hearts.

31. 1. It may be taken in the firſt ſenſe, for Light and Dread when it falleth from God into the Soul, is attended with a Voice or Voices of Inſtruction to the Soul, to know what to do. Act. 2. 3, 4, 5, 6, 7. Thus it was in Paul's Caſe; he had Light and Dread, and Voices for his Inſtruction; he had Lightnings and Thundrings, and Voices: Good and Upright is the Lord; therefore will he teach Pſal. 25. 8, 9. Sinners in the way: The Meek will he guide in judgment, the Meek will he teach his way.

2. Or by Voices you may underſtand, ſuch as the Lightning and Thunder begets in our Hearts; for though a Man is as mute as a Fiſh to Godward, before this Thunder and Lightning comes to him, yet after that, he is full of Voices; (and how much more numerous are the Voices, that in the whole Church on Earth are begot by theſe Lightnings and Thunders, that proceed from the Throne of Grace) their Faith has a Voice, their Repentance has a Voice, their Subjection to God's word has a Voice in it; yea, there is a Voice in their Prayers, a Voice of their Cry, a Voice in their Tears, a Voice in their Groans, in their Roarings, in their Bemoaning of themſelves, and in their Triumphs.

2 Cor. 4. 13. Ch. 7. 13. 1 Theſ. 1. 2, 3, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10. Pſal. 5. 3. Pſal. 7. 7. Pſal. 202. 5. Pſal. 43. 1. Pſal. 128. 15. Pſal. 22. 1. Jer. 31. 18.

This then is an effect of the Throne of Grace; hence it is ſaid, that they proceed from it, even the Lightning and the Thunder, and the Voices; that is, effectual Converſion to God.

It follows then, that if all theſe are with thy Soul, the operations of the Throne of Grace have been upon thee to bring thee to the Throne of Grace; firſt in thy Prayers, and then in thy Perſon: And this leads me to the next thing propounded to be ſpoken to, which is to ſhew who are the Perſons invited here to come to the Throne of Grace. Let us therefore come.

Now the Perſons here called upon to come to the Throne of Grace, are not all or every ſort of Men, but the Men that may properly be comprehended under this Word (Us) and (We) let (Us) therefore come boldly, that (We) may obtain. And they that are here put under theſe particular Terms, are expreſſed both before and after by thoſe that have Explication in them.

32. They are called.

Heb. 2. 1. 1. Such as give the more earneſt Heed to the Word which they have heard.

9, 2. They are ſuch as ſee Jeſus Crowned with Glory and Honour.

14, 3. They are called the Children.

4. They are called the Seed of Abraham. 16,

5. They are called Chriſt's Brethren. 17.

So Chapter the third, they are called Holy Brethren, and ſaid to be Partakers of the Heavenly Calling, and the People of whom it is ſaid, that Chriſt Jeſus is the Apoſtle and High-Prieſt of their Profeſſion. Ch. 8. 1, 6.

They are called Chriſt's own Houſe, and are ſaid to be Partakers of Chriſt. 14.

They are ſaid to be the Believers, thoſe that do enter in into reſt, thoſe that have Chriſt for an High-Prieſt, and with the feeling of whoſe Infirmities he is touched and ſympathizeth. Chap. 4. 3, 14, 15.

So in Chapter the ſixth, they are called Beloved and the Heirs of Promiſe; they that have fled for Refuge to lay hold on the Hope ſet before them, they are called thoſe that Hope as an Anchor, and thoſe for whom Chriſt as a Fore-runner hath entred and taken poſſeſſion of Heaven. Chap. 6. 9, 17, 18, 19, 20.

So Chapter the Seventh, they are ſaid to be ſuch as draw nigh unto God. Ch. 7. 19.

And Chapter the Eighth, they are ſaid to be ſuch with whom the New Covenant is made Chriſt. Chap. 8.

Chapter the Ninth, they are ſuch for whom Chriſt has obtained Eternal Redemption, and ſuch for whom he has entred the Holy Place. Chap. 9. 12, 24.

Chapter the Tenth, they are ſuch as are ſaid to be ſanctified by the will of God, ſuch as have boldneſs to enter into the Holyeſt, by the Blood of Jeſus; ſuch as draw near with a true Heart, in full aſſurance of Faith (or that have liberty to do ſo) having their Hearts ſprinkled from an evil Conſcience, and their Bodies waſhed with pure Water; they were thoſe that had ſuffered much for Chriſt in the World, and that became Companions of them that ſo were uſed. Chap. 10. 10, 19, 22, 23, 24, 25.

Yea, he tells them in the Eleventh Chapter, that they and the Patriarchs muſt be made perfect together. 33. Ch. 11. 40.

He alſo tells them in the twelfth Chapter, that already they are come to Mount Sion, to the City of the living God, the Heavenly Jeruſalem, and to an innumerable company of Angels; to the general aſſembly and Church of the firſt born which are written in Heaven, and to God the Judge of all, and to the Spirits of juſt Men made perfect, and to Jeſus the Mediator of the New Teſtament, and to the blood of ſprinkling that ſpeaketh better things than that of Abel. Chap. 12. 22, 23.

Thus you ſee what Terms, Characters, Titles, and Privileges they are inveſted with, that are here exhorted to come to the Throne of Grace: from whence we may conclude that every one is not capable of coming thither, no not every one that is under convictions, and that hath a ſenſe of the need of, and a deſire after the Mercy of God in Chriſt.

Wherefore, we will come in the next place to ſhew the orderly coming of a Soul to the Throne of Grace for Mercy: and for this we muſt firſt apply our ſelves to the Old Teſtament, where we have the ſhadow of what we now are about to enter upon the diſcourſe of, and then we will come to the Antitype where yet the thing is far more explained.

Firſt

Exod. 12. 43,44,45. Ezek. 44. 6, 7, 8, 9. Exod. 12. 48, 49.

First then, the Mercy-seat was for the Church, not for the World; for a Gentile could not go immediately from his natural state to the Mercy-seat by the High-priest, but must first, orderly joyn himself, or be joyned to the Church, which then consisted of the body of the Jews.

The stranger then must first be circumcised, and consequently profess Faith in the Messias to come, which was signified by his going from his Circumcision directly to the Passover, and SO orderly to other privileges, specially to this of the Mercy-seat, which the High-priest was to go but once a year into.

34. 2. The Church is again set forth unto us by Aaron and his Sons. Aaron as the head, his Sons as the members; but the Sons of Aaron were not to meddle with any of the things of the Holiest, until they had washed in a Laver.

Exod. 30. 17, 18, 19, 20, 21. Chap. 40. 30, 31, 32.

And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, thou shalt also make a Laver of Brass, and his Foot also of Brass, to wash in; and thou shalt put it between the Tabernacle of the Congregation and the Altar, and thou shalt put water therein. And Aaron and his Sons shall wash their Hands and their Feet thereat. When they go into the Tabernacle of the Congregation, they shall wash with water, that they die not; or when they come near to the Altar to minister, to burn offerings made by fire unto the Lord. So they shall wash their Hands and their Feet that they die not: and it shall be a Statute for ever unto them, even to him, and to his seed in their generations. See the Margent.

3. Nay so strict was this Law, that if any of Israel as well as the stranger were defiled

Levit. 17. 15, 16. by any dead thing, they were to wash before they partook of the Holy things, or else still to abstain; but if they did not, their sin should

Chap. 22. 4, 5, 6. remain upon them. So again, The Soul that hath touched any such uncleanness, shall be unclean until even, and shall not eat of the Holy things (much less come within the inner veil) unless he wash his flesh in water.

35. Now I would ask, what all this should signify, if a sinner, as a sinner before he washes, or is washed, may immediately go unto the Throne of Grace?

Heb. 10. 22. Yea, I ask again, why the Apostle supposes washing, as a preparation to the Hebrews entring into the Holiest, if Men may go immediately from under convictions to a Throne of Grace? For thus he says, let us draw near, the Holiest (ver. 19.) with a true heart in full assurance of faith, HAVING our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water. Let us draw near: He saith not, that we may have; but having FIRST been washed and sprinkled.

The Laver then must first be washed in, and he that washed not first there, has not right to come to the Throne of Grace; wherefore you have here also a Sea of Glass standing before

Rev. 4. 6. the Throne, to signify this thing. It stands before Throne, for them to wash in, that would indeed approach the Throne of Grace. For this Sea of Glass is the same that is shadowed forth by the Laver made mention of before, and with the brazen Sea that stood in Solomon's Temple, whereat they were to wash before they went into the Holiest. But you may ask me what the Laver or molten Sea should signify to us in the New Testament? I answer, it signifieth the word of the New Testament, which containeth the cleansing Doctrin of remission of sins by the precious blood of Jesus Christ. Wherefore we are said to be clean through the Word, through the washing of water by the word. The meaning then is, A Man must first come to Christ, as set forth in the word, which is this Sea of Glass, before he can come to Christ in Heaven, as he is the Throne of Grace. For the word I say, is this Sea of Glass that stands before the Throne, for the sinner to wash in first. Know therefore who ever thou art that art minded to be saved, thou must first begin with Christ Crucified, and with the promise of remission of sins through his Blood. Which Crucified Christ thou shalt not find in Heaven as such, for there he is alive, but thou shalt find him in the Word, for there Gal. 3. 1. he is to this day set forth in all the circumstances of his death, as crucified before our eyes. There thou shalt find THAT he died; WHEN he died; WHAT death, he died; WHY he died: and the Word open to thee to come and wash in his Blood. The Word therefore of Christ's Testament is the Laver for all New Testament Priests (and every Christian is a Priest to God) to wash in.

Joh. 15. 3. Tit. 3. 5.

36. Here therefore, thou must receive thy Justification, and that before thou goest one step further. For if thou art not Justified by his Rom. 5. 9, 10. Blood, thou wilt not be saved by his life. And the Justifying efficacy of his Blood is left behind, and is here contained in the molten Sea, or Laver, or word of Grace for thee to wash in.

Indeed there is an interceding voice in his Blood for us before the Throne of Grace, or Mercy-seat; but that is still to bring us to wash, or for them that have washed therein, as it was shed upon the Cross. We have boldness therefore to enter into the Holiest by the blood of Jesus, that is, by faith in his blood as shed without the Gate, for as his Blood was shed without the Gate, so it sanctifies the believer and makes him capable to approach the Holy of Holies. Wherefore after he had said, That he might sanctify the People with his own Blood, he suffered without the gate; let us by him therefore, that is, because we are first sanctified by faith in his Blood, offer to God the Sacrifice of praise continually, that is, the fruits of our Lips, giveing thanks in his name. Wherefore the Laver of regeneration, or Christ set forth by the Word, as Crucified is for all coming sinners to wash in, unto Justification; and the Throne of Grace is to be approached by Saints, or as sinners justified by faith in a crucified Christ; and so, as washed from sin in the Sea of his Blood, to come to the Mercy-seat.

Heb. 13. 11, 12, 13, 14, 15.

37. And it is yet far more evident; for that those that approach this Throne of Grace, they must do it through believing; for saith the Apostle, how shall they call on him, in whom they have not believed? of whom they have not heard, and in whom they have not believed? for to that purpose runs the Text.

How

Rom. 10. How then ſhall they call on him in whom they have not believed (antecedent to their calling on him) and how ſhall they believe in him, of whom they have not heard (firſt)? So then hearing, goes before believing, and believing before calling upon God, as he ſits on the Throne of Grace. Now believing, is to be according to the ſound of the beginning of the Goſpel, which preſenteth us, not firſt, with Chriſt as aſcended, but as, Chriſt dying, buried, and riſen. For I delivered unto you firſt of all, that which I alſo received; how that Chriſt died for our ſins, according to the Scriptures, and that he was buried, and that he roſe again the third day, according to the Scriptures.

I conclude then, as to this, that the order of Heaven is, that Men waſh in the Laver of regeneration, to wit, in the Blood of Chriſt, as held forth in the word of the truth of the Goſpel which is the ordinance of God; for there ſinners as ſinners, or Men as unclean may waſh, in order to their approach to God as he ſits upon the Throne of Grace.

38. And beſides, Is it poſſible that a Man that paſſeth by the doctrin of Chriſt as dead, ſhould be admitted with acceptance to a juſt and Holy God for life? or that he that ſlighteth and trampleth under foot the Blood of Chriſt as ſhed on the Croſs, ſhould be admitted to an intereſt in Chriſt as he is the Throne of Grace! it cannot be. He muſt then waſh THERE firſt, or die; let his profeſſion, or pretended faith, or Holineſs be what it will. For God ſees iniquity in all Jer. 2. 22. Men, nor can all the Niter or Sope in the World, cauſe that our iniquity ſhould not be marked before God; for without ſhedding of Heb. 9. 22. Blood, is NO remiſſion.

Nothing that polluteth, that defileth, or that is unclean, muſt enter into God's Sanctuary; much leſs, into the moſt Holy part thereof, but by their Sacrifice, by which they are purged, and for the ſake of the perfection thereof, they believing, are accepted. We have therefore Brethren, boldneſs to enter into the holieſt by the Blood of Jeſus, and no way elſe.

But this will yet be further manifeſt by what we have yet to ſay, of the manner of our approach unto the Throne of Grace.

Firſt then, we muſt approach the Throne of Grace by the ſecond veil; for the Throne of Grace is after the ſecond veil. So then, though a Man cometh into the Tabernacle, Heb. 9. 3. or Temple, which was a figure of the Church, yet if he entred but within the firſt veil, he only came, where there was no Mercy-ſeat or Throne of Grace.

39. And what is this ſecond veil, in at, or through which, as the Phraſe is, we muſt, by Blood, enter into the Holieſt? Why as to the Law, the ſecond veil did hang up between the Holy and the moſt Holy place, and it did hide what was within the Holieſt from the Eyes or ſight of thoſe that went no further than into the firſt Tabernacle. Now this ſecond veil in the Tabernacle or Temple, was a figure of the ſecond veil, that all thoſe muſt go through that will approach the Throne of Grace. And that veil is the Fleſh of Chriſt.

This is that which the Holy Apoſtle teſtifies in his exhortation, where he ſaith, we have boldneſs to enter into the Holieſt by the Blood of Jeſus, by a new and living way which he hath conſecrated for us through the veil, that is to ſay, his fleſh. The ſecond veil then, is the fleſh of Chriſt, the which, until a Man can enter or go through by his Faith, 'tis impoſſible that he ſhould come to the Holieſt where the Throne of Grace is, that is, to the Heart and Soul of Jeſus, which is the Throne. Heb. 10. 19, 20.

The Body of Chriſt is the Tabernacle of God, and ſo that in which God dwells, for the fulneſs of the Godhead dwells in him bodily. Therefore, as alſo has been hinted before, Chriſt Jeſus is the Throne of Grace. Now, ſince his fleſh is called the veil, 'tis evident, that the glory that dwells within him, to wit God reſting in him, cannot be underſtood but by them that by faith can look through, or enter through his fleſh to that glory. For the glory is within the veil; there is the Mercy-ſeat, or Throne of Grace; there ſitteth God as delighted, as at reſt, in, and with ſinners, that come to him by and through that fleſh, and the offering of it for ſin without the Gate. I am the way, ſaith Chriſt: But to what? and how? Why to the Father, through my fleſh. And having made peace through the Blood of his Croſs, by him to reconcile all things to himſelf; by him, I ſay whether they be things in Earth, or things in Heaven. And you that were ſometime alienated, and Enemies in your mind by wicked works, yet now hath he reconciled, (but how) in the body of his fleſh, (that then muſt be firſt; to what?) to preſent you Holy, and unblamable, and unreprovable in his ſight; that is, when you enter into his preſence, or approach by this fleſh, the Mercy-ſeat or the Throne of Grace. Coloſ. 2. 9. Joh. 14. 6. Coloſ. 1. 20, 11. 22.

This Therefore is the manner of our coming (if we come aright to the Throne of Grace for Mercy,) we muſt come by Blood through his fleſh, as through the veil by which, until you have entred through it, the glory of God and that he is reſolved that Grace ſhall reign, will be utterly hid from your eyes. 40.

I will not ſay, but by the notion of theſe things, Men may have their whirling fancies, and may create to themſelves, wild notions, and flattering imaginations of Chriſt, the Throne of Grace, and of glory; but the Goſpel knowledge of this, is of abſolute neceſſity to my right coming to the Throne of Grace for Mercy. I muſt come by his Blood, through his fleſh, or I cannot come at all: for here is no back door. This then is the ſum, Chriſts body is the Tabernacle, the Holieſt; thy law, ſaith he, is within my Heart, or in the midſt of my Bowels: In this Tabernacle then God ſitteth, to wit, on the Heart of Chriſt, for that is the Throne of Grace. Through this Tabernacle Men muſt enter, that is, by a Godly underſtanding of what by this Tabernacle or fleſh of Chriſt has been done to reconcile us to God that dwells in him. This is the way, all the way, for there is no way but this to come to the Throne of Grace. This is the new way, into the Heavenly Paradice (for the old way is Hedged & Ditch'd up by the Flaming Pſal. 40. 7, 8.

Gen. 3. 24. Sword of Cherubims) the new and LIVING way (for to go the other, is present death) so then, this NEW and living way which he has consecrated for us through the veil, that is to say, his flesh, is the only way into the Holiest where the Throne of Grace is.

41. Secondly, we must approa ch this Throne of Grace, as having our Hearts, first sprinkled from an evil conscience. The Priest that was the representator of all Israel, when he went into the Holiest, was not to go in, but as Exod. 29. sprinkled with Blood first. Thus it is written in the Law; not without blood; thus it is written in the Gospel. And now since by the Gos- Heb. 9.7. pel we have all admittance to enter in through the veil, by faith, we must take heed that we enter not in without Blood; for if the Blood (virtually) be not seen upon us, we die, instead of obtaining Mercy and finding the help of Grace.

This I press the oftner, because there is nothing to which we are more naturally inclined, than to forget this. Who, that understands himself, is not sensible how apt he is to forget to act Faith in the Blood of Jesus, and to get his conscience sprinkled with the virtue of that, that attempteth to approach the Throne of Grace. Yet the Scripture calls upon us to take heed Heb. 10. that we neglect not THUS to prepare our 21. selves. Chap. 9. Let us draw near with a true Heart in 14. full assurance of Faith, having our heart sprinkled from an evil conscience, (to wit with the Blood of Christ) lest we die. In the Law all the People were to be sprinkled with Blood, and 'twas necessary that the Patterns of things in the Heavens should be purified which these (that is, with the Blood of Bulls) But the Heavenly things themselves with better Sacrifices than these, (that is) with the offering of the body, and shedding of the Blood of Christ. By this then must thou be purified and sprinkled, who by Christ wouldst approach the Throne of Grace.

42. Thirdly, therefore it is added, and our bodies washed with pure water. This the Apostle taketh also out of the Law; where it was appointed, (as was shewed before,) Christ also just before he went to the Father, gave his Disciple a signification of this, saying to Joh. 13.8. Peter, and by him, to all the rest,

If I wash thee not, thou hast no part with me. This pure water is nothing but the wholsome Doctrin of the word mixed with Spirit, by which, as the Conscience was before sprinkled with Blood, the Body and outward conversation is now sanctified and made clean, now ye Joh. 15.3. are clean through the word, saith Christ, which I have spoken unto you. Hence, washing, and sanctifying, and justifying, are put together, and are said to 1 Cor. 6. come by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, 10, 11. and by the Spirit of our God. Thou must then be washed with Water and sprinkled with Blood, if thou wouldst orderly approach the Throne of Grace: if thou wouldst orderly approach it with a true Heart, in full assurance of; or if thou wouldst, as the Text biddeth thee here, to wit, come boldly to the Throne of Grace to obtain Mercy and find Grace to help in time of need.

To tell you what it is to come boldly, is one thing; and to tell you how you should come boldly, is another. Here you are bid to come boldly, and are also shewed HOW that may be done. It may be done through the Blood of sprinkling, and through the sanctifying operations of the Spirit which are here by Faith to be received. And when what can be said, shall be said to the utmost, there is no boldness, godly boldness, but by Blood; the more the Conscience is a stranger to the sprinkling of Blood, the further off it is of being rightly bold with God, at the Throne of Grace; Lev. 17. for it is the Blood that makes the attonement, 11. and that gives boldness to the Soul. It is the Heb. 10. Blood, the Power of it by Faith upon the 19. Conscience, that drives away guilt, and so fear; and consequently that begetteth boldness. Wherefore, he that will be bold with God at the Throne of Grace, must first be well acquainted with the doctrin of the Blood of Christ; namely, that it was shed, and why; and that it has made peace with God, and for who. Yea, thou must be able by Faith to bring thy self within the number of those that are made partakers of this reconciliation, before thou canst come boldly to the Throne of Grace. But,

43. 1. There is a coming to the Throne of Grace before or without THIS Boldness; but that is not the coming, to, which by these Texts we are exhorted; yet that coming be it never so deficient, if it is right, it is through some measure an inlet into the Death and Blood of Christ, and through some management, though but very little or perhaps scarce at all discerned of the Soul, to hope for Grace from the Throne; I say, it must arise, the Incouragement must, from the Cross, and from Christ as dying there. Christ himself went that way to God, and it is not possible but we must go the same way too. So then the Incouragement be it little, be it much (and it is little or much, even as the Faith is in Strength or Weakness, which apprehendeth Christ) it is according to the proportion of Faith; strong Faith gives great boldness, weak Faith doth not so, nor can it.

2. There is a sincere coming to the Throne of Grace without this boldness, even a coming in the uprightness of ones Heart without it: Hence a true Heart and full assurance, are distin- Heb. 10. guished, Let us draw near with a true Heart in 20. full assurance of Faith. Sincerity may be attended with a great deal of weakness, even as boldness may be attended with Pride; but be it what kind of coming to the Throne of Grace it will, either a coming with boldness, or with that doubting which is incident to Saints; still the cause of that coming or ground thereof, is some knowledge of Redemption by Blood, Redemption which the Soul seeth it has Faith in, or would see it has Faith in; for Christ is precious, sometimes in the sight of the Worth, sometimes in the sight of the Want, and sometimes in the sight of the Injoyment of him.

44. 3. There is an earnest coming to the Throne of Grace, even with all the desire of ones Soul: Psal 38. When David had Guilt and Trouble, and that 1, 2, 3, 4. so heavy that he knew not what to do, yet he 5, 6, 7, 8. could say, Lord, all my desire is before thee, and my

my groaning is not hid from thee. He could come earneſtly to the Throne of Grace, he could come thither with all the deſire of his Soul; but ſtill this muſt be from that knowledge that he had of the way of remiſſion of Sins by the Blood of the Son of God.

4. There is alſo a conſtant coming to the Throne of Grace; Lord, ſaid Heman, I have cryed night and day before thee, let my Prayer come before thee, incline thine Ear unto my Cry, for my Soul is full of Trouble, and my Life draweth nigh unto the Grave. Pſal. 88. 1, 2, 3.

Here you ſee is conſtant crying before the Throne of Grace, crying night and day; and yet the Man that cries, ſeems to be in a very black Cloud, and to find hard work to bear up in his Soul; yet this he had, namely, the knowledge of how God was the God of Salvation; yea, he called him his God as ſuch, though with pretty much difficulty of Spirit, to be ſure.

45. Wherefore it muſt not be concluded that they come not at all to the Throne of Grace, that come not with a full aſſurance; or that Men muſt forbear to come, till they come with aſſurance: But this I ſay, they come not at all aright, that take not the ground of their coming from the Death and Blood of Chriſt; and that they that come to the Throne of Grace with but little knowledge of Redemption by Blood, will come but with little hope of obtaining Grace and Mercy to help in time of need.

I conclude then, that it is the Privilege, the the Duty and Glory of a Man, to approach the Throne of Grace as a Prince, as Job ſaid, Could be but find it, he would beſure to do: O that I knew where I might find him, ſaith he, that I might come even to his Seat! I would order my cauſe before him, and would fill my Mouth with Arguments; I would know the words that he would anſwer me, and underſtand what he would ſay unto me: Will he plead againſt me with his great Power? No, but he would put Strength into me: There the Righteous might diſpute with him; ſo ſhould I be delivered forever from my Judge. Indeed God ſometimes tries us. Job 23. 3, 4, 5, 9, 7.

Job 26. 9. He holdeth back, ſometimes, the face of his Throne, and ſpreadeth a Cloud upon it: And this ſeems to be Job's Caſe here, which made him to confeſs he was at a loſs, and to cry out, O that I knew where I might find him! And this he doth for tryal, and to prove our Honeſty and Conſtancy; for the Hypocrite will not pray always, will he always call upon God? No verily, eſpecially not when thou bindeſt them, afflicteſt them, and makeſt praying hard work to them. Job 27. 10. Ch. 36. 13.

But difficulty as to finding of God's preſence, and the ſweet ſhining of the Face of his Throne, doth not always lye in the weakneſs of Faith; ſtrong Faith may be in this perplexity, and may be hard put to it to ſtand at times. 'Tis ſaid here, that God did hold back the Face of his Throne, and did ſpread a Cloud upon it; not to weaken Job's Faith, but to try Job's Strength, and to ſhew to Men of after Ages, how valiant a Man Job was. Faith if it be ſtrong, will play the Man in the dark, will like a metled Horſe flounce in bad way, will not be diſcouraged at Tryals, at many or ſtrong Tryals, Though he ſlay me, yet will I truſt in him, is the Language of that Invincible Grace of God.

There is alſo an aptneſs in thoſe that come to the Throne of Grace, to caſt all degrees of Faith away, that carrieth not in its Bowels ſelf-evidence of its own being and nature, thinking that if it be Faith, it muſt be known to the Soul; yea, if it be Faith, it will do ſo and ſo; even ſo as the higheſt degrees of Faith will do: When alas! Faith is ſometimes in a calm, ſometimes up, and ſometimes down, and ſometimes at it with Sin, Death, and the Devil, as we ſay, Blood up to'th Ears. Faith now has but little time to ſpeak Peace to the Conſcience; 'tis now ſtrugling for Life, 'tis now fighting with Angels, with Infernals; all it can do now is to cry, groan, ſweat, fear, fight and gaſpe for Life. 46.

Indeed the Soul ſhould now run to the Croſs, for there is the Water, or rather the Blood and Water that is provided for Faith, as to the maintaining of the comfort of Juſtification; but the Soul whoſe Faith is thus attacked, will find hard work to do this, though much of the well managing of Faith, in the good ſight of Faith, will lye in the Souls hearty, and conſtant adhering to the Death and Blood of Chriſt; but a Man muſt do as he can.

Thus now have I ſhewed you the manner of right coming to the Throne of Grace, for Mercy and Grace to help in time of need.

The next thing that I am to handle is, firſt, To ſhew you, that it is the Privilege of the Godly to diſtinguiſh from all Thrones whatſoever, this Throne of Grace.

This, as I told you, I gathered from the Apoſtle in the Text, for that he only maketh mention thereof, but gives no ſign to diſtinguiſh it by; no ſign, I ſay, though he knew that there were more Thrones than it; Let us come boldly, ſaith he, to the Throne of Grace; and ſo leaves it, knowing full well that they had a good underſtanding of his meaning, being Hebrews: They being now alſo enlightned from what they were taught by the placing of the Ark of the Teſtimony, and the Mercy-ſeat in the moſt holy Place; of which Particular the Apoſtle did then count it, not of abſolute neceſſity diſtinctly to diſcourſe. Indeed the Gentiles, as I have ſhewed, have this Throne of Grace deſcribed, and ſet forth before them by thoſe Tokens which I have touched upon in the Sheets that go before (for with the Book of Revelations the Gentiles are particularly concerned) for that it was writ to Churches of the Gentiles; alſo the great things Propheſied of there, relate unto Gentile Believers, and to the downfal of Antichriſt, as he ſtandeth among them. Heb. 9. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8.

But yet, I think, that John's diſcourſe of the things attending the Throne of Grace, were not by him, ſo much propounded, becauſe the Gentiles were uncapable of finding of it without ſuch deſcription, as to ſhew the anſwerableneſs of the Antitype with the Type; and alſo to ſtrengthen their Faith and illuſtrate the Thing: For they that know, may know more, and better of what they know; yea, may be greatly comforted with another's dilating on what they know. Beſides, the Holy Ghoſt by the word, doth always give the moſt perfect 47.

description of things; wherefore to that we should have recourse for the compleating of our knowledge: I mean not by what I say, in the least to intimate, as if this Throne of Grace was to be known without the Text, for 'tis that that giveth Revelation of Jesus Christ; but my meaning is, that a Saint as such, has such a working of things upon his Heart, as makes him able by the word, to find out this Throne of Grace, and to distingnish it to himself from others. For,

48. First, The Saint has strong guilt of Sin upon his Conscience, especially at first; and this makes him better judge, what Grace in the nature of Grace is, than others can that are Act. 16. 29,30, 31. not sensible of what Guilt is. What 'twas to be saved, was better relished by the Jaylor when he was afraid of, and trembled at the Apprehensions of the Wrath of God, than ever it was with him all his life before: Peter then also saw what saving was, when he began to sink Mat. 1.14. into the Sea, Lord save me, said he, I perish. Sin is that without a sense of which, a Man is not apprehensive what Grace is; Sin and Grace, Favour and Wrath, Death and Life, Hell and Heaven, are Opposites, and are set off or out, in their Evil or Good, Shame or Glory, one by another. What makes Grace so good to us, as Sin in its Guilt and Filth? What makes Sin so horrible and damnable a thing in our Eye, as when we see there is nothing can save us from it, but the infinite Grace of God? Further there seems, if I may so term it to be, a kind of natural Instinct in the new Creature to seek after the Grace of God; for so saith the Word, Rom. 8. They that are after the Flesh, do mind the things of the Flesh; and they that are after the Spirit, the things of the Spirit. The Child by nature nuzels in its Mother's Bosom for the Breast; the Child by Grace, does by Grace seek to live by the Grace of God. All Creatures, the Calf, the Lamb, &c. so soon as they are fallen from 1 Pet. 2. 1, 2, 3. their Mothers Belly, will by nature look for, and turn themselves toward the Teat, and the new Creature doth so too: For Guilt makes it Hunger and Thirst, as the hunted Hart does pant after the Water-brooks. Hunger directs to Bread, Thirst directs to Water; yea, it calls Bread and Water to mind: Let a Man be doing other business, Hunger will put him in mind of his Cupboard, and Thirst of his Cruse of Water; yea, 'twill call him, make him, force him, command him, to bethink what nourishing Victuals is, and will also drive him to a search out after where he may find it, to the satisfying of himself: All right talk also to such an one, sets the Stomach and Appetite a craving; yea, into a kind of a running out of the Body, after this Bread and Water that is might be fed, nourished, and filled therewith. Thus it is by Nature, and thus it is by Grace; thus it is for the Bread that perisheth, and for that which endureth to everlasting Life. But,

49. Secondly, As Nature, the new Nature, teaches this by a kind of Heavenly Natural Instinct; so Experience also herein, helpeth the Godly much: For they have found all other places, the Throne of Grace excepted, empty, and places or things that hold no Water. They Exod. 19 have been at Mount Sinai for help, but could find nothing there but Fire and Darkness, but Thunder and Lightning, but Earthquake and Heb. 12. 2 Cor. 3. Trembling, and a Voice of killing Words; which Words they that heard them once, could never endure to hear them again; and as for the sight of Vengeance, there revealed against Sin, it was so terrible that Moses, even Moses said, I exceedingly fear and quake.

They have sought for Grace by their own Performances, but alas! they have yielded them nothing but Wind and Confusion; not a Performance, not a Duty, not an Act in any part Isa. 64. 5, of religious Worship; but they looking upon 6, 7, 8. it in the Glass of the Lord, do find it spaked and defective.

They have sought for Grace by their Resolutions, their Vows, their Purposes, and the like, but alas! they all do as the other, discover that they have been very imperfectly managed, and so such as can by no means help them to Grace.

They have gone to their Tears, their Sorrow and Repentance, if perhaps they might have found some help there; but all has either fled away like the early Dew, or if they have stood, they have stunk even in the Nostrils of those whose they were; how much more then in the Nostrils of an Holy God?

They have gone to God as the great Creator, 50. and have beheld how wonderful his Works have been; they have looked to the Heavens above, to the Earth beneath, and to all their Ornaments, but neither have these, nor what is of them, yielded Grace to those that had sensible want thereof.

Thus have they gone, as I said, with these Pitchers to their Fountains, and have returned empty and ashamed; they found no Water, no River of Water of Life; they have been as the Woman with her bloody Issue, spending, and spending till they have spent all, and been Mark 5. nothing better, but rather grew worse.

Had they searched into nothing but the Law, it had been sufficient to convince them that there was no Grace nor Throne of Grace in the World. For since the Law, being the most excellent of all the things of the Earth, is found to be such as yieldeth no Grace (for Grace and Joh. 1.17. Truth comes by Jesus Christ, not by Moses) how can it be imagined that it should be found in any thing inferiour?

Paul therefore, not finding it in the Law, dispares to find it in any thing else below, but Phil. 3. 6, presently betakes himself to look for it there, 7, 8. where he had not yet sought it (for he some- Rom. 9. times sought it not by Faith, but as it were by 29, 30, 31. the works of the Law) he looked for it, I say, Chap. 5. by Jesus Christ, who is the Throne of Grace 1, 2, 3. where he found it, and rejoyced in Hope of the Glory of God. But,

Thirdly, Saints come to know and distin- 51. guish the Throne of Grace from other Thrones, by the very direction of God himself: as it is said of the Well that the Nobles digged in the Wilderness, They digged it by the direction of the Law-giver: So Saints find out the Throne of Grace, by the direction of the Grace-giver. Hence Paul prays, That the Lord would direct the 2 Thes. 3. Hearts of the People into the love of God. Man as 5. Man, cannot aim directly at this Throne, but will will drop his Prayers ſhort, beſides, or the like, if he be not helped by the Spirit. Hence the Son ſaith of himſelf, no Man can come to me, except the Father which hath ſent me, draw him; which Text doth not only juſtifie what is now ſaid, but inſinuates that there is an unwillingneſs in Man of himſelf, to come to this Throne of Grace; he muſt be drawn thereto; he ſetteth us in the way of his Steps, that is, in that way to the Throne, by which Grace and Mercy is conveyed unto us.

Fourthly, we know the Throne of Grace from other Thrones, by the Glory that it always appears in, when revealed to us of God; its Glory out-bids all: There is no ſuch Glory to be ſeen any where elſe, either in Heaven or Earth. But I ſay this comes by the ſight that God gives, not by any Excellency that there is in my natural Underſtanding as ſuch; my Underſtanding and Apprehenſion, ſimply as natural is Blind and Fooliſh; wherefore, when I ſet to work in mine own Spirit, and in the Power of mine own Abilities to reach to this Throne of Grace, and to perceive ſomewhat of the Glory thereof, then am I dark, rude, fooliſh, ſee nothing; and my Heart grows flat, dull, ſavourleſs, lifeleſs, and has no warmth in the duty; but it mounts up with Wings like an Eagle, when the Throne is truly apprehended.

52. Fifthly, Therefore that is another thing by which the Chriſtian knows the Throne of Grace from all others; it meets with that good there, that it can meet with no where elſe. But at preſent, let theſe Things ſuffice for this.

I come now to the Motives by which the Apoſtle ſtirreth up the Hebrews, and incourageth them to come boldly to the Throne of Grace.

Firſt, the firſt is, becauſe we have there ſuch, or an High-prieſt ſo and ſo qualified.

Secondly, Becauſe we that come thither for Grace, are ſure there to ſpeed, or find Grace and obtain it.

For the firſt of theſe, to wit, we have an Incouragement to move us to come with boldneſs to the Throne of Grace, becauſe we have an High-prieſt there; becauſe we have ſuch an High-prieſt there, For we have not an High-prieſt that cannot be touched with the feeling of our Infirmities, but was in all points tempted like as we are; yet without Sin; let us therefore come boldly to the Throne of Grace.

Of this High-prieſt I have already made mention before, to wit, ſo far as to ſhew you that Chriſt Jeſus is he, as well as He is the Altar and Sacrifice and Throne of Grace, before which he alſo himſelf makes Interceſſion: But for as much as by the Apoſtle here, he is not only preſented unto us as a Throne of Grace, but as an High-prieſt miniſtring before it; it will not be amiſs, if I do ſomewhat particularly treat of his Prieſthood alſo: But the main or chief of my diſcourſe will be to treat of his qualifications to his Office, which I find to be in general of two ſorts.

First, Legal.

Secondly, Natural.

53. When I ſay Legal, I mean, as the Apoſtle's Expreſſion is, not by the Law of a Carnal Commandment, but by an Eternal Covenant, and the power of an endleſs Life thereby; of which the Prieſthood of old was but a Type, and the Law of their Prieſthood but a Shadow. But becauſe their Law and their entrance into their Prieſthood thereby, was, as I ſaid, a Shadow of good Things to come; therefore where it will help to illuſtrate, we will make uſe thereof ſo to do; and where not, there we will let it paſs. Heb.7.16. Chap.9. 15, 24. Ch. 10. 1.

The thing to be now ſpoken to, is, that the conſideration of Jeſus Chriſt, being an High-prieſt before the Throne of Grace, is a Motive and Incouragement to us, to come boldly thither for Grace; Seeing then that we have a great High-prieſt that is paſſed into the Heavens, Jeſus the Son of God, Let us hold faſt the Profeſſion, and come boldly to the Throne of Grace. Heb.4.14.

Now how he was made an High-prieſt, for ſo is the Expreſſion, made an High-prieſt forever after the order of Melchiſedec. Heb.6.20.

Firſt he took not his Honour upon himſelf without a lawful Call thereto; thus the Prieſts under the Law were put into Office; and thus the Son of God; no Man taketh this Honour to himſelf, but he that he is called of God, as was Aaron: So alſo Chriſt glorified not himſelf to be made an High-Prieſt, but he that ſaid unto him, Thou art my Son, this day have I begotten thee: Wherefore he was called of God to be an High-prieſt after the order of Melchiſedec. Thus far therefore the Law of his Prieſthood anſwereth to the Law of the Prieſthood of old; they both were made Prieſts by a legal Call to their Work or Office. Heb. 5. 4, 6, 10.

But yet the Law by which this Son was made High-prieſt excelleth, and that in theſe Particulars. 54. Heb.7.17.

1. He was made a Prieſt after the ſimilitude of Melchiſedec, for he teſtifieth, thou art a Prieſt forever after the order of Melchiſedec: Thus they under the Law were not made Prieſts, but after the order of Aaron; that is, by a carnal Commandment, not by an everlaſting covenant of God.

2. And, ſaith he, in as much as not without an Oath he was made Prieſt, for thoſe Prieſts were made without an Oath, but this with an Oath, by him that ſaid unto him, The Lord ſware and will not repent, thou art a Prieſt forever after the order of Melchiſedec. Verſ. 20. 21.

3. The Prieſthood under the Law, with their Law and Sacrifices were fading, and were not ſuffered to continue, by reaſon of the death of the Prieſt, and Ineffectualneſs of his Offering; but this Man becauſe he continueth ever, hath an unchangeable Prieſthood: For the Law maketh Men High-prieſts which have Infirmity, but the word of an Oath which was ſince the Law, maketh the Son who is conſecrated for evermore. Verſ. 23, 24. Ver. 28.

From what hath already been ſaid, we gather,

1. What kind of Perſon it is that is our High-prieſt. 55.

2. The manner of his being called to, and ſtated in that Office.

Firſt, what manner of perſon he is: He is the SON, the Son of GOD, JESUS the Son of God. Hence the Apoſtle ſaith, we have a great High-prieſt, SUCH an High-Prieſt that is paſſed into the Heavens. Such an High-Prieſt Heb.4.14. Ch, 7. 26.

prieſt, as is made higher than the Heavens. And why doth he thus dilate upon the dignity of his Perſon, but becauſe thereby is inſinuated the excellency of his Sacrifice, and the prevalency of his interceſſion, by that, to God for us. Therefore he ſaith again, every (Aaronical) Prieſt ſtandeth dayly Miniſtring, Chap. 10. 1, 11. and offering oftentimes the ſame Sacrifice which can never take away ſin. But THIS Man, this GREAT Man, this Jeſus, this Son of God, Chap. 9. 25, 26. after he had offered one (one only, one once, but one) Sacrifice for ſin, ſat down on the Right Hand of God, from henceforth expecting till his enemies be made his Foot-ſtool. For by one offering he hath perfected forever them that are ſanctified. Thus I ſay, the Apoſtle toucheth upon the greatneſs of his perſon, thereby to ſet forth the excellency of his Sacrifice, and prevalency of his interceſſion. Wherefore Holy Brethren partakers Heb. 3. 1. of the Heavenly Calling, conſider the Apoſtle and High-prieſt of our profeſſion Chriſt Jeſus. Or as he ſaith again, making mention of Mel- Chap. 7. 4. chiſedec; conſider how great this Man was, we have ſuch an High-prieſt, ſo great an High-prieſt; one that is entred into the Heavens; Jeſus the Son of God.

Secondly, the MANNER alſo of his being called to, and ſtated in his Office, is not to be overlooked. He is made a Prieſt after the power of an endleſs life, or is to be ſuch an one as long as he lives, and as long as we have need of his mediation: Now Chriſt being raiſed from the dead, dyes no more, death hath no more dominion over him. He is him- Heb. 7. 24, ſelf the Prince of life. Wherefore it follows, he 25. hath an unchangeable Prieſt-hood: and what then? why, then he is able to ſave to the utmoſt all them that come unto God by him, ſeeing he ever liveth to make interceſſion for them.

56. But again, he is made a Prieſt with an Oath, the Lord ſware and will not repent, thou art a Prieſt forever. Hence I gather

1. That before God there is no High-prieſt but Jeſus, nor ever ſhall be.

2. That God is to the full pleaſed with his High-prieſt-hood; and ſo with all thoſe for whom he maketh interceſſion. For this Prieſt, though he is not accepted for the ſake of ano- Heb. 5. 1, ther, yet he is upon the account of another. 2. For every High-prieſt taken from among Men, is ordained for Men, in things pertaining to God, Chap 9. 24. to make reconciliation for the ſins of the People. And again, he is intred into Heaven it ſelf, now to appear in the preſence of God for us.

God therefore in that he hath made him a Prieſt with an Oath, and alſo determined that he will never repent of his ſo doing, declareth that he IS, and for ever WILL, be ſatisfied with his offering. And this is a great incouragement to thoſe that come to God by him; they have by this Oath, a firm ground to go upon, and the Oath is, thou art a Prieſt forever (ſhalt be accepted for ever; for every one for whom thou makeſt interceſſion; nor will I ever reject any body that comes to me by thee) therefore here is ground for Faith, for Hope and rejoycing; for this conſideration, a Man has ground to come boldly to the Throne of Grace.

57. Secondly, But again, as Chriſt is made a Prieſt by call and with an Oath, and ſo, ſo far legally: ſo he, being thus called, has other preparatory legal qualifications. The High-prieſt under the Law, was not by Law, to come into the Holieſt, but in thoſe Robes that were ordained for him to Miniſter in before God; which Robes were not to be made according to the fancy of the People, but according to the commandment of Moſes. Exod. Chriſt our High-prieſt in Heaven, has alſo his Holy garment with which he covereth the nakedneſs of them that are his, which Robe was not made of corruptible things, as Silver and Gold, &c. but by a patient continuance in a Holy life according to the Law of Moſes, both moral and ceremonial; not that either of theſe were that eternal Teſtament by which he was made a Prieſt; but the Moral Law was to be ſatisfied, and the Types of the ceremonial Law, to be as to this, eminently fulfilled, and he was bound by that eternal Covenant by which he is made a Mediator to do ſo. Wherefore before he could enter the Holyeſt of all, he muſt have theſe Holy Garments made, neither did he truſt others, as in the caſe of Aaron, to make theſe Garments for him, but he wrought them all himſelf, acccording to all that Moſes commanded.

This Garment Chriſt was a great while a making. What time, you may ask, was required? And I anſwer, all the days of his life; for all things that were written concerning him, as Joh. 19. 28, 29, 30 to this, were not compleated till the day that he hanged upon the Croſs. For then it was that he ſaid, it is finiſhed, and he bowed his Head and gave up the Ghoſt.

This Robe is for glory and for beauty. This 58. is it that afore I ſaid was of the colour of the Rain-bow, and that compaſſeth even round about this Throne of Grace, unto which we are bid to come. This is that Garment that reaches down to his Feet and that is girt to him with a golden Girdle. This is that Garment that covereth all his body myſtical, and that hideth the blemiſhes of ſuch members from the Eye of God, and of the Law. And it is made up of his obedience to the Law, by his compleat, Rom. 5. perfect obedience thereto; this Chriſt wears al- 19. ways; he never puts it off, as the High-prieſt puts off theirs by a ceremonial command. He ever lives to make interceſſion, conſequently he ever wears this Prieſtly Robe. He might not go into the Holy place without it, upon danger of death, or at leaſt of being ſent back again: but he died not, but lives ever; is not ſent Joh. 16. back, but is ſet down at Gods right Hand, 10. and there ſhall ſit till his foes are made his Foot-ſtool.

This is that for the ſake of which all are made welcome, and imbraced, and kiſſed, forgiven and ſaved, that come unto God by him.

This is that Righteouſneſs, that Mantle ſpotleſs, that Paul ſo much deſired to be found wrapt in; for he knew that being found in that, he muſt be preſented thereby to God a glorious Man, not having ſpot, or wrinkle, or any ſuch thing.

This therefore is another of the Lord Jeſus his legal qualifications, as preparatory to the executing executing of his High-prieſts Office, in Heaven. But of this ſomething has been ſpoken before, and therefore I ſhall not enlarge upon it here.

Thirdly, When the High-prieſt under the
59. Law was thus accompliſhed by a legal call, and a Garment ſuitable to his Office, then again, there was another thing that muſt be done in order to his regular execution of his Office: and that was, he muſt be conſecrated, and ſolemnly uſhered thereunto by certain offerings, firſt preſented to God for himſelf.

This you have mention made of in the Levitical Law, you have there firſt commanded that in order to the High-prieſt's approaching the Holieſt for the People, there muſt firſt be an offering of conſecration for himſelf, and od. 29. this is to ſucceed his call, and the finiſhing of 5,7,19, his Holy Garments. For this ceremony was 21,22. not to be obſerved until his Garments were made and put upon him: Alſo the Blood of the Ram of conſecration was to be ſprinkled upon
v. 8. him, his Garments, &c. that he might be hallowed and rightly ſet apart for the High-prieſts Office. The Holy Ghoſt, I think, this ſignifying, that Jeſus the Son of God, our great High-Prieſt, was not only, to ſanctify the People with his Blood; but firſt, by Blood muſt to that work be ſanctified himſelf. For their
n. 17. ſakes, ſaith he, ſanctify I my ſelf that they may be ſanctified through thy truth.

60. But it may be asked, when was this done to Chriſt, or what Sacrifice of conſecration had he, precedent to the offering up of himſelf for our ſins?

k. 22 44. I anſwer, it was done in the Garden when he was waſhed in his own Blood, when his ſweat was is great drops of Blood falling down to the ground. For there it was that he was ſprinkled with his Blood, not only the tip of his Ear, his Thumb, and Toe, but there he was waſhed all over; there, therefore was his moſt ſolemn conſecration to his Office: at leaſt, ſo I think. And this, as Aron's was, was done by Moſes, 'twas Moſes that ſprinkled Aaron, 'twas Moſes that Sprinkled Aaron's Garments. It was by vertue of an agony alſo that his bloody ſweat was produced; and what was the cauſe of that agony, but the apprehenſion of the Juſtice and curſe of Moſes's Law, which now he was to undergo for the ſins of the People?

With this Sacrifice he then ſubjoined another, od. 29. which was alſo preparatory to the great acts of his High-prieſts Office, which he was after to perform for us. And that was his drink-
mb. 7. offering, his tears, which were offered to God with ſtrong cries. For this was the place and time that in a ſpecial manner he cauſed his ſtrong Wine to be poured out, and that he drank his Tears as Water. This is called his offering, his offering for his own acceptance with God. After he had offered up Prayers and
b. 5. 7. ſupplications, with ſtrong crying and Tears unto him that was able to ſave him, he was heard for his piety, for his acceptance as to this Office: for he merited his Office, as well as his People. Wherefore it follows, and being made perfect, that is, by a compleat performance of all that was neceſſary for the orderly attaining of his
. 5. 9. Office as High-prieſt, he became the author of eternal Salvation unto all them that obey him.

For your better underſtanding of me as to this, mind that I ſpeak of a twofold perfecti- 61.
on in Chriſt, one as to his Perſon, the other as to his performances. In the perfection of his Perſon, two things are to be conſidered: Firſt the perfection of his humanity, as to the nature of it; it was at firſt appearing wholly without pollution of ſin, and ſo compleatly perfect: But yet this humanity was to have joined to this, another perfection, and that was a perfection of Stature and Age. Hence 'tis ſaid, that as to his humanity he increaſed, that is, grew more perfect. For this his increaſing, was in order to a perfection, not of nature, ſimply as nature, but of ſtature; Jeſus increaſed Luke 2.
in wiſdom and ſtature. The paſchal Lamb, 52.
was a Lamb the firſt day it was eaned; but it was not to be Sacrificed until it attained ſuch a perfection of age, as by the Law of God was appointed to it. It was neceſſary there- Exod. 12.
fore, that Chriſt as to his Perſon ſhould be per- 5, 6.
fect in both theſe ſenſes. And indeed in due time Chriſt died for the ungodly.

Again, as there was a perfection of Perſon, 62.
or of nature and perſonage in Chriſt; ſo there was to be a perfection of performances in him alſo. Hence it is ſaid, that Jeſus increaſed Luk. 2. 52.
in favour with God; that is, by perfecting of his obedience to him for us. Now his performances were ſuch, as had a reſpect to his bringing in of Righteouſneſs for us, in the general; or ſuch as reſpected preparations for his Sacrifice as an High-prieſt. But let them be applyed to both, or to this or that in particular; it cannot be, that while the moſt part of his performances were wanting, he ſhould be as perfect, as when he ſaid, the things concerning me have an end.

Not but that every act of his obedience was perfect, and carried in it, a length and bredth proportionable to that Law by which it was demanded; nor was there at any time in his obedience, that which made to interfere one commandment with another. He did all things well, and ſo ſtood in the favour of God. But yet one act was not actually all, though vertually any one of his actions might carry in it, a merit ſufficient to ſatisfy and quiet the Law. Hence, as I ſaid it is told us, not only that he is the Son of Gods love, but that he increaſed in favour with God; that is, by a going on in doing; by a continning to do that always, that pleaſed the God of Heaven.

A Man that pays mony at the day appointed, beginning firſt at one Shilling, or one Pound, and ſo ceaſeth not until he hath in current Coyn told over the whole ſum to the Creditor, does well at beginning: But the firſt Shilling, or firſt Pound, not being the full Debt, cannot be counted, or reckoned the whole, but a part; yet is it not an imperfect part: nor doth the Creditor find fault at all, becauſe there is but ſo much now told; but concludes that all is at hand, and accepteth of this firſt, as a firſt-fruits: So Chriſt, when he came into the World, began to pay, and ſo continued to do, even until he had paid the whole Debt; and ſo increaſed in favour with God.

There

63. There was then a gradual performance of duties, as to the number of them, by our Lord when he was in the World, and consequently a time wherein it might be said that Christ had not, as to act, done all, as was appointed him to do, to do as preparatory to that great thing which he was to do for us. Wherefore in conclusion he is said to be made perfect, and being made perfect he became the Author of Eternal Salvation to all them that obey him.

It will be objected then, that at sometime it might be said of Christ, that he was imperfect in his obedience.

Answ. There was a time, wherein it might have bin said, Christ had not done all that he was to do for us on Earth. But it doth not follow thereupon, that he therefore was imperfect in his obedience, for that all his acts of obedience were done in their proper time, and when they should, according to the will of God. The timing of performances adds or diminishes as to the perfection of obedience, or the imperfection of it. Had these Exod. 12. 6. Jews kill'd the passover three days sooner than Josh. 6. 12. 13, 14, 15. the time appointed, they had transgressed. Had the Jews done that on the four thday to Jericho, which was to have bin done on the seventh day, they had sinned. Duty is beautiful in its time, and the Son of God observed the time; I must, saith he, work the works of him that sent me, while it is day; That is, in their seasons. You must keep in mind that we speak all this while, of that part of Christs perfection as to duties, which stood in the number of performances, and not in the nature or quality of acts. And I say, as to the thing in hand, Christ had duty to do, with respect to his Office as High-priest, for us, which immediately concerned himself; such duties as gave him a legal admittance unto the execution thereof; such duties, the which, had they not orderly bin done the, want of them would have made him an undue approacher of the presence of God, as to that: Wherefore, as I said afore, by what he did thereabout, he consecrated, or sanctified himself for that work, according to God, and was accepted for his piety, or in that he feared, and did orderly do, what he should do.

64. Fourthly, The next thing preparatory to the execution of this Office of High-Priest was, the Sacrifice it self. The Sacrifice you know, must as to the being of it, needs preceed the offering of it. It must be, before it can be offered. Nor could Christ have bin a High-Priest, had he not had a Sacrifice to offer. Heb. 8. 3. For every High-priest is ordained to offer gifts and Sacrifices: wherefore it is of necessity, that this Man have somewhat also to offer.

And I bring in the Sacrifice as the last thing preparatory, not that it was last, as to being, for it was before he could be capable of doing any of the afore named duties, being his body, in, and by which he did them; but it was the last as to fitness; it was not to be a Sacrifice Heb. 10. 5. before the time, the time appointed of the Father. For since he had prepared it to that end, 'twas fit as to the time of its being offered that that should be when God thought best also.

Behold then, here is the High-priest with his Sacrifice; and behold again, how he comes to offer it. He comes to offer his burnt offering at the call of God; he comes to do it in his Priestly Garments, consecrated, and sanctified, in his own blood; he comes with Blood and Tears, or by Water and Blood, and offereth his Sacrifice, himself a Sacrifice unto God for the sin of the World: and that too, at a time when God began to be weary of the service and Sacrifices of all the World. Wherefore when he cometh into the World, he saith, Sacrifice and Offerings thou wouldst not, but a body hast thou prepared me, (thou hast fitted me) in burnt Offerings and Sacrifices for Sin thou hast no pleasure: then said I, lo I come (in the volume of thy Book it is written of me) to do thy will O God.

Thus you see how our High-Priest proceeded to the execution of his Priestly Office: And now we are come to his Sacrifice we will consider a little of the parts thereof, and how he offered, and pleads the same. 65.

The Burnt Offering for sin had two parts, the Flesh and the Fat, which Fat is called the Fat of the inwards, of the kidneys, and the like. Answerable to this, the Sacrifice of Christ had two parts, the body and the Soul. The Body, is the Flesh, and his Soul the Fat; that inward part that must not by any means be kept from the Fire. For without the burning of the Fat, the Burnt Offering and sin offering, both which was a figure of the Sacrifice of our High-priest, was counted imperfect, and so not acceptable. Lev. 3. 12, 13, 14, 15, 16. Isa. 53. 10.

And it is observable that in these kind of Offerings when they were to be burned, the Fat and the Head must be laid, and be burned together. And the Priest shall cut it in pieces with his Head and his Fat; and the Priest shall lay them in order upon the wood that is on the Fire which is upon the Altar; To signify, methinks, the feeling sense that this Sacrifice of his body and Soul should have of the curse of God due to sin all the while that it suffered for sin. And therefore it is from this that this Sacrifice has the name of Burnt Offering (it is the burnt Offering) for the burning, because of the burning upon the Altar all night, until the morning; and the fire of the Altar shall be burning in it. Lev. 1. 12.

The Fat made the flame to increase, and to ascend; wherefore God speaks affectionately of the Fat, saying, the Fat of mine Offerings. And again, he shall see of the travail of his Soul and be satisfied. The Soul-groans, the Soul-cries, the Soul-conflicts that the Son of God had, together with his Soul-submission to his Fathers will, when he was made a Sacrifice for sin, did doubtless flame bright, ascend high, and cast out a sweet savour unto the Nostrils of God, whose Justice was now appeasing for the sin of Men. 66. Isa. 53. 10.

His flesh also was part of this Sacrifice, and was made to feel that Judgment of God for sin, that it was capable of. And it was capable of feeling much, so long as natural life, and so, bodily sense remained. It also began to feel, with the Soul, by reason of the union that was betwixt them both; the Soul felt, and the body bled; the Soul was in an agony,

Agony, and the Body ſweat Blood; the Soul wreſtled with the Judgment and Curſe of the Law, and the Body to ſhew its ſenſe and ſympathy, ſent out dolorous cries, and pour-ed out Rivers of Tears before God: We will not here at large ſpeak of the Laſhes, of the Crown of Thorns, of how his Face was bluſt with Blows and Blood; alſo how he was Wounded, Pierced, and what Pains he felt while Life laſted, as he ſuffered for our Sins; though theſe things are alſo pre-figured in the
v. 1. old Law, by the nipping or wringing of the Head, the cutting of the Sacrifice in pieces, and burning it in the Fire.

67. Now you muſt know, that as the High-prieſt was to offer his Sacrifice, ſo he was to bring the Blood thereof to the Mercy-ſeat or Throne of Grace, where now our Jeſus is; he was to offer it at the door of the Taber-nacle, and to carry the Blood within the Veil: Of both which a little.

1. He was to offer it, and how? Not grudg-ingly, nor as by compulſion, but of a voluntary Will and chearful Mind; If his Offering be a burnt Sacrifice of the Herds, let him offer a Male without blemiſh; he ſhall offer it of his own vo-luntary Will. Thus did Chriſt when he offer-ed up himſelf, as is manifeſt by that which follows, eb.7.27. 1. He offered a Male, himſelf, without at. 20. Blemiſh.

8. eb.10.18. 2. He gave himſelf a Ranſom, he gave his uk.12.5. Life a Ranſom.

3. He laid down his Life of himſelf.

4. He longed for the day of his Death, that he might die to redeem his People.

5. Nor was he ever ſo joyful in all his Life, that we read of, as when his Sufferings grew near; then he takes the Sacrament of his Body and Blood into his own Hands, and with Thankſgiving beſtows it among his Diſciples; then he ſings an Hymn, then he Rejoyces, then he comes with A Lo, I come. Oh the Heart, the great Heart, that Jeſus Chriſt had for us to do us good! He did it with all the deſire of his Soul.

2. He did it, not only Voluntary and of a free Will, but of Love and Affection to the life of his Enemies: Had he done thus for the life of his Friends, it had been much; but ſince he did it out of love to the life of his
om. 5.7, Enemies, that's much more: Scarcely for a righteous Man will one die, yet peradventure for a good Man ſome would even dare to die; but God commended his love towards us, in that while we were yet Sinners, Chriſt died for us.

3. He did it without relinquiſhment of Mind, when he was in: No diſcouragement diſheart-ned him; cry and bleed he did, yea, roar by reaſon of the Troubles of his Soul, but his Mind was fixed: His Father ſware and did not repent, that he ſhould be his Prieſt; and he Pſal. 13. vowed and ſaid, he would not repent, that 3, 14. he had threatned to be the Plague and Death of Death.

4. He did it effectually and to purpoſe; he hath ſtopped the Mouth of the Law with Blood, he hath ſo pacified Juſtice, that it now can forgive: He hath carried Sin away from before the face of God, and ſet us quit in his ſight; he hath deſtroyed the Devil, aboliſhed Death, and brought Life and Immortality to Light through the Goſpel; he hath wrought ſuch a change in the World by what he has done, for them that believe, that all things work together for their good, from thence forward and forever.

I ſhould now come to the ſecond part of the Office of this High-prieſt, and ſpeak to that; as alſo to thoſe things that were prepa-ratory unto his executing of it; but firſt, I think convenient a little to treat of the Altar alſo, upon which this Sacrifice was offered to God. 68.

Some I conceive, have thought the Altar, to be the Croſs on which the Body of Chriſt was Crucified, when he gave himſelf an Offer-ing for Sin; but they are greatly deceived, for he alſo himſelf was the Altar, through which he offered himſelf; and this is one of the Treaſures of Wiſdom which are hid in him, and of which the World and Antichriſt are utterly ignorant. I touched this in one hint before, but now a little more expreſs.

The Altar is always greater than the Gift; and ſince the Gift was the Body and Soul of Chriſt, for ſo ſaith the Text, He gave himſelf for our Sins: The Altar muſt be ſomething elſe than a ſorry bit of Wood, or than a cur-ſed Tree.

Wherefore I will ſay to ſuch, as one wiſer than Solomon ſaid to the Jews, when they ſu-perſticiated the Gift, in counting it more Ho-nourable than the Altar: Ye Fools and Blind, Mat. 23.
for whether is it greater, the Gift, or the Alar that 18, 19.
ſanctifieth the Gift?

If the Altar be greater than the Gift, and yet the Gift ſo great a thing as the very Hu-manity of Chriſt, can it, I will now direct my Speech to the greateſt Fool, can that greater thing be the Croſs? Is, was the Croſs, the wooden Croſs, the curſed Tree that ſome worſhip, greater than the Gift, to wit, than the Sacrifice which Chriſt offered, when he gave himſelf for our Sins? O Idolatry! O Blaſphemy!

Queſt. But what then was the Altar? 69.

Anſw. The divine Nature of Chriſt, that Heb.9.14.
Eternal Spirit, by and in the aſſiſtance of which, he offered himſelf without ſpot to God; he through the Eternal Spirit offered himſelf.

1. And it muſt be THAT, becauſe as was ſaid, The Altar is greater than the Gift; but there is nothing but Chriſt's divine Nature, greater than his Human; to be ſure a ſorry bit of Wood, a Tree, the ſtock of a Tree, is not.

2. It muſt be this, becauſe the Text ſays plainly, the Altar ſanctifies the Gift, that is, puts Worth and Vertue into it; but was it the Tree or the Godhead of Chriſt, that put Ver-tue and Efficacy into this Sacrifice that he of-fered to God for us? If thou canſt but tell thy Fingers, judge.

3. The Altar was it of old, that was to bear up the Sacrifice until it was conſumed; and with reference to the Sacrifice under con-ſideration, the Tree could not bear up that; for our Sacrifice being a Man conſiſting of Soul and Body, that which could bear him up in his ſuffering Condition, muſt be that that could apply it ſelf to his reaſonable and ſenſible part for Relief and Succour, and that was of Power to keep him even in his Spirit, and in a compleat ſubmiſſiveneſs to God, in the preſent condition in which he was; and could the Tree do this, think you? Had the Tree that Command and Government of the Soul and Senſe of Chriſt, of the Reaſon and Feeling of the Lord Jeſus, as to keep him in this bitter Suffering, in that evenneſs and ſpotleſneſs in his Torment, as to cauſe that he ſhould come off this great Work, without the leaſt ſmell or tang of Imperfection? No, no, It was through the Eternal Spirit, that he offered himſelf without ſpot to God.

70. Queſt. Wherefore then ſerved the Croſs?

Anſw. I ask, and wherefore then ſerved the Wood by which the Sacrifices were burned? The Sacrifices were burned with Wood upon the Altar, the Wood then was not the Altar, the Wood was that Inſtrument by which the Sacrifice was conſumed, and the Croſs that by which Chriſt ſuffered his Torment and Affliction. The Altar then was it that did bear both the Wood and Sacrifice, that did uphold the Wood to burn, and the Sacrifice to abide the burning: And with reference to the matter in hand, the Tree on which Chriſt was Hanged, and the Sacrifice of his Body, were both upheld by his Divine Power; yet the Tree was no more a Sacrifice, nor an Altar, than was the Wood upon the Altar; nor was the Wood, but the Fire, holy, by which the Sacrifice was conſumed. Let the Tree then be the Tree, the Sacrifice the Sacrifice, and the Altar the Altar; and let Men have a care how in their Worſhip, they make Altars, upon which, as they pretend they offer the Body of Chriſt; and let them leave off fooliſhly to dote upon Wood, and the works of their Hands: The Altar is greater than the Gift or Sacrifice, that was or is upon it.

We come now to the ſecond part of the Office of this High-prieſt, and to ſhew how he performeth that. In order to which, I muſt, as I did with reference to the firſt, ſhew you what things, as preparatory, were to preceed the execution of it.

We have here, as you ſee, our Paſſover ſacrificed for us, for our Incouragement to come to the Throne of Grace; and now let us look to it, as it is preſented in the Holyeſt of all, and to the order of its being ſo preſented.

71. Firſt then, before there was any thing further done, I mean by this High-prieſt, as to a further Application of his Offering, the judgment of God was waited for by him, with reſpect to his eſtimation of what was already done, to wit, how that was reſented by him; the which he declared to the full by raiſing him from the dead: For in that he was raiſed from the dead, when yet he died for our Sins, 'tis evident that his Offering was accepted, or eſteemed of value ſufficient to effect that, for the which it was made a Sacrifice, which was for our Sins; this therefore was in order to his being admitted into Heaven. God by raiſing him from the dead, juſtified his Death, and counted it ſufficient for the ſaving of the World. And this Chriſt knew would be the effect of his Death, long before he gave himſelf a Ranſom; where he ſaith, This alſo ſhall pleaſe the Lord better than an Ox or a Bullock, that has Horns and Hoofs: And again, For the Lord God will help me, therefore I ſhall not be confounded; therefore I have ſet my Face like a Flint, and I know I ſhall not be aſhamed. He is near that juſtifieth me, who will contend with me? Let us ſtand together; who is mine Adverſary? let him come near me. Behold, the Lord God will help me, who is he that ſhall condemn me? Lo, they all ſhall wax old like a Garment, the Moth ſhall eat them up. All this is the work of the Lord God, his Father, and he had Faith therein, as I ſaid before. And ſince it was God who was to be appeaſed, 'twas requiſit that he ſhould be heard in the Matter, to wit, whether he was pacified or no; the which he has declared, I ſay, in raiſing him up from the dead. Pſal. 69. Iſa. 50. 7, 8, 9.

And this the Apoſtles, both Paul and Peter inſinuate, when they aſcribe his Reſurrection to the Power of another, rather than to his raiſing of himſelf, ſaying, This Jeſus hath God raiſed up; God hath raiſed him up from the dead; but God raiſed him from the dead, and the like. I ſay therefore that God by raiſing up Chriſt from the dead, hath ſaid, that thus far his Offering pleaſed him, and that he was content. Act. 2. 32. Ch. 3. 15. Ch. 4. 10. Ch. 5. 30. Ch. 8. 40. Ch. 13. 30.

72. Secondly, But leſt the World being beſotted by Sin, ſhould not rightly interpret Actions; therefore God added to his raiſing him up from the dead, a ſolemn expoſing of him to view, not to all Men, but to ſuch as were Faithful, and that might be truſted with the communicating of it to others, Him, ſaith Peter, God raiſed from the dead, and ſhewed him openly, not to all the People, but to Witneſſes choſen before of God, even to us who did eat and drink with him, after he roſe from the dead. Act. 10. 40, 41.

And this was requiſit, not for that it added any thing to the value and worth of his Sacrifice, but for the help of the Faith of them that were to have Eternal Salvation by him. And it is for this cauſe that Paul ſo enlargeth upon this very thing, to wit, that there were them that could teſtifie, that God had raiſed him up from the dead, namely that Men might ſee that God was well pleaſed, and that they had Incouragement to come boldly by him to the Throne of Grace for Mercy. And this expoſing of him to view, was not for the length of a ſurprizing or dazling Moment, but Days and Nights, to the number of no leſs than forty; and that to the ſelf-ſame Perſons, to wit, the Apoſtles whom he had choſen: To whom alſo, ſays the Text, he ſhewed himſelf alive after his Paſſion, by many Infallible Proofs, being ſeen of them forty days, and ſpeaking of the things pertaining to the Kingdom of God. 1 Cor. 15. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8. Act. 1. 3.

Thus God therefore being willing more abundantly to ſhew him unto the World, ordered this great ſeaſon betwixt his Reſurrection and Aſcenſion, that the World might ſee, that they had ground to believe an Attonement was made for Sin.

Thirdly,

73. Thirdly, But again, a third thing that was to preceed the execution of the second part of this his Prieſtly Office, was the manner and order of his going into the Holyeſt. I ſay, the manner and order of his going. He was to go thither in that ROBE, of which mention was made before, to wit in the virtue of his obedience, for 'twas that which was to make his way for him, as now ſprinkled with his blood. He was to go thither with a noiſe which the Holy Ghoſt calls a ſhout, ſaying, God is gone up with a ſhout, the Lord with the ſound of a Trumpet. This was prefigured by the BELLS, as I ſaid, which did hang on the border of Aarons garments. This ſhout ſeems to ſignifie the voice of Men and Angels: and this Trumpet, the Voice and Joy of God, for ſo it ſays, he ſhall deſcend. For the Lord himſelf ſhall deſcend from Heaven with a ſhout, with the Voice of the Arch-angel, and with the Trump of God. Even as he aſcended and went up; for Aarons BELLS were to be heard when he went into, and when he came out of the Holy place. But what Men were to aſcend with him? but, as was ſaid afore, the Men that came out of their Graves after his Reſurrection; and what Angels? but thoſe that Miniſtred to him here in the day of his humiliation. As for the evil ones, he then rode in triumph over their Heads, and cruſht them, as Captives, with his Chariot Wheels. He is aſcended on high, he has led Captivity Captive, he has received gifts for Men.

Pſal. 47. 6.

Exod. 28. 33, 34, 35. Mat. 27. 52, 53.

Eph. 4. 8.

Thus then he aſcended unto, into the Holy Paradice, where he was waited for of a multitude of the Heavenly Hoſt, and of thouſands of Millions of the Spirits of Juſt Men made perfect: So approaching the higheſt Heavens, the place of the ſpecial preſence of God, he was bid ſit down at his right Hand, in token that for his ſufferings ſake, God had made him the higheſt of every Creature, and given him a name above every name, and commanded that at the name of Jeſus, now all things in Heaven ſhould bow, and promiſed that at the day of Judgment, all on Earth and under it ſhould do ſo too, to the glory of God the Father.

Philip. 2. 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11.

74. Thus he preſented himſelf on our behalf unto God, a Sacrifice of a ſweet ſmelling Savour, in which God reſteth for ever, for that the Blood of this Sacrifice has always with him a pleaſing and prevailing Voice. It cannot be denied, it cannot be out weigh'd by the Heavineſs, circumſtances, or aggravations of any ſin whatſoever, of them that come unto God by him. He is always, as I ſaid before, in the midſt of the Throne, and before the Throne a Lamb as it had been ſlain, now appearing in the preſence of God for us. Of the manner of his interceſſion, whither it is vocal, or vertual, whether by Voice of Mouth, or merit of deed, or both, I will not determin; we know but little, while here, how things are done in Heaven, and we may ſoon be too carnal, or fantaſtical in our apprehenſions. Interceſſion he makes, that is, he manages the efficacy and worth of his ſuffering with God, for us; and is always, prevalent in his thus managing of his merits on our behalf. And as to the manner, tho' it may be in it ſelf infinitely beyond what we can conceive while here: yet God hath ſtooped to our weakneſs, and ſo expreſſed himſelf in this matter, that we might ſomewhat, though but Childiſhly apprehend him. And we do not amiſs if we conceive as the word of God hath revealed, for the Scriptures are the green Popler, Hazel, and Cheſnut Rods that lie in the Gutters where we ſhould come to drink; all the difficulty is, in ſeeing the White ſtrakes, the very mind of God there, that we may conceive by it.

Heb. 12. 24.

1 Cor. 13. 11, 12.

But the Text ſays, he prayeth in Heaven, he makes interceſſion there. Again, it ſaith, his blood ſpeaks, and conſequently, why may not his groans, his tears, his ſighs, and ſtrong cries, which he uttered here in the days of his fleſh? I believe they do, and have a ſtrong voice, with God for the Salvation of his People. He may then interceed both vocally, and vertually; vertually to be ſure he does, and we are allowed ſo to apprehend, becauſe the Text ſuggeſteth ſuch a manner of interceſſion to us: And becauſe our weakneſs will not admit us to underſtand fully the thing as it is, our belief that he maketh interceſſion for us, has alſo the advantage of being purged from its faultineſs by his interceſſion, and we ſhall be ſaved thereby becauſe we have relied upon his blood-ſhed, and the prevalency of the worthineſs of it with God for us; though as to this circumſtance, the manner of his interceeding we ſhould be ſomething at a loſs. 75.

The Word ſays that we have yet, but the Image of heavenly things, or of things in the Heavens. I do not at all doubt, but that many of thoſe that were ſaved before Chriſt came in the fleſh; though they were as to the main, right, and relied upon him to the ſaving of their Souls; yet came far ſhort of the knowledge of many of the circumſtances of his ſuffering for them: Did they all know that he was to be betrayed of Judas? that he was to be ſcourged of the Souldiers? that he was to be Crowned with Thorns? that he was to be Crucified between two Thieves, and to be pierced till Blood and Water came out of his Side? or that he was to be buried in Joſeph's Sepulcher? I ſay, did all that were ſaved by faith that he was to come and die for them, underſtand theſe, with many more circumſtances that were attendants of him to death, it would be rude to think ſo; becauſe for it we have neither Scripture nor reaſon.

Heb. 10. 1.

Even ſo, we now, that believe that he ever lived to make interceſſion for us, are alſo very ſhort of underſtanding of the manner, or mode of his ſo interceeding. Yet we believe that he died, and that his merits have a voice with God for us; yea, that he manages his own merits before God in way of interceſſion for us, far beyond what we, while here, are able to conceive. 76.

Coloſ. 2. 9.

The Text ſaith, that all the fulneſs of the Godhead dwells in him bodily. It ſaith alſo, that he is the Throne of God, and yet again, that he ſits on the right hand of the Throne.

Iſa. 22. 23. Heb. 12. 2.

These things are so far from being comprehended by the weakest, that they strain the wits and parts of the strongest, yet there is a heavenly truth in all. Heavenly things are not easily believed, no not of believers themselves, while here on Earth, and when they are, they are so but weakly and infirmly.

I believe that the very appearing of Christ before God is an intercession as a Priest, as well as a Plea of an Advocate; and I believe again, that his very life there, is an intercession there, a continual intercession.

Heb. 9. 24.

Rom. 5. 10.

But there is yet something further to be said: Christ, the humanity of Christ, if in it dwells all the fulness of the Godhead bodily, how then appears he before him to make intercession? or if Christ is the Throne of Grace and Mercy-seat, how doth he appear before God as sitting there, to sprinkle that how with his blood? Again; if Christ be the Altar of Incense, how stands he as a Priest by that Altar to offer the Prayers of all Saints thereon, before the Throne?

77. That all this is written, is true; and that it is all truth, is as true; but that it is all understood by every one that is saved, I do not believe is true. I mean so understood as that they could all reconcile the seeming contradictions that are in these Texts.

There are therefore three Lessons, that God has set us as to the perfecting of our Understanding in the Mysteries of God.

First, Letters.

Secondly, Words.

Thirdly, Meanings:

First, Letters. I call the ceremonial Law so; for there all is set forth distinctly, every thing by it self, as Letters are to Children: There you have a Priest, a Sacrifice, an Alter, a Holy place, a Mercy-seat; and all distinct.

Secondly, Now in the Gospel, these Letters are put all into a word, and Christ is that Word, that Word of Gods mind; and therefore the Gospel makes Christ, that Priest; Christ, that Sacrifice; Christ, that Altar; Christ, that Holy place; Christ, that Throne of Grace; and all: for Christ is all: all these meet in him, as several Letters meet in one 78. Word.

Thirdly, Next to the Word, you have the meaning, and the meaning, more difficult to be learned than either the Letters, or the Word; and therefore the perfect understanding of that, is reserved till we arrive to a higher form, till we arrive to a perfect Man, and when that which is perfect is come, that knowledge which is in part, shall be done away. Mean time our business is to learn to bring the Letters into a Word; to bring the Ceremonies to Christ, and to make them terminate in him: I mean, to find the Priest-hood, in Christ; the Sacrifice, in Christ; the Altar, in Christ; the Throne of Grace, in Christ; and also God in Christ reconciling the World unto himself by him. And if we can learn this well, while here, we shall not at all be blamed: for this is the utmost Lesson set us, to wit, to learn Christ, as we find him revealed in the Gospel. I determined, saith Paul, not to know any thing among you, save Jesus Christ, and him Crucified. And Christians after some time, I mean those that pray, and pry into the Word well, do attain to some good measure of knowledge of him. Tis life eternal to know him, as he is to be known here, as he is to be known by the Holy Scriptures. Keep then close to the Scriptures, and let thy Faith obey the Authority of them; and thou wilt be sure to increase in Faith: for therein is the righteousness of God revealed from Faith to Faith: as it is written, the Just shall live by Faith.

1 Cor. 2. 2.

Joh. 17. 3.

Rom. 1. 16, 17.

Chap. 3. 25, 26, 30.

Believe then that Christ died, was buried, rose again, ascended, and ever lived to make intercession for thee; and take heed of prying to far, for in Mysteries Men soon lose their way. Tis good therefore that thou rest in this, to wit, that he doth so, though thou canst not tell how he doth it. A Man at Court gets by his intercession, a pardon for a Man in the Country; and the party concerned, after he hath intelligence of it, knows that such an one hath obtained his pardon, and that by his interceeding; but for all that he may be ignorant of his methods of intercession, and so are we, at least, in part, of Christ. The meaning then is, that I should believe, that for Christs sake, God will save me, since he has Justified me with his blood, being justified by his blood we shall be saved from wrath through him. Through his intercession, or through his coming between the God whom I have offended, and me a poor sinner, through his coming between, with the voice of his blood and merits, which speaketh on my behalf to God, because that blood was shed for me, and because those merits, in the benefit of them, are made over to me, by an act of the Grace of God, according to his Eternal Covenant made with Christ. This is what I know of his intercession; I mean with reference to the act it self; to wit, HOW he makes intercession. And since ALL the fulness of the Godhead dwells in him bodily: and since he also, as to his humanity, is the Throne of Grace; yea, and since he also is the Holiest of all, and the rest of God for ever; it has been some scruple to me whether it be not too carnal to imagine as if Christ stood distinct in his humanity, distinct I say as to space, from the Father as sitting upon a Throne, and as so presenting his merits, and making vocal Prayers for the Life and Salvation of his People. The more true meaning in my apprehension is, that the presence and worth of the humane nature, being with the Divine, yea, taken into Union with God for ever, for the Service that was done for God, by it, in the World, in reconciling his elect unto him, is still, and ever will be so deserving in his sight as to prevail (I know not how else to express it) with the Divine Nature (in whom alone is a Power to subdue all impossibilities to it self) to preserve those so reconciled to Eternal Life.

79.

Rom. 5. 9.

When

80. When I ſpeak of the Human Nature, I mean the Man Chriſt, not bereft of Senſe and Reaſon, nor of the Power of willing and affecting; but thus I mean, that the Human Nature ſo terminates in the Will of the Divine; and again, the Will of the Divine, ſo terminates, as to ſaving of Sinners in the Merit and Will of the Human, that what the Father would, the Son wills; and what the Son wills, the Father acquieſces in forever. And this the Son wills, and his Will is backed with infinite Merit, in which alſo the Father reſts; that thoſe, all thoſe, whom the Father hath given him, be with him where he is, that they may behold his Glory. And now I am come to the Will and Affections of the High-prieſt, this leads me to the ſecond Head, namely, to the natural Qualifications of him. And,

h. 17.

81. Firſt, This is one thing that I would urge, he is not of a Nature foreign to that of Man; the Angels love us well, but they are not SO capable of ſympathizing with us in our diſtreſſes, becauſe they are not Partakers of our Nature.

Nature has a peculiar ſympathy in it; now he is naturally one with us, Sin only excepted, and that is our advantage too. He is Man, as we are; Fleſh and Blood, as we are; born of a Woman, and in all points made like unto us, that excepted which the Holy Ghoſt excepteth; For as much then as the Children are Partakers of Fleſh and Blood, he alſo himſelf likewiſe took part of the ſame. For verily he took not on him the nature of Angels; but he took the ſeed of Abraham. This doth qualifie him much, for as I ſaid before, there is a ſympathy in nature. A Man will not be ſo affected with the hurt that comes to a Beaſt, as he naturally will with the hurt that comes to a Man: A Beaſt will be more affected with thoſe attempts that are made upon its own Kind to hurt it, than it will be with thoſe that are made upon Man; wherefore? Why there is a ſympathy in Nature. Now that Chriſt the High-prieſt of the Houſe of God, is naturally one with us, you ſee the Scriptures plainly affirm: God ſent forth his Son made of a Woman; he was made of the Seed of David according to the Fleſh; the Fathers of whom, as concerning the Fleſh, Chriſt came, &c. and this muſt needs tend to make him a well qualified High-prieſt. We will not now ſpeak of the neceſſity of his taking upon him the Human Nature, to wit, that he might deſtroy him that had the Power of Death, that is, the Devil, and deliver his People; for that would be here too much beſide our Matter, and be a diverſion to the Reader: We are now upon his High-prieſt's Office, and of thoſe natural Qualifications that attend him, as to that; and I ſay, Nature is a great Qualification, becauſe in Nature there is ſympathy; and where there is ſympathy, there will be a provocation to help, a provocation to help with Jealouſie and Indignation againſt thoſe that afflict.

al. 4. 4. om. 1. 3. hap. 9. 5. im 2. 8.

eb. 2. 14, 6.

A Bear robbed of her Whelps is not more provoked, than is the Lord Jeſus, when there is means uſed, to make them miſs of Life Eternal, for whom he hath died, and for whom he ever lives to make Interceſſion. But,

82. Secondly, As there is natural ſympathy in Chriſt to thoſe for whom he is an High-prieſt, ſo there is relative ſympathy; he has not only taken to or upon him our Nature, but he is become one Brotherhood with us; now you know Brotherhood will carry a Man further than Nature: So then, when Nature and Relation meet, there is a double Obligation. Now both he that ſanctifieth (which is Chriſt) and they who are ſanctified (his Saints) are all of one (which is God) they are all of God, as Children of a Father; for which cauſe he is not aſhamed to call them Brethren, ſaying, I will declare thy Name unto my Brethren, in the midſt of the Church will I ſing praiſe unto thee. Heb. 2. 11, 12. Now a Relation is much, and a natural Relation moſt of all. Why, here is a natural Relation betwixt Chriſt the High-prieſt, and thoſe for whom he ever liveth to make Interceſſion; a natural Relation, I ſay, and that with reſpect to the Humanity, which is the nature ſubject to Affliction and Diſtreſs; For as much then as the Children are Partakers of Fleſh and Blood, he alſo himſelf likewiſe took part of the ſame: So then it is for a Brother that he is ingaged, for a Brother that he doth make Interceſſion.

When Gideon knew by the Confeſſion of Zeba and Zalmunna, that the Men that they ſlew at Tabor were his Brethren, his Fury came into his Face, and he ſware they ſhould therefore die: Relation is a great matter. And therefor it is ſaid again, In all things it behoved him to be made like unto his Brethren, that he might be a mercyful High-prieſt: A Brother is born for Adverſity, and a Brother will go far. Judg. 8. 18, 19.

This therefore is a ſecond Thing or another Qualification, with which Chriſt Jeſus is furniſhed to be an High-prieſt; he is a Brother, there is a Brotherly Relation betwixt him and us, therefore by vertue of this Relation, he maketh Interceſſion for us more affectionatly.

83. Thirdly, There is another thing in Chriſt Jeſus that makes him naturally of an excellent Qualification with reference to his Prieſthood for us; and they are the Temptations and Infirmities wherewith he was exerciſed in the days of his Humiliation. 'Tis true Temptations and Infirmities ſtrictly conſidered, are none of our Nature, no more are they of his; but yet, if it be proper to ſay Temptations and Afflictions have a nature, his and ours were naturally the ſame, and that in all points too, for ſo ſays the Text, He was tempted in all points, like as we are, yet without Sin. Are we tempted to diſtruſt God? So was he: Are we tempted to murder our ſelves? So was he: Are we tempted with the bewitching Vanities of this World? So was he: Are we tempted to commit Idolatry, and to worſhip the Devil? So was he. So that herein we alſo were alike; yea, from his Cradle to his Croſs he was a Man of Sorrows and acquainted with Griefs, a Man of Affliction throughout the whole courſe of his Life. Heb. 4. 15. Mat. 4. 3, 10. Luk. 4. 3, 12.

And

And obſerve it, he was made ſo, or ſubjected thereto, by the Ordinance of God; nay further, It behoved him to be made ſo, that is, to be made like unto us in all things, the better to capacitate him to the work of his Prieſthood, with the more Bowels and Compaſſion; we will read to you the Text; Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his Brethren; that he might be (qualified to be) a merciful and faithful High-prieſt, in things pertaining to God, to make Reconciliation for the Sins of the People: For in that he himſelf hath ſuffered, being tempted, he is able to ſuccour them that are tempted.

Heb.2.17, 18.

84. See here how he is qualified, and to what end; he was tempted as we are, ſuffered by temptations as we do, in all points and things as we are; that he might be Bowels, that he might be a merciful and faithful High-prieſt in things pertaining to God, to make up the difference that is made by Sin, between God and his People, to make Reconciliation for the Sins of the People.

Yea, he by being tempted, and by ſuffering as he did, he is prepared and enabled ſo to do; for in that he himſelf hath ſuffered being tempted, he is able to ſuccour them that are tempted.

Wherefore, I alſo call this Qualification, both natural and neceſſary; natural, becauſe in kind the ſame with ours; that is, his temptations were the ſame with ours; the ſame in nature, the ſame in deſign, the ſame as to their own natural tendency; for their natural tendency was to have ruined both him and us, but God prevented. They alſo were neceſſary, though not of themſelves, yet made ſo by him, that can bring Good out of Evil, and Light out of Darkneſs; made ſo, I ſay, to us, for whoſe ſakes they were ſuffered to aſſault and afflict him, namely, that he might be able to be merciful, faithful and ſuccouring to us.

85. Fourthly, Another Qualification with which our High-prieſt is furniſhed for the better fitting of him to make Interceſſion for us is, that we are his Members; to be a Member is more than to be of the ſame nature, or the neareſt of Relations, that excepted. So then now he makes Interceſſion for his own ſelf, for his own Body, and for the ſeveral Members of his Body. The High-prieſt under the Law, did uſe to offer up Sacrifice for himſelf; firſt for himſelf, for his own Sins, and then for the Errors of the People. I will not ſay that Chriſt had any Sin that was perſonally or by his act, his own, for that would be to blaſpheme the Name of that Holy One; but yet I will ſay, he made the Sins of the People his own, yea, God the Father made them his; thoſe alſo for whom he ever liveth to make Interceſſion are united to him, made Members of his Body, of his Fleſh, and of his Bones; and ſo are any part of himſelf.

Pſal.69.5. 2 Cor. 5. 21.

But we are now about his natural Qualifications, and this is one; that they for whom he ever liveth to make Interceſſion are his Members, the Members of his Body, we are Members of his Body, of his Fleſh, and of his Bones, ſo ſaith the Word. Wherefore here is a near concern, for that his Church is part of himſelf; 'tis his own concern, 'tis for our own Fleſh; Never Man yet hated his own Fleſh, but nouriſheth and cheriſheth it (Things are thus ſpoken becauſe of the Infirmity of our Fleſh.) So that had Chriſt no love to us as we are Sinners, yet becauſe we are part of himſelf he cannot but care for us, Nature puts him upon it; yea, and the more infirm and weak we are, the more he is touched with the feeling of our Infirmities, the more he is afflicted for us; For we have not an High-prieſt that cannot be touched with the feeling of our Infirmities. He at no time loſeth this his Fellow-feeling, becauſe he always is our Head, and we the Members of his. I will add, the infirm Member is moſt cared for, moſt pitied, moſt watched over to be kept from harms, and moſt conſulted for.

Heb. 4. 15.

86. I love to play the Child with little Children, and have learnt ſomething by ſo doing: I have met with a Child that has had a ſore Finger, yea, ſo ſore as to be all together at preſent uſeleſs, and not only ſo, but by reaſon of its Infirmity, has been a let or hindrance to the uſe of all the Fingers that have been upon that Hand; then have I began to bemoan the Child, and ſaid, alas my poor Boy or Girl, haſt got a ſore Finger? Ah quoth the Child with water in its Eyes, and hath come to me to be bemoaned. Then I have begun to offer to touch the ſore Finger; Oh! ſaith the Child, pray do not hurt me: I then have replyed, canſt thou do nothing with this Finger? No, ſaith the Child, nor with this Hand neither: Then have I ſaid, ſhall we cut off this Finger, and buy my Child a better, a brave golden Finger? At this the Child has ſtarted, ſtared in my Face, gone back from me and entertained a kind of Indignation againſt me, and has no more cared to be intimate with me.

Then have I begun to make ſome uſe of that good Sermon which this little Child has Preach'd unto me; and thus have I gone on: If Memberſhip be ſo dear, if this Child has ſuch tenderneſs to the moſt Infirm, the moſt uſeleſs of its Members; if it counts me his Friend no longer than I while have a Mouth to bemoan, and carriages that ſhew tenderneſs to this uſeleſs Finger; what an Intereſt doth Memberſhip give one in the Body, and what Compaſſions hath the Soul for ſuch a uſeleſs thing, becauſe it is a Member? And turning all this over to Jeſus Chriſt, then inſtead of Matter and Corruption, there preſently comes Hony to me out of this Child's ſore Finger: I take leave to tell you now, how I uſe to play. And though I have told you this Tale upon ſo grave a Truth, as is the Memberſhip of Chriſtians with their Head, yet bear with me; no Child can be ſo tender of its ſore Finger, as is the Son of God of his afflicted Members; he cannot but be touched with the feeling of our Infirmities.

Ah! who would not make many Supplications, Prayers and Interceſſions for a Leg, for an Eye, for a Foot, for a Hand, for a Finger, rather than they will loſe it? And can it be be imagined that Christ alone should be like the foolish Ostrich, hardned against his young, yea, against his Members! it cannot be.

Should he lose a member, he would be disfigured, maimed, dismembred, imperfect, next to Monstrous. For his Body is called his fulness, yea, the fulness of him that fills all in all. This therefore shews you that Christ as High-priest, has naturally a respect for those for whom he ever liveth to make intercession; yea, an unfathamable respect them, because they are his Members.

87. Fifthly, But again, when Nature, Relation, and Member-ship is urged to shew the fit qualifications wherewith Christ is indued, I intend not to intimate, as if the bottom of all lay here, for then it might be urged, that one imperfect, has all these; for who knows not, that sinful Man, has all these qualifications in him, towards his Nature, Relations, and Members? I have therefore, as I said, thus discoursed, only for demonstration sake, and to suit my self with the infirmity of your Flesh. I might come also in the next place to tell you, that Jesus Christ our High-priest is thus, with reference to other designs. We are his purchase, and he counts us so; his Jewels, and he counts us so; his Estate real, and he counts us so. And you know, a Man will do much, speak much, interceed much, and long for that which he thus is interested in: But we will come to speak more particularly of the exceeding excellency of his natural qualifications, and shew you, that he hath such as are peculiar to himself alone, and that we are concerned in them.

88. First, Then, he is HOLY, and so a suitable High-Priest. There is a Holiness that sets further from, and a Holiness that brings one nearer to, and to be concerned the more with the condition of those in affliction, and THAT Holiness is that which is intailed unto office. When a Man is put into an Office, the more unholy he is, the worse he performs his Office and the more Holy, the better he performs his Office. For his Holiness obliges him to be faithful unto Men, wherein he is concerned by his Office. Hence you read that he is a faithful High-priest, because he is a Holy one, and such an High-priest became us, who is HOLY, &c. Good and Upright is the Lord Jehovah, Christ Jesus, therefore he will teach sinners in the way. He that ruleth among Men must be Just, ruling in the fear of God. I mention these Texts to shew you, that Holiness when intailed to Office, makes a Man do that Office the better. Now then, Christ is Holy, and he is made, called and made of God an High-priest after the order of Melchisedec, and is to manage that his Office for thee with God; that is to say, to continue to make reconciliation for iniquity, for that iniquity, that cleaveth unto thee, and that spureously breaketh, or issueth from thy flesh after thou art called and converted. For we are now upon the second part of the execution of the Priest-hood of Christ: that which he executeth I say, and by executing takes away the iniquity of our Holy things, and of our Life after our turning to God by him. Now he that is to do this, is Holy, and so one that will make conscience of performing that Office for us, with which he is intrusted of God. Hence he is set in opposition to those High-priests that had infirmitities, that were not Holy, and upon this very account, preferred above them. For the Law maketh Men High-priests that have infirmities, but the Word of an Oath which was since the Law, maketh the Son, who is Consecrated, Perfected, or Holy for ever more. Heb. 17. 28.

This therefore is a great thing, to wit, that we have an High-priest that is Holy, and so one that will not fail to perform to the utmost, the trust committed to him on our behalf, to wit, to offer both Gifts and Sacrifices for sin, this is one thing. Heb. 5. 1.

89. 2. There is added to this of his Holiness, another; and that is HARMLESS. For such an High-Priest became us who is Holy, Harmless. A harmful Man, when he is in Office, Oh how much mischief may he do! Such an one is partial in doing his Office, such an one will put the Poor by his right, such an one will buy and sell a cause, a Man, an interest, will do, or not do, as his harmfulness prompts him to it; So is an evil ruler among the poor People. But now our Jesus, our High-priest is Holy, harmless. He will wrong no Man, he will deprive no Man, he will contemn no Man, he will deny to no Man that comes to God by him, the benefit and advantage of his blessed intercession; He respecteth not persons, nor taketh reward. A harmful Man will stomach, and hate, and prejudice a Man, will wait for an opportunity to do him a mischief, will take the advantage if he can, to deny him his right, and keep from him his due, when yet it is in the power of his hand to help him. Oh! but Christ is harmless, harmless as a Dove, he thinks no ill, intends no ill, doth no ill; but graciously, innocently, harmlessly, makes intercession for thee; nor will he be prevailed with to prejudice thy person, or to forbear to take up thy name into his Lips, be thy infirmities, and weaknesses, and provocations never so many, if thou indeed comest to God by him. He is Holy, and harmless, and so the more fit to become our High-priest, and to make intercession for us.

90. 3. But again, this is not all, he also is undefiled; for such an High-priest became us, who is holy, harmless, UNDEFILED. This term is put in to shew, that he neither is, nor can be found, neither now, nor at any time, faulty in his Office. A Man that is Holy, may yet be defiled; a Man that is harmless, may yet be defiled. We are bid to be Holy and harmless; and in a Gospel sense so every Christian is: Oh! but Christ is so in a legal sense, in the Eye of the Law, perfectly so. This is a great matter, for it shews, that as nothing done by us, can tempt him to be hurtful to us, so there is nothing in himself that can tempt him so to be. A Man that is defiled, has that within him him, that will put him upon using of his Office unfaithfully, though he should have no provocation from those for whose good he is to execute his Office: But he that is undefiled, undefiled in a Law-sense, as our Lord Jesus is, is such an one that doth not, only not do hurt, and not act falsly in his Office, but one that cannot, one that knoweth not how to be unfaithful to his trust. He is Holy, harmless, undefiled, this therefore is a great thing. He has not the original of hurtfulness in him, there is no such Root there; there is a Root of bitterness springing up in us, by which, not only our selves, but oftentimes others are defiled. Oh! but our High-priest is undefiled, he is not corrupt, nor corrupteth; he doth his Office fairly, Faithfully, Holily, Justly, according to, or answering our necessities, and the trust reposed in him, and committed to him. But,

Heb. 12. 15.

91. 4. This is not all; as he is Holy, Harmless, and undefiled; so he is separate from sinners, both in his conception, in his composition, and the place ordained for him to execute this part of his High-priests Office in. He was not conceived in the Womb, by carnal generation; he was not made up of polluted and defiled nature; he officiateth not with those materials that are corrupt, stained, or imperfect; but with those that are unspotted; even with the spotless Sacrifice of his own unblemished offering. He, nor his offering, has any such tang, as had the Priests, and their Sacrifices under the Law, to wit, sin, and imperfection; he is separate from them in this respect, further than is an Angel from a Beast. He has none of the qualities, actions, or inclinations of sinners; his ways are only his own; he never saw them, nor learnt them, but of the Father: There is none upright among Men, wherefore he is separated from them to be a Priest. Again,

92. 5. As he is thus, so again, he is said to be higher than the Heavens. For such an High-priest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the Heavens. The Text saith that neither Saint nor Heavens are clean in Gods sight. Behold he putteth no trust in his Servants, he chargeth his Angels with folly; and again, behold he putteth no trust in his Saints, yea, the Heavens are not clean in his sight. Wherefore by this expression, he shews us, that our High-priest is more noble, than either Heaven, or Angel; yea, more clean and perfect than any. It shews us also that all the Heavenly Host are at his command, to do as his intercession shall prevail with the Father for us. All Angels worship him, and at his word they become, they all become ministring Spirits for them who shall be Heirs of Salvation.

Job 5. 18. Chap. 15. 15.

Besides, by this word he shews that it is impossible that our High-priest should degenerate or decay: for that he is made higher than the Heavens; the Spirits, sometimes in the Heavens, have decayed; the Heavens themselves decay and wax old; and that is the fartheſt that by the word we are admitted to go. But as for him that is above the Heavens; that is made higher than the Heavens; that is ascended up far above all Heavens: He is the same, and his years fail not; the same yesterday to day and for ever.

2 Pet. 2. 4. Heb. 1. 10, 11, 12. Heb. 7. 8.

This therefore is added to shew that Christ is neither as the Angels, nor Heavens, subject to decay, or degenerate or to flag and grow cold in the execution of his Office; but that he will be found even at the last, when he is come to the end of this work, and is about to come out of the Holy place, as affectionate, as full of love, as willing, and desirous after our Salvation as he was the first moment that he was made High-priest, and took upon him to execute that his blessed Office for us. 93.

Wherefore our High-priest is NO such one as you read of in the Law. He is no Dwarf, hath no Blemish, nor any Imperfection; therefore is not subject to flag or fail in the due execution of his Office; but is able to save to the uttermost them that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them. Lev. 21. 18.

And it is well worth our consideration, that it is said, he is MADE thus; that is, appointed, instituted, called, and qualified thus of God; this shews the Fathers Heart, as well as the Sons, to us wards; to wit, that this Priest-hood was of him, and the glorious effects thereof by him. Let us therefore come boldly to the Throne of Grace, that we may obtain Mercy and find Grace to help in time of need.

I come now to the second Motive, to wit, that we may find Grace and Mercy to help in time of need; or we shall find Grace and Mercy to help, if we come as we should, to the Throne of Grace. 94.

In this Motive we have these three things considerable.

1. That Saints are like to meet with needy times while they are in this World.

2. That nothing can carry us through our needy times, but more, or a continual supply of Mercy and Grace.

3. That Mercy and Grace is to be had at the Throne of Grace, and we must fetch it from thence by Prayer, if we would, as we should, go through those needy times.

For the first of these, that Saints are like to meet with needy times; or with such times as will shew them, that they need a continual assistance of the Grace of God, that they may go rightly through this World. This is therefore a Motive, that weareth a Spur in the Heel of it, a Spur to prick us forward to supplicate at the Throne of Grace. This needy time, is in other places, called the perilous time, the evil day, the hour and power of darkness, the day of temptation, the cloudy and dark day. 2 Tim. 3. 1. Ephes. 6. 13. Luke 22. 53.

And indeed, in the general, all the days of our Pilgrimage here, are evil, yea, every day has a sufficiency of evil in it to destroy the best Saint that breatheth, were it not for the Grace of God. But, there are also, as I have hinted, particular, special times, times more eminently dangerous, and hazardous unto Saints. As, 95.

Heb. 3. 8. Ezek. 36. 12. Gen. 47. 9. Matth. 6. 34.

There

1. There are their young days, the days of their Youth, and Child-hood in Grace. This day is usually attended with much evil towards him, or them that are asking the way to Zion with their Faces thitherward. Now the Devil has lost a sinner: there is a Captive has broke Prison, and one run away from his Master: now Hell seems to be awaked from Sleep, the Devils are come out, they roar, and roaring they seek to recover their runaway. Now tempt him, threaten him, flatter him, stigmatize him, throw dust in his Eyes, poyson him with error, spoil him while he is upon the Potters Wheel; any thing to keep him from coming to Jesus Christ. And is not this a needy time? doth not such an one want abundance of Grace? is it not of absolute necessity that thou, if thou art the Man thus beset, shouldest ply it at the Throne of Grace for Mercy and Grace to help thee in such a time of need as this?

To want a Spirit of Prayer now, is as much as thy life is worth. O therefore, you that know what I say, you that are broke loose from Hell, that are fled for refuge to lay hold on the hope set before you, and that do hear the Lyon roar after you, and that are kept awake with the continual voice of his chinking chain; cry as you fly; yea, the promise is, that they that come to God with weeping, with supplication, he will lead them.

Well, This is one needy time, now thy Hedg is low, now thy Branch is tender, now thou art but in the bud. Pray that thou beest not marr'd in the Potters Hand.

96 2. The time of prosperity is also a time of need, I mean, of thy Spiritual prosperity. For as Satan can tell how to suit temptations for thee in the day of thy want, so he has those that can intangle thee in the day of thy fulness. He has his spiritual wickednesses in the high and Heavenly places. He can tell how to lay a snare for thee in the land of Canaan, as well as in the wilderness; in thy time of receiving good things, as well as in thy hungry and empty hours. Nay, such times seem to be the most dangerous, not in themselves, but through the deceits of our heart. Hence Moses gives this caution to the Children of Israel, that when God had given them the Promised land, and Vinyards, and Wells, and Olive Trees, and when they had eaten and were full: Then, says he, beware lest thou forget the Lord which brought thee fourth of the land of Egypt; from the House of Bondage. And again, he doubleth this caution, saying; when thou hast eaten and art full: then thou shalt bless the Lord thy God, for the good land which he has given thee. Beware that thou forget not the Lord thy God in not keeping his Commandments, and his Judgments, and his Statutes, which I command thee this day; lest when thou hast eaten and art full, and thou in all good things art increased, then thy heart be lifted up and thou forget the Lord thy God, which brought thee forth out of the land of Egypt from the House of Bondage; all this may be applied spiritually. For there are, as I said, snares layed for us in our best things, and he that has great enjoyments, and forgets to pray for Grace to keep him humble then, shall quickly be where Peter was, after his knowledge of the Lord Jesus by the Revelation of the Father.

Ephes. 5. 12.

Deut. 6. 10, 11, 12, 13.

Chap. 8. 10, 11, 12, 13, 14.

3. Another needy time, is a time when Men are low and empty as to worldly good; this time is full of temptations and snares. At this time, Men will, if they look not well to their doings, and goings, be tempted to strain curtesies both with conscience, and with Gods word, and adventure to do things that are dangerous, and that have a tendency to make all their Religion and profession vain. This, Holy Agur was aware of, so he prayed, let me not be rich and full, lest I deny thee; let me not be poor, lest I steal and take the name of my God in vain. There are many inconveniences that attend him that is fallen into decay in this World. It is an evil day with him, and the Devils will be as busy with him as the Flies are with a lean and scabbed Sheep. It shall go hard but such a Man shall be full of Magots; full of silly, foolish, idle inventions to get up, and to abound with fulness again. It is not a time now, will Satan say, to retain a tender conscience, to regard thy word or promise, to pay for what thou buyest, or to stick at pilfering, and filch from thy neighbour. This Agur was afraid of; therefore he prayed that God would keep him from that which would be to him a temptation to do it. How many in our day have, on these very accounts, brought Religion to a very ill savour, and themselves into the snare of the Devil, and all because they have not addicted themselves to pray to God for Grace to help in this time of need, but rather have left off the thing that is good, and given up themselves to the temptations of the Devil, and the subtil and insnaring motions of the flesh?

97. Prov. 30. 7, 8, 9.

4. Another needy time is the day of Persecution; this is called, as was hinted before, the hour of darkness, the cloudy and dark day. This day therefore is full of snares and of evils of every kind. Here is the fear of Man, the terrors of a prison, of loss of goods and life. Now all things look black, now the firey tryal is come. He that cannot now pray; he that now applieth not himself to God on the Throne of Grace, by the Priesthood of Jesus Christ, is like to take a fall before all Men upon the stage; a foul fall, a fall that will not only break his own bones, but also the hearts of those that fear God and behold it. Come therefore boldly to the Throne of Grace, that you may obtain Mercy, and find Grace to help in time of need.

5. Another time of need is, that time wherein thou changest thy condition, and entrest into a new relation. For here also the snares and Traps ly waiting for thee. There is a hopeful Child goes to service, or to be an Apprentice: There is a young Man, a young Maid, entreth into a married condition, and though they pray before, yet they leave off to pray then: Why, these People are oftentimes ruined and undone; the reason is, this change is attended with new snares, with new cares, and with new temptations, of the which, because through unwatchfulness they are not aware, they are taken, drawn to perdition and destruction by them.

Many in my short day, have gone, I doubt, down to the pit this way, that have sometimes bin to appearance the very formost, and hopefullest in the place where they have lived. Oh how soon has their fire gone out, has their Lamps forborn to burn! How quickly have they lost their love to their Ministers, by whom they were illuminated, and to the warmest Christians, through communion with whom they used to be kept awake and savoury! How quickly have they found them out new friends, new companions, new ways and methods of life, and new delights to feed their foolish minds withal! Wherefore, Oh thou that art in this fifth head concerned, come boldly to the Throne of Grace, to obtain Mercy and find Grace to help in time of need.

99. 6. Another time of need is, when the generality of professors are decayed; when the custom of fancies and fooleries have taken away all gravity and modesty from among the Children of Men. Now pray, or thou diest; yea, pray against those decays, those vain customs, those foolish fancies, those light and vain carriages that have overtaken others; else they will assuredly knock at thy door, and obtain favour at thy hand, the which if they do, they will quickly bring thee down into the dirt with others, and put thee in peril of damnation as well as they.

100. 7. Another time of need is, the time of guilt contracted, and of the hiding of Gods Face. This is a dangerous time. If thou now shalt forbear to pray, thou art undone, for the natural tendency of guilt is to drive a Man from God. So it served our first Father; and oft times when God hides his Face, Men run into desperation, and so throw up all duties, and say as he of old, Why should I wait upon the Lord any longer? Now thy great help against this is Prayer, continuing in Prayer. Prayer wrestleth with the Devil and will overthrow him: Prayer wrestleth with God and will overcome him: Prayer wrestleth with all temptations, and makes them fly. Great things have been done by Prayer, even by the Prayer of those that have contracted guilt, and that have by their sins lost the smiles, and sense of the favour of God.

Wherefore, when this needy, this evil time has overtaken thee, pray. Come boldly to the Throne of Grace, to obtain Mercy, and find grace to help in time of need.

101. 8. The day of reproach and slander, is another time of need, or a day in which thou wilt want supplies of Grace. Sometimes we meet with such days wherein we are loaden with reproaches, slanders, scandals, and lies. Psal. 69.7. Christ found the day of reproach a burdensome day unto him; and there is many a professor driven quite away from all conscience towards God and open profession of his name, by such things as these. Reproach is, when cast at a Man, as if he was stoning to death with stones. Now ply it hard at the Throne of Grace, for Mercy and Grace to bear thee up, or thou wilt either miscarry or sink under ground by the wait of reproach that may fall upon thee.

102. 9. Another time of need, is that, wherein a Mans friends desert, and forsake him, because of his Gospel principles, or of those temptations that attend his profession. This is a time that often hapeneth to those that are good. Thus it was with Christ, with Paul, with Job, with Heman, and so has been with many other of Gods Servants in the day of their temptations in this World. And a sore time it is. Job complained under it, so did Heman, Paul, and Christ. Now a Man is as forlorn as a Pelican in the Wilderness, as an Owl in the desert, or as a Sparrow upon the House top. If a Man cannot now go to the Throne of Grace by Prayer through Christ, and so fetch Grace for his support from thence, what can he do? he cannot live of himself; wherefore this is a sore evil.

Joh. 6. 66. 2 Tim. 4. 15. Job 19. 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19. Psal. 88. 18. Joh. 15. 4.

103. 10. Another time of need, is, the day of death; when I am to pack up and to be gone from hence the way of all the earth. Now the greatest trial is come, excepting that of the day of Judgment. Now a Man is to be stript of all, but that which cannot be shaken: now a Man grows near the borders of eternity: now he begins to see into the skirts of the next World. Now death is death, and the grave the Grace indeed. Now he begins to see what 'tis for Body and Soul to part, and what to go and appear before God: now the dark entry, and the thoughts of what is in the way from a death bed to the Gate of the Holy Heaven, comes nearer the heart than when health and prosperity do compass a Man about. Wherefore this is like to be a trying time, a time of need indeed. A prudent Man will make it one of the great concerns of his whole life, to get, and lay up a stock of Grace for this day (tho' the Fool will rage, and be confident.) For he knows all will be little enough to keep him warm in his Soul, while cold death stroaks his Hand over his Face, and over his Heart, and is turning his Blood into Jelly; while strong death is loosing his Silver Cord and breaking his Golden Bowl. Wherefore I say this Motive weareth a Spur on his Heel, a Spur to prick us on to the Throne of Grace for Mercy and Grace to help in time of need.

Eccles. 12. 5. Eccles. 12. 6.

104. But Secondly, I come now to the next thing, which is to shew, that nothing can carry us through our needy times, but more, or a continual supply of Mercy and Grace. This the Text fully implies, because it directeth us to the Throne of Grace for Mercy and Grace for that very end. And had there been any thing else that could have done it, the Apostle would have made mention of it, and would also have directed the Saints unto it. But for as much as he here makes mention of the needy time, and directs them to the Throne of Grace for Mercy and Grace to help, it followeth that that Mercy and Grace, and that only, can help us in the evil time.

Now Mercy and Grace are to be distinctly considered.

1. Mercy, for that by it we have through Christ the continuation and multiplication of forgivenesses, without which there is no Salvation.

2. Grace, for that by it we are upheld, supported, and inabled to go through our needy times, as Christians, without which there is no Salvation neither. The first, all will grant, the second is clear. If any Man draws back, my Soul shall have no pleasure in him; but we are not of them that draw back unto perdition, but of them that believe to the saving of the Soul. Heb. 10. 38, 39.

105. First, Mercy is that by which we are pardoned, even all the falls, faults, failings and weaknesses that attend us, and that we are incident to in this our day of temptation; and for THIS Mercy we should pray, and say, our Father, forgive us our trespasses. For though Mercy is free in the exercise of it to us-ward, yet God will have us ask, that we may have; as he also saith in the Text, let us come boldly to the Throne of Grace that we may obtain Mercy. Here then we have one help, and that is, the Mercy of God is to be extended to us from his Throne through Jesus Christ, for our pardon and forgiveness in all those weaknesses that we are attended with in the needy, or evil times; and we should come to God for this very thing. This is that which David means, when he says, surely Goodness and Mercy shall follow me all the days of my life, and I will dwell in the House of the Lord for ever. And again, when I said my Foot slipt, thy Mercy O Lord held me up. Set me clear and free from guilt, and from the imputation of sin unto death, by Christ. Matt. 6. 9, 10, 11, 12. Psal. 23. 6.

Nor can any thing help where this is wanting: For our parts, our knowledge, our attainments, nor our Graces cannot so carry us through this World, but that we shall be guilty of that that will sink us down to Hell, without Gods pardoning Mercy. It is not the Grace that we have received can do it, nor the Grace that is to be received that can do it; nothing can do it but the pardoning Mercy of God; for because all our Graces are here imperfect, they cannot produce a spotless obedience. But where there is not a spotless obedience, there must of necessity follow a continuation of pardon and forgiveness by Mercy, or I know what will become of the Soul.

106. Here therefore the Apostle lays an obligation upon thee to the Throne of Grace, to wit, that thou mayest obtain Mercy, a continuation of Mercy, Mercy as long as thou art like to live this vain life on the earth; Mercy that will reach through all thy days: for there is not a day, nor a duty; not a day that thou livest, nor a duty thou doest, but will need that Mercy should come after to take away thy iniquity. Nay, thou canst not receive Mercy so clearly as not to stand in need of another act of Mercy to pardon weakness in thy no better receiving the last. We receive not our Mercies, so humbly, so readily, so gladly, and with that thankfulness as we should; and therefore for the want of these, have the need of another, and another act of Gods sin-pardoning Mercy, and need shall have thereof as long as evil time shall last with us.

But is not this great Grace that we should thus be called upon to come to God for Mercy! Yea, is not God unspeakably good, in providing such a Throne of Grace, such a Sacrifice, such an High-priest, and so much Mercy for us, and then to invite us to come with boldness to him for it? Nay, doth not his kindness yet further appear, by giving of us Items and intimations of needy times, and evil days, on purpose to provoke us to come to him for Mercy?

This then shews us, as also we have hinted before, that the Throne of Grace, and Christ Jesus our High-priest are both provided upon the account of our imperfections, namely, that we who are called, might not be by remaining weaknesses hindred of, but obtain eternal inheritance. Weaknesses, such weaknesses remain in the justified, and such slips and failings are found in and upon them, that call for a course of Mercy, and forgiveness to attend them.

Farther, This also intimates that Gods People should not be dejected at the apprehensions of their imperfections; I say, not so dejected, as therefore to cast off Faith, and Hope, and Prayer; for a Throne of Grace is provided for them, to the which they may, they must, they ought continually to resort for Mercy, sin-pardoning Mercy.

107. Secondly, As we are here to obtain Mercy, so we are here to find Grace. They that obtain Mercy, shall find Grace, therefore they are put together. That they may obtain Mercy and find Grace; only they must obtain Mercy first; for as forgiveness at first, goes before sanctification in the general, so forgiveness afterwards goes before particular acts of Grace for further sanctification: God giveth not the Spirit of Grace to those that he has not first forgiven by Mercy for the sake of Christ: Also so long as he as a Father forbears to forgive us as his adopted, so long we go without those further additions of Grace that are here suggested in the Text. But when we have obtained Mercy to forgive, then we also find Grace to our renewing. Therefore he saith, first obtain Mercy, and then find Grace.

Grace here, I take to be that Grace, which God has appointed for us, to dwell in us; and that by, and through the continual supply of which, we are to be inabled to do and suffer, and to manage our selves in doing and suffering according to the will of God. Let us have Grace whereby we may serve him acceptably with reverence and godly fear. So again, he giveth more Grace; wherefore he saith, God resisteth the proud, but giveth Grace to the humble. The Grace therefore that this Text intends is, Grace given or to be Heb. 12. 28. Prov. 3. 34. Jam. 4. 6. 1 Pet. 5. 5.

given; Grace received or to be received. Grace, a Root, a Principle of Grace with its continual ſupplies for the perfecting of that Salvation that God has deſigned for us.

108. This was that which comforted Paul; when the Meſſenger of Satan was ſent to buffet him, 'twas ſaid unto him by Chriſt, My grace is ſufficient for thee; As who ſhould ſay, Paul, be not utterly caſt down, I have where-withal to make thee ſtand, and overcome, and that is my Grace, by which thou ſhalt be ſupported, ſtrengthened. comforted and made to live a triumphant life, notwithſtanding all that oppreſs thee. But this came to him upon his praying; for this I prayed to God thrice, ſaid he. So again, God is able to make all Grace abound towards you, that ye always having all-ſufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work. Thus you ſee that by Grace in theſe places is meant that Spirit, and thoſe Principles of Grace, by the increaſe and continual ſupply of which we are inwardly ſtrengthened and made to abound to every good work.

2 Cor. 12. 9.

2 Cor. 9. 8.

This then is the concluſion; That as there is mercy to be obtained by us, at the Throne of Grace for the pardon of all our weakneſſes; ſo there is alſo Grace there to be found that will yet ſtrengthen us more, to all good walking and living before him. He giveth more Grace, and they receive one time or another abundance of Grace that ſhall reign in life by one Jeſus Chriſt.

109. This then teaches us ſeveral things, ſome of which I will mention: As

1. That nature, as nature, is not capable of ſerving of God; no, not nature where Grace dwels, as conſidered abſtract from that Grace that dwels in it. Nothing can be done aright without Grace, I mean no part nor piece of Goſpel duty. Let us have Grace whereby we may ſerve him acceptably. Nature managed by Grace, ſeaſoned with Grace, and held up with Grace, can ſerve God acceptably. Let us have Grace, ſeek for and find Grace to do ſo; for we cannot do ſo but by Grace. By the Grace of God I am what I am; and his Grace which was beſtowed on me was not in vain; but I laboured more abundantly than they all; yet not I, but the Grace of God which was in me.

1 Cor. 15. 10.

What can be more plain than this beautiful Text? For the Apoſtle doth here quite ſhut out nature, ſanctified nature, (for he indeed was a ſanctified Man) and concludes that even he, as of himſelf, did nothing of all the great works that he did; but they were done, he did them by the Grace of God that was in him. Wherefore nature, ſanctified nature, as nature, can of it ſelf do nothing to the pleaſing of God the Father.

110. Is not this the experience of all the godly? can they do that at all times, which they can do at ſome times? can they pray, believe, love, fear, repent, and bow before God always alike? No. Why ſo? they are the ſame Men, the ſame humane nature, the ſame Saints: Ay, but the ſame Grace, in the ſame degree, operation and life of Grace, doth not ſo now work on that Man, that nature, that Saint; therefore notwithſtanding he is what he is, he cannot do at all times alike.

Thus therefore it is manifeſt that nature ſimply as ſuch is a great way off of doing that which is acceptable with God. Refined, purified, ſanctified nature cannot do but by the immediate ſupplies, lifts, and helps of that Spirit and principle of Grace by the which it is ſo ſanctified.

111. 2. As nature, even where Grace is, cannot without the aſſiſtance of that Grace do any thing acceptably before God; ſo Grace received, if it be not alſo ſupplied with more Grace, cannot cauſe that we continue to do acceptable ſervice to God. This alſo is clear by the Text. For he ſpeaketh there to them that had received Grace; yea, puts himſelf into the number, ſaying, let us come boldly to the Throne of Grace, that we may find Grace to help in time of need. If Grace received would do, what need of more? What need we pray for more? what need we go to the Throne of Grace for more? This very exhortation ſaith it will not: Preſent ſupplies of Grace are proportioned to our preſent need, and to help us to do a preſent work or duty. But is our preſent need all the need that we are like to have, and the preſent work, all the work that we have to do in the World? Even ſo the Grace that we have received at preſent, though it can help us to do a preſent work, it cannot without a further ſupply help us to do what is to be done hereafter. Wherefore the Apoſtle ſaith, that his continuing to do was through his obtaining help, continual help of God. Having therefore, ſaith he, obtained help of God, I continue to this day witneſſing both to ſmall and great, &c. There muſt be a dayly imploring of God for dayly ſupplies from him, if we will do our dayly buſineſs as we ſhould.

Acts 26. 22.

112. A preſent diſpenſation of Grace, is like a good meal, a ſeaſonable ſhower, or a penny in ones pocket, all which will ſerve for the preſent neceſſity. But will that good Meal that I eat laſt week, inable me, without ſupply, to do a good days work in this? or will that ſeaſonable ſhower that fell laſt year, be without ſupplies, a ſeaſonable help to the grain and graſs that is growing now? or will that penny that ſupplied my want the other day, I ſay, will the ſame penny alſo, without a ſupply, ſupply my wants to day?

The ſame may, I ſay, be ſaid of Grace received, it is like the Oyl in the lamp, it muſt be fed, it muſt be added to: and there there ſhall be a ſupply, wherefore he giveth more Grace. Grace is the Sap, which from the Root maintaineth the Branches; ſtop the Sap, and the Branch will wither: Not that the Sap ſhall be ſtopt where there is union, union, not ſtopt for altogether; for as from the Root the Branch is ſupplied, ſo from Chriſt is every member furniſhed with a continual ſupply of Grace if it doth as it ſhould, of his fulneſs have all we received, and Grace for Grace.

Joh. 1.16.

113. The day of Grace, is the day of expence, this is our ſpending time. Hence we are called pilgrims and ſtrangers in the earth, that is, travailers from place to place, from ſtate to ſtate, from tryal to tryal. Now as the travailer at a freſh Inn is made to ſpend freſh Mony: ſo Chriſtians at a freſh temptation, at a new temptation are made to ſpend freſh and a new ſupply of Grace. Great Men when, and while their Sons are Travailers, appoint that their Bags of Mony be lodged ready, or conveniently paid in at ſuch and ſuch a place for the ſuitable relief of them; and ſo they meet with ſupplies. Why ſo are the Sons of the great one, and he has allotted that we ſhould travail, that we ſhould travail beyond Sea, or at a great diſtance from our Fathers Houſe; wherefore he has appointed that Grace ſhall be provided for us, to ſupply at ſuch a place, ſuch a ſtate or temptation as need requires: But withal, as my Lord expecteth his Son ſhould acquaint him with the preſent emptineſs of his Purſe, and with the difficulty he hath now to grapple with; ſo God our Father expects that we ſhould plead by Chriſt our need, at the Throne of Grace, in order to a ſupply of Grace. Let us therefore come boldly unto the Throne of Grace, that we may obtain Mercy and find Grace to help in time of need.

Heb. 11.

114. Now then, this ſhews the reaſon why many Chriſtians that are indeed poſſeſſed with the Grace of God, do yet walk ſo odly, act ſo poorly, and live ſuch ordinary lives in the World. They are like to thoſe Gentlemens Sons that are of the more extravagant ſort; that walk in their lowzy hue, when they might be maintained better. Such young Men care not, perhaps ſcorn to acquaint their Father with their wants, and therefore walk in their threadbare Jackets, with Hoſe and Shooes out at Heels; a right emblem of the uncircumſpect Child of God.

This alſo ſhews the reaſon of all thoſe dreadful falls and miſcarriages that many of the Saints ſuſtain; they make it not their buſineſs to watch to ſee what is coming, and to pray for a ſupply of Grace to uphold them; they with David are too careleſs, or with Peter too confident, or with the Diſciples too ſleepy, and ſo the temptation comes upon them, and their want like an armed Man.

This alſo ſhews the reaſon, why ſome, that to ones thinking, would fall every day; for that their want of parts, their ſmall experience, their little knowledge of Gods matters do ſeem to beſpeak it; yet ſtand, walk better, and keep their garments more white than thoſe that have, when compared with them, twice as much as they. They are praying Saints, they are often at the Throne of Grace, they are ſenſible of their weakneſs, keep a ſight of their danger before their Faces, and will not be contented without more Grace.

115. 3. And this leads me in the third place, to ſhew you, that were we wiſe, and did we ply it at the Throne of Grace, for Grace, as we ſhould, O what ſpotleſs lives might we live! We ſhould then have always help in time of need. For ſo the Text inſinuates, that we may obtain mercy, and find Grace to help in time of need.

This is that which Peter means, when he ſays, And beſides all this, that is, beſides your faith in Chriſt, and beſides your happy ſtate of Juſtification, Giving all diligence, add to your Faith, Vertue; and to Vertue knowledge; and to knowledge, temperance; and to temperance, patience; and to patience, Godlineſs; and to Godlineſs, brotherly kindneſs; and to brotherly kindneſs, Charity. For if theſe things be in you and abound, (and be continually ſupplied with a ſupply from the Throne of Grace) they make you that ye ſhall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt; but he that lacketh theſe things is blind, and cannot ſee a far off, and has forgotten that he was purged from his old ſins. Wherefore the rather brethren give diligence to make your calling and election ſure; for if you do theſe things, ye ſhall never fall. For ſo an entrance ſhall be Miniſtred unto you abundantly into the everlaſting kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jeſus Chriſt.

2 Pet. 1.5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11.

116. The greateſt part of profeſſors now-a-days take up their time in contracting of guilt and asking for pardon, and yet are not much the better. Whereas, if they had but the Grace to add to their Faith, Vertue, &c. they might have more peace, live better lives, and not have their Heads ſo often in a Bag as they have. To him that ordereth his converſation aright, will I ſhew the Salvation of God. To him that diſpoſeth his way aright; now this cannot be done without a conſtant ſupplicating at the Throne of Grace for more Grace. This then is the reaſon why every new temptation that comes upon thee, ſo foyls, ſo overcomes thee; that thou wilt need a new converſion to be recovered from under the power and guilt that cleaves to thee by its overſhadowing of thee.

Pſal. 50. 23.

A new temptation, a ſudden temptation, an unexpected temptation uſually foyls thoſe that are not upon their watch, and that have not been before with God to be inlayed with Grace proportionable to what may come upon them.

That ye may find Grace to help in time of need. There is Grace to be found at the Throne of Grace, that will help us under the greateſt ſtraits. Seek and ye ſhall find; 'tis there, and it is to be found there; tis to be found there of the ſeeking Soul, of the Soul that ſeeketh him. Wherefore I will conclude as I did begin: Let us therefore come boldly to the Throne of Grace, that we may obtain Mercy and find Grace to help in time of need.

We

117. We will now ſpeak ſomething by way of Concluſion, and ſo winde up the whole.

Firſt, You muſt remember that we have been hitherto ſpeaking of the Throne of Grace, and ſhewing what it is: That we have alſo been ſpeaking of Chriſts Sacrifice, and how he manages his Highprieſts Office before the Throne of Grace: We have alſo here, as you ſee, been ſpeaking of the Mercy and Grace that is to be obtained and found at this Throne of Grace, and of what advantage it is to us in this our pilgrimage; Now from all this, it follows, That ſin is a fearful thing; for all this adoe is, that Men might be ſaved from ſin. What a Devil then is ſin, tis the worſt of Devils, tis worſe than all Devils; thoſe that are Devils, ſin has made them ſo, nor could any thing elſe have made them Devils but ſin. Now I pray, what is it to be a Devil, but to be under, for ever, the power and dominion of ſin, an implacable Spirit againſt God? Such an one, from which implacableneſs all the power in Heaven and Earth cannot releaſe them, becauſe God of his Juſtice has bound them over to Judgment. Theſe Spirits are by ſin carried quite away from themſelves, as well as from God that made them; they cannot deſign their own good, they cannot leave that which yet they know will be everlaſtingly miſchievous to themſelves. Sin has bound them to it ſelf ſo faſt, that there can be no deliverance for them, but by the Son of God, who alſo has refuſed them, and left them to themſelves and to the Judgment which they have deſerved. Sin alſo has got a victory over Man, has made him an enemy to God, and to his own Salvation; has caught him, captivated him, carried away his mind, and will, and heart from God; and made him chooſe to be vain, and to run the hazard of eternal damnation with rejoycing and delight. But God left not Man, where he left thoſe wicked Spirits, to wit, under the everlaſting Chains of darkneſs, reſerved unto Judgment; but deviſed means for their ranſom, and reconciliation to himſelf, which is the thing that has been diſcourſed of in the foregoing part of this Book. But I ſay what a thing is ſin, what a Devil, and Maſter of Devils is it, that it ſhould, where it takes hold, ſo hang that nothing can unclinch its hold, but the Mercy of God, and the heart-blood of his dear Son? Oh the fretting, eating, infecting, defiling, and poiſonous nature of ſin that it ſhould SO eat into our fleſh and Spirit, Body and Soul, and SO ſtain us with its vile and ſtinking nature! yea, it has almoſt turned Man into the nature of it ſelf: inſomuch as that ſometimes, when nature is mentioned, ſin is meant, and when ſin is mentioned, nature is meant.

118. 2 Sam 15. 15. Ephes. 2. 3. Chap 5. 8.

Wherefore ſin is a fearful thing; a thing to be lamented, a thing to be abhorred, a thing to be fled from with more aſtoniſhment and trembling than one would fly from any Devil; becauſe it is the worſt of things, and that without which nothing can be bad; and becauſe where it takes hold, it ſo faſtneth that nothing, as I have ſaid, can releaſe whom it has made a Captive, but the Mercy of God and the heart-blood of his dear Son. Oh what a thing is ſin!

Secondly, As by what hath been ſaid, ſin appears to be exceeding ſinful; ſo from hence it alſo follows, that the Soul is a precious thing. For you muſt know all this is for the Redemption of the Soul. (The Redemption of the Soul is precious) I ſay tis for the redemption of the Soul, 'twas for this that Chriſt was made a Prieſt, a Sacrifice, an Altar, a Throne of Grace: Yea, Sin, a Curſe, and what not that was neceſſary for our deliverance from ſin, and death and everlaſting damnation. 119. Pſal. 49. 8, 6c.

He that would know what a Soul is, let him read in letters of blood, the price and purchaſe of the Soul. It was not for a light, a little, an inconſiderable thing that Chriſt Jeſus underwent what he ſuffered, when he was in the World, and gave himſelf a ranſom for Souls. No, no: The Soul is a great, a vaſt great thing, notwithſtanding it is ſo little ſet by, of ſome: Some prefer any thing that they fanſie, above the Soul; a Slut, a Lie, a Pot, an act of fraudulency, the ſwing of a prevailing paſſion; any thing ſhall be preferred when the occaſion offereth it ſelf. If Chriſt had ſet as little by Souls, as ſome Men do, he had never left his Fathers boſom, and the glory that he had with him; he had never SO humbled himſelf, SO gave himſelf to puniſhment, affliction and ſorrow; and made himſelf SO the object of ſcorn, and contempt and reproach as he did, and all that the Souls of Sinners might live a life in glory with him.

120. But methinks this is the myſtery of all as to this, that the SOUL ſhould take that pains, contrive ſuch ways, and take ſuch advantages againſt it ſelf! for 'tis the Soul that ſins, that the Soul might die. Oh ſin, what art thou! what haſt thou done! and what ſtill wilt thou further do! if Mercy, and blood, and Grace doth not prevent thee. Oh ſilly Soul! what a Fool has ſin made of thee, what an Aſs art thou become to ſin! That ever an immortal Soul, at firſt made in the Image of God, for God and for his delight, ſhould ſo degenerate from its firſt ſtation, and ſo abaſe it ſelf that it might ſerve ſin, as to become the Devils Ape and to play like Jack pudding for him upon any Stage, or Theater in the World.

But I recall my ſelf; for if ſin can make one, who was ſometimes a glorious Angel in Heaven, now SO to abuſe himſelf as to become, to appearance, as a filthy Frog, a Toad, a Rat, a Cat, a Fly, a Mouſe, a Dog, or Bitches Whelp, to ſerve its ends upon a poor mortal that it might gull them of everlaſting life; no marvel if the Soul is ſo beguil'd as to ſell it ſelf from God, and all good for ſo poor a nothing as a momentary pleaſure is. But,

121. Thirdly, if ſin and the Soul are ſuch great things, then behold the Love, and care of God

God; the love to Souls, the care he hath taken to deliver them from sin. Sin, as I have said, is SUCH a thing, as, from which no Man can deliver himself; the Soul is SUCH a thing, so rich and valuable, in the nature of it, that scarce one in twenty thousand counts of it as they should. But God, the lover of mankind and the greatest enemy to sin, has provided means effectually to overthrow the one, and to save and secure the other. Behold therefore the love of God, the care of God for us; for when we neither loved nor cared for our selves, God both loved us and cared for us. God commended his love towards us in sending his Son to be the propitiation for our sins.

Let it be then concluded, that God is love, and that the love that God hath to us, is such, as we never had for our selves. We have been often tryed about our own love to our selves, and it has been proved over, and over, and over, that sometimes, even we that are Christians, could, and would, had it been possible, have pawned our selves, our Souls, and our interest in Christ, for a foul and beastly lust. But God, who is rich in Mercy for his great love wherewith he loved us, would not suffer it so to be. Now if we are so fickle and uncertain in our love to our selves, as to value our Salvation at so low and so base a rate; can it be imagined that ever we should, had it been left to our choise, have given the best of what we have for the Salvation of our Souls.

122. Yet God gave his Son to be the Saviour of the World. I say again, If our love is so slender to our own Souls, can any think that it should be more full to the Souls of others! And yet God had such love to us as to give his only begotten Son for OUR sins. Yet again, how should it be that we, who are usually so affected with the conceit of our own happiness, since we care no more for our own Souls, do our best to secure the Souls of others? And yet God, who is infinitely above all creatures, has so condescended, as to concern himself and to give the best of his flock, even his only beloved Son for very dust and ashes.

4. Wherefore herein is love, not that we loved God (or our neighbour) but that God loved us, and gave his Son to be a propitiation for our sins.

3. Fourthly, Is sin so vile a thing, is the Soul so precious a thing, and is Gods love and care of the Salvation of the Souls of sinners infinitely greater, than is their own care for their own Souls: Then this should teach those concerned, to blush, to blush, I say, and to cover their Faces with shame. There is nothing, as I know of, that more becomes a sinner than blushing and shame doth. For he is the harbourer, the Nurse, and nourisher of that vile thing called SIN; that, SO great an enemy of God, and that, SO great an enemy to the Soul. It becomes him also, if he considers what a creature God has made him, and how little he hath set by his own creation, and by the matter of which God has made his Soul. Let him also consider unto what base things he has stooped, and prostrated himself, while things infinitely better have stood by and offered themselves unto him freely; yea, how he has cast that God that made him, and his Son that came to redeem him, quite behind his back, and before their Faces imbraced, loved, and devoted himself unto him that seeks nothing more than the damnation of his Soul.

Ah Lord! when will foolish Man be wise, and come to God with his hands upon his 124.
head, and with his Face covered with shame to ask him forgiveness, for that wickedness which he has committed; which is wickedness committed not only against Holiness, and Justice, against which also Men by nature have an Antipathy, but against Mercy and love, without which Man cannot tell what to do.

Blush sinner, blush. Ah that thou hadst Grace to blush! But this is Gods complaint: were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? Nay, they were not at Jer. 8. 12.
all ashamed, neither could they blush; tis a sad thing that Men should be thus void of consideration, and yet they are so. They are at a continual Jest with God and his Word, with the Devil and sin, with Hell and Judgment. But they will be in earnest one day; but that one day, will be too late.

Fifthly, Is it so that God, though sin is so fearful a thing, has prepared an effectual 125.
remedy against it, and purposed to save us from the evil and damning effects thereof? 1, Then this should beget thankfulness in the hearts of the godly, for they are made partakers of this Grace, I say it should beget thankfulness in thy heart. Thanks be to 2 Cor. 9, God for his unspeakable gift, said the Apostle, 15.
when he seriously thought of that which was much inferior to what we have been a discoursing of. That was about Mans willingness to do good, this is about Gods: That was about Mens willingness to give Mony to poor Saints, this about Gods willingness to give Christ Jesus his Son to the World. 'Twas the thoughts of this redemption and Salvation that made David say, Bless the Lord, O my Psal. 103.
Soul, and all that is within me, bless his Holy 1, 2, 3.
name.

Oh! they that are partakers of redeeming Grace, and that have a Throne of Grace, (a Covenant of Grace) and a Christ that is the Son of Gods love, to come to, and to live by, should be a thankful people. By him Heb. 13.
therefore let us offer the Sacrifice of praise 15.
continually, giving thanks in his name!

How many obligations has God laid upon his People to give thanks to him at every 126.
remembrance of his Holiness.

2. Study the Priesthood, the High-priesthood of Jesus Christ, both the first and second part thereof: The first part was that, when he offered up himself without the Gate, when he bear our sins in his own body on the Tree:

The

The second part is that which he executeth there whither he is now gone, even in Heaven it self, where the Throne of Grace is. I say study what Christ has done and is a doing. Oh! what is he a doing now? he is sprinkling his blood with his priestly robes on, before the Throne of Grace; that is too too little thought on by the Saints of God. We have such an High-priest who is set down on the right Hand of the Majesty in the Heavens, a Minister of the Sanctuary and of the true Tabernacle, which the Lord pitched, and not Man. Busie thy self fellow-Christian about this blessed Office of Christ. Tis full of good, tis full of sweet, tis full of Heaven, tis full of relief and succour for the tempted and dejected; wherefore I say again study these things, give thy self wholly to them.

Heb. 8. 1, 2, 3.

127. Sixthly, Since God has prepared himself a Lamb, a Sacrifice, a Priest, a Throne of Grace, and has bid thee come to him, come to him as there sitting; Come, come boldly, as he bids thee. What better warrant canst thou have to come, than to be bid to come of God? When the good Man himself bids the Begger come to his House, then he may come, then he may come boldly; the consideration of the invitation doth incourage. That we have our Friend at Court, should also make us come boldly. Jesus as has been shewed, as Sacrifice and High-priest is there, In whom we may have boldness, and access with confidence by the Faith of him. Again, By him also we have access by faith unto this Grace, wherein we stand, and rejoyce in hope of the glory of God. Again, we have boldness Brethren, to enter in to the Holyest by the blood of Jesus.

Eph. 3. 12. Rom. 5. 2. Heb. 10. 19, 22.

What can be more plain, more incouraging, more comfortable to them that would obtain Mercy, and find Grace to help in time of need!

Tis a dishonour to God, disadvantage to thee, and an incouragement to Satan, when thou hangest back and seemst afraid to come boldly to the Throne of Grace. Let us therefore draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water; let us hold fast the profession of our Faith without wavering, (for he is faithful that promised) and let us consider one an another to provoke unto love and to good works.

CHRIST

A
Compleat Saviour:
Or the Intercession of Christ, and who are priviledged in it.

By JOHN BUNYAN.

HEBREWS 7. 25.

1. Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost, that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make Intercession for them.

THE Apostle, in this Chapter, presenteth us with two things: that is, with the greatness of the person, and of the Priesthood of our Lord Jesus.

First, He presenteth us with the greatness of his person, in that he preferreth him before Abraham, who is the father of us all: Yea, in that he preferreth him before Melchisedeck, who was above Abraham, and blessed him who had the promises.

Secondly, As to his Priesthood, he sheweth the greatness of that, in that he was made a Priest, not by the law of a carnal commandment, but by the Power of an endless Life. Not without, but with an Oath, by him that said, The Lord sware and will not repent, thou art a Priest for ever after the Order of Melchisedeck; wherefore this man, because he liveth ever, hath an unchangeable priesthood. Now my Text is drawn from this conclusion, namely, that Christ abideth a Priest continually. Wherefore he is able also to save to the uttermost them that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them.

2. In the Words I take notice of four things.

1. Of the Intercession of Christ. He maketh Intercession.

2. Of the Benefit of his Intercession, wherefore he is able also to save to the uttermost. &c.

3. We have also here set before us the persons interested in this Intercession of Christ: And they are those that come unto God by him.

4. We have also here the certainty of their reaping this benefit by him, to wit, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them. Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost, that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them.

We will begin with his Intercession, and will shew you,

1. What that is.

2. For what he intercedes, and,

3. What is also to be inferred from Christ's making Intercession for us.

I begin then with the first, that is, to shew you, what Intercession is. Intercession is Prayer; but all Prayer is not Intercession. Intercession then is, that Prayer that is made by a third person, about the concerns that are between two. And it may be made either to set them at further difference, or to make them friends. (For Intercession may be made against, as well as for a person or people) Wote ye not what the Scripture saith of Elias, how he maketh intercession to God against Israel? But the Intercession that we are now to speak of, is not an Intercession of this kind, not an Intercession against, but an Intercession for a People. He ever liveth to make intercession for them. The High-Priest is ordained for, but not to be against the People. Every High Priest taken from among men, is ordained for men, in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people, or that he may offer both Gifts and Sacrifices for sin. This then is Intercession, and the Intercession of Christ is to be between two, between God and Man, for Man's good. And it extendeth it self unto these:

Rom. 11. 2, 3.

Heb. 5. 1.

3. 1. To pray that the Elect may be brought all home to him, that is, to God.

2. To pray that their ſins committed after Converſion, may be forgiven them.

3. To pray that their Graces which they receive at Converſion, may be maintained and ſupplied.

4. To pray that their Perſons may be preſerved unto his heavenly Kingdom.

This is the Interceſſion of Chriſt, or that for which he doth make Interceſſion.

Firſt, He prayes for all the Elect, that they may be brought home to God, and ſo into the Unity of the Faith, &c. This is clear, for that he ſaith, neither pray I for theſe alone, that is, for thoſe only that are converted, but for them alſo that ſhall believe on me through their word, for all them that ſhall, that are appointed to believe, or as you have it a little above, for all them which thou haſt given me. And the reaſon is, for that he hath paid a Ranſom for them. Chriſt therefore, when he maketh Interceſſion for the Ungodly, (and all the unconverted Elect are ſuch) doth but petitionarily ask for his own, his purchaſed ones, thoſe, for whom he died before, that they might be ſaved by his Blood.

Joh. 17. 9, 20.

Iſa. 53. Ult.

4. Secondly, when any of them are brought home to God, he yet prayes for them; namely, that the ſins which through infirmity they after Converſion may commit, may alſo be forgiven them.

This is ſhewed us by the Interceſſion of the High-prieſt under the Law that was to bear away the iniquities of the holy things of the Children of Iſrael: Yea, and alſo by his atonement for them that ſinned: For that it ſaith, And the Prieſt ſhall make an atonement for him, for the ſin which he hath ſinned, and it ſhall be forgiven him.

This alſo is intimated even where our Lord doth make Interceſſion, ſaying, I pray not that thou ſhouldeſt take them out of the world, but that thou ſhouldeſt keep them from the evil.

That Chriſt pray'd that the converted ſhould be kept from all manner of commiſſion of ſin, muſt not be ſuppoſed: for that's the way to make his Interceſſion, at leaſt in ſome things, invalid, and to contradict himſelf: for ſaith he, I know thou heareſt me always: but the meaning is, I pray that thou wouldeſt keep them from ſoul-damning deluſions, ſuch as are unavoidably ſuch, alſo that thou wouldeſt keep them from the ſoul-deſtroying evil of every ſin, of every temptation: Now this he doth by his prevailing, and by his pardoning Grace.

Levit. 5. 10, 18, 16, 18. Joh. 17. 15. Chap. 11, 42.

5. Thirdly, In his Interceſſion, he prayeth alſo that thoſe graces which we receive at converſion, may be maintained and ſupplied. This is clear where he ſaith, Simon, Simon, Satan has deſired to have you that he might ſift you as wheat, but I have prayed for thee that thy faith fail not. Ay may ſome ſay, he is ſaid to pray here for the ſupport, and ſupply of Faith, but doth it therefore follow, that he prayed for the maintaining and ſupply of all our Graces? yes, in that he prayed for the preſervation of our Faith, he prayed for the preſervation of all our Graces. For Faith is the Mother Grace, the root Grace, the grace that hath all others in the Bowels of it, and that, from the which all others flow: Yea, it is that which gives being to all our other graces, and that by which all the reſt do live. Let then Faith be preſerved, and all graces continue and live, that is according to the preſent ſtate, health, and degree of Faith. So then Chriſt prayed for the preſervation of every Grace, when he prayed for the preſervation of Faith. That text alſo is of the ſame tendency, where he ſaith, keep through thine own name thoſe whom thou haſt given me: keep them in thy fear, in the Faith, in the true Religion, in the way of life by thy Grace, by thy Power, by thy Wiſdom, &c. This muſt be much of the meaning of this place, and he that excludes this ſence, will make but poor work of another expoſition.

Luk. 22. 31, 32. Joh. 17. 11.

6. Fourthly, He alſo in his Interceſſion, prayeth that our perſons be preſerved, and brought ſafe unto his heavenly Kingdom. And this he doth

1. By pleading intereſt in them.

2. By pleading that he had given by promiſe, glory to them.

3. By pleading his own reſolution to have it ſo.

4. By pleading the reaſon why it muſt be ſo.

Firſt, He prayes that their perſons may come to glory, for that they are his, and that by the beſt of titles: Thine they were, and thou gaveſt them me. Father, I will have them, Father, I will have them, for they are mine; Thine they were, and thou gaveſt them me. What is mine, my Wife, or my Child, or my Jewel, or my Joy; ſure I may have it with me. Thus therefore he pleads, or cries in his Interceſſion, that our perſons might be preſerved to Glory: They are mine, and thou gaveſt them me.

Joh. 17. 6.

Secondly, He alſo pleads that he had given, given already, that is, in the promiſe, glory to them, and therefore they muſt not go without it. And the glory which thou gaveſt me, I have given them. Righteous men when they give a good thing by promiſe, they deſign the performance of that promiſe. Nay, they more than deſign it, they purpoſe, they determine it. As the mad Prophet alſo ſaith of God, in another caſe, Hath he ſaid, and ſhall he not do it? or hath he ſpoken, and ſhall he not make it good. Hath Chriſt given us glory, and ſhall we not have it? Yea, hath the Truth it ſelf beſtowed it upon us, and ſhall thoſe to whom 'tis given, even given by Scripture of truth, be yet deprived thereof?

Joh. 17. 22. Numb. 23. 19.

7. Thirdly, He pleads, in his interceding that they might have glory, his own reſolution to have it ſo. Father, I will that thoſe whom thou haſt given me, be with me where I am. Behold ye here, he is reſolved to have it ſo. It muſt be ſo. It ſhall be ſo. I will have it ſo. We read of Adonijah, that his Father never denyed him in any thing. He never ſaid to him, Why haſt thou done ſo? (Indeed he denied him the Kingdom, for his Brother was heir of that from the Lord) How much more will our Father let our Lord Jeſus have his Mind and Will in this, ſince he alſo is as willing to have it ſo, as is the Son himſelf. Fear not, little flock, it is your Fathers good pleaſure to give you the Kingdom. Reſolu-tion will drive things far, especially resolution to do that, which none but they that cannot hinder, shall oppose. Why this is the case, The resollution of our Intercessor, is, that we be preserved to Glory; yea, and this resolution he pleads in his Intercession. Father, I will that those which thou hast given me, be with me, where I am, &c. Must it not therefore now be so?

oh. 17. 4.

Fourthly, He also in the last place, in this his Intercession, urges a reason why he will have it so, namely, That they may behold my glory, which thou hast given me, for thou lovedst me before the foundation of the World.

er. 24.

8. And this is a reason to the purpose. It is as if he had said, Father, these have continued with me in my Temptations, These have seen me under all my disadvantages, These have seen me in my poor, low, contemptible condition: These have seen what scorn, reproach, slanders, and disgrace I have born for thy sake in the World: And now I will have them also be, where they shall see me in my glory. I have told them that I am thy Son, and they have believed that; I have told them that thou lovest me, and they have believed that; I have also told them, that thou wouldst take me again to Glory, and they have believed that: But they have not seen my Glory, nor can they but be like the Queen of Sheba, they will but believe by the halves, unless their own eyes do behold it. Besides, Father, these are they that love me, and 'twill be an increase of their Joy, if they may but see me in Glory: 'Twill be as an Heaven to their hearts, to see their Saviour in Glory. I will therefore that those which thou hast given me, be with me where I am, That they may behold my glory. This therefore is a reason why Christ Jesus our Lord intercedes to have his people with him in Glory.

9. I come now to the third thing, namely, to shew you what is to be inferred from Christ his making Intercession for us.

First, This is to be inferred from hence, That Saints (for I will here say nothing of those of the Elect uncalled) do ofttimes give occasion of offence to God, even they that have received grace. For Intercession is made to continue one in the favour of another, and to make up those breaches that at any time shall happen to be made by one to the alienating of the affections of the other. And thus he makes reconciliation for inquity. For reconciliation may be made for iniquity two ways, First, by paying of a Price: Secondly, by insisting upon the Price payed for the offender, by way of Intercession. Therefore you read that as the Goat was to be killed, so his blood was by the Priest to be brought within the Veil, and in a way of Intercession to be sprinkled before, and upon the Mercy-seat. Then shall he kill the goat of the sin-offering that is for the people, and bring his blood within the veil, and do with that blood as he did with the blood of the Bullock, and sprinkle it upon the mercy-seat, and before the mercy-seat: and he shall make an atonement for the holy place, because of the uncleannesses of the Children of Israel, and because of their transgressions in all their Sins. And so shall he do for the tabernacle of the congregation, that remaineth among them, in the midst of all their uncleannesses. This was to be done as you see, that the Tabernacle which was the place of God's Presence and Graces, might yet remain among the children of Israel, notwithstanding their uncleannesses and transgressions. This also is the effect of Christ's Intercession, it is that the signs of God's presence and his grace might remain among his people, notwithstanding they have by their transgressions, so often provoked God to depart from them.

vit. 16. 16.

10. Secondly, By Christ's Intercession, I gather, That awakened Men and Women, such as the godly are, dare not after offence given come in their own names to make unto God an application for mercy. God in himself is a consuming Fire, and sin has made the best of us, as Stubble is to Fire: Wherefore they may not, they cannot, they dare not approach God's presence for help, but by and through a Mediator, and Intercessor. When Israel saw the Fire, the blackness and darkness, and heard the Thunder (and Lightning) and the terrible sound of the Trumpet, they said to Moses, Speak thou unto us, and we will hear: but let not God speak with us, lest we dye. Guilt and sense of the disparity that is betwixt God and us, will make us look out for a man that may lay his hand upon us both; and that may set us right in the eyes of our Father again. This I say I infer from the Intercession of Christ. For, if there had been a possibility of our ability to have approached God with advantage, without, what need had there been of the Intercession of Christ?

Exod. 20. 19. Deut. 18. 16.

Absolom durst not aproach, no not the presence of his Father by himself, without a Mediator and Intercessor: wherefore he sends to Joab to go to the King and make Intercession for him. Also, Joab durst not go upon that errand himself, but by the mediation of another. Sin is a fearful thing, it will quash and quail the courage of a Man, and make him afraid to approach the presence of him whom he has offended; though the offended is but a Man. How much more then shall it discourage a Man, when once loaden with guilt and shame, from attempting to approach the presence of a Holy, and a Sin-revenging God? Unless he can come to him through, and in the name of an Intercessor. But here now is the help and comfort of the people of God. There is to help them under all their infirmities, an Intercessor prepared, and at work; He ever liveth to make intercession.

2 Sam. 14. 32, 33. chap. 13.

11. Thirdly, I also inferr from hence, That should we out of an ignorant boldness and presumption, attempt, when we have offended, by our selves to approach the presence of God, God would not accept us. He told Eliphaz so. What Eliphaz thought, or was about to do, I know not: but God said unto him, my wrath is kindled against thee, and against thy two friends, for you have not spoken of me the thing that is right, as my servant Job hath. Therefore take unto you seven bullocks, and seven rams, and go to my servant Job, and offer up for your selves (that is, by him) a burnt offering, and my servant Job shall pray for you, for him will I accept, lest I deal with you after your folly, in that you have not spoken of me the thing that is right, like my servant Job. See here, an offence is a bar and an obstruction to acceptance with God, but by a Mediator, but by an Intercessor. He that comes to God by himself, God will answer him by himself, that is, without an Intercessor: and I will tell you, such are not like to get any pleasant, or comfortable answer, I will answer him that (so) cometh, according to the Ezek. 14. 7, 8. multitude of his Idols. And I will set my face against that man, and will make him a sign and a proverb, and I will cut him off from the midst of my people, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

He that intercedes for another, with an holy and just God, had need be clean himself, lest he with whom he so busieth himself, say to him, first clear thy self, and then come and speak for thy friend. Wherefore this is the very description, and qualification of this our Heb. 7. 25, 27. Highpriest and blessed Intercessor, For such an Highpriest became us, who is holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher than the Heavens, who needeth not daily, as those Highpriests, to offer up sacrifice first for his own sins, &c. Had we had such an Intercessor, we had been but in a very poor case; but we have one that becomes us, one that fits us to the purpose, one against whom our God hath nothing, can object nothing; one in whose mouth no guile could be found.

12. Fourthly, Since Christ is an Intercessor, I infer, That he has wherewithal in readiness to answer to any demands that may be propounded by him that hath been by us offended, in order to a renewing of peace, and letting out of that Grace to us that we have sinned away, and yet have need of. Oft-times the offended saith to the Intercessor, Well, thou comest to me about this man; what interest he has in thee, is one thing; what offence he has committed against me, is another. (I speak now after the manner of men.) Now what can an Intercessor do if he is not able to answer this question? But now, if he be able to answer this question, that is, according to Law and Justice, no question but he may prevail with the offended, for him for whom he makes intercession.

Why this is our case, to be sure thus far it is, we have offended a Just and a Holy God, and Jesus Christ is become Intercessor. He also knows full well, that for our parts, if it would save us from Hell, we cannot produce, towards a peace with God, so much as poor two farthings; that is, not any thing that can by Law and Justice be esteemed worth an Half-penny; yet he makes Intercession. It follows therefore that he has wherewith of his own, if that question afore is propounded, to answer to every reasonable demand. Hence it is said that he has Gifts as well as Sacrifice for Sin. Heb. 8. 3, 4. Every Highpriest is ordained to offer Gifts, and Sacrifices: wherefore it is of necessity that this man have somewhat also to offer. And observe it, the Apostle speaks here of Christ as in Heaven, there ministring in the second part of his Office: for if he were on earth, he should not be a Priest. These Gifts therefore, and this Sacrifice, he now offereth in Heaven by way of Intercession, urging, and pleading, as an Intercessor, the valuableness of his Gifts, for the pacifying of that wrath that our Father hath conceived against us for the disobediences that we are guilty of. A gift in secret pacifieth anger, and a reward in the bosom strong wrath. Prov. 21. 14.

What gifts these are, the Scripture every where testifies. He gave himself, he gave his life, he gave his All for us. Joh. 6. Gal. 1. 4. Ephes. 5. 21. 1 Tim. 2. 6. Mat. 20. 28.

These Gifts, as he offered them up at the demand of Justice, on Mount Calvary for us; so now he is in Heaven, he presenteth them continually before God, as Gifts, and Sacrifice, valuable for the Sins, for all the Sins that we through Infirmity do commit, from the day of our Conversion to the day of our Death. And these gifts are so satisfactory, so prevalent with God, that they always prevail for a continual remission of our sins with him. Yea, they prevail with him for more than for the remission of Sins; we have through their procurement, our Graces often renewed, the Devil often rebuked, the Snare often broken, Guilt often taken away from the Conscience, and many a blessed Smile from God, and Love-look from his Life-creating countenance.

13. Fifthly, Since Christ is an Intercessor, I infer that Believers should not rest at the Cross for Comfort; Justification they should look for there; but being justified by his Blood, they should ascend up after him to the Throne: at the Cross you will see him in his sorrows and humiliations, in his tears and blood; but follow him to where he is now, and then you shall see him in his Robes, in his Priestly Robes, and with his Golden Girdle about his Paps. Then you shall see him wearing the Breast-plate of Judgment, and with all your Names written upon his heart. Then you shall perceive that the whole Family in Heaven and Earth is named by him, and how he prevaileth with God, the Father of Mercies, for you. Stand still awhile, and listen, yea, enter with boldness into the Holiest, and see your Jesus, as he now appears in the presence of God for you; what work he makes against the Devil and Sin, and Death, and Hell for you. Ah! 'tis brave following of Jesus Christ to the Holiest, the Veil is rent, you may see with open Face, as in a Glass, the Glory of the Lord. This then is our Highpriest, this his Intercession, these the Benefits of it. It lieth on our part to improve it; and wisdom to do that also, comes from the Mercy-seat or Throne of Grace, where he, even our Highpriest, ever liveth to make intercession for us. To whom be Glory for ever and ever. Heb. 10. Chap. 4.

And thus have I spoke to the first thing, to wit, Of the Intercession of Christ: and now I come more particularly to speak to (the second) the benefits of his Intercession, namely, that we are saved thereby; wherefore he is able also to save them, seeing he maketh Intercession for them. He is able to save them to the uttermost.

In my handling of this head, I must shew you

14 1. What the Apostle means here by [save], wherefore he is able to [save].

2. What he means here by saving to the [uttermost.] He is able to save to the [uttermost.]

3. And

3. And then, thirdly, we shall do as we did in that foregoing, to wit, gather some Inferences from the whole, and speak to them.

First, what doth the Apostle mean here by [save] He is able to [save] them.

To Save, may be taken two ways; (in the general) I know it may be taken many ways, for there are many Salvations that we enjoy, yea, that we never knew of, nor can know, until we come thither, where all secret things shall be seen, and where that which has been done in darkness shall be proclaimed upon the House tops.

But I say there are two ways that this word may be taken.

1. To save in a way of Justification.
2. Or to save in a way of Preservation.

Now Christ saves both these ways: but which of these, or whether both of them are intended in this place, of that I shall tell you my thoughts anon; mean while I will shew you

1. What it is to be saved in the first sence.
2. And also how that is brought to pass.

15. To be saved, is to be delivered from guilt of Sin that is by the Law, as it is the Ministration of Death and Condemnation; or, to be set free therefrom, before God. This is to be saved: for he that is not set free therefrom, whatever he may think of himself, or whatever others may think concerning him, he is a condemned Joh. 3. 18. Man. It saith not, he shall be, but, he is condemned already. The reason is, for that he has deserved the sentence of the Ministration of Condemnation, which is the Law. Yea, that Law has already arraigned, accused, and condemned him before God, for that it hath found Ro. 6. 22. him guilty of Sin. Now he that is set free from this, or as the Phrase is, being made free from Sin, that is from the imputation of guilt, there can to him be no condemnation, no condemnation to Hell fire; but the person thus made free, may properly be said to be saved. Wherefore, as sometimes it saith, we shall be saved, respecting saving in the second sence, 1 Cor. 1. 18. or the utmost compleating of Salvation. So Eph. 2. 5. sometimes, it saith, we are saved, as respecting our being already secured from guilt, and so from condemnation to Hell for Sin, and so set safe, and quit from the second Death before God.

2. Now saving thus, comes to us by what Christ did for us in this World, by what Christ did for us, as suffering for us. I say, it comes to us thus; that is, it comes to us by Grace, through the Redemption that is in Christ. And Ro. 5. thus to be saved, is called Justification; Justifi- 1 Cor. 15. cation to life, because one thus saved, is, as I 1, 2, 3, 4. said, acquitted from Guilt, and that everlast- Ro. 5. 8, 9, ing Damnation, to which for Sin he had made 10. himself obnoxious by the Law.

Hence we are said to be saved by his Death, justified by his Blood, and reconciled to God by the Death of his Son; all which must respect his offering of himself on the day he died, and not his improving of his so dying in a way of intercession, because in the same place the Apostle reserveth a second, or an additional Salvation, and applieth that to his intercession, much more then being now, or already, justified by his Blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him, that is, through what he will further do for us. For if when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the Death of his Son, much more being reconciled, (that is, by his Death) we shall be saved by his life, his Intercession, which he ever liveth to compleat.

See here, we are said to be justified, reconciled already; and therefore we shall be saved, justified by his Blood and Death, and saved through him by his life.

Now the saving intended in the Text, is saving in this second sence; that is, a saving of us by preserving us, by delivering of us from all those hazards that we run betwixt our state of Justification, and our state of Glorification. Yea, such a saving of us, as we that are justified, need, to bring us into Glory. Therefore,

Secondly, When he saith he is able to save, 16. seeing he ever liveth to make intercession, he addeth saving to saving; saving by his life, to saving by his death; saving by his improving of his Blood, to saving by his spilling of his Blood. He gave himself a ransom for us, and now improves that gift in the presence of God, by way of Intercession.

For, as I have hinted already, the High-priests, under the Law, took the Blood of the Sacrifices that were offered for Sin, and brought it within the Veil, and there sprinkled it before, and upon the Mercy-seat, and by it made intercession for the people to an additional way of saving of them; the sum of which, Paul thus applies to Christ, when he saith, he can save, seeing he ever liveth to make Intercession.

That also in the Romans is clear to this purpose, Who is he that condemneth? 'Tis Christ that died. That is, Who is he that shall lay any thing to the charge of God's Elect to condemnation to Hell, since Christ has taken away the Curse, by his Death, from before God? Then he adds, that there is nothing that shall yet happen to us, shall destroy us, since Christ also liveth to make Intercession for us. Who shall condemn? It is Christ that died, yea rather that is risen again, who even is at the right hand of God, and maketh intercession for us. Ro. 8. 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39.

Christ then by his Death, saveth us as we are Sinners, Enemies, and in a state of Condemnation by Sin; and Christ by his life, Ro. 9. 7, 8, 9, 10. saveth us as considered justified, and reconciled to God by his Blood. So then, we have Salvation from that Condemnation that Sin had brought us unto, and Salvation from those ruins that all the Enemies of our Souls would yet bring us unto, but cannot: for the Intercession of Christ preventeth.

Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of 17. the Law; whatever the Law can take hold of to curse us for, that Christ has redeemed us from, by being made a curse for us. But this curse that Christ was made for us, must be confined to his Sufferings, not to his Exaltation; and consequently, not to his Intercession, Gal. 3. 13. for Christ is made no curse but when he suffered; not in his Intercession: so then, as he died, he took away the curse, and sin that was the cause thereof, by the Sacrifice of himself, and by by his life, his Interceſſion, he ſaveth us from all thoſe things that attempt to bring us into that Condemnation again.

THE Salvation then that we have by the Interceſſion of Chriſt, as was ſaid (I ſpeak now of them that are capable of receiving comfort, and relief by this Doctrine) is Salvation that follows upon, or that comes after Juſtification. We that are ſaved, as to Juſtification of Life, need yet to be ſaved with that that preſerveth to glory. For though by the death of Chriſt we are ſaved from the Curſe of the Law: Yet attempts are made by many, that we may be kept from the Glory, that juſtified perſons are deſigned for: And from theſe we are ſaved by his Interceſſion.

A Man, then, that muſt be eternally ſaved, is to be conſidered,

1. AS an Heir of Wrath.
2. AS an Heir of God,

AN Heir of Wrath he is in himſelf by ſin: An Heir of God, he is by Grace through Chriſt. Eph. 2. 3. Gal. 4, 7. Now, as an Heir of Wrath, he is redeemed; and as an Heir of God, he is preſerved: As an Heir of Wrath he is redeemed by Blood, and as an Heir of God he is preſerved by this Interceſſion.

18. CHRIST by his death then, puts me, I being reconciled to God thereby, into a juſtified ſtate, and God accepts me to grace and favour through him: But this doth not hinder, but that, all this notwithſtanding, there are, that would fruſtrate me of the end to which I am deſigned by this reconciliation to God, by redemption through Grace: and from the accompliſhing of this deſign, I am ſaved by the bleſſed Interceſſion of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt.

Object. 1. Perhaps ſome may ſay, we are not ſaved from all puniſhment of ſin by the death of Chriſt; and if ſo, ſo not from all danger of damnation by the Interceſſion of Chriſt.

Anſw. WE are ſaved from all puniſhment in Hell-Fire, by the death of Chriſt. Jeſus has delivered us from the wrath to come. 1 Theſ. 1. 10. So that as to this great puniſhment, God for his ſake has forgiven us all treſpaſes. Col. 2. 13. But we being tranſlated from being ſlaves to Satan, to be Sons of God; God reſerveth yet this liberty in his hand to chaſtiſe us, if we offend, as a Father chaſtizeth his Son: Deut. 8. 5. But this chaſtiſement is not in legal wrath, but in Fatherly affection, not to deſtroy us, but that ſtill we might be made to get advantage thereby, even be made partakers of his holineſs. Heb. 12. 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10. 11. This is, that we might not be condemned with the World. 1 Cor. 11. 32. As to the ſecond part of the Objection: There do (as we ſay, many things happen betwixt, or between, the Cup and the Lip) many things attempt to overthrow the work of God, and to cauſe that we ſhould periſh through our weakneſs, notwithſtanding the Price that hath by Chriſt been paid for us; but what ſaith the Scripture? Rom. 8. Who ſhall ſeparate us from the love of Chriſt? ſhall tribulation, or diſtreſs, or perſecution, or famine, or nakedneſs, or peril, or ſword? (As it is written, for thy ſake we are killed all the day long, we are accounted as ſheep for the ſlaughter) nay, in all theſe things we are more than conquerors, through him that loved us. For I am perſwaded that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things preſent, nor things to come; nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature: ſhall be able to ſeparate us from the love of God, which is in Chriſt Jeſus our Lord.

THUS the Apoſtle reckoneth up all the diſadvantages that a juſtified perſon is incident to in this life, and by way of challenge declares, that not any one of them, nor all together ſhall be able to ſeparate us from the love of God, that is towards us by Chriſt, his death and his Interceſſion.

Object. 2. IT may be further objected, that the Apoſtle doth here leave out ſin, unto which we know the Saints are ſubject, after Juſtification. And ſin of it ſelf, we need no other enemies, is of that nature, as to deſtroy the whole world. 19.

Anſw. SIN is ſin, in the nature of ſin, whereever it is found. But Sin as to the Damning effects thereof, is taken away from them unto whom Righteouſneſs is imputed for Juſtification. Nor ſhall any, or all the things aforementioned, though there is a tendency in every one of them to drive us unto Sin; drownd us through it, in Perdition and Deſtruction. I am perſwaded, ſays Paul, they ſhall never be able to do that. The Apoſtle therefore doth implicitly, though not expreſly, challenge Sin, yea, Sin by all its advantages; and then glorieth in the love of God in Chriſt Jeſus, from which he concludeth it ſhall never ſeparate the Juſtified. Beſides, it would now have been needleſs to have expreſly here put in Sin by it ſelf, ſeeing, before he had argued, that thoſe he ſpeaks of, were freely juſtified thereſrom.

ONE word more before I go to the ſecond Head. The Father, as I told you, has reſerved to himſelf a liberty to chaſtiſe his Sons, to wit, with temporal Chaſtiſements, if they offend. This ſtill abideth to us, notwithſtanding God's grace, Chriſt's death, or bleſſed Interceſſion. And this puniſhment is ſo ſurely intailed to the tranſgreſſons, that we who believe ſhall commit, that it is impoſſible that we ſhould be utterly freed therefrom. Inſomuch that the Apoſtle poſitively concludeth them to be Baſtards, what pretences to Sonſhip ſoever they have, that are not, for ſin, partakers of Fatherly chaſtiſements.

FOR the reverſing of this puniſhment, it is that we ſhould pray, if perhaps God will remit it, when we are taught to ſay, Our Father, forgive us our treſpaſſes. And he that admits of any other ſence as to this Petition, derogates from the death of Chriſt; or Faith, or both. For either he concludes that for ſome of his ſins, Chriſt did not die; or that he is bound to believe that God, though he did, has not yet, nor will forgive them, till from the petitioner ſome legal work be done. [Forgive us, as we forgive them that treſpaſs againſt us]. Mat. 6. 14. But now 15. apply this to temporal puniſhments, and then 'tis true that God has reſerved a liberty in his hand to puniſh even the ſins of his people upon them: Yea, and will not pardon their ſin, as to the remitting of ſuch puniſhment, unleſs ſome good work by them be done. If you forgive not men their treſpaſſes, neither will your heavenly father forgive your treſpaſſes. Chap. 18. 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35.

AND

AND this is the cauſe, why ſome that belong to God are yet ſo under the afflicting hand of God: They have ſinned, and God who is their Father, puniſheth; Yea, and this is the reaſon why ſome who are dear to God, have this kind of puniſhment never forgiven, but it abides with them to their lives end, goes with them to the day of their death: Yea, is the very cauſe of their death: By this puniſhment they are cut off out of the Land of the 1 Cor. 11. 32. Living. But all this is that they might not be condemned with the World.

CHRIS died not, to ſave from this puniſhment, Chriſt interceds not, to ſave from this puniſhment: nothing but a good life will ſave from this puniſhment, nor always that neither.

21. THE hidings of God's Face, the harſhneſs of his Providences, the ſevere and ſharp chaſtiſements that oft-times over-take the very ſpirits of his people: plainly ſhews that Chriſt died not to ſave from temporal puniſhments: prayes not to ſave from temporal puniſhments, that is abſolutely. God has reſerved a power to puniſh with temporal puniſhments the beſt and deareſt of his people, if need be. And ſometimes he remits them, ſometimes not, even as it pleaſes him.

I come now to the ſecond thing.

Secondly, I ſhall now ſhew you ſomething of what it is for Chriſt by his Interceſſion to
Gen. 49. 26 Deut. 30. 4. Mat. 5. 26. Mar. 13. 27. Luke 15. ſave to the [uttermoſt.] He is able to ſave them to the uttermoſt.

THIS is a great expreſſion, and carrieth with it much. Uttermoſt, ſignifieth, to the outſide, to the end, to the laſt, to the furtheſt part. And it hath reſpect both to perſons, and things.

1. TO Perſons. Some perſons are in their own apprehenſions, even further from Chriſt than any body elſe; afar off, a great way off, yet a coming, as the Prodigal was. Now theſe many times are exceedingly afraid; the ſight of that diſtance, that they think is betwixt Chriſt and them, makes them afraid. As it is ſaid in another caſe, They that dwell in the Pſal. 65. 8. uttermoſt parts, are afraid at thy tokens: So theſe are afraid they ſhall not ſpeed, not obtain that for which they come to God. But the Text ſays; He is able to ſave to the uttermoſt, to the very hindermoſt, them that come to God by him.

TWO ſorts of men ſeem to be far, very far from God.

1. THE Town-ſinner.

Neh. 1. 9. 2. THE great backſlider: but both theſe, if they come, he is able to ſave to the uttermoſt. He is able to ſave them from all thoſe dangers, that they fear will prevent their obtaining of that Grace and Mercy they would have to help them in time of need. The Publicans and Harlots enter into the Kingdom of Heaven.

22. Secondly, AS this Text reſpecteth Perſons: So it reſpecteth Things. There are ſome things with which ſome are attended, that are coming to God by Chriſt, that make their comeing hard, and very difficult.

1. THERE is a more than ordinary breaking up of the corruptions of their Nature. It ſeems as if all their luſts and vile paſſions of the fleſh were become Maſters, and might now do what they will with the Soul. Yea, they take this man, and toſs and tumble him like a Ball in a large place. This man is not Maſter of himſelf, of his thoughts, nor of his paſſions: his iniquities like the wind do carry him away. Iſa. 64. 6. He thinks to go forward, but this wind blows him backward, he laboureth againſt this wind, but cannot find that he getteth ground. He takes what advantage opportunity doth miniſter to him; but all he gets is to be beat out of heart, out of breath, out of courage. He ſtands ſtill, and pants, and gapeth as for life. I opened my mouth, and panted, ſaid David, for I longed for thy commandments. Pſal. 119. 131.

HE ſets forward again, but has nothing but labour and ſorrow.

2. NAY, to help forward his calamity, Satan (Angels) will not be wanting, both to trouble his head with the fumes of their ſtinking Breath; nor to throw up his heels in their dirty places. And while he was yet a coming, the Devil threw him down and tare him. Luk. 9. 42. How many ſtrange, hideous, and amazing Blaſphemies, have thoſe, ſome of thoſe, that are coming to Chriſt, injected and fixed upon their ſpirits againſt him. Nothing ſo common to ſuch, as to have ſome helliſh wiſh or other againſt God they are coming to, and againſt Chriſt, by whom they would come to him. Theſe Blaſphemies are like thoſe Frogs that I have heard of, that will leap up, and catch hold of, and hang by their Claws. Now help, Lord, now Lord Jeſus what ſhall I do? Now ſon of David have mercy upon me: I ſay, to lay theſe words, is hard work for ſuch an one. But he is able to ſave to the uttermoſt this comer to God by him.

3. THERE are alſo the oppoſitions of ſenſe and reaſon hard at work, for the Devil, againſt 23. the Soul. The men of his own houſe are riſen up againſt him. Ones ſenſe and reaſon, one would think, ſhould not fall in with the Devil againſt our ſelves; and yet nothing more common, nothing more natural, than for our own ſenſe and reaſon to turn the unnatural, and war both againſt our God and us. And now 'tis hard coming to God. Better can a man hear, and deal with any objections againſt himſelf, than with thoſe that himſelf doth make againſt himſelf. They lie cloſe, ſtick faſt, ſpeak aloud and will be heard: Yea, will haunt, and hunt him (as the Devil doth ſome) in every hole and corner. But come, man, come, for he is able to ſave to the uttermoſt.

4. NOW guilt is the conſequence and fruit of all this, and what ſo intolerable a burden as guilt: They talk of the ſtones, and of the ſands of the Sea; but 'tis guilt that breaks the heart with its burden. And Satan has the art of making the uttermoſt of every ſin, he can blow it up, make it ſwell, make every hair of its head as big as a Cedar. He can tell how to make it a hainous offence, an unpardonable offence, an offence of that continuance, and committed againſt ſo much light, that (ſays he) it is impoſſible it ſhould ever be forgiven. But, Soul, he is able ſave to the uttermoſt, he can do exceeding abundantly above all Ephes. 3. 20. that we can ask or think.

5. JOYN to all this the rage and terror of 24. men, which thing of it ſelf, is ſufficient to quaſh and break to pieces all deſires to come to God by Chriſt. Yea, and it doth do ſo to thouſands that are not willing to go to Hell. Yet thou art kept, and made to go panting on; a whole world of Men, and Devils, and Sin, are not able to keep thee from coming. But how comes it to pass that thou art so hearty, that thou settest thy face against so much wind and weather. I dare say, it arises not from thy self, not from any of thine enemies: This comes from God, though thou art not aware thereof, and is obtained for thee by the Intercession of the blessed Son of God, who is also able to save thee to the uttermost, that comest to God by him.

that

6. AND for a conclusion, as to this, I will add, That there is much of the honour of the Lord Jesus ingaged, as to the saving of the coming Man, to the uttermost. I am glorified in them, saith he. He is exalted to be a Saviour: And if the blessed one doth count it an exaltation to be a Saviour: surely it is an exaltation to be a Saviour, and a Great one. They shall cry unto the Lord because of their oppressors, and he shall send them a Saviour and a Great one, and he shall deliver them. If it is a glory to be a Saviour, a Great Saviour; then 'tis a glory for a Saviour, a great One, to save, and save, and save to the uttermost. To the uttermost man; to the uttermost sin; to the uttermost temptation. And hence it is that he saith again, speaking of the transgressions, sins, and iniquities that he would pardon, that it should turn to him for a name of joy, a praise, and an honour before all nations. He therefore counts it an honour to be a great Saviour, to save men to the uttermost.

Joh.17.10. Acts 5.31. Isai.19.20. Jer.33.7, 8,9.

WHEN Moses said, I beseech thee shew me thy glory: The answer was, I will make all my goodness pass before thee; and I will proclaim the name of the Lord before thee. And when he came indeed to make Proclamation, then he proclaimed, The Lord, the Lord God merciful and gracious, long suffering, and abundant in goodness and truth. Keeping mercy for thousands, forgiving iniquities, transgressions and sins, and that will by no means clear the guilty; That will by no means clear them that will not come to me, that they may be saved.

Exod. 33. 18, 19. Chap.34.6, 7.

25. SEE here, if it is not by himself accounted his Glory, to make his goodness, all his goodness pass before us: And how can that be, if he saveth not to the uttermost them that come unto God by him? For goodness is by us no ways seen, but by those acts by which it expresseth it self to be so. And I am sure, to save, to save to the uttermost, is one of the most eminent expressions by which we understand it is great goodness. I know goodness has many ways to express it self to be what it is, to the World: But then it expresseth its greatness, when it pardons and saves: when it pardons and saves to the uttermost. My goodness, says Christ, extends not it self to my Father, but to my Saints; my Father has no need of my goodness, but my Saints have, and therefore it shall reach forth it self for their help, in whom is all my delight. And, O how great is thy goodness, which thou hast laid up for them that fear thee. Which thou hast wrought for them that trust in thee before the sons of men.

Psal. 16. 2, 3. Psal. 31. 19.

IT is therefore that which tendeth to get Christ a name, a fame and glory; To be able to save to the uttermost them that come to God by him.

BUT some may say, what is the meaning of this word, Able? wherefore he is [able] to save: He is able to save to the uttermost: How comes it to pass that his power to save, is rather put in, than his willingness. For willingness, saith the soul, would better have pleased me.

I will speak two or three words to this question, and 26.

First, BY this word [Able] is suggested to us the sufficiency of his Merit, the great worthiness of his Merit; for, as Intercessor, he sticks fast by his Merit, all his Petitions, Prayers, or Supplications, are grounded upon the worthiness of his Person as Mediator, and on the validity of his Offering as Priest. This is the more clear, if you consider that the reason why those Priests and Sacrifices, under the Law, could not make the Worshippers perfect: it was, I say, because there wanted in them worthiness, and merit in their Sacrifices. But this man, when he came and offered his Sacrifice, he did by that one act perfect for ever them that are sanctified, or set apart for Glory, Wherefore this man, after he had offered up one Sacrifice for sin for ever, sat down on the right hand of God.

Heb.10.1, 2,3,4,5,6, 7,8,9,10, 11,12,13, 14.

WHEN Moses prayed for the people of Israel, thus he said, And now I beseech thee let the power of my Lord be great according as thou hast spoken. But what had he spoken? The Lord is long suffering, and of great mercy, forgiving iniquity, and transgression, and by no means clearing the guilty. Pardon, I beseech thee, the iniquity of this people, according to the greatness of thy mercy, and as thou hast forgiven this people from Egypt until now.

Numb.14. 17,18,19.

2. HAS he but power, we know he is willing, else he would not have promised; 'tis also his Glory to pardon and save. So then, in his ability lies our safety. What if he were never so willing, if he were not of ability sufficient, what would his willingness do? But he has shewed, as I said, his willingness by promising [Him that cometh to me, I will in no wise cast out] so that now our comfort lies in his power, in that he is able to make good his word. And this also will then be seen, when he hath saved them that come to God by him, when he hath saved them to the uttermost; not to the uttermost of his ability, but to the uttermost of our necessity. For to the uttermost of his ability, I believe he will never be put to it to save his Church: not for that he is loth so to save; but because there is no need so to save; he shall not need to put out all his power, and to press the utmost of his merit for the saving of his Church. Alas! there is sufficiency of merit in him, to save a thousand times as many more as are like to be saved by him; he is able to do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think. Measure not therefore what he can do, by what he has, doth or will do; neither do thou interpret this word, to the uttermost, as if it related to the uttermost of his ability, but rather as it relateth (for so it doth indeed) to the greatness of thy necessity. For as he is able to save thee, tho' thy condition be, as it may be supposed to be, the worst that ever man was in that was saved; so he is able 27.

Joh.6.37. Rom.4.20, 21.

to save thee, though thy condition were ten times worse than it is.

WHAT! shall not the worthiness of the Son of God be sufficient to save from the sin of Man? or shall the sin of the World, be of that weight to destroy; that it shall put Christ Jesus to the uttermost of the worth of his Person, and Merit, to save therefrom? I believe it is Blasphemy to think so. We can easily imagin that he can save all the world; that is, that he is of ability to do it. But we cannot imagin that he can do more than we can think he can. But our imagination and thoughts set no bound to his ability. He is able to do exceeding abundant above all that we ask or think. But what that is, I say, no man can think, no man can imagin. So then, Jesus Christ can do more than ever any man thought he could do, as to saving: He can do, we know not what.

THIS therefore should incourage comers, to come to him; and them that come, to hope. This, I say, should incourage them to let out, to lengthen, and heighten their thoughts by the word, to the uttermost, seeing he can save to the uttermost them that come to God by him.

28. Third. AND now I come to the third thing, that, I told you, I should speak to, and that is, to those Inferences that may be gathered from these words.

First, ARE they that are justified by Christ's blood such as have need yet to be saved by his Intercession? Then from hence it follows, that justification will stand with imperfection. It doth not therefore follow, that a justified man is without infirmity. For he that is without infirmity, that is perfect with absolute perfection, has no need to be yet saved by an act yet to be performed by a Mediator, and his Mediation.

WHEN I say, Justification will stand with imperfection: I do not mean, that it will allow, countenance, or approve thereof; but I mean, there is no necessity of our Perfection, of our personal Perfection, as to our Justification: and that we are justified without it: Yea, that that, in justified persons remains.

Col. 2. 10. AGAIN, when I say, that Justification will stand with Imperfection: I do not mean, that in our Justification we are imperfect: for in that we are compleat: we are compleat in him who is our Justice: If otherwise, the imperfection is in the matter that justifieth us, which is the Righteousness of Christ. Yea, and to say so, would conclude that wrong Judgment proceedeth from him that imputeth that Righteousness to us to Justification, since an imperfect thing is imputed to us for justification. But far be it from any that believe that God is true, to imagin such a thing, all his works are perfect, there is nothing wanting in them as to the present design.

BUT what then do we mean when we say, Justification will stand with a state of Imperfection?

Ans. WHY I mean, that justified men are yet sinners in themselves; are yet full of imperfections, yea sinful imperfections. Justified Paul said, Rom. 7. 18. I know that in me (that is in my flesh) dwells no good thing. While we are yet sinners, we are Chap. 5. 8. justified by the blood of Christ. Hence again Chap. 4. 5. 'tis said, he justifies the ungodly. Justification then only covereth our sin from the sight of God, it maketh us not perfect with inherent perfection. But God for the sake of that righteousness which by his grace is imputed to us, declareth us quit and discharged from the Curse, and sees sin in us no more, to condemnation.

AND this is the reason, or one reason why they that are justified have need of an Intercessor: to wit, to save us from the evil of the sin that remains in our flesh, after we are justified by grace through Christ, and set free from the Law as to Condemnation. Therefore, as 'tis said, we are saved, so 'tis said he is able to save to the uttermost them that come to God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make Intercession for them.

THE godly, (for now we will call them the godly, though there is yet abundance of sin in them) feel in themselves many things, even after justification, by which they are convinced they are still attended with personal, sinful imperfections. 29.

1. THEY feel unbelief, fear, mistrust, doubting, despondings, murmurings, blasphemies, pride, lightness, foolishness, avarice, fleshly lusts, heartlessness to good, wicked desires, low thoughts of Christ, too good thoughts of sin, and, at times, too great an itching after the worst of immoralities.

2. THEY feel in themselves an aptness to incline to errors, as to lean to the works of the Law for Justification, to question the truth of the Resurrection, and Judgment to come: To dissemble and play the Hypocrite in profession, and in performance of duties: To do religious duties, rather to please man, than God who tryeth the heart.

3. THEY feel an inclination in them, in times of tryal, to faint under the Cross, to seek too much to save themselves, to dissemble the known truth, for the obtaining a little favour with men, and to speak things that they ought not, that they may sleep in a whole skin.

4. THEY feel weariesomness in religious duties, but a natural propensity to things of the flesh. They feel a desire to go beyond bounds both at Board, and Bed, and bodily exercise, and in all lawful Recreation.

5. THEY feel in themselves an aptness to take the advantage of using of things that are lawful, as Food, Raiment, Sleep, Talk, Estates, Relations, Beauty, Wit, Parts, and Graces, to unlawful ends. These things with many more of the like kind the justified man finds, and feels in himself to his humbling, and often casting down: and to save him from the destroying evil of these, Christ ever liveth to make Intercession for him.

AGAIN, The justified man is imperfect in his Graces: And therefore needeth to be saved by the Intercession of Christ from the bad fruit that that imperfection yields.

JUSTIFYING righteousness is accompanied with Graces, the Graces of the Spirit. Though these Graces are not that matter, by and through which we are justified, nor any part thereof, that being only the obedience of Christ imputed to us of meer pleasure, and good will: But, I Rom. 5.

say they come when Justification comes: and though they are not so easily discerned at the first, they shew forth themselves afterwards. But, I say, how many soever they are, and how fast soever they grow, their utmost arrivement here, is but a state, short of perfection.

30. NONE of the Graces of God's Spirit, in our Hearts, can do their Work in us without shortness, and that because of their own imperfections, and also because of the oppositions that they meet with from our flesh.

1. FAITH, which is the root, Grace the grand grace; its shortness is sufficiently manifest, by its shortness of apprehension of things pertaining to the Person, Offices, Relations, and Works of Christ now in the heavenly place, for us. It is also very defective in its fetching of comfort from the Word to us, and in continuing of it with us, when, at any time, we attain unto it. In its receiving of strength to subdue sin, and in its purifyings of the Heart, (though indeed it doth what it doth in reality) yet how short is it of doing of it throughly? Oftentimes, were it not for supplies, by vertue of the Intercession of Christ, Faith would fail of performing its Office in any measure.

Luke 22. 31, 32.

2. THERE is Hope, another Grace of the Spirit bestowed upon us, and how often is that also, as to the excellency of working, made to flag? I shall perish (saith David) I am cut off from before thine eyes, said he. And now where was his hope in the right Gospel Discovery of it? also all our fear of Men, and fears of Death, and fears of Judgment, they arise from the imperfections of hope. But from all those faults, Christ saves us by his intercessions.

3. THERE is Love, that should be in us, as hot as fire. 'Tis compared to fire, to fire of the hottest sort; yea, 'tis said to be hotter than the Coals of Juniper. But who finds this heat in love, so much as for one poor quarter of an hour together? Some little flashes, perhaps some, at some times, may feel; but where is that constant burning of affection, that the Word, the love of God, and the love of Christ calls for? yea, and that the necessities of the poor and afflicted Members of Christ call for also. Ah! love is cold in these frozen days, and short when 'tis at the highest.

Song 8. 6, 7.

4. THE Grace of Humility, when is it? Who has a Thimbleful thereof? Where is he that is clothed with Humility, and that does what he is commanded with all Humility of Mind?

1 Pet. 5. 5. Act. 20. 19.

5. FOR Zeal, where is that also? Zeal for God, against sin, Prophaneness, Superstition, and Idolatry. I speak now to the Godly, who have this Zeal in the Root and Habit; but Oh how little of it puts forth it self into actions, in such a day as this is!

31, 32.

6. THERE is reverence, fear, and standing in awe of God's Word and Judgments, where are the excellent workings thereof to be found? and where it is most, how far short of perfect acts is it?

7. SIMPLICITY, and godly sincerity also, with how much Dirt is it mixed in the best, specially among those of the Saints that are rich? Who have got the poor and beggerly art of complementing? For the more complement, the less sincerity, many words will not fill a Bushel, but in the multitude of words there lacks no sin. Plain Men are thin come up in this day; to find a Mouth without Fraud and Deceit now, is a rare thing. Thus might one count up all the Graces of the Spirit, and shew wherein every one of them are scanty and wanting of perfection. Now look what they want of perfection, is supplied with sin and vanity; for there is a fulness of sin, and flesh at hand, to make up all the vacant places in our Souls. There is no place in the Souls of the godly, but 'tis filled up with darkness when the light is wanting, and with sin, so far forth as grace is wanting: Satan also diligently waiteth to come in at the door, if Careless has left it a little a chare.

Prov. 10. 16.

BUT, Oh! the Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, who ever liveth to make Intercession for us, and that by so doing, saves us from all the imperfect acts and workings of our Graces, and from all the advantages that flesh, and sin, and Satan getteth upon us thereby.

32.

FURTHER, as Christ Jesus our Lord doth save us by his Intercession from that hurt that would unavoidably come upon us by these; so also, by that, we are saved from the evil that is at any time found in any, or all our holy duties, and performances that is our duty daily to be found in. That our duties are imperfect follows upon what was discoursed before; for if our Graces be imperfect, how can our duties but be so too?

1. OUR Prayers how imperfect are they? with how much unbelief are they mixed? how apt is our Tongue to run in prayer before our Hearts? with how much earnestness do our Lips move, while our Hearts lie within as cold a clod? yea, and oft times, 'tis to be feared, we ask for that with our Mouth, that we care not whether we have or no. Where is the Man that pursues, with all his might, what but now he seemed to ask for with all his Heart? Prayer is become a Shell, a piece of Formality, a very empty thing, as to the Spirit and Life of Prayer, at this day. I speak now of the Prayers of the Godly. I once met with a poor Woman, that, in the greatest of her Distresses, told me, she did use to rise in the Night, in cold Weather, and pray to God while she sweat with Fears of the loss of her prayer, and desires that her Soul might be saved. I have heard of many that have played, but of few that have prayed till they have sweat, by reason of their wrestling with God for mercy in that duty.

2. THERE is the duty of Alms-giving, another Gospel performance, but how poorly is it done in our days? we have so many foolish ways to lay out Mony in Toys and Fool's Baubles for our Children, that we can spare none, or very little, for the relief of the Poor. Also do not many give that to their Dogs, yea, let it lie in their Houses until it stinks so vilely, that neither Dog nor Cat will eat it; which had it been bestowed well in time, might have been a succour and nourishment to some poor Member of Chist.

3. THERE is Hearing of the Word, but, alas, the place of hearing is the place of sleeping with many a fine Professor. I have often observed, obſerved that thoſe that keep Shops, can briskly attend upon a twopenny Cuſtomer: but when they come themſelves to God's market, they ſpend their time too much in leting their thoughts to wander from Gods commandments, or in a naſty drowſie way. The heads alſo, and hearts of moſt hearers are to the Word, as the Sieve is to Water, they can hold no Sermons, remember no Texts, bring home no Proofs; produce none of the Sermon to the edification and profit of others. And do not the beſt take up too much in hearing, and mind too little, what, by the word, God calls for at their hands, to perform it with a good Conſcience?

4. THERE is faithfulneſs in Callings, faithfulneſs to Brethren, faithfulneſs to the World, faithfulneſs to Children, to Servants, to all according to our place and capacity: Oh how little of it is their found in the Mouths and Lives, to ſpeak nothing of the hearts, of Profeſſors.

I will proceed no farther in this kind of repetition of things, only thus much give me leave to ſay over again, even many of the truly godly, are very faulty here: But what would they do if there were not one always at the right hand of God, by Interceſſion taking away theſe kind of iniquities?

34. Secondly, ARE thoſe that are juſtified by the blood of Chriſt ſuch, after that, as have need alſo of ſaving by Chriſts Interceſſion? From hence then we may infer, That as ſin, ſo Satan will not give over from aſſaulting the beſt of the Saints.

'TIS not Juſtification that can ſecure us from
Luk. 22. 31, 32. being aſſaulted by Satan. Simon, Simon, Satan has deſired to have you.

THERE are two things that do incourage the Devil to ſet upon the people of God.

Firſt, HE knows not who are Elect, for all that profeſs are not; and therefore he will make tryal if he can get them into his Sieve, whether he can cauſe them to periſh. And great ſucceſs he hath had this way. Many a brave Profeſſor has he over come: He has caſt ſome of the Stars from Heaven to Earth. He pickt one out from among the Apoſtles, and one, as'tis thought, from among the ſeven Deacons; And many from among Chriſts Diſciples. But how many think you now adays doth he utterly deſtroy with his Net?

Secondly, IF it ſo happeneth that he cannot deſtroy, becauſe Chriſt by his Interceſſion prevaileth; yet will he ſet upon the Church, to defile and afflict it. For,

1. IF he can but get us to fall with Peter, then he has obtained that diſhonour be brought to God, the weak to be ſtumbled, the world offended, and the Goſpel vilified, and reproached. Or,

2. IF he cannot throw up out heels, yet by buffeting of us, he can grieve us, afflict us, put us to pain, fright us, drive us to many doubts, and make our life very uncomfortable unto us, and make us go groaning to our Fathers houſe. But bleſſed be God for his Chriſt, and for that he ever liveth to make Interceſſion for us.

Thirdly, ARE thoſe that are juſtified by the blood of Chriſt, ſuch, as after that, have need to be ſaved by Chriſt's Interceſſion: Then hence I infer, That it is dangerous going about any thing in our own name, and ſtrength. If we would have helps from the Interceſſion of Chriſt, let us have a care that we do what we do according to the word of Chriſt. Do what he bids us, as well as we can, as he bids us, and then we need not doubt but to have help and Salvation in thoſe duties, by the Interceſſion of Chriſt. Do all, ſays the Apoſtle, in the name of the Lord Jeſus Chriſt. Oh but then Col. 3, 17. the Devil and the World will be moſt of all offended. Well, well, but if you do nothing but as in his fear, by his word; in his name you may be ſure of what help his Interceſſion can afford you, and that can afford you much help, not only to begin, but to go through with your work, in ſome good meaſure, as you ſhould; and by that alſo you ſhall be ſecured from thoſe dangers, if not temptations to dangers, that thoſe that go out about buſineſs in their own names and ſtrength, ſhall be ſure to meet withall.

Fourthly, ARE thoſe that are juſtified by the blood of Chriſt ſuch as after that, have need of being ſaved by Chriſts Interceſſion: then hence I infer again, That God has a great diſlike of the ſins of his own people, and would fall upon them in Judgment and anger much more ſeverely than he doth, were it not for Chriſts Interceſſion. The Goſpel is not, as ſome think, a looſe and licentious doctrine, nor God's Diſcipline of his Church a negligent and careleſs diſcipline. For though thoſe that believe already, have alſo an Interceſſor: yet God to ſhew his deteſtation againſt ſin, doth often make them feel to purpoſe, the weight of his fingers. The ſincere that fain would walk oft with God, have felt what I ſay, and that to the breaking of their bones full oft. The looſe ones, and thoſe that God loves not, may be utter ſtrangers, as to this; but thoſe that are his own indeed, do know it is otherwiſe. You have I known above all Amos 3. 2. others, ſaies God, therefore you I will puniſh for your iniquities. God keeps a very ſtrict Houſe among his Children. David found it ſo, Haman found it ſo, Job found it ſo; and the Church of God found it ſo. And I know not that his mind is ever the leſs againſt Sin, notwithſtanding we have an Interceſſor. True, our Interceſſor ſaves us from damning evils, from damning Judgments; but he neither doth nor will ſecure us from temporal puniſhment, from ſpiritual puniſhment, unleſs we watch, deny our ſelves, and walk in his fear. I would to God, that thoſe who are otherwiſe minded did but feel for three or four months ſomething of what I have felt for ſeveral years together for baſe ſinful thoughts. I wiſh it, I ſay, if it might be for their good, and for the better regulating of their underſtandings. But whether they obtain my wiſh or no, ſure I am that God is no countenancer of ſin; no, not in his own people: nay he will bear it leaſt of all in them. And as for others, however he may for a while have patience towards them, if perhaps his goodneſs may lead them to repentance: yet the day is coming when say they come when Justification comes: and though they are not so easily discerned at the first, they shew forth themselves afterwards. But, I say, how many soever they are, and how fast soever they grow, their utmost arrivement here, is but a state, short of perfection.

30. NONE of the Graces of God's Spirit, in our Hearts, can do their Work in us without shortness, and that because of their own imperfections, and also because of the oppositions that they meet with from our flesh.

1. FAITH, which is the root, Grace the grand grace; its shortness is sufficiently manifest, by its shortness of apprehension of things pertaining to the Person, Offices, Relations, and Works of Christ now in the heavenly place, for us. It is also very defective in its fetching of comfort from the Word to us, and in continuing of it with us, when, at any time, we attain unto it. In its receiving of strength to subdue sin, and in its purifyings of the Heart, (though indeed it doth what it doth in reality) yet how short is it of doing of it throughly? Oftentimes, were it not for supplies, by vertue of the Intercession of Christ, Faith would fail Luke 22. 31, 32. of performing its Office in any measure.

2. THERE is Hope, another Grace of the Spirit bestowed upon us, and how often is that also, as to the excellency of working, made to flag? I shall perish (saith David) I am cut off from before thine eyes, said he. And now where was his hope in the right Gospel Discovery of it? also all our fear of Men, and fears of Death, and fears of Judgment, they arise from the imperfections of hope. But from all those faults, Christ saves us by his intercessions.

3. THERE is Love, that should be in us, as hot as fire. 'Tis compared to fire, to fire of the hottest sort; yea, 'tis said to be hotter than the Song 8. 6, 7. Coals of Juniper. But who finds this heat in love, so much as for one poor quarter of an hour together? Some little flashes, perhaps some, at some times, may feel; but where is that constant burning of affection, that the Word, the love of God, and the love of Christ calls for? yea, and that the necessities of the poor and afflicted Members of Christ call for also. Ah! love is cold in these frozen days, and short when 'tis at the highest.

4. THE Grace of Humility, when is it? 1 Pet. 5. 5. Who has a Thimbleful thereof? Where is he Act. 20. 19. that is clothed with Humility, and that does what he is commanded with all Humility of Mind?

31, 5. FOR Zeal, where is that also? Zeal for God, against sin, Prophaneness, Superstition, and Idolatry. I speak now to the Godly, who have this Zeal in the Root and Habit; but Oh how little of it puts forth it self into actions, in such a day as this is!

6. THERE is reverence, fear, and standing in awe of God's Word and Judgments, where are the excellent workings thereof to be found? and where it is most, how far short of perfect acts is it?

7. SIMPLICITY, and godly sincerity also, with how much Dirt is it mixed in the best, specially among those of the Saints that are rich? Who have got the poor and beggerly art of complementing? For the more compliment, the less sincerity, many words will not fill a Bushel, but in the multitude of words there lacks no sin. Plain Men are thin come up in this day; to find a Mouth without Fraud and Deceit now, is a rare thing. Thus might one count up all the Graces of the Spirit, and shew wherein every one of them are scanty and wanting of perfection. Now look what they want of perfection, is supplied with sin and vanity; for there is a fulness of sin, and flesh at hand, to make up all the vacant places in our Souls. There is no place in the Souls of the godly, but 'tis filled up with darkness when the light is wanting, and with sin, so far forth as grace is wanting: Satan also diligently waiteth to come in at the door, if Careless has left it a little a chare. Prov. 10. 16.

BUT, Oh! the Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, who ever liveth to make Intercession for us, and that by so doing, saves us from all the imperfect acts and workings of our Graces, and from all the advantages that flesh, and sin, and Satan getteth upon us thereby.

FURTHER, as Christ Jesus our Lord doth 32. save us by his Intercession from that hurt that would unavoidably come upon us by these; so also, by that, we are saved from the evil that is at any time found in any, or all our holy duties, and performances that is our duty daily to be found in. That our duties are imperfect follows upon what was discoursed before; for if our Graces be imperfect, how can our duties but be so too?

1. OUR Prayers how imperfect are they? with how much unbelief are they mixed? how apt is our Tongue to run in prayer before our Hearts? with how much earnestness do our Lips move, while our Hearts lie within as cold a clod? yea, and oft times, 'tis to be feared, we ask for that with our Mouth, that we care not whether we have or no. Where is the Man that pursues, with all his might, what but now he seemed to ask for with all his Heart? Prayer is become a Shell, a piece of Formality, a very empty thing, as to the Spirit and Life of Prayer, at this day. I speak now of the Prayers of the Godly. I once met with a poor Woman, that, in the greatest of her Distresses, told me, she did use to rise in the Night, in cold Weather, and pray to God while she sweat with Fears of the loss of her prayer, and desires that her Soul might be saved. I have heard of many that have played, but of few that have prayed till they have sweat, by reason of their wrestling with God for mercy in that duty.

2. THERE is the duty of Alms-giving, 33. another Gospel performance, but how poorly is it done in our days? we have so many foolish ways to lay out Mony in Toys and Fool's Baubles for our Children, that we can spare none, or very little, for the relief of the Poor. Also do not many give that to their Dogs, yea, let it lie in their Houses until it stinks so vilely, that neither Dog nor Cat will eat it; which had it been bestowed well in time, might have been a succour and nourishment to some poor Member of Chist.

3. THERE is Hearing of the Word, but, alas, the place of hearing is the place of sleeping with many a fine Professor. I have often observed, obſerved that thoſe that keep Shops, can briskly attend upon a twopenny Cuſtomer: but when they come themſelves to God's market, they ſpend their time too much in leting their thoughts to wander from Gods commandments, or in a naſty drowſie way. The heads alſo, and hearts of moſt hearers are to the Word, as the Sieve is to Water, they can hold no Sermons, remember no Texts, bring home no Proofs; produce none of the Sermon to the edification and profit of others. And do not the beſt take up too much in hearing, and mind too little, what, by the word, God calls for at their hands, to perform it with a good Conſcience?

4. THERE is faithfulneſs in Callings, faithfulneſs to Brethren, faithfulneſs to the World, faithfulneſs to Children, to Servants, to all according to our place and capacity: Oh how little of it is their found in the Mouths and Lives, to ſpeak nothing of the hearts, of Profeſſors.

I will proceed no farther in this kind of repetition of things, only thus much give me leave to ſay over again, even many of the truly godly, are very faulty here: But what would they do if there were not one always at the right hand of God, by Interceſſion taking away theſe kind of iniquities?

34. Secondly, ARE thoſe that are juſtified by the blood of Chriſt ſuch, after that, as have need alſo of ſaving by Chriſts Interceſſion? From hence then we may infer, That as ſin, ſo Satan will not give over from aſſaulting the beſt of the Saints.

'TIS not Juſtification that can ſecure us from being aſſaulted by Satan. Simon, Simon, Satan has deſired to have you. Luk. 22. 31, 32.

THERE are two things that do incourage the Devil to ſet upon the people of God.

Firſt, HE knows not who are Elect, for all that profeſs are not; and therefore he will make tryal if he can get them into his Sieve, whether he can cauſe them to periſh. And great ſucceſs he hath had this way. Many a brave Profeſſor has he over come: He has caſt ſome of the Stars from Heaven to Earth. He pickt one out from among the Apoſtles, and one, as'tis thought, from among the ſeven Deacons; And many from among Chriſts Diſciples. But how many think you now adays doth he utterly deſtroy with his Net?

Secondly, IF it ſo happeneth that he cannot deſtroy, becauſe Chriſt by his Interceſſion prevaileth; yet will he ſet upon the Church, to defile and afflict it. For,

1. IF he can but get us to fall with Peter, then he has obtained that diſhonour be brought to God, the weak to be ſtumbled, the world offended, and the Goſpel vilified, and reproached. Or,

2. IF he cannot throw up our heels, yet by buffeting of us, he can grieve us, afflict us, put us to pain, fright us, drive us to many doubts, and make our life very uncomfortable unto us, and make us go groaning to our Fathers houſe. But bleſſed be God for his Chriſt, and for that he ever liveth to make Interceſſion for us.

Thirdly, ARE thoſe that are juſtified by the blood of Chriſt, ſuch, as after that, have need to be ſaved by Chriſt's Interceſſion: Then hence I infer, That it is dangerous going about any thing in our own name, and ſtrength. If we would have helps from the Interceſſion of Chriſt, let us have a care that we do what we do according to the word of Chriſt. Do what he bids us, as well as we can, as he bids us, and then we need not doubt but to have help and Salvation in thoſe duties, by the Interceſſion of Chriſt. Do all, ſays the Apoſtle, in the name of the Lord Jeſus Chriſt. Oh but then the Devil and the World will be moſt of all offended. Well, well, but if you do nothing but as in his fear, by his word; in his name you may be ſure of what help his Interceſſion can afford you, and that can afford you much help, not only to begin, but to go through with your work, in ſome good meaſure, as you ſhould; and by that alſo you ſhall be ſecured from thoſe dangers, if not temptations to dangers, that thoſe that go out about buſineſs in their own names and ſtrength, ſhall be ſure to meet withall. Col. 3, 17.

Fourthly, ARE thoſe that are juſtified by the blood of Chriſt ſuch as after that, have need of being ſaved by Chriſts Interceſſion: then hence I infer again, That God has a great diſlike of the ſins of his own people, and would fall upon them in Judgment and anger much more ſeverely than he doth, were it not for Chriſts Interceſſion. The Goſpel is not, as ſome think, a looſe and licentious doctrine, nor God's Diſcipline of his Church a negligent and careleſs diſcipline. For though thoſe that believe already, have alſo an Interceſſor: yet God to ſhew his deteſtation againſt ſin, doth often make them feel to purpoſe, the weight of his fingers. The ſincere that fain would walk oft with God, have felt what I ſay, and that to the breaking of their bones full oft. The looſe ones, and thoſe that God loves not, may be utter ſtrangers, as to this; but thoſe that are his own indeed, do know it is otherwiſe. You have I known above all others, ſaies God, therefore you I will puniſh for your iniquities. God keeps a very ſtrict Houſe among his Children. David found it ſo, Haman found it ſo, Job found it ſo; and the Church of God found it ſo. And I know not that his mind is ever the leſs againſt Sin, notwithſtanding we have an Interceſſor. I would to God, that thoſe who are otherwiſe minded did but feel for three or four months ſomething of what I have felt for ſeveral years together for baſe ſinful thoughts. I wiſh it, I ſay, if it might be for their good, and for the better regulating of their underſtandings. But whether they obtain my wiſh or no, ſure I am that God is no countenancer of ſin; no, not in his own people: nay he will bear it leaſt of all in them. And as for others, however he may for a while have patience towards them, if perhaps his goodneſs may lead them to repentance: yet the day is coming when Amos 3. 2. 35.

ſay they come when Juſtification comes: and though they are not ſo eaſily diſcerned at the firſt, they ſhew forth themſelves afterwards. But, I ſay, how many ſoever they are, and how faſt ſoever they grow, their utmoſt arrivement here, is but a ſtate, ſhort of perfection.

30. NONE of the Graces of God's Spirit, in our Hearts, can do their Work in us without ſhortneſs, and that becauſe of their own imperfections, and alſo becauſe of the oppoſitions that they meet with from our fleſh.

1. FAITH, which is the root, Grace the grand grace; its ſhortneſs is ſufficiently manifeſt, by its ſhortneſs of apprehenſion of things pertaining to the Perſon, Offices, Relations, and Works of Chriſt now in the heavenly place, for us. It is alſo very defective in its fetching of comfort from the Word to us, and in continuing of it with us, when, at any time, we attain unto it. In its receiving of ſtrength to ſubdue ſin, and in its purifyings of the Heart, (though indeed it doth what it doth in reality) yet how ſhort is it of doing of it throughly? Oftentimes, were it not for ſupplies, by vertue of the Interceſſion of Chriſt, Faith would fail Luke 22. 31, 32. of performing its Office in any meaſure.

2. THERE is Hope, another Grace of the Spirit beſtowed upon us, and how often is that alſo, as to the excellency of working, made to flag? I ſhall periſh (ſaith David) I am cut off from before thine eyes, ſaid he. And now where was his hope in the right Goſpel Diſcovery of it? alſo all our fear of Men, and fears of Death, and fears of Judgment, they ariſe from the imperfections of hope. But from all thoſe faults, Chriſt ſaves us by his interceſſions.

3. THERE is Love, that ſhould be in us, as hot as fire. 'Tis compared to fire, to fire of the hotteſt ſort; yea, 'tis ſaid to be hotter than the Song 8. 6, 7. Coals of Juniper. But who finds this heat in love, ſo much as for one poor quarter of an hour together? Some little flaſhes, perhaps ſome, at ſome times, may feel; but where is that conſtant burning of affection, that the Word, the love of God, and the love of Chriſt calls for? yea, and that the neceſſities of the poor and afflicted Members of Chriſt call for alſo. Ah! love is cold in theſe frozen days, and ſhort when 'tis at the higheſt.

4. THE Grace of Humility, when is it? 1 Pet. 5. 5. Who has a Thimbleful thereof? Where is he Act. 20. 19. that is clothed with Humility, and that does what he is commanded with all Humility of Mind?

31. 5. FOR Zeal, where is that alſo? Zeal for God, againſt ſin, Prophaneneſs, Superſtition, and Idolatry. I ſpeak now to the Godly, who have this Zeal in the Root and Habit; but Oh how little of it puts forth it ſelf into actions, in ſuch a day as this is!

6. THERE is reverence, fear, and ſtanding in awe of God's Word and Judgments, where are the excellent workings thereof to be found? and where it is moſt, how far ſhort of perfect acts is it?

7. SIMPLICITY, and godly ſincerity alſo, with how much Dirt is it mixed in the beſt, ſpecially among thoſe of the Saints that are rich? Who have got the poor and beggerly art of complementing? For the more compliment, the leſs ſincerity, many words will not fill a Buſhel, but in the multitude of words there lacks no ſin. Plain Men are thin come up in this day; to find a Mouth without Fraud and Deceit now, is a rare thing. Thus might one count up all the Graces of the Spirit, and ſhew wherein every one of them are ſcanty and wanting of perfection. Now look what they want of perfection, is ſupplied with ſin and vanity; for there is a fulneſs of ſin, and fleſh at hand, to make up all the vacant places in our Souls. There is no place in the Souls of the godly, but 'tis filled up with darkneſs when the light is wanting, and with ſin, ſo far forth as grace is wanting: Satan alſo diligently waiteth to come in at the door, if Careleſs has left it a little a chare. Prov. 10. 16.

BUT, Oh! the Grace of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, who ever liveth to make Interceſſion for us, and that by ſo doing, ſaves us from all the imperfect acts and workings of our Graces, and from all the advantages that fleſh, and ſin, and Satan getteth upon us thereby.

FURTHER, as Chriſt Jeſus our Lord doth 32. ſave us by his Interceſſion from that hurt that would unavoidably come upon us by theſe; ſo alſo, by that, we are ſaved from the evil that is at any time found in any, or all our holy duties, and performances that is our duty daily to be found in. That our duties are imperfect follows upon what was diſcourſed before; for if our Graces be imperfect, how can our duties but be ſo too?

1. OUR Prayers how imperfect are they? with how much unbelief are they mixed? how apt is our Tongue to run in prayer before our Hearts? with how much earneſtneſs do our Lips move, while our Hearts lie within as cold a clod? yea, and oft times, 'tis to be feared, we ask for that with our Mouth, that we care not whether we have or no. Where is the Man that purſues, with all his might, what but now he ſeemed to ask for with all his Heart? I once met with a poor Woman, that, in the greateſt of her Diſtreſſes, told me, ſhe did uſe to riſe in the Night, in cold Weather, and pray to God while ſhe ſweat with Fears of the loſs of her prayer, and deſires that her Soul might be ſaved. I have heard of many that have played, but of few that have prayed till they have ſweat, by reaſon of their wreſtling with God for mercy in that duty.

2. Alſo do not many give that to their Dogs, yea, let it lie in their Houſes until it ſtinks ſo vilely, that neither Dog nor Cat will eat it; which had it been beſtowed well in time, might have been a ſuccour and nouriſhment to ſome poor Member of Chriſt.

3. THERE is Hearing of the Word, but, alas, the place of hearing is the place of ſleeping with many a fine Profeſſor. I have often obſerved, obſerved that thoſe that keep Shops, can briskly attend upon a twopenny Cuſtomer: but when they come themſelves to God's market, they ſpend their time too much in leting their thoughts to wander from Gods commandments, or in a naſty drowſie way. I would to God, that thoſe who are otherwiſe minded did but feel for three or four months ſomething of what I have felt for ſeveral years together for baſe ſinful thoughts. I wiſh it, I ſay, if it might be for their good, and for the better regulating of their underſtandings. But whether they obtain my wiſh or no, ſure I am that God is no countenancer of ſin; no, not in his own people: nay he will bear it leaſt of all in them. And as for others, however he may for a while have patience towards them, if perhaps his goodneſs may lead them to repentance: yet the day is coming when Amos 3. 2. 35.

he will pay the Carnal and Hypocrites, home with devouring fire for their offences.

BUT if our Holy God will not let us go altogether unpunished, though we have so able and blessed an Intercessor, that has always to present God with, on our behalf, so valuable a price of his own Blood, now before the Throne of Grace: what should we have done if there had been no Days-Man, none to plead for us, or to make Intercession on our behalf? Read that Text. For I am with thee, saith the Lord, to save thee: though I make a full end of all nations whither I have scattered them; yet I will not make a full end of thee, but I will correct thee in measure, and will not leave thee altogether unpunished. If it be so, I say, what had become of us, if we had had no Intercessor? and what will become of them concerning whom the Lord has said already, I will not take up their names into my lips? I pray not for them.

Jer. 30. 11.
Joh. 17. 9.

36. Fifthly, ARE those that are already justified by the Blood of Christ yet such as have need of being saved by his Intercession? Then hence I infer, That Christ is not only the beginner, but the compleater of our Salvation; or, as the Holy Ghost calls him, The author and finisher of our Salvation: or, as it calls him again, The Author of eternal salvation; of Salvation throughout, from the beginning to the end, from first to last. His Hands have laid the Foundation of it, in his own Blood, and his Hands shall finish it, by his Intercession: as he has laid the beginning fastly, so he shall bring forth the head stones with shootings, and we shall cry, Grace, Grace at the last, Salvation only belongeth to the Lord.

Heb. 12. 2.
Chap. 5. 9.
Zech. 4. 9.
Ver. 7.
Psal. 3. 8.
Isai. 43. 11.

MANY there be that begin with Grace, and end with Works, and think that is the only way. Indeed Works will save from Temporal punishments, when their Imperfections are purged from them by the Intercession of Christ; but to be saved and brought to Glory, to be carried through this dangerous World, from my first moving after Christ, till I set my Foot within the Gates of Paradise: this is the work of my Mediator, of my High-Priest and Intercessor: 'tis he that fetches us again when we are run away; 'tis he that lifteth us up when the Devil and Sin has thrown us down; 'tis he that quickneth us when we grow cold; 'tis he that comforteth us when we despair; 'tis he that obtains fresh pardon when we have contracted sin; and he that purges our Consciences, when they are loaden with Guilt.

Ezek. 34 16.
Psal. 145. 14.

I know also, that rewards do wait for them in Heaven, that do believe in Christ, and shall do well on Earth; but this is not a reward of Merit, but of Grace. We are saved by Christ; brought to Glory by Christ; and all our works are no other ways made acceptable to God, but by the Person and personal Excellencies and Works of Christ: therefore whatever the Jewels are, and the Bracelets, and the Pearls that thou shalt be adorned with as a reward of service done for God in the World; for them thou must thank Christ, and before all, confess that he was the meritorious cause thereof. He saves us, and saves our services too. They would be all cast back as dung in our faces, were they not rinsed and washed in the Blood, were they not sweetned and perfumed in the Incense, and conveyed to God himself, through the white hand of Jesus Christ: for that is his golden Censer, from thence ascends the Smoke that is in the Nostrils of God, of such a sweet savour.

1 Pet. 2. 5.
Heb. 13. 15.
Rev. 5. 9, 10, 11, 12, 13.
Rev. 8. 3, 4. Chap. 5. 12, 13.

Sixthly, ARE those that are already justified by the Blood of Christ, such as do still stand in need of being saved by his Intercession? Then hence I infer again, That we that have been saved hitherto and preserved from the dangers that we have met with since our first Conversion to this moment, should ascribe the glory to Jesus Christ, to God by Jesus Christ. I have prayed that thy Faith fail not: I pray that thou wouldest keep them from the evil, is the true cause of our standing, and of our continuing in the Faith and Holy Profession of the Gospel to this very day. Wherefore we must give the glory of all to God by Christ: I will not trust in my bow, said David, neither shall my sword save me. But thou hast saved us from our Enemies, and hast put them to shame that hated us. In God we boast all the day long, and praise thy name for ever. Selah. He causeth us always to triumph in Christ; we reioyce in Christ Jesus, and have no confidence in the Flesh. Thus you see, that both in the Old and New Testament, all the glory is given to the Lord, as well for preservation to Heaven, as for justification of Life. And he that is well acquainted with himself, will do this readily: though light Heads, and such as are not acquainted with the desperate evil that is in their Natures, will sacrifice to their own Net. But such will so sacrifice but a while. Sir Death is coming, and he will put them into the view of what they see not now, and will feed sweetly upon them, because they made not the Lord their trust. And therefore ascribe thou the glory of the preservation of thy Soul in the Faith hitherto, to that Salvation which Christ Jesus our Lord obtaineth for thee by his Intercession.

Psal. 44. 6, 7, 8.
2 Cor. 2. 14.
Philip. 3. 3.

Seventhly, ARE those that are already justified by the Blood of Christ, such as do still stand in need of being saved by his Intercession? Then is this also to be inferred from hence, That Saints should look to him for that saving that they shall yet have need of 'twixt this and the Day of their Dissolution; yea, from henceforward, even to the Day of Judgment. I say they should still look to him for the remaining part of their Salvation, or for that of their Salvation which is yet behind; and let them look for it with confidence, for that it is in a faithful hand; and for thy encouragement, to look and hope for the compleating of thy Salvation in Glory, let me present thee with a few things:

38.

1. THE hardest or worst part of the work of thy Saviour is over; his bloody work, his bearing of thy sin and curse, his loss of the light of his Fathers Face for a time: his dying upon the cursed Tree, that was the worst, the sorest the hardest and most difficult part of the work of Redemption; and yet this he did willingly, chearfully and without thy desires; yea, this he did, as considering those for whom he did it, in a State of Rebellion and Enmity to him.

2. CON-

2. CONSIDER alſo, that he has made a beginning with thy Soul to reconcile thee to God, and to that end has beſtowed his Juſtice upon thee, put his Spirit within thee, and began to make the unweeldable Mountain and Rock, thy Heart, to turn towards him, and deſire after him; to believe in him, and rejoyce in him.

3. CONSIDER alſo, that ſome comfortable Pledges of his love thou haſt already received, namely, as to feel the ſweetneſs of his love; as to ſee the light of his Countenance; as to be made to know his power, in raiſing of thee when thou waſt down; and how he has made thee ſtand while Hell has been puſhing at thee, utterly to over-throw thee.

4. THOU mayſt conſider alſo, that what remains behind of the work of thy Salvation in his hands, as it is the moſt eaſie part, ſo the moſt comfortable; and that part which will more immediately iſſue in his Glory: and therefore he will mind it.

5. THAT which is behind, is alſo more ſafe in his hand, than if it was in thine own: he is wiſe, he is powerful, he is faithful; and therefore will mannage that part that is lacking to our Salvation, well, until he has compleated it. 'Tis his love to thee that has made him that he putteth no truſt in thee; he knows that he can himſelf bring thee to his Kingdom moſt ſurely; and therefore has not left that work to thee, no, not any part thereof.

Job 5. 18. Chap. 15. 15.

LIVE! in hope then, in a lively hope, that ſince Chriſt is riſen from the Dead, he lives to make Interceſſion for thee, and that thou ſhalt reap the bleſſed benefit of this two-fold Salvation that is wrought, and that is working out for thee, by Jeſus Chriſt our Lord. And thus have we treated of the Benefit of his Interceſſion, in that he is able to ſave to the uttermoſt. And this leads me to the third Particular.

39. THE third Particular is to ſhew who are the Perſons intereſted in this Interceſſion of Chriſt; and they are thoſe that come to God by him. The words are very conciſe and diſtinctly laid down; they are they that come, that come to God, that come to God by him. Wherefore he is able alſo to ſave them, to ſave to the uttermoſt them that come to God by him, ſeeing he ever liveth to make interceſſion for them.

A little firſt to comment upon the order of the words, that come unto God by him.

1. THERE are that come unto God, but not by him; and theſe are not included in this Text, have not a ſhare in this Priviledge. Thus the Jews came to God, the unbelieving Jews, who had a zeal of God, but not according to knowledge. Theſe ſubmitted not to Chriſt, the righteouſneſs of God, but thought to come to him by works of their own, or at leaſt, as it were, by them, and ſo came ſhort of Salvation by Grace, for that reigns to Salvation only in Chriſt. To theſe Chriſt's Perſon and Undertakings were a ſtumbling-ſtone: for at him they ſtumbled, and did ſplit themſelves to pieces, though they indeed were ſuch as came to God for Life.

Rom. 9. 30, 31, 32, 33. Chap. 10. 1, 2, 3, 4.

2. AS there are that come to God, but not by Chriſt; ſo there are that come to Chriſt, but not to God by him: of this ſort are they, who hearing that Chriſt is Saviour; therefore come to him for Pardon; but cannot abide to come to God by him, for that he is Holy, and ſo will ſnub their Luſts, and will change their Hearts and Natures. Mind me what I ſay: There are a great many that would be ſaved by Chriſt, but love not to be Sanctified by God through him. Theſe make a ſtop at Chriſt, and will go no further; might ſuch have pardon, they care not whether ever they went to Heaven or no. Of this kind of coming to Chriſt, I think it is, of which he warneth his Diſciples, when he ſaith, In that day you ſhall ask me nothing: Verily, verily I ſay unto you, Whatſoever you ſhall ask the father in my name, he will give it you. As who ſhould ſay, when you ask for any thing, make not a ſtop at me, but come to my Father by me: For they that come to me, and not to my Father through me, will have nothing of what they come for. Righteouſneſs ſhall be imputed to us, if we believe in him that raiſed up Jeſus our Lord from the dead. To come to Chriſt for a Benefit, and ſtop there, and not come to God by him, prevaileth nothing. Here the Mother of Zebedee's Children erred; and about this it was that the Lord Jeſus cautioned her, Lord, ſaith ſhe, grant that theſe my two ſons may ſit, the one on thy right hand, and the other on thy left in thy kingdom. But what is the anſwer of Chriſt? To ſit on my right hand, and on my left, is not mine to give, but for whom it is prepared of my father. As who ſhould ſay, Woman, of my ſelf I do nothing, my Father worketh with me. Go therefore to him by me, for I am the way to him; what thou canſt obtain of him by me, thou ſhalt have; that is to ſay, what of the things that pertain to Eternal Life, whether Pardon or Glory.

Joh. 16. 23. Rom. 4. 24, 25. Mat. 20. 21, 22, 23.

40. 'TIS true, the Son has power to give Pardon and Glory, but he gives it not by himſelf, but by and acording to the Will of his Father. They therefore that come to him for an eternal Good, and look not to the Father by him, come ſhort thereof; I mean now, Pardon and Glory.

Mat. 9. 6. Joh. 17. 22.

AND hence, though it be ſaid the Son of Man hath power on Earth to forgive ſins; to wit, to ſhow the certainty of his God-head, and of the excellency of his Mediation; yet forgiveneſs of ſin is ſaid to lie more particularly in the hand of the Father, and that God for Chriſt's ſake forgiveth us.

Eph. 4. 32.

THE Father, as we ſee, will not forgive, unleſs we come to him by the Son: why then ſhould we conceit that the Son will forgive thoſe that come not to the Father by him?

SO then, Juſtifying Righteouſneſs is in the Son, and with him alſo is Interceſſion; but Forgiveneſs is with the Father: yea, the gift of the Holy Ghoſt, yea, and the power of imputing of the Righteouſneſs of Chriſt is yet in the hand of the Father. Hence Chriſt prays to the Father to forgive, prays to the Father to ſend the Spirit, and 'tis God that imputeth Righteouſneſs to Juſtification to us. The Father then doth nothing but for the ſake of and through the Son; the Son alſo doth nothing nothing derogating from the Glory of the Father: But it would be a derogation to the Glory of the Father, if the Son ſhould grant to ſave them that come not to the Father by him: Wherefore you that cry Chriſt, Chriſt, delighting your ſelves in the thoughts of forgiveneſs, but care not to come by Chriſt to the Father: For it you are not at all concerned in this bleſſed Text, for he only ſaves by his Interceſſion, them that come to God by him.

Luk. 23. 34. Joh. 14. 16. Rom. 4. 6.

41. THERE are three ſorts of people that may be ſaid to come to Chriſt, but not to God by him.

Firſt, THEY whoſe utmoſt deſign in coming is, only that guilt and fear of damning may be removed from them. And there are three ſigns of ſuch a one.

1. HE that takes up in a belief of pardon, and ſo goes on in his courſe of carnality, as he did before.

2. HE whoſe comfort in the belief of pardon, ſtandeth alone, without other fruits of the Holy Ghoſt.

3. HE that having been waſhed can be content to tumble in the mire as the Sow again, or as the Dog that did ſpue, to lick up his Vomit again.

Secondly, THEY may be ſaid to come to Chriſt, but not to God by him, who do pick and chuſe Doctrines, itching only after that which ſounds of Grace: But ſecretly abhorring
Mat. 5. 8. of that which preſſeth to moral goodneſs. Theſe did never ſee God, what Notions ſoever they may have of the Lord Jeſus, and of forgiveneſs from him.

3. THEY ſurely did never come to God by Chriſt, however they may boaſt of the Grace of Chriſt, that will from the freeneſs of Goſpel Grace plead an indulgence for ſin.

42. AND now to ſpeak a few words of coming to God, of coming, as the Text intends. And in ſpeaking to this, I muſt touch upon two things.

1. Concerning GOD.

2. Concerning the frame of the heart of him that comes to him.

Firſt, OF God. God is the chief good. Good ſo as nothing is but himſelf. He is in himſelf moſt happy, yea all good, and all true happineſs is only to be found in God, as that which is eſſential to his Nature; nor is there any good, or any happineſs in or with any Creature, or Thing, but what is communicated to it by God. God is the only deſirable good, nothing without him is worthy of our hearts. Right thoughts of God are able to raviſh the heart; how much more happy is the man, that has intereſt in God. God alone is able by himſelf to put the ſoul into a more bleſſed, comfortable and happy condition, than can the whole world. Yea, and more, than if all the created happineſs of all the Angels of Heaven did dwell in one mans Boſom. God is the upholder of all Creatures, and whatever they have that is a ſutable good to their kind, it is from God; by God all things have their ſubſiſtence, and all the good that they enjoy. I cannot tell what to ſay. I am drowned. The Life, the Glory, the Bleſſedneſs, the Soul-ſatisfying goodneſs that is in God, is beyond all expreſſion.

Secondly, NOW there muſt be in us ſomething of a ſuitableneſs of ſpirit to this God, before we can be willing to come to him. 43.

BEFORE, therefore, God has been with a man, and has left ſome impreſſion of his glory upon him, that man cannot be willing to come to him aright. Hence 'tis ſaid concerning Abraham, that, in order to his coming to God (and following of him) aright, the Lord himſelf did ſhew himſelf unto him. Men, brethren and fathers, harken, The God of glory appeared unto our father Abraham, when he was in Meſopotamia, before he dwelt in Charran: And ſaid unto him, get thee out of thy Country, and from thy kindred, and come into the land which I ſhall ſhew thee. Gen. 12. 1. Acts 7. 2, 3.

IT was this God of glory, the ſight and viſions of this God of glory, that provoked Abraham to leave his Country and Kindred to come after God. The reaſon why men are ſo careleſs of, and ſo indifferent about their coming to God, is becauſe they have their eyes blinded, becauſe they do not perceive his glory. God is ſo bleſſed a one, that did he not hide himſelf, and his glory, The whole world would be raviſhed with him: But he has, I will not ſay, reaſons of State, but reaſons of Glory; glorious reaſons, why he hideth himſelf from the world, and appeareth but to particular ones. Now by his thus appearing to Abraham, down fell Abrahams vanity, and his Idolatrous fancies and affections; and his heart began to turn unto God, for that there was in this appearance an alluring and Soul-inſtructing Voice. Hence that which Moſes calls here an appearing: Chriſt calls a hearing, Joh. 6. 45. ver. 44. and a teaching, and a learning. It is written in the prophets, And they ſhall be all taught of God: Every man therefore that hath heard, and learned of the Father, cometh unto me. That is, to God by me. But, I ſay, what muſt they hear and learn of the Father, but that Chriſt is the way to glory, the way to the God of glory. This is a drawing Doctrine: Wherefore that which in this verſe is called, Teaching, and Learning; is called in the verſe before, the Drawing of the Father. No man can come to me, except the Father which hath ſent me, draw him: that is, with powerful propoſals, and alluring Concluſions, and heart-ſubduing influences.

Having thus touched upon this, we will now proceed to ſhew you what kind of people they are that come to God by Chriſt; and then ſhall draw ſome Inferences from this alſo.

THERE are therefore three ſorts of people, that come to God by Chriſt. 44.

1. MEN newly awakned.

2. MEN turned back from backſliding.

3. THE ſincere and upright man.

Firſt, MEN newly awakned. (By awakned, I mean awakned throughly.) So awakned as to be made to ſee themſelves, what they are; the World, what it is; the Law, what it is; Hell what it is; Death, what it is; Chriſt what he is; and God, what he is, and alſo what Judgment is.

A man that will come to God by Chriſt aright, muſt needs precedent to his ſo coming, have have a competent knowledge of things of this kind.

1. HE must know himself, what a wretched and miserable sinner he is, before he will take one step forward in order to his coming to God by Christ. This is plain from a great many Scriptures. As Luke 15. that of the Parable of the Prodigal, Acts 2. that of the three thousand, chap. 16. that of the Gaoler; and those of many more besides. The whole have no need of the Physician. They were not the Sound, and Whole, but the Lame and Diseased, that came to him to be cured of their infirmities: And it is not the righteous but the sinners, that do well know themselves to be such, that come to God by Christ.

IT is not in the power of all the men on Earth, to make one man come to God by Job 21. 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14. Christ, because it is not in their power to make men see their state by Nature. And what should a man come to God for, that can live in the World without him? Reason says so, experience says so, the Scripture beareth witness, that so it is of a truth. 'Tis a sight of what I am, that must unroust me, that must shake my soul, and make me leave my present rest. No man comes to God by Christ, but he that knows himself, and what sin hath done to him, that's the first.

45. Secondly, As he must know himself, and Gen. 4. 16. what a wretch he is. So he must know the world, and what an empty thing it is. Cain did see himself, but saw not the emptiness of this world, and therefore instead of going to God by Christ, he went to the world, and there did take up to his dying day. The world is a great snare to the Soul, even to the Souls of awakned sinners, by reason of its Big Looks, and the fair promises that it makes to those that will please to entertain it. 'Twill also make as though it could do as much to the quieting of the spirit, as Psal. 4. 6. either Sermon, Bible, or Preacher. Yea, and Psal. 4. 9, 13. it has its followers ready at its heels continually to blow its applause abroad, saying, Who will shew us any (other) good? And though this their way is their folly, yet their Posterity approveth their Sayings. So that unless a man, under some awaknings, sees the emptiness of the world, he will take up in the good things thereof; and not come to God by Christ. Many there be now in Hell that can seal to this for truth: 'Twas the World that took awakned Cain, awakned Judas, awakned Demas. Yea Balaam, though he had some kind of visions of God, yet was kept by the world from coming to him aright. See with what earnestness the young Man in the Gospel came to Jesus Christ, and that for eternal life. He ran to Mar. 10. 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23. him, he kneeled down to him, and asked, and that before a multitude, Good master what shall I do that I may inherit eternal life? And yet when he was told; he could not come, the world soon stept betwixt that life and him, and perswaded him to take up in it self, and so for ought we know he never looked after Life more.

46. THERE are four things in the world that have a tendency to lull an awakned man asleep, if God also makes him not afraid of the world.

1. THERE is the bustle and cumber of the world, Luk. 8. 14. that will call a man off from looking after the salvation of his soul. This is intimated by the parable of the thorny Ground. Worldly cumber is a deviliſh thing. 'Twill hurry a man from his Bed, without Prayer: To a Sermon, and from it again, without Prayer. 'Twill choke Prayer, 'twill choke the Word, 'twill choke Convictions, 'twill choke the Soul, and cause that awakning shall be to no saving purpose.

2. THERE is the Friendship of this world, to which if a man is not mortified, there is no coming for him to God by Christ. And a man can never be mortified to it, unless he shall see the emptiness and vanity of it. Whosoever Jam. 4. 4. makes himself a friend of this world is the enemy of God. And how then can he come to him by Christ?

3. THERE are the terrors of the world, if a man stands in fear of them, he also will not come to God by Christ. The fear of man brings a snare. How many have in all ages been kept from coming to God aright, by the terrors of the world? Yea, how many are there to ones thinking, have almost got to the gates of Heaven, and have been scared, and driven quite back again, by nothing but the terrors of this World? This is that which Christ so cautioneth his Disciples about, Luke 12. 4, 5, 6. for he knew it was a deadly thing. Peter also bids the Saints beware of this, as of 1 Pet. 3. 14, 15. a thing very destructive.

4. THERE is also the glory of the world, an absolute hinderance to convictions and awaknings: To wit, Honours and Greatness, and Preferments. How can ye believe, said Christ, Joh. 5. 44. that receive honour one of another, and seek not the honour that cometh from God only. If therefore a man is not in his affections, crucified to these, it will keep him from coming to God aright.

47. Thirdly, AS a man must know himself, how vile he is, and know the World, how severe it is: So he must know the Law how empty it is. Else he will not come to God by Jesus Christ our Lord.

A man that is under awaknings, is under a double danger of falling short of coming to God by Christ. If he knows not the severity of the Law,

1. HE is either in danger of slighting its penalty, or,

2. OF seeking to make amends to it, by doing of good works. And nothing can keep him from splitting his soul upon one of these two Rocks, but a sound knowledge of the severity of the Law.

48. First, HE is in danger of slighting the penalty. This is seen by the practice of all the profane in the world. Do they not know the Law? Verily many of them can say the ten Commandments without Book. But they do not know the severity of the Law; and therefore when at any time, awaknings come upon their Consciences, they strive to drive away the guilt of one sin, by wallowing in the filth of another. But would they do thus, if they knew the severity of the Law? they would as soon eat fire. The severity of the Law would be an intolerable, unsupportable burden to their Consciences. It would drive them, and make them fly fly for Refuge to lay hold on the hope set before them.

Secondly, OR if he slights not the penalty, he will seek to make amends to it, by doing of good works, for the sins he has committed. This is manifest by the practice of the Jews and Turks, and all that swerve on that hand; to wit, to seek Life and Happiness by the Law. Paul also was here, before he met with Jesus in the way. This is natural to Consciences that are awakened, unless also they have given to them to see the true severity of the Law. The which that thou mayst do, if my Mite will help, I will cast in for thy Conviction these four things:

49. First, THE Law charges thee with its curse, as well for the Pollution of thy Nature, as for the Defilements of thy Life; yea, and if thou hadst never committed sinful act, thy Pollution of Nature must stand in thy way to Life, if thou comest not to God for Mercy by Christ.

Prov. 24. 9. Secondly, THE Law takes notice of (and chargeth thee with its Curse, as well for) sinful thoughts, as for vile and sinful Actions. The very thought of foolishness is sin, though it never breaks out into act, and will as surely merit the Damnation of the Soul, as will the greatest Transgression in the World.

Thirdly, IF now thou couldst keep all the Commandments, That will do thee no good at all, because thou hast sinned first, The soul that sinneth shall die. Unless then thou canst endure the Curse, and so in a legal way, overcome it for the sins that thou hast committed: thou art gone if thou comest not to God by Christ for Mercy and Pardon.

Fourthly, AND never think of Repentance, thereby to stop the Mouth of the Law, for the Law calleth not for Repentance, but Life; nor will it accept of any, shouldst thou mourn and weep for thy sins till thou hast made a Sea of Blood with Tears. This, I say, thou must know, or thou wilt not come to God by Christ for Life. For the knowledge of this will cause that thou shalt neither slight the Severity of the Law, nor trust to the works thereof for Life. Now when thou doest neither of these, thou canst not but speed thee to God by Christ for Life: for now thou hast no stay; pleasures are gone, all hope in thy self is gone. Thou now diest, and that is the way to live: for this inward Death is, or feels like an hunger-bitten Stomach, that cannot but crave and gape for Meat and Drink. Now 'twill be as possible for thee to sleep with thy Finger in the Fire, as to forbear craving of Mercy, so long as this knowledge remains.

50. Fifthly, AS a Man must know himself, the emptiness of this World, and the Law; so it is necessary for him to know that there is a Hell, and how unsupportable the Torments of it are: for all Threatnings, Curses, and Determinations to punish in the next World, will prove but Fictions and Scare-Crows, if there be no woful place (no woful state) for the sinner to receive his Wages in for sin, when his days are ended in this World. Wherefore this word [Saved] supposeth such a Place and State. He is able to save from Hell! from the woful place, from the woful state of Hell, them that come unto God by him. Christ therefore often insinuates the truth of an Hell, in his invitations to the sinners of this World to come to him; as where he tells them, they shall be saved if they do; they shall be damned if they do not. As if he had said, There is a Hell, a terrible Hell, and they that come to me I will save them from it; but they that come not, the Law will damn them in it. Therefore that thou mayst indeed come to God by Christ for Mercy, believe there is a Hell, a woful terrible place: Hell is God's Creature, he hath made it deep and large; the punishments are by the lashes of his Wrath, which will issue from his Mouth like a Stream of burning Brimstone, ever kindling it self upon the Soul. Thou must know this by the word, and fly from it, or thou shalt know it by thy sins, and lie and cry in it. Isai. 30. 33.

I might inlarge, but if I did I should be swallowed up: for we are, while here, no more able to set forth the Torments of Hell, than we are (while here) to set forth the Joys of Heaven; only this may and ought to be said, That God is able, as to save, so to cast into Hell. And as he is able to make Heaven sweet, good, pleasurable and glorious beyond thought; so he is able to make the Torments of Hell so exquisite, so hot, so sharp, so intolerable, that no Tongue can utter it, no not the damned in Hell themselves. If thou lovest thy Soul, slight not the knowledge of Hell, for that, with the Law, are the Spurs which Christ useth to prick Souls forward to himself withal. What is the cause that sinners can play so delightfully with sin? It is for that they forget that there is a Hell for them to descend into for their so doing when they go out of this World. For here usually he gives our stop to a sinful course; we perceive that Hell hath opened her Mouth before us. Lest thou shouldst forget, I beseech thee, another time, to retain the knowledge of Hell in thine understanding, and apply the burning-hot thoughts thereof to thy Conscience; this is one way to make thee gather up thy Heels and mend thy pace in thy coming to Jesus Christ, and to God the Father by him. Luk. 12. 5. Isai. 64. 4.

51. Sixthly, 'TIS also necessary, that he that cometh to God by the Lord Jesus, should know what Death is, and the uncertainty of its approaches upon us. Death is, as I may call it, The feller, the cutter down. Death is that that puts a stop to a further living here, and that which lays Man where it finds him: If he is in the Faith in Jesus, it lays him down there to sleep, till the Lord comes: If he be not in the Faith, it lays him down in his sins, till the Lord comes. Again, If thou hast some beginnings that look like good, and Death should over-take thee before those beginnings are ripe, thy Fruit will wither, and thou wilt fall short of being gathered into God's Barn. Some Men are cut off like the tops of the Ears of Corn, and some are even nipped by Death, in the very Bud of their Spring; but the safety is, when a Man is ripe, and shall be gathered to his Grave, as a shock of corn to the barn in its Season. Heb. 11. 13. 1 Thes. 4. 14. Job 20. 11. Job 24. 20, 24. Job 5. 26.

NOW if Death shall surprise and seise thee before thou art fit to dye, all's lost: for there is no Repentance in the Grave; or rather as the wise Man has it, whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with all thy might; for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom in the grave whither thou goest. Eccl. 9.10.

DEATH is God's Serjeant, God's Bailiff, and he arrests in God's Name when he comes; but seldom gives warning before he clappeth us on the Shoulder: And when he arrests us, though he may stay a little while, and give us leave to pant, and tumble, and toss our selves for a while upon a Bed of languishing; yet at last he will prick our Bladder, and let out our Life, and then our Soul will be poured upon the Ground; yea, into Hell, if we are not ready and prepared for the Life Everlasting. He that doth not watch for, and is not afraid lest Death should prevent him, will not make hast to God by Christ. What Job said of Temporal Afflictions, such an one will Death be, if thou art not aware: When I looked for good, evil came——— The days of affliction prevented me. If thou lookest, or beginnest to look, for good, and the day of Death shall cut thee off before thou hast found that good thou lookest for; all's lost, Soul, and Life, and Heaven, and All. Wherefore it is convenient that thou conclude, the Grave is thy house, and that thou make thy Bed, once a day, in the Grave: also, that thou say unto Corruption, Thou art my father, and to the worm, thou art my mother and my sister. I say be acquainted with the Grave and Death. The Fool puts the evil day far away; but the Wise Man brings it nigh. Better be ready to dye seven years before Death comes, than want one day, one hour, one moment, one tear, one sorrowful sigh at the remembrance of the ill-spent Life that I have lived. This then is that which I admonish thee of, namely, That thou know Death, what it is, what it doth when it comes. Also, that thou consider well of the danger that Death leaves that Man in, to whom it comes before he is ready and prepared to be laid by it in the Grave. Job 30. 27. Job 17. 14.

Sixthly, THOU must also be made by thy awaknings to see what Christ is. This is of absolute necessity: for how can or shall a Man be willing to come to Christ, that knows not what he is, what God has appointed him to do? He is the Saviour, every Man will say so; but to sense, smell and taste, what saving is, and so to understand the nature of the Office and Work of a Saviour, is a rare thing, kept close from most, known but by some. Jesus of Nazareth is the Saviour, or the Reconciler of Men to God, in the Body of his Flesh through Death. This is he whose business in coming from Heaven to Earth, was to save his People from their sins. Now, as was said, to know how he doth this, is that which is needful to be inquired into: for some say he doth it one way, some he doth it another; (and it must be remembred, that we are now speaking of the Salvation of that Man that from new, or first awaknings, is coming to God by Christ for Life.) 52. Col. 1. 19, 20, 21.

1. SOME say he doth it, by giving of us Precepts and Laws to keep, that we might be justified thereby.

2. SOME say that he doth it by setting himself a Pattern for us to follow him.

3. SOME again hold, that he doth it by our following the Light within.

BUT thou must take heed of all these, for he justifies us by none of these means, (and thou dost need to be justified;) I say, he justifieth us not either by giving Laws unto us, or by becoming our Example, or by our following of him in any sense, but by his Blood shed for us; his Blood is not Laws, nor Ordinances, nor Commandments, but a Price, a Redeeming Price. He justifies us, by bestowing upon us, not by expecting from us. He justifies us by his Grace, not by our Works. In a word, thou must be well grounded in the knowledge of what Christ is, and how Men are justified by him, or thou wilt not come unto God by him. Rom. 5. 7, 8, 9. Eph. 1. 7. Rev. 1. 5.

AS thou must know him, and how Men are justified by him, so thou must know the readiness that is in him to receive and to do for those, what they need, that come unto God by him. Suppose his Merits were never so efficacious, yet if it could be proved that there is a lothness in him that these Merits should be bestowed upon the coming ones, there would but few adventure to wait upon him. But now, as he is full, he is free. Nothing pleases him better, than to give what he has away; than to bestow it upon the poor and needy. And it will be convenient that thou, who art a coming Soul, shouldst know this for thy comfort, to incourage thee to come to God by him. Take two or three Sayings of his for the confirming of what is now said: Come unto me all ye that labour, and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. All that the father giveth me, shall come to me; and him that comes to me, I will in no wise cast out. I am not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance. This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptation, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners; of whom I am chief. Mat. 11. 28. Joh. 6. 37. Mar. 2. 17. 1 Tim. 1. 15.

Seventhly, AS a Man that would come to God by Christ, must antecedent to his so coming, know himself what he is; the World, how empty it is; the Law, how severe it is; Death, and what it is; and Christ, and what he is: so also he must know God, He that cometh to God, must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of those that diligently seek him. God must know, else how can the sinner propound him as his end, his ultimate end? For so doth every one that indeed doth come to Christ aright: He comes to Christ, because he is the way; he comes to God, because he is the end. But, I say, if he knows him not, how can he propound him as the end? The end is that, for the sake of which I propound to my self any thing, and for the sake of which I use any means. Now then, I would be saved; but why? Even because I would enjoy God. I use the means to be saved, and why? because I would enjoy God. I am sensible that sin has made me 53. Heb. 11. 6.

Rom. 3. 23. Chap. 5. 1, 2. come short of the Glory of God, and that Christ Jesus is he, the only he, that can put me into a condition of obtaining the Glory of God: and therefore I come to God by him.

BUT, I say, again, who will propound God for his end, that knows him not, that knows him not aright? yea, that knows him not to be worth being propounded as my end, in coming to Jesus Christ: and he that thus knows him, must know him to be above all, best of all, and him in whom the Soul shall find that Content, that Bliss, that Glory and Happiness, that can by no means be found elsewhere. And, I say, if this be not found in God, the Soul will never propound him to himself as the only, highest and ultimate end in its coming to Jesus Christ. But it will propound something else, even what it shall imagin to be the best good: perhaps Heaven; perhaps Ease from Guilt; perhaps to be kept out of Hell, or the like. I do not say, but a Man may propound all these to himself in his coming to Jesus Christ; but if he propound these as his ultimate end, as the chiefest good that he seeks: If the presence and enjoyment of God, of God's glorious Majesty, be not his chief design, he is not concerned in the Salvation that is propounded in our Text. He is able, and so will save to the uttermost them that come unto [God] by him.

54. WHAT's Heaven without God? what's Ease without the peace and enjoyment of God? What's Deliverance from Hell, without the enjoyment of God? The propounding therefore these, and only these, to thy self for thy Happiness, in thy coming to Jesus Christ, is a Proposal not a hairs breadth higher than what a Man without Grace can propound. What, or who is he that would not go to Heaven? What, or who is he that would not also have ease from the guilt of sin? And where is the Man that chuseth to go to Hell? But many there be that can't abide God; no, they like not to go to Heaven, because God is there. If the Devil had a Heaven to bestow upon Men, a vicious and a beastly Heaven, (if it be lawful thus to speak,) I durst pawn my Soul upon it, were it a thousand times better than it is, that upon a bare Invitation, the foul Fiend would have twenty to God's one. They, I say, cannot abide God; nay, for all the Devil has nothing but a Hell for them, yet how thick Men go to him, but how thinly to God Almighty. The Nature of God lieth cross to the Lusts of Men. A Holy God, a Glorious Holy God, an infinitely Holy God; this spoils all. But to the Soul that is awakened, and that is made to see things as they are, to him God is what he is in himself, the blessed, the highest, the only Eternal Good, and he without the enjoyment of whom, all things would sound but emptily in the Ears of that Soul.

NOW then, I advise thee, that hast a mind to come to God by Christ, that thou seek the knowledge of God. If thou seekest wisdom, as silver, and searchest for her as for hid treasures; then shalt thou understand the fear of the Lord, and find the knowledge of God.

AND to incourage thee yet further, he is so desirous of Communion with Men, that he pardoneth sins for that. Hence he is called, not only Loving, but Love. God is love, and he that dwelleth in love, dwelleth in God, and God in him. 1 Joh. 4. 16.

METHINKS when I consider what Glory there is, at times, upon the Creatures, and that all their Glory is the Workmanship of God: O Lord, say I, what is God himself! He may well be called the God of Glory, as well as the Glorious Lord: for as all glory is from him, so in him is an inconceivable Well-Spring of glory, of glory to be communicated to them that come by Christ to him. Wherefore let the glory, and love, and bliss, and eternal happiness that is in God, allure thee to come to him by Christ.

Eighthly, AS thou shouldst, nay must, have a good knowledge of all these, so thou must have it of Judgment to come. They that come to God by Christ, are said to fly from the wrath to come: to fly for refuge; to lay hold on the hope set before them. 55. Mat. 3. 7.

THIS Judgment to come, is a warm thing to be thought of, an awakening thing to be thought of: It is called the Eternal Judgment, because it is, and will be, God's final Conclusion with Men. This Day is called the Great and Notable Day of the Lord, the Day that shall burn like an Oven; the Day in which the Angels shall gather the wicked together, as Tares into Bundles, to burn them; but the rest into his Kingdom and Glory. This Day will be it, in which all Bowels of Love and Compassion shall be shut up to the Wicked, and that in which the Flood-gates of Wrath shall be opened, by which shall a plentiful Reward be given to Evil-doers, but glory to the Righteous. This is the Day in which Men, if they could, would creep into the Ground for fear; but because they cannot, therefore they will call and cry to the Mountains to fall upon them, but they shall not: therefore they stand bound to bear their Judgment. Acts 2. 20. Mat. 4. 1. Psal. 112.

THIS Day will be the Day of breaking up of Closet-Councils, Cabinet-Councils, Secret purposes, hidden Thoughts; yea, God shall bring every work into Judgment with every secret thing: I say he shall do it then. For he will both bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and will make manifest the councils of the heart. This is the Day that is appointed to put them to shame and contempt in, that have, in this World, been bold and audacious in their vile and beastly ways. At this Day God will cover all such bold and brazen Faces with shame. Now they will blush till the Blood is ready to burst through their Cheeks: O the Confusion and Shame that will cover their Faces, while God is discovering to them what a nasty, what a beastly, what an uncomely, and what an unreasonable Life they lived in the World. They shall now see they contemned God that fed them, that cloathed them, that gave them Life and Limb, and that maintained their Breath in their Nostrils. But Oh! when they see the Gulph before them, and all things ready to receive them in thither, then, then, they will Eccl. 12. 14. 1 Cor. 4. 5. Dan. 12.

will know what ſinning againſt GOD means.

AND, I ſay, Thou that art for coming to God by Chriſt, muſt know this, and be well aſſured of this: or thou wilt never come to God by him.

WHAT of the glory of God ſhall be put upon them that do indeed come to him, will alſo help in this ſpiritual Journey, if it be well conſidered by thee: But perhaps, terror and unbelief will ſuffer thee to conſider but little of that. However the things aforementioned will be Goads: And will ſerve to prick thee forward: and if they do ſo, they will be Gods great bleſſing unto thee, and that for which thou wilt give him thy thanks for ever. Eccl. 12.

56. THUS I have in few words, ſpoken ſomething as to the firſt ſort of comers to God by Chriſt; namely, of the coming of the newly awakned man. And I ſay again, if any of the things aforenamed be wanting, and are not with his heart, 'tis a queſtion whether notwithſtanding all the noiſe that he may make about Religion, he will ever come to God by Chriſt.

1. IF he knows not himſelf and the badneſs of his condition, wherefore ſhould he come?

2. IF he knows not the world, and the emptineſs and vanity thereof, wherefore ſhould he come?

3. IF he knows not the Law, and the ſeverity thereof, wherefore ſhould he come?

4. IF he knows not Hell and the Torments thereof, wherefore ſhould he come?

5. IF he knows not what Death is, wherefore ſhould he come?

6. AND if he knows not the Father and the Son, how can he come?

7. AND to know that there is a Judgment to come, is as neceſſary to his coming, as moſt of the reſt of the things propounded. Coming to God by Chriſt, is for ſhelter, for ſafety, for advantage, and everlaſting happineſs. But he that knows not, that underſtands not the things afore mentioned, ſees not his need of taking ſhelter, of flying for ſafety, of coming for advantage to God by Chriſt. I know there are degrees of this knowledge, and he that has it moſt warm upon him, in all likely-hood will make moſt haſt; or, as David ſaith, will haſten his eſcape from the windy ſtorm and tempeſt: and he that ſees leaſt, is in moſt danger of being the loyterer, and ſo of loſing the priſe. For all that run do not obtain it; all that fight, do not win it; and all that ſtrive for it, have it not. 1 Cor. 9. 24, 25, 26. 2 Tim. 2. 4, 5.

57. Secondly, I ſhould now come to the ſecond man mentioned, to wit, the man that is turning back from his backſliding, and ſpeak ſomething alſo about his coming again to God by Chriſt.

THERE are two things remarkable in the returning of a backſlider to God by Chriſt.

1. THE firſt is, he gives a ſecond teſtimony to the truth of all things ſpoken of before.

2. HE alſo gives a ſecond teſtimony of the neceſſity of coming to God by Chriſt.

OF the manner of his coming to God by Chriſt, perhaps I alſo may ſpeak a word or two. But,

Firſt, THE returning again of the backſlider, gives a ſecond teſtimony to the truth of mans ſtate being by nature miſerable, of the vanity of this world: of the ſeverity of the Law, certainty of death, and terribleneſs of Judgment to come. His firſt coming told them ſo, but his ſecond coming tells them ſo with a double confirmation of the truth. It is ſo, ſaith his firſt coming. Oh! it is ſo, ſaith his ſecond. The backſliding of a Chriſtian comes through the over much perſwading of Satan, and Luſt; that the man was miſtaken, and that there was no ſuch horror in the things from which he fled; nor ſo much good in the things to which he haſted. Turn again, Fool, ſays the Devil, turn again to thy former Courſe. I wonder what frenzy it was that drove thee to thy Heels, and that made thee leave ſo much good behind thee, as other men find in the luſts of the fleſh and the good of the world. As for the Law, and death, and an imagination of the day of Judgment, they are but meer ſcare-Crows, ſet up by politick heads to keep the ignorant in ſubjection. Well, ſays the backſlider, I will go back again and ſee: ſo fool, as he is, he goes back, and has all things ready to entertain him, his Conſcience ſleeps, the World ſmiles, Fleſh is ſweet, Carnal Company compliments him, and all that can be got is preſented to this backſlider to accommodate him. But behold he doth again begin to ſee his own nakedneſs, and he perceives that the Law is whetting his Ax: as for the world, he perceives 'tis a bubble, he alſo ſmells the ſmell of Brimſtone, for God hath ſcattered it upon his tabernacle, and it begins to burn within him. Oh! ſaith he, I am deluded, Oh! I am inſnared. My firſt ſight of things was true. I ſee it is ſo again. Now he begins to be for flying again to his firſt refuge; O God, ſaith he, I am undone, I have turned from thy truth to lies! I believed them ſuch at firſt, and find them ſuch at laſt: Have mercy upon me, O God. Job 18. 15.

THIS, I ſay, is a teſtimony, a ſecond teſtimony by the ſame man; as to the miſerable ſtate of man; the ſeverity of the Law, the emptineſs of the World, the certainty of Death, and the terribleneſs of Judgment. This man has ſeen it, and ſeen it again. 58.

A returning backſlider is a great bleſſing (I mean intended to be ſo) to two ſorts of men.

1. To the Elect uncalled.

2. TO the Elect that are called, and that at preſent ſtand their ground. The uncalled are made [to hear him, and conſider; the called are made to hear him, and are afraid of falling. Behold therefore the myſtery of God's Wiſdom, and how willing he is that ſpectators ſhould be warned and made take heed. Yea, he will permit that ſome of his own ſhall fall into the Fire, to convince the world that Hell is hot; and to warn their brethren to take heed that they ſlip not with their feet. I have often ſaid in my heart, that this was the cauſe why God ſuffered ſo many of the believing Jews to fall, to wit, that the Gentiles might take heed. O brethren, ſaith the backſlider that is returned, did you ſee how I left my God? Did you ſee how I turned again to thoſe vanities from which ſometime before I fled? Oh! I was deluded, I was be- Rom. 11. 21.

witched, I was deceived: for I found all things from which I fled at first, still worse by far when I went to them the second time. Do not backslide. Oh! do not backslide. The first ground of your departing from them was good, never tempt God a second time.

59. Secondly, AND as he gives us a second Testimony that the World and himself are so as at first he believed they were; so by this his returning, he testifies that God and Christ are the same, and much more than ever he believed at first they were. This Man has made a Proof before, and a Proof after Conviction, of the evil of the one, and good of the other. This Man has made a Proof by feeling and seeing, and that before and after Grace received. This Man God has set up to be a Witness: This Man is two Men, has the Testimony of two Men, must serve in the place of two Men: He knows what it is to be fetched from a state of Nature by Grace; but this all Christians know as well as he. Ay, but he knows what it is to be fetched from the World, from the Devil, and Hell, the second time; and that but few Professors know: For few that fall away, return to God again. Ay, but this Man is come again, wherefore there is News in his Mouth, sad News, dreadful News, and News that is to make the standing Saint to take heed lest he fall. The returning backslider therefore is a rare Man, a Man of worth and intelligence, a Man to whom the Men of the World should flock, and of whom they should learn to fear the Lord God. He also is a Man of whom the Saints should receive both caution, counsel and strength in their present standing; and that should, by his harms, learn to serve the Lord with fear, and to rejoyce with trembling.

Heb. 6. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5.

1 Cor. 10. 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12. Psal. 51. 11, 12, 13. Luke 22. 32.

THIS Man has the second time also had a Proof of God's goodness in his Christ unto him, a Proof which the standing Christian has not, (I would not tempt him that stands, to fall) but the good that a returning backslider has received at God's Hands, and at the Hand of Christ, is a double good. He has been Converted twice, fetcht from the World and from the Devil, and from himself twice. Oh Grace! and has been made to know the stability of God's Covenant, the unchangeableness of God's Mind, the sure and lasting Truth of his Promise in Christ, and of the sufficiency of the Merits of Christ, over and over.

60. OF the manner of this Man's coming to God by Christ, I shall also speak a word or two.

HE comes as the new awakened sinner comes, and that from the same motives, and the knowledge of things, as he hath over and above (which he had as good have been without) that which the newly awakened sinner has not; to wit, the guilt of his backsliding, which is a guilt of a worse Complexion, of a deeper Dye, and of a heavier nature than is any guilt else in the World. He is also attended with Fears and Doubts that arise from other Reasons and Considerations, than do the Doubts and Fears of the newly awakened Man. Doubts builded upon the vileness of his backsliding. He has also more dreadful Scriptures to consider of, and they will look more wishfully in his Face; (yea, and will also make him take notice of their grim Physiognomy) than has the newly awakened Man. Besides, as a punishment of his backsliding, God seems to withdraw the sweet influences of his Spirit, and is as if he would not suffer him to Pray, nor to Repent any more: as if he would now take all away from him, and leave him to those Lusts and Idols that he left his God, to follow. Swarms of his new Rogueries shall haunt him in every place; and that not only in the guilt, but in the filth and pollution of them. None knows the things that haunt a back-slider's Mind, his new sins are all turned talking Devils, threatning Devils, roaring Devils, within him. Besides, he doubts of the truth of his first Conversion, consequently he has it lying upon him, as a strong Suspition, that there was nothing of truth in all his first experience; and this also adds Lead to his Heels, and makes him come, as to sense and feeling, more heavy, and with the greater difficulty to God by Christ. As faithfulness of other Men kills him, he cannot see an honest, humble, holy, faithful Servant of God, but he is pierced and wounded at the Heart. Ay, says he, within himself, that Man fears God, that Man hath faithfully follow'd God, that Man, like the Elect Angels, has kept his place; but I am fallen from my station like a Devil. That Man honoureth God, edificth the Saints, convinceth the World, and condemneth them, and is become Heir of the Righteousness which is by Faith. But I have dishonoured God, stumbled, and grieved Saints, made the World blaspheme, and, for ought I know, been the cause of the Damnation of many. These are the things, I say, together with many more of the same kind, that come with him; yea, they will come with him; yea, and will stare him in the Face, will tell him of his baseness, and laugh him to scorn, all the way that he is coming to God by Christ; (I know what I say) and this makes his coming to God by Christ hard and difficult to him. Besides, he thinks Saints will be aware of him, will be shy of him, will be afraid to trust him; yea, will tell his Father of him, and make Intercession against him, as Elias did against Israel, or as the Men did that were Fellow-Servants with him that took his Brother by the Throat. Shame covereth his Face all the way he comes. He doth not know what to do: The God he is returning to, is the God that he has slighted, the God before whom he has preferred the vilest Lust: and he knows God knows it, and has before him all his ways. The Man that has been a Back-slider, and is returning to God, can tell strange Stories, and yet such as are very true. No Man was in the Whales Belly, and came out again alive, but back-sliding and returning Jonah: consequently, no Man could tell how he was there, what he felt there, what he saw there, and what workings of Heart he had when he was there, so well as he.

Psal. 51. 10. Prov. 4. 14. Rom. 11. 2. Mat. 18. 31.

61. Thirdly, I come now to the third man, to wit, to the sincere, and upright man, that cometh to God by Christ. (And although this may in some sence be applicable to the two former, for his coming is not worthy to be counted coming coming to God, that is not in sincerity and uprightness) Yet by such an one I now mean, one that has been called to the Faith, and that has in some good measure of sincerity and uprightness therein abode with God.

THIS man also comes to God by Christ: but his coming is to be distinguished, I mean in the main of it, from the coming of the other two.

THE other come for the knowledge of forgiveness, a thing that the upright and faithful Christian for the most part has a comfortable faith of, and that for which he is often helped to give thanks to God. I do not say he doubteth not, or that he has not his evidences sometimes clouded. Nor do I say that the knowledge of his reconciliation to God by Christ Jesus is so high, so firm, so fixed, and stedfast, that it cannot be shaken, or that he needs no more. I will then explain my self. He comes not to God as an unconverted sinner comes: he comes not as a Backslider comes when he is returning to God from his backslidings; but he comes as a Son, as one of the Household of God, and he comes as one that has not since correction, wickedly departed from his God.

Rom. 5.2, 3. 1. HE then comes to God with that access and godly boldness that is only proper to such as himself: That is, to them that walk with God. Thus every one that shall be saved, doth not do: Thus every one that shall be saved, cannot do. To instance the two spoken of before.

62. Psal. 27.4. 2. HE comes to God by Christ constantly, by Prayer, by Meditation, by every Ordinance: For therefore he maketh use of Ordinances, because by them, through Christ, he getteth into the presence of God.

3. HE comes to God through Christ, because he judgeth that God only is that Good, that Blessedness, that Happiness that is worth looking after: That Good, and that Blessedness that alone can fill the Soul to the brim: That Good, and that Happiness that is worthy of our Hearts and Souls and Spirits. Hence David expresseth his coming to God by Panting, by Psal. 42.1, Thirsting, by Tears, saying, My soul panteth after thee, O God. And again, My soul thirsteth for God, for the living God, when shall I Psa. 43. 4. come and appear before God? And again, I will go to the altar of God, unto God, my exceeding joy. And hence it was that he so envied the Swallow and Sparrow, even because they could come to the Altar of God, where he had promised to give his presence, when he, as I think, by the rage of Saul was forced to abide remote. Psal. 84. My soul longeth, saith he, even fainteth for the Courts of the Lord: my heart and my flesh cryeth out for the living God. Yea, the Sparrow hath found an house, and the Swallow a nest for her self, where she may lay her Young, even thine altar, O Lord of hosts, my king, and my God. Blessed be they that dwell in thy house, they will be still praising thee. Then after a few more words he saith, for a day in thy Courts is better than a thousand. I had rather be a door-keeper; I would chuse rather to sit at the Threshold of thy house, than dwell in the tents of wickedness. And then renders the reasons: For the Lord is a sun and a shield, the Lord gives grace and glory, &c.

THE presence of God, and the glory and soul-ravishing goodness of that presence, is a thing that the world understands not, nor can they, as such, desire to know what it is.

4. THESE good men come to God upon other accounts also: for so it is, that they have many concerns with God. 63.

Psal. 39.1, 2, 3. 1. THEY come to him for a more clear discovery of themselves to themselves. For they desire to know how frail they are, because the more they know that, the more they are ingaged in their souls to take heed to their ways, and to fear lest they should tempt their God to leave them.

2. THEY come to God by Christ, for the weakning of their Lusts and Corruptions. For they are a sore, yea, a plague to a truly sanctified soul. Those, to be rid of which, if it might be, a godly man chuseth rather to die than to live. This David did mean when he cryed, Create in me a clean heart O God, and re- Psal. 51.10 new a right spirit within me. And Paul, when he cryed out, O wretched man that I am, who shall deliver me from the body of this death.

3. THEY come to God by Christ for the renewing and strengthning of their graces. The graces that the godly have received, are, and they feel they are, subject to decay, yea, they cannot live without a continual supply of grace. This is the meaning of that, Let us have grace, Heb. 4.16. and, let us come boldly to the throne of grace, that we may obtain grace, and find mercy to help in time of need.

4. THEY come to God by Christ, to be helped against those temptations that they may meet withall. They know that every new temp- Mat. 6.13. tation has a new snare, and a new evil in it: but what snare, and what evil, that at present they know not: but they know their God knows, and can deliver out of temptation when we are in, and keep us out while we are out.

5. THEY come to God by Christ for a blessing upon that means of grace which God 2 Thes. 3. 1. has afforded for the succour of the soul, and the building of it up in the faith. Knowing that as the means, so a blessing upon it is from God. And for this they have incouragement, because God has said, I will abundantly bless her provision, Psal. 132. 15. and satisfie her poor with bread.

6. THEY come to God by Christ, for the Psal. 19.12 forgiveness of daily infirmities, and for the continuing them in the light of his countenance, notwithstanding. Thus he also would always accept them and their services, and grant that an answer of peace may be returned from their Father into their bosoms: For this is the life of their souls. There are a great many such things that the sincere and upright man comes to God for, too many here to mention. But again,

This man also comes to God to beseech him for the flourishing of Christ's Kingdom, which he knows will never be untill Antichrist is dead, and till the spirit be more plentifully poured upon us from on high. Therefore he also cries to God for the downfall of the first, and for the pouring out of the other.

2. He comes to God for the hastning the ga- 64. thering in of his Elect: for 'tis an affliction to Psal. 122. him to think that so many of those, for whom 6.

Christ

Christ died, should be still in a posture of Hostility against him.

3. HE comes to God for a Spirit of Unity to be poured out among Believers, for, for the Divisions of Reuben he has great thoughts of Heart.

1 Tim. 2. 1. Rev. 17. 16. 4. HE comes to God to pray for Magistrates, and that God would make speed to set them all to that work that is so desireable to his Church, that is, to hate the Whore, to eat her Flesh, to make her desolate, and burn her with Fire.

Rev. 22. 21. 5. HE comes to God to beg that he would hasten that great and notable Day, the Day of the coming of our Lord Jesus: for he knows that Christ will never be exalted as he must be, till then; yea, he also knows, that God's Church will never be as she would, and shall, till then.

6. BUT the main meaning, if I may so call it, of this high Text is this: That they that come to God by him, that is, by Christ, are those that come by Christ to God to enjoy him by Faith and Spirit here, and by open Vision and unspeakable Possession of him in the next World. This is the great design of the Soul in its coming to God by Jesus Christ: and it comes to him by [Jesus Christ,] because it dares not come by it self, and because God himself has made him the way, the new and living way. Here, as I said, the Father meets with that which pleaseth him, and the Soul with that which saveth her. Here is Righteousness and Merits to spare, even Righteousness that can justifie the Ungodly. Here is always, how empty soever we be, a fulness of Merit always presented to God by Christ for my obtaining of that which at any time I want, whether Wisdom, Grace, Spirit, or any good Thing so ever; only since I was upon this Subject, I thought a little to touch upon things in this order, for the enlarging of thy Thoughts, for the Conviction of thy Spirit, for the stirring of thee up to God, and for the shewing of thee the good signs of Grace, where 'tis, where 'tis abused, and where any are seeking after it.

AND now I come to draw some Inferences from this Point also, as I have already done from those going before it.

YOU see that I have now been speaking to you of the Man that cometh to God, both with respect to the way he comes, as also with respect to the manner of Spirit in which he comes; and hence I may well infer,

65. First, THAT he is no Fool, no Fool, according to the best Judgment, that cometh to God by Christ. The World indeed will count him one: for the things that be of the Spirit of God, are foolishness to them: but indeed, and in the Verdict of true Judgment, he is not so.

Prov. 18. 1. 1 Cor. 1. 1. FOR that he now seeketh and intermedleth with all Wisdom. He has chosen to be concerned with the very Head and Fountain of Wisdom: for Christ is the Wisdom of God, and the way to the Father by Christ, is the greatest of Mysteries, and to chuse to walk in that way, the fruits of the most sage Advice: Wherefore he is not a Fool that thus concerns himself.

2. IT is not a sign of foolishness, timely to prevent ruine, is it? They are the prudent men that foresee an evil, and hide themselves; and the fools that go on and are punished. Why, this Man foresees an evil, the greatest evil, Sin, and the punishment of the Soul for Sin in Hell; and flyes to Christ, who is the Refuge that God has provided for Penitent Sinners, and is this a sign of a Fool? God make me such a Fool, and thee that readest these Lines such a Fool, and then we shall be wiser than all Men that are counted Wise by the wisdom of this World. Is it a sign of a Fool to agree with ones Adversary, while we are in the way with him, even before he delivereth us to the Judge? Yea, it is a piece of the highest wisdom. Prov. 18. 5. Prov. 27. 12.

IS he a Fool that chuseth for himself long lasters, or he, whose best things will rot in a Day? Sinners, Before your pots can feel the thorns, (before you can see where you are) God shall take you away as with a whirl-wind, both living and in his wrath. But this Man has provided for things, like the Tortoise, he has got a Shell on his Back, so strong and sound, that he fears not to suffer a loaden Cart to go over him. The Lord is his Rock, his Defence, his Refuge, his high Tower, unto which he doth continually resort. Psal. 58. 9.

WAS the Unjust Steward a Fool in providing for himself for hereafter? For providing Friends to receive him to harbour, when others should turn him out of their Doors? no more is he that gets another House for his harbour, before Death shall turn him out of Doors here. Luk. 16. 8, 9.

Secondly, AS he that cometh to God by Christ is no Fool, so he is no little-spirited Fellow. There are a Generation of Men in this World, that count themselves Men of the largest Capacities; when yet the greatness of their desires list themselves no higher than to things below. If they can, with their Net of Craft and Policy, incompass a bulkey lump of Earth, Oh what a Treasure have they ingrossed to themselves! Mean while the Man in the Text has laid Siege to Heaven, has found out the way to get into the City, and is resolved, in and by God's help, to make that his own. Earth is a Drossie thing in this Man's Account: Earthly greatness and splendors are but like vanishing Bubbles in this Man's esteem. None but God, as the end of his desires: none but Christ, as the means to accomplish this his end, are things counted great by this Man. No Company now is acceptable to this Man, but the Spirit of God; Christ, and Angels, and Saints, as fellow-Heirs with himself. All other Men and Things he deals with as Strangers and Pilgrims were wont to do. This Man's Mind soars higher than the Eagle or Stork of the Heavens. He is for musing about things that are above, and their glory, and for thinking what shall come to pass hereafter. 66.

BUT as I have shewed you what he is not, so now let me, by a few words, tell you what he is. 67.

First, THEN, he is a Man concerned for his Soul, for his immortal Soul. The Soul is a thing, though of most worth, least minded by most. The Souls of most lie waste, while all other other things are inclosed. But this man has got it by the end, that his soul is of more value than the world: Wherefore he is concerned for his soul. Soul-concerns are concerns of the highest nature: and concerns that arise from thoughts most deep, and ponderous. He never yet knew what belonged to great and deep thoughts, that is a stranger to soul-concerns. Now the man that comes to God by Christ, is a man that is ingaged in soul concerns.

2. HE is a man whose spirit is subjected to a suitableness to spiritual things. For a carnal mind cannot suite with, and be delighted in these things. The carnal mind is enmity against God; for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be. This is the man that God has tamed, and keeps tame by himself, while all other run wild, as the Asses upon the Mountains. If Birds could speak, surely they would tell, that those that are kept in the Cage, have with them another temper than they that range the Air, and fly in the Fields and Woods. Yea, and could those kept tame, expresse themselves to the rest, they would tell that they have white Bread, and Milk, and Sugar; while those without, make a life out of Maggots, and Worms. They are also in place where there are better things, and their companions are the children of Men: besides, they learn such notes, and can whistle such Tunes as other birds are strangers to. Oh! the man whose spirit is subjected to God; betwixt whom and God there is a reconciliation, not only as to a difference made up, but also as to a oneness of heart: None knows what Lumps of Sugar God gives that man, nor what Notes and Tunes God learns that man. He hath put a new song in my mouth, saith David, even praises to our God: many shall see it, and fear and trust in the Lord.

Rom. 8. 7.

Psal. 40. 3.

68. Secondly, IS there a man that comes to God by Christ. Thence I infer, that there is, that believes there is a world to come. No man looks after that, which yet he believes is not. Faith must be before coming to Christ will be, coming is the fruit of Faith. He that comes must believe, antecedent to his coming: Wherefore it is said, we walk by faith, that is, we come to God through Christ, by Faith. And hence I learn two things:

Heb. 11. 7. 2 Cor. 5. 7.

1. THAT Faith is of a strong and forceable quality.

2. THAT they who come not to God by Christ, have no faith.

First, FAITH is of a strong and forceable quality, and that whether it be true or false.

1. A false Faith has done great things. It has made men believe Lyes, plead for them, and stand to them, to the damnation of their souls. God shall send them strong delusions that they shall believe a lye, to their damnation. Hence 'tis said, men make lyes their refuge. Why? because they trust in a lie. A lie, if believed, if a man has Faith in it, it will do great things, because Faith is of a forcible quality. Suppose thy self to be Twenty miles from home, and there some man comes and possesses thee that thy House, thy Wife and Children, are all burned with the Fire. If thou believest it, though indeed there should be nothing of truth in what thou hast heard. Yet will this lye drink up thy spirit, even as if the tidings were true. How many are there in the world whose heart Satan hath filled with a belief that their state and condition, for another world, is good? and these are made to live by lying hope, that all shall be well with them: and so are kept from seeking for that which will make them happy indeed. Man is naturally apt and willing to be deceived, and therefore a groundless Faith is the more taking and forceable. Fancy will help to confirm a false Faith, and so will conceit, and idleness of spirit: There is also in man a willingness to take things upon trust, without searching into the ground and reason of them. Nor will Satan be behind hand to prompt and incourage, to thy believing of a lye: for that he knows will be a means to bring thee to that end, to which he greatly desireth thou shouldst come. Wherefore let men beware, and O that they could, of a false and lying Faith.

2 Thes. 2. 11, 12. Jer. 28. 15.

69. 2. But if a false Faith is so forcible, what is a true? What force I say is there in a Faith that is begotten by truth, managed by truth, fed by truth, and preserved by the truth of God. This Faith will make invisible things, visible; not fantastically so, but substantially so. Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. True Faith carrieth along with it an evidence of the certainty of what it believeth; and that evidence is the infallible word of God. There is a God, a Christ, a Heaven, saith the Faith that is good, for the word of God doth say so. The way to this God, and this Heaven, is by Christ, for the word of God doth say so. If I run not to this God by this Christ, this Heaven shall never be my portion, for the word of God doth say so. So then thus believing, makes the man come to God by him. His thus believing then it is that carries him away from this world, that makes him trample upon this world, and that gives him the victory over this world. For whosoever is born of God overcometh the world, and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith. Who is he that overcometh the world, but he that believeth that Jesus is the son of God. This is he that cometh by water and blood, even Jesus Christ: not by water only, but by water and blood: and it is the spirit that beareth witness, because the spirit is truth.

Heb. 11. 1.

1 Joh. 5. 4, 5, 8.

70. Secondly NOW, if this be true, that Faith, true Faith, is so forcible a thing, as to take a man from his seat of ease, and make him to come to God, by Christ, as afore: Then, is it not truly inferred from hence, that they that come not to God by Christ, have no faith. What! is man such a fool as to believe things, and yet not look after them? to believe great things, and yet not to concern himself with them? Who would knowingly go over a Pearl, and yet not count it worth stooping for. Believe thou art, what thou art. Believe Hell is, what is it. Believe Death and Judgment are coming, as they are, and believe that the Father and the Son are, as by the Holy Ghost in the Word, they are described, and sit still in thy sins if thou canst. Thou canst not sit still, Faith is forcible. Faith is grounded upon the voice of God in the word, upon the teaching of God in the word.

And

And it pleases God by the foolishness of preaching to save them that believe: For believing makes them heartily close in with and imbrace what by the word is set before them; because it seeth the reality of them.

SHALL God speak to mans soul? and shall not man believe? shall man believe what God says, and nothing at all regard it? It cannot be. Faith comes by hearing, and hearing by the word of God. And we know that when Faith is come, it purifies the heart, of what is opposite to God, and the Salvation of the soul.

SO then, those men that are at ease in a sinful course, or that come not to God by Christ, Rev. 21. 8. they are such as have no Faith, and must therefore perish with the vile, and unbelievers.

THE whole world is divided into two sorts of men; Believers, and Unbelievers. The godly are called Believers. And why Believers? but because they are they that have given credit to the great things of the Gospel of God. These Believers are here in the Text called also Comers, or they that come to God by Christ, because, who so believes, will come: for coming is a fruit of Faith in the habit, or if you will, 'tis Faith in exercise; yet Faith must have a being in the soul before the soul can put it into act.

THIS therefore further evidences that they that come not, have no Faith, are not believers, belong not to the hosshould of Faith, and must perish. For he that believes not, shall be damned.

NOR will it be to any boot to say, I believe there is a God, and a Christ, for still thy sitting still, doth demonstrate that either thou lest in what thou sayst, or that thou believest with a worse than a false Faith. But the object of my faith is true. I answer, So is the object of the Faith of Devils: for they believe that there is one God and one Christ; yet their Faith, as to the root and exercise of it, that notwithstanding is no such Faith, as is that Faith that saves, or that is intended in the Text, and that by which Men come to God through Christ.

WHEREFORE still, Oh thou slothful one, thou deceivest thy self! Thy not coming to God by Christ, declareth to thy Face, That thy Faith is not good, consequently, that thou feedest on Ashes, and thy deceived Heart has turned thee aside, that thou canst not deliver thy Soul, nor say, is there not a lie in my right hand?

71. Thirdly, IS there a Man that comes to God by Christ? Thence I infer, That the world to come is better than this; yea, so much better, as to quit cost, and bear charges of coming to God, from this, by Christ, to that. Though there is a World to come, yet if it was no better than this, one had as good stay here, as seek that; or if it were better than this, and would bear charges, if a Man left this for that, and that was all, still the one would be as good as tother. But the Man that comes to God by Christ, has chosen the World that is infinitely good, a World betwixt which and this, there can be no Comparison. This must be granted, because he that comes to God by Christ, is said to have made the best choice, even chose a city that has foundations. There are several things that make it manifest enough, that he that comes to God by Christ has made the best Market, or chose the best World.

1. THAT is the world which God commendeth, 2 Thes. 1. 5, 6. but this that that he slighteth and contemneth. Hence that is called the Kingdom of God, but this, an evil World. Now let us conclude, That since God made both, he is able to judge Gal. 1. 4. which of the two are best; yea, best able to to judge thereof. I chuse the rather to refer you to the Judgment of God in this matter: for should I put you upon asking of him, as to this, that is coming to God by Christ, perhaps you would say, He is as little able to give an Account of this Matter as your selves. But I hope you think God knows, and therefore I refer you to the Judgment of God, which you have in the Scriptures of Truth. Heaven is his throne, and the earth is his footstool. I hope you will say here is some difference. The Lord is the God of that, the Devil the God and Prince of this. Thus also it appears there is some difference between them.

2. THAT World, and those that are counted worthy of it, shall all be everlasting; but so shall not this, nor the Inhabiters of it. The Earth, 2 Pet. 3. with the works thereof, shall be burned up, and the Men that are of it shall die in like manner. But Israel shall be saved in the Lord Isai. 45. with an everlasting salvation: they shall not be 17. ashamed nor confounded, world without end.

THIS World, with the lovers of it, will 72. end in a burning Hell; but the World to come 1 Pet. 1. fadeth not away. 9, 4.

3. THE World that we are now in, has its best Comforts mixed either with Crosses or Curses; but that to come, with neither. There shall be no more curse; and as for crosses, all Tears shall be wiped from the Eyes of them that dwell there. There will be nothing but ravishing pleasures, and holy. There will be no cessation of Joys, nor any speck of Pollution. In thy presence is fulness of joy, and at thy right Psal. 16. hand are pleasures for evermore. 11.

4. THERE Men shall be made like Angels, neither can they dye any more. There Luk. 20. 25. shall they behold the Face of God and his Son, and swim in the enjoyment of them for ever.

5. THERE Men shall see themselves beyond all misery, and shall know that it will be utterly impossible that either any thing like sorrow, or grief, or sickness, or discontent, should touch them more.

6. THERE Men shall be rewarded of God for what they have done and suffered, according to his Will, for his sake: There they shall eat and drink their Comforts, and wear them to their everlasting Consolation.

7. THEY are all Kings that go to that World, and so shall be proclaimed there: They shall also be crowned with Crowns, and they shall wear Crowns of Life and Glory, Crowns of everlasting Joy, Crowns of loving-kindness; yea, In that day the Lord of hosts himself shall be for a crown of glory to those that are his people, Heb. 2. 7. Isai. 35. 10. Psal. 103. 4. Isai. 28. 5. Now if this World (though no more could be said for it than is said in these few Lines) is not infinitely far better than what the present World is, I have mist it in my thoughts. But the coming Man, the Man that comes to God by Christ, is satisfied, knows what he does; and and if his way, all his way thither, were strewed with burning Coals, he would chuse, God helping him, to tread that Path, rather than to have his Portion with them that perish.

73. Fourthly, If there be a World to come, and such a way to it, so safe and good, and if God is there to be enjoyed by them that come to him by Christ: then this shews the great madness of the most of Men; Madness, I say, of the highest degree, for that they come not to God by Christ that they may be Inheritors of the World to come. 'Tis a right Character which Solomon Eccl. 9. 3. gives of them: The heart (saith he) of the sons of men are full of evil, and madness is in their hearts, while they live, and after that they go to the dead.

A mad Man is intent upon his toys, upon any thing, but that about which he should be intent: and so are they that come not to God by Jesus Christ. A mad Man has neither ears to hear, nor a heart to do what they that are in their right wits advise him for the best, no more have they that come not to God by Christ. A mad Man sets more by the straws and Cocks-feathers, by which he decks himself, than he does by all the Pearls and Jewels in the World: And they that come not to God by Christ, set more by the vanishing bubbles of this Life, than they do by that glory that the wise Man shall inherit. The wise shall inherit glory, but shame, says Solomon, shall be the promotion of fools. What a shame 'tis to see God's Jewels lie unregarded of them that yet think none are wiser than themselves.

I know the wise Men of this World will scorn one should think of them, that they are mad; but verily it is so: The more wise for this World, the more fool in God's Matters, and the more obstinately they stand in their way, the more mad.

Eccl. 1. 17. Chap. 2. 12. WHEN Solomon gave himself to backsliding, he saith, he gave himself to folly and madness. And when he went about to search out what Man is since the Fall, he went about to search out foolishness and madness. And is it not Chap. 7. 25, 26, 27, 28, 29. said, That when the Jews were angry with Jesus for that he did good on the Sabbath, that that anger did flow from their being filled with madness? Doth not Paul also, while he opposed himself against Christ, the Gospel and Professors thereof, plainly tell us, that he did Acts 26. 11. it even from the highest pitch of madness? And being exceeding mad against them, I persecuted them even unto strange cities. Now if it is exceeding madness to do thus, how many, at this day, must be counted exceeding mad, who yet count themselves the only sober Men? They oppose themselves, they stand in their own light, they are against their own happiness, they cherish and nourish Cockatrices in their own Bosomes: They chuse to themselves those Paths which have written upon them, in large Characters, These are the ways of death and damnation: They are offended with them that endeavour to pull them out of their Ditch, and chuse rather to lie and die there, than to go to God by Christ that they may be Joh. 10. 20. Acts 26. 24. saved from Wrath through him: yea, so mad are they, that they count the most sober, the most godly, the most holy Man, the mad one; the more earnest for Life, the more mad; the more in the Spirit, the more mad; the more desirous to promote the Salvation of others, the more mad. But is not this a sign of madness, of madness unto Perfection? And yet thus mad are many; and mad are all they, that while 'tis called to day, while their Door is open, and while the golden Scepter of the golden Grace of the Blessed God is held forth, stand in their own Light, and come not to God by Christ. That is the Fourth Inference.

75. Fifthly, A fifth Inference that I gather from this Text, is, That the end that God will make with men, will be according as they come or come not to God by Christ. They that come to God by Christ, have taken shelter, and have hid themselves, but they that come not to God by Christ, lay themselves open to the windy Storm and Tempest that will be in that day. And the Wind then will be high, and the Tempest strong that will blow upon them that shall be found in themselves: Our God shall come, and Psal. 50. 3, 4. shall not keep silence: a fire shall devour before him, and it shall be very tempestuous round about him. He shall call to the heavens from above, and to the earth, that he may judge his people.

AND now what will be found in that day to be the Portion of them that in this day do not come to God by Christ? None knows but God, with whom the Reward of Unbelievers is.

BUT writing and preaching is in vain as to such; let Men say what they will, what they can to perswade to come, to dissuade from neglecting to come, they are resolved not to stir. They will try if God will be so faithful to himself, and to his word, as to dare to condemn them to Hell-Fire that have refused to hear and comply with the Voice of him that speaketh from Heaven.

BUT this is but a desperate venture: several things declare, that he is determined to be at a point in this matter.

1. THE Gallows are built, Hell is prepared for the wicked.

2. THERE are those already in Chains, and stand bound over to the Judgment of that 2 Pet. 2. 4. Day, that are, as to Creation, higher and greater than Men; to wit, The Angels that sinned. Let sinners then look to themselves.

3. THE Judge is prepared and appointed, and it hath fallen out to be he that thou hast refused to come to God by; and that predicts no good to thee. For then will he say of all such, Those mine enemies that would not that I should Luk. 19. 27. reign over them, bring hither, and slay them before me.

75. BUT what a surprize will it be to them that now have come to God by Christ, to see themselves in Heaven indeed; saved indeed, and possessed of everlasting Life indeed. For alas! what is Faith to Possession? Faith that is mixed with many fears, that is opposed with many assaults, and that seems sometimes to be quite extinguished: I say, what is that to a seeing of my self in Heaven? Hence it is said, that he shall then come to be admired in them 2 Thes. 1. 10. that now believe, (because they did here believe the Testimony) then they shall admire that it was their lot to believe when they were in the World. They shall also admire to think, to see, and behold, what believing has brought them to, while the rest for refusing to come to God by Christ, drink their tears mixed with burning Brimstone.

Repentance will not be found in Heaven among them that come to God by Christ: no, Hell is the place of untimely Repentance: 'Tis there where the Tears will be mixed with gnashing of teeth. While they consider how mad, and worse they were, in not coming to God by Jesus Christ.

Then will their hearts and mouths be full of, Lord, Lord, open unto us. But the answer will be, ye shut me out of doors, I was a stranger Mat. 25. and you took me not in; besides, you refused to come to my Father by me, wherefore now you must go from my Father by me.

They that will not be saved by Christ, must be damned by Christ: No man can escape one of the two. Refuse the first, they may, but shun the second they cannot.

76. And now they that would not come unto God by Christ, will have leisure, and time enough (if I may call it time) to consider what they have done, in refusing to come to God by Christ. Now they will meditate warmly on this thing, now their thoughts will be burning hot about it, and it is too late, will be in each thought, such a sting, that like a Bow of Steel, it will continually strike him thorough.

Now they will bless those whom formerly they have despised, and commend those they once contemned. Now would the rich man willingly change places with poor Lazarus, though he preferred his own condition before his in the world.

The day of Judgment will bring the worst to rights, in their opinions: They will not be capable of misapprehending any more. They will never after that day put Bitter for Sweet, or Darkness for Light, or Evil for Good any more. Their madness will now be gone. Hell will be the unbelievers Bedlam house, and there God will tame them as to all those Bedlam-tricks and Pranks, which they played in this world: Luk. 16. But not at all to their profit, nor advantage. 23, 24, 25. The Gulph that God has placed, and fixed 26. 'twixt Heaven and Hell, will spoil all, as to that

But what a joy will it be to the truly godly, to think now, that they are come to God by Christ! 'Twas their mercy to begin to come, 'twas their Happiness that they continued coming; but 'tis their Glory that they are come, that they are come to God by Christ.

TO God! why he is all! All that is Good, essentially Good, and eternally Good. To God! the infinite Ocean of Good. To God in friendly wise, by the means of Reconciliation (for the other now, will be come to him to receive his anger, 'cause they come not to him by Jesus Christ.) Oh that I could imagin! Oh that I could think, that I might write more effectually to thee of the happy estate of them that come to God by Christ.

77. But thus have I passed through the three former things, namely,

1. THAT of the Intercession of Christ.
2. THAT of the benefit of Intercession.
3. THAT of the persons that are interested in this Intercession.

WHEREFORE now I come to the last head, and that is to shew you the certainty of their reaping the benefit of his Intercession.

WHEREFORE he is able to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make Intercession for them.

THE certainty of their reaping the benefit of being saved, that come unto God by Christ, is thus expressed, seeing he ever liveth to make Intercession for them. The Intercession of Christ, and the lastingness of it, is a sure token of the salvation of them that come unto God by him.

Of his Intercession, what it is, and for whom, we have spoken already: Of the success and prevalency of it, we have also spoken before. But the reason of its successfulness, of that we are to speak now. And that reason, as the Apostle suggesteth, lies in the continuance of it: Seeing he ever liveth to make Intercession. Heb. 7. 25. The Apostle also makes very much of the 17, 21, 24. continuation of the Priesthood of Christ, in other places of this Epistle. He abides a Priest continually: Thou art a Priest for ever. He hath an unchangeable Priesthood. And here he ever liveth to make Intercession.

Now, by the Text, is shewed the reason, why he so continually harpeth upon the durableness of it; namely, for that by the unchangeableness of this Priesthood, we are saved; nay, saved demonstratively, apparently: 'Tis evident we are. He is also able to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make Intercession for them. For,

78. First, The durableness of his Intercession proves, That the Covenant, in which those that come to God by him, are concerned and wrapt up, is not shaken, broken, or made invalid by all their weaknesses and infirmities.

Christ is a Priest according to Covenant; and in all his Acts of Mediation he has regard to that Covenant: So long as that Covenant abides in its strength, so long Christ's Intercession is of worth. Hence when God cast the old Highpriest out of doors, he renders this reason for his so doing. Because they continued not in my Covenant; that is, neither Priests nor People. Therefore were they cast out of the Priesthood, and the people pulled down, as to a Church-State. Heb. 8. 7, 8, 9.

Now the Covenant by which Christ acteth as a Priest, so far as we are concern'd therein, he also himself acteth our part, being indeed the Head, and Mediator of the body: Wherefore God doth not count that the Covenant is broken, though we sin, if Christ Jesus our Lord is found to do by it what by law is required of us. Therefore he saith. If his children break my law, and keep not my commandments, I will visit their sins with a rod, &c. But their sins shall not shake my Covenant, with my beloved, nor cause that I for ever should reject them. My Covenant will I not break, nor alter the thing that is gone out of my mouth. His seed will I make to endure for ever, his seed shall endure for ever. Hence 'tis clear, that the Covenant stands good to us, as long as Christ stands good to God, or before his face. For he is not only our Mediator by Psa. 89. 26, 37.

Covenant,

Isai. 42,6. Covenant, but he himself is our conditions to God-ward; therefore he is said to be the covenant of the people, or that which the Holy God by Law required of us. Hence, again, he is said to be our Justice or Righteousness; to wit, which answereth to what is required of us by the Law. He is made unto us of God so, and in our room, and in our stead presenteth himself to God. So then, if any ask me, by what Christ's Priesthood is continued? I answer, By Covenant; for that the Covenant by which he is made Priest, abideth of full force. If any ask whether the Church is concerned in that Covenant? I answer, Yes: yet so, as that all points and parts thereof, that concern Life and Death everlasting, is laid upon his Shoulders, and he alone is the doer of it. He is the Lord, our righteousness, and he is the Saviour of the Body; so that my sins break not the Covenant: but them notwithstanding, God's Covenant stands fast with him, with him for evermore. And good reason, if no fault can be found with Christ, who is the Person that did strike hands with his Father upon our account and for us; to wit, to do what was meet should be found upon us, when we came to appear before God by him.

79. AND that God himself doth so understand this matter, is evident, because, he also, by his own Act, giveth and imputeth to us that good that we never did, that Righteousness which we never wrought out; yea, and for the sake of that, transmitteth our sins unto Christ, as to one that had not only well satisfied for them, but could carry them so far, both from us and from God, that they should never again come to be charged on the committers, to Death and Damnation. The Scriptures are so plentiful for this, that he must be a Turk or a Jew, or an Atheist that denies it. Besides, God's commanding that Men should believe in his Son unto righteousness, well enough proveth this thing, and the reason of this command, doth prove it with an over and above; to wit, For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin, that we might be made the righteousness of God in him.

Rom. 4. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5. 2 Cor. 5. 19, 20, 21.

HENCE comes out that Proclamation from God, at the rising again of Christ from the Dead: Be it it known unto you therefore, men and brethren, that through this man is preached unto you the forgiveness of sins; and by him all that believe, are justified from all things, from which ye could not be justified by the law of Moses.

Acts 13. 32, 39.

IF this be so, as indeed it is, then here lieth a great deal of this Conclusion, he ever liveth to make Intercession, and of the demonstration of the certain Salvation of him that cometh to God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make Intercession for them. For if Christ Jesus is a Priest by Covenant, and so abides as the Covenant abides; and if, since the Covenant is everlasting, his Priesthood is unchangeable, then the Man that cometh to God by him must needs be certainly saved. For if the Covenant, the Covenant of Salvation is not broken, none can shew a reason why he that comes to Christ should be Damned, or why the Priesthood of Jesus Christ should cease. Hence, after the Apostle had spoken of the Excellency of his Person and Priesthood, he then shews that the benefit of the Covenant of God remaineth with us, namely, That Grace should be communicated unto us, for his Priesthood sake, and that our sins and iniquities God would remember no more.

Heb. 8. 10, 11, 12. Chap. 10. 16, 17, 18, 19, 20.

NOW, as I also have already hinted, if this Covenant, of which the Lord Jesus is Mediator and High-Priest, has in the Bowels of it, not only Grace and Remission of sins; but a Promise that we shall be Partakers thereof through the Blood of his Priesthood, for so it comes to us; then why should not we have boldness, not only to come to God by him, but to enter also into the holiest by the Blood of Jesus, by that new and living way, &c.

80. Secondly, BUT further, this Priesthood, as to the unchangeableness of it, is confirmed unto him by an oath, By him that said unto him, The Lord swore, and will not repent; thou art a Priest for ever. This Oath seems to me to be for the Confirmation of the Covenant, as it is worded before by Paul to the Galatians, when he speaks of it with respect to that establishment that it also had on Christ's part by the Sacrifice which he offered to God for us; yea, he then speaks of the mutual Confirmation of it, both by the Father and the Son: now, I say, since by this Covenant he stands and abides a Priest; And since the Lord sware and will not repent, saying, Thou art a Priest for ever: We are still further confirmed in the certain Salvation of him that cometh to God by Christ.

Gal. 3. 15, 16, 17.

THE Lord by swearing confirmeth to Christ, and so to us in him, the immutability of his Counsel, and that he is utterly unchangeable in his Resolutions to save them to the uttermost that come to God by Christ. And this also shews that this Covenant, and so the Promise of Remission of sins, is stedfast and unmoveable. And it is worth your noting the manner and nature of this Oath, The Lord sware, and will not repent. It is as much as to say, what I have now swore, I bind me for ever to stand [to, or, I determine never to revoke. And that is, That thou art a Priest for ever. Now, as was said before, since his Priesthood stands by Covenant, and this Covenant of his Priesthood is confirmed by this Oath, it cannot be, but that he that comes by him to God, must be accepted of him: for should such an one be rejected, it must be either for the greatness of his sins, or for want of Merit in the Sacrifice he presented, and urged, as to the merit of it, before the Mercy-Seat. But let the reason specified, be what it will, the consequence falls harder upon the Sacrifice of Christ than it can do any where else, and so on upon the Covenant, and at last upon God himself, who has sworn, and will not repent, that he is a Priest for ever. I thus discourse, to shew you what dangerous Conclusions follow from a Conceit that some that come to God by Christ shall not be saved, though he ever liveth to make Intercession for them.

Heb. 6. 16, 17, 18.

AND this I have further to say, That the Lords swearing, since the manner of the Oath is such as it is, and that it also tended to establish to Christ his Priesthood to be unchangeable, it declareth, That, as to the excellency of his Sacrifice, he is eternally satisfied in the goodness and merit of it, and that he will never deny him any thing that he shall ask for at his hands, for his sufferings sake. For this Oath doth not only shew God's firm Resolution to keep his part of the Covenant, in giving to Christ that which was Covenanted for by him; but it declareth, That in the Judgment of God, Christ's Blood is able to save any Sinner, and that he will never put stop nor check to his Intercession, how great so ever the Sinners be that at any time he shall intercede for: so that the Demonstration is clearer and clearer; He is able to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make Intercession for them.

81. Thirdly, THIS unchangeableness of the Priesthood of Christ dependeth also upon his
Heb. 7. 24. own Life. This man because he continueth ever, hath an unchangeable priesthood. Now although (perhaps) at first much may not appear in this Text, yet the words that we are upon, take their ground from them. This man because he continueth ever, hath an unchangeable priesthood: wherefore he is able also, that is, by his unchangeable Priesthood, to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them.

THE Life of Christ, then, is a ground of
Rom. 5. the lastingness of his Priesthood, and so a ground of the Salvation of them that come unto God by him. We shall be saved by his life. Wherefore, in another place, this his Life is spoken of with great Emphasis. The power of an endless
Heb. 7. 16. life. He is made a priest, not after the law of a carnal commandment, but after the power of an endless life. An endless Life is then a powerful thing: and indeed two things are very considerable in it:

1. THAT it is above Death, and so above him that hath the power of Death, the Devil.

2. IN that it capacitates him to be the last in his own cause, and so to have the casting Voice.

WE will speak to the first, and for the better setting of it forth, we will shew what Life it is, of which the Apostle here speaks; and then, how, as to Life, it comes to be so advantageous, both with respect to his Office of Priesthood, and us.

82. 1. WHAT Life is it that is thus the ground of his Priesthood. It is a Life taken, his own Life rescued from the power of the Grave; a life that we had forfeited, he being our Surety;
Joh. 10. 18. and a life that he recovered again, he being the Captain of our Salvation: I lay down my life (saith he) that I may take it again: This commandment have I received of my Father. It is a Life then that was once laid down as the Price of Man's Redemption, and a Life won, gained, taken, or recovered again, as the token or true effect of the compleating, by so dying, that Redemption: wherefore it saith a-
Rom. 6. 10. gain, In that he dyed, he dyed unto sin once; but in that he liveth, he liveth unto God. He liveth, as having pleased God by dying for our sins, as having merited his life by dying for our sins. Now, if this life of his is a life merited and won, by vertue of the Death that he dyed, as Acts 2. 24. doth clearly manifest; and if this life is the ground of the unchangeableness of this part of his Priesthood, as we see it is; then it follows, that this second part of his Priesthood, which is called here Intercession, is grounded upon the demonstrations of the vertue of his Sacrifice, which is his life taken to live again: so then, he holds this part of his Priesthood, not by vertue of a carnal commandment, but by the power of an endless life; but by the power of a life rescued from Death, and eternally exalted above all that any ways would yet assault it. For Christ being raised from the dead, dies no more; death has no more dominion over him. Rom. 6. 9.

HENCE Christ brings in his life, the life that he won to himself by his Death, to comfort John withal, when he fainted under the view of that overcoming glory that he saw upon Christ in his Vision of him at Patmos. And he laid his right hand upon me, (said he) saying unto me, fear not, I am the first and the last: I am he that liveth and was dead, and behold I am alive for evermore. Amen. Rev. 4. 24, 25. Why should Christ bring in his life to comfort John, if it was not a life advantageous to him? But the advantageousness of it doth lie not meerly in the being of life, but in that it was a life laid down for his sins, and a life taken up again for his Justification; a life lost to ransom him, and a life won to save him; as also the Text affirmeth, saying, He is able to save to the uttermost them that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them.

AGAIN, It is yet more manifest, that 83. Christ receiving of his life again, was the Death and Destruction of the enemy of his People; and to manifest that it was so, therefore he adds (after he had said, And behold, I am alive for evermore. Amen.) And I have the keys of hell and of Death. I have the power over them, I have them under me: I tread them down by being a Victor, a Conqueror, and one that have got the Dominion of life, (for he now is the Prince of life) one that lives for evermore. Amen. Hence it is said again, He hath abolished death, and brought life and immortality to light through the Gospel. 2 Tim. 1. 10. He hath abolished Death by his Death, (by Death he destroyed him that had the power of Death, that is, the Devil,) and brought life, (a very Emphatical Expression) and brought it, from whence? from God, who raised him from the Dead; and brought it to light, to our view and sight, by the Word of the Truth of the Gospel.

SO then, the life that he now hath, is a life once laid down as the price of our Redemption; a life obtained and taken to him again as the effect of the merit that was in the laying down thereof. A life, by the vertue of which, Death, and Sin, and the Curse is overcome; and so a life that is above them for ever. This is the life that he liveth; (to wit, this meriting, purchasing, victorious life) and that he improveth, while he ever so lives, to make Intercession for us.

THIS

THIS life then is a continual Plea, and argument with God for them that come to Him by Christ, should he make no other Intercession, but only shew to God that he liveth. Because, his thus living saith, that he has satisfied for the sins of them that come unto God by him. It testifies moreover, that those, to wit, Death, the Grave and Hell are overcome by him for them; because indeed he liveth, and hath their Keys. But now, add to life, to a life meritorious, Intercession: Or a urging of this meritorious life by way of prayer for his, and against all those that seek to destroy them (since they themselves also have been already overcome by his death) and what an incouraging consideration is here for all them that come to God by him, to hope for life eternal? But,

84. Secondly, LET us speak a word to the second Head. Namely for that his living for ever, capacitates him to be the last in his own cause, and to have the casting voice, and that is an advantage next to what is chiefest.

HIS cause, what is his cause? But that the death that he dyed when he was in the world, was, and is of merit sufficient to secure all those from hell, or, as the Text has it to save them that come unto God by him: to save them to the uttermost. Now if this cause be faulty, why doth he live? yea, he liveth by the power of 2 Cor. 13. 4. God, by the power of God towards us: Or with a respect to our wellfare. For he liveth to make Intercession: Intercession against Satan our accuser, for us. Besides, he liveth before God, and to God, and that after he had given his life a ransome for us. What can follow more clearly from this, but that amends was made by him for those Souls, for whose sins he suffered upon the Tree? Wherefore, since his Father has given him his Life and Favour, and that after he dyed for our sins, it cannot be thought but that the life he now liveth, is a life that he received as the effect of the merit of his Passion for us.

GOD is just, and yet Christ liveth, and yet Christ liveth in Heaven. God is just, and yet Christ our Passeover liveth there, do what our Foes can to the contrary.

AND this note, by the way, That though the design of Satan against us, in his labouring continually to accuse us to God, and to prevail against our Salvation, seems to terminate here: Yet indeed 'tis also laid against the very life of Christ. And that his Priesthood might be utterly overthrown: and in conclusion, that God also might be found unjust, in receiving of such whose sins have not been satisfied for, and so whose souls are yet under the power of the Devil. For he that objects against him for whom Christ interceeds, objects against Christ, and his merits; and he that objects against Christ's Intercession, objects against God who has made him a Priest for ever. Behold you therefore, how the Cause of God, of Christ, and of the Souls that come to God by him are interwoven. They are all wrapt up in one bottom. Mischieve one, and you mischieve all; overthrow that soul, and you overthrow his Intercessor; and overthrow him, and you overthrow even him that made him a Priest for ever.

FOR the Text is without restriction. He is able to save to the uttermost, them that come unto God by him. He saith not now and then one, or sinners of an inferiour rank in sin; but them that come to God by him, how great soever their transgressions are: as is clear in that it addeth this Clause, to the uttermost. He is able to save them to the uttermost. 85.

But if he were not, why did the King send, yea, come and loose him, and let him go free? Yea, admit him into his presence, yea, make him Lord over all his People; and deliver all things into his hand.

BUT he liveth, he ever liveth, and is admitted to make Intercession, yea, is ordained of God so to do. Therefore he is able to save to the uttermost, them that come unto God by him.

THIS therefore that he liveth, seeing he liveth to God and his Judgment, and in justice is made so to do: it is chiefly with reference to his life, as Mediator, for their sakes for whom he makes Intercession. He liveth to make Intercession. And in that it is said he liveth ever, what is it but that he must live, and outlive all 1 Cor. 15. 25. his enemies, for he must live, yea reign till all his enemies are put under his Feet. Yea, his very intercessions must live till they are all dead and gone. For the Devil and Sin must not live for ever, not for ever to accuse. Time is coming, when due course of Law will have an end, and all Cavillers will be cast over the Bar: But then and after that, Christ our Highpriest shall live, and so shall his Intercessions: Yea, and also all them for whom he makes Intercession, seeing they come unto God by him.

NOW if he lives, and outlives all, and if his Intercession has the casting voice, since also he pleadeth in his prayers, a sufficient merit, before a just God, against a lying, malicious, clamorous and envious adversary; he must needs carry the cause, the cause for himself and his people, to the glory of God and their salvation. So then his Life and Intercession must prevail, there can be no withstanding of it. Is not this then a demonstration clear as the Sun, that they that come to God by him shall be saved, seeing he ever liveth to make Intercession for them?

Fourthly, THE duration of Christs Intercession as it is grounded upon a Covenant 'twixt God and him; upon an Oath also, and upon his life: So it is grounded upon the validity of his merits. This has been promiscuously touched before, but since it is an Essential to the lastingness of his Intercession, 'twill be to the purpose to lay it down by it self. 86.

INTERCESSION then, I mean Christ's Intercession, is, that those for whom he died with full intention to save them, might be brought into that Inheritance which he hath purchased for them. Now then, his Intercession must, as to length and breadth, reach no further than his merits. For he may not pray Exo. 27. 1. chap. for those, for whom he died not. Indeed, if 30. 1. we take in the utmost extent of his death, Revel. 8. 3. then we must beware. For his death is sufficient to save the whole World: But his Intercessions are kept within a narrower compass. The Altar of burnt offerings, was a great deal bigger bigger, than the Altar of Incenſe, which was a figure of Chriſt's Interceſſion. But this, I ſay, his Interceſſion is for thoſe for whom he dyed, with full intention to ſave them: Wherefore it muſt be grounded upon the validity of his ſufferings. And indeed, his Interceſſion is nothing elſe, I that know of, but a preſenting of what he did in the world for us unto God, and preſſing the value of it for our Salvation. The blood of ſprinkling, is that which ſpeaketh meritoriouſly, 'tis by the value of that, that God meaſureth out, and giveth unto us Grace, and life Eternal: Wherefore Chriſt's Interceſſions alſo muſt be ordered and governed by merit. By his own blood he entred into the holy place, having (before by it) obtained eternal redemption for us, for our Souls.

Heb. 12. 24.

Ver. 12, 13

NOW, if by Blood he entered in thither, by Blood he muſt alſo make Interceſſion there. His Blood made way for his entrance thither, his Blood muſt make way for our entrance thither. Though here again we muſt beware, for his Blood did make way for him as Prieſt, to interceed; his Blood makes way for us, as for thoſe redeemed by it, that we might be ſaved.

87. THIS then ſhews ſufficiently the worth of the Blood of Chriſt, even his ever living to make Interceſſion for us: for the merit of his Blood laſts all the while that he doth, and for all them for whom he ever liveth to make Interceſſion. Oh precious Blood! Oh laſting Merit!

BLOOD muſt be pleaded in Chriſt's Interceſſion, becauſe of Juſtice, and to ſtop the Mouth of the Enemy; and alſo to incourage us to come to God by him. Juſtice, ſince that is of the Eſſence of God, muſt concur in the Salvation of the Sinner; but how can that be, ſince it is ſaid at firſt, In the day thou eateſt thereof, thou ſhalt ſurely dye; unleſs a plenary ſatisfaction be made for ſin, to the pleaſing of the Mighty God. The Enemy alſo would elſe never let go his objecting againſt our Salvation. But now God has declared, That our Salvation is grounded on Juſtice, becauſe merited by Blood. And though God needed not to have given his Son to dye for us, that he might ſave us, and ſtop the Mouth of the Devil in ſo doing; yet this way of Salvation has done both, and ſo it is declared: We are juſtified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Jeſus, whom God hath ſet forth to be a propitiation through faith in his Blood, to declare his righteouſneſs for the remiſſion of ſins that are paſt; to declare, I ſay, at this time his righteouſneſs, that he might be juſt, and the juſtifier of him that believeth in Jeſus. So then here is alſo a ground of Interceſſion, even the Blood ſhed for us before.

Ro. 3. 24.

AND that you may ſee it yet more for your comfort, God did at Chriſts Reſurrection, to ſhew what a price he ſet upon his Blood, bid him ask of him the heathen, and he would give him the uttermoſt parts of the earth for his poſſeſſion. His Blood then has value enough in it, to ground interceſſion upon; yea, there is more worth in it than Chriſt will plead or improve for men by way of interceſſion. I do not at all doubt but there is vertue enough in the blood of Chriſt, would God Almighty ſo apply it, to ſave the Souls of the whole World. But it is the blood of Chriſt, his own blood; and he may do what he will with his own. It is alſo the blood of God, and he alſo may reſtrain its merits, or apply it as he ſees good. But the coming Soul he ſhall find and feel the vertue thereof, even the Soul that comes to God by Chriſt; for he is the man concerned in its worth: And he ever liveth to make Interceſſion for him.

Pſal. 2. 7, 8.

NOW, ſeeing the Interceſſion of Chriſt is grounded upon a Covenant, an Oath, a Life, and alſo upon the validity of his merits; it muſt of neceſſity be prevalent, and ſo drive down all oppoſition before it. This therefore is the laſt part of the Text; and that which demonſtrateth that he that comes to God by Chriſt ſhall be ſaved, ſeeing he ever liveth to make Interceſſion for him.

I have now done what I intend upon this Subject, when I have drawn a few Inferences from this alſo.

88. Firſt, THEN, Hence I infer that the ſouls ſaved by Chriſt, are in themſelves in a moſt deplorable condition. Oh what a do, as I may ſay, is here, before one ſinner can be eternally ſaved. Chriſt muſt dye, but that is not all. The Spirit of Grace muſt be given to us, but that is not all; but Chriſt muſt alſo ever live to make Interceſſion for us. And as he doth this, for all; ſo he doth it for each one. He interceeded for me, before I was born, that I might in time, at the ſet time, come into being. After that, he alſo made interceſſion for me, that I might be kept from Hell in the time of my unregenerate ſtate, until the time of my Call and Converſion: Yet again he then intercedes, that the work now begun in my ſoul, may be perfected, not only to the day of my diſſolution, but unto the day of Chriſt; that is, untill he comes to Judgment. So that as he begun to ſave me before I had being; ſo he will go on to ſave me, when I am dead and gone, and will never leave off to ſave me, untill he has ſet me before his face for ever.

Phil. 1. 6.

BUT I ſay, what a deplorable condition has our ſin put us into, that there muſt be all this ado, to ſave us. Oh how hardly is ſin got out of the Soul, when once it is in! Blood takes away the guilt; inherent Grace weakens the filth; but the Grave is the place, at the mouth of which, ſin, as to the being of ſin, and the ſaved muſt have a perfect and final parting. Not that the Grave of it ſelf is of a ſin-purging quality, but God will follow Satan home to his own door; for the Grave is the Door or Gate of Hell, and will there where the Devil thought to have ſwallowed us up, even there by the power of his mercy make us (at our coming thence) ſhine like the Sun, and look like Angels. Chriſt all this while ever liveth to make interceſſion for us.

Iſa. 38. 10.

89. Secondly, HENCE alſo I infer, That as Satan thought he ſtruck home at firſt, when he polluted our Nature, and brought our ſouls to death: So he is marvelous loth to loſe us, and to ſuffer his lawful Captives now to eſcape his hands. He is full of fire againſt us, full of the fire of malice, as is manifeſt,

1. Not

1. NOT only by his first attempt upon our first Parents: but behold when the deliverer came into the World, how he roared; He sought his death while he was an Infant: he hated him in his Craddle, he persecuted him while he was but a Bud, and Blossom. Mat. 8.

WHEN he was come to riper years, and began to manifest his Glory, yet, lest the world should be taken with him, how politickly did this old Serpent, called the Devil and Satan, work? He possessed people that he had a Devil, and was mad, and a deceiver; that he wrought his miracles by Magick art, and by the Devil; that the Prophets spake nothing of him, and that he sought to overthrow the Government which was God's Ordinance. And not being contented with all this, he pursued him to the death, and could never rest untill he had spilt his blood upon the ground like water. Yea, so unsatiable was his malice, that he set the Souldiers to forge lies about him to the denial of his Resurrection, and so managed that matter, that what they said has become a stumbling-block to the Jews to this very day. Joh. 10. 20. Joh. 7.12. Mat. 9.34. Joh. 7.52. Luke 23.2. Mat. 28.11 12, 13, 14, 15.

2. When he was ascended to God, and so was out of his reach; yet, how busily went he about to make war with his people? yea, what horrors and terrors, what troubles and temptations, has Gods Church met with from that day till now. Nor is he content with persecutions, and general troubles: But oh, how doth he haunt the spirits of the Christians with blasphemies, and troubles, with darkness and frightful fears; sometime to their distraction, and often to the filling the Church with outcries. Rev. 12.

3. YET his malice is in the pursuit, and now his boldness will try what it can do with God, either to tempt him to reject his Sons Mediation, or to reject them that come to God by him for mercy. And this is one cause among many, why he ever liveth to make intercession for them that come to God by him.

4. AND if he cannot overthrow, if he knows he cannot overthrow them, yet he cannot forbear but vex and perplex them even as he did their Lord, from the day of their conversion to the day of their ascension to Glory.

90. Thirdly, Hence I infer, That the love of Christ to his is an unwearied love, and it must needs be so: an undaunted love, and it must needs be so. Who but Jesus Christ would have undertaken such a task as the salvation of the sinner is, if Jesus Christ had passed us by? It's true which is written of him, He shall not fail, nor be discouraged till he has set judgment in the earth, &c. If he had not set his face like a flint, the greatness of this work would surely have daunted his mind. Isa. 42. 4. Chap. 50. 6, 7.

FOR do but consider what sin is, from which they must be saved. Do but consider what the Devil and the Curse is, from which they must be saved. And it will easily be concluded by you, that it is he that full rightly deserveth to have his name called wonderful; and his love such as verily passeth knowledge.

CONSIDER again, by what means these souls are saved, even with the loss of this life, and together with it, the loss of the light of his Fathers face. I pass by here, and forbear to speak of the matchless contradiction of sinners which he endured against himself, which could not but be a great grief, or as himself doth word it, a breaking of heart unto him; but all this did not, could not hinder.

JOYN to all this, his everlasting intercession for us; and the effectual management thereof with God for us; and with all the infinite number of times that we by sin provoke him to spue us out of his mouth, instead of interceding for us: and the many times also that his intercession is repeated by the repeating of our faults: and this love still passes knowledge, and is by us to be wondered at.

WHAT did, or what doth the Lord Jesus see in us to be at all this care, and pains, and cost to save us? What will he get of us by the bargain, but a small pittance of thanks, and love? for so it is, and ever will be, when compared with his matchless and unspeakable love and kindness towards us.

OH how unworthy are we of this love! How little do we think of it! But most of all, the Angels may be astonished to see how little we are affected with that of it which we pretend to know. But neither can this prevail with him, to put us out of the Scrol in which all the names of them are written, for whom he doth make intercession to God. Let us cry, Grace, Grace unto it.

Fourthly, Hence again I infer, That they shall be saved that come to God by Christ; when the Devil and Sin have done what they can to hinder it. This is clear, for that the strife is now, who shall be Lord of all; whether Satan the Prince of this World, or Christ Jesus the Son of God: or which can lay the best claim to God's Elect; he that produceth their sins against them, or he that laid down his Heart blood, a price of Redemption, for them. Who then shall condemn when Christ has dyed, and doth also make intercession? Stand still, Angels, and behold, how the Father divideth his Son a Portion with the Great; and how he divideth the spoil with the strong: Because he hath poured out his soul unto death, and was numbered with the transgressors, and bear the sin of many, and made intercession for the transgressors. The grace of God, and blood of Christ, will before the end of the world make brave work among the Sons of men. They shall come to a wonderment to God by Christ, and be saved by a wonderment for Christs sake. Behold these shall come from far: and lo, these from the north, and from the west, and these from the Land of Sinim. 91. Isa. 53.12. Isa. 49.12.

BEHOLD, these, and these, and these shall come, and lo these, and these, and these from the land of Sinim.

THIS is to denote the abundance that shall come in to God, by Christ, towards the latter end of the world: namely, when Antichrist is gone to bed in the sides of the pits mouth. Then shall Nations come in and be saved, and shall walk in the light of the Lord.

But, I say, what incouragement would there be for sinners thus to do, if that the Lord Jesus by his intercession were not able to save, even to the uttermost, them that come unto God by him.

Fifthly,

92. Fifthly, Hence again I infer, That here is ground for confidence to them that come to God by Christ. Confidence to the end, becomes us, who have such a Highpriest, such an Intercessor as Jesus Christ; who would dishonour such a Jesus by doubting, that all the Devils in Hell cannot discourage by all their wiles? He is a tryed Stone, he is a sure Foundation; a man may confidently venture his soul in his hand, and not fear but he will bring him safe home. Ability, love to the person, and faithfulness to trust committed to him, will do all: and all these are with infinite fullness in him. He has been a Saviour this four thousand years already, (two thousand before the Law, two thousand in the time of the Law) besides the sixteen hundred years that he has in his flesh continued to make intercession for them that come unto God by him. Yet the day is to come, yea, will never come, that he can be charged with any fault, or neglect of the Salvation of any of them that at any time have come unto God by him. What ground then is here for confidence that Christ will make a good end with me, since I come unto God by him, and since he ever liveth to make intercession for me. Let me then honour him, I say, by setting on his head the Crown of his undertakings for me: by the believing that he is able to save me, even to the uttermost, seeing he ever liveth to make Intercession for me.

93. Sixthly, HENCE also I infer, that Christ ought to bear, and wear the Glory of our Salvation for ever. He has done it, he has wrought it out. Give unto the Lord, O ye kindreds of the people, give unto the Lord glory and strength. Do not sacrifice to your own inventions, do not give Glory to the work of your own hands. Your Reformations, your Works, your good deeds, and all the glory of your doing, cast them at the feet of this Highpriest, and confess that glory belongs unto him. Worthy is the Lamb that was slain, to receive power, and riches, and wisdom, and strength and honour, and glory and blessing. And they shall hang upon him all the glory of his father's house; the off-spring and the Issue, all vessels of small quantity: from the vessels of cups, even to all the vessels of flaggons. Oh! the work of our Redemption by Christ, is such, as wanteth not provocation to us, to bless and praise and glorifie Jesus Christ: Sts set to the work and glorifie him in your body and in your souls, who has bought you with a price, and glorifie God and the Father by him.

Rev. 5.12.

Isa. 22.24.

1 Cor. 6.20

THE USE.

I come now to make some use of this discourse. And,

94. First, LET me exhort you to the study of this, as of other the truths of our Lord Jesus Christ. The Priestly Office of Christ is the first and great thing that is presented to us in the Gospel: Namely, how that he died for our sins, and gave himself to the Cross, that the blessing of Abraham might come upon us through him. But now because this Priestly Office of his, is divided into two parts: and because one of them, to wit, this of his intercession, is to be accomplished for us within the vail, therefore (as we say among men, of our sight, of our mind) he is too much as to this forgotten by us. We satisfie our selves with the slaying of the Sacrifice; we look not enough after our Aaron as he goes in to the holiest there to sprinkle the mercy-seat with blood upon our account.

1 Cor. 15. 1,2,3,4,5. Gal. 3. 13, 14, 15.

GOD forbid that the least syllable of what I say, should be intended by me, or construed by others, as if I sought to diminish the price payed by Christ for our redemption in this world. But since his dying is his laying down his price, and his intercession, the urging, and manging the worthiness of it in the presence of God against Satan: There is glory to be found therein, and we should look after him into the holy place. The second part of the work of the Highpriests under the Law, had great glory and sanctity put upon it. For as much as the holy garments were provided for him to officate in within the vail, also 'twas there that the Altar stood on which he offered Incense. Also there was the Mercy-seat and the Cherubims of Glory (which were figures of the Angels) that love to be continually looking and prying into the management of this second part of the Priesthood of Christ in the presence of God. For although themselves are not the persons so immediately concerned therein, as we; yet the management of it, I say, is with so much Grace, and Glory and Wisdom, and effectualness, that 'tis a Heaven to the Angels to see it. O! to enjoy the odourous scent, and sweet memorial, the heart refreshing perfumes that ascend continually from the Mercy-seat to the [above] where God is, and also to behold how effectual it is to the end for which it is designed, is glorious: and he that is not somewhat let into this by the grace of God, there is a great thing lacking to his Faith, and he misseth of many a sweet bit that he might otherwise enjoy. Wherefore I say, be exhorted to the study of this part of Christ's work in the managing of our salvation for us. And the ceremonies of the Law may be a great help to you, as to this; for though they be out of use now, as to practice, ye the signification of them is rich, and that from which many Gospellers have got much. Wherefore, I advise that you read the five books of Moses often; yea read and read again, and do not despair of help to understand something of the Will and Mind of God therein, though you think they are fast lockt up from you. Neither trouble your heads though you have not Commentaries and Expositions, pray and read, and read and pray. For a little from God is better than a great deal from men: also what is from men is uncertain, and is often lost, and tumbled over and over by men: but what is from God is fixed, as a nail in a sure place. (I know there are times of temptation, but) I speak now as to the common course of Christianity. There is nothing that so abides with us, as what we receive from God; and the reason why Christians at this day, are at such a loss, as to some things, is because they are content with what comes from mens mouths, without searching, and kneeling before God, to know of him the truth truth of things. Things that we receive at Gods hand, come to us, as things from the Minting-house, though old in themselves, yet new to us. Old truths are always new to us, if they come to us with the smell of Heaven upon them. I speak not this because I would have people despise their Ministers, but to shew that there is now a days, so much idleness among Professors, as hinders them from a diligent search after things, and makes them take up short of that that is sealed by the spirit of testimony to the Conscience. Witness the great decays at this day amongst us, and that strange revolting from truth once professed by us.

96. Secondly, AS I would press you to an earnest study and search after this great truth, so I would press you to a diligent improvement of it to your selves, and to others. To know truth for knowledge sake, is short of a gracious disposition of soul; and to communicate truth out of a desire of praise and vain glory for so doing, is also a swerving from godly simplicity: but to improve what I know, for the good of my self and others, is true Christianity indeed.

Now truths received may be improved with respect to my self and others, and that several ways.

1. To my self, when I search after the power that belongs to those Notions, that I have received of truth. There belongs to every true Notion of truth, a power; the Notion is the shell, the power, the kirnel, and life: Without this last, truth doth me no good; nor those to whom I communicate it. Hence Paul said to the Corinthians, when I come to you again, I will know, not the speech of them that are puffed up, but the power. For the kingdom of God is not in word, but in power. Search then after the power of what thou knowest; for 'tis the power that will do thee good. Now this will not be got, but by earnest prayer, and much attending upon God: also there must not be admitted by thee, that thy heart be stuffed with cumbring cares of this world, for they are of a choaking nature. 1 Cor. 4. 19, 20.

2. Take heed of slighting that little that thou hast: a good improvement of little, is the way to make that little thrive; and the way to obtain additions thereto. He that is faithful in that which is least, is faithful also in much: and he that is unjust in the least, is unjust also in much. Luk. 16. 10

2. Improve them to others, and that,

1. By labouring to instils them upon their hearts by good and wholsome words, presenting all to them with the authority of the Scriptures. 97.

2. Labour to inforce those instillings on them by shewing them by thy life, the peace, the glorious effects that they have upon thy Soul.

Lastly, LET this doctrine give thee boldness to come to God. Shall Jesus Christ be interceding in Heaven? O then, be thou a praying man on earth; yea, take courage to pray. Think thus with thy self: I go to God, to God before whose throne the Lord Jesus is ready to hand my petitions to him: yea, he ever lives to make intercession for me This is a great incouragement to come to God by prayers and supplications for our selves, and by intercessions for our families, our neighbours and enemies. Farewell.

FINIS.

THE Saints Knowledge OF CHRIST's LOVE: OR, THE Unsearchable Riches OF CHRIST.

By JOHN BUNYAN.

EPHESIANS 3. 18, 19.

That ye may be able to comprehend with all Saints, what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and heighth: and to know the love of Christ which passeth knowledge.

THE Apostle having, in the first Chapter, treated of the Doctrine of Election, and in the second, of the reconciling of the Gentiles with the Jews to the Father, by his Son, through the preaching of the Gospel; comes in the third Chapter to shew that that also was, as that of Election, determined before the World began. Now lest the Afflictions that attend the Gospel should, by its raging among these Ephesians, darken the glory of these things unto them; therefore he makes here a brief Repetition and Explanation, to the end they might be supported and made live above them. He also joyns thereto a fervent Prayer for them, that God would let them see in the Spirit and Faith, how they, by God and by Christ, are secured from the evil of the worst that might come upon them. For this cause I bow my knees to the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ; of whom the whole family in heaven and earth is named; that he would grant you according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his spirit in the inner man: That Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith, that ye being rooted and grounded in love, may be able to comprehend with all saints, what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and heighth, and to know the love of Christ which passeth knowledge, &c. Knowing, that their deep understanding what good by these were reserved for them, they would never be discouraged, what ever troubles should attend their Profession.

BREADTH, and length, and depth, and heighth, are words that in themselves are both ambiguous, and to wonderment; ambiguous, because unexplained, and to wonderment, because they carry in them an unexpressible something; and that something that which far out-goes all those things that can be found in this World. The Apostle here was under a Spiritual Surprize, for while meditating and writing, he was caught: the strength and glory of the truths that he was endeavouring to fasten upon the People to whom he wrote, took him him away into their glory, beyond what could to the full be uttered. Besides, many times things are thus expressed, on purpose to command Attention, a stop and pause in the Mind about them; and to divert, by their greatness, the Heart from the World, unto which they naturally are so inclined. Also, Truths are often delivered to us, like Wheat in full Ears, to the end we should rub them out before we eat them, and take pains about them, before we have the comfort of them.

3. BREADTH, length, depth, and heighth. In my attempting to open these words, I will give you, 1. some that are of the same kind. 2. And then shew you, 1. The reasons of them; and then also, 2. Something of their fulness.

First, THOSE of the same kind, are used sometimes to shew us the power, force and subtilty of the Enemies of God's Church, Dan. 4. 11. Rom. 8. 38, 39. But, Secondly, MOST properly to shew is the infinite and unsearchable Greatness of God. Job 11. 7, 8, 9. Rom. 11. 33.

THEY are here to be taken in this second sense, that is, to suggest unto us the unsearchable and infinite greatness of God; who is a Breadth, beyond all Breadths; a Length beyond all Lengths; a Depth, beyond all Depths; and a Heighth, beyond all Heights, and that in all his Attributes: He is an Eternal Being, an Everlasting Being, and in that respect he is beyond all measures, whether they be of Breadth, or Length, or Depth, or Heighth. In all his Atributes he is beyond all measure: whether you measure by words, by thoughts, or by the most enlarged and exquisite apprehension; His Greatness is unsearchable; His Judgments are unsearchable; He is infinite in Wisdom. O! the Depth of the reihes both of the Wisdom and Knowledge of God. If I speak of strength, lo, he is strong: Yea, the thunder of his power who can understand? There is none holy as the Lord: and his mercy is from everlasting to everlasting, on them that fear him. The Greatness of God, of the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, is that if rightly considered, which will support the spirits of those of his people that are frighted with the greatness of their Adversaries. For here is a greatness against a greatness. Pharaoh was great, but God more great, more great in Power, more great in Wisdom, more great every way for the help of his people, wherein they dealt proudly he was above them. These words therefore take in for this people, the Great God who in his immensity, and infinite greatness is beyond all Beings. But,

4. TO come to the reason of the Words.

First, THEY are made use of to shew to the Ephesians, that God with what he is in himself, and with what he hath in his power, is all for the use and profit of the Believers. Else no great matter is held out to them thereby. But this God is our God! there is the comfort: For this cause therefore he presenteth them with this description of him. To wit, by Breadth, and Length, and Depth and Heighth: As who should say, the High God is yours; the God that fills Heaven and Earth is yours; the God whom the Heaven of Heavens cannot contain, is yours; yea, the God whose works are wonderful, and whose ways are past finding out, is yours. Consider therefore the greatness that is for you, that taketh part with you, and that will always come in for your help against them that contend with you. It is my support, it is my relief; it my comfort in all my tribulations, and I would have it yours, and so it will when we live in the lively Faith thereof. Nor should we admit of distrust in this matter from the consideration of our own unworthiness either taken from the finiteness of our state, or the foulness of our ways. For now, though Gods Attributes, several of them, in their own nature are set against sin and sinners; yea, were we righteous, are so high that needs they must look over us, for 'tis to him a condescension to behold things in Heaven: How much more then to open his eyes upon such as we: Yet by the passion of Jesus Christ, they harmoniously agree in the salvation of our souls. Hence God is said to be Love, God is love; might some say, and Justice too: but his Justice is turned with Wisdom, Power, Holiness and Truth, to love, yea, to love those that be found in his Son; forasmuch as there is nothing fault-worthy in his righteousness which is put upon us. So then as there is in Gods nature a Length, and Breadth, and Depth, and Heighth that is beyond all that we can think: So we should conclude that all this is love to us, for Christ's sake; and then dilate with it thus in our minds, and enlarge it thus in our meditations: saying still to our low and trembling spirits; It is high as Heaven, what canst thou do? Deeper than Hell, what canst thou know? the measure thereof is longer than the Earth, and deeper than the Sea.

Job 5. 9. Rom. 11. 33. Job 9. 19. Chap. 26. 14. 1 Sam. 2. 2. Psal. 103. 17. Psal. 46. 1 Joh. 4. Job 11. 7.

5. BUT we will pass generals and more particularly speak something of their fullness as they are fitted, to suit and answer to the whole state and condition of a Christian in this life. The words are boundless; we have here a breadth, a length, a depth, and heighth made mention of, but what breadth, what length, what depth, what heighth is not so much as hinted. It is therefore infiniteness suggested to us, and that as engaged for us. For the Apostle conjoyns therewith, and to know the love of Christ which passeth knowledge. Thus therefore it suits and answers a Christians condition, while in this world, let that be what it will. If his afflictions be broad, here is a breadth; if they be long, here is a length; and if they be deep, here is a depth; and if they be high, here is a heighth. And I will say, there is nothing that is more helpful, succouring, or comfortable to a Christian while in a state of tryal and temptation, than to know that there is a breadth to answer a breadth, a length to answer a length, a depth to answer a depth, and a heighth, to answer a heighth. Wherefore this is it that the Apostle prayeth for, namely, that the Ephesians might have understanding in these things, That ye may know what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and heighth,

6. OF the largeness of the Apostles heart in praying for this people, to wit, That they might be able to comprehend with all Saints, what, &c. of that we shall speak afterwards.

But first, to speak to these four expressions, Breadth, Length, Depth and Height.

Deut. 32. 11, 12. Gen. 49. 26 First, WHAT is the Breadth. This word is to shew, that God is all over, every where, spreading of his Wings, stretching out his Goodness to the utmost bounds, for the good of those that are his people.

In the Sin of his People there is a breadth; a breadth that spreadeth over all, whereso'ever a man shall look. The Sin of the Saints is a spreading Leprosie. Sin is a Scab that spreadeth; it is a spreading Plague; it knows no bounds: Or, as David saith, I have seen the wicked spreading himself. Hence it is compared to a Cloud, to a thick Cloud, that covereth or spreadeth over the face of all the Sky. Wherefore here is a breadth called for, a breadth that can cover all, or else what is done is to no purpose. Therefore to answer this, here we have a breadth, a spreading breadth; I spread my skirt over thee: But how far? Even so far as to cover all. I spread my skirt over thee, and covered thy nakedness. Here now is a breadth according to the spreading nature of the Sin of this wretched one; yea, a superabounding Spreading; a Spreading beyond; a Spreading to cover. Blessed is he whose sin is covered, whose spreading sin is covered by the Mercy of God through Christ. This is the spreading Cloud, whose Spreadings none can understand. He spread a cloud for a covering, and Fire to give Light in the Night.

Levit. 13. 12. ver. 8. ver. 57. Psal. 37. 35 Ezek. 16. 8. Rom. 4. 4, 5, 6, 7. Job 36, 29. Psal. 105. 39.

This breadth that is in God, it also over-matcheth that spreading and over spreading Rage of Men, that is sometimes as if it would swallow up the whole Church of God. You read of the Rage of the King of Assyria, that there was a breadth in it, an overflowing breadth, to the filling of the breadth of thy land, O Immanuel. But what follows? Associate your selves, O ye people, (ye Assyrians) and ye shall be broken to pieces: And give ear, all ye of far Countries; gird your selves, and ye shall be broken to pieces, gird your selves, and you shall be broken to pieces: Take Counsel together, and it shall come to nought; speak the word, and it shall not stand, for God is with us; God will over-match and go beyond you.

Isa. 8. 8, 9.

7. Wherefore this word, Breadth, and what is the breadth: It is here expressed on purpose to succour and relieve, or to shew what advantage, for support, the knowledge of the over-spreading Grace of God by Christ yieldeth unto those that have it, let their Tryals be what they will. Alas! the Sin of God's Children seemeth sometimes to overspread not only their Flesh, and the face of their Souls, but the whole face of Heaven. And what shall he do now, that is a stranger to this breadth, made mention of in the Text? Why he must despair, lie down and die, and shut up his Heart against all Comfort, unless he, with his fellow-Christians, can, at least, apprehend what is this breadth, or the breadth of Mercy intended in this place. Therefore Paul for the support of the Ephesians, prays, that they may know what is the breadth.

This largeness of the Heart and Mercy of God towards his People, is also signified by the spreading out of his Hand to us in the Invitations of the Gospel. I said, saith he, Behold me, behold me, I have spread out my hands all the day to a rebellious people, to a people that provoke me continually. Isa. 65. 1, 2, 3.

I have spread out my Hands, that is, opened my Arms as a Mother affectionately doth, when she stoopeth to her Child in the warm workings of her Bowels, and clasperh it up in them, and kisseth, and putteth it into her Bosom.

For, by spreading out the Hands or Arms to embrace, is shewed the breadth or largeness of God's Affections; as by our spreading out our Hands in Prayer, is signified the great sence that we have of the spreading nature of our sins, and of the great desires that are in us, that God would be merciful to us. Ezra 9. 5, 6, 7. &c.

8. This word also answereth to, or may fitly be set against the Wiles and Temptations of the Devil, who is that great and dogged Leviathan, that spreadeth his sharp-pointed things upon the mire: For, be the spreading nature of our Corruptions never so broad, he will find sharp-pointed things enough to stick in the mire of them, for our affliction. These sharp-pointed things are those that in another place are called fiery Darts, and he has abundance of them, with which he can and will sorely prick and wound our Spirits: Yea, so sharp some have found these things to their Souls, that they have pierced beyond expression. When, said Job, I say, my bed shall comfort me, my couch shall ease my complaint, then thou scarest me with dreams, and terrifiest me through visions, so that my soul chuseth strangling, and death, rather than life. But now, answerable to the spreading of these sharp-pointed things, there is a superabounding breadth in the soveraign Grace of God, the which whoso seeth and understandeth, as the Apostle doth pray we should, is presently helped: for he seeth that this Grace spreadeth it self, and is broader than can be, either our Mire, or the sharp-pointed things that he spreadeth thereupon for our vexation and affliction: It is broader than the Sea. Job 41. 30. Ephes. 6. 16, 17. Job 7. 13, 14, 15. Job 11.

This therefore should be that upon which those that see the spreading nature of Sin, and the Leprosie and Contagion thereof, should meditate, to wit, The broadness of the Grace and Mercy of God in Christ. This will poise and stay the Soul; this will relieve and support the Soul in and under those many misgiving and desponding Thoughts unto which we are subject when afflicted with the apprehensions of Sin, and the abounding nature of it.

Shall another man pray for this, one that knew the Goodness and Benefit of it, and shall not I meditate upon it? and shall not I exercise my Mind about it? Yes surely, for it is my Duty, it is my Priviledge and Mercy so to do. Let this therefore, when thou seest the spreading nature of thy Sin be a Memento to thee, to the end thou maist not sink and die in thy Soul.

9. Secondly, WHAT is the Breadth and [Length.] As there is a breadth in this Mercy and Grace of God by Christ, so there is a length there-therein, and this length is as large as the breadth, and as much suiting the Condition of the Child of God, as the other is. For, though Sin sometimes is most afflicting to the Conscience, while the Soul beholdeth the overspreading nature of it, yet here it stoppeth not, but oft-times through the power and prevalency of it, the Soul is driven with it, as a Ship by a mighty Tempest, or as a rolling thing before the whirlwind: driven, I say, from God, and from all hopes of his Mercy, as far as the East is from the West, or as the ends of the World are asunder. Hence it is supposed by the Prophet, that for and by Sin they may be driven from God to the utmost part of Heaven; and that is a sad thing, a sad thing, I say, to a gracious man. Why, saith the Prophet to God, art thou so far from helping me, and from the words of my roaring? Sometimes a man, yea, a man of God, is, as he apprehends, so far off from God, that he can neither help him, nor hear him, and this is a dismal state. And thou hast removed my Soul, said the Church, far off from Peace, I forgot Prosperity. This is the state sometimes of the Godly, and that not only, with reference to their being removed by Persecutors from the appointments and Gospel-Seasons, which are their delight, and the desire of their Eyes; but also with reference to their Faith and Hope in their God. They think themselves beyond the reach of his Mercy. Wherefore in answer to this Conceit, it is that the Lord asketh, saying, Is my hand shortened at all that I cannot redeem? And again, Behold the Lords Hand is not shortened, that it cannot save, neither his ear heavy, that he cannot hear. Wherefore he saith again, If any of thine be driven out unto the utmost parts of Heaven, from thence will the Lord thy God gather thee, and from thence will he fetch thee. God has a long Arm, and he can reach a great way further than we can conceive he can: when we think his Mercy is clean gone, and that our selves are free among the dead, and of the number that he remembreth no more, then he can reach us, and cause that again we stand before him. He could reach Jonah, though in the Belly of Hell; and reach thee, even then, when thou thinkest thy way is hid from the Lord, and thy Judgment passed over from thy God. There is a length to admiration, beyond apprehension or belief, in the Arm of the Strength of the Lord; and this is that which the Apostle intendeth by this word, Length; namely, To insinuate what a reach there is in the Mercy of God, how far it can extend it self. If I take the wings of the morning, said David, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea, even there shall thy hand lead me, and thy right hand shall uphold me. I will gather them from the east, and from the west, and from the north, and from the south, saith he: that is, from the utmost corners.

10. This therefore should encourage them that for the present cannot stand, but that do flie before their Guilt: Them that feel no help nor stay, but that go, as to their thinking, every day by the power of Temptation, driven yet farther off from God, and from the hope of obtaining of his Mercy to their Salvation; poor Creature, I will not now ask thee how thou camest into this condition, or how long this has been thy state; but I will say before thee, and I prithee hear me, O the length of the saving Arm of God! As yet thou art within the reach thereof; do not thou go about to measure Arms with God, as some good men are apt to do: I mean, do not thou conclude, that because thou canst not reach God by thy short Stump, therefore he cannot reach thee with his long Arm: Look again, Hast thou an Arm like God, an Arm like his for length and strength? It becomes thee, when thou canst not perceive that God is within the reach of thy arm, then to believe that thou art within the reach of his; for it is long, and none knows how long.

Job 40. 9.

Again, Is there such a length? such a length in the arm of the Lord, that he can reach those that are gone away, as far as they could? then this should encourage us to pray, and hope for the salvation of any one of our backsliden relations, that God would reach out his Arm after them: Saying, awake O arm of the Lord, art not thou it that hast cut Rahab, and wounded the Dragon? Art not thou it which hast dried the sea, the waters of the great deep, hast made the depths of the sea a way for the ransomed to pass over? Awake, O Arm of the Lord, and be stretched out as far as to where my poor Husband is, where my poor Child, or to where my poor backsliden Wife or dear Relation is, and lay hold, fast hold; they are gone from thee, but, O thou the Hope of Israel, fetch them again, and let them stand before thee. I say, here is in this word [Length] matter of encouragement for us thus to pray; for if the length of the reach of Mercy is so great, and if also this length is for the benefit of those that may be gone off far from God, (for they at present have no need thereof that are near) then improve this Advantage at the Throne of Grace for such, that they may come to God again.

Isa. 51. 9, 10.

11. Thirdly, As there is a Breadth and Length here, so there is a [Depth.] What is the breadth and length, and Depth?] And this depth is also put in here on purpose to help us under a Tryal that is diverse from the two former. I told you, that by the breadth the Apostle insinuates a Remedy and Succour to us, when we see our Corruptions spread like a Leprosie; and by length he would shew us, that when Sin has driven Gods Elect to the farthest distance from him, yet his Arm is long enough to reach them, and fetch them back again.

But, I say, as we have here a breadth, and a length, so we have also a depth. That ye may know what's the [Depth.] Christians have sometimes their sinking Fits, and are as if they were alwaies descending; or, as Heman says, counted with them that go down into the Pit. Now Guilt is not to such so much a Wind and a Tempest, as a Load and Burthen. The Devil, and Sin, and the Curse of the Law, and Death, are gotten upon the Shoulders of this poor man, and are treading of him down, that he may sink into, and be swallowed up of his mirey place.

I sink,

I ſink, ſays David, in deep mire, where there is no ſtanding: I am come into deep waters, where the floods overflow me. Yea there is nothing more common among the Saints of old, than this complaint: Let not the water-flood overflow me, neither let the deep ſwallow me up, neither let the pit ſhut her mouth upon me. Heman alſo ſaith, thou haſt laid me in the loweſt pit, in darkneſs in the deeps. Thy wrath lieth hard upon me, and thou haſt afflicted me with all thy Waves. Hence it is again that the Pſalmiſt ſays; Deep calleth unto deep, at the noiſe of thy water ſpouts all thy waves, and thy billows are gone over me. Deep calleth unto deep: what's that? why its expreſſed in the verſe before: O God, ſays he, My ſoul is caſt down within me. Down! that is, deep into the Jaws of diſtruſt and fear. And, Lord, my ſoul in this depth of ſorrow calls for help to thy depth of mercy. For though I am ſinking and going down, yet not ſo low, but that thy mercy is yet underneath me: Do of thy compaſſions open thoſe everlaſting arms, and catch him that has no help or ſtay in himſelf: For ſo it is with one that is falling into a Well or a Dungeon.

Ver. 15, 16. Pſal. 88. 6, 7. Pſal. 42. 7. Ver. 6. Deut 33. 27.

12. Now mark, as there is in theſe Texts, the ſinking condition of the godly man ſet forth, of a man whom Sin and Satan is treading down into the deep; ſo in our Text which I am ſpeaking to at this time, we have a depth that can more than counter-poyſe theſe deeps, ſet forth with a hearty prayer, that we may know it. And although the deeps, or depths of calamity into which the godly may fall, may be as deep as Hell, and me thinks they ſhould be no deeper: yet this is the comfort, and for the comfort of them of the godly that are thus a ſinking: The mercy of God for them lies deeper. It is deeper than hell, what canſt thou know? And this is that which made Paul that he was not afraid of this depth. I am perſwaded, ſaith he, that neither heighth nor depth ſhall ſeparate us from the love of God, which is in Chriſt Jeſus our Lord. But of this he could by no means have been perſwaded, had he not believed that mercy lieth deeper for the godly to help them, than can all other depths be to deſtroy them: this is it at which he ſtands and wonders, ſaying, O the depth of the riches both of the wiſdom and knowledge of God, that is to find out a way to ſave his people, notwithſtanding all the deep contrivances that the enemy hath, and may invent to make us come ſhort home.

Job 11. 8. Ro. 8. 39. Chap. 11. 32, 33.

This is alſo that, as I take it, which is wrapped up in the bleſſing, wherewith Jacob bleſſed his Son Joſeph. God ſhall bleſs thee, ſaith he, with the bleſſings of heaven above, and with the bleſſings of the deep that lyeth under. A bleſſing which he had ground to pronounce, as well from his obſervation of God's good dealing with Joſeph, as in a ſpirit of Prophecy: For he ſaw that he lived and was become a flouriſhing bow, by a Wall, after that the Archers had done their worſt to him. Moſes alſo bleſſeth God for bleſſing of Joſeph thus, and bleſſeth his portion to him, as counting of it ſufficient for his help in all afflictions. Bleſſed, ſaith he, of the Lord, be his land, for the precious things of heaven, for the dew, and for the deep that coucheth beneath.

Gen. 49. 25. Ver. 22. 23, 24. Deut. 33. 13.

I am not of belief that theſe bleſſings are confined to things temporal, or carnal, but to things Spiritual and Divine; and that they have moſt chiefly reſpect to ſoul, and eternal good. Now mark, he tells us here, That the bleſſings of the deep, do couch beneath. Couch, that is, lye cloſe, ſo as hardly to be diſcerned by him that willingly would ſee that himſelf is not below theſe arms that are beneath him. But that as I ſaid, is hard to be diſcerned by him that thus is ſinking, and that has as he now ſmartingly feels, all God's Waves, and his Billows rouling over him. However whether he ſees or not, for this bleſſing lieth couched: Yet there it is, and there will be, though one ſhould ſink as deep as Hell: And hence they are ſaid to be everlaſting Arms that are underneath: that is, Arms that are long and ſtrong, and that can reach to the bottom, and alſo beyond, of all miſery and diſtreſs, that Chriſtians are ſubject to in this life. Indeed mercy ſeems to be aſleep, when we are ſinking: for then we are as if all things were careleſs of us, but it is but as a Lyon couchant, it will awake in time for our help. And for as much as this term is it, which is applicable to the Lyon in his Den; it may be to ſhew that as a Lyon, ſo will God at the fitteſt ſeaſon, a riſe for the help and deliverance of a ſinking people. Hence when he is ſaid to addreſs himſelf to the delivering of his people, it is that he comes as a roaring Lyon. The Lord ſhall go forth as a mighty man, he ſhall ſtir up jealouſie like a man of War: he ſhall cry, yea roar, he ſhall prevail againſt his enemies. However here is a depth againſt the depth that's againſt us, let that depth be what it will. As let it be the depth of miſery, the depth of mercy is ſufficient. If it be the depth of helliſh policy, the depth both of the wiſdom and knowledge of God ſhall go beyond it, and prevail.

13. Ver. 21. Pſal. 44. 22, 23, 24, 25, 26. Mat. 4. 37, 38, 39. Iſa. 42. 13.

This therefore is worthy of the conſideration of all ſinking ſouls; of the ſouls that feel themſelves deſcending into the Pit. There is ſuch a thing as this experienced among the godly. Some come to them (when tempted) when you will, they will tell you, they have no ground to ſtand on, their feet have ſlipped, their Foundation is removed, and they feel themſelves ſinking, as into a Pit that has no bottom. They inwardly ſink, not for want of ſomething to relieve the body, but for want of ſome ſpiritual Cordial to ſupport the mind. I went down to the bottoms of the Mountains, ſaid Jonas, the Earth with her barrs was about me for ever; my ſoul fainted within me.

14. Pſal. 11. 3. Jon. 2. 6.

Now for ſuch to conſider that underneath them, even at the bottom there lieth a bleſſing, or that in this deep whereinto they are deſcending, there lieth a delivering mercy couching to catch them, and to ſave them from ſinking for ever; this would be relief unto them, and help them to hope for good.

Again, As this were it well conſidered by the ſinking ones, would yield them ſtay and relief, ſo this is it by the vertue whereof, they that have been ſinking heretofore, have been lifted up, and above their caſtings down again. There are of thoſe that have been in the Pit, now upon Mount Sion, with the harps of God in their hands, and with the Song of the Lamb in their mouths. But how is it that they are there? why David by his own deliverance shews you the reason. For great is thy mercy towards me, saith he, and thou hast delivered my soul from the lowest hell. And again, He brought me up also out of an horrible pit, a pit of noise, (a pit wherein was the noise of Devils, and of my heart answering them with distrust and fear) out of the miry Clay, (into which I did not only sink, but was by it held from getting up: but he brought me up) and set my feet upon a rock, and established my goings. And he hath put a new song in my mouth, even praises to our God.

Psal. 86. 13.

Psal. 40. 1, 2, 3.

But let me here give, if it may be, a timely caution to them that think they stand upon their feet. Give not way to falling, because everlasting arms are underneath, take heed of that: God can let thee fall into mischief, he can let thee fall, and not help thee up. Tempt not God, lest he cast thee away indeed. I doubt there are many that have presumed upon this mercy, that thus do couch beneath, and have cast themselves down from their pinacles into vanity, of a vain conceit that they shall be lifted up again: whom yet God will leave to dye there, because their fall was rather of wilfulness, than weakness, and of stubornness, and desperate resolutions, than for want of means and helps to preserve them from it.

Fourthly, As there is a Breadth, and Length, and Depth, in this Mercy and Grace of God through Christ towards his people: So there is also a Heighth. That ye may comprehend with all Saints, what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and [heighth]. There are things that are high as well as things that are low; things that are above us, as well as things that are under, that are distressing to God's people. It is said when Noah was a preacher of Righteousness, there were Giants in the earth in those days: And these, as I conceive, were some of the Heighths that were set against Noah: yea, they were the very Dads and Fathers of all that monstrous brood that followed in the world in that day. Of this sort were they who so frighted, and terrified Israel, when they were to go to inherit the land of Promise. The men that were tall as the Cedars, and strong as the Oaks, frighted them: they were in their own sight, when compared with these high ones, but as Grashoppers. This therefore was their discouragement.

Gen. 6. 4.

Numb. 13. 31. 32, 33, 34. Deut. 2. 10 & 9. 2.

Besides, together with these, they had high walls, walls as high as Heaven; and these walls were of purpose to keep Israel out of his possession. See how it is expressed: The people is greater and taller than we, the Cities are great and walled up to heaven; and moreover, we have seen the sons of the Anakims there. One of these, to wit, Goliah by name, how did he fright the Children of Israel in the days of Saul! How did the appearance of him, make them scuttle together on heaps before him. By these Giants, and by these high walls, God's Children to this day are sorely distressed, because they stand in the cross ways to cut off Israel from his possession.

Deut. 1. 28

1 Sam. 17.

But now to support us against all these, and to encourage us to take heart notwithstanding all these things; there is for us, a heighth in God. He hath made his Son higher than the Kings of the earth: His word also is setled for ever in Heaven, and therefore must needs be higher than their walls: he also saith in another place, If thou seest the oppression of the poor, and violent perverting of judgment and justice in a province, marvell not at the matter, for he that is higher than the highest, regardeth, and there be higher than they. 'Twas this that made Paul that he feared not the heighth: not things present, nor things to come.

Psal. 89. 26 27, 28. Psal. 119. 89.

Eccl. 5. 8.

Rom. 8. 39

But again, As there are these things standing, or lying in our way: So there are another sort of heighths that are more mischievous than these: And they are the fallen Angels. These are called spiritual wickedness, or wicked Spirits, in high places: For God has suffered them for a time to take to themselves Principality and Power, and so they are become the rulers of the darkness of this world. By these we are tempted, sifted, threatned, opposed, undermined: also by these there are snares, pits, holes, and what not made and laid for us, if peradventure by something we may be destroyed. Yea, and we should most certainly be so, were it not for the rock that is higher than they. But he that cometh from heaven is above all. These are they that our King has taken captive, and hath ride (in his Chariots of Salvation) in triumph over their necks. These are they, together with all others, whose most deviliish designs he can wield, and turn and make work together for his ransomeds advantage. There is a heighth, an infinitely overtopping heighth in the mercy and goodness of God for us, against them.

17.

Eph. 6. 12.

Joh. 3. 31.

Ro. 8. 28.

There are heighths also that build up themselves in us, which are not, but to be taken notice of: Yea, there are a many of them, and they place themselves directly so, that if possible they may keep the saving knowledge of God out of our hearts. These high things therefore are said to exalt themselves against the knowledge of God: and do oft times more plague, afflict, and frighten Christian men and women, than any thing besides. It is from these that our faith and spiritual understanding of God and his Christ is opposed and contradicted, and from these also that we are so inclineable to swerve from right doctrine into destructive opinions. 'Tis from these that we are so easily perswaded to call into question our former experience of the goodness of God towards us, and from these that our minds are so often clouded and darkned that we cannot see afar of. These would betray us into the hands of fallen Angels, and Men, nor should we by any means help or deliver our selves, were it not for one that is higher. These are the dark mountains at which our feet would certainly stumble, and upon which we should fall, were it not for one who can Leap, and Skipp over these mountains of division, and come into us.

2 Cor. 10. 6.

Song 2. 8, 17.

Further, there is a heighth also that is obvious to our senses, the which when it is dealt withall by our corrupted reason, proves a great great shaking to our mind, and that is the heighth, and exceeding distance that Heaven is off of us, and we off it. Is not God in the heighth of heaven, and behold the heighth of the Stars, how high are they? Hence Heaven is called the place for heighth. Also when Ahaz is bid to ask with reference to Heaven, he is bid to ask it, in the heighth, the heighth above. Now saith reason how shall I come thither? specially when a good man is at his furthest distance therefrom: which is, when he is in the grave. Now I say every heighth is a difficulty to him that is loaden with a burden, especially the Heaven of Heavens, where God is, and where is the resting place of his, to them that are oppressed with the guilt of sin. And besides, the dispensation which happeneth to us last, to wit, death, as I said before, makes this heaven, in my thoughts while I live so much the more unaccessible. Christ indeed could mount up, but me, poor me, how shall I get thither? Elias indeed had a Chariot sent him to ride in thither, and went up by it into that holy place: but I, poor I, how shall I get thither? Enoch is there, because God took him: but as for me, how shall I get thither? Thus some have mournfully said. And although distrust of the power of God as to the accomplishing of this thing, is by no means to be smiled upon, yet methinks the unconcernedness of Professors there about, doth argue that considering thoughts about that, are wanting.

Job 22. 12. Pro. 25. 3. Isa. 7. 11. Acts 1. 9, 2 King. 2. Gen. 3. 24.

I know the answer is ready. Get Christ and go to heaven. But methinks the heighth of the place, and the glory of the state that we are to enjoy therein, should a little concern us, at least so, as to make us wonder in our thinking, that the time is coming that we must mount up thither. And since there are so many heighths between this place, between us, and that; it should make us admire at the heighths of the Grace and Mercy of God, by which, means is provided to bring us thither. And I believe that this thing, this very thing, is included here by the Apostle when he prays for the Ephesians, that they might know the heighth.

19. Me thinks, how shall we get thither, will still stick in my mind. I will ascend, says one, above the heighth of the Clouds, and I will be like the Most High: And I, says another, will set my Nest among the Stars of Heaven. Well, but what of all this? If Heaven has Gates, and they shall be shut, how wilt thou go in thither? Though such should climbe up to Heaven, from thence will God bring them down. Still I say, therefore, how shall we get in thither? Why, for them that are godly, there is the power of God, the merits of Christ, the help of Angels, and the testimony of a good Conscience to bring them thither; and he that has not the help of all these, let him do what he can, shall never come thither. Not that all these go to the making up of the heighth that is intended in the Text: for the heighth there, is what is in God through Christ to us alone. But the Angels are the Servants of God for that end: and none with ill Consciences enter in thither. What, know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the Kingdom of God? be not deceived, such have none inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and of God.

Isa. 14. 14. Obad. 4. Amo. 9. 2. Luk. 16. 22. Heb 1. 14. Psal. 15. 1. Psal. 24. 3. 1 Cor. 6. 9. Eph. 5. 5.

This then should teach us that in God is a power that is able to subdue all things to himself. In the compleating of many things, there seems to be an utter impossibility, as that a Virgin should conceive in her Womb, as a Virgin, and bring a Son into the world; that the body that is turned into dust, should arise and ascend into the highest Heaven. These things with many more seem to be utterly impossible: but there is that which is called the power of God, by the which he is able to make all things bend to his will, and to make all obstructions give place to what he pleases. God is high above all things, and can do whatever it pleaseth him. But since he can do so, why doth he suffer this, and that thing to appear, to act, and do so horribly repugnant to his word? I answer, he admits of many things, to the end he may shew his wrath and make his power known; and that all the world may see how he checks and overrules the most vile and unruly things, and can make them subservient to his holy will. And how would the Breadth and the Length, and the Depth, and the Heighth of the love and mercy of God in Christ to us ward, be made to appear, so as in all things it doth, were there not admitted that there should be breadths, and lengths, and depths, and heighths to oppose. Wherefore these oppositions are therefore suffered, that the greatness of the wisdom, the power, the mercy, and grace of God to us in Christ might appear and be made manifest unto us. Philip. 3. 21.

This calls therefore upon Christians, wisely 20. to consider of the doings of their God. How many opposite breadths, and lengths, and depths, and heighths did Israel meet with in their journey from Egypt to Canaan, and all to convince them of their own weakness, and also of the power of their God. And they that did wisely consider of his doings there, did reap the advantage thereof. Come, behold the works of the Lord towards me, may every Christian say. He hath set a Saviour against sin; a Heaven against a Hell; light against darkness; good against evil, and the breadth, and length, and depth, and heighth of the grace that is in himself, for my good, against all the power and strength, and force, and subtilty of every enemy.

This also, as I hinted but just before, shews both the power of them that hate us, and the inability of us to resist. The power that is set against us none can crush, and break, but God: For it's the power of Devils, of Sin, of Death, and Hell. But we for our parts are crushed before the Moth: being a shadow, a vapour, and a wind that passes away. Oh! how should we, and how would we, were but our eyes awake, stand and wonder at the preservations, the deliverances, the salvations and benefits with which we are surrounded daily: while so many mighty evils seek daily to swallow us up, as the Grave. See how the golden Psalm of David reads it. Be merciful unto me, O God, for man would swallow me up: he fighting daily, oppresseth me. Mine enemies would swallow me up: for they be many that fight against me, O most High. This is at the beginning Job 4. 19. Psal. 56. 1, 2.

ning of it. And he concludes it thus, Thou Psal. 13. hast delivered my soul from death, wilt not thou deliver my feet from falling, that I may walk before God in the light of the living.

By this also we see the reason why it is so 21. impossible for Man or Angel to perswade unbelievers to come in to, and close with Christ; why there is a breadth that they cannot get over, a length that they cannot get beyond, a depth that they cannot pass, and heighths that so hinder them of the prospect of glory, and the way thereto, that they cannot be allured thither. And that nothing can remove these, but those that are in God, and that are opposite thereto; even the breadth and length, and depth, and heighth that is in the Text expressed, is to all awakned men an undoubted truth.

One Item I would here give to him that loveth his own soul, and then we will pass on in pursuance of what is to come. Since there is an heighth obvious to sense, and that that heighth must be overcome ere a man can enter into life eternal: let thy heart be careful that thou go the right way to over-pass this heighth, that thou maiest not miss of the delectable plains, and the pleasures that are above. Now there is nothing so high, as to overtop Gen. 28. 12. this heighth; but Jacob's Ladder, and that can do it: That Ladder, when the foot thereof doth stand upon the earth, reacheth with its top to the gate of Heaven. This is the Ladder by which Angels ascend thither: and this is the Ladder by which thou mayest ascend thither. And he dreamed a dream, and behold a Ladder set upon the earth, and the top of it reached to heaven: and behold the Angels of God ascending, and descending on it.

22. This Ladder is Jesus Christ, the son of Man, Joh. 1. 51. as is clear by the Evangelist John. And in that it is said to stand upon the earth, that is to shew that he took hold of Man who is of the earth, and therein laid a foundation for his Salvation: in that it is said the top reached up to Heaven, that is to shew that the Divine Nature was joyned to the human, and by that means he was every way made a Saviour compleat. Now concerning this Ladder, 'tis said, Heaven was open where it stood, to shew that by him there is entrance into life: 'tis said also concerning this Ladder, that the Lord stood there, at the top, above it: Gen. 28. 13. saying I am the God of Abraham, to shew his hearty and willing reception of those that ascend the heighth of his Sanctuary this way. All which Christ further explains by saying, I am Joh. 14. 6. the way, the truth, and the life, no man cometh to the Father, but by me. look to thy self then, Chap. 12. 32. that thou do truly and after the right manner imbrace this Ladder, so will he draw thee up thither after him. All the rounds of this Ladder are sound and fitly placed, not one of them is set further than that by Faith thou mayest ascend step by step unto, even untill thou shalt come to the highest step thereof, from whence, or by which thou mayest step in at the Celestial gate where thy soul desireth to dwell.

Take my caution then, and be wary, no man can come thither but by him. Thither I say to be accepted: thither, there to dwell, and there to abide with joy for ever.

That you may be able to comprehend with all 23. Saints, what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and heighth; and to know the love of Christ which passeth knowledge.

Having thus spoke of the breadth, and length, and depth, and heighth that is in God's mercy by Christ to us-ward; we will now come more directly to the prayer of the Apostle for these Ephesians, with reference thereunto; to wit, that they might be able to comprehend with all Saints what they are.

And first, As to the ability that he prays for, to the end they may be capable to do this thing.

That ye may be able.] The weakness that is here supposed to hinder their thus comprehending, &c. did doubtless lie in their Grace, as well as their Nature: for in both, with reference to them that are Christians, there is great disability, unless they be strengthened mightily by the Holy Ghost. Natures ability depends upon Graces, and the ability of Graces, depends upon the mighty help of the Spirit of God. Hence, as Nature it self, where Grace is not, sees nothing; So Nature by Grace sees but weakly, if that Grace is not strengthened with all might by the Spirit of Grace. The breadths, lengths, depths, and heighths here made mention of, are mysteries, and in all their operations, do work wonderful mysteriously: Insomuch that many times, though they are all of them busily ingaged for this and the other child of God, yet they themselves see nothing of them. As Christ said to Peter, what I do thou knowest not now: so may it be said to many where the grace and mercy of God in Christ is working: They do not know, they understand not what it is, not what will be the end of such dispensations of God towards them. Wherefore they also say as Peter to Joh. 13. 6, 7, 8. Christ, Dost thou wash my feet? thou shalt never wash my feet: Yea, and when some light to convince of this folly breaks in upon them, yet if it be not very distinct and clear; causeing the person to know the true cause, nature, and end of Gods doing of this or that, they swerve with Peter, as much on the other side. ver. 9. 10. They have not known my ways, and my methods with them in this world, were that Heb. 3. 10. that caused Israel always to err in their hearts, and lye cross to all, and each of these breadths, lengths, depths and heighths, when ever they were under the exercise of any of them in the Wilderness.

And the reason is, as I said before, for that 24. they are very mysterious in their workings. For they work by, upon, and against oppositions; for, and in order to the help and salvation of his people. Also (as was hinted awhile since) that the power and glory of this breadth, and length, &c. of the Mercy and Grace of God, may the more shew its excellency and sufficiency as to our deliverance; we by him seem quite to be delivered up to the breadth, lengths, and depths, and heighths that oppose, and that utterly seek our ruin: Wherefore at such times, nothing of breadths, lengths, depths, or heighths can be seen, save by those that are very well skilled in those mysterious methods of God, in his gracious actings towards his people. Who will Psal. 60. 9, 10. bring me into the strong City, and, wilt not thou O God which hast cast us off? And thou O God which diddst not go forth with our armys? Is a lesson too hard for every Christian man to say over believingly. And what was it that made Jonah say, when he was in the belly of Hell, Jonah 2. yet will I look again towards thy holy temple; but the good skill that he had in understanding of the mystery of these breadths, and lengths, and depths, and heights of God, and of the way of his working by them. Read the Text at large. ver. 3. 4. Thou hast cast me into the deep, in the midst of the Seas, and the floods compassed me about. All thy billows and thy waves passed over me. Then I said, I am cast out of thy sight; yet will I look again toward thy holy temple.

These, and such like sentences, are easily played with by a preacher, when in the pulpit, specially if he has a little of the notion of things, but of the difficulty, and strait, that those are brought into, out of whose mouth such things, or words are extorted, by reason of the force of the Labyrinths they are fallen into: of those they experience nothing, wherefore to those they are utterly strangers.

25. He then that is able to comprehend with all Saints what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height; must be a good expositor of Providence, and must see the way, and the workings of God by them. Now there are Providences of two sorts, seemingly good, and seemingly bad, and those do usually as Jacob did, when he blessed the sons of Joseph, cross hands; and lay the blessing where we would not. Gen. 48. 17. And when Joseph saw that his Father laid his right hand upon the head of Ephraim, it displeased him. I say there are Providences unto which we would have the blessings intailed, but they are not. And they are Providences that simile upon the flesh, to-wit, such as cast into the lap, Health, Wealth, Plenty, Ease, Friends, and abundance of this worlds good: because these, chap. 4. 51. Manasseh as his name doth signifie, have in them an aptness to make us forget our toil, our low Estate, and from whence we were: but the great blessing is not in them. There are Providences again, that take away from us whatever is desirable to the flesh; such is the sickness, losses, crosses, persecution and affliction; and usually in these, though they make us shuck when ever they come upon us, blessing ver. 52. coucheth, and is read to help us. For God, as the name of Ephraim signifies, makes us fruitful in the land of our affliction. He therefore in blessing of his people lays his hands a cross, guiding them wittingly, and laying the chiefest blessing on the head of Ephraim, Gen 35. 18. or in that Provdence, that sanctifies affliction. Abel! what, to the reason of Eve was he, in comparison of Cain. Rachel called Benjamin the son of her sorrow: but Jacob knew how to give him 1 Chro. 4. 9, 10. a better name. Jabez also, though his Mother so called him, because, as it seems, she brought him forth with more than ordinary sorrow, was yet more honourable, more godly than his brethren. He that has skill to judge of Providences a right, has a great ability in him to comprehend with other Saints, what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height: but he that has not skill as to discerning of them, is but a child in his judgment in those high, and mysterious things. And hence it is, that some shall suck Hony out of that, at the which others tremble for fear it should poyson them. I have often been made to say, sorrow is better Eccl. 7. 3. than laughter: and the house of mourning, better than the house of mirth. And I have more often seen that the afflicted are always the best sort of Christians. There is a man, never well, never prospering, never but under afflictions, disappointments and sorrows: why this man if he be a Christian, is one of the best of men. They that go down to the Sea, that do business in great waters, they see the works of the Psal. 107. 23, 24 Lord, and his wonders in the deep. And it is from hence, for ought I know, that James admonishes the brother of high degree to rejoyce Jam. 1. 10, 11, 12. in that he is made low. And he renders the reason of it, to wit, for that the fashion of the world perisheth, the rich man fadeth away in his way; but the tempted and he that endureth temptation is blessed. Now I know these things are not excellent in themselves, nor yet to be desired for any profit that they can yield, but God doth use by these, as by a Tutor or Instructor, to make known them that are exercised with them, so much of himself as to make them understand, that riches of his goodness that is seldom by other means broken up to the sons of men. And hence tis said that Heb. 12. the afterwards of affliction doth yield the peace- 11. able fruits of righteousness to them that are exercised thereby.

The sum is, these breadths, and lengths, 26. and depths, and heights of God, are to be discerned; and some that are good, do more, and some do less discern them, and how they are working, and puting forth themselves in every Providence, in every change, in every turn of the wheel that passeth by us in this world. I do not question but that there are some that are alive that have been able to say, the days of affliction have been the best unto them, and that could if it were lawful, pray that they might always be in affliction, if God would but do to them as he did when his hand was last upon them. For by them he caused his light to shine: Or as Job Job 10. 16 has it, Thou huntest me as a fierce Lyon, and again, thou shewest thy self marvelously upon me. See also the writing of Hezekiah, and read Isa. 38. what profit he found in afflictions.

But again, these breadths, lengths, depths and heighths, have in themselves naturally that glory, that cannot be so well discerned, or kept in view by weak eyes. He had need have an eye like an Eagle, that can look upon the Sun, that can look upon these great things, and Acts 7. not be stricken blind therewith. You see how Saul was served when he was going to Damascus: but Stephen could stand and look up sted- chap. 7. fastly into Heaven, and that too when with Jonas he was going into the deep. But I have done with this, and proceed.

That ye may be able to comprehend]. Although apprehending is included in comprehending: yet to comprehend is more. To comprehend is to know a thing fully; or, to reach it all. But here we must distinguish, and say that there is a comprehending that is absolute, and a comprehending prehending that is comparative. Of comprehending absolutely, or perfectly, we are not here to speak; for that the Apostle could not, in this place, as to the thing prayed for, desire: For it is utterly impossible perfectly to know whatsoever is in the breadths, lengths, depths, and heighths here spoken of. Whether you call them Mercies, Judgments, or the ways of

Rom. 11, 33. God with men. How unsearchable are his Judgments, and His Ways past finding out! Or if you take them to signifie His Love, unto which you see I am inclined; why, that you read of in the same place, to be it which passes Knowledge. Wherefore, should the Apostle by this term, conclude, or insinuate, that what he calls here breadths, lengths, depths, or heighths, might be fully, or perfectly understood and known, he would not only contradict other Scriptures, but himself, in one and the self-same breath. Wherefore it must be understood comparatively; that is, and that he says, with, or as much as others, as any, even with all Saints. That ye may be able to comprehend with all Saints, what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and heighth. I would ye were as able to understand, to know, and to find out these things, as ever any were; and to know with the very best of Saints, The Love of Christ, which passeth knowledge. There are, as has afore been hinted, degrees of knowledge of these things; some know more, some less; but the Apostle prays that these Ephesians might see, know, and understand as much thereof as the best, or as any under Heaven.

27. And this in the first place shews us the love of a Minister of Jesus Christ. A Minister's love to
Rom. 16, 20, 24. 1 Cor. 16, 23. 2 Cor. 13, 7. Gal. 6. 18. Eph. 1. 16. Phil. 1. 4. Col. 1. 3. 1 Thes. 1. 2. 2 Thes. 1. 11. 1 Tim. 6. 21. 2 Tim. 4. 22. his Flock is seen in his praying for them: Wherefore Paul, commonly, by his Epistles, either first or last, or both, gives the Churches to understand, That he did often heartily pray to God for them: And not only so, but also specifies the Mercies, and Blessings, and Benefits which he earnestly begged for them of God.

But secondly, This implies that there are great Benefits accrue to Christians by the comprehending of these things: Yea, it implies that something very special is ministred to us by this knowledge of these; and here to touch upon a few of them.

First, HE that shall arrive to some competent knowledge of these things, shall understand more thorowly the Greatness, the Wisdom, the Power, &c. of the God that is above. For by these expressions are the Attributes of God set forth unto us: And although I have discoursed of them hitherto under the notion of Grace and Mercy, yet it was, not for that I concluded, they excluded the expressing of his other Attributes, but because they all, as it were, turn into loving methods in the wheel of their heavenly motion towards the Children of God. Hence it is said,
1 Jo. 4. 16. God is love, God is light. God is what He is for His own Glory, and the good of them that fear Him. God! Why God in the breadth, length,
Col. 1. 17. depth, heighth that is here intended, comprehends the whole World. The whole World is in Him: For he is before, above, beyond, and round about all things. Hence it is said, The Heavens, for breadth, are but His Span; That Prov. 30. 4. Isa. 40. 12. 15. He gathereth the Wind in His Fists, measureth the Waters in the hollow of His Hand, weigheth the Mountains in Scales, and the Hills in a Ballance. Yea, That all Nations before Him are as Acts 17. 28 nothing, and they are counted to Him less than nothing, and Vanity. Hence we are said to live and move in Him, and that He is beyond all search. I will add one word more, notwithstanding there is such a revelation of Him in His Word, in the Book of Creatures, and in the Book of Providences; yet the Scripture says, Lo, these are part of His Ways, but how little a portion is heard of Him! So great is God above all Job 26. 14. that we have read, heard, or seen of Him, either in the Bible, in Heaven, or Earth, the Sea, or what else is to be understood. But now, That a poor Mortal, a lump of sinful Flesh, or as the Scripture-Phrase is, poor Dust and Ashes, should be in the Favour, in the Heart, and wrapped up in the Compassions of such a God! O amazing! O astonishing Consideration! And yet This God is our God for ever and ever; and He Psa. 48. 14. will be our Guide even unto Death.

It is said of our God, That He humbleth Himself when He beholds things in Heaven. How much more then when He openeth His Eyes upon Man; but most of all when He makes it, as one may say, His business to visit him every Morning, and to try him every Moment, having set His Heart upon him, being determined to set him also among His Princes. The Lord is high above all Nations, and His Glory Psal. 113. above the Heavens. Who is like to the Lord our 3, 4, 5, 6, God who dwelleth on high! Who humbleth Him- 7, 8. self to behold things that are in Heaven, and in the Earth! He raiseth up the Poor out of the dust, and lifteth the needy out of the Dunghil, that He may set him with Princes, even with the Princes of His People.

Secondly, IF this God be our God; or if our 28. God be such a God, and could we but attain to that knowledge of the breadth, and length, and depth, and heighth that is in Him, as the Apostle here prays, and desires we may, we should never be afraid of any thing we shall meet with, or that shall assault us in this World. The great God, the Former of all things, taketh part with them that fear Him, and that engage themselves to walk in His ways, of love, and respect they bear unto Him: So that such may boldly say, The Lord is my helper, and I Heb. 13. 5, will not fear what man shall do unto me. Would 6. it not be amazing, should you see a man incompassed with Chariots and Horses, and Weapons for his defence, yet afraid of being Sparrow-blasted, or over run by a Grashopper! Why It is He that sitteth upon the Circle of the Isa. 40. 22. Earth, and to whom the Inhabitants thereof be as Grashoppers, that is the God of the People that are lovers of Jesus Christ; therefore we should not fear them. To fear man, is to forget God; and to be careless in a time of danger, is to forget God's Ordinance. What is it then? Why, let us fear God, and diligently keep His way, with what prudence and regard to our preservation, and also the preservation of what we have, we may: And if, we doing this, our God shall deliver us, and what we have, into the hands of them that hate us, let us laugh, be fearless and careless, not minding now to do any thing else but to stand up for Him against the workers of Iniquity; fully concluding, that both we, and our Enemies, are in the hand of Him that loveth his People, and that will certainly render a reward to the Wicked, after that He has sufficiently tryed us by their means. The great God that formed all things, both rewardeth the Fool, and rewardeth Transgressors.

Prov. 26. 10.

29. Thirdly, ANOTHER thing that the knowledge of what is prayed for of the Apostle, if we attain it, will minister to us, is, An holy fear and reverence of this great God in our Souls; both because he is great, and because he is wise and good. Who would not fear Thee, O Lord, and glorifie Thy Name.

Jer. 10. 7. Rev. 15. 4.

Greatness should beget fear, Greatness should beget reverence: Now who so great as our God, and so, who to be feared like Him! He also is Wise, and will not be deceived by any. He will bring evil, and not call back His Words, but will rise against the House of evil doers, and against the help of them that work Iniquity. Most men deal with God as if He were not wise; as if He either knew not the wickedness of their hearts and ways, or else knew not how to be even with them for it: When, alas! He is wise in heart, and mighty in power; and although He will not, without cause, afflict, yet He will not let wickedness go unpunished. This therefore should make us fear. He also is good, and this should make us serve Him with fear. Oh! that a great God should be a good God; a good God to an unworthy, to an undeserving, and to a People that continually do what they can to provoke the Eyes of His Glory; this should make us tremble. He is fearful in Service, fearful in Praises.

Isa 31. 2.

The breadth, and length, and depth, and heighth of his out-going towards the children of men, should also beget in us a very great fear and dread of His Majesty. When the Prophet saw the heighth of the Wheels, he said they were dreadful, and cried out unto them, O Wheel! His Judgments also are a great deep; nor is there any searching of His Understanding. He can tell how to bring His Wheel upon us; and to make our Table a snare, a trap, and a stumbling-block unto us: He can tell how to make His Son to us a rock of offence, and His Gospel to be a savour of death unto death, unto us. He can tell how to chuse delusions for us, and to lead us forth with the workers of Iniquity. He can out-wit, and out-do us, and prevail against us for ever; and therefore we should be afraid and fear before Him, for our good, and the good of ours for ever: Yea, it is for these purposes, with others, that the Apostle prayeth thus for this People: For the comprehending of these things, do poise and keep the Heart in an even course. This yields comfort; this gives incouragement; this begets fear and reverence in our hearts of God.

Ezc. 1. 18. Ch. 10. 13. Psal. 36. 6. Isa. 8. 14. Ch. 40. 28. Rom. 11. 8, 9, 10. 2 Cor. 2. 15, 16. Isa. 66. 4. 2 Thess. 2. 11, 12. Psal. 125. 5 Job 14. 20.

30. Fourthly, THIS knowledge will make us willing that He should be our God; yea, will also make us abide by that willingness. Jacob said, with a Vow, If God will be with me, and will keep me in this way that I go, and will give me Bread to eat, and Raiment to put on; so that I come again to my Father's House in peace: Then shall the Lord be my God. And this Stone which I have set for a Pillar, shall be God's House; and of all that Thou shalt give me, I will surely give the Tenth unto Thee. Thus he considered the greatness of God, and from a supposition that he was what he had heard him, of his Father, to be; he concluded to chuse Him for his God, and that he would worship Him, and give Him that honour that was due to Him as God. How did the King of Babylon set him above all Gods, when but some sparkling rays from Him did light upon him: He calls Him a God of gods, preters Him above all gods, charges all People and Nations that they do nothing amiss against Him: he calls Him the most high God, the God that liveth for ever; and confesses that He doth whatsoever he will in Heaven and Earth; and concludes with praising and extolling of Him. We naturally love greatness; and when the glorious Beauty of the King of Glory shall be manifest to us, and we shall behold it, we shall say as Joshua did; Let all Men do as seems them good; but I, and my House will serve the Lord.

Gen. 28. 20, 21, 22. Dan. 2. 47. Ch. 3. 28, 29. Chap. 4

When the Apostle Paul sought to win the Athenians to him, he sets Him forth before them with such terms as bespeaks His greatness; calling of Him (and that rightly) God that made the World, and all things; the Lord of Heaven and Earth. One that giveth to all life and breath, and all things: One that is nigh to every one; He in whom we live, and move, and have our being, God that hath made of one Blood all Nations of Men; and that hath determined the times before appointed, and the bounds of their habitation, &c. These things bespeak the greatness of God, and are taking to considering Men. Yea, these very Athenians, while ignorant of Him, from these dark hints that they had by natural light concerning Him, erected an Altar to Him, and put this singular Inscription upon it, To the unknown God: To shew, that according to their mode, they had some kind of reverence for Him: But how much more when they came to know Him? and to believe that God in all His greatness had engaged Himself to be theirs; and to bring them to Himself, that they might in time be partakers of His Glory.

Acts 17. 22. 25, 26, 27, 28.

31. Fifthly, THE more a man knows, or understands, of the greatness of God towards him, expressed here by the terms of unsearchable breadth, length, depth and heighth; the better will he be able in his heart to conceive of the excellent glory and greatness of the things that are laid up in the Heavens for them that fear Him. They that know nothing of this greatness, know nothing of them; they that think amiss of this greatness, think amiss of them; they that know but little of this greatness, know but little of them: But he that is able to comprehend with all Saints what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and heighth; he is best able to conceive of, and consequently to make a Judgment concerning the due worth and blessed glory of them.

This is both evident to reason, also experience confirmeth the same. For as for those dark Souls that know nothing of His greatness, they have in derision those who are thorow the splendour of the Glory, captivated and carried away after God. Also, those whose Judgments are corrupted, and themselves thereby made as Drunkards, to judge of things foolishly, they,

as it were, ſtep in the ſame ſteps with the other, and vainly imagin thereabout. Moreover we ſhall ſee thoſe little-ſpirited Chriſtians, though Chriſtians indeed, that are but in a ſmall meaſure acquainted with this God, with the breadths, and lengths, and depths, and heighths that are in him, taken but little with the glory and bleſſedneſs that they are to go to when they dye: wherefore they are neither ſo mortified to this world, ſo dead to ſin, ſo ſelf-denying, ſo delighted in the Book of God, nor ſo earneſt in deſires to be acquainted with the heighths, and depths that are therein. No, this is reſerved only for thoſe who are devoted thereto; who have been acquainted with God in a meaſure beyond that which your narrow-ſpirited Chriſtians underſtand. There doth want as to theſe things, inlargings in the hearts of the moſt of Saints, as there did in thoſe of Corinth, and alſo in thoſe at Epheſus; wherefore as Paul bids the one, and prays that the other may be inlarged, and have great knowledge thereabout: So we ſhould to anſwer ſuch love, through deſire ſeparate our ſelves from terrene things, that we may ſeek and intermeddle with all wiſdom.

Prov. 18. 1. Iſa. 28. 9. Chriſt ſays if any man will do his will he ſhall know of the doctrin. Oh, that we, were indeed inlarged as to theſe breadths, and lengths, and depths, and heighths of God, as the Apoſtle deſired the Epheſians might.

Sixthly, THEN thoſe great truths; the coming of Chriſt, the Reſurrection of the

32. 1 Cor. 15. 35. Dead, and eternal Judgment, would neither ſeem ſo like Fables, nor be ſo much off our hearts as they do, and are. For the thorow belief of them depends upon the knowledge of the abilities that are in God to perform what he has ſaid thereabout: and hence it is that your inferior ſort of Chriſtians live ſo like, as if none of theſe things were at hand; and hence it is again, that they ſo ſoon are ſhaken in mind about them when tempted of the Devil, or briskly aſſaulted by deceivers. But this cometh to paſs that there may be fulfiled what is writ ten: And while the bridegroom tarried, they all ſlumbred and ſlept. Surely, the mean-

Matt. 25. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7. ing is, they were a ſleep about his coming, the Reſurrection and the Judgment; and conſequently had loſt much of that knowledge of God, the which if they had retained, theſe truths, with power, would have been upon their hearts. The Corinthians were horribly decay-

1 Cor. 15. 34. ed here, though ſome more than others: Hence Paul, when he treats of this Doctrin, bids them awake to righteouſneſs, and not ſin, telling them, that ſome among them had not the knowledge of God. To be ſure they had not ſuch a knowledge of God as would keep them ſteddy in the faith of theſe things.

ver. 31. Now the knowledge of the things above

33. mentioned, to wit, this comprehending knowledge; will greaten theſe things, bring them near, and make them to be credited as are the greateſt of God's Truths: and the vertue of the Faith of them is, to make one dye daily. Therefore,

Seventhly, ANOTHER advantage that floweth from this knowledge, is that it makes the next world deſirable, not ſimply as it is with thoſe lean ſouls, that deſire it only as the Thief deſireth the Judges favour, that he may be ſaved from the Halter, but out of love ſuch have to God and to the beauties of the houſe he dwells in; and that they may be rid of this world, which is to ſuch as a dark Dungeon. The knowledge of God that men pretend they have, may eaſily be judged of, by the anſwerable or unanſwerableneſs of their hearts and lives thereto. Where is the man that groans earneſtly to be gone to God, that counts this life a ſtrait unto him: that ſaith as a ſick man of mine acquaintance did, when his friend at his Bedſide prayed to God to ſpare his life, no, no, ſaid he, pray not ſo, for 'tis better to be diſſolved and be gone. Chriſtians ſhould ſhew the world how they believe, not by words on Paper, not by gay and Jam. 2. 18 flouriſhing notions: but by thoſe deſires they have to be gone, and the proof that theſe deſires Phil 3. 20, are true, is a life in Heaven while we are on 21. earth. I know words are cheap, but a dram of Grace is worth all the world. But where, as I ſaid, ſhall it be found, not among carnal men, not among weak Chriſtians, but among thoſe, and thoſe only, that injoy a great meaſure of Paul's wiſh here. But to come to the ſecond part of the Text,

And to know the love of Chriſt which paſſeth knowledge. Theſe words are the ſecond part of the Text, and they deal mainly about the love of Chriſt, who is the Son of God. We have ſpoken already briefly of God, and therefore now we ſhall ſpeak alſo of his Son. Theſe words are a part of the prayer afore mentioned, and have ſomething of the ſame ſtrain in them. In the firſt part, he prays that they might comprehend that which cannot abſolutely by any means be comprehended: and here he prays that that might be known, which yet in the ſame breath he ſaith, paſſeth knowledge, to wit, the love of Chriſt. And to know the love Chriſt, which paſſeth knowledge.

In the words we are to take notice of three things. 34.

Firſt, OF the Love of Chriſt.

Secondly, OF the exceeding greatneſs of it.

Thirdly, OF the knowledge of it.

We will begin with the firſt of theſe, to wit, of the love of Chriſt. Now for the explication of this we muſt inquire into three things. 1. Who Chriſt is. 2. What love is. 3. What the love of Chriſt is.

Firſt, CHRIST is a perſon of no leſs quality than is he of whom we treated before: to wit, very God. So I ſay, not titularly, not Joh. 1. 1, 2. nominally, not ſo counterfeitly, but the ſelf ſame 1 Joh. 5. 7. in natnre with the Father. Wherefore what Phil. 2. 6. we have under conſideration, is ſo much the more to be taken notice of; namely, that a perſon ſo great, ſo high, ſo glorious, as this Jeſus Chriſt was, ſhould have love for us, that paſſes knowledge. It is common for Equals to love, and for Superiors to be beloved; but for the King of Princes, for the Son of God, for Jeſus Chriſt to love man thus: this is amazing. And that ſo much the more, for that man the object of this love, is ſo low, ſo mean, ſo vile, ſo undeſerving and ſo inconſiderable, as by the Scriptures every where he is deſcribed to be.

But to ſpeak a little more particularly of this Perſon. 1. He is called God. 2. The King of Pſal. 24. 10 Glory, and Lord of Glory. 3. The brightneſs 1 Cor. 2, 8. of the Glory of his Father. 4. The head over Heb. 1. 3. all Eph. 1. 22

Act. 3. 15. Colo. 1. 16. Heb. 1. 3. Mat. 28. chap. 11. all things. 5. The Prince of Life. 6. The Creator of all things. 7. The Upholder of all things. 8. The Disposer of all things. 9. The only Beloved of the Father.

But the persons of him beloved, are called Transgressors, Sinners, Enemies, Dust and Ashes, Fleas, Worms, Shadows, Vapors: vile, sinful, filthy, unclean; ungodly Fools, Madmen. And now is it not to be wondred at, and are we not to be affected here with, saying, And wilt thou set thine eye upon such an one? But how much more when he will set his heart upon us. And yet this great, this high, this glorious person verily, verily loveth such.

35. Secondly, We now come to the second thing, namely, to shew what is Love; not in a way of nice distinction of words, but in a plain and familiar Discourse, yet respecting the Love of the person under consideration.

Love ought to be considered with reference to the subject as well as to the object of it.

The subject of Love in the Text is Christ; but forasmuch as Love in Him is diverse from the Love that is in us; therefore it will not be amiss, if a little the difference be made appear.

1. Love in us is a passion of the Soul, and being such, is subject to ebb and flow, and to be extream both ways. For whatever is a passion of the Soul, whether Love or Hatred, Joy or Fear, is more apt to exceed, or come short, than to keep within its due bounds. Hence, oft-
2 Sam. 13. 15. times that which is loved to day is hated to
2. Tim. 6. 10. morrow; yea, and that which should be loved with bounds of moderation, is loved to the drowning of both Soul and Body in perdition and destruction.

2. Besides, Love in us is apt to chuse to it self undue and unlawful objects, and to reject those, that with leave of God, we may imbrace and enjoy; so unruly, as to the Laws and Rules of Divine Government, oft-times is this passion of Love in us.

3. Love in us, requires, that something pleasing and delightful be in the object loved, at least, so it must appear to the lust and fancy of the person loving, or else Love cannot act; for the Love that is in us, is not of power to set it self on work, where no allurement is in the thing to be beloved.

4. Love in us decays, though once never so warm and strongly fixed, if the object falls off, as to its first alluring provocation; or disappointeth our expectation with some unexpected reluctancy to our fancy or our mind.

All this we know to be true from nature, for every one of us are thus; nor can we refuse, or chuse as to Love, but upon, and after the rate, and the working thus of our Passions. Wherefore our Love, as we are natural, is weak, unorderly, fails and miscarries, either by being too much or too little; yea, though the thing which is beloved be allowed for an object of Love, both by the Law of Nature and Grace. We therefore must put a vast difference betwixt Love, as found in us, and Love as found in Christ, and that both as to the nature, principle, or object of Love.

36. Love in Christ is not Love of the same nature, as is Love in us: Love in Him is essential
1. Jo. 4. 16. to His Being; but in us it is not so, as has been already shewed. God is Love; Christ is God, therefore Christ is Love, Love naturally. Love therefore is essential to His Being. He may as well cease to be, as cease to love. Hence therefore it follows, that Love in Christ floweth not from so low and beggarly a principle, as doth Love in man; and consequently is not, nor can be attended with those infirmities or defects, that the Love of man is attended with.

1. It is not attended with those unruly or uncertain motions that ours is attended with: here is no ebbing, no flowing, no going beyond, no coming short; and so nothing of uncertainty. Having loved his own which were in the World, He loved them to the end. Joh. 13. 1.

True, there is a way of manifesting of this Love, which is suited to our capacities, as men, and by that we see it sometimes more, sometimes less: Also it is manifested to us as we do, or do not walk with God in this World. I speak now of Saints. Song 7. 11, 12. Jo. 14. 23.

2. Love in Christ pitcheth not it self upon undue or unlawful objects; nor refuseth to imbrace what by the Eternal Covenant is made capable thereof. It always acteth according to God; nor is there at any time the least shadow of swerving as to this.

3. Love in Christ requireth no taking beauteousness in the object to be beloved, as not being able to put forth it self without such attracting allurements. It can act of and from it self, without all such kind of dependencies. This is manifest to all who have the least true knowledge of what that object is in it self, on which the Lord Jesus has set His Heart to love them. Ezek. 16. 6, 8.

4. Love in Christ decays not, nor can be tempted so to do by any thing that happens, or that shall happen hereafter, in the object so beloved. But as this Love at first acts by, and from it self, so it continueth to do until all things that are imperfections, are compleatly and everlastingly subdued. The reason is, because Christ loves to make us comely, not because we are so. Ver. 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14.

Object. But all along Christ compareth His Love to ours; now, Why doth he so, if they be so much unlike? 37.

Answ. Because we know not Love but by the passions of Love that work in our Hearts; wherefore he condescends to our capacities, and speaketh of His Love to us, according as we find Love to work in our selves to others. Hence He sets forth His Love to us, by borrowing from us instances of our Love to Wife and Children. Eph. 5. 29. Yea, He sometimes sets forth His Love to us, by calling to our mind how sometimes a man loves a woman that is a Whore.

Go (saith God to the Prophet) love a Woman, (beloved of her friend, yet an Adultéress,) according to the word of the Lord toward the Children of Israel, who look to other Gods, and love Flagons of Wine. But then, these things must not be understood with respect to the nature, but the dispensations and manifestations of Love; no, nor with reference to these neither, any further than by making use of such suitable similitudes, thereby to commend his Love to us, and thereby to beget in us affections to him for the Love bestowed upon us. Hos. 3. 1.

Wherefore Christ his Love must be considered 38.
both

both with respect to the Essence, and also as to the divers workings of it. For the Essence thereof, it is as I said, natural with himself, and as such, it is the root and ground of all those actions of his, whereby he hath shewed that himself is loving to sinful man. But now, though the Love that is in him is essential to his Nature, and can vary no more than God himself: yet we see not this Love but by the fruits of it,
John 3.16 nor can it otherwise be discerned, Hereby perceive we the Love of God, because He laid down His Life for us. We must then betake our selves to the discoveries of this Love, of which there are two sorts.

1. Such as are the Foundations. 2. Such as are the consequences of those fundamental Acts.

Those which I call the Foundations, are they upon which all other discoveries of His Goodness depend, and they are two.

1. His dying for us. 2. His improving of His Death for us at the Right Hand of God. And this leads me to the third Particular, to wit, to shew you what the Love of Christ is; namely, in the Discovery of it.

And to know the Love of Christ.

39. The Love of Christ is made known unto us as I said, 1. By His dying for us. 2. By His improving of His dying for us.

His dying for us appears, 1. To be wonderful in it self. 2. In His Preparations for that Work.

First, It appears to be wonderful in it self, and that both with respect to the nature of that Death, as also, with respect to the persons for whom he so died.

The Love of Christ appears to be wonderful by the Death he died: In that He died, in that He died Such a Death. 'Twas strange Love in Christ that moved him to die for us: strange, because not according to the custom of the World. Men do not use, in cool bloud, deliberately to come upon the Stage or Ladder, to lay down their lives for others; but this did Jesus Christ, and that too for such, whose qualification, if it be duly considered, will make this Act of His, far more amazing, He laid
Rom. 5. down His Life for His enemies, and for those that could not abide Him; yea, for those, even for those that brought Him to the Cross:
Zec.12.10 not accidentally, or because it happened so, but knowingly, designedly, He knew it was for those He died, and yet His Love led Him to lay down His Life for them. I will add, That those very People for whom He laid down His Life, tho they by all sorts of carriages did what they could to provoke Him to Mat.26.53 pray to God His Father, that He would send and cut them off by the flaming Sword of Angels, would not be provoked, but would lay down His Life for them. Nor must I leave
Lu.22.19. off here: We never read that Jesus Christ
Matth. 26. 27, 30. was more chearful in all His Life on earth, than when He was going to lay down His Life for them, now He thanked God, now He sang.

But this is not all. He did not only die, but died such a Death as indeed cannot be expressed. He was content to be counted the Sinner: yea, to be counted the Sin of the sinner, nor could this but be odious to so holy a Lamb as He was: yet willing to be this and thus for that Love that he bare to Men.

This being thus, it follows, that His Sufferings must be unconceivable; for that, what in Justice was the proper Wages of Sin and Sinners, He must undergo; and what that was can no Man so well know as He himself and damned Spirits; for the proper Wages of sin, and of sinners for their sin, is that death which layeth pains, such pains which it deserveth, upon the Man that dieth so: but Christ died so, and consequently was seized by those pains not only in Body but in Soul. His Tears, Mar.15.39 Matth.27. 46. His Cries, His bloudy Sweat, the hiding of His Fathers Face; yea, Gods forsaking of him Lu.22.44. in His extremity, plainly enough declares the narure of the Death he died. For my part, I stand amazed at those that would not have the World believe, that the Death of Jesus Christ was, in it self, so terrible as it was.

I will not stand here to discourse of the 40. place called Hell, where the Spirits of the damned are, we are discoursing of the nature of Christs Sufferings: and I say, if Christ was put into the very capacity of one that must suffer what in Justice ought to be inflicted for sin; then, how we can so diminish the greatness of His Sufferings, as some do, without undervaluing of the greatness of his Love, I know not; and how they will answer it, I know not. And on the contrary, what if I should say, that the Soul of Christ suffered as long as his Body lay in the Grave, and that Gods loosing of the pains of Death at Christs Resurrection, must not so much be made mention of with reference to his Body, as to his Soul, if to his Body at all. For what pain Act. 2. 24. of death was his Body capable of, when his Soul was separate from it? and yet Gods loosing the pains of death, seems to be but an immediate antecedent to his rising from the dead. And this sence, Peter doth indeed seem ver. 25. to pursue, saying, For David speaketh concerning him; I foresaw the Lord always before my ver. 26. face, for he is on my right Hand that I should not be moved. Therefore did my Heart rejoyce, and my Tongue was glad; Moreover also, my ver. 27. Flesh shall rest in hope, Because thou wilt not leave my Soul in Hell, neither wilt thou suffer thine Holy One to see corruption. This, saith Peter, was not spoken of David, but he being a ver. 28. Prophet, and knowing that God had sworn with an Oath, that of the fruit of his Loins according to the Flesh he would raise up Christ to sit on his Throne: He seeing this before, spake of ver. 29. the Resurrection of Christ, that his Soul was not ver. 30. left in Hell, neither did his Flesh see Corruption. Thou wilt not leave my Soul in Hell; ver. 31. his Soul was not left in Hell. Of what use are 41. these expressions, if the Soul of Christ suffered not, if it suffered not when separated from the Body? for of that time the Apostle Peter seems to treat. Besides, if it be not improper to say, that Soul was not left there, that never was there, I am at a loss. Thou wilt not leave, his Soul was not left there; Ergo, It was there, seems to be the natural conclusion. If it be objected, that by Hell is meant the Grave; 'Tis foolish to think that the Soul of Christ lay there while his Body lay dead therein.

But

But again, the Apostle seems clearly to distinguish between the places where the Soul and Body of Christ was; counting his Body to be in the Grave, and his Soul, for the time, in Hell. If there be objected what was said by
Lu. 23. 43. him to the Thief upon the Cross, I can answer, Christ might speak that with reference to his God-head, and if so, that lies as no objection to what hath been insinuated. And why may not that be so understood, as well as where he
Joh. 3. 13. said, when on Earth, The Son of Man which is in Heaven, meaning himself. For the personality of the Son of God, call him Son of Man, or what other term is fitting, resideth not in the Acts 1. 25. humane, but divine Nature of Jesus Christ. However, since Hell is sometimes taken for the place, sometimes for the Grave, sometimes for the
Psa. 116. 3. state, and sometimes but for a figure of the place where the damned are tormented; I will not strictly assign to Christ the place, the Prison
Joh. 2. 2. where the damned Spirits are, but will say, as I said before, that he was put into the place of 1 Pet. 3. 19, Sinners, into the sins of Sinners, and received
20. what by Justice was the proper wages of Sin both in Body and Soul: As is evident from
Isa. 53. 10, that fifty third of Isaiah. This Soul of his I
1. take to be that which the inwards and the fat
Lev. 29. 13. of the burnt Sacrifices was a figure, or shadow
14. of. And the fat and the inwards were burnt up-
Lev. 8. 14, on the Altar, whilst the body was burned for sin
15, 16. without the Camp.

And now having said thus much, Wherein have I derogated from the Glory and Holiness of Christ? Yea, I have endeavoured to set forth something of the greatness of his Sorrows, the odiousness of Sin, the nature of Justice, and the love of Christ. And be sure, by how much the sufferings of the Son of God abounded for us, by so much was this unsearchable Love of Christ made manifest. Nor can they that would, before the People, pare away, and make but little these infinite Sufferings of our Lord, make his Love to be so great as they ought, let them use what Rhetorick they can. For their objecting the odious names and place of Hell, accounting it not to be fit to say, That so holy a Person as the Son of God was there. I answer, Though I have not asserted it, yet let me ask, Which is more odious, Hell or Sin? Or whether such think that Christ Jesus was subject to be tainted by the badness of the place, had he been there? Or whether, when the Scripture says, God is in Hell, it is any dis-
Psa. 139. 8. paragement to Him? Or if a Man should be so bold as to say so, Whether by so saying he confineth Christ to that place for ever? And whether by so thinking he has contradicted that called the Apostles Creed?

42. Secondly, HAVING thus spoken of the Death and Sufferings of Christ, I shall in the next place speak of His preparations for His so Suffering for us; and by so doing, yet shew you something more of the greatness of His Love.

Christ, as I have told you, was even before his sufferings, a person of no mean Generation, being the Son of the Eternal God: Neither had his Father any more such Sons but He; consequently he of right was Heir of all things, and
Col. 1. 16. so to have dominion over all Worlds. For, for Him were all things created. And hence all
Heb. 1. Creatures are subject to him; yea, the Angels of God worship Him. Wherefore, as so considered, He augmented not his state by becoming lower than the Angels for us. For what can be added to Him, that is naturally God. Indeed He did take, for our sakes, the humane Nature into union with Himself, and so began to manifest His Glory; and the kindness that He had for us before all Worlds, began now eminently to shew it self. Had this Christ of God, our Friend, given all He had to save us, Had not His Love been wonderful? But when He shall give for us Himself, this is more wonderful. But this is not all; the case was so 'twixt God and man, that this Son of God could not, as He was before the World was, give Himself a ransom for us, He being altogether incapable so to do, being such an one as could not be subject to Death, the condition that we by Sin had put our selves into.

Wherefore that which would have been a death to some, to wit, the laying aside of glory and becoming, of the King of Princes, a servant of the meanest form; this He of his own good-will was heartily content to do. Wherefore, He that once was the object of the fear of Angels, is now become a little Creature, a Psal. 22. 6. Luke 2. Chap. 4. Phil. 2. Worm, an inferiour one, born of a Woman, brought forth in a Stable, laid in a Manger, scorned of Men, tempted of Devils, was beholding to his Creatures for Food, for Raiment, for Harbour, and a place wherein to lay his head when dead. In a word, He made Himself of no reputation, took upon him the form of a Servant, and was made in the likeness of Men, that He might become capable to do this kindness for us. And 'tis worth your noting, That all the while that He was in the World, puting Himself upon those other Preparations which were to be antecedent to his being made a Sacrifice for us, no man, though he told what he came about to many, had, as we read of, an heart once to thank Him for what he came about. No, they railed on him, they degraded him, they called him Devil, they said he
Isa. 53. was mad, and a Deceiver, a blasphemer of God, and a Rebel against the State: They accused him to the Governour; yea, one of his Disciples sold him, another denied him, and they all forsook him, and left him to shift for himself in the hands of his horrible Enemies; who beat him with their Fists, spat on him, mocked him, crowned him with Thorns, scourged him, made a gazing-stock of him, and finally, hanged him up by the hands and the feet alive, and gave him Vinegar to increase his affliction, when he complained that his anguish had made him thirsty. And yet all this could not take his heart off the work of our Redemption. To die he came, die he would, and die he did before he made his return to the Father, for our Sins, that we might live thorow him.

Now may what we read of in the Word 43.
concerning those temporal sufferings that he underwent be over-looked, and passed by without serious consideration; they being apart of the curse that our Sin had deserved? For all temporal Plagues are due to our Sin while we live, live, as well as the curse of God to everlasting Perdition, when we die. Wherefore this is the reason why the whole Life of the Lord Jesus was such a life of affliction and sorrow, he therein bare our sicknesses, and took upon him our deserts: So that now the curse in Temporals, as well as the curse in Spirituals, and of everlasting malediction, is removed by him away from God's People; and since he overcame them, and got to the Cross, 'twas by reason of the worthiness of the humble obedience that he yielded to his Fathers Law in our Flesh. For his whole Life (as well as his Death) was a Life of merit and purchace, and desert. Hence it is said, He increased in favour with God. Luke 2. For his Works made him still more acceptable to him: For he standing in the room of Man, and becoming our Reconciler to God; by the Heavenly Majesty he was counted as such, and so got for us what he earned by his Mediatory works; and also partook thereof as he was our Head himself. And was there not in all these things Love, and Love that was infinite? Love which was not essential to his Divine Nature, could never have carried him thorow so great a work as this: Passions here would a failed, would a retreated, and have given the recoile; yea, his very humanity would here have flagged and fainted, had it not been managed, governed, and strengthened by his Eternal Spirit. Wherefore it is said, that thorow the Eternal Spirit he offered himself without spot to God. Heb. 9. 14. Rom. 1. 1, 2, 3. And that he was declared to be the Son of God, with so doing, and by the Resurrection from the dead.

We come now to the second thing propounded, and by which his Love is discovered, and that is his improving of his dying for us. But I must crave pardon of my Reader, if he thinks that I can discover the ten hundred thousandth part thereof, for it is impossible; but my meaning is, to give a few hints what beginnings of improvement he made thereof in order to his further progress therein.

44. First therefore, This his death for us, was so vertuous, that in the space of three days and three nights, it reconciled to God in the body of his Flesh as a common person, all, and every one of God's Elect. Christ, when he addressed himself to die, presented himself to the Justice of the Law, as a common Person; standing in the stead, place, and room of all that he undertook for; Mat. 20. 28 1 Tim. 1. He gave his Life a ransom for many. He came into the World to save Sinners. And as he thus presented himself, so God, his Father, admitted him to this work; and therefore it is said, Isa. 53. 4, 6, 15. The Lord laid upon him the Iniquities of us all: And again, Surely he hath born our Griefs, and carried our sorrows. Hence it unavoidably follows, that whatever he felt, and underwent in the manner, or nature, or horribleness of the death he died, he felt and underwent all as a common Person; that is, as he stood in the stead of others: Therefore it is said, He was wounded for our Transgressions, and bruised for our Iniquities; and that the chastizement of our Peace was upon him. Verse 5. 1 Pet 3. 18. And again, the just died for the unjust.

Now then, if he presented himself as a common person to Justice, if God so admitted and accounted him, if also he laid the sins of the People, whose persons he represented, upon him, and under that consideration punishes him with those punishments and deaths, that he died. Then Christ in Life and Death is concluded by the Father to live and die as a common or publick person, representing all in this Life and Death, for whom he undertook thus to Live, and thus to die. So then, it must needs be, that what next befalls this common person, it befalls him with respect to them in whose room and place he stood and suffered. Now, the next that follows, is, that he is justified of God: That is, acquitted and discharged from this punishment, for the sake of the worthiness of his Death and Merits; for that must be before he could be raised from the dead: God raised him not up as guilty, to justifie him afterwards: His Resurrection was the declaration of his precedent Justification. He was raised from the dead, because it was neither in equity or justice possible that he should be helden longer there, his Merits procured the contrary. Acts 2. 24.

Now he was condemned of God's Law, and died by the hand of Justice, he was acquitted by God's Law, and justified of Justice; and all as a common Person; so then, in his acquiting, we are acquitted, in his Justification we are Justified; and therefore the Apostle applieth God's Justifying of Christ to himself; and that rightly. For if Christ be my Undertaker, will stand in my place, and do for me, 'tis but reasonable that I should be a partaker: Wherefore we are also said to be quickned together with him: That is, when he was quickned in the Grave; raised up together, and made to sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus. Therefore another Scripture saith, He hath quickned us together with him, having forgiven us all Trespasses. Eph. 2. 5, 6. Col. 2. 13. This quickning, must not be understood of the Renovation of our Hearts, but of the restoring of Jesus Christ to life after he was crucified; and we are said to be quickned together with him, because we were quickned in him at his death, and were to fall or stand by him quite thorow the three days and three nights work; and were to take therefore our lot with him: Wherefore 'tis said again, That his Resurrection is our Justification. That by one Offering he has purged our sins for ever; and that by his death he hath delivered us from the wrath to come. Rom. 4 25 Heb 10. 12 1 Thes. 1. 10. But I say, I would be understood aright: This Life resideth yet in the Son, and is communicated from him to us, as we are called to believe his word; mean while we are secured from Wrath and Hell, being justified in his Justification, quickned in his Quickning, raised up in his Resurrection; and made to sit already together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus!

Isa. 50. 8. Rom. 8, 33, 34.

And is not this a glorious Improvement of his death, that after two days the whole body of the Elect, in him, should be revived, and that in the third day we should live in the sight of God, in, and by him. Heb. 6. 1, 2, 3.

Secondly, Another Improvement of his death for us, was this, By that he slew for us, our infernal Foes; by it he abolished death; by death he destroyed him that had the power of death: By death he took away the Sting of death; by death he made death a pleasant sleep to Saints, and the Grave, for a while, an easie house and home for the body. By death he made death such an advantage to us, that it is become a means of transſlating of the ſouls of them that 1 Cor. 3. 22. believe in him, to life. And all this is manifeſt, for that death is ours, a bleſſing to us, as well as Paul and Apollo, the world and life it ſelf. And that all this is done for us by his death, is apparent, for that his perſon is where it is, and that by himſelf as a common

Heb. 2. 6, 7, 8, 9. perſon he has got the victory for us. For though as yet all things are not put under our feet, yet we ſee Jeſus crowned with honour and glory, who by the grace of God taſted death for every man. For it became God for whom are all things, and by whom are all things, to make the Captain of their Salvation perfect through ſufferings. It became him; that is, it was but Juſt and Right he ſhould do ſo, if there was enough in the vertuouſneſs of his death and blood to require ſuch a thing. But there was ſo. Wherefore God has exalted him, and us in him, above theſe infernal Foes. Let us therefore ſee our ſelves delivered from death firſt, by the exaltation of our Jeſus, let us behold him I ſay as crowned with Glory and Honour, as, or becauſe, he taſted death for us. And then we ſhall ſee our ſelves already in Heaven by our Head, our Undertaker, our Jeſus, our Saviour.

47. Thirdly, ANOTHER improvement that has already been made of his death for us, is thus, he hath at his entrance into the preſence of God, for his worthineſs ſake, obtained that the Holy Ghoſt ſhould be given unto him for us, that we by that might in all things, yet to be done, be made meet to be partakers perſonally in our ſelves, as well as vertually by our head and forerunner, of the inheritance of the Saints in light. Wherefore the abundant pourings out of that was forborn until the Reſurrection and Glorification of our Lord Jeſus.
Joh. 7. 39. For the holy ghoſt was not yet given, becauſe that Jeſus was not yet glorified. Nor was it given ſo ſoon as received: for he received it upon his entring into the holy place, when he had ſprinkled the Mercy-ſeat with the blood of Acts 4. chap. 2. 32, 33. ſprinkling, but it was not given out to us till ſome time after: However it was obtained before. And it was meet that it ſhould in that infinite immeaſurableneſs in which he received it, firſt abide upon him, that his human nature, which was the firſt fruits of the election of God, might receive by its abidings upon him, that glory for which it was ordained; and that we might receive, as we receive all other things, firſt by our head and undertaker, ſanctification in the fulneſs of it. Hence it is written, that as he is made unto us of God wiſ-
1 Cor. 1. 30. dom and righteouſneſs, and redemption, ſo ſanctification too: for firſt we are ſanctified in his fleſh, as we are juſtified by his righteouſneſs. Wherefore he is that holy one that ſetteth us, in himſelf, a holy lump before God, not only with reference to Juſtification and Life, but with reference to Sanctification and Holineſs: For we that are Elect, are all conſidered in him as he has received that, as well as in that he has taken poſſeſſion of the Heaven for us. I count not this all the benefit that accrueth to us by Jeſus his receiving the Holy Ghoſt, at his entrance into the preſence of God for us: for we alſo are to receive it our ſelves from him, according as by God we are placed in the body at the times appointed of the Father. That we, as was ſaid, may receive perſonal quickning, perſonal Renovation, perſonal Sanctification; and in concluſion, Glory. But I ſay, for that he hath received this holy ſpirit to himſelf, he received it as the effect of his Aſcenſion, which was the effect of his Reſurection, and of the merit of his Death and Paſſion. And he received it as a common perſon, as a Head, and Undertaker for the people.

Fourthly, ANOTHER improvement 48.
that has been made of his Death, and of the Merits thereof for us, is that he has obtained to be made of God, the chief and high Lord of Heaven and Earth, for us. (All this while we ſpeak of the exaltation of the human nature, in, by, and with which, the Son of God became capable to be our reconciler unto God) All things, ſaith he, are delivered unto me of Philip. 2.
my Father: And all power in heaven and earth is given unto me, and all this becauſe he died. He humbled himſelf, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the Croſs: Wherefore God hath highly exalted him, and given him a name above every name, that at the name of Jeſus every knee ſhould bow, of things in Heaven, of things in Earth, or things under the Earth; and that every tongue ſhall confeſs that Jeſus Chriſt is Lord, to the glory of God Ephef. 1.
the Father. And all this is, as was ſaid afore, for our ſakes. He has given him to be head over all things to the Church.

Wherefore, who ever is ſet up on earth, they are ſet up by our Lord. By me, ſaith he, kings reign, and princes decree juſtice. By me Prov. 8. 15, 16.

as he is ſaid to be head over all things in general; ſo to his Church in ſpecial.

Fifthly, ANOTHER improvement that he hath made of his death for us, is, he hath obtained, and received into his own hand ſufficiency of gifts to make Miniſters for his Church withall. I ſay, to make and maintain, in oppoſition to all that would hinder, a ſufficient miniſtry. Wherefore he ſaith when he aſcended on high, he led captivity captive, and gave 1 Cor. 12.

Prophets, ſome Evangeliſts, ſome Paſtors and Teachers; for the perfecting of the Saints, for the

the work of the Miniſtry, for ediſying of the Body of Chriſt: till we all come in the unity of the Faith, and knowledge of the Son of God unto a perfect man, unto the meaſure of the ſtature of the fullneſs of Chriſt. Many ways has Satan deviſed to bring into contempt this bleſſed advantage that Chriſt has received of God for the benefit of his Church; partly while he ſtirs up perſons to revile the ſufficiency of the Holy Ghoſt, as to this thing: partly whil he ſtirs up his own Limbs and Members, to broach his deluſions in the world, in the name of Chriſt, and as they blaſphemouſly call it by the aſſiſtance of the holy Ghoſt: partly while he tempteth Novices in their Faith, to ſtudy and labour in nice diſtinctions, and the affecting of uncouth expreſſions, that vary from the form of ſound words, thereby to get aplauſe, and a name, a forerunner of their own deſtruction.

But, notwithſtanding all this, wiſdom is juſtified of her children: and at the laſt day, when the outſide, and inſide of all things ſhall be ſeen and compared, it will appear that the Son of God has ſo managed his own Servants in the miniſtry of his word, and ſo managed his word, while they have been labouring in it, as to put in his bleſſing by that, upon the ſouls of ſinners, & has blown away all other things as Chaff.

Joh. 3. 6.

Jam. 1. 18.

50. Sixthly, Another improvement that the Lord Chriſt has made of his death, for his, is the obtaining, and taking poſſeſſion of Heaven for them. By his own blood he has entered into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us. This Heaven! who knows what it is? This Glory! who knows what it is? It is called God's Throne, God's Houſe, God's Habitation; Paradiſe, the Kingdom of God, the high and holy place. Abraham's boſom, and the place of heavenly pleaſures in this Heaven is to be found, the face of God for ever: Immortality, the perſon of Chriſt, the Prophets, the Angels, the revelation of all Myſteries, the knowledge of all the Elect, Eternity.

Heb. 9. 12. Matt. 23. 22. Joh. 14. 1. 2 Cor. 12. 4. Iſa. 57. 15. Luk. 16. 22. Pſal. 16. 11 Pſal. 41. 12

Of this Heaven, as was ſaid afore, we are poſſeſſed already, we are in it, we are ſet down in it, and partake already of the benefits thereof, but all by our Head and Undertaker; and 'tis fit that we ſhould believe this, rejoyce in this, talk of this, tell one another of this, and live in the expectation of our own perſonal injoyment of it. And as we ſhould do all this, ſo we ſhould bleſs and praiſe the name of God who has put over this houſe, this kingdom, and inheritance into the hand of ſo faithful a friend. Yea, a Brother, a Saviour and bleſſed Undertaker for us. And laſtly, ſince all theſe things already mentioned, are the fruit of the ſufferings of our Jeſus, and his ſufferings the fruit of that love of his that paſſeth knowledge: how ſhould we bow the knee before him, and call him tender Father; yea, how ſhould we love and obey him, and devote our ſelves unto his ſervice, and be willing to be alſo ſufferers for his ſake, to whom be honour and glory for ever. And thus much of the love of Chriſt in general.

51. I might here add many other things, but as I told you before, we would under the head but now touched upon, treat about the fundamentals or great and chief parts thereof, and then the exceeding greatneſs of it more particularly: wherefore of that we muſt ſay ſomething now.

And to know the love of Chriſt, which paſſes knowledge. In that it is ſaid to paſs knowledge, 'tis manifeſt it is exceeding great, or greatly going beyond what can be known; for to exceed, is to go beyond, be above, or to be out of the reach of what would comprehend that which is ſo.

And ſince the expreſſion is abſolutely indefinite, and reſpecteth not the knowledge of this or the other Creature only: it is manifeſt, that Paul by his thus ſaying, challengeth all creatures in Heaven and Earth to find out the bottom of this love if they can. The love of Chriſt which paſſeth knowledge. I will add, that for as much as he is indefinite alſo about the knowledge, as well as about the perſons knowing, 'tis out of doubt that he here ingageth all knowledge, in what enlargements, attainments, improvements, and heighths ſoever it hath, or may for ever attain unto. It paſſeth knowledge.

Ephes. 3. 8.

Of the ſame import alſo is that other paſſage of the Apoſtle a little above in the ſelf ſame Chapter. I preach, ſaith he, among the Gentiles the unſearchable riches of Chriſt: or thoſe riches of Chriſt that cannot by ſearching, be found out in the all of them: The riches, the riches of his love and grace. The riches of his love, and grace towards us. For ye know the grace of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, that though he was rich, yet for your ſakes he became poor, that ye through his poverty might be made rich. Ye know the grace, that is ſo far, and ſo far every Believer knows it: for that his leaving Heaven and taking upon him fleſh, that he might bring us thither, is manifeſt to all. But yet, all the grace that was wrapped up in that amazing condeſcenſion, knoweth none, nor can know: for if that might be, that poſſibility would be a flat contradiction to the Text: The love of Chriſt which paſſeth knowledge. Wherefore the riches of this love in the utmoſt of it, is not, cannot be known by any: let their underſtanding and knowledge, be heighthened and improved what it may. Yea, and being heighthened and improved, let what ſearch there can by it be made into this love and grace. That which is afar off, and exceeding deep, who can find out? And that this love of Chriſt is ſo, ſhall anon be made more apparent. But at preſent we will proceed to particular challenges for the making out of this, and then we will urge thoſe reaſons that will be for the further confirmation of the whole.

2 Cor. 8. 9. Eccl. 7. 24.

52. 1. This love paſſes the knowledge of the wiſeſt Saint, we now ſingle out the greateſt proficient in this knowledge; and to confirm this, I need go no further than to the man that ſpake theſe words; to wit, Paul, for in his concluſion he includes himſelf. The love of Chriſt which paſſeth knowledge, even my knowledge. As who ſhould ſay: Though I have waded a great way in the grace of Chriſt, and have as much experience of his love as any He in all the world, yet I confeſs my ſelf ſhort, as to the fulneſs that is therein, nor will I ſtick to conclude of any other, That he knows nothing yet as he ought to know.

1 Cor. 8. 2. chap. 13. 12.

2. This Love passeth the knowledge of all the Saints, were it all put together, we, we all, and every one, did we each of us contribute for the manifesting of this Love, what it is, the whole of what we know, it would amount but to a broken knowledge; we know but in part, we see darkly, we walk not by sight, but faith. True, now we speak of Saints on earth.

1 Cor. 13. 9 — 12
2 Cor. 5. 7.

3. But we will speak of Saints in Heaven; they cannot to the utmost, know this Love of Christ. For though they know more thereof than Saints on earth, because they are more in the open Visions of it, and also are more enlarged, being Spirits perfect, than we on earth. Yet, to say no more now, they do not see the rich and unsearchable runnings out thereof unto sinners here on earth. Nor may they there measure that, to others, by what they themselves knew of it here. For Sins, and Times and Persons and other circumstances, may much alter the case, but were all the Saints on Earth, and all the Saints in Heaven to contribute all that they know of this Love of Christ, and to put it into one sum of knowledge, they would greatly come short of knowing the utmost of this Love, for that there is an infinite deal of this Love, yet unknown by them. 'Tis said plainly, that they on Earth do not yet know what they shall be. And as for them in Heaven, they are not yet made perfect as they shall be. Besides, we find the Souls under the Altar, how perfect now soever, when compared with that state they were in when with the body; yet are not able in all points, tho' in glory, to know, and so to govern themselves there without directions. I say, they are not able, without directions and instructions, to know the kinds and manner of workings of the Love of Christ towards us that dwell on Earth.

4. We will joyn with these, the Angels, and when all of them, with Men, have put all and every whit of what they know of this Love of Christ together, they must come far short of reaching to, or of understanding the utmost bound thereof. I grant, that Angels do know, in some certain parts of knowledge of the love of Christ, more than Saints on Earth can know while here; but then again, I know that even they do also learn many things of Saints on Earth, which shews that themselves know also but in part; so then, All, as yet, as to this love of Christ, and the utmost knowledge of it, are but as so many imperfects, nor can they all, put all their imperfects together, make up a perfect knowledge of this love of Christ; for the Texts do yet stand where they did, and say, his riches are unsearchable, and his love that which passeth knowledge. We will come now to shew you besides what has been already touched on, the reason why this riches is unsearchable, and that love such as passeth knowledge; and the

Eph. 3. 10.
1 Pe. 1. 12.

53. First is, Because It is Eternal. All that is eternal, has attending of it, as to the utmost knowledge of it, a fourfold impossibility.

1. It is without beginning. 2. It is without end. 3. It is infinite. 4. It is incomprehensible.

1. It is without beginning; That which was before the World was, is without a beginning, but the love of Christ was before the World. This is evident from Proverbs the eighth, His Delights, before God had made the World, are there said to be, with the Sons of Men. Not that we then had being, for we were as yet increated; but though we had not Beings created, we had being in his love and affections of Jesus Christ. Now this love of Christ must needs, as to the fulness of it, as to the utmost of it, be absolutely unknown to Man. Who can tell how many heart-pleasing thoughts Christ had of us before the World began? Who can tell how much he then was delighted in that being we had in his affections; as also, in the consideration of our Beings, Believings, and being with him afterwards.

Prov. 8.

In general we may conclude, it was great; for there seems to be a parallel betwixt his Fathers delights in Him, and his delights in us. I was daily his delight, and my delights were with the Sons of Men. But I say, who can tell, who can tell altogether, what and how much the Father delighted in his Son before the World began? Who can tell what kind of delight the Father had in the Son before the World began? Why there seems to be a parallel betwixt the Fathers love to Christ, and Christs love to us; the Fathers delight in Christ, and his delight in us. Yea, Christ confirms it saying, As my Father hath loved me, so have I loved you, continue ye in my love. I know that I am not yet upon the nature of the word eternal; yet since, by eternal, we understand, before the World began, as well as forward, to an endless for ever: We may a little enquire of Folks as they may read, if they can tell the kind or measure of the love wherewith Christ then loved us. I remember the question that God asked Job, Where, saith he, wast thou when I laid the foundation of the earth? declare it if thou hast understanding: Thereby insinuating that because it was done before he had his being, therefore he could not tell how it was done. Now, if a work so visible, as the Creation is, is yet as to the manner of the workmanship therefore wholly unknown to them that commenced in their Beings afterwards: How shall that which has, in all the circumstances of it, bin more hidden and inward, be found out by them that have intelligence thereof by the ear, and but in part, and that in a Mystery, and long afterwards. But to conclude this, That which is eternal is without all beginning. This was presented to consideration before, and therefore it cannot to perfection be known.

54. Prov. 8. 22. 30. 31.

Joh. 15. 9.

Job 38. 4.

2. That which is eternal is without end, and how can an endless thing be known, that which has no end has no middle, wherefore it is impossible that the one half of the Love that Christ has for His Church should ever by them be known. I know that those Visions that the saved shall have in Heaven of this Love, will far transcend our utmost knowledge here, even as far as the light of the Sun at Noon, goes beyond the light of a blinking Candle at Midnight: and hence it is, that when the days of those Visions are come, the knowledge that we now have, shall be swallowed up. When that which is perfect is come, then that which is in part shall be done away. And altho he speaks here of perfections, when that which is perfect is come, &c.

55. 1 Co. 13. 10.

yet even that perfection muſt not be thought to be ſuch as is the perfection of God; for then ſhould all that are ſaved be ſo many eternals, and ſo many infinites, as he is infinite. But the meaning is, we ſhall then be with the eternal, ſhall immediately enjoy him with all the perfection of knowledge, as far as is poſſible for a creature, when he is wrought up to the utmoſt heighth that his created ſubſtance will bear to be capable of. But for all that, this peofection will yet come ſhort of the perfectirn of him that made him, and conſequently, ſhort of knowing the utmoſt of his Love; ſince that in the root is his very Eſſence and Nature. I know it ſays alſo, that we ſhall know even as we are known. But yet this muſt not be underſtood, as if we ſhould know God as fully as he knows us. It would be folly and madneſs ſo to conclude; but the meaning is, we are known for happineſs; we are known of God, for Heaven and Felicity; and when that which is perfect is come, then ſhall we perfectly know, and enjoy that for which we are now known of God. And
56. this is that which the Apoſtle longed for, name-
Phil. 3. 12. ly, If by any means, he might apprehend that for which he was alſo apprehended of Chriſt Jeſus. That is, know, and ſee that, unto the which he was appointed of God and apprehended of Chriſt Jeſus. 'Tis ſaid again, We ſhall be like
1 Joh. 3. 2. him, and ſhall ſee him as he is. This Text has reſpect to the Son, as to his Humanity, and not as to his Divinity. And not as ſo his Divinity, ſimply, or diſtinctly conſidered; for as to that, it is as poſſible for a Spirit to drink up the Sea, as for the moſt enlarged Saint that is, or ever ſhall be in Glory, ſo to ſee God as to know him altogether, to the utmoſt, or throughout. But the Humanity of the Son of God, we ſhall ſee throughout, in all the Beauty and Glory that is upon him; and that was prepared for him before the Foundation of the World. And Chriſt
Joh. 17. 24 will that wee ſee this Glory, when he takes us up in Glory to Himſelf; but the utmoſt boundleſneſs of the Divine Majeſty, the Eternal Deity of the Son of God, cannot be known to the utmoſt or altogether. I do not doubt, but that there will then in Him, I mean in Chriſt, and in us, break forth thoſe glorious Rays and Beams
1 The. 1. 10 of the Eternal Majeſty, as will make Him in in each of us admirable one to another; And that then, that of God ſhall be known of us, that now never entered into our hearts to think of. But the whole, is not, cannot, ſhall never be fully known of any. And therefore the Love of Chriſt, it being eſſential to Himſelf, cannot be known becauſe of the endleſneſs that is in it. I ſaid before, that which has no end, has no middle, how then ſhall thoſe that ſhall be in Heaven eternally, ever paſs over half the breadth
57. of Eternity. True, I know that all Enjoyments there will be Enjoyments Eternal. Yea, that whatever we ſhall there imbrace, or what imbraces we ſhall be imbraced with, ſhall be eternal; but I put a difference betwixt that which is eternal, as to the nature, and that which is ſo as to the durableneſs thereof. The nature of eternal things we ſhall enjoy, ſo ſoon as ever we come to Heaven, but the duration of eternal things, them we ſhall never be able to paſs through, for they are endleſs. So then, the eternal Love of Chriſt, as to the nature of it, will be perfectly known of Saints, when they ſhall dwell in Heaven; but the endleſneſs thereof they ſhall never attain unto. And this will be their happineſs. For could it be, that we ſhould in Heaven ever reach the end of our Bleſſedneſs; (as we ſhould, could we reach to the end of this love of Chriſt) why then, as the ſaying is, We ſhould be at the Lands-end, and feel the bottom of all our enjoyments. Beſides, whatſoever has an end, has a time to decay, and to ceaſe to be, as well as to have a time to ſhew forth its higheſt excellencies. Wherefore, from all theſe conſiderations it is moſt manifeſt, that the love of Chriſt is unſearchable, and that it paſſes knowledge.

Now the other two things follow of courſe, to wit, That this love is infinite and incomprehenſible. Wherefore here is that that ſtill is above and beyond even thoſe that are arrived to the utmoſt of their perfections. And this, if I may ſo ſay, will keep them in an employ, even when they are in Heaven; though not an imploy that is laborſome, tireſome, burthenſome, yet an imploy that is dutiful, delightful and profitable; for although the work and worſhip of Saints in Heaven is not particularly revealed as yet, and ſo it doth not yet appear what we ſhall be, yet in the general we may ſay, there will be that for them to do, that has not yet by them bin done, and by that work which they ſhall do there, their delight will be delight unto them. The Law was the ſhadow and not

Luke 9. 29 30, 31, 32. ſon to believe. It may be ſaid, They there reſt from their labours. True, but not from their delights. All things then that once were burthenſome, whether in ſuffering or ſervice, ſhall be done away, and that which is delightful and pleaſurable ſhall remain. But then will be a time to receive, and not to work. True, if by work you mean ſuch as we now count work; but what if our work be there, to receive and bleſs. The fiſhes in the Sea do drink, ſwim and drink. But for a further diſcourſe of this, let that alone till we come thither. But to come down again into the World, for now we are talking of things aloft;

Secondly, This love of Chriſt muſt needs be beyond our knowledge, becauſe we cannot poſsibly know the utmoſt of our ſin. Sin is that which ſets out, and off, the knowledge of the love of Chriſt. There are four things that muſt be ſpoken to for the clearing of this.

59.

1. The nature of Sin. 2. The aggravations of Sin. 3. The utmoſt tendencies of Sin. 4. And the perfect knowledge of all this.

Firſt, Before we can know this love of Chriſt, as afore, we muſt neceſſarily know the nature of Sin, that is, what Sin is, what Sin is in it

ſelf. But no man knows the nature of Sin to the full; not what Sin in it ſelf is, to the full. The Apoſtle ſaith, That Sin, (that is in it ſelf) is ex-
Rom. 7. 13. ceeding ſinful. That is, Exceeding it as to its filthineſs, goes beyond our knowledge: But this is ſeen by the Commandment. Now the reaſon why none can, to the full, know the horrible nature of Sin, is becauſe none, to the full, can know the bleſſed nature of the bleſſed God. For Sin is the oppoſite to God. There is nothing that ſeeketh abſolutely, and in its own nature to overcome, and to annihilate God, but Sin, and Sin doth ſo. Sin is worſe than the Devil; he therefore that is more afraid of the Devil than of Sin, knows not the badneſs of Sin as he ought; nor but little of the Love of Jeſus Chriſt. He that knows not what Sin would have done to the World, had not Chriſt ſtept betwixt thoſe harms and it, How can he know ſo much as the extent of the Love of Chriſt in common? And he that knows not what Sin would have done to him in particular, had not Chriſt, the Lord, ſtept in and ſaved, cannot know the utmoſt of the Love of Chriſt to him in particular. Sin therefore in the utmoſt evil of it, cannot be known of us: So conſequently the Love of Chriſt in the utmoſt goodneſs of it, cannot be known of us.

60. Beſides, There are many Sins committed by us, dropping from us, and that pollute us, that we are not at all aware of; How then ſhould we know that Love of Chriſt by which we are delivered from them? Lord who can underſtand
Pſa. 19. 12. his Errors? ſaid David. Conſequently, who can underſtand the Love that ſaves him from them? Moreover, he that knows the Love of Chriſt to the full, muſt alſo know to the full that Wrath and Anger of God that, like Hell it ſelf, burneth againſt Sinners for the ſake of Sin: But this knows none. Lord, who knows the
Pſa. 90. 11. power of thine Anger? ſaid Moſes. Therefore none knows this Love of Chriſt to the full. The nature of Sin is to get into our good, to mix it ſelf with our good, to lie lurking many times under the formality and ſhew of good; and that ſo cloſe, ſo cunningly, and inviſibly, that the party concerned, imbraces it for Vertue, and knows not otherwiſe to do; and yet from this he is ſaved by the Love of Chriſt; and therefore, as was hinted but now, if a man doth not know the nature of his wound, How ſhould he know the nature and excellency of the Balſam that hath cured him of his Wound.

61. Secondly, There are the due aggravations that belong to Sin, which Men are unacquainted
Jer. 2. Chap. 3. with; it was one of the great things that the Prophets were concerned with from God towards Ezek. 16. the People, (as to ſhew them their Sins, ſo) to ſhew them what aggravations did belong thereto.

There are Sins againſt Light, Sins againſt Knowledge, Sins againſt Love, Sins againſt Learning, Sins againſt Threatnings, Sins againſt Promiſes, Vows and Reſolutions, Sins againſt Experience, Sins againſt Examples of Anger, and Sins that have great, and high, and ſtrange aggravations attending of them; the which we are ignorant of, though not altogether, yet in too great a meaſure. Now if theſe things be ſo How can the Love that ſaveth us from them be known or underſtood to the full?

Alas! our ignorance of theſe things is manifeſt by our unwillingneſs to abide Affliction, by our ſecret murmuring under the hand of God; by our wondring why we are ſo chaſtized as we are, by our thinking long that the Affliction is no ſooner removed.

Or, if our ignorance of the vileneſs of our actions is not manifeſt this way, yet it is in our lightneſs under our guilt, our ſlight thoughts of our doings, our ſlovenly doing of Duties, and asking of forgiveneſs after ſome evil or unbecoming Actions. 'Tis to no boot to be particular, the whole courſe of our lives doth too fully make it manifeſt, that we are wonderful ſhort in knowing both the nature, and alſo the aggravations of our Sins: And how then ſhould we know that Love of Chriſt in its full dimenſions, by which we are ſaved and delivered therefrom?

62. Thirdly, Who knows the utmoſt tendencies of Sin? I mean, what the leaſt Sin driveth at, and what it would unavoidably run the Sinner into. There is not a Plague, a Judgment, an Affliction, an Evil, under Heaven, that the leaſt of our Tranſgreſſions has not called for at the hands of the great God! Nay, the leaſt Sin calleth for all the diſtreſſes that are under Heaven to fall upon the Soul and Body of the Sinner at once. This is plain, for that the leaſt Sin deſerveth Hell; which is worſe than all the Plagues that are on Earth. But I ſay, Who underſtandeth this? And I ſay again, If one Sin, the leaſt Sin, deſerveth all theſe things, What thinkeſt thou do all thy Sins deſerve? How many Judgments! how many Plagues! how many Laſhes with God's Iron Whip doſt thou deſerve? Beſides, there is Hell it ſelf, the place it ſelf, the Fire it ſelf, the nature of the Torments, and the durableneſs of them, who can underſtand?

But this is not all, the tendencies of thy Sins are to kill others. Men, good Men little think how many of their Neighbours one of their Sins may kill. As, how many good Men and good Women do unawares, through their uncircumſpectneſs, drive their own Children down into the deep? We will eaſily count them very hard-hearted Sinners that uſed to offer their Pſal. 106. 36, 37. Children in Sacrifice to Devils; when 'tis eaſie to do worſe our ſelves: They did but kill the Body, but we Body and Soul in Hell, if we have not a care.

Do we know how our Sins provoke God? how they grieve the Holy Ghoſt? how they weaken our Graces? how they ſpoil our Prayers? how they weaken Faith? how they tempt Chriſt to be aſhamed of us? and how they hold back good from us? And if we know not every one of all theſe things to the full; How ſhall we know to the full the Love of Chriſt which ſaveth us from them all?

63. Again, Thirdly, But who has the perfect knowledge of all theſe things? I will grant that ſome good Souls may have waded a great way in ſome one, or more of them; but I know that there is not any that thorowly know them all. And yet the Love of Chriſt doth ſave us from all, notwithſtanding all the vileneſs and Soul-damning Vertue that is in them. Alas! how ſhort are we of the knowledge of our ſelves, and of what is in us. How many are there that do not know that man conſiſteth of a body made of duſt, and of an immortal ſoul? Yea, and how many be there of thoſe that confeſs it? that know not the conſtitution of either. I will add, how many are there that profeſs themſelves to be ſtudents of theſe two parts of man, that have oftentimes proved themſelves to be but fools as to both? And I will conclude that there is not a man under Heaven that knoweth it all together: For man Pſal. 139. 14 is fearfully and wonderfully made: Nor can the manner of the Union of theſe two parts be perfectly found out. How much more then muſt we needs be at loſs as to the fullneſs of the knowledge of the love of Chriſt?

64. But Thirdly, He that altogether knoweth the love of Chriſt, muſt, precedent to that, know not only all the wiles of the Devil; but alſo all the Plottings, Contrivings and deſigns and attempts of that wicked one; yea, he muſt know, all the times that he hath been with God, Job 1. Chap. 2. together with all the motions that he has made Luk. 22. 31 that he might have leave to fall upon us, as upon Job, and Peter, to try if he might ſwallow us up. But who knows all this? no Man, no Angel. For, if the heart of man be ſo deep, that none, by all his actions, ſave God, can tell the utmoſt ſecrets that are therein; how ſhould the heart of Angels, which in all likelihood are deeper, be found out by any mortal man. And yet this muſt be found out before we can find out the utmoſt of the love of Chriſt to us. I conclude therefore from all theſe things, that the love of Chriſt paſſeth knowledge: or that by no means, the bottom, the utmoſt bounds thereof can be underſtood.

65. Fourthly, He that will preſume to ſay, this love of Chriſt can be to the utmoſt known by us, muſt preſume to ſay that he knoweth the utmoſt of the Merits of his blood, the utmoſt exerciſe of his Patience, the utmoſt of his Interceſſion, the utmoſt of the Glory that he has prepared and taken poſſeſſion of for us. But I preſume that there is none that can know all this, therefore I may without any fear aſſert, there is none that knows, that is, that knows to the full the other.

66. We come now more particularly to ſpeak of the knowledge of the love of Chriſt; we have ſpoken of the love of Chriſt; to wit, of the exceeding greatneſs of it: And now we come to ſpeak of the knowledge of it; that is to ſay, we will ſhew what knowledge of it is attainable in this world, under theſe three heads. As to this,

1. It may be known as to the nature of it.
2. It may be known in many of the degrees of it.
3. But the greateſt knowledge that we can have of it here, is to know that it paſſes knowledge.

Firſt, We may know it in the nature of it. That is, that it is love free, Divine, Heavenly, everlaſting Incorruptible. And this no love is, but the love of Chriſt; all other love is either love Corruptible, Tranſient, Mixed, or Earthly. It is Divine, for 'tis the love of the holy Nature of God. It is Heavenly, for that it is from above: It is everlaſting, for that it has no end: It is immortal, for that there is not the apperance of corruptibleneſs in it, or likelyhood of decay.

This is general knowledge, and this is common among the Saints, at leaſtwiſe in the notion of it. Though I confeſs, it is hard in time of temptation, practically to hold faſt the ſoul to all theſe things. But, as I have ſaid already, this love of Chriſt muſt be ſuch, becauſe love in the root of it, is eſſential to his Nature, as alſo I have proved now, as is the root, ſuch is the branches; and as is the ſpring, ſuch are the ſtreams, unleſs the chanels in which thoſe ſtreams do run, ſhould be corrupted, and ſo defile it; but I know no channels through which this Love of Chriſt is conveyed unto us, but thoſe made in his ſide, his hands, and his feet, &c. Or thoſe gracious promiſes that dropt like Honey from his holy Lips, in the day of his Love, in which he ſpake them: And ſeeing his Love is conveyed to us, as through thoſe Channels, and ſo by the Conduit of the holy and bleſſed Spirit of God, to our Hearts, it cannot be that it ſhould hitherto be corrupted. I know the Ciſterns, to wit, our Hearts, into which it is conveyed, are unclean, and may take away much, through the damp that they may put upon it, of the native ſavour and ſweetneſs thereof. I know alſo, that there are thoſe that tread down, and muddy Ezek. 34. thoſe ſtreams with their Feet; but yet neither 18, 19. the Love, nor the Channels in which it runs, ſhould bear the blame of this. And I hope thoſe that are Saints indeed, will not only be preſerved to Eternal Life, but nouriſhed with this that is incorruptible unto the day of Chriſt.

67. I told you before, that in the hour of Temptation, it will be hard for the Soul to hold faſt to theſe things; that is, to the true deſinition of this Love; for then, or at ſuch ſeaſons, it will not be admitted that the Love of Chriſt is either tranſient, or mixed; but we count that we cannot be loved long, unleſs ſomething better than yet we ſee in us, be found there, as an inducement to Chriſt to love, and to continue Iſa. 64. 6. to love our poor Souls. But theſe the Chriſtian at length gets over; for he ſees, by expe- Deut. 9. 5. rience, he hath no ſuch inducement; alſo, that Ezek. 16. Chriſt loves freely, and not for, or becauſe of 60, 61, 62, 63. ſuch poor, ſilly, imaginary Inticements. Thus Chap. 36. therefore the Love of Chriſt may be known, 25, 26. 23. that is, in the nature of it: It may, I ſay, but 28. 29. 31. not eaſily. For this knowledge is neither eaſily 32, 33. got, though got, nor eaſily retained, though 2 Cor. 5. 14. retained. There is nothing that Satan ſetteth himſelf more againſt, than the breaking forth of the Love of Chriſt in its own proper, native luſter. For he knows it deſtroys his Kingdom, which ſtandeth in Prophaneneſs, in Errors and Deluſions, the only deſtruction of which is the knowledge of this Love of Chriſt. What mean thoſe ſwarms of Opinions that are in the World? What is the reaſon that ſome are carried about, as Clouds, with a Tempeſt? What mean Mens waverings, Mens changing, and enterchanging Truth for Error, and one Error for another? Why, this is the thing, the Devil is in it. This work is his, and he makes this a-do, to make a duſt; and a duſt to darken the Light of the Goſpel withal. And if he once once attaineth to that, then farewell the true knowledge of the love of Christ.

68. Also he will assault the spirits of Christians with divers and sundry cogitations, such as shall have in them a tendency to darken the Judgment, delude the fancy, to abuse the conscience. He has an art to metamorphize all things. He can make God seem to be to us, a most fierce and terrible destroyer; and Christ a terrible exacter of obedience, and most amazingly pinching of his love. He can make supposed sins unpardonable; and unpardonable ones, appear as vertues. He can make the Law to be received for Gospel; and cause that the Gospel shall be thrown away as a Fable. He can perswade, that Faith is fancy, and that fancy is the best Faith in the world. Besides, he can tickle the heart with false hope, of a better life hereafter, even as if the love of Christ were
Rom. 5. there. But as I said afore, from all these things the true love of Christ in the right knowledge of it, delivereth those that have it shed abroad in the heart by the holy Ghost that he
Joh. 15 9. hath given. Wherefore it is for this purpose that Christ biddeth us to continue in his love: because the right knowledge, and faith of that to the soul, disperseth, and driveth away all such foggs, and mists of darkness; and makes the soul to sit fast in the promise of eternal life by him; yea, and to grow up into him who is the head, in all things.

Before I leave this head, I will present my Reader with these things, as helps to the knowledge of the love of Christ. I mean the knowledge of the nature of it, and as helps to retain it.

69. First, Know thy self, what a vile, horrible, abominable sinner thou art: for thou canst not know the love of Christ, before thou knowest the badness of thy nature. O wretched
Ro 7. man that I am, must be, before a man can perceive the nature of the love of Christ. He that sees himself but little, will hardly know much of the love of Christ: He that sees of himself nothing at all, will hardly ever see any thing of the love of Christ. But he that sees most of what an abominable wretch he is, He is like to see most of what is the love of Christ. All errors in doctrine take their rise from the want of this (I mean errors in doctrine as to Justification.) All the idolizing of mens vertues, and humane inventions, riseth also from the want of this. So then if a man would be kept sure and stedfast, let him labour before all things to know his own wretchedness. People naturally think that the knowledge of their sins is the way to destroy them; when in very deed, it is the first step to salvation. Now if thou wouldst know the badness of thy self, begin in the first place, to study the Law, then thy heart, and so thy life. The Law thou must look in-
Jam. 1.25. to, for that's the glass; thy heart thou must look upon, for that's the face; thy life thou must look upon, for that's the body of a man, as to Religion. And without the wary consideration of these three, 'tis not to be thought that a man can come at the knowlede of himvers. 26, 27 self, and consequently to the knowledge of the love of Christ.

Secondly, Labour to see the emptiness, shortness, and the pollution that cleaveth to a mans own righteousness. This also must in some measure be known, before a man can know the nature of the love of Christ. They that see nothing of the loathsomeness of mans best things, will think, that the love of Christ is of that nature as to be procured, or won, obtained or purchased by mans good deeds. And although so much Gospel light is broke forth as to stop mens mouths from saying this, yet 'tis nothing else but sound conviction of the vileness of mans righteousness, that will inable men to see that the love of Christ is of that nature, as to save a man without it; as to see that it is of that nature as to justifie him without it: I say, without it, or not at all. There is shortness, there is hypocrisie, there is a desire of vain glory, there is pride, there is presumption in mans own righteousness: nor can it be without these wickednesses, when men know not the nature of the love of Christ. Now these defile it, and make it abominable. Yea, if there were no imperfection in it, but that which I first did mention, to wit, shortness; how could it cover the nakedness of him that hath it, or obtain for the man, in whole or in part, that Christ should love, and have respect unto him.

70. Occasions many thou hast given thee to see the emptiness of mans own righteousness, but all will not do unless thou hast help from Heaven: wherefore thy wisdom will be, if thou canst tell where to find it, to lye in the way of God, that when he comes to visit the men that wait upon him in the means of his own appointing, thou mayest be there; if perhaps he may cast an eye of pity upon thy desolate soul, and make the see the things above mentioned, That thou mayest know the nature of the love of Christ.

71. Thirdly, If thou wouldest know the nature of this love, be much in acquainting of thy soul with the nature of the Law, and the nature of the Gospel. The which though they
Gal. 3. 21. are not diametrically opposite one to another, yet do propound things so differently to man, that if he knows not where, when, and how to take them, 'tis impossible but that he should confound them, and in confounding of them,
Ro. 9. 31 32. chap. 10. 3. lose his own soul. The Law is a servant, both first and last, to the Gospel: when therefore it is made a Lord, it destroyeth: and then to be sure it is made a Lord and Saviour of, when it's Dictates and Commands are depended upon for life.

Thy wisdom therefore will be to study these things distinctly, and throughly; for so far as thou art ignorant of the true knowledge of the nature of these, so far thou art ignorant of the true knowledge of the nature of the love of Christ. Read Paul to the Galatians, that Epistle was indicted by the Holy Ghost, on purpose to direct the soul, in, and about this very thing.

72. Fourthly, The right knowledge of the nature of the love of Christ, is obtained, and retained, by keeping of these two doctrins at an everlasting Ephes. 3. 17. distance as to the Conscience; to wit, not suffering the Law to rule but over my outward man, man, not suffering the Gospel to be removed one hairs breadth from my Conscience. When Christ dwells in my heart by Faith, and the Moral Law dwells in my Members, the one to keep up peace with God, the other to keep my conversation in a good decorum: then am I right, and not till then.

Ephes. 3. 17. Col. 3. 5.

But this will not be done without much experience, diligence, and delight in Christ. For there is nothing that Satan more desireth, than that the Law may abide in the Conscience of an awakened Christian, and there take up the place of Christ, and Faith; for he knows if this may be obtained, the vail is presently drawn over the face of the soul, and the heart darkned as to the knowledge of Christ; and being darkned, the man is driven into despair of mercy, or is put upon it to work for life. There is therefore, as I said, much diligence required of him that will keep these two in their places assigned them of God. I say much diligent study of the word, diligent prayer; with diligence to walk with God in the world. But we will pass this, and come to the second Head.

2 Cor. 3. 13, 14, 15.

73. Secondly, As the love of Christ may be known in the nature of it, so it may be known in many degrees of it. That which is knowable, admits of degrees of knowledge: the love of Christ is knowable. Again, that which is not possible to be known to the utmost, is to be known, we know not how much; and therefore they that seek to know it, should never be contented nor satisfied to what degree of the knowledge of it soever they attain; but still should be reaching forward, because there is more to be known of it before them. Brethren, said Paul, I count not my self to have apprehended (that is to the utmost) but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth to those things which are before, I press towards the mark for the price of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus.

Phil. 3. 13, 14.

74. I might here discourse of many things, since I am upon this Head of reaching after the knowledge of the love of Christ in many of the degrees of it. But I shall content my self with few.

Col. 2. 1, 2, 3.

First, He that would know the love of Christ in several degrees of it, must begin at his person, for in him dwells all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge. Nay, more; In him are hid all the treasures of wisdom, and knowledge in him; That is, in his person: For, for the Godhead of Christ, and our nature to be united in one person, is the highest mystery, and the first appearance of the love of Christ by himself, to the world. Here I say, lie hid the treasures of wisdom, and here, to the world, springs forth the riches of his love. That the eternal Word, for the salvation of sinners, should come down from Heaven and be made flesh, is an act of such condescension, a discovery of such love, that can never to the full be found out. Only here we may see love in him was deep, was broad, was long, and high: Let us therefore first begin here to learn to know the love of Christ, in the high degrees thereof.

1 Tim. 3. 16.

Joh. 1. 14.

1. Here, in the first place, we perceive love, in that the humane nature, the nature of man, not of Angels, is taken into Union with God. Who so could consider this, as it is possible for it to be considered, would stand amazed till he dyed with wonder. By this very act of the heavenly wisdom, we have an unconceiveable pledge of the love of Christ to man: for in that he hath taken into Union with himself our nature, what doth it signifie, but that he intendeth to take into union with himself our persons. For, for this very purpose did he assume our nature. Wherefore we read that in the flesh he took upon him, in that flesh he dyed for us, the Just for the Unjust, that he might bring us to God.

1 Pet. 3. 18.

2. As he was made flesh, so as was said afore, he became a publick or common person for us: and hereby is perceived another degree of his love; undertaking to do for his, what was not possible they should do for themselves, perfecting of righteousness to the very end of the Law, and doing for us to the reconciling of us unto his Father, and himself.

75.

Rom. 10. 3, 4. chap. 3. 24.

3. Herein also we may attain to another degree of knowledge of his love, by understanding that he has conquered, and so disabled our Foes, that they cannot now accomplish their designed enmity upon us: but that when Satan, Death, the Grave and Sin have done to his people, what ever can by them be done, we shall be still more than conquerors, though on our side be many disadvantages, through him that has loved us, over them.

chap. 5, 10. Ehpes. 5. 25, 26, 27. Rom. 8. 37.

4. By this also we may yet see more of his love, in that as aforerunner, he is gone into Heaven to take possession thereof for us: there to make ready, and to prepare for us our Summer-Houses, our Mansion, dwelling places. As if we were the Lords, and he the Servant! Oh this love!

Heb. 6. 20. Joh. 14. 1, 2, 3.

5. Also we may see another degree of his love, in this, that now, in his absence, he has sent the third person in the Trinity to supply his place as another Comforter of us, that we may not think he has forgot us, nor be left destitute of a revealer of truth unto us. Yea, he has sent him to fortifie our spirits and to strengthen us under all adversity, and against our enemies of what account, or degree soever.

Joh. 16. 7. 8. chap. 15. 26. chap. 14. 16. Luk. 21. 15

76. 6 In this also we may see yet more of the love of Christ, in that though he is in Heaven and we on Earth: nothing can happen to his people to hurt them, but he feels it, is touched with it, and counteth it as done unto himself: yea, sympathizes with them, and is afflicted, and grieved in their griefs, and their afflictions.

7. Another thing by which also yet more of the love of Christ is made manifest, and so may by us be known, is this: He is now, and has been ever since his Ascension into Glory, laying out himself as High-Priest for us, that by the improving of his Merits before the Throne of Grace, in way of Intercession, he might preserve us from the ruins that our daily infirmities would bring upon us: yea, and make our persons and performances acceptable in his Fathers sight.

Heb. 7. 2, 4, 25. chap. 8. 12 Rom. 5. 10. 1 Pet. 2. 5.

Joh 17.24 8. We also see yet more of his love by this, that he will have us where himself is, that we may behold and be partakers of his glory. And in this degree of his love, there are many loves.

Mat. 25. 6. 10. 1. Then he will come for us, as a Bridegroom for his Bride.

Revel. 19. 6, 7. Col. 3. 3. 2. Then shall a publick marriage be solemnized, and eternized betwixt him and his Church.

Mat. 25. 31, 32. chap. 13. 41. 3 Then she shall be wrapped up in his Mantles and Robes of Glory.

1 Cor. 6. 2, 3. 4 Then they shall be separated, and separated from other sinners, and all things that offend shall be taken away from among them.

5. Then shall they be exalted to Thrones, and power of judgment; and shall also sit in Judgment on sinful men and fallen Angels, acquiescing, by vertue of authority, with their King and head, upon them.

Luk. 20. 35. 36. 6. Then or from thence forth for ever, there shall be no more death, sorrow, hidings of his face, or eclipsing of their glory for ever.

7. And thus you may see what rounds this our Jacob's Ladder hath, and how by them we may clime, and clime, even untill we are climed up to Heaven: but now we are set again; for all the glories, all the benefits, all the blessings, and all the good things that are laid up in Heaven for these; who can understand?

77. Secondly, A second thing whereby the love of Christ in some degrees of it may be known, is this: That he should pass by Angels and take hold of us. Who so considereth the nature of spirits, as they are Gods workmanship, must needs confess, that as such, they have a preheminency above that which is made of dust: This then was the disparity 'twixt us and them; they being, by birth, far more noble than we. But now, when both are fallen, and by our fall, both in a state of condemnation, that Jesus Christ should chuse to take up us, the most inconsiderable, and pass by them, to their eternal perdition and destruction: O love! love in a high degree to

Heb. 2.16. man: For verily he took not hold of Angels, but of the seed of Abraham he took hold. Yet this is not all: In all probability this Lord Jesus has ten times as much to do now he has undertaken to be our Saviour, as he would have had, had he step'd over us and taken hold on them.

1. He needed not to have stooped so low as to take flesh upon him; theirs being a more noble nature.

2. Nor would he in all likelyhood, have met with those contempts, those scorns, those reproaches and undervaluings from them, as he has all along received in this his undertaking, and met with from sinful flesh. For they were more noble than we, and would sooner have perceived the design of Grace, and so one would think more readily have fallen in therewith, than such darkness as we were, and still by sin are.

3. They would not have had those disadvantages as we, for that they would not have had a tempter, a destroyer, so strong and mighty as ours is. Alas! had God left us, and taken them, though we should have been never so full of envy against their Salvation; yet being but flesh, what could we have done to them to have laid obstacles in the way of their Faith and Hope, as they can and do in ours?

4. They, it may fairly be presumed, had they been taken and we left, and made partakers in our steed, while we had been shut out, as they are, would not have put Christ so to it, now in Heaven (pray bear with the expression, because I want a better) as we by our imperfections have done and do. Sin, methinks, would not have so hanged in their natures as it doth in ours: their reason, and sence, and apprehensions being more quick, and so more apt to have been taken with this love of Christ, and by it more easily have been sanctified.

5. The Law which they have broken, being not so intricate as that against which we have offended, theirs being a commandment with faithfulness to abide in the place in which their Creator had set them; methinks, considering also the aptness of their natures as Angels, would not have made their compleat obedience so difficult. 78.

6. Nor can I imagine, but, had they been taken, they, as Creatures excelling in strength, would have been more capable of rendering these praises and blessings to God for eternal mercies, than such poor sorry Creatures as we are, could. But! behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the children of God. That we, not they, that we notwithstanding all that they have, or could have done to hinder it, should be called the Children of God. 1 Joh. 3. 1

This therefore is an high degree of the love of Jesus Christ to us, that when we and they were, fallen he should stoop and take up us, the more ignoble, and leave so mighty a creature in his sins to perish.

Thirdly, A third thing whereby the love of Christ in some of the degrees of it may be known, will be to consider more particularly the way, and unwearied work that he hath with man to bring him to that kingdom, that by his blood he hath obtained for him.

1. Man, when the Lord Jesus takes him in hand to make him partaker of the benefit, is found an enemy to his Redeemer; nor doth all the intelligence that he has had of the grace and love of Christ to such, mollifie him at all, to wit, before the day of God's power comes. And this is a strange thing. Had man, though he could not have come to Christ, been willing that Christ should have come to him, it had been something; it would have shewn that he had taken his Grace to heart, and considered of it: Yea, and that he was willing to be a sharer in it. But verily here is no such thing; man, though he has free will, yet is willing by no means to be saved God's way, to wit, by Jesus Christ, before (as was said before) the day of God's power comes upon him. When the good Shepherd went to look for his Sheep that was lost, in the Wilderness, and had found it: did it go one step homewards upon its own legs? did not the Shepherd take Rom. 4. 5. chap. 5. 8, 9, 10. Luk. 15.

take her and lay her upon his shoulder, and bring her home rejoycing. This then is not love only, but love to a degree.

79. 2. When man is taken, and laid under the day of Gods power: when Christ is opening his ear to discipline, and speaking to him that his heart may receive instruction; many times that poor man is, as if the Devil had found him, and not God. How frenzily he imagins? how crossly he thinks? how ungainly he carries it under Convictions, Counsels, and his present apprehension of things? I know some are more powerfully dealt withall, and more strongly bound at first by the world; but others more in an ordinary manner, that the flesh and reason may be seen, to the glory of Christ. Yea, and where the will is made more quickly to comply with its salvation, 'tis no thanks to the sinner at all. 'Tis the day of the power of the Lord that has made the work so soon to appear. Therefore count this an act of love, in the heighth of love; love in a great degree.

Joh. 4. 18. chap. 15. 15.

3. When Christ Jesus has made this mad man to come to himself, and perswaded him to be willing to accept of his salvation: yet he may not be trusted, nor left alone, for then the corruptions that still lie scattering up and down in his flesh will tempt him to it, and he will be gone, yea, so desperately wicked is the flesh of Saints, that should they be left to themselves but a little while, none knows what horrible transgressions would break out. Proof of this we have to amazement, plentifully scattered here and there in the word. Hence we have the patience of God, and his gentleness so admired: for through that it is that they are preserved. He that keepeth Israel neither slumbers nor sleeps, but watches for them, and over them every moment, for he knows else they will be hurt.

2 Chron. 32. 31. Psal. 121. 4. Isa. 27. 3.

4. Yea, notwithstanding this, how often are Saints found playing Truant, and lurking like Thieves in one hole or other. Now in the guilt of backsliding by the power of this, and then in filth by the power of that corruption. Yea, and when found in such decayings, and under such revoltings from God, how comonly do they hide their sin with Adam, and David, even untill their Saviour fireth out of their mouths a confession of the truth of their naughtiness. When I kept silence, said David (and yet he chose to keep silence after he had committed his wickedness) my bones waxed old through my roaring all the day long. For day and night, thy hand was heavy upon me, my moisture is turned into the drought of Summer. But why didst thou not confess what thou hadst done then? So I did, saith he, at last, and thou forgavest the iniquity of my sin.

Jer. 2. 26. Psal. 32. 3, 4. ver. 5.

80. 5. When the sins of Saints are so visible and apparent to others, that God for the vindication of his name and honour must punish them in the sight of others; yea, must do it, as he is just: Yet then for Christ's sake, he waveth such Judgments, and refuseth to inflict such punishments as naturally tend to their destruction, and chuseth to chastise them with such rods, and scourges as may do them good in the end; and that they may not be condemned with the world. Wherefore the Lord loves them, and they are blessed, whom he chastneth and teacheth out of his Law. And these things are love to a degree.

1 Cor. 11. 31, 32. Heb. 12. 5, 6, 7, 8. Psal. 94. 12.

6. That Christ should supply out of his fulness the beginnings of Grace in our Souls, and carry on that work of so great concern, and that which at times we have so little esteem of, is none of the least of the aggravations of the love of Christ to his people. And this work is as common as any of the works of Christ, and as necessary to our salvation, as is his righteousness, and the imputation thereof to our justification: for else how could we hold out to the end; and yet none else can be saved.

Mat 24. 13.

7. And that the love of Christ should be such to us that he will thus act, thus do to, and for us, with gladness; (as afore is manifest by the Parable of the lost Sheep) is another degree of his love towards us: and such an one too, as is none of the lowest rate. I have seen hot love, soon cold; and love that has continued to act, yet act towards the end, as the man that by running, and has run himself off his Legs, pants, and can hardly run any longer: but I never saw love like the love of Christ, who as a Gyant, and Bridegroom coming out of his Chamber, and as a strong man, rejoyceth to run his race. Loving higher and higher, stronger and stronger, I mean as to the lettings out of love, for he reserveth the best wine even till the last.

Psal. 19. 5. Joh. 2. 10.

8. I will conclude with this, that his love may be known in many degrees of it, by that sort of sinners whose salvation he most rejoyceth in, and that is in the salvation of the sinners that are of the biggest size: Great sinners, Jerusalem sinners, Samaritan sinners, Publican sinners. I might urge moreover, how he hath proportioned invitations, promises, and examples of his love, for the encouragement, and support of those whose souls would trust in him: by which also great degrees of his love may be understood. But we will come now to the third thing that was propounded.

81. Thirdly, But the greatest attainment that as to the understanding of the love of Christ, we can arrive to here, Is to know that it passes knowledge: And to know the love of Christ that passeth knowledge.

This truth discovereth it self,

1. By the Text it self, for the Apostle here, in this Prayer of his for the Ephesians, doth not only desire that they may know, but describeth that thing which he prays they may know, by this term, It passeth knowledge. And to know the love of Christ which passeth knowledge. As our reason and carnal imagination will be rudely, and unduely tampering with any thing of Christ, so more especially with the love and kindness of Christ: Judging and concluding that just such it is, and none other, as may be apprehended by them: yea, and will have a belief that just so, and no otherwise are the dimensions of this love; nor can it save beyond our carnal conceptions of it. Saying to the soul as Pharoah once did to Israel in another case, Let the Lord be with you as, I shall (judge it meet he should) let you go. We think Christ loves us no more, than we do think he can, and so conclude that his love is such as may by us be comprehended, or known to the utmost bounds thereof. But these are false conceptions, and this love of Christ that we think is such, is indeed none of the love of Christ, but a false image thereof, set before our eyes. I speak not now of weak knowledge, but of foolish and bold conclusions. A man through unbelief may think that Christ has no love for him, and yet Christ may love him with a love that passeth knowledg. But when men in the common course of their profession, will be always terminating here, that they know how, and how far Christ can love, and will thence be bold to conclude of their own safety and of the loss and ruin of all that are not in the same notions, opinions, formalities, or judgments as they: this is the worst and greatest of all. The Text therefore to rectifie those false and erroneous conclusions, says, it is a love that passeth knowledge.

And it will be worth our observation to take notice that men, erroneous men, do not put these limits so commonly to the Father and his love, as the Son, and his. Hence you have some that boast that God can save some who have not the knowledge of the person of the Mediator Jesus Christ the righteous; as the Heathens that have, and still do make a great improvement of the Law and Light of Nature: crying out with disdain against the narrowness, rigidness, censoriousness, and pride of those that think the contrary. Being not ashamed all the while to eclipse, to degrade, to lessen and undervalue the love of Jesus Christ: making of him and his undertakings to offer himself a Sacrifice to appease the Justice of God for our sins, but a thing indifferent, and in its own nature but as other smaller matters.

But all this while the Devil knows full well at what game he plays, for he knows that without Christ, without Faith in his blood, there is no remission of sins. Wherefore, saith he, let these men talk what they will of the greatness of the love of God as Creator, so they slight and undervalue the love of Christ as Mediator. And yet it is worth our consideration, that the greatness of the love of God is most expresst in his giving of Christ to be a Saviour, and in bestowing his benefits upon us that we may be happy through him.

But to return, The love of Christ that is so indeed, is love that passeth knowledge: and the best, and highest of our knowledge of it is, that we know it to be such.

82. Secondly, Because I find that at this point, the great men of God, of old, were wont to stop, be set, and beyond which they could not pass. 'Twas this that made Moses wonder. 'Twas this that made David cry out, How great and wonderful are the works of God? Thy thoughts to uswards, they cannot be reckoned up in order unto thee: if I should declare and speak of them, they are more than can be numbred. And again, How precious also are thy thoughts unto me, O God, how great is the sum of them? If I should count them they are more in number than the sand. And a little before, such knowledge is too wonderful for me. Isaiah saith, there hath not entred into the heart of man what God has prepared for them that wait for him. Ezekiel says, this is the River that cannot be passed over: And Micha, to the Sea; and Zechariah, to a Fountain, hath compared this unsearchable love. Wherefore the Apostles position, That the love of Christ is that which passeth knowledge, is a truth not to be doubted of: consequently, to know this, and that it is such, is the fartherst that we can go. This is to justifie God, who has said it, and to magnifie the Son, who has loved us with such a love: and the contrary is to dishonour him, to lessen him, and to make him a deficient Saviour. For suppose this should be true, that thou couldest to the utmost comprehend this love. Yet unless, by thy knowledge thou canst comprehend beyond all evil of sin, or beyond what any man sins, who shall be saved, can spread themselves or infect: thou must leave some pardonable man in an unpardonable condition. For that thou canst comprehend this love, and yet canst not comprehend that sin. This makes Christ a deficient Saviour. Besides, If thou comprehendest truly, the word that says, it passeth knowledge, has lost its sanctity, its truth.

Deut. 4. 31, 32, 34.
Psal. 40. 5.
Psal. 139. 17, 18.
ver. 6.
Isa. 64. 4.
Ezek. 47. 5.
Zech. 13. 1.

It must therefore be, that this love passeth knowledge; and that the highest pitch that a man by knowledge can attain unto, as to this, is to know that it passeth knowledge. My reason is, for that all degrees of love, be they never so high, or many, and high; yet, if we can comprehend them, rest in the bowels of our knowledge, for that only which is beyond us, is that which passeth knowledge. That which we can reach, cannot be the highest: and if a man thinks there is nothing beyond what he can reach, he has no more knowledge as to that: but if he knows that together with what he hath already reached, there is that which he cannot reach, before; then he has a knowledge for that also, even a knowledge, that it passeth knowledge. 'Tis true, a man that thus knoweth may have divers conjectures about that thing that is beyond his knowledge. Yea in reason it will be so, because he knows that there is something yet before him: but since the thing it self is truly beyond his knowledge, none of his conjectures about that thing may be counted knowledge. Or suppose a man that thus conjectureth, should hit right as to what he now conjectures, his right hitting about that thing may not be called knowledge: it is as yet to him but as an uncertain guess, and is still beyond his knowledge.

Quest. But, may some say, what good will it do a man to know that the love of Christ passeth knowledge? one would think that it should do one more good to believe that the knowledge of the whole love of Christ might be attainable. 83.

Answ. That there is an advantage in knowing that the love of Christ passeth knowledge; must not be questioned, for that the Apostle saith it doth. For to know what the holy word affirms, is profitable: nor would he pray that we might know that which passeth knowledge, were were there not, by our knowing of it, some help to be administred. But to shew you some of the advantages that will come to us by knowing that the love of Christ passeth knowledge.

First, By knowing of this, a child of God has in reserve for himself, at a day, when all that he otherwise knows, may be taken from him through the power of temptation. Sometimes a good man may be so put to it, that all that he knows comprehensively may be taken from him: to wit, the knowledge of the truth of his Faith, or that he has the grace of God in him, or the like, this I say may be taken from him. Now if at this time, he knows the love of Christ that passeth knowledge, he knows a way in all probability to be recovered again. For if Christ Jesus loves with a love that passeth knowledge: then, saith the soul, that is thus in the dark, he may love me yet, for ought I know, for I know that he loves with a love that passeth knowledge; and therefore I will not utterly despond. Yea, if Satan should attempt to question whether ever Christ Jesus will look upon me or no. The answer is, if I know the love that passes knowledge: but he may look upon me, (Satan) yea, and love and save me too, for ought I poor sinner know; for he loves with a love that passeth knowledge. If I be fallen into sin that lies hard upon me, and my Conscience fears, that for this there is no forgiveness. The help for a stay from utter despair is at hand: But there may, say I, for Christ loves, with a love that passeth knowledge. If Satan would dissuade me from praying to God, by suggesting as if Christ would not regard the stammering, and chattering prayer of mine. The answer is ready, but he may regard for ought I know; for he loves with a love that passeth knowledge. If the tempter doth suggest that thy tryals, and troubles, and afflictions, are so many that it is to be thought thou shalt never get beyond them. The answer is near, but for ought we know, Christ may carry me through them all, for he loves with a love that passeth knowledge. Thus I say, is relief at hand, and a help in reserve for the tempted, let their temptations be what they will. This therefore is the weapon that will baffle the Devil when all other weapons fail; for ought I know, Christ may save me, for he loves with a love that passes knowledge. Yea, suppose he should drive me to the worst of fears, and that is to doubt that I neither have nor shall have for ever the grace of God in my soul. The answer is at hand, but I have, or may have it, for Christ loves with a love that passeth knowledge. Thus therefore you may see that in this prayer of Paul, there is a great deal of good. He prayes, when he prayes that we might know the love of Christ that passeth knowledge: that we may have a help at hand, and relief against all the horrible temptations of the Devil. For this is a help at hand, a help that is ready to fall in with us, if there be yet remaining with us, but the least grain of right reasoning according to the nature of things. For if it be objected against a man that he is poor, because he has but a Groat in his Pocket; yet if he has an unknown deal of money in his Trunks, how easie is it for him to recover himself from that slander, by returning the knowledge of what he has, upon the Objector. This is the case, and thus it is, and will be with them that know the love of Christ that passeth knowledge. Wherefore, Secondly, By this knowledge, room is made for a Christian, and liberty is ministred unto him, to turn himself every way in all spiritual things. This is the Christians Rehoboth, that Well for which the Philistines have no heart to strive, and that which will cause that we be fruitful in the Land. 84. Gen. 26. 22.

If Christians know not with this knowledge, they walk in the World as if they were pinioned; or as if Fetters were hanged on their Heels. But this enlarges their steps under them: By the knowledge of this love they may walk at liberty, and their steps shall not be straitned. This is that which Solomon intends when he saith, Get Wisdom, and get Understanding---- Then when thou goest, thy Steps shall not be straitned, and when thou runnest, thou shalt not stumble. A Man that has only from hand to mouth, is oft put to it to know how to use his Penny, and comes off also, many times, but with an hungry Belly; but he that has, not only that, but always over and to spare, he is more at liberty, and can live in fulness, and far more like a Gentleman. There is a man has a Cistern, and that is full of Water: There is another also, that has his Cistern full, and withal, his Spring in his Yard; but a great Drought is upon the Land in which they dwell: I would now know, which of these two have the most advantage to live in their own minds at liberty, without fear of wanting Water? Why this is the case in hand. There is a Christian that knows Christ in all those degrees of his Love that are knowable, but he knoweth Christ nothing in His Love that passeth knowledge. There is another Christian, and he knows Christ, as the first, but withal, he also knows Him as to His Love that passeth knowledge. Pray now tell me, which of these two are likest to live most like a Christian, that is, like a spiritual Prince, and like him that possesseth all things? which has most advantage to live in godly largeness of heart, and is most at liberty in his mind? which of these two have the greatest advantage to believe, and the greatest engagements laid upon him to love the Lord Jesus? which of these have also most in readiness to resist the wiles of the Devil, and to subdue the power and prevalency of corruptions? 'Tis this, that makes men Fathers in Christianity. I write unto you, Fathers, because ye have known; I have written unto you Fathers because ye have known, why, have not others known? not so as the Fathers. The Fathers have known and known. They have known the love of Christ in those degrees of Love which are knowable, and have also known the love of Christ to be such which passeth knowledge. In my Fathers house is bread enough and to spare, was that that fetched the Prodigal home. And when Moses would speak an endless-all to Israel, for the comfort and stay of their Souls, he calls their God, The fountain of Jacob upon a land of Corn and Wine.

Thirdly,

85 Thirdly, By this knowledge, or knowing of the Philip. 3. Love of Christ which passeth knowledge, There is begot in Christians a greater desire to press forwards to that which is before them. What is the reason of all that sloth, carnal contentedness, and listlesness of Spirit in Christians, more than the ignorance of this. For he that thinks he knows what can be known, is beyond all reason that should induce him to seek yet after more. Now the love of Christ may be said, not to be knowable, upon a threefold account.

First, for that my knowledge is weak.

Secondly, for that my knowledge is imperfect!

Thirdly, or for that, though my knowledge be never so perfect, because the Love of Christ is eternal.

Prov. 2, 10. There is Love that is not to be apprehended by weak knowledge. Convince a man of this, and then, if the knowledge of what he already has, be truly sweet to his Soul, it will stir him up with great heartiness to desire to know what more of this is possible.

There is Love beyond what he knows already, who is indued with the most perfect knowledge, that man here may have. Now if what this man knows already of this Love is indeed sweet unto him; then it puts him upon hearty desires that his Soul may yet know more. And because there is no bound set to Man, how much he may know in this life thereof; therefore his desires, notwithstanding what he has attained, are yet kept alive, and in the pursuit after the knowledge of more of the Love of Christ. And God in old time has taken it so well at the hands of some of his, that their desires have been so great, That when, as I may say, they have known as much on Earth as is possible for them to know: (that is by ordinary means) he has come down to them in Visions and Revelations; or else taken them up to him for an hour or two into Paradise, that they might know, and then let them down again.

86. But this is not all, There is a knowledge of the Love of Christ, that we are by no means capable of until we be possessed of the Heavens. And I would know, if a man indeed loveth Christ, whether the belief of this be not one of the highest arguments that can be urged to make such an one weary of this World, that he may be with him. To such an one,
Phil. 1. 21, 22, 23. to live is Christ, and to die is gain. And to such an one, it is difficult to bring his mind to be content to stay here a longer time; except he be satisfied that Christ has still work for him here to do.

I will yet add, There is a Love of Christ, I will not say, that cannot be known, but I will say, that cannot be enjoyed; no, not by them now in Heaven (in soul) until the day of Judgment. And the knowledge of this, when it has possessed even men on earth, has made them choose 2 Cor. 5. 4. a day of Judgment, before a day of Death, that they might know what is beyond that state and knowledge which even the spirits of just Men made perfect, now do enjoy in Heaven. Wherefore, as I said at first, To know the love of Christ that passeth knowledge, is advantageous upon this account, It begetteth in Christians a great desire to reach, and press forward to that which is before.

One thing more, and then, as to this reason I have done. Even that Love of Christ that is absolutely unknowable, as to the utmost bound thereof because it is eternal, will be yet in the nature of it sweet and desireable, because we shall enjoy or be possessed of it so. This therefore, if there were no more, is enough, when known, to draw away the heart from things that are below, to it self.

87. Fourthly, The love that passeth knowledge, The knowledge of that is a very fruitful knowledge. It cannot be, but it must be fruitful. Some knowledge is empty, and alone, not attended with that good, and with those blessings wherewith this knowledge is attended. Did I say, it is fruitful? I will add, It is attended with the best fruit; it yieldeth the best Wine: It fills the soul with all the fulness of God. And to know the love of Christ which passeth knowledge, that ye may be filled with all the fulness of God. 2 John 9
God is in Christ, and makes himself known to us by the love of Christ. Whosoever transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God, for God is not to be found nor enjoyed, but in him, consequently, he that hath, and abideth in the doctrine of Christ, hath both the Father and the Son. Now, since there are degrees of knowledge of this doctrine, and since the highest degree of the knowledge of him, is to know that he has a love that passeth knowledge, it follows, that if he that has the least saving knowledge of this doctrine, hath God; He that hath the largest knowledge of it, has God much more, or, according to the Text, is filled with all the fulness of God. What this fulness of God should be, is best gathered from such sayings of the Holy Ghost, as come nearest to this, in language, filled,

Ro. 15. 14
1. Full of Goodness.
Acts 6. 5. chap. 7. 55. Heb. 6. 11. cha. 10. 22.
2. Full of Faith.
1 Pet. 1. 8. 1 Joh. 1. 4. Act. 9. 36, 37.
3. Full of the Holy Ghost.
4. Full of assurance of Faith.
5. Full of assurance of Hope.
6. Full of joy unspeakable, and full of glory.
Col. 1. 9. Eph. 5. 18. Phil. 1. 11.
7. Full of Joy.
8. Full of good Works.
9. Being filled with the knowledge of his Will.
10. Being filled with the Spirit.
11. Filled with the fruits of righteousness, which is by Jesus Christ to the glory and praise of God.

These things to be sure are included either for the cause or effect of this fulness. The cause they cannot be, for that is Gods, by his Holy Spirit. The effects therefore they are, for where ever God dwells in the degree intended in the Text, there is shewn in an eminent manner, by these things, what is the riches of the glory of his inheritance in the Saints. Eph. 1. 18
But these things dwell not in that measure specified by the Text, in any, but those who know the love of Christ which passeth knowledge.

88. But what a man is he that is filled with all these things! or that is, as we have it in the Text, filled with all the fulness of God! Such men are, at this day, wanting in the Churches. These are the men that sweeten Churches, and that that bring glory to God and to Religion. And knowledge will make us such, such knowledge as the Apostle here speaketh of.

I have now done, when I have spoken something by way of Use unto you, from what hath been said. And,

First, Is there such breadth, and length and depth, and heighth in God, for us? And is there toward us love in Christ that passeth knowledge? then this shews us, not only the greatness of the Majesty of the Father and the Son, but the great good will that is in their heart to them that receive their word.

God has ingaged the breadth, and length, and depth, and heighth of the love, the wisdom, the power, and truth that is in himself, for us; and Christ has loved us with a love that passeth knowledge. We may well say, Exod. 15. 11. Who is like thee, O Lord, among the Gods? or as another Prophet has it, Mic. 7. 18. Who is a God like unto thee, that pardoneth iniquity, and passeth by the transgressions of the remnant of his heritage; he retaineth not his anger for ever: because he delighteth in mercy. Yea, no words can sufficiently set forth the greatness of this love of God and his Son to us poor miserable sinners.

Secondly, Is there so great a heart for love, towards us, both in the Father and in the Son? then let us be much in the study and search after the greatness of this love. This is the sweetest study that a man can devote himself unto; because 'tis the study of the love of God and of Christ to man. Studies that yield far less profit than this, how close are they pursued, by some who have adapted themselves thereunto? Men do not use to count telling over of their money burthensom to them, nor yet the recounting of their Grounds, their Herds, and their Flocks, when they encrease. Why? the study of the unsearchable love of God in Christ to man, is better in it self, and yields more sweetness to the soul of man, than can ten thousand such things as but now are mentioned. I know the wise men of this world, of whom there are many, will say as to what I now press you unto, who can Psal. 4. 6, 7. shew us any good in it? But Lord lift thou up the light of thy countenance upon us. Thou hast put gladness in my heart, more than in the time that their Corn and their Wine increaseth: David also said that his meditation on the Lord should be sweet. Oh, there is in God and in his Son, that kindness for the sons of men, that, did they know it, they would like to retain the knowledge of it in their hearts. They would cry out as she did Song. 8. 6, 7, 8. of old; set me as a Seal upon thy heart, as a Seal upon thine arm: for love is strong as death. Every part, crumb, grain, or scrap of this knowledge, is to a Christian, as drops of hony are to sweet palated children, worth the gathering up, worth the puting to the taste to be relished. Yea; David says of the word which is the ground of knowledge: It is sweeter Psal. 19. 10. than hony or the hony comb. More, saith he, to be desired are they than gold, yea than much fine gold, sweeter also than hony or the hony comb. Why then do not Christians devote themselves to the meditation of this so heavenly, so goodly, so sweet and so comfortable a thing, that yieldeth such advantage to the soul? The reason is, these things are talked of, but not believed: did men believe what they say, when they speak so largely of the love of God, and the love of Jesus Christ, they would, they could not but meditate upon it. There are so many wonders in it, and men love to think of wonders. There is so much profit in it, and men love to think of that which yields them profit. But as I said, the belief of things are wanting. Belief of a thing will have strong effects, whether the ground for it be true, or false. As suppose one of you should, when you are at a neighbours house, believe that your own house is on fire, while your children are fast asleep in bed, though indeed there were no such thing: I will appeal to any of you if this belief would not make notable work with and upon your hearts. Let a man believe he shall be damned, though afterwards 'tis evident he believed a lie, yet what work did that belief make in that mans heart; even so, and much more the belief of heavenly things will work, because true and great, and most good; also, where they are indeed believed, their evidence is managed upon their spirit, by the power and glory of the holy Ghost it self: wherefore let us study these things.

Thirdly, Let us cast our selves upon this love: 90. no greater incouragement can be given us, than what is in the Text and about it. It is great, it is love that passeth knowledge. Men that are sensible of danger, are glad when they hear of such helps upon which they may boldly venture for escape. Why such an help and relief, the Text helpeth trembling and fearful Consciences to. Fear and trembling as to misery hereafter, can flow but from what we know, feel, or imagin: but the Text speaks of a love that is beyond that we can know, feel, or imagin, even of a love that passeth knowledge: consequently of a love that goes beyond all these. Besides, the Apostles conclusion upon this subject, plainly makes it manifest that this meaning which I have put upon the Text, is the mind of the Holy Ghost. Now unto him, saith he, that is able to do exceeding abundantly, above all that we ask or think, according to the power that worketh in us: unto him be glory in the Church by Christ Jesus throughout all ages, world without end. Amen. Ephes. 3. 20, 21. What can be more plain? what can be more full? what can be more suitable to the most desponding spirit in any man? He can do more than thou knowest he will, he can do more than thou thinkest he can. What dost thou think? why, I think, saith the sinner, that I am cast away. Well, but there are worse thoughts than these, therefore think again, Why? saith the sinner, I think that my sins are as many as the sins of all the world. Indeed this is a very black thought, but there are worse thoughts than this, therefore prethee think again. Why? I think, saith the sinner, that God is not able to pardon all my sins. Ay, now thou hast thought indeed. For this thought makes thee look more like a Devil than a man, and yet because thou art a man and not a Devil, see the conclusion on and the boundlesness of the love of thy God. He is able to do above all that we think! couldest thou (sinner) if thou hadst been allowed, thy self express what thou wouldest have expressed, the greatness of the love thou wantest, with words that could have suted thee better? for 'tis not said he can do above what we think, meaning our thinking at present: but above all we can think, meaning above the worst and most soul-dejecting thoughts that we have at any time. Some times the dejected have worse thoughts than at other times they have. Well, take them at their worst times, at times when they think, and think, till they

91. think themselves down into the very pangs of Hell; yet this word of the grace of God, is above them, and shews that he can yet recover and save these miserable people. And now I am upon this Subject, I will a little further walk and travel with the desponding ones, and will put a few words in their mouths for their help against temptations, that may come upon them hereafter. For as Satan follows such now, with charges and applications of guilt, so he may follow them with Interrogatories and Appeals. For he can tell how by Appeals as well as by charging of sin, to sink and drown the sinner, whose soul he has leave to ingage. Suppose therefore that some distressed man or woman, should after this way be ingaged, and Satan should with his interrogatories and appeals be busie with them to drive them to desperation. The Text last mentioned, to say nothing of the subject of our discourse, yields plenty of help for the relief of such a one. Says Satan, dost thou not know hat thou hast horribly sinned? Yes, says the soul, I do. Says Satan, Dost thou not know, That thou art one of the vilest in all the pack of Professors? Yes, says the soul, I do. Says Satan, doth not thy Conscience tell thee that thou art, and hast been more base than any of thy fellows can imagin thee to be. Yes, says the soul; my Conscience tells me so. Well, saith Satan, now will I come upon thee with my appeals. Art thou not a graceless wretch? Yes. Hast thou an heart to be sorry for this wickedness? No, not as I should. And albeit, saith Satan, thou praiest sometimes: yet is not thy heart possessed with a belief that God will not regard thee? Yes, says the sinner. Why then despair, and go hang thy self, saith the Devil. And now we are at the end of the thing designed, and driven at by Satan. But what shall I now do, says the sinner? I answer, take up the words of the Text against him, Christ loves with a love that passeth knowledge, and answereth him farther, saying, Satan, though I cannot think that God loves me, though I cannot think that God will save me; yet I will not yield to thee: for God can do more than I think he can. And whereas thou appealedst unto me if whether when I pray, my heart is not possessed with unbelief that God will not regard me; that shall not sink me neither, for God can do abundantly above what I ask or think. Thus this Text helpeth, where obstructions are put in against our believing, and thereby casting our selves upon the love of God in Christ for salvation.

And yet this is not all, for the Text, is yet 92.
more full: He is able to do abundantly more yea, exceeding abundantly more, or, above all that we ask or think: It is a Text made up of words, pickt and packt together by the Wisdom of God, pickt and packt together on purpose for the succour and relief of the tempted, that they may when in the midst of their distresses, cast themselves upon the Lord their God. He can do abundantly more than we ask. Oh, says the soul, that he would but do so much for me as I could ask him to do! How happy a man should I then be. Why, what wouldst thou ask for, Sinner? You may be sure, says the Soul, I would ask to be saved from my sins, I would ask for Faith in, and Love to Christ, I would ask to be preserved in this evil World, and ask to be glorified with Christ in Heaven. He that asketh for all this, doth indeed ask for much, and for more than Satan would have him believe that God is able or willing to bestow upon him; but mark, the Text doth not say, that God is able to do all that we can ask or think, but that he is able to do above all, yea abundantly above all, yea, exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think. What a Text is this! What a God have we! God foresaw the sins of his People, and what work the Devil would make with their hearts about them, and therefore to prevent their ruine by his temptation, he has thus largely, as you see, expressed his love by his Word. Let us therefore, as has been bidden us, make this good use of this doctrine of Grace, as to cast our selves upon this love of God in the times of distress and temptation.

Fourthly, Take heed of abusing this Love. 93.
This Exhortation seems needless; for love is such a thing, that one would think none could find in their heart to abuse. But for all that, I am of opinion, that there is nothing that is more abused among Professors this day, than is this love of God. There has of late more light about the love of Christ broke out, than formerly: every Boy now can talk of the love of Christ; but this love of Christ has not been rightly applied by Preachers, or else not rightly received by Professors. For never was this grace of Christ so turned into lasciviousness, as now. Now it is a practice among professors to learn to be vile, of the profane. Yea, and to plead for that vileness: nay, we will turn it the other way, now it is so that the profane do learn to be vile of those that profess (they teach the wicked ones their ways:) Jer. 2.33.
a thing that no good man should think on but with blushing Cheeks.

Jude speaketh of these people, and tells us Jud. 4. Tit. 1. 16.
that they, notwithstanding their profession, deny the only Lord God, and our Saviour Jesus Christ. They profess, saith Paul, that they know God, but in works they deny him, being abominable, disobedient, and to every good work reprobate.

But I say, let not this love of God and of 94.
Christ, be abused. 'Tis unnatural to abuse love. To abuse love, is a villany condemned of all, yea, to abuse love, is the most inexcusable sin of all. It is next the sin of Devils to abuse love, the love of God and of Christ.

And

And what ſays the Apoſtle? Becauſe they received not the love of the truth that they might be ſaved, therefore God ſhall ſend them ſtrong deluſions that they may believe a Ly, that they all may be damned, who believed not the truth, but had pleaſure in unrighteouſneſs. And what can ſuch an one ſay for himſelf in the Judgment, that ſhall be charged with the abuſe of love? Chriſtians, deny your ſelves, deny your luſts, deny the vanities of this preſent life, devote your ſelves to God; become lovers of God, lovers of his ways; and a people zealous of good works; then ſhall you ſhew one to another, and to all men, that you have not received the grace of God in vain. Renounce therefore the hidden things of diſhoneſty, walk not in craftineſs, nor handle Gods Word deceitfully, but by manifeſtation of the Truth, commend your ſelves to every mans Conſcience in the ſight of God. Do this, I ſay, yea, and ſo endeavour ſuch a cloſure with this love of God in Chriſt, as may graciouſly conſtrain you to do it, becauſe, when all proofs of the right receiving of this love of Chriſt ſhall be produced, none will be found of worth enough to juſtifie the ſimplicity of our profeſſion, but that which makes us zealous of good works. And what a thing will it be to be turned off at laſt, as one that abuſed the love of Chriſt! as one that preſumed upon his luſts, this world, and all manner of naughtineſs, becauſe the love of Chriſt to pardon ſins was ſo great! What an unthinking, what a diſingenuous one wilt thou be counted at that day! yea, thou wilt be found to be the man that made a prey of love, that made a ſtalking-Horſe of love, that made of love a ſlave to ſin, the Devil and the World, and will not that be bad?

Tit. 2. 14.

Read Eze. 16.

95 Fifthly, Is the love of God and of Chriſt ſo great? let us then labour to improve it to the utmoſt for our advantage, againſt all the hindrances of Faith.

To what purpoſe elſe is it revealed, made mention of, and commended to us? We are environed with many enemies, and Faith in the Love of God and of Chriſt, is our only ſuccour and ſhelter. Wherefore our duty and wiſdom and priviledge is, to improve this love for our own advantage. Improve it againſt daily infirmities, improve it againſt the wiles of the Devil; improve it againſt the threats, rage, death and deſtruction, that the men of this World continually with their terrour ſet before you. But how muſt that be done? why, ſet this love and the ſafety that is in it, before thine eyes; and behold it while theſe things make their aſſaults upon thee. Theſe words, the faith of this, God loves me, will ſupport thee in the midſt of what dangers may aſſault thee. And this is that which is meant, when we are exhorted to rejoyce in the Lord, to make our boaſts in the Lord; to triumph in the Lord; and to ſet the Lord always before our face. For he that can do this thing ſtedfaſtly, cannot be overcome. For in God there is more than can be in the World, either to help or hinder; Wherefore, if God be my helper, if God loves me, if Chriſt be my Redeemer, and has beſtowed his love that paſſeth knowledge upon me, who can be againſt me? And if they be againſt me, what diſadvantage reap I thereby, ſince even all this alſo, worketh for my good? This is improving the love of God and of Chriſt for my advantage. The ſame courſe ſhould Chriſtians alſo take with the degrees of this love, even ſet it againſt all the degrees of danger; for here deep calleth unto deep. There cannot be wickedneſs and rage wrought up to ſuch or ſuch a degree, as of which it may be ſaid, there are not degrees in the love of God and of Chriſt to match it. Wherein Pharaoh dealt proudly againſt Gods people, the Lord was above him, did match, and overmatch him; he came up to him, and went beyond him; he collered with him, overcame him, and caſt him down. The Lord is a man of war, the Lord is his name. Pharaoh's Chariots and his Hoſts hath he caſt into the Sea— they ſank into the bottom as a ſtone. There is no ſtriving againſt the Lord that hath loved us; there is none that ſtrive againſt him can proſper. If the ſhields of the earth be the Lords, then he can wield them for the ſafeguard of his Body the Church; or if they are become uncapable of being made uſe of any longer in that way, and for ſuch a thing, can he not lay them aſide, and make himſelf new ones? Men can do after this manner, much more God. But again, if the miſeries, or afflictions which thou meeteſt with, ſeem to thee to overflow, and go beyond meaſure, above meaſure, and ſo to be above ſtrength, and begin to drive thee to deſpair of life; then thou haſt alſo, in the love of God and of Chriſt, that which is above, and that goes beyond all meaſure alſo, to wit, love unſearchable, unknown, and that can do exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think. Now God hath ſet them one againſt the other, and 'twill be thy Wiſdom to do ſo too, for this is the way to improve this love. But, though it be eaſie thus to admoniſh you to do, yet you ſhall find the practical part more difficult; wherefore, here it may not be amiſs, if I add to theſe, another head of counſel.

2 Cor. 1. 8.

Firſt then, Wouldſt thou improve this love of God and of Chriſt to thy advantage, Why then thou muſt labour after the knowledge of it. This was it that the Apoſtle pray'd for, for theſe Epheſians, as was ſaid before, and this is that that thou muſt labour after, or elſe thy Reading and my Writing will, as to thee, be fruitleſs. Let me then ſay to thee, as David to his Son Solomon, And thou Solomon, my Son, know thou the God of thy Father. Empty Notions of this love will do nothing but harm, Wherefore, they are not empty Notions that I preſs thee to reſt in, but that thou labour after the knowledge of the ſavour of this good ointment, which the Apoſtle calleth the ſavour of the knowledge of this Lord Jeſus. Know it, until it becometh ſweet, or pleaſant to thy ſoul, and then it will preſerve and keep thee. Make this love of God and of Chriſt thine own, and not anothers. Many there are that can talk largely of the love of God to Abraham, to David, to Peter and Paul. But that is not the thing, give not over until this love be made thine own; until thou find and feel it to run warm in thy heart by the ſhedding of it abroad there, by the Spirit that God hath given thee. Then thou wilt know it with an obliging and engaging knowledge; yea, then thou wilt know it with a soul-strengthning, and soul-incouraging knowledge.

97. Secondly, Wouldst thou improve this love? Then set it against the love of all other things whatsoever, even untill this love shall conquer thy soul from the love of them to it self.

This is Christian. Do it therefore, and say, why should any thing have my heart but God, but Christ? He loves me, he loves me with love that passeth knowledge. He loves me and he shall have me; he loves me, and I will love him: his love stript him of all for my sake; Lord, let my love strip me of all for thy sake. I am a Son of love, an object of love; a monument of love; of free love, of distinguishing love, of peculiar love, and of love that passeth knowledge: and why should not I walk in love? in love to God, in love to men, in holy love, in love unfeigned? This is the way to improve the love of God for thy advantage, for the subduing of thy passions, and for sanctifying of thy nature. 'Tis an odious thing to hear men of base lives talking of the love of God, of the death of Christ, and of the glorious grace that is presented unto sinners by the word of the truth of the Gospel. Praise is comly for the upright, not for the profane. Therefore let him speak of love that is taken with love, that is captivated with love, that is carried away with love. If this man speaks of it, his speaking signifies something; the powers, and bands of love are upon him, and he shews to all that he knows what he is speaking of. But the very mentioning of love, is in the mouth of the profane, like a Parable in the mouth of fools, or as Salt unsavory. Wherefore, Christian, improve this love of God as thou shouldest, and that will improve thee as thou wouldest. Wherefore,

98. Thirdly, If thou wouldest improve this love,
Jude 21. keep thy self in it. Keep your selves in the love of God. This Text looks as if it favoured the Socinians, but there is nothing of that in it. And
Joh. 15.10 so doth that, If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love: even as I have kept my fathers commandments and abide in his love. The meaning then is this, That living a holy life is the way, after a man has believed unto justification, to keep himself in the favor and comfort of the love of God. And Oh, that thou wouldest indeed so do. And that because, if thou shall want the savor of it, thou will soon want tenderness to the Commandment, which is the rule by which thou must walk, if thou wilt do good to thy self, or honour God in the world. To him that ordereth his conversation aright, I will shew the Salvation of God. He that would live a sweet, comfortable, joyful life; must live a very holy life. This is the way to improve this love to thy self in deed. Psal. 50. 23.

Fourthly, To this end, you must take root and be grounded in love, that is, you must be well settled, and stablished in this love, if indeed you would improve it. You must not be shaken as to the Doctrine, and grounds of it. These you must be well acquainted with: for he that is but a child in this doctrine, is not capable as yet, of falling in with these exhortations: for such waver, and fear when tempted: and he that feareth is not made perfect in love, nor can he so improve it for himself and souls good as he should. 99. Eph. 3. 17. 1 Joh. 4. 17. 18.

Fifthly, And lastly, keep, to this end, those grounds, and evidences that God hath given you of your call to be partakers of this love, with all clearness upon your hearts, and in your minds. For he that wants a sight of them, or a proof that they are true and good, can take but little comfort in this love. There is a great mystery in the way of God with his people. He will justifie them without their works, he will pardon them for his Sons sake: but they shall have but little comfort of what he hath done, doth, and will do for them, that are careless, carnal, and not holy in their lives. Nor shall they have their evidences for Heaven at hand, nor out of doubt with them, yea they shall walk without the Sun, and have their comforts by bitts and knocks: while others sit at their Fathers Table, have liberty to go into the Wine Celler, rejoyce at the sweet and pleasant face of their Heavenly Father towards them: and know it shall go well with them at the end. 100.

Some thing now for a Conclusion should be spoken to the carnal world, who have heard me tell of all this love. But what shall I say unto them? if I should speak to them and they should not hear: or if I should testifie unto them, and they should not believe; or intreat them, and they should scorn me; all will but aggravate, and greaten their sin, and tend to their further condemnation. And therefore I shall leave the obstinate where I found him, and shall say to him that is willing to be saved, Sinner, thou hast the advantage of thy neighbour, not only because thou art willing to live, but because there are that are willing thou shouldest; to wit, those unto whom the issues from death do belong, and they are the Father and the Son, to whom be Glory with the blessed Spirit of Grace, World without end. Amen.

FINIS.

CHAP. I.

Of the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon.

1. AS Solomon builded an Houſe for Pharaoh's Daughter, and that called The Temple of the Lord; ſo he builded an Houſe in Lebanon, called The Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon, 1 King 7. 2.

Some, I perceive, have thought that this Houſe, called The Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon, was none other than that called the Temple at Jeruſalem, and that that was called The Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon, becauſe built of the Wood that grew there. But that Solomon built another than that, even one in Lebanon, called The Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon, is evident, and that from theſe reaſons.

Firſt, That in the Foreſt of Lebanon is mentioned as another, beſides that called The Temple of the Lord; and that too when the Temple, and its finiſhing is ſpoken of; yea, it is mentioned with an alſo, as an additional Houſe, beſides the Temple of the Lord.

In the fourth year, ſaith the Text, was the foundation of the Houſe of the Lord laid in the Month Zif; and in the eleventh year in the month Bul (which is the eighth month) was the Houſe finiſhed throughout all the parts thereof, and according to all the faſhion of it; ſo he was ſeven years in building it. But Solomon was building his own Houſe thirteen years: and he finiſhed all his Houſe. He built alſo the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon, &c. 1 King 6. 37, 38. chap. 7. 1, 2. Can there now be any thing more plain? Is not here the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon mentioned as another beſides the Temple. He built the Temple, he built his own Houſe, he built alſo the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon.

2. Secondly, It is evident by the difference of their meaſures and dimenſions: The length of the Temple was threeſcore Cubits; but the length of the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon was an hundred Cubits; ſo that the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon, was forty Cubits more than was that called Solomon's Temple: The breadth of Solomon's Temple was twenty Cubits, but the breadth of the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon was fifty Cubits: and as there is odds between threeſcore and fiveſcore, ſo there is alſo between twenty and fifty.

As to their heighth, they were both alike; but equality in heighth can no more make them the ſame, than can a twenty years age in two, make them one and the ſame perſon.

Their Porches alſo differed greatly; the Porch of the Temple was in length but twenty Cubits, but the length of that of the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon was fifty Cubits. So that here alſo is thirty odds. The Porch of the Temple was but ten Cubits broad; but the Porch of the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon thirty Cubits. Now, I ſay, who that conſidereth theſe diſproportions, can conclude that the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon was none other than that called the Temple of Jeruſalem. For all this compare 1 Kings 6. 2, 3. with chap. 7. 2. 6.

Thirdly, If you add to theſe the different makes of the Houſes, it will ſufficiently appear, that they were not one. The Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon was builded upon four rows of Cedar Pillars; but we read of no ſuch Pillars upon which the Temple ſtood. The Windows of the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon ſtood in three rows, Light againſt Light; but we read of no ſuch thing in the Temple. The Temple had two Pillars before the Door of its Porch; but we read not of them before the Door of the Porch of the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon. 3.

In the 6th. and 7th. Chapters of the firſt Book of Kings, theſe two Houſes, as to their make, are exactly ſet forth; ſo that he that liſteth may ſearch and ſee, if as to this, I have not ſaid the Truth.

CHAP. II.

Of what the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon was a Type.

THAT the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon was a Houſe ſignificant, I think is clear alſo; if it had not, we ſhould not have had ſo particular an account thereof in the Holy Word of God: I read but of four Buildings wherein, in a particular manner, the Houſes or Fabricks are, as to their manner of Building, diſtinctly handled: The Tabernacle is one, the Temple another; the Porch which he built for his Throne, his Throne for Judgment; and this Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon is the fourth. Now the three firſt, to wit, the Tabernacle, the Temple, the Porch and Throne, Wiſemen will ſay are Typical; and therefore ſo is this. 4.

I will therefore take it for granted, That the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon is a ſignificative thing, yea, a Figure of the Church, as the Temple at Jeruſalem was, though not under the ſame conſideration. The Temple was a Figure of the Church under the Goſpel, as She relateth to Worſhip; but the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon was a Figure of that Church, as ſhe is aſſaulted for her worſhip, as ſhe is perſecuted for the ſame. Or take it more expreſly thus: I take this Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon to be a Type of the Church in the Wilderneſs, or as ſhe is in her ſack-cloth ſtate.

5. We read before this Houſe was builded, that there was a Church in the Wilderneſs; and alſo after this Houſe was demoliſhed, that there would be a Church in the Wilderneſs, Acts 7. 38. Revel. 12. 14. But we now reſpect that Wilderneſs-ſtate that the Church of the New-Teſtament is in; and conclude, That this Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon, was a Type and Figure of That; that is of her Wilderneſs-ſtate. And,

1. Methinks the very place where this Houſe was builded does intimate ſuch a thing; for this Houſe was not builded in a Town, a City, &c. as was that called the Temple of the Lord; but was builded in a kind of a Wood, a Wilderneſs; 'twas builded in the Foreſt of Lebanon; unto which that ſaying ſeems directly to anſwer. And to the Woman [the Church] was given two Wings of a great Eagle, that ſhe might fly into the Wilderneſs to her place. Rev. 12.

A Wilderneſs ſtate is a deſolate, a tempted, an afflicted, a perſecuted ſtate, Jer. 2. 6. All which is more than intimated by the Witneſſes wearing of, and propheſying in Sack-cloth, and alſo expreſſed of by that Revel. 12.

Anſwerable to this is that of the Prophet concerning this Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon, where he ſays, Open thy Doors, O Lebanon! that the Fire may devour thy Cedars. And again, Howle Fir-Tree, for the Cedar is fallen, Zech. 11. 1, 2.

6. What can be more expreſs? the Prophet here knocks at the very door of the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon, and tells her, That her Cedars are deſigned for Fire; unto which alſo moſt plainly anſwer the flames to which ſo many of the Cedars of Lebanon, God's Saints, I mean, for many hundred years have been delivered for their Profeſſion; and by which, as another Prophet has it, for many days they have fallen, Dan. 11. 33.

Alſo, when the King of Aſſyria came up with his Army againſt Jeruſalem, this was his vaunting, I am come to the ſides of Lebanon, and will cut down the tall Cedars thereof. Iſa. 37. 24.

What was this King of Aſſyria, but a Type of the Beaſt made mention of in the New Teſtament? Now, ſaith he, I will cut down the Cedars of Lebanon; who are, in our Goſpel-Times, the tall Ones of the Church of God. And I ſay again, In that he particularly mentions Lebanon, he intends that Houſe which Solomon builded there, the which was builded as a Fortification to defend the Religion of the Temple, as the Saints now in the Wilderneſs of the People, are ſet for the defence of the Goſpel: but more of this anon.

7. This Houſe therefore was builded to make aſſaults, and to be aſſaulted, as the Church in the Wilderneſs is: and hence the ſtate of this Houſe is compared to the condition of a Woman in Travail, ſtrugling with her pains: as alſo we find the ſtate of the Church in the Wilderneſs is. O inhabitant of Lebanon, that makeſt thy Neſt in the Cedars, how gracious ſhalt thou be when pangs come upon thee, the pain of a travelling Woman? And again, Verily, verily, I ſay unto you, that ye ſhall weep and lament, and have ſorrow, as a Woman in travail: Much anſwering her caſe, who in her Travails, and while pained to be delivered, was ſaid, even in this caſe, to ſtand before the Dragon, who with open mouth ſought to deſtroy her Fruit, ſo ſoon as it was born. Jer. 22. 23. Joh. 16. 20, 21, 22. Revel. 12. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6.

Hence, again, when Chriſt calls his Spouſe out to ſuffer, he calls, or draws her out of his Houſe in Lebanon, to look from the Lions Dens, and the Mountains of the Leopards, to the things that are inviſible; even as Paul ſaid when he was in affliction, We look not at the things that are ſeen. Song 4. 8. 2 Cor. 4. 18.

He draws them out thence, I ſay, as Sheep appointed for the Slaughter; yea, he goeth before them, and they follow him thither.

8. Alſo, When the Prophet fore-tells the affliction of the Church, he expreſſes it by the fall of the Cedars of Lebanon, ſaying, The Lord ſhall cut down the thicket of his Foreſt with Iron; a little afore called the Ax, and Saw. And Lebanon ſhall fall by a mighty One. Iſa. 10. 15. 34. And again, The Earth mourneth and languiſheth, Lebanon is aſhamed, and hewn down. Iſa. 33. 9.

Do we think that the Prophet propheſieth here againſt Trees, againſt the natural Cedars of Lebanon? No, no, 'Tis a prophecy touching the afflicted ſtate of the Church in the Wilderneſs, of which Lebanon, I mean this Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon, was a figure.

9. When God, alſo, threatneth the Enemies of his Church in the Wilderneſs with his Judgments, for their cruel dealing with her in the day of her deſertion; he calls thoſe Judgments the violence of Lebanon: That is by way of compariſon, ſuch as the violence done to Lebanon was. The violence of Lebanon ſhall cover thee; and the ſpoil of Beaſts which made them (Lebanon) afraid: becauſe of men's blood, and for the violence of the Land, of the City, and of all that dwell therein. This is like that; Reward her, even as ſhe has rewarded you; and double unto her double, according to her works. This the Church doth by her prayers. The violence done unto me, and to my fleſh, be upon Babylon, ſhall the Inhabitants of Zion ſay: And my blood be upon the Inhabitants of Babylon, ſhall Jeruſalem ſay. And then ſhall be fulfilled that which is written, Look what they did unto Lebanon ſhall be done unto them. Hab. 2. 17. Revel. 18. 6. Jer. 51. 35. Oba. 15. Ezek. 35. 14, 15.

God has his time to return the evil that the Enemies do to his Church, and he will do it when his time is come, upon their own head; and this return is called the covering of them with the violence of Lebanon, or that violence ſhewed to her in the day of her diſtreſs.

10. It is yet further evident, That this Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon was a Type of the Church in the Wilderneſs, Firſt, For that ſhe is called a Tower, or place of Fortification and Defence; the ſame term that is given to the Church in a captivated ſtate. Song 7. 4. Mic. 4. 8, 9, 10.

For, As the Church in the Wilderneſs is compared to a Woman in travail, to ſhew her fruitfulneſs to God-ward in her moſt afflicted con-condition; ſo ſhe is called a Tower, to ſhew her fortitude and courage, for God and his Truth, againſt Antichriſt.

I ſay therefore, unto both theſe is ſhe compared in that Scripture laſt cited, the which you may peruſe, if you pleaſe.

A Tower is a place of receipt for the afflicted, and ſo is the Church under the rage of Antichriſt; yea, and tho' it is the only place deſigned by the Enemy for ruin and deſtruction; yet it is the only place of ſafety in the World.

Secondly, This Tower, this Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon, it ſeems to be ſo builded, as to confront Damaſcus, the chief City of the King of Aſſyria; and in ſo doing, it was a moſt excellent Type of the Spirit and Deſign of the Church in the Wilderneſs, who is raiſed up, and builded to confront Antichriſt. Hence Chriſt calls ſome of the Features of his Church, and compares them to this. Thy Neck, (ſays he) is as a Tower of Ivory; thine Eyes like the Fiſh pools of Heſhbon, by the gate of Beth-rabbim; thy Noſe is like the Tower of Lebanon, which looketh towards Damaſcus. Song 7. 4.

Thy Noſe, that great ornament of thy lovly Countenance, is as a Tower looking that way; ſo ſet, as Chriſt ſays of his, as a Flint.

And this is a comely Feature in the Church, that her Noſe ſtands like a Tower, or as he ſays in another place, like a fenced, brazen Wall againſt Damaſcus, the Metropolitan of her Enemy: for the head of Syria was Damaſcus. Iſa. 7. 8.

And as Chriſt thus compares his Church, ſo ſhe again returns, or compares the Face of her Lord to the ſame, ſaying, His Legs are as Pillars of Marble ſet upon ſockets of fine Gold: his Countenance is as Lebanon, excellent as the Cedars. Song 5. 15.

Thus in Lebanon, in this brave Houſe, is found the excellency of the Church, and the beauty of Chriſt; for that they are both as a Rock, with Glory and Majeſty, bended againſt the Enemies of the Truth. The Face of the Lord is againſt them that do evil. Pillars his Legs are here compared to, and Pillars were they that upheld this Houſe, this Tower, which thus bravely was builded with its Face confronting the Enemy's Country.

11. Secondly, That this Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon was a Type of the Church in affliction, yet further appears, for that at the fall of Babylon, her Cedars are ſaid to rejoyce in ſpecial. The Fir-Trees rejoyce at thee, and the Cedars of Lebanon, ſaying, ſince thou art laid down, no feller is come upon us. Iſa. 14. 6, 7, 8. This is at the Deſtruction of Babylon, the Type of that called Antichriſt.

But why ſhould Lebanon, the Cedars in Lebanon, in an eſpecial manner here, be ſaid to rejoyce at his downfall? Doubtleſs to ſhew, that as the Enemy made his in-road upon Jeruſalem; ſo in a particular manner Lebanon, and the Houſe there, was made to ſmoak for it. Iſa. 37. 24. Jer. 22. 23. Zach. 11. 1. This anſwereth to that, Rejoyce over her thou Heaven; and ye holy Apoſtles and Prophets, for God hath avenged you of her. Hence again, when he ſpeaks of giving glory to his afflicted Church, for all the ſorrow which ſhe hath ſuſtained in her bearing witneſs for the Truth againſt Antichriſt, he calls it the Glory of Lebanon: That is, as I take it, The Glory that belongs to her, for the afflictions which ſhe underwent for his Name. The Glory of Lebanon ſhall be given unto it. And again, The Glory of Lebanon ſhall come unto thee. Iſa. 35. 2. chap. 60. 13.

Theſe are promiſes to the Church for her ſuffering of affliction, and they are made unto her as ſhe bears the name of Lebanon, who, or which was her Type in thoſe havocks made in it, when the Enemy, as I ſaid, aſſaulted the Church of old.

Thus by theſe few Lines I have ſhewed you, that there was a ſimilitude betwixt this Houſe in the Foreſt of Lebanon, and our Goſpel Church in the Wilderneſs: Nor need we ſtumble, becauſe this word Houſe is not ſubjoyned in every particular place, where this ſorrow, or joy of Lebanon is made mention of; for it is an uſual thing with the Holy Ghoſt, when he directs his ſpeech to a Man, to ſpeak as if he ſpake to a Tree; and when he directs his voice to a King, to ſpeak as if he intended the Kingdom; ſo when he ſpeaks of the Houſe, to ſpeak as to the Foreſt of Lebanon. Inſtances many might be given.

CHAP. III.

Of the largeneſs of the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon.

THE Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon was 12.
forty Cubits longer than was the Temple at Jeruſalem, to ſhew that the Church in the Wilderneſs would increaſe more, and be far larger than ſhe that had peace and proſperity: And as it was forty Cubits longer, ſo it was thirty Cubits wider, ſtill ſhewing that every way ſhe would abound. Hence they that came out of great Tribulation, when compared with others, are ſaid to be a numberleſs number, or a multitude which no man could number, of all Nations, and Kindreds, and People, and Tongues. Theſe, ſaith one, are they which came out of great Tribulation, and have waſhed their robes, and made them white in the Blood of the Lamb; therefore are they before the Throne of God. Rev. 7 chap.

The Church, as it reſpected Temple-Worſhip, was confined to the Land of Canaan; but our New-Teſtament perſecuted One, is ſcattered among the Nations; as a Flock of Sheep are ſcattered in a Wood, or Wilderneſs. Hence they are ſaid to be in the Wilderneſs of the People, fitly anſwering to this Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon. Ezek. 20. 34, 35, 36.

But though the Houſe exceeded in length and breadth, the Temple of Jeruſalem, yet as to their heighth they were the ſame, to ſhew, that what acts that in the Wilderneſs doth, above what they have been capable to do, that have not been in that condition; yet the nature of their Grace is the ſame. Rom. 15. 27. 2 Pet. 1. 1.

But

But, I say, as for length and breadth, the Church in the Wilderness exceeds, more than the House of the Forest of Lebanon, did that of the Temple at Jerusalem, as it is written: More are the Children of the desolate, than the Children of the married Wife, saith the Lord. And again: Thou shalt break forth on the right hand and on the left; and thy Seed shall inherit the Gentiles, and make the desolate Cities to be inhabited.

This is spoken of the Church in the Wilderness, that made up chiefly of the Gentiles, of which the House of the Forest of Lebanon was a figure; and how she at last shall recover herself from the yoak and tyranny of Antichrist. And then she shall shoulder it with her Adversary, saying, give place that I may dwell. Isa. 54. 1, 2, 3, 4.

13. And I will add, it was, not only thus magnificent, for length and breadth, but for Terror, it was compacted after the manner of a Castle, or strong Hold; as was said before. It was a Tower builded for an Armory; for Solomon put there his two hundred Targets, and three hundred Shields of Gold, 2 Chron. 9. 15. 16.

This place therefore was a Terror to the heathen on that side of the Church, specially cause she stood with her Nose so formidable against Damascus: No marvel therefore if the implacable cried out against them, help men of Israel, help! And will ye rebel against the King? Acts 21. 27, 28. Neh. 9. 19.

For it is the Terror, or Majesty and Fortitude, which God has put upon the Church in the Wilderness, that makes the Gentiles so bestir them to have her under foot. Besides, they misapprehend concerning her, as if she was for destroying Kings, for subverting Kingdoms, and for bringing all to desolation; and so they set themselves against her, crying, These that have turned the World upside down, are come hither also: Whom Jason hath received; and these all do contrary to the decrees of Cæsar; saying, that there is another King, one Jesus. Acts 17. 5, 6, 7.

Indeed, the very name of Jesus is the very Tower of the Christian Church, and that by which she frights the World, but not designedly, but thorow their misunderstanding; for neither she, nor her Jesus is for doing them any hurt: However, this is that which renders her yet in their eye terrible as an Army with banners, Song 6. 10.

How then could she escape Persecution for a time; for it was the policy of Jeroboam, and is yet the policy of the Nations, to secure themselves against this their imagined danger, and therefore to use all means, as Pharaoh did, to keep this People low enough, saying, Come, let us deal wisely with them, lest they multiply, and it come to pass when there falleth out any War, they joyn also to our Enemies, and fight against us, and so get them up out of the Land. Exod. 1. 10. 1 Kings 12. 26, 27, 28, &c.

14. But could the House of Lebanon, though a fortified place, assault Damascus? Could it remove from the place on which God had set it? It only was a place of defence for Judah, or for the Worship of the Temple. And had the Adversary let the Temple-Worship and Worshippers alone, the Shields and Targets in the House of the Forest of Lebanon, had not been uncovered, had not been made bare against them. The same may now be said of the Church in the Wilderness, she moveth no Sedition, she abideth in her place, let her Temple-Worshippers but alone, and she will be as if she were not in the World: But if you afflict her, Fire proceedeth out of her mouth, and devoureth her Adversaries: and if any man will hurt her, he must in this manner be killed. Revel. 11. 5. and so die by the Sword of the Spirit.

But because the Weapons of the Church, tho none of them are carnal, be so talked of in the World, the blind are yet more afraid of her, than they in this manner are like to be hurt by her; and therefore they of old have peeled, and pulled, and endeavoured to spoil her all along; sending their Servants, and saying to their Bayliffs and Sheriffs, Go to a Nation scattered and peeled, to a People terrible from their beginning; a Nation meted out, and trodden down, whose land the rivers have spoiled. Isa. 18. 1, 2.

But this People shall prevail, though not by worldly force, her God will deliver her. And then, or at that time, shall the present be brought to the Lord of Hosts, of a people scattered and peeled, and from a people terrible from their beginning hitherto, a nation meted out, and trodden under foot, whose land the rivers have spoiled, to the place of the name of the Lord, the mount Zion. ver. 7.

Now thus did the House of the Forest of Lebanon provoke, it was built defensively, it had a Tower, it had Armour; its Tower confronted the Enemies Land. No marvel then, if the King of Assyria so threatned to lay his Army on the sides of Lebanon, and to cut down the tall Cedars thereof. Isa. 37. 24.

The largeness therefore, and prowess of the Church, by reason of her inherent fortitude, and the valourous acts that she hath done, by Suffering, by Prayer, by Faith, and a constant induring of hardship for the Truth, doth force into the World a Belief, thorow their own guilt and clamours of Conscience against them for their Debaucheries, that this House of the Forest of Lebanon will destroy them all, when she shall be delivered from her servitude.

Come therefore, said Balak to Balaam, and curse me this People, if peradventure I may overcome them. When he might have let them pass peaceably by, and they would not have lift up a Finger against him.

Wherefore, from all these things it appears, That the House of the Forest of Lebanon was a Type of the Church in the Wilderness.

CHAP.

CHAP. IV.

Of the Materials of which the House of the Forest of Lebanon was made.

15. THE Foundation of the House of the Forest of Lebanon was of the same great Stones which were laid in the Foundation of the Temple of the Lord. 1 Kings 7. 2. 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11.

And this shews, that the Church in the Wilderness has the same foundation and support, as had the Temple that was at Jerusalem, tho' in a state of Sack-cloth, Tears and Affliction, the lot of the Church in the Wilderness; for she, while there, is to howle, Zech. 11. 2.

Now, since the foundation is the same, what is it? but to shew also, that she, though in an afflicted condition, shall certainly stand. The Gates of Hell shall not prevail against it. Mat. 16.

Her confronting Idolatrous Nations is therefore a sign of her troubles, not any prediction of a fall. Her Rock is stedfast, not like the Rock of her Adversaries, the Enemy being Judges, Deut. 32. 31.

But that which in special I take notice of, is, that I find in a manner, in this House of the Forest of Lebanon, nothing but Pillars and Beams, great Timber, and thick Beams, and of those was the House builded; Pillars to hold up, and thick Beams to couple together; and thus was the House finished. I read not here of any garnishing, either of the Pillars, Beams, Doors, Posts, Walls, or any part of the House; all was plain, without garnish; fitly representing the state of the Church in the Wilderness, which was clothed with Sack-cloth, covered with Ashes, wearing her mourning Weeds, with her Tears upon her Cheeks, and a Yoak, or Band about her Neck. Isa. 52. 1, 2. chap. 61. 3.

16. By this kind of description we may also note, with what kind of Members this House, this Church is furnished. Here, as I said, that is, in the House of the Forest of Lebanon, you find Pillars, Pillars; so in the Church in the Wilderness, O the mighty ones of which this Church was compacted! They were all Pillars, strong, bearing up the House against Wind and Weather; nothing but Fire and Sword could dissolve them. As therefore this House was made up of great Timber, so this Church in the Wilderness was made up of Gyants in Grace. These men had the Faces of Lyons: no Prince, no King, no Threat, no Terror, no Torment, could make them yield: They loved not their lives unto the death. They have laughed their Enemies in the Face, they have triumphed in the Flames.

They were Pillars, they were Pillars of Cedar: The Cedar is the highest Tree in the World; wherefore in that this House was made of Cedar, it may be to denote that in the Church in the Wilderness, however contemned by men, was the highest perfection of Goodness; as of Faith, Love, Prayer, Holy Conversation, and affection for God, and his Truth.

For indeed, none ever shewed the like, none ever shewed higher Cedars, than those that were in Lebanon. None ever shewed higher Saints than were they in the Church in the Wilderness. Others talked, these have suffered; Others have said, these have done: These have voluntarily taken their Lives in their hands, for they loved them not to the death; and have fairly, and in cool Blood, laid them down before the World, God, Angels, and Men, for the confirming of the Truth, which they have professed. Acts 15. 26. Revel. 12. 11.

These are Pillars, these are strong Ones indeed: 'Tis meet therefore, that the Church in the Wilderness, since she was to resemble the House of the Forest of Lebanon, should be furnished with these mighty ones.

Cedars! The same that the holyest of all in 17.
the Temple was covered with within, (and that House was a figure of Heaven) to shew that the Church of God in the Wilderness, how base, and low soever in the judgment of the World, is yet the only Heaven that God has among the Children of Men. Here are many Nations, many Kingdoms, many Countries, and many Cities; but the Church in the Wilderness was but one, and she was the Heaven that God is here: Hence she is called, thou Heaven. Rejoyce over her, thou Heaven. Revel. 18. 20.

And again, when the combustion for Religion is in the Church in the Wilderness, it is said to be in Heaven: And there was War in Heaven, Michael fought against the Dragon, and the Dragon fought, and his Angels. Revel. 12. 7.

The Church therefore loseth not all her Titles of Honour, no not when at the lowest; she is God's Heaven still. Though she may not be called now a Crown of Glory, yet she is still God's Lillie amongst Thorns: though she may not be called the Church of Jerusalem, yet she may the Church in the Wilderness: and though she may not be called Solomon's Temple, yet she may, The House of the Forest of Lebanon.

Cedars! Cedars are tall and sweet, and so are the Members of the Church in the Wilderness. Oh their smell, their scent, it hath been as the Wine of Lebanon. Hos. 14. 5, 6, 7.

They that have gone before, have left this smell, still, in the Nostrils of their Survivers, as that both fragrant and precious.

This House of the Forest of Lebanon was builded upon four rows of Cedar Pillars. 1 Kings 7. 2. These four rows were the bottom Pillars, those upon which the whole weight of the House did bear. The Holy Ghost saith here, four rows, but says not how many were in a row. But we will suppose them to allude to the Twelve Apostles, or to the Apostles and Prophets, upon whose Foundation the Church in the Wilderness is said to be builded. Ephes. 2. And if so, then it shews, that as the House of the Forest of Lebanon stood upon these four rows of Pillars, as the names of the Twelve Tribes stood in four rows of precious Stones upon Aaron's Breast-plate, when he went into the Holiest: So this House, or Church in the Wilderness, derneſs, ſtands upon the Doctrine of the Apoſtles and Prophets. Exod. 28. 17. chap. 39. 10.

But becauſe it only ſaith it ſtood upon four rows, not ſpecifying any number; therefore as to this, we may ſay nothing certain, yet I think ſuch a conjecture hath ſome ſhew of Truth in it, however I will leave it to wiſer Judgements.

18. And it was covered with Cedar above, upon the Beams that lay on forty five Pillars, fifteen in a row. 1 Kings 7. 3.

Theſe Pillars, as the others, are ſuch upon which the Houſe did alſo bear; this is clear, becauſe the Beams that lay upon the four rows of Pillars aforementioned, lay alſo upon theſe forty five.

It ſeems therefore, that theſe four rows of Pillars, were they that were the more outſide ones; that is, two rows on this ſide of the Houſe, and two rows alſo on that; and that theſe forty five Pillars, fifteen in a row, ſtood in three rows more inward, and ſo did bear up with the other, the Beams that were laid upon them, much like to thoſe inner Pillars that uſually ſtand in our Pariſh-Churches.

If ſo, then the firſt four rows did ſeem to be a guard to theſe, for that, as they ſtood more to the outſides of the Houſe, ſo more to the Weather, and nearer to the firſt approach of the Enemy.

And this may ſhew, that the Apoſtles in their Doctrine are, not only a Foundation to the forty five Pillars, but a Protection and Defence: I ſay a Protection and Defence to all the Pillars that ever were beſides in the Church in the Wilderneſs. And it is to be conſidered, that the four rows are mentioned, as placed firſt, and ſo were thoſe upon which the thick Beams, that firſt were for coupling of the Houſe were laid: The which moſt fitly teacheth, that the Office and Graces of the Apoſtles were firſt in the Church in the Wilderneſs, according to 1 Cor. 12. 18.

Theſe forty five Pillars ſtanding in the midſt by the others, may alſo be to ſhew, that in the time of the trouble of the Church in her wilderneſs-ſtate, there will be thoſe that will ſtand by, and maintain her Apoſtolical Doctrine, though for ſo doing, they bear the burden of the whole.

But I read of no Chambers for eaſe, or reſt, in this Houſe; here is no room for Chambering. They that were for being Members in the Church in the Wilderneſs, muſt not look for reſt, until their Lord ſhall come. Rom. 13. 13, 14. 2 Theſ. 1. 5, 6, 7, 8, 9.

Here therefore was but hard Lodging; the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon was not made for tender skins, and for thoſe that cannot lie out of down Beds; but for thoſe that were warlike-men, and that were willing to endure hardneſs, for that Religion that God had ſet up in his Temple; and is fitly anſwered by that of the Apoſtle. Thou therefore, my Son, endure hardneſs as a good Soldier of Jeſus Chriſt. No man that warreth entangleth himſelf with the affairs of this life, that he may pleaſe him that hath choſen him to be a Soldier. 2 Tim. 2. 3, 4.

Forty five Pillars! 'Twas forty five years that the Church was of old in a bewildred and war-like condition, before ſhe enjoyed her reſt in Canaan. Joſ. 14. 10. Now, as there were forty five years of trouble, ſo here are forty five Pillars for ſupport; perhaps to intimate, That God will have in his Church in the Wilderneſs, a ſufficient ſucceſſion of faithful men, that like Pillars ſhall bear up the Truth above water, all the time of Antichriſt's Reign and Rage. 19.

The thick Beams that lay over-thwart to couple this Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon together, did bear upon theſe forty five Pillars, to ſhew, that by the burden-bearers that have, and ſhall be in the Church of God in the Wilderneſs, the Unity of that Houſe is thorow the Spirit maintained. And indeed, had it not been for theſe Pillars, the Sufferers, theſe burden-bearers in the Church, our Houſe in the Foreſt of Lebanon, or more properly, our Church in the Wilderneſs, had, before this, been but in a poor condition. Thus therefore this Church, which in her time is the pillar and ground of Truth in the World, has been made to ſtand and abide it, When the blaſt of the terrible ones has been as a ſtorm againſt the Wall. 1 Tim. 3. 15. Iſa. 25. 4.

Many a time have they afflicted me from my youth, may Iſrael now ſay: Many a time have they afflicted me from my youth, yet they have not prevailed againſt me, Pſal. 129.

Thus you ſee how the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon was a Type of the Church in the Wilderneſs: And you ſee alſo by this, the reaſon why the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon had its inward glory, lying more in great Pillars, and thick Beams, than in other Ornaments. And indeed, here had need be Pillars and Pillars, and Beams and Beams too; ſince 'twas deſigned for aſſaults to be made upon it; ſince it was ſet for a But for the marks-man, and to be an object for furious Heathens to ſpend their rage againſt its Walls.

The glory therefore of the Temple lay in one thing, and the glory of this Houſe lay in another: the glory of the Temple lay in that ſhe contained the true form and modes of Worſhip; and the glory of the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon, lay in her many Pillars, and thick Beams, by which ſhe was made capable, thorow good management, to give check to thoſe of Damaſcus, when they ſhould attempt to throw down that Worſhip.

And, as I ſaid before, theſe Pillars were ſweet-ſcented Pillars, for that they were made of Cedar; but what cared the Enemy for that, they were offenſive to him, for that they were placed as a Fortification againſt him: Nor is it any allurement to Satan to favour the mighty ones in the Church in the Wilderneſs, for the fragrant ſmell of their ſweet Graces; nay, both he and his Angels are the more bent to oppoſe them, becauſe they are ſo ſweet-ſcented.

The Cedars therefore got nothing becauſe they were Cedars, at the hands of the Barbarous Gentiles; (for they would burn the Cedars,) as the Angels, or Pillars, get nothing of favour at the hands of Antichriſt, becauſe they are Pillars of, and Angels for the Truth; yea, they they so much the more by her are abhorred.

Well, but they are Pillars for all that; yea, Pillars to the Church in the Wilderness, (as the others were in the House of the Forest of Lebanon,) and Pillars they will abide there, dead, and alive, when the Enemy has done what he can.

The Pillars were set in three rows, for so are forty five, when they are set fifteen in a row.

And they were set in three rows to bear. This manner also of their standing thus, was also doubtless significant.

But again, They, these Pillars, may be set, or placed thus in three rows in the House of the Forest of Lebanon, to shew that the three Offices of Christ are the great things that the Church in the Wilderness must bear up before the World.

The three Offices of Christ, they are his Priestly, his Prophetical, and his Kingly Offices. These are those in which God's Glory, and the Churches Salvation are most immediately concerned; and they that have been most opposed by the Devil, and his Angels: All Heresies, Errors and Delusions, with which Christ's Church has been assaulted in all Ages, have bent themselves against some one, or all of these.

Isa. 33.22. 2 Thes. 2, 3, 4. Revel. 16. 13. 16. Chap. 19. 19,20, 21. Christ is a Priest to save, a Prophet to teach, and a King to rule his Church: But this Antichrist cannot beat; therefore he attempts to get up into the Throne himself, and to act as if he were one above all that is called God, or that is worshipped.

But behold! here are Pillars in three rows, mighty Pillars to bear up Christ in these his Offices before the World, and against all falsehood and deceit.

Fifteen in a row. I can say no further than I can see; what the number of fifteen should signifie, I know not, God is wiser than man: But yet methinks, their standing thus, should signifie a reserve: As, suppose the first three that the Enemy comes at, should be destroyed by their hands, there are three times fourteen behind: Suppose again, that they should serve the next three so; yet there is a reserve behind. When that fine one, Jezabel, had done what she could 1 Kings 19. 18. against the afflicted Church in her time, yet there was left a reserve, a reserve of seven Rom. 11.4 Thousand that were true Worshippers of God.

Always when Antichrist made his inroads upon the Church in the Wilderness, to slay, to cut off, and to kill; yet some of the Pillars stood, they were not all burnt in the fire, nor cut down.

They said indeed, Come let us cut them off from being a Nation, that the name of Israel may be no more in remembrance. But what then? There's a difference 'twixt saying and doing; Ex. 3. 23. Psal. 83. 4. the Bush was not therefore consumed because 'twas set on fire; the Church shall not be consumed although she be afflicted.

20. And this reason is, because God has still his Gen. 4. 25. fifteens; therefore, if Abel falls by the hand of Josh. 1. 2, 3. Cain, Seth is put in his place; if Moses is taken Acts 1. 16, away, Joshua shall succeed him; and if the 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, Devil breaks the Neck of Judas, Matthias is at 23, 24, 25, 26. hand to take his Office. God has, I say, a succession of Pillars in his House, he has to himself a reserve.

Yet, again, Methinks that there should be forty five Pillars, and besides them four rows of Pillars, and all this to bear up an invisible burden; for we read of nothing upon the Pillars, but the Heavens and Roof. It should be to shew, That it is impossible that a carnal Heart should conceive of the weight that Truth lays upon the Conscience of a Believer: They see nothing, alas nothing at all, but a Beam, a Truth; and say they, Are you such Fools to stand groaning to bear up that, or what is contained therein? They, I say, see not the weight, the Glory, the weight of Glory that is in a Truth of God; and therefore they laugh at them that will count it worth the while to endure so much to support it from falling to the ground. Great Pillars and Beams, great Saints, and great Truths, are in the Church of God in the Wilderness; and the Beams lie upon the Pillars, or the Truth upon the Saints.

The Tabernacle, and Ark, formerly were to be born upon men's shoulders, even as these great Beams are born up by these Pillars: and as this Tabernacle, and Ark, were to be carried hither and thither, according to the appointment of God; so were these Beams to be by these Pillars born up, that therewith the House might be girt together, kept uniform, and made to stand fast, notwithstanding the Wind and Storm.

CHAP. V.

Of the Windows of the House of the Forest of Lebanon. 21.

THE House of the Forest of Lebanon had many Windows in it; And there was Windows in three rows, and Light was against Light in three ranks. 1 Kings 7. 4.

Windows are to let the Light in at, and the Eye out at, to objects at a distance from the House, and from those that are therein.

The Windows here are figures of the Word of God, by which Light the Light of Life is let into the Heart; thorow that, the Glass of these Windows, the beams of the Sun of Righteousness shine into the Church. Hence the Word is compared to Glass, through which 2 Cor. 3. 18. the glorious Face of Christ is seen. This therefore, this House of the Forest of Lebanon had, it had Windows, a figure of that Word of God, through, and by which, the Church in the Wilderness sees the mind of God, and so what while there, she ought to believe, do, and leave undone in the World.

This House had plenty of Windows, three rows of Windows on both sides the House. 22.

In three rows. By these Windows in three rows, perhaps was prefigured how into the Church in the Wilderness was to shine the Doctrine of the Trinity: yea, to signifie that she was to be possessed with that in her most low state, and when under her greatest Clouds.

1 John 2. 22, 23. Chap. 4. 2, 3, 4. 2 Jo. 9. 10. The Doctrine of the Trinity! that's the substance, that's the ground and fundamental of all: For by this Doctrine, and by this only, the man is made a Christian; and he that has not this Doctrine, his Profession's not worth a button.

You must know that sometimes the Church in the Wilderness has but little Light, but the diminution of her Light is not then so much in, or as to substantials, as it is as to circumstantial things; she has then the substantials with her, in her darkest day, even Windows in three rows.

The Doctrine of the Trinity! You may ask me what that is? I answer. It is that Doctrine that sheweth us the Love of God the Father, in giving of his Son: The Love of God the Son, in giving of himself; and the Love of the Lord, the Spirit, in his work of regenerating of us, that we may be made able to lay hold of the Love of the Father by his Son, and so enjoy Eternal Life by Grace. This Doctrine was always let in at these Windows into the Church in the Wilderness, for to make her sound in Faith, and hearty in Obedience; as also meek and patient in temptation and tribulation.

22. And, as to the substance of Christianity, this Doctrine is sufficient for any People, because it teaches Faith, and produceth a good moral Life. These therefore, if these Doctrines shine upon us, thorow these Windows of Heaven, so as that we see them, and receive them, they make us fit to glorifie God here, and meet to be glorified of, and with him hereafter.

These Lights therefore cause that the Inhabitants of this Church in the Wilderness, see their way thorow the dark pitch Night of this world: For, as the House of the Forest of Lebanon, this Church of God in the Wilderness had always her Lights, or VVindows in these three rows, to guide, to solace and comfort her.

This House, therefore, is thus discriminated and distinguished from all other Houses in the VVorld; no House, that we read of in the Bible, was thus adorned with Light, or had VVindows in three rows, but this; and answerable hereunto, no Congregation or Church, but the true Church of God, has the true antitype thereof.

Light! VVindows! A sufficiency of VVindows was of great use to a People that dwelt in a Forest, or VVood, as the Inhabitants of the House of the Forest of Lebanon did: But how solitary had this House been, had it had no Light at all! To be in a Wood, and that without VVindows, is one of the worst of conditions.

This also is the relief that the Church in the VVilderness had; true, she was in a VVood, but had Light, called in another place God's Rod, or his word which giveth Instruction.

Mic. 7. 14. Feed thy People with thy Rod, the Flock of thine Heritage, which dwell solitary in the Wood, &c.

23. To be, as was said, in a Wood, and without Light too, is a condition very desolate: the Ex. 10. 21. 22, 23. Egyptians found it so, for all they were in their Houses.

But how much more then is that Peoples case to be lamented that are under Persecution, but have not Light in three rows to guide them. But this is not the state of the Church in the Wilderness, she has her Windows in three rows, to wit, the light of the Face of the Father, the light of the Face of the Son, and the light of the Face of the Holy Ghost; all shining thorow the Windows or Glass of the Word to her comfort and consolation, though now in the Forest of Lebanon.

And Light was against Light in three ranks.

This is an additional account of the Windows that were in the House of the Forest of Lebanon. Before he said, she had Windows in three rows, but now he adds, that there was Light against Light, Light opposite to Light, and that also in three ranks.

In that he saith, they were in ranks, he either means in order, or insinuates a military posture, for both these ways is this word taken. Mar. 6. 40. Numb. 2. 16. 24. 1 Chron. 12. 33, 38.

Nor need any smile because I say the Lights were set in a military posture; we read of Potsherds striving with Potsherds; and why may it not as well be said, Light was against Light? Isa. 45. 9.

But we will pursue our design. Here is opposition insinuated; in the Margent it is sight against sight; wherefore the Lights thus placed in the House of the Forest of Lebanon, give me another incouragement, to think that this House was a Type of the Church in the Wilderness, and that she is the Seat of Spiritual War also. 24. Rev. 12. 7.

For as this House of the Forest of Lebanon was that which was the object of the Rage of the King of Assyria, because it stood in his way to hinder his ruining Jerusalem; so the Spirit and Faithfulness of the Church of God in the Wilderness, stands in the way, and hinders Antichrist's bringing of the Truth to the ground.

And as the Enemy brake into Lebanon, and did set Fire to her Cedars; so the Boar, the Antichrist, the Dragon, and his Angels got into the Church in the Wilderness. Psa. 80. 13. 2 Thes. 2. 4. Rev. 12. 7.

This being so, here must needs be War; and since the War is not carnal but spiritual, it must be made by way of controversie, contention, disputation, argument, reasonings, &c. which were the effect of opposite apprehensions, fitly set out in this House of the Forest of Lebanon, for that there light was against light, sight against sight, in three ranks.

Wherefore, in that he saith, light was against light in three ranks, he suggesteth to the life, how it would be in the Church in the Wilderness.

And suppose they were the truly godly that made the first assault, can they be blamed? For who can endure a Boar in a Vineyard; a man of sin in a holy Temple; or a Dragon in Heaven? What then if the Church made the first assault? Who bid the Boar come there? What had he to do in God's House? The Church, as the House of the Forest of Lebanon, would have been content with its own station; and Bread and Water will serve a man that may, with peace, enjoy his delights in other things. But when privilege, property, life, delight, heaven and salvation, comes to

But becauſe the chaſt Matron, the Spouſe of Chriſt, would not allow this Slut to run away with this name, therefore ſhe gets upon the back of her Beaſt, and by him puſhes this woman into the dirt; but becauſe her faith and love to her Husband remains, ſhe turns again, and pleads by her titles, her features, and ornaments, that ſhe, and ſhe only, is ſhe whoſe ſquare anſwereth to the ſquare of her figure, and to the Characters which her Lord hath given of his own; and ſo the game began.

30. For ſo ſoon as this Miſtreſs became a Dame in the World, and found that ſhe had her ſtout Abbetors, ſhe attempts to turn all things topſi-turvy, and to ſet them, and to make of them what ſhe liſts. And now ſhe will have an Altar like that which was Tiglath-Pileſer's: Now muſt the Lord's braſen Altar be removed from its place, the borders of the Baſis muſt be cut off, and the Laver removed from off them; the molten Sea muſt alſo now be took off the backs of the braſen Oxen, where Solomon ſet it, and be ſet on a pavement of Stone.

2 Kings 16. 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17.

Solomon! alas Solomon's no body now; this Woman is wiſer in her own conceit, than ſeven men that can render a reaſon. Now alſo the Court of the Sabbath muſt be turned to the uſe of the King of Aſſyria, &c.

verſe 18.

Thus has the beauty of God's Church betrayed her into the hands of her lovers, who loved her for themſelves, for the Devil, and for the making of her a Seat, a Throne for the Man of Sin. And poor Woman, all her ſtruggling and ſtriving, and crying out under the hands of theſe Raviſhers, has not, as yet, delivered her, though it has ſaved her life.

Deut. 22. 25, 26, 27.

But though thus it has been with Chriſt's true Church, and will be as long as his Enemy Antichriſt reigns; yet the days will come, when her God will give her her Ornaments, and her Bracelets, and her Liberty, and her Joy, that ſhe had in the day of her eſpouſals.

CHAP. VII.

31. Of the repetition of Light againſt Light in the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon.

TO be ſure it was not ſuperfluouſly done of the Holy Ghoſt to make repetition of theſe words, [And Light was againſt Light in three ranks;] therefore ſomething is intended in the adding of them again, that was not intended by the firſt mentioning of them.

I have told you what I thought was intended by the firſt rehearſal of them; namely, to ſhew how Antichriſt got in with his Senſuality, and oppoſed it to the true Light of the Word of God, exalting himſelf above God, and alſo above all Divine Revelation; this was his Light againſt Light. But, I ſay, why is it repeated? For he ſaith, Light was againſt Light in three ranks again.

Truely, I think it is repeated, to ſhew the evil effects the firſt Antichriſtian oppoſition would have in the Church of God, towards the end of her Wilderneſs-ſtate. For, Light againſt Light, now, for that it is here repeated, is to ſhew us ſome new thing, or, as far as Wood and Windows can ſpeak, to let us underſtand what would be the conſequence of thoſe Antichriſtian figments that was brought into the Church at firſt by him.

For, can it be imagined, but that, ſince ſo much confuſion was brought into the Church, ſome of the truly godly themſelves would be much damnified thereby. The Apoſtle ſays, Evil communication corrupts good manners. And that their word will eat, as doth a canker. Miſchief therefore muſt needs follow this ugly deed of the Man of Sin.

1 Cor. 15. 33. 2 Tim. 2. 17.

If an Houſe be on fire, though it is not burnt down, the ſmell of the flame may long remain there; alſo we count it no wonder to ſee ſome of the effects upon Rafters, Beams, and ſome of the principal Poſts thereof. 32.

The Calf that was ſet up at Dan, defiled that People, till the captivity of the land. Judg. 18. 30.

And, I ſay again, ſince Light againſt Light was ſo early in the Church in the Wilderneſs, and has alſo been there ſo long; and again, ſince many in this Church were both born and bred there under theſe oppoſitions of Light; 'tis eaſie to conclude, that ſomething of the Enemies darkneſs might be alſo called Light, by the Sincere that followed after. For by Antichriſtian darkneſs, though they might call it Light, the true Light was darkened, and ſo the Eye made dim, even the Eye of the truly godly. Alſo, the Holy Ghoſt did much withdraw it ſelf from the Church; ſo the Doctrines, Traditions, and Rudiments of the World, took more hold there, and ſpread themſelves more formidably over the face of that whole Church.

For after the firſt Angel had ſounded, and the Star was fallen from Heaven to the Earth, and had received the Key of the bottomleſs Pit, and had opened the mouth thereof, the ſmoak came out amain. This Angel was one of the firſt Dads of Antichriſtianiſm; and this ſmoak was that which they call Light, but it was Light againſt Light. And he opened the bottomleſs Pit, and there aroſe a ſmoke out of the Pit, as the ſmoke of a great Furnace, and the Sun, and the Air was darkened, by reaſon of the ſmoke of the Pit. Rev. 9. 1, 2.

The Sun I take to be the Goſpel of God, and the Air, a Type of the breathings of the Holy Ghoſt. The ſmoke, I take to be the Doctrines and Traditions of Antichriſt; that which was, as I ſaid before, put for Light againſt the true Light of the Word. Now, ſince the Sun, and the Air were darkened by this ſmoke; yea, and ſo darkened, as that the Sun, nor Moon, nor Stars, nor Day, nor Night, could ſhine for a third part of them; no marvel though the true worſhippers here was benighted, or at leaſt, had but little Light to walk by; yea, I have known ſome that have been born and bred up in ſmokey-holes, that have been made both in ſmell and ſight, to carry the tokens of their ſo being bred, about them.

And,

And I say again, as to what is now under our consideration, no marvel if they that breathed in this Church in the Wilderness, after the smoak came out of this pit, suck'd in the smoak with the air, till it became natural to them. A house annoyed with smoak, is a great offence to the eyes, whose light being thereby impaired, the Judgment also, since that, as to Visibles, is guided by the Eye, must needs be in danger of being in part mis-led.

And this being the effect of light against light at first, is the cause of what to this day we see in the Church among the true brotherhood. For as a cause produceth an effect: so oftentimes an effect sets on foot another cause.

Now therefore, we have light against light among the godly, as afore there was Antichristian against the Christian light. Not that light against light is now godly in the all of it. 'Tis Antichristian that opposes the Christian light still. But, as before, the darkness that opposed the light, was in the Antichristians, now that darkness is got into the Christians, and has set them against one another. Light therefore against light, now, is in the Christians, truly prefigured by that which was in the House of the Forest of Lebanon. Witness the jarrs, the oppositions, the contentions, emulations, strifes, debates, whisperings, tumults and condemnations that like Cannon-shot have so frequently on all sides been let fly against one another.

Shall I need to mention particular contests many years past, and presented to us in Print? words and papers now in Print, as also the many petty divisions, and names amongst us, sufficiently make this manifest.

Wherefore light against light in this last place, or where it is thus repeated, cannot, I think, be more fitly applied than to that now under our consideration; that is to say, than to the opposite perswasions, different apprehensions, and thwart conclusions, that are constantly drawn from the same Texts, to maintain a diverse practice. Though we are to acknowledge with thankfulness, that this opposition lies not so much in fundamentals, as in things of a lesser import.

The godly all hold the head, for there Antichrist could never divide them: their divisions therefore are, as I said, only about smaller things.

I do not say that the Antichristian darkness has done nothing in the Church as to the hurting it, in the great things of God. But I say, it has not been able to do that which could sever their Head from them, otherwise there appears even too much of the effect of his doings there. For even as to the offices of our Lord, some will have his authority more large, some more strait. Some confine his rules to themselves, and to their more outward qualifications, and some believe they are extended further. Some will have his power in his Church purely spiritual, others again would have it mixt. Some count his Word perfect and sufficient to guide in all religious matters, others again hold that an addition of something humane is necessary. Some are for confining of his Benefits in the saving effects of them, only to the Elect, others are for a stretching of them further. I might here multiply things; but that light against light is now among the godly, as light against light was in the House of the Forest of Lebanon, is not at all to be questioned.

This therefore may stand for another argument to prove that the House of the Forest of Lebanon, was a type of the Church in the Wilderness. As to the number here, that is to say, in three ranks, it is also, as I think, to shew that, though, as was said afore, this darkness could not sever the true Church from her Head; yet it has eclipsed the glory of things. By two lights, a man cannot see this or that thing, so exactly, as by one single light: no, they both make all confused, though they make not all invisible. Matth. 6. 22, 23.

As for instance, Sun light and Moon light together; Fire light and Sun light together; Candle light and Moon light together, make things more obscure, than to look on them by a single light.

The Word reflecting upon the understanding, without the interposing of mans Traditions, makes the mind of God to a man more clear, than when attended with the other. How much more then when light shall be against light in three ranks?

Christ in his Offices, blessed be God, is to this day known in his Church, notwithstanding there is yet with us light against light in three ranks. But in these things he is not so distinctly, fully, and compleatly known, as he was before the Church went into the Wilderness. No, that knowledge is lost to a third part of it, as was also shewed before. 34. Rev. 8. 12.

Things therefore will never be well in the Church of God, so long as there is this light against light therein. When there is but one Lord among us, and his name one; and when divisions, by the consent of the whole, are banished, I mean, not persecuted, but abandoned in all by a joynt consent: and when every man shall submit his own single opinion to those truths, that by their being retained, are for the health of all: then look for good days, and not till then. For this House of the Forest of Lebanon, in which, as you see, there is light against light in three ranks, was not built to prefigure the Church in her Primitive State, but to shew us how we should be while standing before the face of the Dragon, and while shifting for our selves in the Wilderness.

And although by her Pillars, and Beauty, and Tower i and by her facing the very Metropolitan of her enemies, she sheweth that the true grace of God is in her, and a strength and courage that is invincible; yet for that she has also affixed to her station, light against light in three ranks: 'tis evident, her eye is not so single, and consequently, that her body is not so full of light, as she will be when her Sackcloth is put off, and as when she has put on her beautiful garments. For then it is that her Moon is to shine as the Sun, and that the light of her Sun is to be seven fold, even as the light of seven days: then, I say, When the Lord bindeth up the breach of his people, and healeth the stroke of their wound. Isa. 30. 26.

You to be intruded, no marvel if the Woman, though but a Woman, cries out, and set her Light against them: had she seen the Thief, and said nothing, she had been far worse.

1 Cor. 13. 12.

I told you before, That by the Windows is meant the Word, which is compared to Glass.

2Cor. 3.18 Jam. 1.23, 24, 25.

What then, Is the Word against the Word? no, verily; 'tis therefore not the Word, but opposite apprehensions, thereabout, that the Holy Ghost now intends; for he saith not, that Window was against Window, respecting the true sense of the word, but Light was against Light, respecting the divers notions and apprehensions that men of opposite Spirits would have about the Word.

25.

Nor are we to take this word Light, especially in the Antitype, in a proper, but a metaphorical sense; that is, with respect to the Judgment of both parties. Here is the true Church, and she has the true Light: Here also is the Boar, the man of sin, and the Dragon; and they see by their way, and yet as I said, all by the self-same Windows. They that are the Church, do in God's Light, see Light; but they that are not, do in their own way see. And let a Man, and a Beast, look out at the same Window, the same Door, the same Casement, yet the one will see like a Man, and the other but like a Beast. No marvel then, though they have the same Windows, that Light is against Light, and sight against sight in this House. For there are that know not, but what they know naturally as Bruits.

Psal. 92.6. Jer. 10. 8. 14, 21. Jude 10.

No marvel then, if there is here a disagreement, the Beast can but see as a Beast, but the Church is resolved not to be guided by the Eye of a Beast, though he pretends to have his light by that very Window by which the Church has hers. The Beast is Moon-ey'd, and puts darkness for light, yea, and hates the light that is so indeed: but the Saints will not hear him, for they know the Voice of their Lord.

Isa. 5. 20. Joh. 3. 20. Joh. 10.

How then can it be, but that Light should be against Light in this House, and that in a military posture? And how can it be, but that here every battel of the Warrior should be with confused noise, and Garments rolled in blood.

Isa. 9. 5.

26. And in that he saith, Light was against Light in three ranks, it shews their preparations one against another; also, that they on both sides are resolved to stand by their way: The Church is confident, the man of sin is confident; they both have the same Windows to see by, and so they manage their matters; yet not so simply by the Windows, as by their divers Judgment they make of that which shineth in at them. Each one therefore hath the true and false Profession, will be confident of his own way: he that was right, knew he was right; and he that was wrong, thought he was right; and so the Battel began. There is a way that seems right to a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death.

Pro. 14. 12

Nor is it in Man to help it; there has been reasoning, there has been disputing, there has Blood also been spilt on both sides, thorow the confidence that each had of the goodness of his own way; but no reconciliation is made, the enmity is set here of God; Iron and Clay cannot mix; God will have things go on thus in the World, till his Words shall be fulfilled: the deceived, and the deceiver are his. Things therefore must have their course in the Church in the Wilderness, till the Mystery of God shall be fulfilled.

Gen. 3. 13. Dan. 2. 42. 43. Job 12. 15. Rev. 17. 17

Hence 'tis said, God will bring Gog against his People of Israel, as a Cloud to cover the Land. But for what cause? Why, that he may contend a while with them, and then fall by their Light to the ground. Therefore he says also, That he will give Gog a place of graves in Israel, and it shall be called the valley of Hamon-gog.

Ezek. 38. 16.

God will get himself great glory, by permitting the Boar, the Man of sin, and the Dragon to revel it in the Church of God; for they by setting up, and contending for their darkness, and calling of it the Light; and by setting of it against that Light, which is Light in very deed, do not only prove the power of Truth where it is, but illustrate it so much the more: For, as black sets off white, and darkness light, so error sets off truth: He that calls a Man a horse, doth, in conclusion, but fix the belief of his Humanity so much the more in the apprehension of all rational Creatures.

Light against Light in three ranks. The three ranks on the Churches side, signifie her light in the Trinity, as was said, and in the three Offices of Christ; and the ranks against these three ranks be to signifie, the opposite apprehensions of the Enemy. They differ also about the authority of the Word, and Ordinances, about the Offices, Officers, and Executions of Office, in the Church, &c. There is an opposition every where, even round about the House, there was Light against Light in three ranks.

This House of the Forest of Lebanon was therefore a significative thing, wisely builded, and fit for the purpose for which it was designed, which was to shew what afterward would be the state of the Church in the Wilderness. Nor could any thing in the Temple more aptly express it self in a Typical way, as to any of the things concerning New Testament matters, than doth this House of the Forest of Lebanon, as to the things designed to be signified thereby. It speaks, can we but hear; It points to things, as it were with a Finger, have we but Eyes to see.

It is not therefore to be wondered at, that we hear both parties plead so much for their authority, crying out against each other, as those that destroy Religion. So doth the Church, so doth the Man of sin: The living Child is mine, saith one; nay, but the dead Child is thine, and the living Child is mine, says the other. And thus they spake before the King.

1 Kings 3. 16, 17, 18.

Now this could not be, were there not different apprehensions here; Light against Light then is the cause of all this: And here is Light against Light in three ranks; and so will be till the Beast is dead.

The Church will not give place, for she knows she has the Truth; the Dragon, and his Angels, they will not give place, but as beaten back by the power of the Truth: For thus it is said of the Dragon, and his Angels, They fought, and prevailed not. Therefore there will, there must, there cannot but be a spiritual Warfare here, and that until one of the two are destroyed, and their body given to the burning flame.

Dan. 7.11. Rev. 19.20

CHAP. VI.

28. Of the Doors, and Posts, and their Square, with the Windows of the House of the Forest of Lebanon.

1 Kin. 7.5. AND all the Doors, and Posts were square, with the Windows.

The Doors, they were for entrance, the Posts were the support of the Doors, and the Windows were, as was hinted before, for Light.

Now here they are said to be all square; square is a note of perfection; but this word square, may be taken two ways.

1. Either as to the fashion of the things themselves, or

2. With reference to the uniform order of the whole.

Ex. 27. 1. ch. 28. 16. cha 30. 2. & Rev. 21. 16. In the first sense was the Altar of burnt Offering, the Altar of Incense, and the Breast-plate of Judgment, square; and so also it is said of our New Testament New Jerusalem.

But the square in the Text is not thus to be understood, but if I mistake not, as is signified under the second head; that is, for an uniform order. The whole Fabrick, as the Doors, Posts, and VVindows, presented themselves to beholders in an exact uniform order, and so right delectable to behold. Hence we may gather, that this House of the Forest of Lebanon, was so exactly built, and consequently so compleat to view, that it was allureing to the Beholders; and that the more, for that so pretty a Fabrick should be found in a Forest, or Wood. A Lily among Thorns, a Pearl on a Dunghill, and Beauty under a Vail, will make one turn aside to look on it.

Answerable to this, the Church, even in the Wilderness, or under Persecution, is compared not only to a Woman, but to a comely and delicate Woman. And who, that shall meet such a Creature in a Wood, unless he feared God, but would seek to ravish and defile her.

Therefore I say, That which is here said to be square, must be understood to be so, as to prospect and view, or right taking to the Eye.

Thus therefore they are alluted, and think to defile her in the Bed of Love, but coming to her, and finding of her chast, and filled with nothing but Armour, and Men at Arms, to maintain her Chastity, nolens volens: their fleshly love is turned into cruel rage, and so they go to variance.

Jer. 6. 2. I have likened, says God, the Daughter of Zion to a comely and delicate woman.

But where is she? O! she is in the Field, in the Forest among the Shepherds. But what will they do with her? Why, because she complies not with their desires, they prepare War against her, saying, Arise, let us go up at noon. —Arise let us go up by night, and let us destroy her Palaces. verse 4, 5

Wherefore the beauty of the House of the Forest of Lebanon, as well as the Fortitude thereof, was a temptation to the Enemy to come to take it into their possession; especially since it stood, as it were, on the borders of Israel, and so faced the Enemies Country.

Thus the Church, though in her weeds of Widowhood, is become the desire of the Eyes of the Nations; for indeed, her Features are such, considering who is her head, where mostly to the Eye beauty lies, that whoso sees but the utmost glimpse of her, is easily ravished with her Beauties; see how the Prophet words it: Many Nations are gathered together against thee, that say, let her be defiled, and let our Eye look upon Zion. Mic. 4.11

29. The Church, the very name of the Church of God, is beautiful in the World; and, as among Women, she that has beauty, has her head desired, if it might be, to stand upon another Womans shoulders; so this, and that, and every Nation that beholds the beauty of the Church, would fain be called by that Name.

The Church, one would think, was but in a homely dress when she was coming out of Captivity; and yet then, the People of the Countreys desired to be one with her. Let us, said they to Zerubbabel, and to the Fathers of the Church, build with you, for we seek your God, as you do. Ezr. 4.2

The very name of the Church, as I said, is striven for of the World; but that is the Church which Christ has made so, her Features also remain with her self, as this comely prospect of the House of the Forest of Lebanon abode with it, who ever beheld, or wisht for it. The beauty therefore of this House, though it stood in the Forest, was admirable; even as is the beauty of the Church in the Wilderness, tho' in a bewildred state.

Hear the relation that the Holy Ghost gives of the intrinsick beauty of the Church, when she was to go to be in a persecuted state; She was clothed with the Sun, had the Moon under her feet, and had upon her head a Crown of twelve Stars. And yet now the Dragon stood by her. But I say, here's a Woman! Let who will attempt it, shew such another in the World, if he can. Rev. 12.1. ver. 3,4

They therefore, that have any regard to morality, civility, or to ceremonial comelines, cover to be of the Church of God, or to appropriate that glorious Title to themselves.

And here, indeed, Antichrist came in; she took this name to her self; and though she could not come at the Sun, nor Moon, nor Stars, to adorn herself with them, yet she has found something that makes her comely in her Followers eyes. See how the Holy Ghost sets her forth. She was arrayed in purple, and scarlet colour, and decked with Gold and precious Stones, and Pearls, having a golden Cup in her hand, &c. Rev. 17.4 Nah. 3.4 Hence she is called the well-favoured Harlot, the Lady of Kingdoms, &c. Is. 47.5,7

But

You know a Kingdom flouriſhes not, ſo long as it is the ſeat of War, but when that is over, Peace and Proſperity flouriſhes. This houſe, as has been hinted, was a Type of the Church in a Wood, a Foreſt, a Wilderneſs.

CHAP. VIII.

Of the Shields and Targets that were in the House of the Foreſt of Lebanon.

35. AS this House of the Foreſt of Lebanon, was that, which in the general, prefigured the ſtate of the Church in the Wilderneſs, ſo it was accoutred with ſuch military materials as ſuited her in ſuch a condition, that is to ſay, with Shields and Targets: conſequently with other warlike things. And Solamon made two hundred targets of beaten gold, ſix hundred ſhekeles of gold went to one target. And he made three hundred ſhields of beaten gold: three hundred ſhekeles of gold went to one ſhield: and the King put them in the houſe of the foreſt of Lebanon. 1 Kings 10 16, 17. 2 Chor. 9. 15, 16.

This ſuppoſes that the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon would be attacked by the enemy. And good reaſon there was for ſuch a ſuppoſition, ſince it was builded for defence of that worſhip that was ſet up in the Church. Hence 'tis ſaid, when the enemy uſed to come with his Chariots and Horſemen againſt them, that they did look in that day to the armour of the houſe of the foreſt. Iſa 22. 7, 8.

That was, to ſee how they were prepared at Lebanon, to make reſiſtance againſt their Foes, and to ſecure themſelves and their Religion, from that deſtruction that by the enemy, was deſigned ſhould be made upon both. And thus again, or in this thing, the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon ſhews that it was a figure of the Church in the Wilderneſs: for ſhe alſo is furniſhed with ſuch weapons as were counted by the wiſdom of God neceſſary for the ſecurity of the Soul, and Chriſtian Religion: to wit, the weapons of our warfare, the whole armour of God. 2 Cor. 10. 3, 4.

36. For, though this Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon was a place of defence, yet her Armour is deſcribed and directed too, both as to matter and to meaſure. 'Twas Armour made of Gold, ſuch Armour, and ſo much of it: and 'twas made by direction of Solomon, who was a Type of Chriſt, by the power of whoſe grace and working, our Armour is alſo provided for us, as in the Texts afore mentioned may appear.

By this deſcription, therefore, of the armour of the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon, we are confined, that being a type to the armour of God, in the Anti-type thereto for the defence of the Chriſtian Religion. We then may make uſe of none but the Armour of God for defence of our Souls, and the worſhip of God: this alone is the the golden Armour provided by our Solomon, and put in the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon, or rather in the Church in the Wilderneſs, for her to reſiſt the enemy withal.

Two hundred Targets. There is but little mention made of Targets in the Bible, nor at all expreſly how they were uſed, but once; and that was when Goliah came to defie Iſrael, he came, as without other warelike furniture, ſo with a Target of braſs betwen his ſhoulders. 37. 1 Sam. 17. 16.

A Target, that is, ſaith the Margent; a Gorget. A Gorget is a thing wore about the neck, and it ſerveth in that place inſtead of a Shield. Wherefore in ſome of your old Bibles, that which in one place is called a Target, in another is called, a Shield. A Shield for that part.

This piece of Armour, I ſuppoſe, was worn in old time, by them that uſed Spears, and it was to guard the upper part of the Back and Shoulders from the Arrows of their enemies, that were ſhot into the air, to the intent they might fall upon the upper part of the body.

The Shields were for them which drew Bows, and they were to catch, or beat off thoſe Arrows that were levelled at them by the enemy before.

Aſa had at one time an army of men that bare Targets and Spears, out of Judah three hundred thouſand, and out of Benjamin that bare ſhields, and drew bows, two hundred and fourſcore thouſand. 2 Chro. 14. 8.

I cannot tell what the Target ſhould ſignifie here, unleſs it was to ſhew that thoſe in the Type, were more weak and faint-hearted than thoſe in the Anti-type: for in that this Gorget was prepared for ſome back part of the body, it ſuppoſed the wearers ſubject to run away, to flee. But in the deſcription of the Chriſtian Armour, we have no proviſion for the back our men in the Church: ſo in the Wilderneſs are ſuppoſed to be more ſtout. Their face is made ſtrong againſt the face of their enemies, and their foreheads ſtrong againſt their foreheads. Ezek. 3. 8, 9.

The Shield was a Type of the Chriſtian Faith, and ſo the Apoſtle applies it. The which he alſo counteth a principal piece of our Chriſtian Armour: when he ſaith, Above all taking the ſhield of faith, wherewith ye ſhall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked. Eph. 6. 16.

Theſe Targets and Shields were made of Gold, to ſhew the excellent worth of this Armour of God: to wit, that it is not Carnal but Spiritual, not Humane but Divine; not common or mean, but of an infinite value. Wherefore James alluding to this, ſaith, Harken, my beloved brethren, hath not God choſen the poor of this world rich in faith? (Hath he not given them this golden ſhield) and made them heirs of that kingdom, which he hath promiſed to them that love him. 38. Jam. 2. 5.

Faith! Peter ſaith, Faith, in the very tryal of it, is much more precious than is gold that periſheth: if ſo, then what is that worth, or value that is in the grace it ſelf? 1 Pet. 1. 6, 7.

This alſo is that which Chriſt intends, when he ſays, buy of me gold tryed in the fire, that thou mayeſt be rich. Rev. 3. 18.

And

And methinks the Apostles, and the Lord Jesus Christ, do in all these places allude to the shields, the shields of Gold, that Solomon made and put in the House of the Forest of Lebanon: which house, as I have shewed, was that which indeed prefigured the state of the Church in the Wilderness: and these shields a Type of Faith.

39. Obj. But here is mention made of nothing but shields and targets?

Answ. True, and that perhaps to shew us that the War that the Church makes with Antichrist, is rather defensive than offensive. Shields and Targets are weapons defensive, weapons provided for self-preservation, not to hurt others with. A Christian also, if he can but defend his soul in the sincere profession of the true Religion, doth what by duty, as to this, he is bound. Wherefore though the New Testament admits him to put on the whole Armour of God: yet the whole, and every part thereof is spiritual, and only defensive. True, there is mention made of the Sword, but that Sword is the word of God. A weapon that hurteth none, none at all but the Devil, and Sin, and those that love it. Indeed 'twas made for Christians to defend themselves, and their Religion with, against Hell and the Angels of darkness.

Ephes. 6. 17.

These two pieces of Armour then that Solomon the King did put into the House of the Forest of Lebanon, were Types of the spiritual Armour that the Church in the Wilderness should make use of. And as we read of no more that was put there, at least to be typical, so we read of, and must use no more than we are bid to put on by the Apostle, for the defence of true Religion.

40. Object. But he that shall use none other than this, must look to come off a loser.

Answ. In the judgment of the world, this is true; but not in the judgment of them that have skill, and an heart to use it. For this Armour is not Saul's, which David refused, but God's, by which the lives of all those have been secured, that have put it on, and handled it well. You read of some of David's mighty men of valour, that their faces were as the faces of Lions, and that they were as swift of foot as the Roes upon the mountains: being expert in handling Spear and Shield.

1 Chro. 12 8.

Why, God's Armour makes a mans face look thus, also it makes him that useth it, more lively and active, than before. God's Armour is no burden to the body, nor clogg to the mind, but rather a natural, instead of an artificial Fortification.

But this Armour comes not to any, but out of the King's hand. Solomon put these Targets and Shields into the House of the Forest of Lebanon. So Christ distributeth his Armour to his Church. Hence 'tis said, 'Tis given to his to suffer for him. 'Tis given to his by himself, and on his behalf.

Philp. 1. 29

That is, that they might with it fight those battels which he shall manage against Antichrist. Hence they are called the armies in heaven: and are said, to follow their Lord upon white horses cloathed in fine linnen, white and clean. But, as I said, still their war was but defensive. For a little further, do but observe, and you shall find the beast fall upon him: And I saw the beast, and the Kings of the earth, and their armies gathered together, to make war against him that sat on the horse, and against his Army. Rev. 19. 11, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21.

'Tis they that fall on, 'tis they that pick the quarrel, and give the onset. Besides, the Armour, as I said, is only spiritual; wherefore the slaughter must needs be spiritual also. Hence, as here it is said, the Lamb did slay his enemies, by the Sword, Spirit, or breath of his Mouth; so his Army also slays them by the fire that proceedeth out of his mouth. Revelat. chap. 19. 21.

Here is therefore no mans person in danger by this war. And I say again, so far as any mans person is in danger, it is by wrong managing of this war. True, the persons of the Christians are in danger, but that is because of the bloody disposition of an antichristian enemy. But we speak now with reference to the Lamb and the Army that follows him: and as to them, no mans person is in danger simply as such. Wherefore, it is not men but sin; not men, but the man of sin, that wicked one, that the Son of God makes war against, in and by his Church. 41. 2 Thes. 2. 8. Heb. 12. 4

Let us therefore state the matter right; No man needs be afraid to let Jesus Christ be chief in the world, he envies no body, he designs the hurt of none: His Kingdom is not of this world, nor doth he covet temporal matters; Let but his wife his Church alone, to enjoy her purchased priviledges, and all shall be well. Which priviledges of hers, since they are soul-concerns, make no infringement upon any mans Liberties: let but Faith and Holiness walk the Streets without controule, and you may be as happy as the world can make you. I speak now to them that contend with him.

But, If seasonable counsel will not go down, if hardness of heart and blindness of mind, and so perishing from the way shall overtake you, 'tis but what you of old have been cautioned of. Be wise now therefore, O ye Kings, be instructed ye Judges of the earth. Serve the Lord with fear, and rejoyce with trembling. Kiss the Son, lest he be angry, and ye perish from the way, when his wrath is kindled but a little. Blessed are all they that put their trust in him. Psal. 2. 10, 11, 12.

Now let this also that has been said upon this head, be another argument to prove that the House of the Forest of Lebanon, was a Type of the Church in the Wilderness.

CHAP. VIII.

Of the Vessels which Solomon put in the House of the Forest of Lebanon. 42.

Solomon did also put Vessels into the House of the Forest of Lebanon. And all King Solomon's drinking vessels were of gold, and all the vessels of the House of the Forest of Lebanon 1 King. 10. 21. 2 Chron. 9. 20.

banon were of Gold, pure Gold, none were of Silver; it was nothing accounted of in the days of Solomon.

Since it is not expreſſed what thoſe Veſſels of pure Gold were which Solomon put in the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon, therefore, as to the Affirmative, no Man can be abſolute; Veſſels of Gold, Veſſels of pure Gold, the Holy Ghoſt ſays they were, and ſo leaves it to the Prudent to make their Conjectures: And although I may not put my ſelf among the number of thoſe prudent Ones, yet let me take leave to ſay what I think in the caſe.

Firſt then, Negatively, They were not Veſſels ordained for Divine Worſhip; for, as that was confined to the Temple, ſo the Veſſels, and Materials, and Circumſtances for Worſhip, was there.

2 Chro. 2. 4. I ſay, the whole uniform Worſhip of the Jews now, was confined to the Temple.

chap. 7.12 15, 16. Wherefore, the Veſſels here mentioned, could not be ſuch as was in order to ſet up Worſhip here, for to Jeruſalem they were to bring their Sacrifices: True, they had Synagogues where ordinary Service was done; there the Law was read, and there the Prieſts taught the People how they ſhould ſerve the Lord; but for that which ſtood in Carnal Ordinances, as Sacrificings, Waſhings, and uſing Veſſels for that purpoſe, that was performed at Jeruſalem.

This Houſe therefore, to wit, the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon, was not builded to ſlay, or to offer burnt Offerings or Sacrifices in, but as that Altar was which the two Tribes, and an half builded by Jordan, when they went each to their Inheritance; namely, to be a witneſs of the Peoples Reſolutions to preſerve Joſ. 22.21. 29. true Religion in the Church, to themſelves, and to their Poſterity.

Since this Houſe therefore was deſigned for defenſive War, 'twas not requiſite that the Formalities of Worſhip ſhould be there.

43. The Church in the Wilderneſs alſo, ſo far as 1 Theſ. 2.2. ſhe is concerned in Contention, ſo far ſhe is not taken up in the practical parts of Religion: for Religion is not to be practiſed in the Church in the moments of Contention. Let us practiſe then our Religion in peace, and in all peaceable ways, and vindicate it by way of Contention; Phil. 1. 7. 17. Acts 22. 1. that is, when asked, or required, by Oppoſites, to render a reaſon thereof.

Acts 26. 4, 25. But my Contention muſt be, not in pragmatick Languages, or in ſtriving about words to Tit. 3.1,2. no profit, but by words of Truth and Soberneſs, 1 Pet. 3.15. with all meekneſs and fear.

To practiſe, and defend a practice, you know are two things: I practiſe Religion in my Cloſet, in my Family, in the Congregation; but I defend this practice before the Magiſtrate, the King, and the Judge. Now the Temple was prepared for the practice of Religion, and the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon for defence of the ſame.

Pſal. 20. 5. Pſal. 60. 4. Song 6. 4. Rev. 11. 1. Jer. 19.14. So far then as the Church in the Wilderneſs Worſhips, ſo far ſhe is compared to the Temple; and ſo far as ſhe defends that Worſhip, ſo far ſhe is called an Army; an Army terrible with Banners. For God has given a Banner to them that fear him, that it may be diſplayed becauſe of the Truth. Hence ſhe ſays to God, We will rejoice in thy Salvation, and in the Name of our God, we will ſet up our Banners.

But here is in all this, no hurt to the World; the Kingdom, the Worſhip, the War is Spiritual, even as the Armour is. I have ſpoken this to diſtinguiſh Worſhip, from contending for Worſhip, and to make way for what is yet to be ſaid.

If the Veſſels of the Foreſt of Lebanon, or thoſe put into that Houſe, were not ſuch as related to Worſhip, to Worſhip ſimply as ſuch, then it ſhould ſeem.

These Veſſels therefore, were for ſome other uſe, than for Formal Worſhip, in the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon. The beſt way then, that I know of, to find out what they were, is, firſt to conſider to what they are joined in the mention of them. Now I find them joined in the mention of them, with Solomon's drinking Veſſels; and ſince, as they were made of fine, or pure Gold, I take them alſo to be Veſſels of the ſame kind, to wit, Veſſels to drink in. Now, if we join to this, the ſtate of the Church in the Wilderneſs, of which, as we have ſaid, this Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon was a Type, then we muſt underſtand that by theſe Veſſels were prefigured, ſuch draughts as the Church has, when in a bewildered, or perſecuted ſtate; and they are of two ſorts, either

1. Such as are exceeding bitter; or,
2. Such as are exceeding ſweet: For both theſe attend a ſtate of War.

Pſal. 75.8. Iſa. 51. 17. 22. Jer. 25. 15. Eze. 23. 33. 1. Such as are exceeding bitter, theſe are called Cups of red Wine, ſignifying Blood; alſo, the Cup of the Lord's Fury, the Cup of Trembling, the Cup of Aſtoniſhment, &c.

Nor is there any thing more natural to the Church, while in a Wilderneſs condition, than ſuch Cups and Draughts as theſe. Hence ſhe, as there, is ſaid to be clothed, as was ſaid afore, in Sackcloth, to mourn, to weep, to cry out, and to be in pain, as is a Woman in Travail. See the Lamentations, and you will find all this verified. See alſo Revel. 11. 3. chap. 12. 2.

And, whoſo conſiders what has already been ſaid, as to what the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon met with, will find that what is here inferred, is not Foreign, but Natural. For, can it be imagined, that when the King of Aſſyria laid down his Army by the ſides of Lebanon, and when the Fire was to devour her Cedars; alſo, when Lebanon was to be cut down and languiſhr, that theſe Veſſels, theſe Cups, was not then put into her hand. And, I ſay, again, ſince the Church in the Wilderneſs, Lebanon's Antitype, has been ſo perſecuted, ſo diſtreſſed, ſo oppreſſed, and made the Seat of ſo much War, ſo much Blood, of ſo many Murders of her Children within her, &c. can it be imagined, that ſhe drank of none of theſe Cups? Yes, yes; ſhe has drank the red Wine at the Lord's hand, even the Cup of Blood, of Fury, of Trembling, and of Aſtoniſhment. Witneſs her own Cries, Sighs, Tears, and Tremblings; with the cries of Widows, Children, and Orphans within her.

Lam. 1. 2. 4. 11, 12. 16, 17, 20, 21. Cha. 2. 10, 11, 20. Cha. 4. 1, 2, 3, 4, 7, 8, 22. cha. 5. 3, 5, 15, 17, 22

But what do I cite particular Texts, ſince Reaſon, Hiſtories, Experience, any thing that is intelligible, will confirm this for a Truth:

namely, that a People, whose Profession is directly in opposition to the Devil and Antichrist, and to all Debauchery, Inhumanity, Profaneness, Superstition, and Idolatry, when suffered to be invaded by the Dragon, the Beast, the false Prophet, and Whore, must needs tast of these Cups, and drink thereof to their astonishment.

But all these are of pure Gold. They are of God's ordaining, appointing, filling, timeing; and also Sanctified by Him for good to those of His that drink them. Hence Moses chose rather to drink a brimmer of these, than to enjoy the pleasures of Sin for a season. Heb 11.25.

The sowreness, bitterness, and wormwood of them, therefore, is only to the Flesh, that loveth neither God, nor Christ, nor Grace. 1 Thes. 3.3. Rev. 2. 10. Psal. 75. 8. Isa. 27. 9. 1 Pet. 1 6. Heb. 12. 7, 8, 9, 10. 1 Pet. 2. 19. 2 Cor. 4. 17, 18.

The afflictions therefore, that the Church in the Wilderness hath met with, these Cups of Gold, are of more worth, than are all the Treasures of Egypt; they are needful, and profitable, and praise-worthy also, and tend to the augmenting of our Glory, when the next World is come.

Besides, They are signs, tokens, and golden marks of love; and Jewels that set off the beauty of the Church in the sight of God the more. They are also a means by which men are proved sound, honest, faithful, and true Lovers of God; as also such, whose Graces are not counterfeit, feigned, or unsound, but true, and such as will be found to praise, and honour, and glory, at the appearing of Jesus Christ. Phil. 1. 28. 2 Thes. 1. 5. Gal. 6. 17. Rev. 3. 19. Hab. 12. 6.

46. And this has been the cause that the Men of our Church in the Wilderness, have gloried in Tribulation; taking pleasure in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, and in distresses, for Christ's sake. Yea, this is the reason, why they have bidden one another rejoice, when they fell into divers Temptations, saying, Happy is the Man that endureth Temptations; and behold we count them happy that endure: And again, If ye be reproached for the Name of Christ, happy are ye. Rom. 5. 3. 2 Cor. 12. 9, 10. Jam. 1. 2. 12. cha. 5. 11. 1 Pet. 4. 14.

These therefore are Vessels of pure Gold, tho' they contain such bitter Draughts, and though such, as at which we make so many wry faces, before we can get their Liquor down.

Do you think that a Christian, having even this Cup in his hand to drink it, would change it for a draught of that which is in the hand of the Woman that sits on the back of the scarlet-coloured Beast? No, verily; for he knows that her sweet is poison, and that his bitter is to purge his Soul, Body, Life, and Religion, of Death. Rev. 17. 3, 4. 2 Tim. 2. 11, 12.

God sends his Love Tokens to his Church two ways, sometimes by her Friends, sometimes by her Enemies. When they come by the hand of a Friend, as by a Minister, a Brother, or by the Holy Ghost; then they come smoothly, sweetly, and are taken, and go down like Hony. But when these Love Tokens come to them by the hand of an Enemy, then they are handed to them roughly: Pharaoh handed Love Tokens to them roughly: The King of Babylon handed these Love Tokens to them roughly. They bring them of Malice; God sends them of Love; they bring them, and give them to us, hoping they will be our death: They give us them therefore with many a foul Curse; but God blesses them still. Did not Haman lead Mordecai in his state, by the hand of anger?

Nor is this Cup so bitter, but that our Lord himself drank deep of it, before 'twas handed to his Church: He did, as loving Mothers do, drink thereof himself, to shew us it is not poison, also to encourage us to drink it for his sake, and for our endless health. Mat. 20. 22. chap. 26. 39. 42.

And, as I told you before, I think I do not vary from the Sense of the Text, in calling them Cups; because, tho' there they have no name, they are joined with King Solomon's drinking Vessels; and because as so joined in the Type, so they are also joined here: Therefore the Cup here is called Christ's Cup. Are ye able to drink of the Cup that I drink of? Ye shall indeed drink of my Cup. Here you see they are joined in a Communion in this Cup of Affliction, as the Cups in one and the same breath are joined with those King Solomon drank in, which he put in the House of the Forest of Lebanon. 47.

But these are not all the Cups that belong to the House of the Forest of Lebanon, or rather to the Church in the Wilderness; there is also a Cup, out of which, at times, is drunk what is exceeding sweet.

It is called The Cup of Consolation, the Cup of Salvation; a Cup in the which God himself is. As he said, The Lord is the portion of my Cup. Or rather, The Lord is the portion of mine Inheritance, and my Cup. Psal. 16. 5. Psal. 116. 13. Jer. 16. 7.

This Cup, they that are in the Church in the Wilderness have usually for an after-draught to that bitter one that went before: Thus, as tender Mothers give their Children Plums, or Sugar, to sweeten their Palate after they have drank a bitter Potion, so God gives his the Cups of Salvation, and Consolation, after they have suffered a while. For as the Sufferings of Christ abound in us, so our Consolation aboundeth by Christ. 2 Cor. 1. 5.

Hence the Apostle assureth himself, concerning the Affliction of them at Corinth; yea, and also promiseth them, That as they were partakers of the Sufferings, so should they be of the Consolation. 2 Cor. 1. 7.

Some of these Cups are filled 'till they run over, as David said, his did, when the valley of the shadow of Death was before him. Thou prepare'st a Table before me, said he, in the presence of mine Enemies: Thou anointest my Head with Oil, my Cup runneth over. Psal. 23. 5.

This is that which the Apostle calls exceeding; that is, that which is beyond measure. I am, says he, filled with comfort, I am exceeding joyful in all our Tribulations. 2 Cor. 7. 4.

Now he has one answering the other. Thou hast made Summer and Winter: Thou hast made the warm Beams of thy Sun answerable to the cold of the dark Night. This may be also yet signified by the building of this House, this Type of the Church in the Wilderness, in so pleasant a place as the Forest of Lebanon was. Lebanon! Lebanon was one of the sweetest places in all the Land of Canaan. Therefore we read of the Fruit of Lebanon, of the Streams from Lebanon; the scent, the smell, the glory of Lebanon; and also of the Wine and Flowers of Lebanon. 48. Psa. 72. 16. Song. 4. 11. 15. Isa. 35. 2. cha. 60. 13. Hos. 14. 6. Nah. 1. 4.

Lebanon! That was one thing that wrought with Moses to desire that he might go over Jordan; namely, That he might see that goodly Mountain, and Lebanon. The glory and excellent beauty of the Church, Christ also setteth forth, by comparing of her to Lebanon. Thy Lips, O my Spouse, says he, drop as an Hony-Comb; Ho-

ny

Cant. 4.11. ny and Milk are under thy Tongue, and the ſmell of thy Garment, is like the ſmell of Lebanon.

This Houſe therefore, being placed here, might be to ſhew, how bleſſed a ſtate God could make the ſtate of his Church by his bleſſed Grace and Preſence, even while ſhe is in a wilderneſs condition. Deu. 3.25.

We will add to this, for further demonſtration, that Letter of that godly man, Pomponius Algerius, an Italian Martyr; ſome of the words of which, are theſe:

'Let, ſaith he, the miſerable worldly man
49. 'anſwer me; What remedy, or ſafe refuge, can
'there be to him that lacketh God, who is the 'Life and Medicine of all men? And how can
'he be ſaid to fly from Death, when himſelf is
'alread dead in ſin. If Chriſt be the way, ve-
'rity, and life, How can there be any life then
'without Chriſt?

'The heat of the Priſon to me is cold-
'neſs; the cold Winter to me is a freſh Spring
'in the Lord. He that feareth not to be burn'ed in the Fire; how will he fear the heat of 'Weather? Or, what careth he for the pinch-
'ing Froſt, which burneth with the Love of the 'Lord.

'The Place is ſharp and tedious to them that
'be guilty; but to the innocent and guiltleſs it
'is melliſluous. Here droppeth the delectable
'Dew; here floweth the pleaſant Nectar; here
'runneth the ſweet Milk; here is plenty of all 'good things. And altho' the place it ſelf be de-
'ſart and barren; yet to me it ſeemeth a large
'walk, and a valley of pleaſure; here to me is
'the better and more noble part of the World.
'Let the miſerable worldling ſay, and confeſs,
'if there be any Plot, Paſture, or Meadow, ſo
'delightful to the mind of man, as here. Here
'I ſee Kings, Princes, Cities, and People; here
'I ſee Wars, where ſome be overthrown, ſome
'be Victors, ſome thruſt down, ſome liſted up.
'Here is Mount Sion; here I am already in Hea'ven it ſelf. Here ſtandeth firſt Chriſt Jeſus in 'the front; about him ſtand the old Fathers,
'Prophets, and Evangeliſts, Apoſtles, and all
'the Servants of God: of whome ſome do im-
'brace and cheriſh me, ſome exhort me, ſome
'open the Sacraments to me, ſome comfort
'me, others are ſinging about me: And how
'then ſhall I be thought to be alone, among ſo
'many, and ſuch as theſe be, the beholding of 'whome is to me both ſolace end example. For
'here I ſee ſome crucified, ſome ſlain, ſome
'ſtoned, ſome cut aſunder, and ſome quartered,
'ſome roaſted, ſome broiled, ſome put in hot
'Caldrons, ſome having their Eyes boared
'thorow, ſome their Tongues cut out, ſome
'their Skin plucked over their Heads, ſome their 'Hands and Feet chopt off, ſome put into Kilns
'and Furnaces, ſome caſt down head-long, and
'given to the Beaſts, and Fowls of the Air to 'feed on. It would, ſaid he, ask a long time,
'if I ſhould recite all.

50. 'To be ſhort, divers I ſee with divers and
'ſundry Torments excruciated; yet notwithſtan-
'ding, all living, and all ſafe. One Plaiſter, one
'Salve, cureth all their wounds, which alſo
'giveth to me ſtrength and life; ſo that I ſu
'ſtain all theſe tranſitory anguiſhes, and ſmall
'afflictions, with a quiet mind, having a greater
'hope laid up in Heaven. Neither do I fear
'mine Adverſaries which here perſecute me,
'and oppreſs me, for he that dwells in Heaven
'ſhall laugh them to ſcorn, and the Lord ſhall
'deride them. I fear not ten Thouſands of Peo'ple which com[illegible]s me about. The Lord, my 'God, ſhall deliver me, my hope, my ſuppor-
'ter, my comforter, who exalteth up my head.
'He ſhall ſmite all them that ſtand up againſt
'me without cauſe; and ſhall daſh the teeth and
'faces of ſinners aſunder, for He only is all Bleſ-
'ſedneſs and Majeſty.

'The rebukes for Chriſt make us jocund;

'Glory and Spirit of God reſteth upon you. Be ye
'therefore certified (ſaid he, by this his Letter 'to his Friends) that our rebukes, which are laid 'upon us, redound to the ſhame and harm of
'the Rebukers.

'In this World there is no Manſion firm to 'me; and therefore I will travel up to the 'New Jeruſalem which is in Heaven, and which
'offereth it ſelf to me, without paying any fine,
'or income. Behold, I have entered already
'on my Journey, where my Houſe ſtandeth
'for me prepared, and where I ſhall have Riches,
'Kinſfolks, Delights, Honours, never-failing.

'As for theſe earthly things here preſent,
'they are tranſitory Shadows, vaniſhing Va-
'pours, and ruinous Walls. Briefly, all is but 'very Vanity of Vanities, whereas hope, and
'the ſubſtance of Eternity to come, are wan-
'ing; which the merciful goodneſs of the Lord
'hath given, as Companions to accompany me,
'and to comfort me; and now do the ſame
'begin to work, and to bring forth Fruits in me.
'I have travelled hitherto, laboured and ſweat
'early and late, walking day and night, and
'now my travels begin to come to effect. Days
'and Hours I have beſtowed upon my ſtudies.

'Behold the true Countenance of God is 'ſealed upon me, the Lord hath given mirth in 'my heart and therefore in the ſame will I lay
'me down in peace and reſt. And who then Pſal. 4.
'ſhall dare to blame this our Age conſumed;
'or ſay, that our years be cut off? What man
'can now cavil, that theſe our labours are loſt,
'which have followed, and found out the Lord
'and Maker of the World, and which have 'changed death for life. My portion is the 'Lord, ſaith my Soul, and therefore I will ſeek
'and wait for him.

'Now then, If to die in the Lord, be not to 51.
'die, but live moſt joyfully, where is this 'wretched worldly Rebel, which blameth us
'of folly, for giving away our lives to death? O
'how delectable is this death to me! To taſt the 'Lord's Cup, which is an aſſured pledge of true
'Salvation; for ſo hath the Lord fore-warned
'us, ſaying, The ſame that they have done to me,
'they will alſo do unto you.

'Wherefore, let the doltiſh World, with his 'blind worldlings (whoin the bright Sun-ſhine,
'yet go ſtumbling in Darkneſs, being as blind
'as Beetles) ceaſe thus unwiſely to carp againſt
'us, for our raſh ſuffering, as they count it.
'To whom, thus, we anſwer again, with the 'Holy Apoſtle, That neither Tribulation, nor
'Anguiſh, nor Hunger, nor Nakedneſs, nor
'Jeopardy, nor Perſecution, nor Sword, ſhall
'be able ever to ſeparate us from the love of

And methinks the Apostles, and the Lord Jesus Christ, do in all these places allude to the shields, the shields of Gold, that Solomon made and put in the House of the Forest of Lebanon: which house, as I have shewed, was that which indeed prefigured the state of the Church in the Wilderness: and these shields a Type of Faith.

39. Obj. But here is mention made of nothing but shields and targets?

Answ. True, and that perhaps to shew us that the War that the Church makes with Antichrist, is rather defensive than offensive. Shields and Targets are weapons defensive, weapons provided for self-preservation, not to hurt others with. A Christian also, if he can but defend his soul in the sincere profession of the true Religion, doth what by duty, as to this, he is bound. Wherefore though the New Testament admits him to put on the whole Armour of God: yet the whole, and every part thereof is spiritual, and only defensive. True, there is mention made of the Sword, but that Sword is the word of God. A weapon that hurteth none, none at all but the Devil, and Sin, and those that love it. Indeed 'twas made for Christians to defend themselves, and their Religion with, against Hell and the Angels of darkness.

Eph. 6. 17.

These two pieces of Armour then that Solomon the King did put into the House of the Forest of Lebanon, were Types of the spiritual Armour that the Church in the Wilderness should make use of. And as we read of no more that was put there, at least to be typical, so we read of, and must use no more than we are bid to put on by the Apostle, for the defence of true Religion.

40. Object. But he that shall use none other than this, must look to come off a loser.

Answ. In the judgment of the world, this is true; but not in the judgment of them that have skill, and an heart to use it. For this Armour is not Saul's, which David refused, but God's, by which the lives of all those have been secured, that have put it on, and handled it well. You read of some of David's mighty men of valour, that their faces were as the faces of Lions, and that they were as swift of foot as the Roes upon the mountains: being expert in handling Spear and Shield.

1 Chro. 12 8.

Why, God's Armour makes a mans face look thus, also it makes him that useth it, more lively and active, than before. God's Armour is no burden to the body, nor clogg to the mind, but rather a natural, instead of an artificial Fortification.

But this Armour comes not to any, but out of the King's hand. Solomon put these Targets and Shields into the House of the Forest of Lebanon. So Christ distributeth his Armour to his Church. Hence 'tis said, 'Tis given to his to suffer for him. 'Tis given to his by himself, and on his behalf.

Philp. 1. 29

That is, that they might with it fight those battels which he shall manage against Antichrist. Hence they are called the armies in heaven: and are said, to follow their Lord upon white horses cloathed in fine linnen, white and clean. But, as I said, still their war was but defensive. For a little further, do but observe, and you shall find the beast fall upon him. And I saw the beast, and the Kings of the earth, and their armies gathered together, to make war against him that sat on the horse, and against his Army. Rev. 19. 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21.

'Tis they that fall on, 'tis they that pick the quarrel, and give the onset. Besides, the Armour, as I said, is only spiritual; wherefore the slaughter must needs be spiritual also. Hence, as here it is said, the Lamb did slay his enemies, by the Sword, Spirit, or breath of his Mouth; so his Army also slays them by the fire that proceedeth out of his mouth. Revel. 19. chap. 19. 21.

Here is therefore no mans person in danger by this war. And I say again, so far as any mans person is in danger, it is by wrong managing of this war. True, the persons of the Christians are in danger, but that is because of the bloody disposition of an antichristian enemy. But we speak now with reference to the Lamb and the Army that follows him: and as to them, no mans person is in danger simply as such. Wherefore, it is not men but sin; not men, but the man of sin, that wicked one, that the Son of God makes war against, in and by his Church. 41. 2 Thes. 2. 8. Heb. 12. 4

Let us therefore state the matter right; No man needs be afraid to let Jesus Christ be chief in the world, he envies no body, he designs the hurt of none: His Kingdom is not of this world, nor doth he covet temporal matters; Let but his wife his Church alone, to enjoy her purchased priviledges, and all shall be well. Which priviledges of hers, since they are soul-concerns, make no infringement upon any mans Liberties: let but Faith and Holiness walk the Streets without controule, and you may be as happy as the world can make you. I speak now to them that contend with him.

But, If seasonable counsel will not go down, if hardness of heart and blindness of mind, and so perishing from the way shall overtake you, 'tis but what you of old have been cautioned of. Be wise now therefore, O ye Kings, be instructed ye Judges of the earth. Serve the Lord with fear, and rejoyce with trembling. Kiss the Son, lest he be angry, and ye perish from the way, when his wrath is kindled but a little. Blessed are all they that put their trust in him. Psal. 2. 10, 11, 12.

Now let this also that has been said upon this head, be another argument to prove that the House of the Forest of Lebanon, was a Type of the Church in the Wilderness.

CHAP. VIII.

Of the Vessels which Solomon put in the House of the Forest of Lebanon. 42.

Solomon did also put Vessels into the House of the Forest of Lebanon. And all King Solomon's drinking vessels were of gold, and all the vessels of the House of the Forest of Lebanon 1 King. 10. 21. 2 Chro. 9. 20.

banon were of Gold, pure Gold, none were of Silver; it was nothing accounted of in the days of Solomon.

Since it is not expressed what those Vessels of pure Gold were which Solomon put in the House of the Forest of Lebanon, therefore, as to the Affirmative, no Man can be absolute; Vessels of Gold, Vessels of pure Gold, the Holy Ghost says they were, and so leaves it to the Prudent to make their Conjectures: And although I may not put my self among the number of those prudent Ones, yet let me take leave to say what I think in the case.

First then, Negatively, They were not Vessels ordained for Divine Worship; for, as that was confined to the Temple, so the Vessels, and Materials, and Circumstances for Worship, was there.

2 Chro. 2. 4. chap. 7.12 15, 16. I say, the whole uniform Worship of the Jews now, was confined to the Temple.

Wherefore, the Vessels here mentioned, could not be such as was in order to set up Worship here, for to Jerusalem they were to bring their Sacrifices: True, they had Synagogues where ordinary Service was done; there the Law was read, and there the Priests taught the People how they should serve the Lord; but for that which stood in Carnal Ordinances, as Sacrificings, Washings, and using Vessels for that purpose, that was performed at Jerusalem.

This House therefore, to wit, the House of the Forest of Lebanon, was not builded to slay, or to offer burnt Offerings or Sacrifices in, but as that Altar was which the two Tribes, and an half builded by Jordan, when they went each to their Inheritance; namely, to be a witness of the Peoples Resolutions to preserve Jos. 22.21. 29. true Religion in the Church, to themselves, and to their Posterity.

Since this House therefore was designed for defensive War, 'twas not requisite that the Formalities of Worship should be there.

43. The Church in the Wilderness also, so far as 1 Thes. 2. she is concerned in Contention, so far she is not taken up in the practical parts of Religion: for Religion is not to be practised in the Church in the moments of Contention. Let us practise then our Religion in peace, and in all peaceable ways, and vindicate it by way of Contention; Phil. 1. 7. 17. Acts 22. 1. that is, when asked, or required, by Opposites, to render a reason thereof.

Acts 26. 4, 25. Tit. 3. 1, 2. 1 Pet. 3. 15. But my Contention must be, not in pragmatick Languages, or in striving about words to no profit, but by words of Truth and Soberness, with all meekness and fear.

To practise, and defend a practice, you know are two things: I practise Religion in my Closet, in my Family, in the Congregation; but I defend this practice before the Magistrate, the King, and the Judge. Now the Temple was prepared for the practice of Religion, and the House of the Forest of Lebanon for defence of the same.

Psal. 20. 5. Psal. 60. 4. Song 6. 4. Rev. 11. 1. Jer. 19. 14. So far then as the Church in the Wilderness Worships, so far she is compared to the Temple; and so far as she defends that Worship, so far she is called an Army; an Army terrible with Banners. For God has given a Banner to them that fear him, that it may be displayed because of the Truth. Hence she says to God, We will rejoice in thy Salvation, and in the Name of our God, we will set up our Banners.

But here is in all this, no hurt to the World; the Kingdom, the Worship, the War is Spiritual, even as the Armour is. I have spoken this to distinguish Worship, from contending for Worship, and to make way for what is yet to be said.

If the Vessels of the Forest of Lebanon, or those put into that House, were not such as related to Worship, to Worship simply as such, then it should seem.

These Vessels therefore, were for some other use, than for Formal Worship, in the House of the Forest of Lebanon. The best way then, that I know of, to find out what they were, is, first to consider to what they are joined in the mention of them. Now I find them joined in the mention of them, with Solomon's drinking Vessels; and since, as they were made of fine, or pure Gold, I take them also to be Vessels of the same kind, to wit, Vessels to drink in. Now, if we join to this, the state of the Church in the Wilderness, of which, as we have said, this House of the Forest of Lebanon was a Type, then we must understand that by these Vessels were prefigured, such draughts as the Church has, when in a bewildered, or persecuted state; and they are of two sorts, either

44. 1. Such as are exceeding bitter; or,

2. Such as are exceeding sweet: For both these attend a state of War.

1. Such as are exceeding bitter, these are called Cups of red Wine, signifying Blood; also, the Cup of the Lord's Fury, the Cup of Trembling, the Cup of Astonishment, &c. Psal. 75. 8. Isa. 51. 17. 22. Jer. 25. 15. Eze. 23. 33.

Nor is there any thing more natural to the Church, while in a Wilderness condition, than such Cups and Draughts as these. Hence she, as there, is said to be clothed, as was said afore, in Sackcloth, to mourn, to weep, to cry out, and to be in pain, as is a Woman in Travail. See the Lamentations, and you will find all this verified. See also Revel. 11. 3. chap. 12. 2.

And, whoso considers what has already been said, as to what the House of the Forest of Lebanon met with, will find that what is here inferred, is not Foreign, but Natural. For, can it be imagined, that when the King of Assyria laid down his Army by the sides of Lebanon, and when the Fire was to devour her Cedars; also, when Lebanon was to be cut down and languish, that these Vessels, these Cups, was not then put into her hand. And, I say, again, since the Church in the Wilderness, Lebanon's Antitype, has been so persecuted, so distressed, so oppressed, and made the Seat of so much War, so much Blood, of so many Murders of her Children within her, &c. can it be imagined, that she drank of none of these Cups? Yes, yes; she has drank the red Wine at the Lord's hand, even the Cup of Blood, of Fury, of Trembling, and of Astonishment. Witness her own Cries, Sighs, Tears, and Tremblings; with the cries of Widows, Children, and Orphans within her. Lam. 1. 2. 4. 11, 12. 16, 17, 20, 21. Cha. 2. 10, 11, 20. Cha. 4. 1, 2, 3, 4, 7, 8, 22. cha. 5. 3, 5, 15, 17, 22

45. But what do I cite particular Texts, since Reason, Histories, Experience, any thing that is intelligible, will confirm this for a Truth:

namely, that a People, whose Profession is directly in opposition to the Devil and Antichrist, and to all Debauchery, Inhumanity, Profaneness, Superstition, and Idolatry, when suffered to be invaded by the Dragon, the Beast, the false Prophet, and Whore, must needs tast of these Cups, and drink thereof to their astonishment.

But all these are of pure Gold. They are of God's ordaining, appointing, filling, timeing; and also Sanctified by Him for good to those of His that drink them. Hence Moses chose rather to drink a brimmer of these, than to enjoy the pleasures of Sin for a season. Heb 11.25.

The sowreness, bitterness, and wormwood of them, therefore, is only to the Flesh, that loveth neither God, nor Christ, nor Grace. 1 Thes. 3.3. Rev. 2. 10. Psal. 75. 8. Isa. 27. 9. 1 Pet. 1 6. Heb. 12. 7, 8, 9, 10. 1 Pet. 2. 19. 2 Cor. 4. 17, 18.

The afflictions therefore, that the Church in the Wilderness hath met with, these Cups of Gold, are of more worth, than are all the Treasures of Egypt; they are needful, and profitable, and praise-worthy also, and tend to the augmenting of our Glory, when the next World is come.

Besides, They are signs, tokens, and golden marks of love; and Jewels that set off the beauty of the Church in the sight of God the more. They are also a means by which men are proved sound, honest, faithful, and true Lovers of God; as also such, whose Graces are not counterfeit, feigned, or unsound, but true, and such as will be found to praise, and honour, and glory, at the appearing of Jesus Christ. Phil. 1. 28. 2 Thes. 1. 5. Gal. 6. 17. Rev. 3. 19. Hab. 12. 6.

46. And this has been the cause that the Men of our Church in the Wilderness, have gloried in Tribulation; taking pleasure in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, and in distresses, for Christ's sake. Yea, this is the reason, why they have bidden one another rejoice, when they fell into divers Temptations, saying, Happy is the Man that endureth Temptations; and behold we count them happy that endure: And again, If ye be reproached for the Name of Christ, happy are ye. Rom. 5. 3. 2 Cor. 12. 9, 10. Jam. 1. 2. 12. cha. 5. 11. 1 Pet. 4. 14.

These therefore are Vessels of pure Gold, tho' they contain such bitter Draughts, and though such, as at which we make so many wry faces, before we can get their Liquor down.

Do you think that a Christian, having even this Cup in his hand to drink it, would change it for a draught of that which is in the hand of the Woman that sits on the back of the scarlet-coloured Beast? No, verily; for he knows that her sweet is poison, and that his bitter is to purge his Soul, Body, Life, and Religion, of Death. Rev. 17. 3, 4. 2 Tim. 2. 11, 12.

God sends his Love Tokens to his Church two ways, sometimes by her Friends, sometimes by her Enemies. When they come by the hand of a Friend, as by a Minister, a Brother, or by the Holy Ghost; then they come smoothly, sweetly, and are taken, and go down like Hony. But when these Love Tokens come to them by the hand of an Enemy, then they are handed to them roughly: Pharaoh handed Love Tokens to them roughly: The King of Babylon handed these Love Tokens to them roughly. They bring them of Malice; God sends them of Love; they bring them, and give them to us, hoping they will be our death: They give us them therefore with many a foul Curse; but God blesses them still. Did not Haman lead Mordecai in his state, by the hand of anger?

Nor is this Cup so bitter, but that our Lord himself drank deep of it, before 'twas handed to his Church: He did, as loving Mothers do, drink thereof himself, to shew us it is not poison, also to encourage us to drink it for his sake, and for our endless health. Mat. 20. 22. chap. 26. 39. 42.

And, as I told you before, I think I do not vary from the Sense of the Text, in calling them Cups; because, tho' there they have no name, they are joined with King Solomon's drinking Vessels; and because as so joined in the Type, so they are also joined here: Therefore the Cup here is called Christ's Cup. Are ye able to drink of the Cup that I drink of? Ye shall indeed drink of my Cup. Here you see they are joined in a Communion in this Cup of Affliction, as the Cups in one and the same breath are joined with those King Solomon drank in, which he put in the House of the Forest of Lebanon. 47.

But these are not all the Cups that belong to the House of the Forest of Lebanon, or rather to the Church in the Wilderness; there is also a Cup, out of which, at times, is drunk what is exceeding sweet.

It is called The Cup of Consolation, the Cup of Salvation; a Cup in the which God himself is. As he said, The Lord is the portion of my Cup. Or rather, The Lord is the portion of mine Inheritance, and my Cup. Psal. 16. 5. Psal. 116. 13. Jer. 16. 5.

This Cup, they that are in the Church in the Wilderness have usually for an after-draught to that bitter one that went before: Thus, as tender Mothers give their Children Plums, or Sugar, to sweeten their Palate after they have drank a bitter Potion, so God gives his the Cups of Salvation, and Consolation, after they have suffered a while. For as the Sufferings of Christ abound in us, so our Consolation aboundeth by Christ. 2 Cor. 1. 5.

Hence the Apostle assureth himself, concerning the Affliction of them at Corinth; yea, and also promiseth them, That as they were partakers of the Sufferings, so should they be of the Consolation. 2 Cor. 1. 7.

Some of these Cups are filled 'till they run over, as David said, his did, when the valley of the shadow of Death was before him. Thou preparest a Table before me, said he, in the presence of mine Enemies: Thou anointest my Head with Oil, my Cup runneth over. Psal. 23. 5.

This is that which the Apostle calls exceeding; that is, that which is beyond measure. I am, says he, filled with comfort, I am exceeding joyful in all our Tribulations. 2 Cor. 7. 4.

Now he has one answering the other. Thou hast made Summer and Winter: Thou hast made the warm Beams of thy Sun answerable to the cold of the dark Night. This may be also yet signified by the building of this House, this Type of the Church in the Wilderness, in so pleasant a place as the Forest of Lebanon was. Lebanon! Lebanon was one of the sweetest places in all the Land of Canaan. Therefore we read of the Fruit of Lebanon, of the Streams from Lebanon; the scent, the smell, the glory of Lebanon; and also of the Wine and Flowers of Lebanon. 48. Psa. 72. 16. Song 4. 11. 15. Isa. 35. 2. cha. 60. 13. Hos. 14. 6. Nah. 1. 4.

Lebanon! That was one thing that wrought with Moses to desire that he might go over Jordan; namely, That he might see that goodly Mountain, and Lebanon. The glory and excellent beauty of the Church, Christ also setteth forth, by comparing of her to Lebanon. Thy Lips, O my Spouse, says he, drop as an Hony-Comb; Hony ong 4.11. ny and Milk are under thy Tongue, and the ſmell of thy Garment, is like the ſmell of Lebanon.

This Houſe therefore, being placed here, might be to ſhew, how bleſſed a ſtate God could make the ſtate of his Church by his bleſſed Grace and Preſence, even while ſhe is in a wilderneſs condition.

eu. 3.75.

We will add to this, for further demonſtration, that Letter of that godly man, Pomponius Algerius, an Italian Martyr; ſome of the words of which, are theſe:

'Let, ſaith he, the miſerable worldly man
49. 'anſwer me; What remedy, or ſafe refuge, can 'there be to him that lacketh God, who is the 'Life and Medicine of all men? And how can 'he be ſaid to fly from Death, when himſelf is 'alread dead in ſin. If Chriſt be the way, ve- 'rity, and life, How can there be any life then 'without Chriſt?

'The heat of the Priſon to me is cold- 'neſs; the cold Winter to me is a freſh Spring 'in the Lord. He that feareth not to be burn- 'ed in the Fire; how will he fear the heat of 'Weather? Or, what careth he for the pinch- 'ing Froſt, which burneth with the Love of the 'Lord.

'The Place is ſharp and tedious to them that 'be guilty; but to the innocent and guiltleſs it 'is melliſluous. Here droppeth the delectable 'Dew; here floweth the pleaſant Nectar; here 'runneth the ſweet Milk; here is plenty of all 'good things. And altho' the place it ſelf be de- 'ſart and barren; yet to me it ſeemeth a large 'walk, and a valley of pleaſure; here to me is 'the better and more noble part of the World. 'Let the miſerable worldling ſay, and confeſs, 'if there be any Plot, Paſture, or Meadow, ſo 'delightful to the mind of man, as here. Here 'I ſee Kings, Princes, Cities, and People; here 'I ſee Wars, where ſome be overthrown, ſome 'be Victors, ſome thruſt down, ſome liſted up. 'Here is Mount Sion; here I am already in Hea- 'ven it ſelf. Here ſtandeth firſt Chriſt Jeſus in 'the front; about him ſtand the old Fathers, 'Prophets, and Evangeliſts, Apoſtles, and all 'the Servants of God: of whome ſome do im- 'brace and cheriſh me, ſome exhort me, ſome 'open the Sacraments to me, ſome comfort 'me, others are ſinging about me: And how 'then ſhall I be thought to be alone, among ſo 'many, and ſuch as theſe be, the beholding of 'whome is to me both ſolace end example. For 'here I ſee ſome crucified, ſome ſlain, ſome 'ſtoned, ſome cut aſunder, and ſome quartered, 'ſome roaſted, ſome broiled, ſome put in hot 'Caldrons, ſome having their Eyes boared 'thorow, ſome their Tongues cut out, ſome 'their Skin plucked over their Heads, ſome their 'Hands and Feet chopt off, ſome put into Kilns 'and Furnaces, ſome caſt down head-long, and 'given to the Beaſts, and Fowls of the Air to 'feed on. It would, ſaid he, ask a long time, 'if I ſhould recite all.

50. 'To be ſhort, divers I ſee with divers and 'ſundry Torments excruciated; yet notwithſtan- 'ding, all living, and all ſafe. One Plaiſter, one 'Salve, cureth all their wounds, which alſo 'giveth to me ſtrength and life; ſo that I ſu 'ſtain all theſe tranſitory anguiſhes, and ſmall 'afflictions, with a quiet mind, having a greater 'hope laid up in Heaven. Neither do I fear 'mine Adverſaries which here perſecute me, 'and oppreſs me, for he that dwells in Heaven 'ſhall laugh them to ſcorn, and the Lord ſhall 'deride them. I fear not ten Thouſands of Peo- 'ple which com[illegible]s me about. The Lord, my 'God, ſhall deliver me, my hope, my ſuppor- 'ter, my comforter, who exalteth up my head. 'He ſhall ſmite all them that ſtand up againſt 'me without cauſe; and ſhall daſh the teeth and 'faces of ſinners aſunder, for He only is all Bleſ- 'ſedneſs and Majeſty.

'The rebukes for Chriſt make us jocund; 'for ſo it is written: If ye be rebuked and ſcorn- 'ed for the name of Chriſt, happy be you; for the 1 Pet. 4. 'Glory and Spirit of God reſteth upon you. Be ye 'therefore certified (ſaid he, by this his Letter 'to his Friends) that our rebukes, which are laid 'upon us, redound to the ſhame and harm of 'the Rebukers.

'In this World there is no Manſion firm to 'me; and therefore I will travel up to the 'New Jeruſalem which is in Heaven, and which 'offereth it ſelf to me, without paying any fine, 'or income. Behold, I have entered already 'on my Journey, where my Houſe ſtandeth 'for me prepared, and where I ſhall have Riches, 'Kinſfolks, Delights, Honours, never-failing.

'As for theſe earthly things here preſent, 'they are tranſitory Shadows, vaniſhing Va- 'pours, and ruinous Walls. Briefly, all is but 'very Vanity of Vanities, whereas hope, and 'the ſubſtance of Eternity to come, are wan- 'ing; which the merciful goodneſs of the Lord 'hath given, as Companions to accompany me, 'and to comfort me; and now do the ſame 'begin to work, and to bring forth Fruits in me. 'I have travelled hitherto, laboured and ſweat 'early and late, walking day and night, and 'now my travels begin to come to effect. Days 'and Hours I have beſtowed upon my ſtudies.

'Behold the true Countenance of God is 'ſealed upon me, the Lord hath given mirth in 'my heart; and therefore in the ſame will I lay 'me down in peace and reſt. And who then Pſal. 4. 'ſhall dare to blame this our Age conſumed; 'or ſay, that our years be cut off? What man 'can now cavil, that theſe our labours are loſt, 'which have followed, and found out the Lord 'and Maker of the World, and which have 'changed death for life. My portion is the 'Lord, ſaith my Soul, and therefore I will ſeek 'and wait for him.

'Now then, If to die in the Lord, be not to 51. 'die, but live moſt joyfully, where is this 'wretched worldly Rebel, which blameth us 'of folly, for giving away our lives to death? O 'how delectable is this death to me! To taſt the 'Lord's Cup, which is an aſſured pledge of true 'Salvation; for ſo hath the Lord fore-warned 'us, ſaying, The ſame that they have done to me, 'they will alſo do unto you.

'Wherefore, let the doliſh World, with his 'blind worldlings (whoin the bright Sun-ſhine, 'yet go ſtumbling in Darkneſs, being as blind 'as Beetles) ceaſe thus unwiſely to carp againſt 'us, for our raſh ſuffering, as they count it. 'To whom, thus, we anſwer again, with the 'Holy Apoſtle, That neither Tribulation, nor 'Anguiſh, nor Hunger, nor Nakedneſs, nor 'Jeopardy, nor Perſecution, nor Sword, ſhall 'be able ever to ſeparate us from the love of

'Chriſt; we are ſlain all the day long; we are
Rom. 8. 'made like Sheep, ordained to the Shambles.
'Thus (ſaith he) do we reſemble Chriſt,
'our Head, which ſaid, that the Diſciple can'not be above his Maſter, nor the Servant above
'his Lord. The ſame Lord hath alſo com'manded, that every one ſhall take up his Croſs
Luke 9. 'and follow him.
'Rejoice, rejoice, (my dear Brethren, and 'fellow Servants,) and be of good Comfort,
'when ye fall into ſundry Temptations; let 'your patience be perfect, in all parts. For, ſo
'it is fore-ſhewed us before, and is written, That 'they which ſhall kill you, ſhall think to do
'God good Service. Therefore, Afflictions
'and Death be as Tokens and Sacraments of 'our Election, and Life to come.
'Let us then be glad, and ſing unto the Lord,
'when as we, being clear from all juſt Accuſa-
'tion, are perſecuted, and given to Death: For 'better is it that we in doing well do ſuffer, if 1 Pet. 3. 'it ſo be the will of God, than doing evil. We 'have for our Example, Chriſt, and the Pro-
'phets, which ſpake in the name of the Lord,
'whom the Children of iniquity did quell, and 'murder. And now we bleſs and magnifie
'them, that then ſuffered.
'Let us be glad, and joyous, in our Inno-
'cency, and Uprightneſs; the Lord ſhall re'ward them that perſecute us; let us refer all
'revengement to him.
52. 'I am accuſed of Fooliſhneſs, for that I do
'not ſhrink from the true Doctrine, and know-
'ledg of God, and do not rid my ſelf out of 'theſe Troubles, when with one word I may.
'O the blindneſs of Man, which ſeeth not the 'Sun ſhine; neither remembreth the Lord's
'words. Conſider therefore, what he ſaith;
'You are the Light of the World: A City
'built on a Hill cannot be hid; neither do
'Men light a Candle, and put it under a Bu-
'ſhel, but upon a Candleſtick, That it may
'ſhine, and give light to them in the Houſe.
'And in another place (he ſaith) You ſhall
'be led before Kings, and Rulers; fear ye not
'them which kill the Body, but him which 'killeth both Body and Soul.
'Whoſoever ſhall confeſs me before Men,
'him will I alſo confeſs before my Father which 'is in Heaven; and he that denieth me before
'Men, him will I deny before my Heavenly 'Father. Wherefore, ſeeing the words of the 'Lord be ſo plain, How, or by what Autho'rity, will this wiſe Counſellor, then approve
'this his Counſel, which he doth give? God
'forbid, that I ſhould relinquiſh the Command-
'ments of God, to follow the Counſel of Men.
Pſal. 1. 'For, it is written, Bleſſed is the Man that 'hath not gone in the way of Sinners, and
'hath not ſtood in the Counſel of the Ungod-
'ly, and hath not ſit in the Chair of Peſtilence.
'God forbid that I ſhould deny Chriſt, where 'I ought to confeſs him: I will not ſet more by
'my Life, than by my Soul; neither will I
'exchange the Life to come, for this World
'here preſent. O how fooliſhly ſpeaketh he,
'which argueth me of fooliſhneſs!
53. And a little farther, he ſaith. 'And now
'let this carnal politick Counſellor, and diſpu-
'ter of this World, tell, wherein have they
'to blame me: If in mine Examinations, I 'have not anſwered, ſo after their Mind and 'Affection, as they required of me; ſeeing
'it is not our ſelves that ſpeak, but the Lord
'that ſpeaketh in us, as he himſelf doth fore-
'witneſs; ſaying, When you ſhall be brought Matth. 10.
'before Rulers, and Magiſtrates, it is not you 'that ſpeak, but the Spirit of my Father, that 'ſhall be in you. Wherefore, if the Lord be 'true, and faithful of his Word, as it is moſt
'certain, then is there no blame in me; for he 'gave the words that I did ſpeak, and who was
'I that I could reſiſt his Will?
'If any Man ſhall reprehend the things that 'I ſaid, let him then quarrel with the Lord,
'whom it pleaſed to work ſo in me; and if
'the Lord be not to be blamed, neither am I
'herein to be accuſed, which did that I purpo-
'ſed not, and that I fore-thought not of. The 'things that there I did utter and expreſs (he means when he was before the Magiſtrates)

This, as I ſaid, is part of a Letter, writ by Pomponius Algerius, an Italian Martyr; who, when he wrote it, was in Priſon, in, as he calls it, his delectable Orchard, the Priſon of Leomine, 12. Calend. Auguſt, Anno 1555. As, is to be ſeen, in the ſecond Volume of the Book of Martyrs.

This Man was, when he wrote this Letter, 54 in the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon; in the Church in the Wilderneſs; in the place and way of contending for the truth of God, and he drank of both theſe bitter Cups, of which I ſpake before; to wit, of that which was exceeding bitter, and of that which was exceeding ſweet; and the reaſon why he complained not of the bitter, was, becauſe the ſweet had over-come it; as his Afflictions abounded for Chriſt, ſo did his Conſolations by him: So, did I ſay? they abounded much more.

But was not this Man, think you, a Gyant? A Pillar in this Houſe? Had he not alſo, now, hold of the ſhield of Faith? Yea, was he not now in the Combat? And did he not behave himſelf valiantly? Was not his mind elevated a thouſand degrees beyond ſenſe, carnal reaſons, fleſhly love, ſelf concerns, and the deſires of embracing

embracing temporal things? This Man had got that, by the end, that pleaſed him; neither could all the flatteries, promiſes, threats, or reproaches, make him once liſten to, or deſire to enquire after what the World, or the glory of it could afford. His mind was captivated with delights inviſible, he coveted to ſhew his love to his Lord, by laying down his Life for his ſake; he long'd to be there, where there Eccleſ. 7. 28. ſhall be no more pain, nor ſorrow, nor ſighing, nor tears, nor troubles, He was a man of a thouſand.

55. But to return again to our Text. You know we are now upon the Veſſels of the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon: which, I have told you, could not be Veſſels for Worſhip; for, that Worſhip that was ordained to be performed at the Temple, was alſo confined to that, and to the Veſſels that were there. Therefore, they muſt be, in all probability, the Veſſels that I have mentioned, the which, you ſee how we have expounded and applied.

If I am out, I know it not; if others can give me better light, here about, for it I will be thankful.

2 Chron. 8. 3, 4, 5, 6. ch. 27. 3, 4. There was alſo added to this Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon, Store-Cities, Chariot-Cities, and Cities of Horſemen; unto which, King Jotham added Caſtles, and Towers.

Theſe might be to ſignifie, by what ways and means, God would at times revenge the quarrel of his Church, even in this World, upon them that, without cauſe, ſhould for their Faith, and Worſhip, ſet themſelves againſt them. For, here is a face of threatning revenge, they were Store-Houſes, Chariot-Cities, Cities of Horſemen, with Caſtles, and Towers. And they ſtood on the ſame ground that this Houſe was builded upon, even in the Foreſt of Lebanon.

We know, that in Iſrael, God ſtirred up Kings, who all times ſuppreſs'd Idolatry there, and plagued the Perſecutors too, as Jehu, Hezekiah, Joſiah, &c. And he has promiſed that,
Rev. 17. 12, 16. even in Goſpel times, Kings ſhall hate the Whore, make her deſolate, and naked, and ſhall eat her Fleſh, and burn her with Fire.

Here now are the Store-Houſes, Chariot-Cities, Cities of Horſemen, with Towers, and Caſtles, for the help to the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon; for the help of the Church in the Wilderneſs, or, as you have it, in another place, As the Serpent caſt Floods of Water out of his Mouth, after the Woman, that he might
Rev. 12. 15, 16. cauſe her to be carried away of the Flood; So the Earth helped the Woman, and the Earth opened her Mouth, and ſwallowed up the Flood, which the Dragon caſt out of his Mouth.

Thus the Medes and Perſians helped to deliver the Church, from the clutches and ſtrong hand, of the King of Babylon.

This Lebanon, therefore, was a place conſi-
Song 4. 11. ch. 5. 15. chap. 7. 4. derable, and a Figure of great things; the Countenance of the Lord Jeſus is compared to it, and ſo is the Face of his Spouſe, and alſo the ſmell of her Garments.

CHAP. X.

56. Of the Porch of the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon.

SOlomon, alſo, made a Porch to this Houſe, of the Foreſt of Lebanon. He made ſeveral Porches, as, one for the Temple, one for the Houſe which he dwelt in, one for the Throne of the Kingdom, and this that was for the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon; of all which, this laſt is that mentioned. 1 King 7. 6.

And he made a Porch, of Pillars, the length thereof was fifty Cubits, the breadth thereof thirty Cubits; and the Porch was before them, and the other Pillars, and the thick Beams were before them. This Porch was famous, both for length, and breadth, and ſtrength; it was able to contain a thouſand Men. 'Twas like that of the Tower of David, otherwiſe called the ſtrong hold, the Caſtle of Zion, which is the City of David. 2 Sam. 5. 7. 1 Chron. 11. 5.

This Tower of David was builded for an Armory, whereon there hanged a thouſand Bucklers, all Shields of mighty Men. Mich. 4: 8.

It was fifty Cubits long, and thirty broad; a ſpacious Place; a large Receptacle for any that liked to take ſhelter there.

It was made of Pillars, even as the Houſe within was, or it ſtood upon Pillars. The Pillars, you know, I told you before, were to ſhew us what mighty Men, or what Men of mighty Grace, God would have his Church, in the Wilderneſs, furniſhed with.

And 'tis worth your obſerving here alſo we have Pillars, Pillars. And he made the Porch of Pillars; that is, of Pillars of Cedar, as the reſt of the Pillars of the Houſe were.

And the Porch was before them. That is, as I take it, an entring Porch, leſs than the ſpace within; ſo that the Pillars neither as to number nor bigneſs could be ſeen without, until, at leaſt, they that had a mind to ſee, entred the mouth of the Porch.

And by this was fitly prefigured, how unſeen the ſtrength of the Church under Perſecution is, of all that are without her. Alas! they think that ſhe will be run down with a puſh; or, as they ſaid, What do theſe feeble Jews? Will they fortifie themſelves? Will they ſacrifice? Will they make an end in a day? Will they revive the Stones, out of the heaps of rubbiſh, which are burnt? Alas! If a Fox go up, he will even break down their ſtone Wall. Neh. 4. 2, 3:

But do you think, theſe men ſaw the ſtrength of the Jews now? No, no, their Pillars were within, and ſo were ſhadowed from their Eyes. David himſelf could not tell what Judgment to make of the way of the World, againſt the People of God, until he went into the Sanctuary of God. Pſal. 73. 16, 17.

How then can the World judge of the condition of the Saints? Alas, had they known the Churches ſtrength; ſurely, they would not as they have, ſo furiouſly? aſſaulted the ſame. But have they got by all they have done, either againſt the head or body of the ſame? 57.

She yet has being in the World, and will have, ſhall have, tho' all the Nations on Earth ſhould gather themſelves together againſt it: Nor is it the cutting off of many that will make her ceaſe to flouriſh. Alas, were ſhe not ſometimes pruned, and trimmed, her boughs would ſtand too thick. Thoſe therefore that are taken away, with God's pruning hooks, are removed that the under-Branches may grow the better.

But, I ſay, to extinguiſh her, 'tis in vain for any to hope for that; ſhe ſtands upon Pillars, on Rocks, on the mu nition of Rocks; ſta therefore she must, whether the World believes it or no.

And the other Pillars were before them, or, as the Margent has it, according to them: The other Pillars, that is, they more inward; those that were in the body of the House. Christ doth not do as the poor World doth, that is, set the best leg before; the Pillars that were more inward, in the House, were as good as those in the front: 'Tis true, some are appointed to Death, to shew to the World, the strength of Grace, not that he can help no body to that strength, but they: The most feeble of his Flock, when Christ shall stand by and strengthen them, are able to do, and bear, what the strong have under-went. For so he saith,

And the other Pillars, and the thick Beams, were according to them; nay, before them: Indeed, they that are left, seem weak, and feeble, if compared to them that have already been tried with Fire, and Sword, and all the Tortures of Men: But, that Grace (by which they were helped that have done such mighty Acts already,) can help those who seem more weak, yet to go beyond them. God strengtheneth the spoiled, against the strong; so that the spoiled come against the Fortress: Or, as another Scripture has it, The Lame take the Prey.

Anno. 5. 9. Isa. 33. 23.

So that, you see, here is all substance: All here are Pillars, and thick Beams, both in the House, and in the Porch.

The Conclusion therefore is. The true Members of the Church in the Wilderness, are strong, mighty, being made able by the Grace of God, for their standing; and having also coupled, & compacted together, with the biggest Bands, or thickest Beams, that the Holy Ghost puts forth, to bind and hold this Church together. 58.

And there is reason for it. The Church is God's Tower, or Battery, by which he beateth down Antichrist; or if you will have it in the Words of the Prophet, Thou art my battle-Ax, and Weapons of War; and with thee (saith God) will I break in pieces, &c. Jer. 51. 19, 20.

Wherefore, since the Church is set for defence of Religion, and to be as a battery to beat down Antichrist, 'tis requisite, that she should be made up of Pillars of strong and stanch Materials.

The largeness of the Porch was commodious, it was the next shelter, or the place where-unto they of the House of the Forest of Lebanon, when pursued, might resort, or retreat, with the less difficulty. Thus the Church in the Wilderness, has her Porch, her Place, her Bosom, whereunto her discouraged may continually resort, and take up, and be refreshed. As Abiather thrust in to David, and his Men, in the Wilderness, in the day when Saul had slain his Father, and of his Brethren even fourscore and five Persons that did wear a Linnen Ephod. 1 Sam. 22. 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23.

When the Apostles were persecuted, they went to their own company, because the Lord was there. Acts 4. 23.

There we find the Pillars, and have both Solace and Example. There, as Pomponius said of his Prison, stands Christ Jesus, in the front, as Captain of the Lords Host, & round about him, the old Fathers, Prophets, Apostles, & Martyrs.

This Porch, therefore, I take to be a figure of those cordial and large Affections, which the Church, in the Wilderness, has to all, and 59.

for all them that love the Truth, and that suffer, and are afflicted, for the sincere Profession thereof.

This Porch was bigger than that which belonged to the Temple, by much; to shew that those that are made the object of the Enemies rage most, are usually most prepared, with Affection, for them that are in the same Condition. Fellow-feeling is a great matter. 'Tis said of the poor afflicted People, that were in Macedonia, in their great trial of Affliction, the abundance of their joy, and their deep poverty, abounded unto the riches of their liberality; for to their power, yea, and beyond their power, they shewed their charity to the destroyed Church of Jerusalem. 2 Cor. 8. 1, 2, 3, 4

And a Porch, in a Forest; a Bosome, in a Wilderness; is seasonable to them, that in the Wilderness are faint and weary.

Nabal shut up his Doors against David, and therefore he died like a Beast. Poor David! thou wast bewildred, but this Churle had no compassion for thee. 1 Sam. 25. 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13. 37. p. 39.

Blest Obadiah, thou hadst a bosome, and bread, and hideing places for the Church, when rent and torn by the fury of Jezebel, and thou hast for it thy reward in Heaven. 1 King. 18. 3, 4 Mat. 10. 42.

Ebed-melech, because he had compassion on Jeremy, when he was in the Dungeon; God did not only give him his Life for a Prey, but promised him the effects of putting his trust in the Lord. Jer. 38. 7, 8, 9, 10, 11. ch. 39. 15, 16, 17, 18.

And he made a Porch of Pillars. The Porch is but the entrance of the House, whither many go, that yet step not into the House, but make their retreat from thence: But it is, because, they are non-residents, they only come to see; or else, if they pretended more, it was not from the Heart. They went out from us, said John, but they were not of us; for if they had been of us, they would, no doubt, have continued with us; but they went out, that it might be made manifest, that they were not all of us. 1 John 2. 19. 60.

And, forasmuch, as this Porch was fifty Cubits long, Men may take many a step strait forward therein, and be but in the Porch yet. Even, as we have seen Men go, as one would think, till they are out of view, in the Porch of this Church, in the Wilderness; but presently you have them without the Door again.

True, this Porch was made of Pillars; and so, to every one, at first entrance, it shewed the power of the place; the Church, in the Wilderness, also is so builded, that Men may see it is ordained for defence. Men also, at their first offer to step over the Threshold there, with Mouth profess, that they will dwell as Souldiers there: But words are but wind, when they see the storm a coming, they will take care to shift for themselves: This House, or Church, in the Wilderness, must see to it self, for all them.

As the House therefore is a figure of the Church, in the Wilderness; so so great a Porch, belonging to it, may be also to shew that numbers may there be entertained, that, if need be, will quickly whip out again. Although therefore the Porch was made of Pillars, yet every one that walked there were not such. The Pillars was to shew them, not what they were, but what they should be that entred into this House.

The Church also, in the Wilderness, even, in her Porch, or first entrance into it, is full of Pillars, Apostles, Prophets, and Martyrs of Jesus: There also hang up the Shields that the old 61.

old Warriers have uſed, and are plaſtered upon the Walls, the brave Atchievements which they have done: There are alſo ſuch encouragements there, for thoſe that ſtand, that one would think none that came thither, with pretence to ſerve there, would for very ſhame attempt to go back again; and yet, not to their credit be it ſpoken, they will forſake the place without bluſhing; yea, and plead for this their ſo doing. But I have done with the explicatory part, and conclude, that from theſe Ten particulars thus handled in this Book, the Houſe of the Foreſt of Lebanon, was a Type, or Figure, of the Church in the Wilderneſs.

Nor do I know, if this be denied, how ſo
62. fitly to apply ſome of theſe Texts, which ſpeak to the Church to ſupport her under her Troubles, of the Comforts that afterwards ſhe ſhall enjoy; ſince they are preſented to her under ſuch Metaphors, as clearly denote, ſhe was once in a Wilderneſs, for inſtance.

1. Sing O ye Heavens, for the Lord hath done it (that is, redeemed his Servant Jacob, from their Sins, and from the hand of the Enemy,) ſhout ye lower part of the Earth, (or Church once trampled under Feet,) break forth into ſinging, ye Mountains, O Foreſt, and every Tree therein; (here is comfort for the Church, under the name of a Foreſt, that in which the Houſe, we have been ſpeaking of, was built;) 44.23. for the Lord hath redeemed Jacob, and glorified himſelf in Iſrael.

To what, I ſay, can this Text more fitly be applied, than to the Church, in the Wilderneſs, put here under the name of a Foreſt, as well as under the title of Heaven. Yea, methinks 'tis cried here to her, O Foreſt, on purpoſe to intimate to us, that the Houſe, in the Foreſt of Lebanon, was the Figure of the Church in this Condition.
